

Health Agency Fund Campaign Results Listed

The results of the recently conducted National Health Agencies fund-raising drive have been released. The results of the International Service Agency fund-raising drive, conducted along with the former, have not been received as yet.

In the NHA drive, Reesites contributed a whopping $1,965.59—beating last year's total amount collected by more than a hundred dollars. Last year's figure was $1,848.97.

Leading the base in amount contributed was the 3500th Air Base Group with a whopping $749.70. With 710 assigned and attached military and civilians, 495 of them contributed for a 69 per cent participation rate. The 3501st Pilot Training Squadron, with 94 assigned, had an amazing 86 persons contributing for a 90 per cent participation rate. They contributed a total of $109.30. Also at 90 per cent was 429S Field Training Detachment. Close behind were Management Engineering (See CAMPAIGN, Page 12)

Girls To Sponsor Booths Tomorrow

Junior and Cadet Girl Scouts will sponsor two booths during Armed Forces Day on the flight line in an effort to raise money to send girls to summer camp at Camp Rio Blancas near Crosbyton, Tex.

The girls will sell balloons at one booth and hold a bake sale at the other. Reesites are urged to support both booths in helping to send the girls off to summer camp this summer.

The Pictures

The color pictures on this page are meant to be symbolic of Armed Forces Day, being observed at Reese AFB tomorrow.

At the top of the page is a scene shot of Main Boulevard from the main gate toward wing headquarters. Lining the boulevard are the flags of the 50 states that will be out tomorrow to add color to Armed Forces Day. Wing headquarters is in the background, and behind it, the familiar water tower.

At the bottom of the page, at left, is the Northrop T-38 Talon used in Phase III training at Reese, and at right is the Cessna T-37 aircraft used in Phase II training. They, along with nearly a score of other aircraft, will be on display at the flight line to attract viewers.

10,000 Visitors Expected

Open House At Base Scheduled Tomorrow

Reese AFB stands ready tomorrow to play host to up to 10,000 persons from across the South Plains at the base's Open House that will highlight Armed Forces Day - 1970.

Featured during the six-hour Open House will be an Armed Forces Day luncheon, fly-bys of Northrop T-38 Talon and Cessna T-37 aircraft used in the training of undergraduate pilots at Reese AFB, parasail and air rescue demonstrations, firing range demonstrations, and a host of displays and exhibits including nearly a score of aircraft from other bases, commands and even services.

Traditionally, the static display of aircraft has provided visitors with their best chance to see the aircraft being used throughout the world to keep America strong.

Navy Aircraft Included

The U.S. Navy is providing two aircraft, the Grumman F-9 Cougar and the Grumman S-2 Tracker. Tactical Air Command is providing a half-dozen of its aircraft. They are the North American OV-10, Republic F-105 Thunderchief, North American F-100 Super Sabre, McDonnell-Douglas F-4 Phantom II, Fairchild C-123 Provider and the Lockheed C-130 Hercules.

Other aircraft on display tomorrow includes the McDonnell

F-101 Voodoo, Convair F-102 Delta Dagger, Convair F-106 Delta Dart, Boeing KC-135 Stratotanker, Lockheed C-141 Stairliifter, and the Cessna A-37.

In addition, four aircraft very familiar to Reese personnel will join the static display of aircraft. These are the Cessna T-41 Mesquero, used in the base Phase I program, the Cessna T-37 used in the Phase II program, the Northrop T-38 Talon, used in the Phase III program, and the Kaman HH-43 Huskie helicopter, used in air rescue work at the base.

Gates To Open At 11 a.m.

The gates to the base will open at 11 a.m. with traffic directed to use the north gate—north of the main gate on War Highway. For the public, the first event will be a fly-by of T-37 and T-38 aircraft at 1 p.m. This will be repeated at 3 p.m. A parasail demonstration along with an air rescue demonstration will be held at 2 and 4 p.m. — weather permitting. Firing range demonstration will be held at the base firing range at 1:30 and 3:30 p.m. Buses will leave from hangar P-82 20 minutes before each scheduled firing.

The open house will end at 5 p.m. with a retreat ceremony held in front of wing headquarters heralding the end of Armed Forces Day observances at Reese.

Civic Leaders To Be Guests

Prominent civic leaders will be the guests of the base at the traditional Armed Forces Day luncheon scheduled for noon at (See OPEN HOUSE, Page 11)

Beauty Winner Announced

Mrs. Helen Vendrick has been named the winner of the Miss/Mrs. Armed Forces Day beauty contest conducted by the Roundup. A civil service worker at Reese, she won out over five other candidates in base-wide voting which saw almost 600 votes cast.

