Higginbotham gun theft suspects indicted

Marcelo Rangel

Anselmo Vicente Rangel

Jarryel Jermaine Hill

Enrique Rangel

By ROGER CLINE
Staff Writer

Four men charged with the theft of nearly 50 firearms from Big Spring's Higginbotham Brothers Hardware Store in July were among eight individuals indicted by the Howard County Grand Jury Tuesday.

Big Spring Police were called to the hardware store in the 1900 block of East FM 700 on July 12 in reference to a burglary. Upon investigation, police discovered that 48 firearms had been stolen from the store.

Near the end of July, police arrested five suspects in connection with the crime. While one of those arrested was a minor, the four adult suspects were indicted Oct. 22 on various charges related to the crime.

Jerayel Jermaine Hill, 18; Enrique Bernardo Rangel, 20; and Marcello Jacinto Rangel, 19; were all indicted on two counts of Theft of Firearm, state-jail felonies. In addition, Enrique Rangel was indicted on two counts of Unlawful Possession of a Firearm by a Felon, third-degree felonies; while Marcello Rangel was indicted on a charge of Assault Family or Household Member by Impeding Breath, a third-degree felony, and a charge of Burglary of a Habitation, a second-degree felony. Anselmo Vicente Rangel, 22, was indicted on a single charge of Unlawful Possession of a Firearm by a Felon, a third-degree felony.

All four men are currently residents of the Howard County Jail.

Others indicted Tuesday include:
• Matthew Armendariz, 26, currently a resident of the Howard County Jail, on a charge of Theft of Material, a state jail felony.
• Stephanie Galarza, 28, currently a

DPS admin position to be reconsidered at County meeting Monday

By ROGER CLINE
Staff Writer

Will Howard County continue to fund a full-time administrative assistant for the Texas Department of Public Safety, or will they cut the position's hours to part time?

County Commissioners plan to take another look at that issue at their bi-weekly meeting Monday. The meeting will be at 3:30 p.m. Monday in the third-floor courtroom at the Howard County Courthouse, 300 S. Main St.

At the commissioners' previous meeting Oct. 14, DPS troopers and area Justices of the Peace crowded the courtroom to urge the county leaders to reconsider their budget-driven decision to cut the position to part time.

"That girl does a lot of work for the troopers, and to do that would be to take a trooper off the streets to man that office and do the things she does," said Justice of the Peace for Precinct 1 Place 2 Robert Fitzgibbons.

DPS Sergeant Shawn Baxter agreed with Fitzgibbons. "The amount of admin work that we produce on a daily basis, just from crash reports, arrests, public information

Howard College Board to meet Monday

By ROGER CLINE
Staff Writer

The Howard County Junior College District Board of Trustees will hear reports on issues relevant to the District's Howard College branches in Big Spring, Lamesa and San Angelo, as well as the Southwest College for the Deaf, at their regular meeting Monday. The meeting will begin at 12:30 p.m. in the Tumbleweed Room, located in the Student Union Building of Howard College's Big Spring Campus, 1001 Birdwell Lane.

As part of the college's ongoing "Visioning and Future Directions" initiatives, the board will consider a resolution regarding the Big Spring Area Community Foundation and an update on restroom construction in the Dora Roberts Student Union at the Big Spring campus; plans for an Open House at the Lamesa campus; and a letter of support for a San Angelo Health Foundation Grant for the San Angelo campus.

In other business, the trustees will:

- Consider various operational indicators, including reports on small classes, annual safety and annual fire safety and prevention; as well as financial and student success indicators;
- Consider bids on campus cameras and door access controls for the Big Spring campus;
- Consider bids on security services for the entire District;
- Consider handbook and catalog changes;
- Consider a resolution authorizing an auction of Howard

Cancer Crushers Haunted House returns for fourth year

By AMANDA DUFORAT
Managing Editor

The annual Cancer Crushers Haunted House is returning for the fourth year in a row. The Haunted House will open doors this weekend from 7 p.m. to 11 p.m. and again Oct. 30 and 31 from 7 p.m. to 9:30 p.m.

"This is one of the many fun events that we use to continue to celebrate our loved ones who have battled cancer," Julie Alvarez, Cancer Crushers team lead, said.

This year there are more than 23 rooms of spooky props, creepy costumes and more. The Darkmaze of Nightmares will return this year.

"We are excited for everyone to come out and see our newest prop that is going to scare the jeepers out of you," Alva-

Walter Henry Halfmann

Walter Henry Halfmann, 95, of St. Lawrence, went to join his Lord and Savior Thursday, Oct. 24, 2019, at his residence. There will be a viewing Sunday, Oct. 27, 2019, from 1 p.m. to 3 p.m. at Nalley-Pickle & Welch Funeral Home. Rosary services will be at 6 p.m., Sunday, Oct. 27, 2019, at St. Lawrence Catholic Church. Funeral mass will be at 10 a.m. Monday, Oct. 28, 2019, at St. Lawrence Catholic Church. Interment will follow at St. Lawrence Cemetery.

He was born Jan. 14, 1924, in Rowena, Texas, to Adolph and Lena Halfmann, and married Mary Ann Haechten, April 6, 1948, in Rowena, Texas. She preceded him in death Sept. 3, 2017.

Walter came to St. Lawrence in 1951 from Rowena and farmed and worked in cotton gins. His family was a pioneer family in the St. Lawrence farming community and helped to establish the Catholic church. He was very proud to be the oldest member of the original St. Lawrence community. He was a loving father, grandfather, and great-grandfather. He enjoyed working on his tractor and farm equipment, along with fishing, playing dominoes and playing cards. Walter also enjoyed playing with his grandchildren and great-grandchildren. He was a member of the St. Lawrence Catholic Church, the Gun Club, and the Men's Society. Walter also served in the United States Army during World War II.

Survivors include two sons, Wayne Halfmann and wife, Martha, of Garden City, and Bobby Halfmann and wife, Virginia, of Burnet; and a daughter, Judy McDaniel of Sterling City; eight grandchildren, Tina Winkler and husband, Jason, Erik Halfmann and wife, Jessica, Travis Halfmann and wife, Lori, Christy Journey and husband, Kyle, Bryan McDaniel and wife, Amanda, Brandon McDaniel and wife, Krystal, Bradley McDaniel and wife, Jennifer, and Brett McDaniel (deceased) and wife, Leah. Survivors also include 19 great-grandchildren, Justin Winkler, Ethan Halfmann, Cody Halfmann, Hunter Halfmann, Owen Halfmann, Hallie Halfmann, Weston Halfmann; Logan Halfmann, Caleb Halfmann, Jenna Journey, Ryan Journey, Abigail McDaniel, Sarah McDaniel, Lauren McDaniel, Katie McDaniel, Marie McDaniel, Natalie McDaniel, Brooke McDaniel, and Bowen McDaniel; two sisters, Grace Phelps, and Clara Ann Cline; and brothers-in-law, Bob Connor, and Allan James Haechten; and sisters-in-law, Frieda Halfmann, and Nancy Haechten.

