Civic Luncheon, Presentation Of Medal Planned

Lt. Gen. George B. Simler, ATC commander, will make his first visit to Reese AFB Wednesday since assuming command of the giant Air Training Command complex Sept. 1.

Plans call for General Simler to arrive at Reese at about 11:30 a.m. He will be guest of honor at a luncheon hosted by Col. James M. Breedlove, 3500th Pilot Training Wing commander, for Lubbock and area civic leaders beginning at noon at the Officers Open Mess.

In addition, plans were afoot at presstime for the Roundup to have General Simler participate in the presentation of a Silver Star Medal to Maj. Lowry G. Martin, 3501st Pilot Training Squadron, who has been awarded the high honor for heroism in Southeast Asia on April 21, 1970, when he led an on-scene rescue of a downed pilot.

The luncheon will bring together some 100 prominent Lubbock and area civic leaders including Lubbock Mayor Jim Granberry, city councilmen, county court officials and many others. Spotlights at the luncheon will be the Armed Services Committee of the Lubbock Chamber of Commerce. During the program, George Morris, newly named chairman of the committee will introduce the five newly named members of the committee, including Col. Clyde J. Morganti, former wing commander at Reese, who is now retired and living in Lubbock.

The program will consist of the new Air Training Command briefing performed by the two-man briefing team from Headquarters, ATC, which will accompany General Simler to Reese for the occasion. The team will be introduced by General Simler following remarks by the general.

Also on the program will be remarks by Colonel Breedlove, welcoming the guests. The luncheon will be preceded by a reception at the Officers Open Mess at which time General Simler and Colonel Breedlove will meet with the guests.

General Simler is due to leave Reese Wednesday afternoon.

TAC Tops Savings Goal

LANGLEY AFB, Va. (AFNS)—Tactical Air Command's Resources Conservation Program for Fiscal Year 1970 achieved a savings of nearly $37 million.

Next Issue Last Until Jan. 15, 1971

Next week's issue will be our Christmas edition, and the last for 1970. The issue will be expanded and will include a color picture on the front page.

Our next issue will be dated Jan. 15. Publicity chairmen and others contributing to the Roundup should include in next week's paper those events occurring between Dec. 18, 1970 and Jan. 14, 1971.

Yule Party Set For Tomorrow

More than 800 children are expected at the base theater tomorrow for Reese AFB's annual Children's Christmas Party. The party will get underway at 11 a.m. and will include a contingent of children from the Buckner Baptist Children's Home in Lubbock who will be guests of the Protestant Men of the Chapel (PMOC) throughout the day.

AF Recruiting Service Seeks EM Volunteers

A team of recruiters from Headquarters, USAF Recruiting Service, will be at Reese next week to assist in the procurement of airmen in grades E-5 through E-7 who are interested in applying for recruiting duty.

The team will set up shop in room 3, building T-39 on Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday. There they will give a general briefing on recruiting duties and be available for personal interviews beginning at 8 a.m. each day.

