

Gen. Simler Proclaims POW Week

Holiday Changes Roundup Deadline

Nov. 11 is Veterans Day and a legal holiday for Reesites.

Because of the holiday falling on Wednesday, the deadline for the Roundup next week will be moved up a day with the absolute deadline for receipt of copy being noon Monday. Columns and other contributions normally received on Friday should — if possible — be submitted Thursday, but will be accepted Friday through noon.

Reese Pilots Help Spark Local Drive

In a sweeping move to bring attention to the plight of U. S. servicemen who are missing in action or in captivity in Southeast Asia, Lt. Gen. George B. Simler, commander, Air Training Command, has declared Nov. 8-15, POW-MIA Week in Air Training Command.

General Simler is urging all bases in the command to unite with civilians during the week in an effort to aid POWs and MIAs in South and North Vietnam.

A pair of Reese AFB pilots, Capt. Larry V. Rider and Capt. Frederick L. Holmes, have already initiated a local movement to obtain signatures on petitions and letters to be sent to key officials and the news media of foreign nations — and they are getting results.

Last week, Captain Rider attended a meeting of the Lubbock City Council to discuss the campaign with local officials. At the meeting, Lubbock's mayor, Dr. James Granberry, proclaimed Nov. 8-15, "West Texas POW Week."

The wives of two Air Force pilots who were shot down and are missing in action in Vietnam, Mrs. Smith Swords III and Mrs. Douglas Condit, accompanied Captain Rider to the city council meeting and appeared with him on "KSEL Comments," a local noontime television interview program. Film clips of the council meeting were shown on several Lubbock news programs.

Six Others Retire

Colonel Sipes Bid Farewell

Seven Reesites will end their military careers with the Air Force tomorrow. Included among the seven are two officers and five enlisted members.

Col. William C. Sipes Jr., wing executive officer, will retire after more than 34 years of service, while Maj. Charles C. Gaylord Jr., 3500th Air Base Group, will end more than 20 years of service. The enlisted retirees include MSgt. Ira O. Chambers, 3500th Field Maintenance Squadron, who is retiring after more than 30 years of service; MSgt. G. B. Nelson, FMS, after more than 22 years; TSgt. Robert E. Burk, FMS, after more than 24 years; TSgt. Gene P. Hanks, FMS, after more than 20 years; and SSgt. Roger S. Stohl, 3500th Air Base Group, after more than 21 years.

Career Began In 1937

Colonel Sipes will be ending a military career that began in 1937 with the Arizona National Guard. He was one of the first graduates of Army flying school at the then Lubbock Army Air Field (1942) and served as a Boeing B-17 pilot after graduation. He also held many other important positions — including B-17 squadron commander and B-17 group commander — during World War II.

Holds Important Jobs

Following the war, Colonel Sipes held positions with the Strategic Air Command, Headquarters USAF, and Pacific Air Forces. Immediately prior to his assignment to Reese in June 1966 as 3500th Air Base Group commander, he served as air base group commander at Keesler AFB, Miss.

Contributions Reach $8,181

Half Of Goal Achieved In UF; Week Remains

Donations to the Reese AFB United Fund campaign are in stride with donations at a similar time in last year's drive, but are lagging behind this year's goals.

As of Monday, donations in the campaign which began Oct.

13 totaled $8,181, or approximately 54 per cent of Reese's $15,000 goal. Only a few days remain in the campaign schedule as the victory meeting for the Lubbock United Fund campaign is scheduled for Thursday, when it is hoped that the area's goal of more than $776,000 will be achieved.

"Even though the contributions and pledges are slow to be turned in, I feel sure we will attain our goal of $15,000," said Lt. Col. James W. Ward Jr., base project officer for the campaign. "Project officers and key workers should make an even harder effort during this last week of the campaign."

Leading the way in the Reese campaign as of Monday was Operations Division with $4,359 of a $9,700 goal contributed. The 3500th Air Base Group had contributed a total of $2,007 of their goal of $8,000, followed by Materiel Division with $1,212 of $11,070 and USAF Hospital with $143 of $1,800.

The United Fund drive provides support for 29 community agencies not supported by tax dollars. Included among these organizations are the American Red Cross, Boy Scouts of America, Camp Fire Girls, Goodwill Industries, the Salvation Army, the United Service Organization and many others. Funds collected in the local campaign remain in the local community and less than five per cent of the contributions go for administrative expenses.