In addition to his wife, he is preceded in death by his parents; four brothers, Ross, Victor, Harvey and Ralph; sister, Jean Connor; and a grandson, Brett McDaniel.

Pallbearers will be Travis Halfmann, Kyle Journey, Erik Halfmann, Jason Winkler, Bryan McDaniel, Brandon McDaniel, Bradley McDaniel. Honorary pallbearer will be Brett McDaniel.

The family wants to give special thanks to Joan Killen-Rios, his part-time caretaker.

The family suggests memorials to the St. Lawrence Cemetery fund or to the Alzheimer's Association at <https://act.alz.org/donate>.

Arrangements are under the direction of Nalley-Pickle & Welch Funeral Home and Crematory. Online condolences can be made at www.npwelch.com.

Hope Jewel Anderson

Hope for the Season

In early spring of 2019, we found out that Hope Jewel Anderson would be joining our family. Immediately, she was welcomed. Immediately, she was loved. Immediately, she was anticipated.

In early summer of 2019, we found out that Hope Jewel Anderson was going to have a tough road to hoe. She was diagnosed with a syndrome that no mother and father should know the definition of. Despite slim odds, the thought of giving up never crept into our minds; the Good Lord wouldn't allow it to.

In early fall of 2019, we readied to welcome Hope Jewel Anderson into the world. Family and friends gathered by the droves to a West Texas hospital, abandoning cattle gathering, cotton stripping, school working, and so many more obligations that were quickly deemed trivial compared to the birth of a fighter.

We were ready. If Hope decided to grace us with her presence for any sort of a period of time, we were ready. If Hope decided to finish the fight and go sit at the right hand of our Father, we were ready. Guardian angels filled a waiting room with heavy, anxious hearts. Those heavy, anxious hearts also wholeheartedly knew that there is a completely different group of guardian angels waiting for Hope with a heavenly reception.

The outcome cannot be controlled, but we can control how we take it and live with it. If there's one thing this little girl has taught each and every one of us, it's that there's always a Hope for the Season.

Hope Jewel Anderson

Born into this world and left Oct. 22, 2019

A memorial service will be held on the Muleshoe Ranch Saturday, Oct. 26, 2019, at 2 p.m.

Hope Jewel Anderson is survived by her loving parents, Clay John and Krista Anderson; her big sisters, Layton and Harper; her grandparents, John and Kevva Anderson, and Stan and Carla Blaggrave; her great-grandparents, Rich Anderson, Wilela Tucker and, Derwood and Joan Blaggrave; and numerous aunts, uncles and cousins.

She was preceded in death by great-grandparents, Barbara Anderson, Sonny Tucker, and Jean and Richard Parker.

In lieu of flowers, donations can be sent to the Foster's Home for Children in Stephenville, toward the "Hope Jewel Room".

Arrangements are under the direction of Nalley-Pickle & Welch Funeral Home and Crematory. Online condolences can be made at www.npwelch.com.

The Perry Mansion is ready for guests

Some people say Terlingua has the brightest moon in Texas. "You can read a book by the moon out here," says Bill Ivey, owner of the Terlingua Ghost Town. "At times you can almost read a book by the stars. I've seen people walking to their car at night, stop and look up. They've never seen the Milky Way."

Things are booming in Terlingua. Bill says land values are increasing. "We've become the last best place in Texas and maybe the United States. Folks have discovered the Big Bend in general. This place has its own spirit and people coming here can feel it. The word gets out that this is a pretty cool place to be and now we're seeing an influx of folks that like it so much they want to move here."

Bill's dad, Rex Ivey, bought Terlingua in the 1940s after the mines had shut down. "It was after World War 2 and he bought it for salvage. Building materials were scarce, so he tore down a lot of the structures. Now I'm trying to put them back together. When my dad came down to see what he had bought they handed him a 3-pound coffee can full of keys and said 'it's yours.' Everything was just like they left it."

A man by the name of Howard Perry owned the mercury mine in Terlingua. "He was from up east. When he found out what he had won in a poker game he came out here and found people mining mercury. His mine became one of the largest mercury mines in the world. He built a town. There wasn't anything here before and it ended up being the largest town between Del Rio and El Paso. Terlingua had a population of around 3,000. It had the first ice cream parlor in West Texas. It had Boy Scouts and Girl Scouts. It had a Cavalry Post for a while, tennis courts and 3 schools. It was very much a thriving community in the early 1900s."

Mr. Perry built a mansion on top of a hill so he could watch over the activities at the mine. The mansion is where Mr. Perry had a meeting with Bill's dad. "They sat and visited in this very room. It's what we call the Great Room. It was never closed in with windows. And sitting right in the middle of this room was a Gatling gun. Mr. Perry was scared to death Pancho Villa was going to raid his town and he wanted to protect it."

Bill, who bought Terlingua 30 years ago, has restored the Perry mansion using the same techniques used when it was originally built nearly 100 years ago. "We made the adobes right outside here and put them in place. Hauling those 40-pound adobe bricks up two stories was a tiring job. We didn't use any heavy equipment. When we started it was just a ruin. Hadn't had a roof since the 40s. No windows or doors. Never had water or electricity. One of the back adobe walls was starting to come loose, so we had to act fast to save it. We spent a year just on the outside. Some of my kids and I spent another year detailing the inside. We're building a fountain outside." The mansion opened as a bed and breakfast on March first of this year. "We had a full house last night."

Terlingua has been listed on the National Register of Historic Places for 25 years. "We want to keep it a ghost town. I want to preserve the culture and the history. There are few jobs here so people live here because they want to."

TUMBLEWEED SMITH

Finally a veteran

When the prospect of military service popped up, I didn't know the National Guard from a cattle guard.

Generally speaking, that's still the case, despite my having "served" in the Texas Army National Guard for nine years, not too long after muskets had been cast aside in favor of more effective firearms. More than 50 years have passed since those years sandwiched between Korea and Vietnam. My military training was confined to periodic evening and weekend drills, plus two weeks of more intense training each summer at Fort Hood. It was during an era of comparative peace-time.

Some of the troops were grizzled veterans, having served and experienced World War II horrors in the 36th Infantry Division. We 18-year-olds were still on our first package of razor blades, and some had never previously fired a weapon. Some civilians viewed us youngsters as "weekend warriors," and with good reason.

This being said, after my final salute in 1965, I felt I had "signed off" on military service. It was "out of sight, out of mind."

We sweated out the Cuban Missile Crisis, when the US was said to have missiles that could take out targets thousands of miles away.

Someone asked why we couldn't use them on Cuba, a mere 60+ miles off the southern tip of Florida. "We don't have any missiles that can hit targets that close," one military chief mused.

In the past 55 years, it never once occurred to me that I was "due" any recognition for my years in the National Guard.

When asked if I'm a veteran by various store cashiers, I've always answered "no."