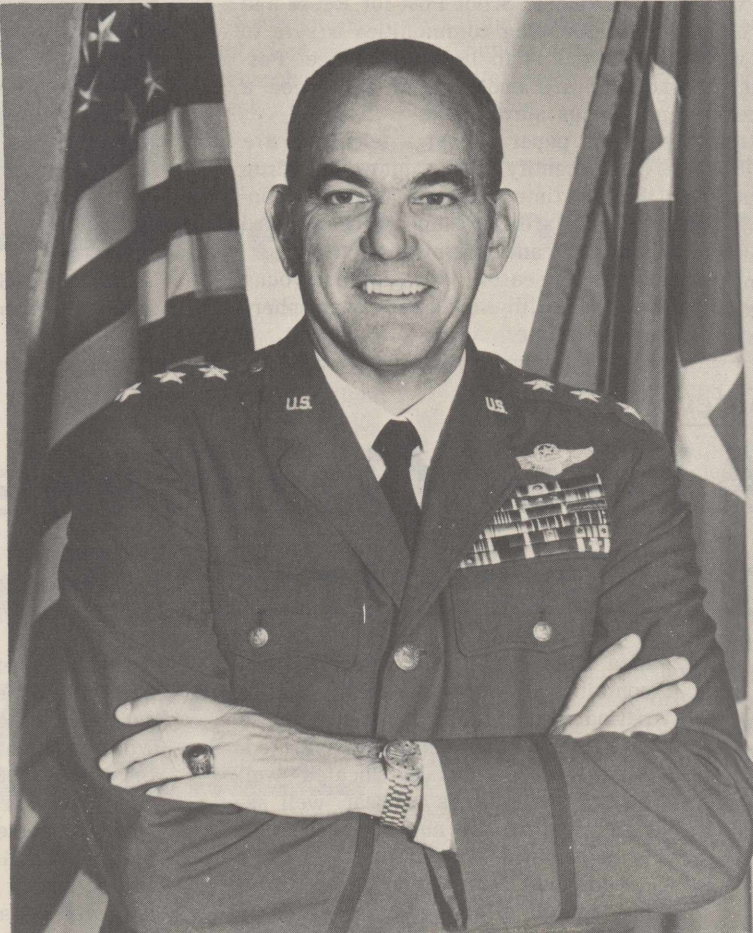

Recruiters are currently receiving extra allowances (MAS, MAQ and clothing) and other new benefits are now under consideration. Applications will be accepted from all personnel, E-5 through E-7, regardless of AFSC. Applications received during this period will be hand-carried back to Headquarters, USAF Recruiting Service.

Weather permitting, Santa Claus will arrive at Reese via helicopter at base operations at 10:40 a.m. where the children from Buckner and their sponsors will be waiting. From there the entire group will go to the base theater where the nearly 800 dependent children of base personnel, ages from 1 to 10 will be waiting. Santa Claus has promised something for every one.

After the program in the theater, the children from Buckner will accompany their sponsors to the community house where a luncheon will be served by the PMOC. Santa Claus will arrive after the luncheon to present each child with a gift purchased by the sponsors. The children will depart Reese after receiving their gifts at approximately 2 p.m.

The sound of Christmas carols will ring throughout the base Monday as both Catholic and Protestant groups of the chapel will go forth to sing Christmas carols beginning at 6:30 p.m. The carolers will have refreshments in the chapel support facility following the singing.

If all goes as planned, student flying will end on Dec. 18 and many base personnel will begin holiday leaves over the Christmas and New Year period.

Is Squadron Information Officer

3501st Honors Captain Chuba As IP Of Month For October

Capt. Francis C. Chuba, B Flight, has been selected as the Instructor Pilot of the Month for October by the 3501st Pilot Training Squadron.

In naming the captain to the squadron honor, Lt. Col. David B. Talbott, 3501st PTS commander, said in part: "Captain Chuba constantly exhibits the aggressiveness and high qualifications of the ideal instructor pilot. He actively seeks responsibility and brings an enthusiastic, creative approach to all facets of his job.

"Although he has taken a keen interest in many of the additional problems confronting the operation of a pilot training squadron, he has not let this stop him from flying his full complement of student training sorties."

Captain Chuba has, in addition to his regular duties, performed such additional duties within the flight as runway supervisor unit senior controller and flight scheduling officer. While serving as scheduling officer he devised a method of increasing the number of daily sorties flown without overextending flight resources.

He has also served as squadron information officer, where, according to Colonel Talbott, his "excellent ability to express himself, coupled with a contagious sense of humor" made him highly successful.

Reesites Presented 21 Medals

More than a score of Reesites were presented medals in ceremonies during October.

Air Medals were presented Lt. Col. David B. Talbot, 3501st Pilot Training Squadron commander (1st and 2nd Oak Leaf Clusters) and the 1st through 3rd Oak Leaf Clusters to the Air Medal presented to 1st Lt. Claude E. Branscome, also of the 3501st PTS.

Air Force Commendation Medals were presented to Capt. Ronald E. Hollingworth, SSgt. Lawrence Cameron (1st Oak Leaf Cluster) and to A1C Bruce R. Bowman, of the 3501st Student Squadron; to MSgt. Robert C. Boyd, Headquarters Squadron; Sgt. Roy R. Hall, 3500th Supply Squadron and TSgt. Frank G. Wyatt, 2053rd Communications Squadron.

