 Sadly, one of the biggest tragedies of the pandemic is how it has affected the Grandparent/Grandchild relationship. Grandparents who provided childcare, visited regularly or just popped in to give parents some much needed relief in a pinch have been unable to do so because of travel restrictions, shelter in place and the fact that many of them are in the high risk group. Children get important social and emotional support on a regular basis from their grandparents and being cut off from this has been quite devastating to them and their parents. With so much at stake, many grandparents and parents have turned to technology to soften the blow to the kids and keep that bond alive. touch with FaceTime and text. Their granddaughter, Evan, is graduating on the 29th from Brock ISD and they can't be there in person. "We will be able to see our first born grandchild walk the stage via face book and feel so grateful for that. All five of my grandkids have excelled in school, adapted well to online learning and I am so proud of how each one of them have handled the social distancing situation," Shelane said. She continued, "Missing seeing us and being with friends has been difficult, but each one has handled the adversity with grace and faith. I used to hate electronics - guess my age - but I don't know what I would do if FaceTime and texting wasn't available during this virus. My husband and I have tried to send little treats really often to give them support during this difficult time. We are praying for an immunization soon. We sure miss their hugs and smiles in person." ## The Bridge to host Community Celebration Sunday

By AMANDA DUFORAT
 Managing Editor
 Community outreach is beginning to ramp up again as the State of Texas begins to open. While helping hands never ceased, as the nation battled against COVID-19, the wide-spread community efforts did slow a little. Recently, numerous churches and food pantries have restarted their support efforts, and this weekend there is one more to add to the list. A Community Celebration will take place at Andries Park this Sunday, hosted by The Bridge. "We want to establish ourselves as a Church that is dedicated to helping all people see Jesus more clearly in all situations. Throughout the quarantine, pandemic, food insecurity, job losses, and chaos in our world we believe that Jesus is the answer," Josh Cisneros, Pastor at The Bridge, said. "We also believe that focusing on the good things that are going on together as a community will unite us. So we decided that Andries Park was a great location." The Bridge is a Nazarene Church plant operating out of our New Hope Day Care Center. During the beginning of the COVID-19 pandemic, The Bridge joined First Church of the Nazarene for drive-in services. "Our drive-in services were a huge blessing to us and the community," Cisneros said. "People were stopping in as they drove by and walking up from nearby homes or businesses. It was a blessed time and a time where people were seeking peace and answers." As the State began to reopen and church services began to open back up for regular services inside the sanctuaries, The Bridge congregation felt strongly that the first service should be a celebration service in the community. This Sunday there will be a service at 11 a.m., and a hot dog lunch to follow. There will also be an opportunity for community to come together. According to Cisneros, there will be a bouncy house and free food distribution and baby item give away. "This event is about community, so the greatest way to help is to come out and be part of the community," he said. "We want a positive family friendly atmosphere. Our goal for this event is for people to come together and share a time together." He continued, "The Bridge is sharing what is important to us with Big Spring. We are partnering with the Permian Basin Oilfield and Energy Ministry (PBOEM) to offer food distribution and free baby items." According to Cisneros, people can volunteer with PBOEM. There will be help needed for those who can arrive at 10 a.m. to help set-up. While volunteers will be accepted, the main focus of this Sunday's event is to allow an opportunity - after the time spent in isolation See BRIDGE, Page 3

Susan King

Susan King, born July 22, 1936, died June 2, 2020, at her home.

She was married to David H. King. She taught English and some Art and Art History at Howard College starting in 1966 while David taught government and history. She taught full time until 2001 and continued part time for another 10 years. Teaching was her passion. She truly believed education could transform a person's life. She was not always able to attend school herself due to the world situation during her childhood that had her attending 12 grade schools from First to Sixth grade since her father worked building military bases and navy ships during the second world war. She used correspondence courses for junior high and most of high school as her father's work took her overseas. The first time she was able to attend a school more than one year was DelMar Junior College in Corpus Christi, Texas. She continued her education at Lamar University for her Bachelor's degree. She later went on to obtain Master's degrees from Texas A&I, now Texas A&M Kingsville, and Sul Ross State University. She always encouraged students to attend the local community college in their area. She is survived by her children Elizabeth King Treece and William King, grandchildren, Geoffrey, Kristin, and Judith and her siblings Carl Craven, Gerald Craven, and Gail Fail.