The pledge cards provided by unit project officers indicate several methods of paying a donation. Included are payroll deductions for the months of January, March, May and July 1971 as well as bank draft authorization and cash contribution provisions.

Protestant Youth Set UNICEF Drive

The Protestant Youth of the Chapel will be trick-or-treating for the United Nations Children's Fund (UNICEF) tomorrow evening in Reese Village.

Donations to the fund will be used to help alleviate the problems of poverty affecting a billion children in the world's developing nations.

Each year the children's fund distributes supplies and equipment which reach millions of children directly.

Security Police To Hold Reins On Halloween

Reese Village will be well patrolled tomorrow evening by Security Police to insure against unauthorized trick-or-treating during the Halloween evening hours.

A security policeman will be posted at each entrance to the village along Fourth Street to be sure that all persons entering the village are bona fide guests of residents there.

There will also be additional Security Police patrols within the village to look out for the safety of children and to protect government property. The Security Police Division is also asking that parents make sure that their children carry lights so that they will be visible to motorists.

FOR THE COMMANDER . . .

How Do You Rate As A Communicator?

By Lt. Col. Walter L. Brower
Commander, 2053rd Communications Squadron

Personnel working in the offices of the Department of Defense agencies frequently become complacent of the communications that are available for their daily use in the transactions of business for the U. S. Government. Little or no thought is given to the fact that these services are part of the cost of operating the Department of Defense. Frequent studies are conducted to determine if we are effectively using the systems for which we pay large sums annually.

Lt. Col. Brower

The AUTOVON is the primary long range communications service at Reese with which most personnel have available and many use daily. The use of this system has fallen under close scrutiny in frequent months and it is important that all potential users are aware of the present situation. The criteria of use as established in Air Force Manual 100-21 is restricted to calls that are essential to mission accomplishment that require the timeliness unobtainable by other means and that will withstand the close scrutiny required of the same call by commercial tolls.

The paragraph on unauthorized use specifically states AUTOVON services and facilities will not be used for unofficial calls nor by non-appropriated fund activities. In the interest of good telephone service all managers are reminded that personnel under their supervision are their responsibility for the use of government-owned or leased communications equipment. Personnel authorized to use the AUTOVON system should refresh their memories of the requirements and procedures listed in the front pages of all government telephone directories. Following these procedures will expedite the service for all users and frequently eliminate short delays for the individual.

During certain time periods the operators will require additional detailed information and must dial the number for you. This is directed upon them by the Defense Communications Agency for detailed records and analysis of the AUTOVON utilization. Consideration of other subscribers is not a strong trait found in most of us. With our limited number of lines at Reese we cannot afford to tie up lines indiscriminately, courtesy and consideration are essential for maximum effectiveness of the system. Do your "home work" before the call or if research is required, hang-up and re-initiate the call when necessary data is available. Let the golden rule apply in this system and all telephone subscribers will benefit.

Letters To The Roundup

Dear Sir:

I am taking this opportunity to write to you on behalf of the members of the Air Force Advisory Team at the Vietnamese Air Training Center at Nha Trang, Vietnam. Our job is to advise and assist the Vietnamese Air Force Air Training Center in the development and operation of training of the VNAF. A Flying School, Technical School, Communications and Electronics School, General Services School, English Language School, and a Command and staff School are all monitored by our advisory personnel.

In addition to our formal duties the members of the Advisory Team also contribute their time and efforts toward civic action projects and programs which promote continued understanding of our efforts to help restore the Vietnamese to a peaceful and self-sufficient way of life. Recently members of our Advisory Team spent many off-duty hours assisting the VNAF NCOs in rehabilitating buildings for use as family quarters.

In order to make the Christmas and Vietnamese New Year holidays a memorable occasion for both the local families and our own personnel we would like to solicit the assistance of the ATC families at Reese AFB in providing small items much needed by the Vietnamese children yet generally unavailable here. Crayons, paper, pencils, small size clothing, powdered milk, toothpaste and toys are always in constant demand and gratefully appreciated. I assure you that all contributions would be well utilized and personally distributed by the personnel of our Advisory Team in the true spirit of Christmas and in accordance with the needs of the less fortunate families.