By happenstance, I'm reconsidering my status as viewed through the eyes of some merchants. Some of 'em think I am, and offer 10% discounts.

I owe such recognition to a young man cashiering at Lowe's in Burleson; call him "Eric E." He straightened me out the other day after I'd dealt with his "veteran question." My response was that my service was limited to the National Guard, and he reacted.

"I'm in the National Guard," he said. "And when I complete my obligation, I'll be a veteran."

I felt a bit weak-kneed, realizing that I had forfeited thousands of dollars in discounts over the years with my "no" answers to having military service.

Had I known, Lowe's and I could have built even more "somethings" together.

All I had to do was provide proof of service. At first, this seemed to be a "tall order." I didn't remember my military service number, had no proof of discharge and only foggy memories of achieving marksman status with an M1 rifle.

I shouldn't even mention the "rifle thing." Some guys at the target range said that most of my rounds hit rocks nearby, with numerous fragments tearing into the canvas targets. They claim I was credited with the best fragment "hits."

But, we don't need to "go there," do we?

The search was on, at offices in Washington, St. Louis and finally Austin.

I hit the "mother lode" in Texas' capital city.

Sure enough, I became a Guardsman on February 22, 1966, in Brownwood, TX. After a trio of three-year enlistments, I attained the rank of SP-E5, whatever that is. I was a clerk typist and information specialist.

I wrote news stories about the National Guard, and had a weekly radio broadcast that always concluded with the reminder that listeners could "sleep well tonight, because the National Guard is awake."

Don't misunderstand. I am grateful to the tens of thousands of vets whose service dwarfs mine. Still, I now have documentation about my military service. Some may understandably question my 145-pound weight at the first "weigh in." (That was 75 pounds ago.)

But at Lowe's, I'm considered a military veteran.

Thanks, Eric. Without you, I could have died without ever knowing I was eligible for a discount.

Bulldogs take the win against Stanton 61-8

By STEVE BELVIN

Herald Contributing Sports Writer

COAHOMA - The Coahoma Bulldogs are back and they looked as good as ever. The Bulldogs rebounded from last week's thumping by Abernathy by demolishing the Stanton Buffaloes 61-8 here Friday night.

The game was never in doubt as the Coahoma defense smothered the Buffaloes offense and the Coahoma offensive attack was as balanced as ever accounting for 446 total yards, 234 on the ground and 212 in the air. It gave Coahoma head coach Chris Joslin lot of chances to play his reserves, which mainly played in the second half as Coahoma had built a 35-0 halftime lead. "We exorcised a lot of demons from last week," said Joslin.

It was a big contrast from last week when Coahoma gained only 31 total yards while getting shut-out. This night the Bulldogs offense did whatever it wanted to do and wasted little time in doing it. It went some something like this one: play 28 yards, seven plays 50 yards, one play 42 yards, five plays 48 yards and seven plays 38 yards. That was just the first half alone. The only time Coahoma didn't score in the first half was when it fumbled on the opening possession and Stanton's Isiah Reyna recovered at the Stanton 24-yard line. Stanton didn't help itself either. Five times it went for it on fourth down, converting only once.

Meanwhile the Coahoma defense was its old ferocious self. Avry Burgans, Isaac Ortiz and A.J.

The Coahoma Bulldogs head back onto the field after halftime energized after dominating the first half against the Stanton Buffaloes. Coahoma would go on to win the match 61-8.

Gutierrez all recorded sacks and corner back Brant Gartman intercepted a pass and returned it 72 yards for a score.

Offensively quarterback Zack Schneider accounted for one rushing touchdown while throwing touchdowns passes to Tony Hagins, Ky Kemper and Braxton Chandler. Brysen Kerby also scored two touchdowns.

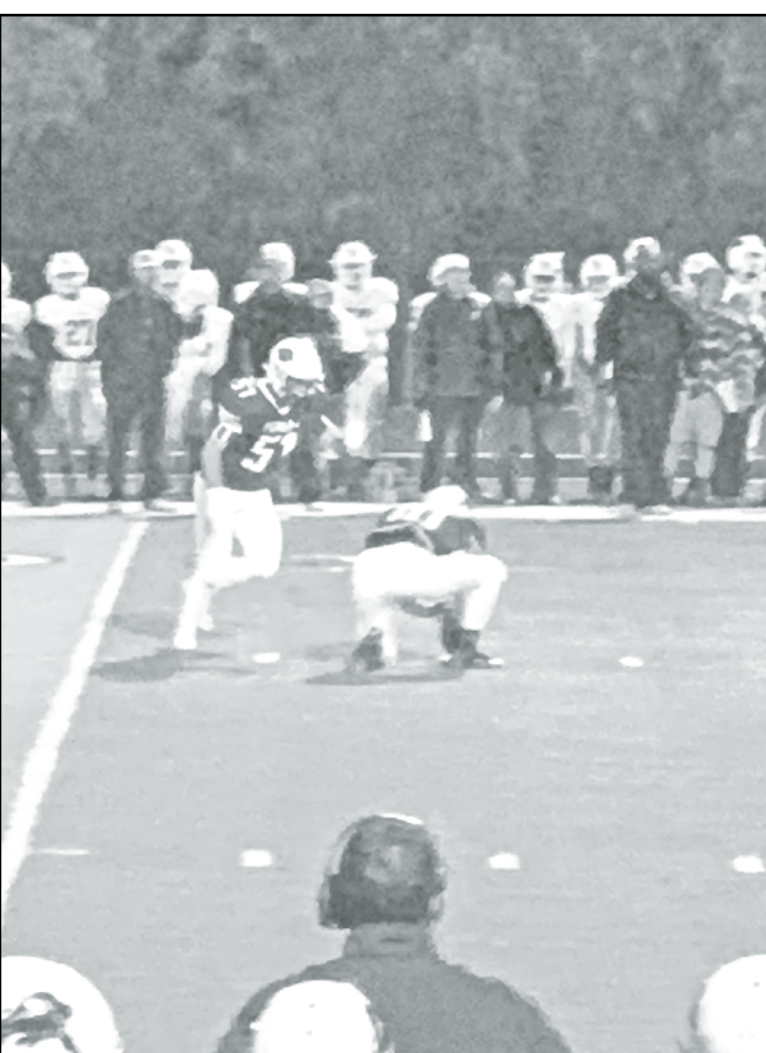

Stanton's only touchdown came on a six-yard run by Cole Beasley in the fourth quarter.

Joslin said he knew his team would bounce back from last week's game. "All week long these guys came out and worked hard. Starting Monday they went to work, doing a great job. They are committed to getting better. We all have one goal in mind," he said.

The Bulldogs, 6-2 overall and 2-1 in district, has See CHS, Page 12A

The Buffaloes went into this game knowing their ranking in the District playoffs was depending on the outcome. While the Buffaloes weren't able to pull out a win Friday night, they played as a team and they gave it their all, falling short with Winters taking the 20-13 victory.