The veteran of five years of civil service work was entered in the contest by the quality control section of Deputy Commander for Materiel Division, where she is the secretary.

Mrs. Vendrick expressed her appreciation to section members for entering her in the contest and for campaigning for her. She said, "Quality control have really been good campaign managers.

It was a nice thing for them to do."

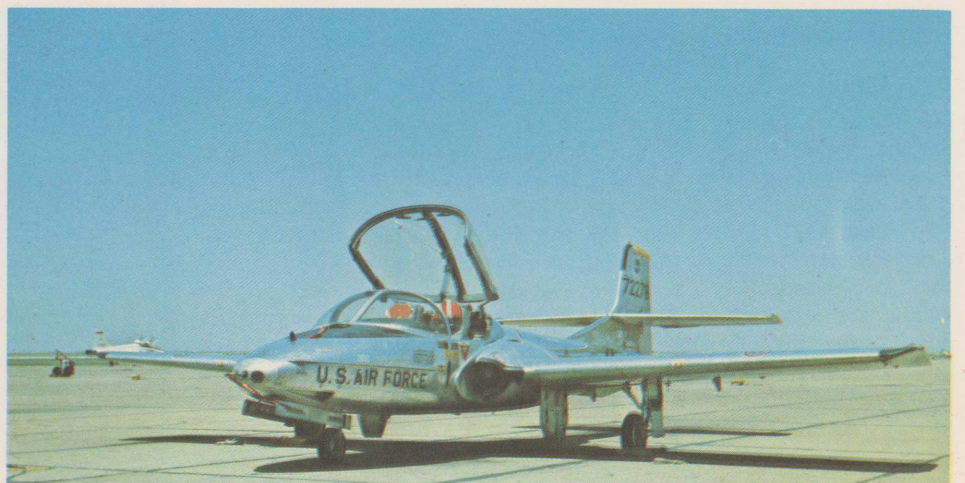

Mrs. Vendrick

The beauty winner is married to Martin Vendrick, who retired from the Air Force in 1968. Mrs. Vendrick's children are 20-year-olds Kenneth, who is a student at Cook County Junior College, and Mrs. John Hamilton, who resides in Lubbock with her husband and 9-month-old daughter, Lori.

As winner of the balloting, Mrs. Vendrick will reign over the Armed Forces Day festivities at the base tomorrow. She will act as hostess for the Armed Forces Day luncheon at the Officers Open Mess and will be presented a diamond wrist watch, courtesy of Zales Jewelry of Lubbock.

Mrs. Vendrick is five feet, six inches tall, weighs 119 pounds and is 34-23-35.

COMMANDER'S COMMENTS...

Festivities To Honor Community Attitude

Col. Clyde J. Morganti
Wing Commander

Tomorrow is the day set aside to honor members of the nation's Armed Forces, who have stood guard over this nation's defenses for nearly 200 years.

Armed Forces Day, 1970, takes on a new meaning for members of the armed services. Never has the patience of the professional serviceman been more strained to understand his role in the defense picture, and especially his role in society itself.

At many places, whether by accident or design, Armed Forces Day is being conducted in what is termed "low key." Happily, this is not the case at Reese AFB. In fact, if anything, tomorrow's observance at Reese will be bigger and perhaps better than any in the history of the base. This is partially due to some excellent planning on the part of the project officers at the base, Majors Elmer R. Olson and Robert F. Walton, who in turn were aided by an extremely capable committee.

But perhaps more important is the attitude of the community of which Reese is a part. Lubbock and the South Plains has consistently displayed a hospitality toward its military forces, especially Reese AFB, that is unsurpassed in any other area. Some attribute this to a so-called "conservative area," but this can be misleading in the semantics of the layman. For this area is, in many ways, very liberal. It is liberal in that it has given liberally of time and effort in making the mission of this base easier, and liberal in its genuine acceptance of all our personnel—regardless of race or creed—a tolerance that is apparently less noticeable in other areas.

We at Reese are fortunate for this hospitality and democratic acceptance and it is for this reason that we open our doors tomorrow to welcome the thousands of visitors from across the South Plains to Reese. We do it with a great big Texas "Howdy," and the knowledge that the rapport which has existed throughout the years between Reese and the community continues to flourish and, indeed, grow and, further, that in every area of the United States any vestige of misunderstanding of the role of the military man in a peaceful America will be dispelled forever.