Although the Vietnamese have made great strides toward the establishment of self-sufficiency in both the war effort and the stabilization of their economy, there is still a long period of adjustment ahead. Many military families of the lower ranking airmen still experience prolonged separations, inadequate housing and low pay. The spirit of the people and the sense of dedication to the tasks at hand are impressive and indicative of their strong desire to build and maintain an effective force to deter and suppress hostile aggression.

We at AFAT-7 sincerely hope the families will assist us in this Christmas effort. Donations may be forwarded via PAL or SAM to:

Dear Mr. Editor:

A popular song several years ago has a line that best sums up my sentiments as I take my leave of over 34 years of military service. The line simply states, "so long, it's been good to know you." To the many officers, NCOs, airmen and civilians I have known here at Reese the past four years, I say "So long, it has been good to know you."

In particular, as I depart, I would like to express my admiration and appreciation to our young airmen, NCOs and officers here at Reese. So many of you have been given responsibilities and jobs far beyond your rank, your experience and your training. The positive "can do" attitude you have shown and the fine and magnificent way you have performed has been a joy and inspiration for me to see. I congratulate you.

Reese is a fine, going concern. To your new Wing Commander, Colonel Breedlove, and to the many newly assigned key staff and command personnel, I extend my very best wishes for continued success in mission accomplishment in the future. And to my many friends and acquaintances at Reese, I say thank you for your support and assistance. It has been good to know you.

So Long,
William C. Sipes, Jr.
Colonel, USAF

Dear Sir:

Officer Student Class 71-05 played a brilliant series of intramural football games in the base tournament held on Oct. 20 and 21. The Air Base Group team found "0-5" to be extremely proficient as they "dumped" us during the first game on Oct. 20.

Again on Oct. 21, "0-5" played a scintillating game of football. Their defensive game made it extremely difficult for Air Base Group to eventually win the games and the tournament.

Certainly the sting of defeat experienced by members of the "0-5" team is tempered not only by their capture of the sportsmanship award but also by the knowledge that they progressed far in a tough tournament while successfully accomplishing their rigorous pilot training syllabus requirements.

"0-5"—you were tough!!

To Cope With Stresses Of Air Force Life

Emotional Fitness Needed

(Prepared by the USAF Chaplain Board)

Emotional stability is marked by two characteristics: (a) the ability to accept change and (b) the ability to make sound choices without undue emotional conflict.

Amidst the battery of tests given to a newly-inducted airman, the Air Force seeks to ascertain the depth of his emotional fitness. Will he be able to adapt himself to group living at stateside bases and overseas? Will he be able to cope with stress—particularly the stress in actual warfare? In short, how will he react to change?

Witches, Goblins Deserve Caution

In the evening twilight tomorrow witches will again silhouette the sky as goblins stalk the shadows in celebration of Halloween.

This time of weird disguises, playing tricks and begging treats is a joyous tradition for young and old alike. Unfortunately, it is also a most hazardous time for driving.

With autumn's early sunset and youngsters roaming from house to house, the motorist must be more watchful for the pedestrians. Children along the roadside have always been unpredictable pedestrians, and with the excitement of Halloween in the air, a young goblin may dart into the road without a moments notice.

The youngsters are delighted in their transformation to "ugly witches" by their black costumes, but the costumes also serve as very effective camouflage against the dark of night. You can't see them and, with their vision limited by Halloween masks, they can't see you either.

So this Halloween watch out for witches. Remember, they are not supernatural spirits, but fun-loving youngsters who stand little chance against your automobile. (ATCPS)

The area of choice is also particularized. A self-reliant man will require a minimum of direction. He will choose to do the right thing at the right time simply because it is the right thing. His choices will not be marked by false starts and suddenly changing objectives.

This emotionally stable, self-reliant officer, NCO and airman is the object of Air Force life and training. It is the type of man the framers of the "Code of the American Fighting Man" had in mind when they put into words the principles of military fitness.

It is unfortunate that at this time when emotional fitness is so important that mental disorders rank high among the causes of medical separation from the armed forces. Medical authorities agree, however, that many emotional disabilities might be prevented by early training in coping with stress and conflicts.

The Air Force will continue to be involved in all areas of the fitness question — physical, mental, moral, emotional and social. The sound mind in the sound body concept is necessary if we are to be truly "fit."