Winters received the ball as the head to head match up began, but it wasn't long before the Buffaloes would gain control when Winters relinquished control of the ball through their inability to gain the yardage they needed to complete the downs.

The Buffaloes took advantage of the opportunity and struck while the iron was hot. With 5:15 left in the first quarter Coach Jason Phillips made the choice to let down as freshman Nolan Park and go for the field goal attempt. Park didn't let down as he landed a 39 yard field goal, earning the first 3 points of the game for Forsan.

Those 3 points came with a flag on the play - illegal procedure penalty, but Winters opted to take the yardage to their advantage and allowed the field goal to count. Winters took control of the ball at the 41 yard line with 4:39 left in the quarter.

Forsan fought hard with Sawyer Stallings at the reigns. Stallings came out in full control of the Buffalo team and together they closed out the first quarter with a 3-0 lead. Winters gained some yardage in the first quarter, but it didn't come easy. The Buffalo herd made the Blizzards fight for every yard and let them know early they would defend their turf.

During the second quarter, Nolan Park came back out on the field for another field goal attempt. This time around Park successfully completed a 38 yard field goal bringing the score 6-0, with seven minutes to go in the second quarter.

Big Spring Steers fight hard, Andrews take the win 48-14

By ERICA MORSE

Herald Contributing Sports Writer

The Big Spring Steers returned from a bye week with new tricks up their sleeve and one of the strongest coordinated efforts so far this season. Friday night after a hard fought game the Steers fell 48-14 in their first game of district play.

The Mustangs of Andrews hosted the Steers for an in-conference game battle and ultimately won the match, but it wasn't for lack of trying on the part of the Steers. The bye-week brought the Steers back renewed and ready to play.

In the opening drive, the Steers took control of the ball with Quarterback CJ Harris scoring first. They followed with a two-point conversion, bringing the score to 8-0. The Mustangs quickly responded, and put up their own two-point conversion, tying up the score.

The second quarter proved to be a back and forth, with both Andrews and Big Spring putting up points, and going into the half with a 14-14 tie.

When the teams returned from halftime, Andrews found their momentum and shut down the Steers.

In the end, Big Spring fell to Andrews 48-14.

Big Spring delivered one of the best showings of the season, with better ball control and time with the ball. In the first half, the Steers held onto the ball for 18 minutes, which allowed for a strong running game and better ball security.

While the team fell short this week, it is obvious they used that time off to re-set their line-up and try new approaches that kept them competitive during the first half of the game.

The overall 1-7 team is looking to seize the energy found Friday night and turn around the remainder of the season. The Steers found their sweet spot, worked together as a team and as a result dominated the first half against the Mustangs.

Big Spring hopes that momentum next week, when they face off against the 6-2 Indians of Seminole on Friday. Kickoff is set for 7 p.m.

Sandra Verdin

This week's reviews are fiction titles:

Daisy is a girl coming of age in Los Angeles, in the late sixties in "Daisy Jones & The Six" (F REI T) by Taylor Jenkins Reid.

She likes sneaking into clubs on the Sunset Strip, sleeping with rock stars and dreaming of singing at the Whisky a Go-Go, and while it's all thrilling it's the rock 'n' roll she loves most. By the time she's twenty, her voice is getting noticed, and she has the kind of heedless beauty that makes people do crazy things. Also getting noticed is The Six, a band led by the brooding Billy Dunne.

On the eve of their first tour, his girlfriend Camila finds out she's pregnant, and with the pressure of impending fatherhood and fame, Billy goes a little wild on the road. Daisy and Billy cross paths when a producer realizes that the key to supercharged success is to put the two together. What happens next will become the stuff of legend. The making of that legend is chronicled in this riveting novel, written as an oral history of one of the biggest bands of the seventies.

It begins with a mystery in "Searching for Sylvie Lee" (F KWO J) by Jean Kwok.

Sylvie, the beautiful, brilliant, successful older daughter of the Lee family, flies to the Netherlands for one final visit with her dying grandmother and then vanishes. Amy, the sheltered baby of the Lee family, is too young to remember a time when her parents newly immigrated and too poor to keep Sylvie. Seven years older, Sylvie was raised by a distant relative in a faraway, foreign place, and didn't rejoin her family in America until age nine. Timid and shy, Amy has always looked up to her sister, the fierce and fearless protector who showered her with unconditional love.

But what happened to Sylvie? Amy and her parents are distraught and desperate for answers. Sylvie has always looked out for them. Now, it's Amy's turn to help. Terrified yet determined, Amy retraces her sister's movements, flying to the last place Sylvie was seen.

But instead of simple answers, she discovers something much more valuable: the truth. Sylvie, the golden girl, kept painful secrets that will reveal more about Amy's complicated family, and herself, than she ever could have imagined.

In "Deep Harbor" (F MIC F) by Fern Michaels, Carol Ann "CJ" Jansen comes adrift when she loses her beloved older brother, Kick, in a boating accident.

Kick had taken on the role of caring for his little sister after their parents were killed in a car crash. Inheriting half his fortune has left CJ financially secure-yet needing a purpose.

As administrative assistant to powerful congressman Snapper Lewis, she's immersed herself in the exciting and often tumultuous world of politics. But suddenly, the career that anchors her life is threatened. CJ stumbles upon information that could implicate her boss in corruption.

When the congressman dies of an apparent suicide, the closer CJ gets to uncovering the truth, exposing one shocking secret after another, the more she wonders if she's also in jeopardy.

Moving to a small New England town for her protection, CJ gradually begins to engage with her new surroundings. Her blossoming friendship with the owner of a charter fishing boat offers the promise of much more.

But before she can claim happiness, CJ must navigate a course through all her doubts and fears, and trust that this time, the water that took so much from her might just lead her safely home.

Beekeeper Holly McNee Jensen quietly lives in a world of her own on Sullivan's Island in "Queen Bee" (F FRA D) by Dorothea Benton Frank. Holly likes tending her hives and working at the local island library.

Holly calls her mother The Queen Bee because she's a demanding hulk of a woman. Her mother might be a devoted hypochondriac, but that doesn't stop her from tormenting Holly. To escape the drama, Holly's sister Leslie married and moved away, wanting little to do with island life.

Holly's escape is to submerge herself in the lives of the two young boys next door and their widowed father, Archie. Her world is upended when the more flamboyant Leslie returns and both sisters, fixate on what's happening in their neighbor's home. Is Archie really in love with that awful ice queen of a woman? If Archie marries her, what will become of his little boys? Restless Leslie is desperate for validation after her imploded marriage, squandering her favors on any takers.

Their mother ups her game in an uproarious and theatrical downward spiral. Scandalized Holly is talking to her honey bees a mile a minute, as though they'll give her a solution to all the chaos and maybe they will.

Texas Game Wardens Recognized for Life-Saving Heroics at Annual Law Enforcement Awards Ceremony

AUSTIN— Texas Parks and Wildlife Department Executive Director Carter Smith honored several men and women for their outstanding acts of service at the 15th annual Law Enforcement Division Awards Ceremony Oct. 18.