Also, Sgt. Stanley C. Smith, (2nd Oak Leaf Cluster), Sgt. Albert J. Thomas, MSgt. Norman

G. Baker, SSgt. Wilburn L. Butler, SSgt. Russell E. Gilbert Jr., TSgt. Francis M. Pierson, TSgt. John J. Purfield and TSgt. Samuel D. Tribble (1st Oak Leaf Cluster), all of the 3500th Organizational Maintenance Squadron.

And, SSgt. Billy J. Fourney, MSgt. John Grier (2nd Oak Leaf Cluster), Sgt. James H. Lister, MSgt. G. B. Nelson (1st Oak Leaf Cluster), and TSgt. Harold F. McMinn, all of the 3500th Field Maintenance Squadron.

Medical Center Honored

LACKLAND AFB, Tex. (AFNS)—Wilford Hall USAF Medical Center is the first hospital, military or civilian, in the San Antonio area to win a Chamber of Commerce beautification award. A plaque was presented to hospital officials for maintaining the Air Force's largest medical center's grounds.

Youth Programs Provide Healty Atmosphere

By Maj. Donald F. Donk
Commander, Det. 13, 42nd Aerospace
Rescue and Recovery Squadron

As the holiday season approaches and the seemingly never ending shopping for gifts reaches its peak, there is still one gift that inflation hasn't affected. That sole survivor is adult support for the many youth activities available for children and young people. The dedication and hard work of these volunteers is a gift that lasts all year instead of something that is made of plastic and breaks soon after its first use.

Maj. Donald F. Donk All of us who read the paper or watch television are constantly reminded of youth activities we can't identify with. Things like drug abuse, riots and demonstrations. When was the last time the little league demonstrated or the Boy Scouts had a "pot" party? These are the things we can guard against by giving full support to these very important and worthwhile activities.

Even now, a new activity is gathering momentum. The idea of forming an Explorer Scout Post for Reese and possibly including the surrounding communities is sure to be popular with Scouts from 14 to 18 years of age. Possibilities for this activity are endless and only need a few volunteers to get things started.

For a gift that will make a listing impression this season, let's give our young people the guidance and support needed to insure a healthy and happy atmosphere that will be treasured and remembered for a lifetime.

Practice Holiday Fire Safety

Don't Allow Carelessness To Ruin Christmas Season

By Hayes Hefner
Chief, Technical Services

Don't let fire spoil your Christmas holidays. While fire is a constant menace to our homes and families at all times, it is a particular danger during the holiday season.

Holiday fires happen largely because of carelessness stemming from the activities and surroundings which form part of yuletide tradition. A mother will leave her young children alone while she does some last-minute gift shopping; a busy father will postpone disposing of gift-wrapping and evergreen decorations that become dangerously dry; or a family will leave lights burning on the Christmas tree all night or while they are away.

Many additional hazards are created by the use of inflammable decorations and over-crowding of places of assembly. Many fires are the result of hazards which exist only during the holiday season and of carelessness which needlessly jeopardize human lives and government property.

Unit commanders, fire marshals, fire wardens and sponsors will insure the thorough indoctrination of all personnel and families in holiday fire prevention measures. Special attention will be directed toward the following:

Trees are fire hazards which necessitate extraordinary vigilance. They should be stored out of doors until the time they are to be decorated. The butt of live trees should be cut in a diagonal slant or in the shape of a narrow "V" and immersed in a container of water during the entire period of use. Fill container daily so that trees will not become dehydrated. Also trees should be located well away from sources of heat, well secured against fall and so placed that exits are not blocked.

Additional care should be exercised in decorating artificial trees. Trees made of aluminum (or other metals) are not designed to have lights mounted on them due to the possibility of electric shock. Metal trees should be lighted only by flood-type lights located well away from the trees.

Electrical lighting devices, such as tree-lighting sets, decorative lighting outfits and extension cords will be carefully inspected prior to use to insure safe conditions. All such devices will be of the types tested and approved by the Underwriters Laboratories, Inc. Excessive number of lights, when connected to a single electrical outlet, overloads the circuits. An overloaded circuit is extremely hazardous and will be avoided. Lights will not be left on when leaving, retiring, or for long periods of time. Outdoor lights will be of the approved outdoor type only.

Motivation of each person working or living on the base is the key to effective fire protection and all means available should be exploited so as to have a fire-safe holiday.