Letter To Paper Gives Answers To Editorial

(EDITOR'S NOTE: The following letter was received at Boone Publications, Inc., which publishes the Roundup, with instructions to run it as a paid advertisement. It was referred to the editor of the Roundup for whatever action that seemed appropriate. Inasmuch as the article referred to in the letter appeared on the editorial page of the Roundup, we give the following letter equal treatment on the same page without the writer incurring the expense of a paid advertisement.)

"In reference to the article titled 'Helping Hand Needed To Improve Society' of April 17, 1970, appearing in the Roundup, I noted an interest in showing 'respect for the serviceman and civilian employe as a person, recognizing his individual needs, aspirations and capabilities.' And that 'For some time now, military installations in the U.S. have been given the 'green light' to use their manpower and resources in improvement of ghetto areas and in other community projects.' I found in reading this article that the Defense Department has given its approval through the Domestic Action Council. Now my purpose in writing this was to learn just how domestic is 'domestic.' Here at Reese AFB, Tex. (charity begins at home), there are so many

'little' things that need improvement before the council try to bring 'improvement of ghetto areas.'

"I would like to see the Domestic Action Council help bring to the servicemen at Reese AFB his 'individual needs, aspirations' in base facilities. Through investigation it was revealed to me that in our base exchange, members of minority groups can't buy books that pertain to them, or be entertained at the base NCO Club with entertainment with them in mind. Nor can we buy products peculiar to our needs. I don't think it's too much to ask when we ask for our needs and I have named only a few, when as Domestic Action Council reminds us in this article 'We all have a share in this country's welfare.' So why not in its benefits?"

The letter was signed by Sgt. Richard A. Davis, 3500th Air Base Group, Reese AFB, Tex.

(EDITOR'S NOTE: Although conventional methods of stating a complaint apparently were not used as neither the squadron commander nor the wing IG were aware of the individual's complaint, it must be conceded that improvement is needed in providing a better selection of products and reading materials peculiar to minority groups as well as providing entertainment periodically with them in mind. Efforts are now being made to improve this situation.)

Toothpaste Not Adequate Dental Hygiene Substitute

Which toothpaste is the best for you and your family—one that whitens teeth, kills germs or prevents decay?

Simply stated, the role of a dentifrice in oral hygiene is to act as an aid to the toothbrush in cleaning teeth. In addition, of course, certain dentifrices have proven decay-preventing qualities. These toothpastes are recommended for use—especially by children—by the American Dental Association (ADA).

The ADA classifies and evaluates therapeutic dentifrices; that is, those toothpastes which claim to improve oral health. Since 1960, when the Association first recognized one dentifrice as "an effective decay preventive," only a handful of toothpastes have been approved. All of them contain some type of fluoride. All approved dentifrices carry the ADA statement, so check to see if your toothpaste has that statement.

These dentifrices are effective, but the extent of their effectiveness depends upon the user. To obtain maximum protection against decay, you should brush your teeth as soon as possible after eating, even after snacks.

Before using the tooth whitening pastes, the ADA suggests you ask the advice of your family dentist. One other comment on types of dentifrices: The so-called "bacteria killer" dentifrices have not been found effective either in reducing the number of decay-causing bacteria in the mouth or in combating decay. It is advisable to provide an approved fluoride dentifrice, especially for your children. All members of your family should remember to brush immediately after eating and to see your family dentist for regular checkups. (AFPS)

However, even approved dentifrices are not cure-alls. They are designed only as aids in combating decay and will not substitute for fluoridation of community water supplies and regular visits to the dentist. Some of the newer additions to the dentifrice market are the so-called tooth whiteners. The ADA has commented on these toothpastes as follows: "There has been a recent tendency to promote dentifrices on the basis of their ability to whiten or brighten teeth. Such claims appear to relate almost exclusively to the incorporation in the dentifrices of harsher abrasive agents. Depending on the level of abrasive present dentifrices may be excessively harsh for regular use by the general public."

The ADA especially warns against use of such dentifrices by dental patients with exposed dentin or cementum or by patients who have restorations constructed of soft synthetic materials. Dentin is the calcified tissue beneath the enamel of the teeth, and cementum is the relatively thin tissue covering the roots of teeth.