Next Week: Social Fitness in the Air Force.

Right To Dissent Does Not Sanction Intrusions, Obstructions, Destruction

(An AFNS Editorial)

During most of our history, the word dissent usually meant speech—freedom to vocally express the challenging idea, the minority's opinion. Then, during the 1960s protesters took to the streets, and dissent became aligned with demonstrations.

Since then protests have continued to broaden and intensify, and the word dissent is now used to describe a multitude of physical actions, including violence toward property and people.

On occasion some Air Force members are tempted to dissent along with their civil counterparts, claiming their right under the First Amendment of the Constitution. They would be wise to reexamine and reevaluate their positions before going too far.

The Air Force is not intent in suppressing the rights of the individual. It must, however, be concerned with its mission to preserve order and safeguard the security of the United States.

The right to dissent is upheld—to intrude, to obstruct, to injure, to destroy, is not.

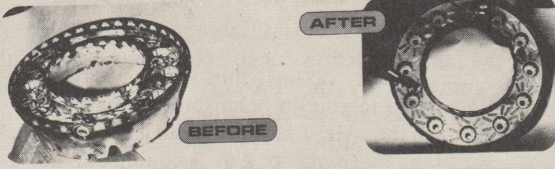

The Air Force has a high tolerance for complaints about so-called conditions and is highly conscious of the serviceman's right to disagree. It has gone to great lengths to provide channels within the system which insure complaints reach those with authority to alleviate the problems.

But the Air Force cannot allow anyone to imperil its ability to perform the mission. Dissent carried to the point where it threatens the established government potentially endangers the freedoms that government can guarantee. Ironically, one of those guaranteed freedoms is the right to dissent.

Air Force Presents Awards For Resources Conservation

BOLLING AFB, D.C. (AFNS)—The Air Force presented 24 awards to individuals and organizations at a Resource Conservation (RECON) ceremony. The Resources Conservation Program was designated successor to the Cost Reduction Program July 1. Nine individual awards, 13 program management awards and two special awards for audit support were presented by Air Force Chief of Staff Gen. John D. Ryan and Richard J. Borda, assistant Secretary of the Air Force for Manpower and Reserve Affairs.

The individual awards recognized ideas and developments ranging from local manufacture of a C-130 nose-up dolly, which saved the Air Force $12,460, to a reorganization of combat film distribution in the Pacific, which saved the Air Force $1,702,000.

Reese AFB provided a story board for display at the ceremony featuring information on the repair of J-85 engine cowl domes—a suggestion which netted savings of $83,640 in fiscal year 1970 and $167,280 in fiscal year 1970-71.

General Ryan lauded the recipients and warned that the pressure to reduce Defense spending will continue. "We have already seen an increased demand for spending in the domestic sector of the economy. Concurrently, we have seen a redirection of budgetary planning toward a greater emphasis on domestic needs."

Retiree Application Time Cut

WASHINGTON (AFNS) — Air Force has reduced the application time limitation for separation or retirement or cancellation of career reserve status from six months in advance of the desired effective date to as early as 60 days from date of application for the remainder of Fiscal Year 1971.

The change was made in an effort to accommodate those members who desire to terminate their active military service at an early date. The change is applicable only to those serving in the United States and does not apply to officers of the Medical or Dental Corps.

Applicants must meet all other criteria of the directive under which they apply.

Nosey Rosey
The Inquiring Photographer

This week the inquiring photographer visited several areas of the base and asked "How valuable do you rate the vocational training you have received in the Air Force?"

Sgt. Gregory T. Beys, 3500th Supply Squadron — "I would rate it as very valuable because without the education the Air Force has given me I wouldn't have done as well on my job as I have. It's given me a backup if nothing else when I get out."

Sgt. Beys SSgt. Hatch

SSgt. Charles E. Hatch, 3500th Supply Squadron — "I don't think it'll be very valuable to me on the outside because I'm in munitions and you don't find very many bomb dumps on the outside. As far as my work in the Air Force, the training could have been better. I received no formal training in the job I'm now filling."

Sgt. Harold D. Haskell, 3500th Field Maintenance Squadron — "I thought tech school was pretty good. It gives you basic principles, but as far as getting any skill, you get that from on-the-job training."