The family will receive friends from 5 p.m. until 7 p.m. Saturday. Vigil services will be at 7 p.m. Saturday at Myers & Smith Chapel.

parents racing anywhere at any time for the arrival of that newest grandchild has also been halted during these past few months, but thanks to technology a bond can still be formed and nurtured. "We have a new grandson so we FaceTime numerous times a day," Barbara Harris said. Her and her husband, Roc, also enjoy visiting regularly with their family through zoom. They celebrate memories of these visits by snapping silly zoom pictures. Lana Thomas has 3 grandsons ages 19, 10, and 6 and one granddaughter age 3. "Grandchildren are such a blessing and it is so much fun to see life through their eyes," Lana said. She uses a "Playtime through FaceTime" approach with her youngest grandkids. One of the challenges parents have had lately is helping their toddler age children understand why they can't see their grandparents.

"The famous words I hear are, 'where did you put Nana?'" Lana said. Deanna Burnett uses a different approach than most with the Marco Polo App, which is set up to do things with a group of friends or family of your choice. With this app, users can send something to a group and then each one of the them can watch it at their leisure and answer back individually. During social distancing, Deanna decided to set up a group which included herself, her two daughters, three adult granddaughters and their nine kids who watch from their Mom's phone. "I read books to them twice a week," Deanna said. "They have a choice of shorter Bible stories on one day and a longer chapter book on the other day. They can watch either or both depending on the child's attention span. I have enjoyed it and it keeps me in touch will all my kids, especially the ones in Arkansas. This is something anyone can do or some variation of it." Some grandparents still get to see their family in person occasionally, but from a distance. "Our two granddaughters live out of town, but our daughter comes to pickup curbside at Walmart once a week. She and her girls bring groceries to us when they do," Carlene Gibbs said. She continued, "We see them, talk and hear all the latest, but we maintain our distance. The first time was the hardest when they drove away. Though we were thrilled to see them in person, saying bye without hugs broke our hearts. We also FaceTime several times during the week and share everything from what we ate for lunch to school and dance classes. We've watched them play in the yard, working on dance acrobatics, playing with their dolls and reading books - the things we would normally do if we were together." Though none of us know how long this pandemic will last, we do know that grandparents will continue to find a way to love and spoil those grandkids even from afar.

for family's to enjoy time together. "This is a family friendly fun event; there will be a service with music and Bible study," he said. "All people in need of non-perishables are welcome to receive food or baby items (diapers, wipes, food) from 11 a.m.-1 p.m. with no obligation. The Sunday event is a joint partnership between The Bridge and PBOEM, in an effort to meet a need in the community. As the nation is still dealing with the impact from the economic shutdown, this is an opportunity to give back and lend a helping hand. "We believe an event like this is important now because we need to focus on the good things that are happening, We need to stop and look at how people are being helped and how we can help," he said. "We need to look for the blessings that God has given us now and has been giving us, by looking at the blessings we stop focusing on the negative." He continued, "As we look to our blessing it helps us restore hope for the future and strengthens our resolve to be a people who pursue peace while trying to make a positive impact on our community." The biggest message Cisneros and The Bridge is trying to convey is Jesus is the answer. "We believe that we can have peace, hope, and a future in these turbulent times through a relationship with Jesus Christ. We also believe that together we can reach further and do more for our community than we can divided." While this Sunday service is the re-opening for The Bridge, it is not the only community outreach that is planned. According to Cisneros, members of The Bridge will be in the community once a month and the PBOEM is hosting a pop-up food distribution site every two weeks at different locations across the Permian Basin. For those wanting to find out more about The Bridge, view social media platforms at @nazfamilythebridge and @pboems "We welcome everyone to come out, our goal is to help all people see Jesus more clearly," he said. relaxing attire and support of a good cause. "We wanted to do something that would allow our employees to have a little bit of fun at work this summer, and raise some awareness for all the great non-profits in our community," Tabitha Clark, Star Dodge Marketing Director, said. "Of course, everything is better when it has a little friendly competition in it so we wanted to challenge other businesses to join in the fun." The Summer in the Sun challenge will run from June through September. In an effort to raise funds, Star employees are donating to be able to wear shorts, but according to Clark, each business is tailoring the challenge to fit their own workplace. "Some of the participating businesses are allowing their employees to wear shorts, some are wearing hats and some are just donating to support the cause," she said. "This is really just a way to take a moment and give back to the community, especially during this time where we could all use a little helping hand." All funds raised will be donated to the United Way of Big Spring and Howard County to support the 2020-21 campaign. # Texas relaxes more rules to further open the state economy