The ceremony recognized Texas game wardens, non-commissioned TPWD employees, first responders from other agencies and members of the general public.

"I am extremely honored to work with these men and women who define and exemplify what it is to be a public servant," said Col. Grahame Jones, TPWD Law Enforcement Director. "I am also proud of our partnerships with local, state and federal law enforcement agencies, and the communities we serve."

This year's award recipients include game wardens who showed outstanding displays of teamwork and leadership in response to medical emergencies. Among the many heroic efforts recognized, include:

In May 2019, the Trinity County Sheriff's Department made a radio call for any units to respond to a subdivision on Lake Livingston. An elderly couple had driven their truck into the water and were trapped in the vehicle. Two Trinity County deputies, a Trinity County firefighter and a game warden dove down to try to gain access to the truck, which was about four feet under the surface, but the doors were locked. They tried several times to break a window but were unsuccessful until one of the deputies broke the rear window, severely cutting his hand. They all began trying to locate the couple inside the truck.

A deputy and the warden located the woman, pulled her from the truck and brought her to the surface. The deputies swam her back to shore while the warden dove back underwater, located the family dog and pulled it to the surface. The deputy and warden continued diving down to the truck to locate the man. After he was found and brought back to shore, paramedics performed CPR. They were not able to revive him, but the woman and the dog were saved without injury.

In Alto in April 2019, about 100 people were in attendance of the Caddo Culture Day Celebration when two tornadoes ripped through the area near the Caddo Mounds State Historical Area. A game warden used local county roads to plot a course to the historical area. When the roads became unpassable, he continued on foot and found a good Samaritan who agreed to take him by ATV to Caddo Mounds. When he arrived on scene, he began to render aid to the attendees and helped coordinate the helicopters and first responders as they arrived on scene. About 40 people were injured at the site, ten of which were in critical condition, and one person died from their injuries.

Other heroic lifesaving efforts recognized include a U.S. Army medic who, while camping on Lake Lavon, heard boaters calling for help after someone on a towed knee board lost their balance and fell into the water. When the operator of the vessel attempted to retrieve the knee boarder, a horrible accident occurred.

With only 42 seconds left in the first half, Winters put 6 points on the board with a 62-yard touchdown run, bringing the score at the half tied 6-6. The Buffaloes started the second half in possession of the ball on their own 45 yard line, after the initial kick went out of bounds.

The second half of the game was a back and forth battle between the Blizzards and the Buffaloes. Winters placed the first touchdown of the second half bringing the score 6-12, but it wasn't long before the Buffaloes answered back pulling the score to 13-12, with the touchdown and extra point.

The Buffaloes held the lead heading into the fourth quarter and the herd brought the heat. With 1:28 left in the game Winters made the final strike and brought the score to 20-13. The Buffs kept fighting, but they weren't able to get the ball in the endzone before the time ran out. While the victory may have gone to Winters at the end of the night, the Buffs and their fans could walk off the field with their head held high knowing they played a good game.

HALLOWEEN: HOW TO PICK/CREATE A COSTUME

Also keep in mind, whether or not your child will be comfortable in the costume. If your child is not accustomed to wearing accessories on their head, they may not want to wear a mask or crown. If your child is potty training, it is important to make sure the costume is easy to remove to prevent accidents. Nobody wants their dinosaur tail to go in the toilet.

It is beneficial to consider the weather and environment when choosing your costume. Ensure that the costume will not cause you to lose too much body heat if you will be outside; or cause you to overheat if you will be indoors.

Lastly, choose a costume that you feel comfortable in. A costume is not merely a mask to hide behind, but rather an expression of your interests. Have fun and stay safe.

the fun. Below are a few examples of costumes you can make with items you may already have in your closet.

Mad Hatter (Alice in Wonderland): For this outfit, use dark pants and a dark button up shirt. A light jacket or blazer and boots complete the look. To take it the extra mile, add a bowtie and an orange wig. The iconic top hat can be recreated by tying on a scarf. The Mad Hatter has a lot of crazy colors on his face. A simple neon colored eyeshadow palette is all the makeup required. Orange eyeshadow can be used to color your eyebrows and as contour on your cheeks. When applying color to your eyelids, it is more important that the two eyes don't match than which colors you use.

Luffy (One Piece): This is a simple one. The clothing needed is a red shirt, jeans, and sandals. To accessorize, add a straw hat with a red ribbon or band.

Choosing a Halloween costume can be stressful. With endless options, here are a few tips to keep in mind.

When purchasing a costume, it is important read the fine print. Often times the featured picture on a costume will show more accessories than what is included.

When choosing a costume for a child, there are a few important things to keep in mind. The first make sure that the costume is safe for your child. If your child's costume includes a mask, make sure the mask fits correctly on your child's face. The eye and mouth holes should line up to ensure your child won't have difficulty seeing or breathing. Another thing to consider when making sure a costume is safe for your child is the length of the costume to avoid tripping hazards.

Making a costume for Halloween is an exciting and challenging endeavor. It is quite simple to pull clothing and accessories that you already own and put them together to create the perfect costume. The first thing to consider is where your interests lie. It is good to brainstorm a list of characters or icons that you enjoy. When choosing to make a costume based on a character, consider what clothing they wear as well as the complexity of the costume. If there are abnormal accessories such as gear or weapons, that might make your costume more difficult to recreate. The amount of time you have to prepare as well as your skill levels will help determine which costume you should make.

Once you have chosen a character and considered their clothing and accessories, it is important to consider their behavior. While wearing a costume doesn't mean you have to behave exactly like that character, it does add an extra element to

Fiscal Notes: Texas' digital divide

Special to the Herald

AUSTIN — In the October edition of Fiscal Notes, released today, the Comptroller's office looks at the state of broadband in Texas' rural communities: Of the 3 million Texans who live outside of our metropolitan areas, nearly a third can't access high-speed internet.

"It's a wired world today, and we can't expect our state to flourish unless we make sure as many Texans as possible have access to dependable high-speed internet for everything from educational and medical services to agricultural technology and online sales," Texas Comptroller Glenn Hegar said.

This issue also takes a look at long lines and lengthy waits for driver's license services. Since 2011, the Legislature has appropriated more than $440 million to improve customer service at the Texas Department of Public Safety's (DPS) driver's license offices, but due to rapid population growth, the agency's goal of completing at least three-quarters of driver's license transactions within 45 minutes is further away than ever.

Fiscal Notes is available online and can be received by subscribing via the Comptroller's website.

Fiscal Notes furthers the Comptroller's constitutional responsibility to monitor the state's economy and estimate state government revenues. It has been published since 1975, featuring in-depth analysis concerning state finances and original research by subject-matter experts in the Comptroller's office.