Sgt. Haskell Sgt. King

Sgt. Donald R. King, 3500th Field Maintenance Squadron — "I think the Air Force has one of the finest educational programs in the world."

AIC Alan Rider, 3500th Supply Squadron — "I think it's pretty good. I haven't been at it long, but I feel it's pretty good."

AIC Rider Sgt. Dumke

Sgt. Alan S. Dumke, 3500th Field Maintenance Squadron — "I think it gives a person a chance to learn something he wouldn't ordinarily learn. When I get out of the service, it'll help toward a civilian job."

AIC Louis G. Scafani, 3500th Supply Squadron — "They kinda push you through the training and you don't have time to pick up what you need. If you could pick it up at a faster rate, you could benefit more."

AIC Scafani AIC Nelson

AIC Michael Nelson, 3500th Air Base Group — "The training is poor. If everybody received training like I did when they came in, there wouldn't be an Air Force."

Christmas Ball To Go French

"Joyeux Noel" — Merry Christmas with a French flavor — will prevail at the annual 3500th Pilot Training Wing's Christmas Ball scheduled Dec. 5 at the Reese AFB Officers Open Mess and sponsored by the Reese AFB Officers Wives Club.

Featured will be the finest in French cuisine, cocktails at 7 p.m. followed by dinner and dancing to the music of Ken Doshier. Dress for the occasion will be formal with winter mess dress for the men. The price of $7 per couple will include the dinner. Cocktails will be on a pay-as-you-go basis.

Because of limited seating at the Officers Open Mess, attendance will be by reservation only on a first-come basis. Therefore, you are urged to make your reservations early by calling Miss Sue Jackson at the Officers Open Mess, ext. 2445.

PHOTOGRAPHIC HONORS—SSgt. Franklin Dooley, Reese AFB photographer, displays the many awards he won in the Reese AFB and Air Training Command portion of the U. S. Air Force Photo Contest. Sergeant Dooley won 15 awards in the Reese contest then in judging at Lowry AFB, Colo., won four first-place awards, a first honorable mention and a second honorable mention for a total of 23 points and second place in overall judging in the ATC contest. Suggestions Pay Off Big

Score Of Reesites Rewarded For Money-Saving Ideas

A score of persons benefited either through cash or certificates for suggestions approved by the Reese AFB Military-Civilian Incentive Awards Committee during its October meeting.

Top money award went to Robert B. Davis of Field Maintenance Division. He was awarded $400 for a suggestion concerning the repair of the combustion shell on J-69 engines which saves the Air Force an estimated $6,948.48 a year in man-hours and material. The suggestion has been approved by Air Training Command as mandatory for 12 ATC bases.

Mr. Davis and a fellow employee, R. D. Townsend were awarded an additional $240 each as a result of Williams AFB, Ariz., adopting a suggestion concerning the repair of the main landing gear inner skin. The action by Williams AFB boosts the total savings to the Air Force to $26,221.52 annually.

John A. Fjeld, Civil Engineer Division was awarded $100 for two suggestions concerning improvement of furnaces in Reese Village. Louise B. Fowler and Joseph A. Reach, Transportation Division, were awarded $137.50 each for two suggestions.

AIC Ernest A. Ekberg, Comptroller Division, and SSgt. Orman E. Waller, 3500th Field Maintenance Squadron, were each awarded $30 for separate suggestions. Twenty-five dollar awards went to the following: SSgt. Michael A. Miller, 3500th FMS, Capt. Robert S. Rogozinski, chief, Data Automation, Joe Rosendo, Civil Engineer Division, Seth Dunn, base commissary, Jesse A. Freeman, Field Maintenance Division, Floyd C. Rich, also of Field

Maintenance Division, and Clarence Robinson and James A. Parker, both of Civil Engineer Division.

In addition, 1st Lt. John S. Nabil, Comptroller Division, and SSgt. Herman L. Chunn, formerly of the Reese Transportation Division, were awarded Suggestion Certificates for suggestions submitted.

For Month Of November

Promotion Quotas Set

WASHINGTON (AFNS) — Air Force issued quotas for more than 11,000 promotions to grades sergeant through chief master sergeant on Nov. 1, leaving little doubt that carryovers in the top four grades are almost a certainty in the current cycles.