By ACACIA CORONADO Associated Press/Report for America

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — Texas bars, restaurants and retailers will be allowed to serve more customers — in some cases immediately — under new orders from Republican Gov. Greg Abbott on Wednesday to further open the state economy amid the coronavirus pandemic. Abbott's order for "Phase 3" of the restart also allows for outdoor Fourth of July celebrations of 500 or more at the discretion of local officials. Retailers are allowed to expand to 50% capacity immediately and the same applies to bars as long as patrons are seated. Restaurants can serve groups as large as 10 and can expand to 75% total capacity starting June 12. The order also allows amusement parks to gradually expand capacity. All are supposed to follow health and social distancing standards recommended by state and federal officials. The new order comes just three days after the state set a single-day high of positive tests. Texas has reported three of its four highest days of positive tests since March within the last week. Heath officials reported 1,703 new cases and 36 new fatalities on Wednesday and state data showed the seven-day positivity rated jumped to higher than 6.6%, its highest mark since May. 12. The true number is likely higher because many people have not been tested, and studies suggest people can be infected and not feel sick. The virus causes mild or moderate symptoms that clear up in two to three weeks in most people. For some, especially older adults and people with existing health problems, it can cause more severe illness, including pneumonia. Abbott said nearly half of the positive tests came from prisons, jails, nursing homes and meat-packing plants where the state had concentrated testing forces in recent days. "We have the ability to contain those hot spots while opening up Texas for business," Abbott said. "If we remain vigilant, we will continue to mitigate the spread of this virus, protect public health, and get more Texans back to work and their daily activities." Texas has had record unemployment numbers amid the pandemic. The 12.8% unemployment rate reported in April was the highest dating back to 1976. CAPITOL SECURITY OFFICER A Texas National Guard member who was part of the security detail protecting the Texas Capitol during several days of protests in Austin has tested positive for the coronavirus, a guard spokesman said. The member of the guard, who was not identified, has put in home isolation. Other security personnel the guard member worked with also were placed in isolation and will be observed to determine when they can report back for duty. Texas Military Department spokesman Brandon Jones did not say when the member of the guard tested positive or how many other members of the security detail were placed in isolation. State troopers and members of the Texas National Guard have been stationed around the Capitol after some protesters spray-painted and knocked over a fountain on the building grounds Saturday. The infection within the security detail has not had an impact on Republican Gov. Greg Abbott or his staff, spokesman John Wittman said. Abbott has been working at a location away from the Capitol since Friday, Wittman said without elaborating. "The governor has not been close to him," Wittman said. "The governor's staff has not been close to this guy." BACK TO SCHOOL The University of Texas plans to have more than 2,000 classes online and residence halls will reopen when students return to campus in the fall, school officials said Wednesday. Classrooms will be limited to 40% capacity for in-person instruction to help maintain social distancing and avoid the spread of the coronavirus, according to a letter from interim President Jay Hartzell. The school — among the nation's largest with about 50,000 students — has already announced that its 400 largest classes will be conducted online in the fall semester that starts Aug. 26. Students will be allowed to take only online classes if they choose, but will have to consider how that will affect their progress toward graduation. Details of residence hall capacity and social distancing guidelines there have not yet been released. The school said a face-covering policy will be announced later. Football players will be allowed to return to campus later this month with protocols in place for testing and social distancing. School officials said they also plan to offer voluntary testing of students and staff in the fall. *Acacia Coronado is a corps member for the Associated Press/Report for America Statehouse News Initiative. ## NazFamily Church

Against such things there is no law. I am praying for a fresh outpouring of the Spirit filling our lives with God's loving presence. May we keep in step with the Spirit this week that we may bear Kingdom fruit!

This Sunday - As the Book of James tells us, Elijah was a human being just as we are, but he was also a man of great faith and prayer. The Lord used Elijah in a mighty way to bring people back to God and restore a nation. Through his story we discover what it means to be a people of faith in a faithless generation. You won't want to miss this Sunday as Pastor begins a new series exploring what we can learn today from The Days of Elijah.

NazFamily Live - Our ministry staff gathers each Tuesday @ 12pm for a time of Word, worship, and prayer together. We will also continue to have a Wednesday evening service at 6:30 p.m.

You can join us through FaceBook Live for all of our services.

Stay connected!

Simply Worship - Throughout the month of June our Wednesday Gatherings we will be reconnecting through a simple time of worship and prayer outside. Bring out your lawn chairs and join us @ 6:30pm. Following worship will be a time of fellowship with hotdogs and s'mores.

The Bridge NazFamily - The Bridge will be having a celebration service at Andries Park, NE 8th Street in Big Spring on Sunday, June 7 at 11 a.m. All ages are welcomed for a fun family celebration service.

Hot dog lunch provided immediately after the service and bounce house available for the kids. Permian Basin Oilfield and Energy Ministry will also be on-site with a Pop-Up Food and Baby Item Give away, while supplies last.

Mystery Island VBS - Is there just one God? . . . Who is God? . . . What is God like? . . . Does God love me? . . . Can I know God? Our kids grapple with questions like these every day. At Mystery Island, we'll uncover the truth about our Creator God! There's a sea of confusion about who God is and what he's like, so we'll track down the one true God and learn how amazing he is through the pages of Scripture. July 6 - 10, NazFamily Mystery Island VBS will be packed with teaching that connects the Bible to the real world and gives kids a better understanding of our awe-inspiring Creator and the salvation he offers through Jesus Christ. Contact us at church@NazFamily.org if you would like to register your child.