In Everyday Life Styles

Attitude Tells Faith

By Chaplain (Lt. Col.)
Isaac M. Copeland Jr.

Suppose—that is a magic word and this is a terribly big and fantastic "suppose"—suppose you were another Shakespeare and were setting down your view of the world. You will remember that Shakespeare puts one view of the world into the mouth of Jacques in "As You Like it":

"All the world's a stage
And all the men and women merely players.
They have their exits and their entrances . . ."

So it goes on through the existence of mankind. What would be your view of the world?

Many people do have the same view of the world as that expressed by Jacques, though on a much lower level. To them the world is a stage, a place where they can show off. If there is no audience before which they can strut their stuff, life becomes flat, stale and unprofitable. They always seek to play the star part in the same drama, a drama which might be called "The History of Me." Often such a life looks like a farce; but it is always a real tragedy.

Some other people say: "All the world's a cage." They feel hemmed in, caught in a trap. It is true that many people are in places of very great difficulty. But that does not lead them all to think of the world as a cage. When people do that, they indulge in the false luxury of self-pity and self-excuse. They say: "If only things were different, I would do a lot."

Others regard the world as merely a workshop. Of course, it is a shop, a place of work. But to many that is all the world is, a place where things and money are made. How tragic!

But to the one who walks with God each day of his life, "All the world's a home." It is a place where we never get beyond the Father's love, where all men are brothers. It is, in the beautiful words of Chesterton's Christmas poem:

"To an open house in the evening Home shall men come."

'Graveyard Shift' Too Often True

By 1st Lt. Edward V. Albert III
Chief, Security Police

You often hear of a late night work shift being called the "graveyard shift." During the holiday period this term often becomes fact due to automobile accidents.

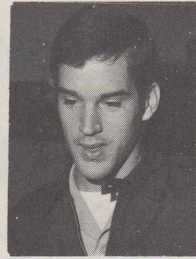

The Security Police are on duty 24 hours a day, but we hope to avoid having to respond to a "graveyard" accident. Remember that liquor and driving don't mix. A "drink for the road" isn't worth your life. This season of joy will be joyous only if you help. Drive safely and you'll have a happy season, and so will we. Best wishes for a Merry Christmas and a Happy New Year.

The Inquiring Photographer

This week the inquiring photographer, keeping in mind that the Roundup's year is rapidly drawing to a close with only one more issue slated to follow in this year, asked patrons of the base's exchange sales store, "What will be your New Year's resolution for 1971?"

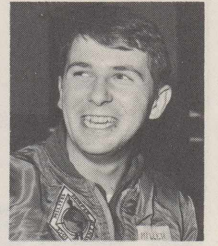

Chaplain (Maj.) John A. Collins — "To root for Vassar next year if Notre Dame loses to Texas!"

Chaplain Collins 2nd Lt. Lawler
2nd Lt. Thomas M. Lawler, Class 72-05 — "My New Year's resolution

Mrs. Charles Edmonds, dependent — "I guess, to get more things done and have a little more time for fun."

Mrs. Edmonds 2nd Lt. Miller
2nd Lt. Richard E. Miller, Class 71-08 — "My New Year's resolution will be to hope to widen our policy in Southeast Asia in working toward bringing our prisoners of war home and letting them enjoy the Christmas that I will be enjoying this year. May we also wish that the wishes of the families of POWs be fulfilled and their New Year filled with gladness."

Capt. R. A. Johnston, Class 71-05 — "To depart Air Training Command!"

Capt. Johnston Mrs. Clark
Mrs. Anne Clark, dependent — "To increase our savings account!"

Mrs. Bruce D. Ott, dependent — "I guess just to be a better wife and try to be a little bit more understanding."

Mrs. Ott Mrs. Sydow
Mrs. Larry J. Sydow, dependent — "To do more of what my husband tells me to do. I don't listen to him, ever!"

Mrs. Ginger V. Aline, dependent — "To keep up with my correspondence!"

Mrs. Aline SSgt. Matthews
SSgt. John E. Matthews, Information Division — "Resolve that I'll be a better college student than I was before entering the Air Force and that I'll be able to support my wife and expectant child without having the aid of my wife working also."

Talon Talk

By Capt. James E. Vaughn
If G-meter readings mean anything, Marine 2nd Lt. Dan Miller (Class 71-07, Gosh Flight) is well on his way to learning the techniques for successful carrier landings.