Softening the blow for the supergrades were 1971 selection objectives of 1,519 to chief master sergeant and 3,395 to senior master sergeant. Also disclosed was a selection objective of 34,190 promotions to staff sergeant in the fiscal year 1971 B cycle, which runs from Dec. 1 through May.

Topping the November figures were authorizations for 8,500 new sergeants. The balance of the quotas call for 323 promotions to staff, exhausting the "A" cycle list; 1,113 to tech; 826 to master; 201 to senior; and 40 to chief.

The small supergrade quotas leave 150 on the central selection list for promotion to chief and about 475 to senior with the list scheduled to be completed in December. A healthy Dec. 1 quota would almost assure depletion of the chief's list in January while the senior's list could carry into February.

A central board at the Air Force Military Personnel Center at Randolph AFB, Tex., completed selection of 3,395 eligible master sergeants for promotion to senior in 1971. The quota is up from this year's 1,338 selections, the first of which were not effected until August because of carryovers from 1969.

A second central board will convene Nov. 16 to select 1,519 for chief promotions, also up from 687 on this year's list.

The cycle for techs and masters runs through January, but hope is fading for the waiting list to be exhausted on schedule. Almost 1,700 remain to be effected to master while some 3,500 are on the tech list.

USAF Dental Surgeons Meet

WASHINGTON (AFNS) — Air Force dental surgeons will meet in Washington, Dec. 8-10, to update dental service plans, programs and policies.

By Capt. James E. Vaughn

You can always tell a Canadian pilot because they wear their wings upside down.

We haven't seen much of our IP of the month, Paul Sullivan, since he went to standardization/evaluation last month, but Sully claims "PIT is like being an English teacher, you don't teach them to fly, you teach them to talk." A thousand words a minute with gusts to 1,500.

Goat Flight's got 'em and Hog Flight's got 'em, according to the poster last week, but from the sounds we heard coming through the partition one morning during Goat's briefing, somebody must have had a grip on Hog's. The porker populace proclaimed this last week as National Goat Week and the snack bar had a special on goat's milk. One of these coming weeks will become hog week, I'm sure, and the highlight of that week will be, of course, a "pig party."

Reload makes news with the quote of the week when, out of the cool night air, we heard: "Flying out of Reload, use caution for darkness." Better yet was the anonymous reply: "No joy."

They're still in basic instruments, but Sal BONERcasa's table of studs in Chastity Flight are getting off to a fast lead on the boner board.

From 4-A to F-4? Marine 2nd Lt. Bill Kinnard (Class 71-04, Boat Flight) wondered after he saw a Navy McDonnell-Douglas A-4 Skyhawk make a gear-up landing at Cannon AFB, N.M., recently.

Having problems seeing down the intake on your preflight? Maintenance reports that they are experiencing trouble acquiring replacements for the burned out bulbs in the intake. Guess we'll have to use our flashlights during daylight hours, guys.

Eureka Flight has soloed all of their studs with a minimum of overshots, improper breakouts and yields for GCAs on the center runway. Consequently, they leave the straight through initials for nine miles straight in and the whole circular circus route to 7107.

Bob Zesinger of Goat Flight must've heard about the cold winter nights we're going to have because he's on leave enjoying a honeymoon after being married in Pennsylvania. From now on he'll be able to keep his toes warm on those frosty nights.

With $1,400 set as a goal, Jimmy Gray reports that our fair share squadron has the United Fund drive going. Section I has plans to beat the boys across the hall by 10 per cent. Our outfit's high contributor is Charity Flight with $185.99, short of their $186 goal. Both Charity and Donor Flights are 100 per cent. Next comes Benefit and Enough Flights with 84 per cent. Let's get behind the United Fund and pledge our fare share. "If you don't do it, it won't get done."

Drumstick Flight has been doing a lot of night flying lately and 2nd Lt. John Erickson (Class 71-05) summed it up when he said to his IP as they sat down to brief a night orientation ride, "I've never flown at night before, but I've been in the dark a lot." Yuk, Yuk.

"Challenge!" says the spokesman for the championship "jungle" volleyball team, 2nd Lt. Gene Soper (Class 71-06, Exhaust Flight), and he says his group will take on anybody. You don't know what "jungle" volleyball is? The rules are "anything goes" and the only penalty you can get is net burns on the arm-pits.