Before using the tooth whitening pastes, the ADA suggests you ask the advice of your family dentist.

Officials Send Messages

"This year marks the start of a new decade and the beginning of a renewed search by America and her allies for peace throughout the world. In the future, as in the past, we will be faced with many challenging and difficult problems in our quest for peace. It is fitting, therefore, that we take this occasion of Armed Forces Day to express our appreciation and to pay tribute to our men and women in uniform whose dedicated service contributes so much to our national security, as well as to our hopes for peace."

Robert C. Seamans Jr.
Secretary of the Air Force

"Throughout United States history, the burden of insuring freedom has fallen predominantly on the shoulders of our Armed Forces personnel. On this Armed Forces Day, the burden is being borne in a manner in which all Americans can be justly proud. I extend a special salute to those men and women who have sacrificed so unselfishly in the cause of preserving a free America."

Gen. John D. Ryan
Air Force Chief of Staff

"The increasing complexity of aerospace weaponry continues to place unprecedented demands on our instructional system. I am proud to say that the men and women of the Air Training Command are successfully meeting and overcoming these new challenges. They are providing the finest training possible for the 'Forces for Freedom' today and tomorrow."

World Wants 'Real Thing'

By Chaplain (Capt.)
Clyde F. Pressley Jr.

A very popular product advertised on television includes, within its commercial song, the words, "What the world wants to see is the real thing."

There is a profound truth in these words. I think the world is fed up with shoddiness and mediocrity in anything.

We may relax our morals, our disciplines, our integrity, our religious faith or any other values, but the end result will be ultimate rejection by society. For, by-and-large, the world wants and ultimately will have only the real thing.

Quote Of Note

"If basic ideas and lasting values of human dignity are the vehicle to the future, then the people of this great country are the drivers. People putting words into action have made this United States a symbol of democracy. And people are still the hope, the catalyst of the future." (Maj. Charles D. Belt, Grand Forks AFB, N.D., excerpt from 1968 award-winning Freedoms Foundation letter).

Often we give support to that which is less than the highest and best, because we think that it is the "in thing" to do. I have no doubt that at that moment it may truly be the in thing, but in everyone's most honest self there lies a deep respect for high morals, discipline, integrity and religious faith.

The worth and existence of governments and peoples have rested upon their relationship to these higher values, for the world will only honor the real thing.

Personnel Complete Overhaul On Instrument Landing System

Navigational Aid personnel of the 2053rd Communications Squadron here recently overhauled the Reese instrument landing system. The job was completed with very little down time, preventing major interruption of the flying mission and saving the base an estimated $3,000. During the overhaul all feed cables were replaced, the antenna arrays painted and the clearance obstruction light relocated. Extensive ground checks and a special Federal Aviation Administration flight check certified the satisfactory completion of the job.

The job was completed with base Civil Engineer support and the assistance of one Central Communications Region technical advisor. Such an overhaul operation usually is accomplished by

Fast Redeployment Wins Flight Honor

WASHINGTON (AFNS) — The 49th Tactical Fighter Wing at Holloman AFB, N.M., has been selected as recipient of the 1969 Mackay Trophy. It is the oldest award presented annually to flying officers of the Air Force.

Established in 1912, the award is made "for the most meritorious flight of the year" by an Air Force individual or organization. The 1969 award is only the eighth time that the Mackay Trophy has gone to a unit.

The 49th was selected for its redeployment from Spangdahlem AB, Germany, to Holloman AFB, April 1-4, 1969. The unit's 72 F-4D aircraft completed the movement without an abort, aided by seven aerial refuelings for each aircraft. Thirty-four of the aircraft were operationally ready upon completion of the 5,000-mile flight. The entire force was ready seven hours after the last aircraft arrived.

A native of Kirkwood, Mo., he entered the Army Air Corps as a flying cadet in June 1938 after earning a B.S. degree from Washington University at St. Louis.

He was commissioned a second lieutenant after completing flying training in May 1939.

During World War II, General Dusard flew 76 combat missions in the Pacific Theater, downed two enemy aircraft and fought in nine major battles and campaigns.

Col. William E. Sharp, deputy chief of staff for Plans for Headquarters Air Training Command at Randolph AFB, Tex., retired April 30 completing more than 29 years of military service.

His replacement at ATC Headquarters will be Col. Edwin B. Frazier, who has served as assistant DCS/Plans since May 1969.