BLM economic contributions increase in Fiscal Year 2018

New report highlights significant economic gains for America from public lands

Special to the Herald

WASHINGTON — The Bureau of Land Management (BLM) announced today an increase in the number of jobs supported through BLM activities in fiscal year 2018 as well as the total output for the American economy. Socio-economic figures in a newly-released report highlight a 9% increase over Fiscal Year 2017.

The report, entitled "The BLM: A Sound Investment for America 2019," was released today and can be found here. It indicates that in 2018, BLM activities on public lands supported approximately 471,000 full- and part-time jobs, up from 468,000 jobs in 2017. Additionally, these activities resulted in $105 billion in total economic output, a sharp increase from $95.6 billion in 2017.

"The BLM remains committed to the sustainable development of America's energy and natural resources," said Acting Assistant Secretary for Land and Minerals Management Casey Hammond. "These numbers indicate that we are achieving those objectives, while increasing revenues to the United States Treasury and benefiting families across the nation."

"America's public lands are a key driver of the nation's economy, particularly in states across the West. The jobs and communities these lands support are vital to millions of Americans, and the Bureau of Land Management is proud to make sure economic activities continue in a sustainable, environmentally-sound manner," said BLM Deputy Director for Policy and Programs William Perry Pendley.

A primary contributor to the economic uptick was the production of energy and natural resources on BLM-managed lands, many of which saw dramatic increases in 2018. In fiscal year 2018, the BLM offered nearly 13 million acres for leasing. Federal onshore oil production increased to 214.1 million barrels of oil during fiscal year 2018, compared to 174 million barrels in fiscal year 2017, due to the BLM's implementation of energy priorities. New renewable energy projects were also initiated. Other areas, such as grazing and timber production experienced significant increases as well.

Outdoor recreation is also a significant source of jobs and revenue for local communities from public lands, generating more than $6.8 billion in total economic output in fiscal year 2018. Public lands managed by the BLM offer more recreational opportunities than lands managed by any other Federal agency, with over 99% available for recreation with no fee. In fiscal year 2018, BLM lands received nearly 68 million recreation-related visits.

The BLM manages more than 245 million acres of public land located primarily in 12 Western states, including Alaska. The BLM also administers 700 million acres of sub-surface mineral estate throughout the nation. In fiscal year 2018, the diverse activities authorized on BLM-managed lands generated $105 billion in economic output across the country. This economic activity supported 471,000 jobs and contributed substantial revenue to the U.S. Treasury and state governments, mostly through royalties on minerals.

Wildlife experts predict quality quail hunting for season which opened Oct. 26

Special to the Herald

AUSTIN – With quail hunting season opening Saturday, Oct. 26 statewide, Texas Parks and Wildlife Department wildlife biologists predict average to above-average prospects across most of the state.

“Habitat and weather can cause dramatic shifts in bobwhite and scaled quail populations from one year to the next,” said Robert Perez, quail program leader for TPWD. “Although last year’s quail season was not very productive, quail have an uncanny ability to quickly bounce back when conditions are good. Thanks to favorable weather conditions earlier this year, hunters can look forward to productive quail hunting across most of the state this season.”

sulting in an above average bobwhite quail season in most of South Texas, average to slightly above average scaled quail season for the Trans Pecos region, and good prospects for scaled quail and bobwhite in the Panhandle above Interstate 40.

“Favorable weather conditions spurred calling and pair formation in the majority of South Texas counties, and land manager and staff reports suggest an average to above average season,” Perez said. “Scaled quail in the Trans Pecos also look better than average, so it’s a good year to put on some tennis shoes and chase this elusive game bird.”

In the Rolling Plains, field reports indicate a very active roosting calling period in the spring and pairs spotted throughout the summer. Quality habitat across the region provides plenty of nesting and brooding cover and plants like dove weed and ragweed provide chicks with the protein-packed insects they need.

“The Rolling Plains appears to be up from last year but still below average, although our surveys may have underestimated the population due to dense roadside vegetation and extreme heat, which may have influenced habitat use,” Perez said. “Overall, the Rolling Plains has the potential to have an average year. And an average year in Texas is better than just about anywhere else in the country.”

TPWD projections are based on annual statewide quail surveys that were initiated in 1978 to monitor quail populations. This index uses randomly selected, 20-mile roadside survey lines to determine annual quail population trends by ecological region. This trend information helps determine relative quail populations among the regions of Texas.

Comparisons can be made between the mean (average) number of quail observed per route this year and the 15-year mean for quail seen within an ecological region. The quail survey was not designed to predict relative abundance for any area smaller than the ecological region.

A regional breakdown of this year’s TPWD quail index survey, including highlights and prospects, is available online.

Quail hunting season runs through Feb. 23, 2020. The daily bag limit for quail is 15, with 45 in possession. Legal shooting hours for all non-migratory game birds are 30 minutes before sunrise to 30 minutes after sunset. The bag limit is the maximum number that may be killed during the legal shooting hours in one day.

Hunters can find public quail hunting opportunities at several wildlife management areas located within the core quail range, including Elephant Mountain, Black Gap, Gene Howe, Matador, Chaparral and James E. Daughtry. Additionally, hunters can search for quail hunting opportunities on public and leased land with an Annual Public Hunting Permit here.

Hunters who want the convenience of purchasing a license online can do so securely from the official Texas Parks and Wildlife Department’s license site. Access it directly from the department’s website, visit www.txfg-sales.com, or text TPWD LICENSE to 468-311 to receive a link.

Hunters can also purchase a license in person at sporting goods stores and other retailers or by calling the TPWD License Section at 1-800-895-4248.

Texas game wardens recognized for life-saving heroics at annual Law Enforcement Awards Ceremony

Specil to the Herald

AUSTIN— Texas Parks and Wildlife Department Executive Director Carter Smith honored several men and women for their outstanding acts of service at the 15th annual Law Enforcement Division Awards Ceremony Oct. 18.

The ceremony recognized Texas game wardens, non-commissioned TPWD employees, first responders from other agencies and members of the general public.

“I am extremely honored to work with these men and women who define and exemplify what it is to be a public servant,” said Col. Grahame Jones, TPWD Law Enforcement Director. “I am also proud of our partnerships with local, state and federal law enforcement agencies, and the communities we serve.”

This year’s award recipients include game wardens who showed outstanding displays of teamwork and leadership in response to medical emergencies. Among the many heroic efforts recognized, include:

In May 2019, the Trinity County Sheriff’s Department made a radio call for any units to respond to a subdivision on Lake Livingston. An elderly couple had driven their truck into the water and were trapped in the vehicle.

Two Trinity County deputies, a Trinity County firefighter and a game warden dove down to try to gain access to the truck, which was about four feet under the surface, but the doors were locked. They tried several times to break a window but were unsuccessful until one of the deputies broke the rear window, severely cutting his hand. They all began trying to locate the couple inside the truck. A deputy and the warden located the woman, pulled her from the truck and brought her to the surface. The deputies swam her back to shore while the warden dove underwater, located the family dog and pulled it to the surface.