How long is the banana? If you know how old the monkey is, how many bars are in his cage, together with a few other non-descript clues, you can find out. It's Bongo Flight's super brain teaser and there's a prize if you're the first to figure it out. Guesses don't count. For more information and complete details, see "Key West" Kelly in Bomber Flight.

To their IPs who blindly worried, Class 71-05's secret for successful formation: "Put the wingtip in the center of the sun."

The Thunderbirds almost caused premarital problems during their show here last month. Second Lt. Ernie Steincamp (Class 71-06, Alimony Flight) was watching them finish their performance shortly before his scheduled wedding ceremony in the base chapel at 3 p.m. Imagine what might have happened had the Thunderbirds been given a 30-minute chock extension from maintenance.

Fort Worth center got a serene and 30 minutes of selected quotes and comments from 2nd Lt. Pat Naughton (Class 71-07, Gab Flight) courtesy of his stuck mike on Channel 8.

The Wild Blue Yonders of Fillet Flight began a book called "You Know You've Had A Bad Day If." It contains numerous pages of accumulated off the cuff comments that they've jotted down since coming to Reese. For example, "You know you've had a bad day if you walk into the flight and the flight commander tells you 'No visitors allowed.'" Or "You know you've had a bad day if when you taxi onto the runway for takeoff, your flight gathers at the end of the runway with their marshmallows."

After Marine 1st Lt. Jim Berkson (Class 71-05, Dolphin Flight) graduates next week, he'll have to tell the skipper to turn the carrier 90 degrees to the wind before he can land.

Speaking of the Thunderbirds, they evidently weren't monitoring their guard receivers when tower called a "dual only" status.

There are two time hacks in Felon Flight now—minutes and bells. The bells are for the two former webfeet, First Lieutenants Ernie Pentland and Robert Thomas, Navy transfers. Today's reporting went like this: "In 15 seconds the time will be seven bells."

Last Friday was the Goats' day to entertain all their little lambs with a wives' orientation program. From past experience with wives' days, the squadron was almost guaranteed a weather day, but 2nd Lt. Bob May, who handled the show, said that all enjoyed seeing their hubbies in action.

Chuck Chambers has been alerted for his Southeast Asia assignment. All he's been told so far is that he's going to fly a reconnaissance aircraft. That could be anywhere from four to 121.

Mrs. Sandy Brownfield is pleased to announce that her husband is a new IP in D Flight after a Lockheed-Canada CF-104 Starfighter tour in Germany. Her husband was presumptuous enough to think that his name would be in the paper, but it had to be omitted in order to prevent column predictability.

In keeping with our autumn "leaf" raking program, we are pleased to announce that Capt. Al Currie is conducting classes on the care and handling of wild skunks.

First Lt. Benjamin A. Smithson Jr., was recently inaugurated into E Flight as a new IP. It seems that Ben just walked into the flight building during E Flight's ladies' day orientation and decided that student training might not be so bad after all. Second Lt. Ronald G. Bredemyer planned and organized the orientation and tour for the wives of Class 72-01.

Rumor has it that Capt. Charles Kowalchuk has been alerted for a conventional assignment. Someone said that there were a lot of Bous available and Chuck said that was fine because he liked booze.

Capt. Newt Courington has decided to quit hanging around and is soon to be hovering around.

NCOWC Plans Visits By Santa

By Mrs. John Danhof

Santa visits arranged by the NCO Wives Club may now be reserved by calling Mrs. Phyldene Hoyle at 885-2211 or Mrs. John Danhof at 885-2388. Santa will be checking lists between Dec. 20 and Dec. 24 in Reese Village and Reese Trailer Park.

The NCO Wives Club also now has the new 1971 Pocket Dater refills for sale. They may be ordered by contacting Mrs. Hoyle at 885-2211.

There was an error in the date for the second Kiddies Games Day scheduled this month. Last week's article erroneously had the second date set as Dec. 13—it should have been Dec. 20. Santa has scheduled a visit for that day and drawings also will be held for a free watch for a boy and another for a girl.

Junior Safety Council To Meet

HQ. ATC (ATCPS) — The newly formed Air Training Command Junior Safety Council will hold its first conference Wednesday and Thursday at Randolph AFB, Tex.