Volunteer Work Is Honored By Family Services Spotlight

Family Services' third spotlight for May is Mrs. Pershing Hicks, wife of Capt. Pershing Hicks of the 24th Weather Squadron.

Mrs. Hicks first joined Family Services at Reese in June 1967 and held the position of Information File Chairman for two consecutive terms, July 1967 until October 1968. Her next position was that of Administration chairman from October 1968 until April 1969. The last position Mrs. Hicks held was that of Special Assistant chairman from October 1969 to March 1970. She has received her Family Services pin and uniform. Other awards she has received are her 100-hour guard through 750-hour guard and her two-year stripe. At present she has over 750 hours credited to her as a Family Services volunteer.

The Hicks have two children, Connie, 9, and Kerry, 7. Captain and Mrs. Hicks plan to leave Reese at the end of May for the University of Oklahoma, Norman, Okla., where Captain Hicks will study for his masters degree in meteorology.

Office orientation will be held at 1 p.m. in the Family Services Center. Interested wives should call ext. 2306. Free nursery service will be provided.

'Green Thumb' Presentations Will Be Made This Summer

A Green Thumb Award program for the months of June, July, August and September is being instituted to select and recognize personnel residing on base who have put forth a little more effort than is required to maintain their grounds.

Personnel residing in the trailer park, officer's section and NCO section will compete in separate categories for the honors.

Winners in each category will be presented with a letter of selection, a plaque for display on their lawns during the selection month and two free dinners at the appropriate club (Officers or NCO). The presentations will be made by Col. William C. Sipes

Jr. at the winners' homes. Inspection for nominees and winners will be conducted during the first week of each month of the award months.

The criteria to be used for the award selections will include mowing (two to three and one-half inches); edging of walks, curbs, shrub borders and flower beds; pruning of shrubs and hedges; weed control; cultivation of flower and shrub beds (free from grass and weeds); policing of yard; neatness of yard (hose rolled up, garden tools in storage areas, etc.); and other efforts extended to beautify lawn and garden.

Action, Drama, Comedy Key To Week's Theater Features

Uproarious comedy, outdoor action and power-packed drama will highlight this week's movie schedule at the base theater.

Tonight's feature will be "Story Of A Woman," starring Robert Stack, James Farentino and Bibi Anderson. The drama was filmed in Italy and Scandinavia and carries an audience suitability rating of R, restricted, under 17 not admitted unless accompanied by parent or guardian.

"The Big Mouth," will be tomorrow's matinee attraction. The riotous comedy stars Jerry Lewis and Susan Bay and is rated G, all ages admitted.

Tomorrow night's movie, "Once You Kiss A Stranger," stars Paul Burke, Martha Hyer and Carol Lynley in the story of a psychotic murderess who slays a top-money golf pro during the climax of a championship golf tournament. The suspense thriller is rated GP, all ages admitted with parental discretion advised.

Walt Disney's "The Computer Wore Tennis Shoes" will be featured at the theater Sunday evening. The comedy stars Kurt Russell, Cesar Romero and Joe Flynn and is rated G.

Jack Palance and Franco Nero star in "The Mercenary," the story of a violent conflict between two men in the setting of old Mexico. The outdoor action drama will be shown Tuesday at the base theater. The film is rated GP.

"Tick . . . tick . . . tick . . ." will be the theater's attraction Wednesday and Thursday evenings. The power-packed topical drama stars Jim Brown, Federic March and Academy Award winner George Kennedy in the story of what happens when a town turns into a time bomb. The movie carries an audience suitability rating of G.

Discrimination Findings Will Be Evaluated

RANDOLPH AFB, Tex. (AFNS) — Officials here are weighing findings of a three-day conference called to study racial tension and elimination of discriminatory practices against Air Force members.

Topics at the USAF Military Personnel Center covered the Military Equal Opportunity Program, Equal Opportunity in Housing and the Housing Referral Office, Personal Appearance and Dissent, Education and Communications and the Procurement and Assignment Process.

James P. Goode, acting assistant Secretary of the Air Force, Manpower and Reserve Affairs, keyed the meetings, stressing that equal and just treatment of personnel, regardless of race, color, religion or national origin, is an established principle of effective personnel management.

The conference included panel discussions with the membership meeting in four panels of six to eight members each to discuss specific problem areas.

Results of the conference are being examined for possible Air Force-wide implementation in an effort to further promote equal opportunity and treatment for Air Force personnel.