The deputy and warden continued diving down to the truck to locate the man. After he was found and brought back to shore, paramedics performed CPR. They were not able to revive him, but the woman and the dog were saved without injury.

In Alto in April 2019, about 100 people were in attendance of the Caddo Culture Day Celebration when two tornadoes ripped through the area near the Caddo Mounds State Historical Area. A game warden used local county roads to plot a course to the historical area. When the roads became unpassable, he continued on foot and found a good Samaritan who agreed to take him by ATV to Caddo Mounds. When he arrived on scene, he began to render aid to the attendees and helped coordinate the helicopters and first responders as they arrived on scene. About 40 people were injured at the site, ten of which were in critical condition, and one person died from their injuries.

Other heroic lifesaving efforts recognized include a U.S. Army medic who, while camping on Lake Lavon, heard boaters calling for help after someone on a towed knee board lost their balance and fell into the water. When the operator of the vessel attempted to retrieve the knee boarder, a horrible accident occurred. The individual was struck by the vessel and received life threatening injuries. The medic retrieved his emergency trauma pack and began to render lifesaving first aid to the boater until emergency medical units arrived.

Tomorrow's Horoscope

BY HOLIDAY MATHIS of vicinity who hates to leave.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 21). Feelings are interesting to have, to witness, to cause. We have names for feelings, and this helps us process them, though it should be noted and respected (especially today) that those names are almost always reductive.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22-Dec. 21). If there's something that's worth asking over and over again, it's the simple three-word question "Is that true?" To ask it of what you read and hear is a no-brainer. To ask it of what you already know -- that's next-level.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19). In a world where many are friends secretly don't want the other to succeed, you make it a point to do the opposite. You celebrate the

TODAY'S BIRTHDAY (Oct. 27). You've often felt the world was trying to make you into something you were not. This year, the world seems only to support the person you want to be. This new level of help all around you allows you to let down your resistance and be carried by life's flow. You'll work without frustration, delighted by fast progress. Taurus and Gemini adore you. Your lucky numbers are: 5, 33, 50, 19 and 44.

FORECAST FOR THE WEEK AHEAD: With the Scorpio sun in a tug of war with Uranus, the main theme at this point of the Scorpio solar journey centers around issues of attention. The Scorpio new moon would like to point out right off the bat that it is not so hard to get attention, that attention can be forced through all sorts of literal and figurative pyrotechnics -- pushing triggers through sexiness, alarm, fear, strangeness... All of these will work for a hot second, but they are not the same thing as true interest. While attention may make the world exciting, interest is what makes it turn. Interest is a quality of awareness that lasts past the initial attraction. Interest comes with its own curiosity pack and asks the kinds of questions that, once answered, only lead to more questions. Without interest, no investment will be made.

If it is possible to make a person interested in what doesn't initially interest them, it begins with an attention grab. But if that attention grab doesn't hook them, well, there's little to be done. When a person is really interested, it is likely for deeply rooted and often-unexplainable reasons. True interest is difficult to manufacture and even more difficult to thwart. Those who make these distinctions and apply this awareness in life this week will be soulfully rewarded.

A Spell for the Scorpio New Moon

ARIES (March 21-April 19). Hearts are made out of remarkable stuff. They are built to be resilient and yet can somehow remain tender at the same time. Is it strange to be awed by your own compassion? Maybe, but nonetheless, it's your destiny today.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20). The mark of high intelligence is not the absorption of information but the curiosity that causes you to seek it in the first place. That curiosity will lead you to unexpected places today.

GEMINI (May 21-June 21). Imagine your pain as though it were a marble trapped in a puzzle box of sliding doors and triggers. Keep investigating. Keep trying different moves until you find a way to release this pain and watch it roll right out of your life.

CANCER (June 22-July 22). We are always teaching each other. The attractive moves and unattractive moves we make all get absorbed by the people around us. Today this principle will work for you. You'll like what's reflected back to you.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22). As for the trillions of microorganisms that live on your body, what if your stress were tantamount to their Armageddon and your happiness were their Eden? In that case, happiness would be not only your choice but also your responsibility.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22). You're allowed to interrupt your own negativity, which is best done with polite redirection. Think of your negativity as a person, and then follow the rules of friendly discourse, which sometimes include a deft change of subject.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23). You long ago learned that home might be a place but it's never (SET ITAL) only (END ITAL) a place. Home is seldom where a person is born. It's sometimes where a person stays. It's always where a person

Fun By The Numbers

Like puzzles? Then you'll love sudoku. This mind-bending puzzle will have you hooked from the moment you square off, so sharpen your pencil and put your sudoku savvy to the test!

Level: Advanced

Here's How It Works:

Sudoku puzzles are formatted as a 9x9 grid, broken down into nine 3x3 boxes. To solve a sudoku, the numbers 1 through 9 must fill each row, column and box. Each number can appear only once in each row, column and box. You can figure out the order in which the numbers will appear by using the numeric clues already provided in the boxes. The more numbers you name, the easier it gets to solve the puzzle!

ANSWER:

His Way or the Highway

Dear Annie: My husband is controlling. Everything has to be his way. I've caught him in lies. We argue constantly. I get pretty tired of it, but I come right back to him every time. I'm trying to figure out what to do.

We've both had hard lives. I've heard some concerning things about how he treated his ex-wife. I'm a nice and sweet person. I just want to be treated right. I don't like being yelled at or controlled. I used to work but now I can't get a job because he doesn't want me to get a job.

Also, he still constantly deals with his ex-girlfriend. She and I can't stand each other. She's been stalking him for seven years. I tried telling him to change his number and he won't. I don't know if he's still talking to her; she calls him privately. I was wondering what to do. I think he still has feelings for her, because otherwise he'd have told her to stop "stalking" him, instead of just letting it continue. What do you think? -- Stay or Go

Dear Stay or Go: If this marriage is to continue, you and your husband need to try a little tenderness -- to aim for patience, kindness and trust. You've got too much of the opposite going now, and it leaves no room for love. A licensed marriage counselor could help you both out of this resentment rut and onto a sturdier foundation of trust and communication. If counseling doesn't yield results and you still feel controlled, stuck and deceived, then it's time to go. Marriage should make you feel stronger, not weaker.

Dear Annie: Oh, how I needed the beautiful and uplifting poem, "The Optimist," that reader Beryl submitted. My husband and I are in the winter of our lives, and he is facing a life-threatening illness. We are sad and fearful. But we have faith, family and friends. We truly have been blessed to have lived this long together and have cherished our lives. We try to call upon these blessings to banish the doom and gloom. And now I will call upon the wisdom of this poem to lift us up. -- Thinking Positive in Louisville

Dear Thinking Positive: I'm so sorry that your husband is ill. I'm glad that Beryl's poem touched you, as it seems to have touched many others. Read on.

Dear Annie: I am a 64-year-old mother. I lost my son, Jonathan, age 34, Christmas week of 2017, when his car was hit by a careless driver of a truck. My son left behind a wife and two children. My son was a good person, son and husband who spread his love, kindness and thoughtfulness to all he knew.