The formation of the council is the result of a decision made at the ATC Command Safety Council meeting in October. It is a permanent sub-panel of the command safety council. The junior council will have the dual purpose of advising the command council on the practical effect of established programs and also of identifying potential hazards at the working level.

Composed of 10 officers throughout the command, junior council members were selected as the most highly qualified in each specialty. Included among the 10 is Capt. Norman R. Hull from Reese AFB. Captain Hull is one of the maintenance members of the council.

Providing organizational level input as one of four participating field commanders is Col. James M. Breedlove, wing commander at Reese AFB.

Scarlet De Rosa To Wed Dec. 23

Scarlet De Rosa, daughter of MSgt. and Mrs. M. J. De Rosa, will be married Dec. 23 in the base chapel. Chaplain (Lt. Col.) Isaac M. Copeland Jr. will perform the ceremony set for 2 p.m.

A reception is scheduled at the Mathis Service Club immediately following the wedding.

To Provide Better Service To Reesites

Legal Aid Due For Overhaul

By Capt. John B. Schwabe II
Legal Assistance Officer

Expanded legal assistance will be available effective Jan. 4, 1971. Subsequently, no specific hours or days will be designated for legal assistance.

The ultimate goal is to have a legal assistance officer available at all hours during the working day. Recognizing that this may not be possible at all times, particularly on days on which courts or boards are being held, clients are encouraged to make appointments by calling ext. 2880. In the past, legal assistance hours have been restricted from 1 p.m. until 4:30 p.m., Monday, Wednesday, and Friday without appointments.

The purpose for revising the legal assistance program is to provide an even better service than the present and to keep clients from having to wait for an excessive length of time to see an attorney. It has been observed in the past that most people call ahead of time and request an appointment anyway. Therefore, this additional feature of the legal assistance program promises to be heartily welcomed by prospective clients.

Active and qualifying retired military personnel and their dependents are encouraged to take advantage of this service. In doing so, clients should seek advice when they think they have a problem, not just when they know they have one. Early legal assistance can often prevent threatened problems from maturing into a reality.

In keeping with the theory of preventive law, the Office of the Staff Judge Advocate is presently preparing a booklet which will answer the questions most commonly asked by clients. In addition, the booklet's mission will be to deter some of the most common legal problems which arise. The Office of the Staff Judge Advocate will continually strive to render the best possible legal assistance.

Transition NCOIC Discovers Air Force Beats Civilian Life

A young college graduate serving at Reese AFB who had the opportunity to compare Air Force jobs with their civilian counterparts has chosen to reenlist in the U.S. Air Force for another four years.

Sgt. Harold C. Slape, non-commissioned officer in charge of the base Transition Program and a first term, was administered the oath of enlistment yesterday by Col. Charles D. Owens, 3500th Air Base Group commander in ceremonies in the office where Sergeant Slape has worked for the past two-and-a-half years.

As NCOIC of the Transition Program, it was Sergeant Slape's job to compare Air Force career fields with civilian jobs, and to convert and recommend men being discharged from the Air Force to these civilian jobs. As such, it was his job to investigate the pay and benefits of these jobs and compare this with the Air Force jobs the discharges held.

After two-and-a-half years of this, Sergeant Slape apparently has convinced himself that at least in his case, the Air Force career stacks up best. He entered the Air Force in November 1967, attended Personnel Technical School at Amarillo AFB, Tex., and was assigned to Reese in April 1968 and has been on his present job ever since.

He is 27 years of age and the son of Mr. and Mrs. H. G. Slape of 1104 Maple Street, Odessa, Tex. He is a graduate of Odessa Permian High School and a graduate of Sul Ross State University with a degree in Social Sciences in 1967. He is married and he and his wife, Jane, and daughter, Becca, four months, live at 4817 38th Street, Lubbock. He will receive nearly $3,000 as a variable reenlistment bonus for reenlisting.

Sergeant Slape summed it all up when he said: "As a married family man looking at both sides of the picture, the Air Force looked better than civilian life."

'01st, 71-07 Lead Base Intramural Basketball

The 3501st Pilot Training Squadron and Classes 71-07, 72-02 and 71-06 remain undefeated through the first three weeks of play in the Reese AFB Intramural Basketball League with the '01st and 71-07 atop their respective divisions of play by virtue of four wins against three for Classes 72-02 and 71-06.