Reesites Finish Sixth In Bowling Tourney

The team of Ken Hyde and Larry Hoyt scored a first-place win in the doubles competition of the Air Training Command Bowling Tournament played at Chanute AFB, Ill., to help Reese finish sixth in overall competition in the tournament.

Hoyt toppled 1,232 pins and Hyde 1,187 in the six-game series of the doubles for a total pinfall of 2,419—a fair margin over Keesler AFB's doubles entry, which scored 2,380 pins. The win came on the second day of the three-day tournament played last week at Chanute.

Reese's other doubles team, Jim Shutt and Bert Soule finished 14th with a total pinfall of 2,168. However, this team played under a handicap in that Soule was suffering from an infected finger on his bowling hand.

Teamwise, the Reese bowlers all bowled over 1,000 pins each. Hoyt's 1,082 was tops, followed by Soule's 1,056, Shutt's 1,017 and Hyde's 1,016. Shutt finished fourth in the singles with 1,192 pins with Hoyt scoring 1,071 pins and Hyde 1,035. Soule did not finish in this event.

In overall ratings, Hoyt finished 8th, Shutt 12th and Hyde 31st while Soule, nursing the injured finger, did not finish.

Keesler won the team event, placing three bowlers on the ATC team that will compete in the All-Air Force Tournament.

Rattlers Ready For Loop Play In City League

The Reese Rattler softball team looks like a winner this year.

The Rattlers, preparing to launch a season of play in the Lubbock Independent Softball League downtown, showed extremely well in a three-day pre-season tournament earlier this month, winning two and losing one.

In the opening game of the tournament, Stan McKenzie, showing little signs of slowing down despite his years, flung a two-hit game as his teammates pushed over six runs to beat the Luggage Shop team, 6-1.

In the second game of the abbreviated series, Ken Hyde slugged out a solo homerun in the eighth inning to hand McKenzie his second win in a row, this one over T & D Sporting Goods, 3-2.

In the final game, Bill Clark's Sporting Goods handed Reese its only loss, 7-4, in 11 innings. The Reesites received the runner-up trophy in the tournament.

McKenzie pitched three games in as many days, two of those games went extra innings. There was no apparent effects of a sore arm suffered by McKenzie last year when the Reesites were stopped just short of the city league championship and the ATC title.

Intramural Softball Play Starts

Intramural softball, always one of the hottest contested sports at Reese, gets underway Monday with eight games scheduled throughout the week. All games are played on the softball field north of the base gym.

Monday's opener, at 6:30 p.m., will have Field Maintenance playing Supply Squadron followed by a game between Class 71-03 and the 3500th Pilot Training Squadron. The schedule for the remainder of the week is as follows:

Tuesday — 6:30 p.m., Class 71-03 vs Comm. Sq.; 8 p.m., Class 71-02 vs the 3501st Pilot Training Squadron.

Wednesday — 6:30 p.m. Hospital vs Comm. Sq.; 8 p.m., 3500th Pilot Training Squadron vs Air Base Group.

Most Off-Base Housing Open

WASHINGTON (AFPS) — Virtually all landlords who rent units in the United States now practice no discrimination, according to Housing Referral Program officials.

When the Defense Department's Housing Referral Program began in 1967, only 245,600 units were open on an equal basis to all military personnel. That was about 22 per cent of all units surrounding military installations in the United States. Since then, 1,149,400 more units have opened, making 96 per cent of all units operating on a non-discriminatory basis.

Paul L. Donohoe, Pentagon coordinator for the program, says cooperation by apartment owners and operators has made a "substantial contribution" to this markable success.

In 1969, there were only 112 discrimination complaints, 51 of which were found to be invalid.

Shipping Trailers Can Be Expensive

HQ. ATC (ATCPS) — If you are planning to purchase a house trailer, Air Training Command Transportation officials caution that many models exceed the legal size limits for transport on some state highways.

To traverse these highways, officials said, special permits are required. Then, certain safety measures must be complied with.

The cost of shipping an oversized house trailer is high. Added costs for permits, safety devices, escorts, etc., often exceed the maximum trailer allowance paid by the Government—74 cents per mile.

For detailed information concerning trailer shipments, see your local Transportation officer.

LP LUBBOCK POWER
AND LIGHT
"Lubbock Power Is People Power"

Talon Talk

By 1st Lt. Wayne M. Schnell
Another sterling flight by another sterling solo stud: A voice came over on guard, "Reload, tower, anybody, I have a red light in my gear handle and there is a horn in my ear!"