My intense grief has morphed into clinical depression. I still find joy in my family, especially my late son's two children. But at times, I have had thoughts that my pain will only truly stop when I depart this life. I am seeing a grief counselor and am on antidepressants. I am on as good a path as possible given the circumstances.

I'm not writing to ask for any advice. I'm writing because Beryl's poem touched my heart and soul. It made me think of all the things there are still here for me to see and experience even at my age. And to experience with my grandchildren.

Beryl, you don't know how important it was that you sent your insightful poem into Annie's column. Thank you! -- Debra, Washington, Pennsylvania

Dear Debra: I am so, so sorry for the loss of your son. My heart goes out to you. Thank you for writing.

The bidding:

 Opening lead — queen of diamonds.

The question of when to draw trump arises in the play of every suit contract. The general rule is that declarer extracts the opposing trumps at once unless there is a good reason not to do so, but finding that reason naturally might require a bit of foresight.

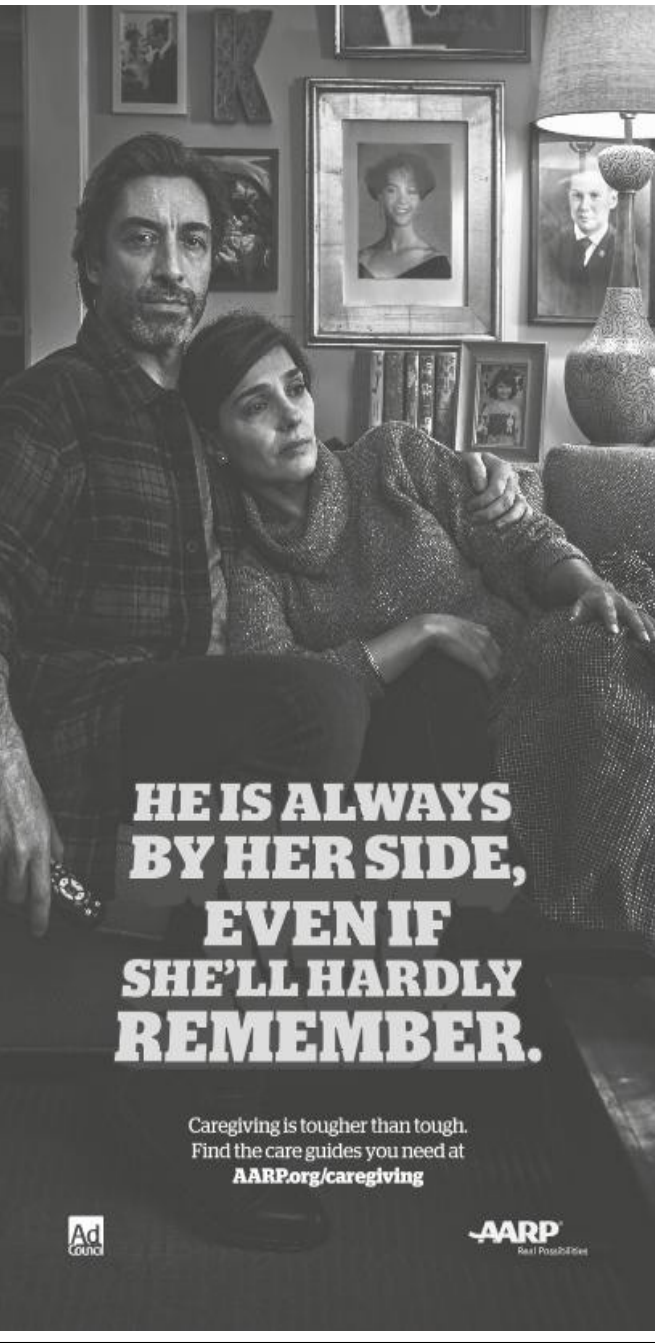

For example, consider this deal where South wins the diamond lead with the ace and is faced with the question of whether to draw trump.

Let's see what happens if he does. Since the spades are divided 4-1, he must play four rounds of them, and then must set about establishing a club trick. East wins the first club and returns a diamond, which declarer ruffs. Another club lead produces another diamond return, forcing declarer to use his last trump. After South ruffs, he can do no better than cash the A-K of hearts and finish down one.

Now let's go back to trick two and have South lead a club instead of drawing trump. East wins the club and returns a diamond. South ruffs and plays another club. The defense wins the club and again returns a diamond. Declarer ruffs and leads the third round of clubs, taken by West.

The wisdom of delaying the extraction of the opposing trumps now becomes apparent. Another diamond lead from West would be ineffective, since declarer can ruff in dummy, draw trump and claim the balance, while any other return from West would prove equally ineffective.

The advantage of playing clubs at trick two is that it guards against a 4-1 trump division while costing virtually nothing if the trumps are divided 3-2.

Pike family receives VFF support

Local donations contributed to $500 check for Navy Chief Daniel Pike's Family

Special to the Herald

The Active Veterans Families Fund supports local military families through donations made by the community. This is another way a thank you is extended to active veteran's families for their sacrifices during their service to our country.

Daniel Pike, Big Spring resident, is currently aboard the LCS USS Gabrielle Giffords along with about 110 sailors. He is a chief in the navy and has been serving for 10 years. His crew will be deployed for six to nine months in the South China Sea. He deployed on Sept. 2, only 28 days before his 32nd birthday.

Pike's wife Akacia, 31, and their three sons; Nathaniel, 12; Jayden, 9; and Liam, 6; and daughter Aurora, 2 are currently in Big Spring, after moving from San Diego, California, where Pike was stationed for six years. Pike's wife decided to move back to be near family during her husband's deployment.

"It's always a hard time being away from my husband, but I guess you can say after 10 years, I'm a bit of a pro by now, with three deployments under my belt already," Akacia said. "Keeping busy with my kids always makes the time fly for me."

She continued, "Although it's easier for me and my two oldest to get through deployments, it hasn't been for my son Liam and daughter. They don't quite understand why Dad has to be gone so long.

Nonetheless, we do our best to keep each other's spirits up and provide comfort to one another. My husband is extremely passionate about his love for his family, his job, his country, and his brothers he serves with. He feels deeply about his work and does everything in his power to make sure things go accordingly and to ensure the safety and well-being of his crew."

The men and women serving alongside Pike, work relentlessly day and night to ensure our safety no questions asked. Pike's wife described her husband and his crew as selfless and brave human beings.

"God has blessed my husband so much. We know that without Him and the grace He has shown us, we would not be the strong individuals we are today. Military life hasn't always been easy in the slightest, but I believe this is God's plan for my husband, and I will always support his dreams 2,000 percent," Akacia said.

The Pike Family and the Veterans Families Fund sends their appreciation to the Big Spring community who supported and made this donation possible. For those wanting to donate, visit Woodforest National Bank, located inside Walmart at 201 W. Marcy Drive. The account is under The Veterans Families Account.