The dirty old men in Barnacle Flight have announced a new limbo contest. If you want to see how the game is played and what the prize is, go into their flight room and look under the curtain. Even if you don't want to see how the contest is played or what the prize is, go into their flight room and look under the curtain anyway.

The newest permanent change of station to Reese is a 6 pound, 2 ounce baby girl belonging to Capt. and Mrs. Royal Theberge. Congratulations on a truly tiny tot.

A belated congratulations goes to Capt. Robert H. Haden, who, through an administrative oversight, was demoted in a previous column. Hank was also in charge of the United Fund drive and if he hadn't done it, it might not have gotten done.

A recent report from a local ornithological observer indicated that a large flock of tweets were migrating west last weekend, and that is good.

Don't forget the letter writing campaign to Hanoi from Nov. 8-15. Let's give Captains Larry V. Rider and Frederick Holmes our full support in trying to help our people.

A1C William A. Ashness has been selected by the pilots of the 3501st Pilot Training Squadron as Crew Chief of the Month of September.

Base Basketball Team Faces Tough Schedule

The Reese AFB basketball team is set to play a tough 40-game schedule in two leagues this season.

Sgt. Raul Martinez, the team's head coach, thinks his team can come out on top in the four-team inter-base league they're in, and the Lubbock City Basketball League.

"With players like Emsy Crawford, 6-5 center, and Nathaniel Jones, 6-5 forward, we have the potential to dominate the boards and win in both leagues," Martinez said.

Reese will compete against Dyess AFB, Tex., Cannon AFB, Clovis, N.M., Webb AFB, Tex., and Sheppard AFB, Tex., in a round-robin league. The teams will play home and home matches on Saturday nights and Sunday afternoons, then meet in a tournament at Sheppard AFB Nov. 23 through 28. Reese will play Dyess AFB at Abilene Nov. 21 and 22 in its first games of the season.

The Lubbock City League season will begin Dec. 3, and be capped with a tournament for the championship in mid-February. The eight teams in the league will play each other twice prior to the tournament. The games will be played on Monday and Thursday nights at Lubbock high school gymnasiums.

Martinez and the team's assistant coach, SSgt. Jordan M. Hollingworth, held tryouts at the base gymnasium last Monday through Friday.

In addition to Crawford and Jones, the team members are Richard Simon, Anthony Washington, James Greg, David Lander, Mario Gamez, Melvin Johnson, D. Anderson, Mike Nelson, Ronnie Hurt and Aaron Long.

Reese will participate in the Air Training Command Basketball Tournament at Sheppard AFB Feb. 9 through 14. Sheppard won last year's ATC championship.

MUSEUM DONATION—Col. James M. Breedlove, 3500th Pilot Training Wing commander, left, accepts a check for $100 from CMSgt. Elmer C. Martin, wing personnel sergeant major, as a contribution to be forwarded in support of the Air Force Museum being constructed at Wright-Patterson AFB, Ohio. Sergeant Martin raised the money through a special project he conceived and carried out recently. (U.S. Air Force Photo)

Buck's Blunders

By Buck Parker

The old prognosticator is feeling rather well after last weekend when the outcome was 21 wins and four losses for an 84 per cent average. This included my upset pick of the week — Baylor over Texas A&M. It was a wonderful homecoming for this old Baylor Bear.

For the season the record now stands at 99 wins, 36 losses and one tie for a mark of 73.3 per cent.

The rest of the season will see mostly grudge games where the underdog has been pointing all season to upset the favorite and old man weather will begin to take a hand in deciding the outcome of the game. Look for more upsets to show up on the scoreboard each week.

Christmas Mail Dates Given

WASHINGTON (AFNS)—While Christmas may seem months away, the Post Office Department has issued a reminder that suggested mailing periods for overseas delivery for all but air mail service begin in October.

If regular postage rates are used, parcels weighing more than five pounds should be en route no later than Nov. 7 to insure delivery by Christmas. Packages must not weigh more than 70 pounds nor be more than 100 inches in length and girth combined, for most overseas areas.

The suggested mailing period for space-available mail extends to Nov. 21. This mail will receive air transportation on a space-available basis from east or west coasts of the United States to overseas areas. Regular postage rates are charged but parcels must weigh 30 pounds or less and not measure more than 60 inches in length and girth combined.