Tower said, "Are you declaring an emergency?"

He paused and said, "No, I don't think so."

Then reload said, "Push the power up and the light will go out."

The last of the fledglings was kicked out of A Flight when Lt. Mohammed R. Shahi soloed on May 4.

By the end of May, check section will have made a complete turnaround and, as rumor has it, will be replaced by movie cameras and "THE COMPUTER."

The intramural golf team is lobbying for one day off during the week. Supervisors are willing to agree to the proposal, providing the team will fly Saturdays and Sundays.

Maj. John F. Nagle will turn into the new flight commander of G Flight.

Capt. Patrick E. Knott will be going down to standardization/evaluation section, not for his annual check, but to stay forever. We hope he enjoys his stay.

Tweety Topics

By 1st Lt. Frank C. Chuba
B Flight is currently enjoying the instructional talents of 1st Lt. Harold I. Roberts prior to his reporting to C Flight. Keeping in touch with home should prove no problem for this native of Lamesa, Tex., and his wife, Monika.

A new dance craze has recently swept through the squadron and attracted many avid participants. It is called the "Personnel Shuffle" and those most adept at the new step usually find themselves with new job titles when the music stops. Just ask Capt. Robert L. Brooks, who is now a bonafide member of the standardization/evaluation section.

Moving across the street to fill the local PIT instructor's slot is Capt. Dennis L. Boesen. That the job is in good hands cannot be in doubt, for when queried by this reporter as to the exact nature of his new duties, Captain Boesen, with a strange gleam in his eye as he gazed off into the distance, stated, "I am local PIT."

Moving into Captain Boesen's old slot in check section will be 1st Lt. Garry B. Thompson, formerly with the herd of Brahma bulls in B Flight. Some of the students appear a bit uneasy at this last move because Lieutenant Thompson's boyish features do not look up to supporting a long white beard.

Although it is often said that hard work is its own just reward, the next portion of this column is dedicated to the proposition that when the road is hard and the load heavy, a pat on the back often prevents a fall on the derriere. In keeping with this philosophy, let us take note of the feats of 1st Lt. James M. Kennedy, the squadron's top tripper for the second consecutive month, who is also credited with the most hours with students (65.2) in April; Capt. Milam T. Simons III, the most frequent guest IP in April, with 26 sorties; Capt. Johnnie "Ho" Hohenshelt, who spent 17 tours in the little glass box at mobile; and all the squadron supervisory personnel who have willingly given many free hours to improve their job knowledge.

Mentioned In Passing

While I wouldn't exactly classify them as the type of guys who try to get by with as little as possible, the fearsome five comprising the squadron golf team have been getting by with few enough strokes to find themselves tied for first place. Here's hoping that Captains Kenneth L. Schweitzer, Robert A. Nester, James V. Newendorp, Marshall S. Clinkscales Jr. and Lewis B. Gaines continue to club their opponents into submission . . . If your bag isn't golf, you might try softball, which started Wednesday . . . Hooray for Capt. Leo B. Hunt, who recently received $25 for his suggestion that the Fizzle crew drive themselves to Fizzle and thereby save the cost of a government driver. Captain Hunt, the squadron's income tax expert, is certainly a richly-deserving individual and he calculates that this award will only increase his 1970 income tax by roughly $40.22 . . . Last week's quoteworthy individual wishes to be known only as CH17 . . . This week's quote: "The old days are gone, man."

Pinkies Pantry Patter

Class 71-07 had its ups and downs this week as Section I practiced their parachute landing falls and Section II dangled above the Texas turf under their trusty C-9's.

Only one injury so far as one lieutenant sprained an ankle; however, it was noticed that a lot of students were much slower mounting-up in the T-41s. The almost accident-free environment of para-sailing is due to Lt. Col. Richard C. Fontaine and his fine organization, who gave us the kind of training that sticks.

One of the colonel's more uplifting seminars was given Friday at the Stag Bar. His students had their hands full digesting the wealth of information given that afternoon.

Wind has always been the nemesis of the flying program and this week was no exception. Section I flew every morning while Section II had a hard time just getting out of the briefing room, as the wind took its toll.

Even with the wind, most of the class have soloed and now await the mid-phase check. Class 71-07 is moving right along and the next time you turn around we will be in the T-37. The big change takes place May 27. It looks to be a red letter day in the history of 71-07.