Last week's play opened with a couple of squeakers Monday night. Class 72-03 edged Supply, 39-38, and Class 71-07 did the same to the 3500th PTS, 41-39. Tuesday saw Hospital score a 48-44 win over Comm. Sq. and the 3501st PTS beat OMS, 57-13.

Wednesday's action saw Class 72-02 score an impressive 80-21 win over Comm. Sq. and Class 71-06 hand OMS its second loss in as many nights by a score of 52-51 in a real thriller. League action ended Thursday with Class 71-07 beating Hospital, 56-43 and the 3501st PTS besting Class 72-03, 59-40.

The standings in both divisions of play through Dec. 3 are as follows:

AMERICAN DIVISION

TEAM	W	L
Class 71-07	4	0
Class 72-02	3	0
Hospital	3	2
3500th PTS	1	2
FMS	0	3
Comm. Sq.	0	4

NATIONAL DIVISION

TEAM	W	L
3501st PTS	4	0
Class 71-06	3	0
OMS	2	2
AB Gp.	1	2
72-03	1	3
Supply	0	4

Next week's action will be the last before the Christmas-New Year holiday break. The teams will end play Thursday and return to action Dec. 4. The schedule of play for next week is as follows: Monday — Class 72-02 vs Supply and the 3500th PTS vs Class 71-06. Tuesday — FMS vs Hospital and AB Gp. vs the 3501st PTS. Wednesday — Class 71-06 vs Comm. Sq. and Supply vs the 3500th PTS. Thursday — OMS vs Class 72-02 and the 3501st PTS vs Class 71-07. This last game should be a thriller as it pits two division leaders against each other for the first time.

Rattlers Begin Action Today Against Webb

The Reese Rattler basketball team, seasoned with a series of weekend games with other Air Force bases, shifts into high gear this week with four games, including a pair against Webb AFB, Tex., tonight and tomorrow night at the base gym.

The Rattlers split with Kirtland AFB, N.M., last weekend, winning the Friday night game, 87-75, and dropping the Saturday encounter, 63-59. In the first game, Emsy Crawford was high point man for Reese with 30 points. David Anderson led in the losing effort with 14 points.

Tonight, starting at 8 p.m., the Rattlers turn their attention to Webb AFB. The other game against Webb is scheduled for 2 p.m. tomorrow and fans are invited to come out for both games and root for the team of their choice.

Brian Shul Takes Singles Title In Base Handball Championship

Brian Shul, a former National Collegiate Athletic Association (NCAA) Southern Regional handball champion, won the singles event in the Reese AFB Handball Championships, beating out the base's 1969 defending champ, David R. Barnett in straight sets, 21-18, 21-16.

The final game of the month-long eliminations was played Thursday at the base gym. Still to be decided are the doubles handball competitions, currently under way at the gym. In that event Shul will team with Greg Danielson, last year's runner-up in the singles event, while Barnett will be teamed with Norman Hull.

The new singles handball champion is 22 years old and is a student pilot in Class 72-03, D Flight, 3501st Pilot Training Squadron. He is the son of a retired U.S. Marine Corps officer living in Florida, and as such has seen a lot of the world. He attended the University of Hawaii for one year and is a graduate of East Carolina University in North Carolina where he finished sixth in the National NCAA College Division Handball Championships.

With his student load very much a factor, Shul may or may not be able to represent Reese in the Air Training Command Lifetime Sports Tournament's handball event scheduled at Lowry AFB, Colo., April 19-24.

Buck's Blunders

By Buck Parker

The regular college football season is now in the record books and in many ways it has been a truly great season and because of the loss of so many players and coaches from Wichita State and Marshall Universities in aircraft accidents, a very sad one.

With the end of the regular season also comes the end of Buck's Blunders, and while the system did not enjoy the outstanding success of the Longhorns, it did finish out the season with 185 wins, 72 losses and two ties for an average of 72 per cent.

I hope the column has given a little enjoyment and humor to you during the season. I would like to take this opportunity to thank the staff of the Roundup for carrying the column and the fine support they furnished.

May the forthcoming holidays be safe and merry for all, and the New Year bring you only happiness.