For an extra fee of $1, the latter size packages may be dispatched by parcel airlift mail. These are airlifted, space available, from the place of mailing to overseas areas. These parcels should be mailed from now to Nov. 28.

Parcels to be airmailed should be sent from Nov. 30 to Dec. 12 to assure Christmas delivery, postal officials said.

Packages should be securely packed in cartons of wood, metal

Air Base Group Wins Reese Flag Grid Title

The 3500th Air Base Group has emerged as the 1970 Intramural Flag Football champions at Reese AFB by the skin of their teeth over a scrappy group of students, Class 71-05. Both teams had led their respective divisions into the rain-delayed, double-elimination play-offs for the base championship.

The final games of the tournament — especially the finale — provided more suspense than a James Bond thriller, with the tournament actually decided after the final gun had sounded.

The finals were set up when Air Base Group defeated Field Maintenance while Class 71-05 was beating the 3501st Pilot Training Squadron. In their first meeting, Oct. 20, Class 71-05 beat Air Base Group, 38-24, in one of the highest scoring games of the season.

Air Base Group then had to turn around in the second game that same night and play the 3501st PTS and slipped by them, 8-0, eliminating the 3501st leaving but Air Base Group (with one defeat) and Class 71-05 (still undefeated).

Faced with the herculean task of beating Class 71-05 twice in one day, Air Base Group set about the challenge on Oct. 21 by besting their opponents by a score of 26-6. Air Base Group quarterback Frank Karlin showed the spectators why he had led Reese's base team to two ATC titles in the past two years. Karlin hit Bob Murlo for three touchdown passes in the first half with a 35-yard runback of a pass interception providing the other TD.

The final game saw Air Base Group go ahead when Karlin hit Rob Rickey on a 70-yard scoring pass with Karlin running for the two-point conversion. Class 71-05 quarterback Dave Ortman tossed a scoring pass and ran for the two-point conversion to knot the score at eight all. Just before the half ended, Karlin dropped a low pass from center in the end zone and Class 71-05 took the halftime lead, 10-8.

In the second half, both teams moved the ball well but could not score. The two-minute warning found Air Base Group on its own five-yard line with first and ten to go. Karlin coolly moved his team downfield and found himself on the Class 71-05 two-yard with four seconds to play — time for one play. Karlin dropped back to pass, then scrambling in the manner of a Fran Tarkenton he heard the game-ending horn sound then pitched a strike to Rickey who had managed to get loose in the end zone. The final score, Air Base Group 14, Class 71-05 10.

Thus ended intramural flag football competition at Reese for the season and everyone agreed that it was the most exciting season in many years at the base. The competition was much tougher with the standout teams playing in the play-offs. However, flag football play is not ended. Work is now underway to build a base team that will defend the Air Training Command championship won by the base the past two years.

POW Week . . .

Captain Rider said the Texas Tech University Student Senate is expected to pass a POW week proclamation later this week.

"We're working for two purposes," Captain Rider said. "We want to secure better treatment for American prisoners and find out something for the families of men who are missing in action."

"Petition signing is only a stop-gap effort. The most effective means of obtaining results are hand-written letters from the grass roots."

Captain Rider said from December 1963 until December 1969, only 500 letters came out of Vietnam from American prisoners. In December of 1970 a letter-writing campaign was initiated in the U.S.

"Since that time," Captain Rider said, "over 2,000 letters have come out of Vietnam. That means 250 prisoners have gone from MIA to POW status."

In connection with "West Texas POW Week," Captain Rider has planned a special program on Veteran's Day, Nov. 11, another in connection with the visit of the U.S. Air Force Aerial Demonstration Team, the Thunderbirds, which will perform at Reese Nov. 14, and a special "POW Sunday" the following day, during which church leaders throughout the area will be asked to request the aid of their congregations in the campaign.

ART CONTEST WINNER—2nd Lt. Ramon Sandoval, 2053rd Communications Squadron, displays the first, second and third place paintings and the ribbons they took in the contemporary division of the painting class of the 1970 Reese Art contest sponsored by the Mathis Service Club. Lieutenant Sandoval also won a first ribbon in the traditional division, where SSgt. Harold Asaii took second and third. (U.S. Air Force Photo)