Advance Assignment Plan Is Declared Successful

WASHINGTON (AFNS) — Air Force has declared a success its test program to provide officers selected for professional military schools with advance notification of their postgraduate assignments.

The findings reveal that the advance notification concept is sound and should be continued with certain modifications. Officials said it was significant that most officers were concerned about their future utilization rather than their assignment location.

The primary objective of the test, in which students were notified of specific postgraduate assignments at least 60 days before school enrollment, was utilization of graduates in the most challenging jobs available.

Students concerned were lieutenant colonels and below. For those whose initial postgraduate assignments were to Southeast Asia or to a short overseas tour of less than 18 months, specific follow-on assignments were furnished at least 60 days prior to graduation.

In reviewing assignment actions, Air Force spokesmen said they are convinced a better job can be done in the future if firm assignments are made during the normal manning cycle. Accordingly, the assignment program for professional military school students will be modified for classes entering during Fiscal Year 1971.

Selectees will be notified of initial postgraduate assignments by type/level and general geographical area at least 60 days prior to school enrollment. Specific postgraduate assignments will be determined and students notified not later than 90 days prior to graduation.

If the initial postgraduate assignment is to a short overseas tour (less than 18 months) or to pipeline training for such an assignment, the student will be notified of his second follow-on assignment by type-level at least 90 days prior to graduation. Specific follow-on assignments will be provided within the normal manning cycle.

NCO Wives Club Will Present Variety Show Tonight At Club

WASHINGTON (AFNS) — The Air Force seeks applicants for helicopter pilot training. Plans call for 225 pilots a year to be produced under the new program. First classes will enter training during October.

Interested nonrated officers and navigators are encouraged to submit applications as soon as possible.

Applications from active-duty officers applying for standard undergraduate pilot training must include a statement on whether or not they will accept undergraduate helicopter training.

The first phase of the undergraduate helicopter training program will be provided by the Army at Fort Wolters, Tex., and Fort Rucker, Ala. It will include 170 flying hours. After completion of the Army program, officers will transition into Air Force helicopters at an Air Force combat crew training base for 35 to 70 flying hours. The location for that training has not been announced.

Graduates will be awarded Air Force pilot wings upon completing combat crew training.

Officials anticipate pilot candidates will receive 16 hours of light plane indoctrination before entering the Army program.

NOTAM Center To Carswell

Notice Facility Moved

CARSWELL AFB, Tex. (AFNS) —The stateside center for Air Force's world-wide notice-to-airmen (NOTAM) system was activated here May 1.

Operated and maintained by Air Force Communications Service personnel, the Continental U.S. Central NOTAM facility was moved from Washington, D.C. The system is tied into the automated weather network and automatic digital network computerized communications systems.

Four overseas central NOTAM facilities are located at Rhein-Main AB, Germany; Fuchu AS, Japan; Howard AFB, C.Z.; and Tan Son Nhut AB, Vietnam.

NOTAMs are used to assist military and civilian aircrews in conducting safe and efficient flight operations by making available to them, up-to-date operational deficiencies of navigational aids, air traffic control facilities and airfield conditions that might be hazardous to their flight plan. Enroute hazards, such as missile firings, aerial gunnery practice and military air operations are included in NOTAMs.

NOTAMs contain notes about changes or errors in flight information publications which could indicate hazardous operation. Conditions that may jeopardize a flight's ground operations, such as the lack of fuel and oil supplies or power starting units which might cause extensive delay or even strand an aircraft at an en route stop, also are reported.

Civilian pilots check the condition of military airfields along their route in the event of an emergency landing. The same precaution is taken by military pilots concerning civilian airports along their flightpaths.

NOTAM information is received from U.S. civilian and military airfields all over the world. The information is then edited, summarized and distributed to all airfields tied into the system.

As if to prove that figures can be misleading, Detachment 13, Western Aerospace Rescue and Recovery Squadron registered only 33 per cent in participation with six of 17 persons contributing, but their $18.25 represented the greatest average gift per participant — more than $3 per contribution.

Base-wide, of 3,172 persons called on to participate in the campaign, 1,894 contributed a total of $1,965.59 for a participation rate of 56 per cent.

Lt. Col. Harold W. Hosack, chief, Personnel Division, was project officer for the drive conducted from March 1 to April 15, 1970. In a statement to the Roundup, Colonel Hosack extended his appreciation to the project workers and to those who contributed toward the success of the campaign.