Crestview Baptist Church

At Crestview Baptist Church, we believe the most fulfilling pursuit for a body of believers is not entertainment, gimmicks, or programs. Sunday School starts at 10 a.m., Worship begins at 11 a.m., and our Sunday and Wednesday night meetings are at 6:30 p.m. We are studying the book of Daniel in Sunday School and on Sunday and Wednesday nights we are studying the book of Acts. Come and be with us at 2305 Gatesville Rd., in Big Spring.

First Presbyterian Church, Big Spring

The congregation of First Presbyterian Church of Big Spring is pleased to announce that a unanimous vote to call Rev. Allen Cross as pastor was taken at the Called Congregational Meeting last Sunday. Dr. Taylor Todd conducted the meeting after preaching his final sermon as Interim Pastor and expressed the thanks of the congregation to the Pastor Nominating Committee, chaired by Danny Kennemur, for their long and diligent service. Other members of the committee were Mike Robinson, Jennifer Patterson, and Susan Wilson. The new pastor will be in the pulpit to preach on Sunday, June 21.

During the Children's Moment in the worship service, the children were given a bag of art supplies and lists of people's names who may not be able to come to services to make cards to send to remind those members that they are loved and missed.

Following the Congregational Meeting, an Outdoor Celebration Luncheon was held on the church patio and front lawn to honor and bid farewell to Dr. Taylor Todd and his wife Abby, who have served the Big Spring church as interim pastor since the departure of the former pastor. Taylor and Abby have become an integral part of this church and have been much appreciated.

Here's How It Works:

Sudoku puzzles are formatted as a 9x9 grid, broken down into nine 3x3 boxes. To solve a sudoku, the numbers 1 through 9 must fill each row, column and box. Each number can appear only once in each row, column and box. You can figure out the order in which the numbers will appear by using the numeric clues already provided in the boxes. The more numbers you name, the easier it gets to solve the puzzle!

Tomorrow's Horoscope

Strawberry Moon

ARIES (March 21-April 19). It's not only hurt people who hurt people. It's the kind and loving people, well-meaning people, people with the best interests of others at heart. Humans are imperfect. Love is an endless act of forgiveness.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20). Today's situation is sweet, and there are ever-richer layers to this experience-cake. However, as it goes with deserts, too much of a good thing can be worse than none of it. Pace yourself.

GEMINI (May 21-June 21). It's a day of bright ideas. You will energize different areas of your life with vitalizing agents such as useful tools, surprisingly efficient methods, beauty, humor and creativity.

CANCER (June 22-July 22). You don't have to do a lot more than just show up ready for anything. In fact, trying to do too much will only detract from all you have to give. Your presence is a gift beyond measure.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22). There's no need to make people recall what they promised to you, respect what you do for them or remember you in general. Instead, get busy making sure that no one has a chance to forget you.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22). Your ambition is not a rejection of who you are right now; it's part of your wonder. You are a person whose pockets are lined with the seeds of tomorrow.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23). People will want to know about you. Though you see the value in keeping mystery alive. If knowledge is power, then you'll be more powerful as you hold back some of the information.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 21). In addition to fun, your prospect has love, resources and inspiration to offer you. Would you believe this is only the start of it? There's much more to be explored here.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22-Dec. 21). This is your day. You'll hit the green lights, get in the right grocery store line, find the prime parking space. The little things that go right are signs that big things will go right, too.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19). Your unique qualities are so attractive, and the person who sees this is not only a fan but someone you will love to spoil with the attention only you can give.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 18). There's no end to a circle. To be included in one can feel wonderfully secure or like entrapment. With circles, you have to break in and break out.

PISCES (Feb. 19-March 20). Sometimes it seems that your idealistic imagination is at war with the reality of a situation. Not today, which brings a brilliant blend of the practical and the sublime.

TODAY'S BIRTHDAY (June 5). This trip around the sun is a joy-mission that can't be derailed! It helps that your supportive team includes inspiring teachers. The workload will get intense with just the challenge to help you rise to the top of an organization. You're particularly stellar at knowing how to package and sell, which will be lucrative for all. Scorpio and Aquarius adore you. Your lucky

WEEKEND LOVE FORECAST:

ARIES: Take a break from emotional work and make plans to be near people who are easy to be with. TAURUS: Because you won't worry too much about making impressions, you'll make an overwhelmingly favorable one. GEMINI: This heart-longing! It's a nameless craving for nothing in particular and everything at once. CANCER: Words are overrated. Let silence work for you. LEO: Without meaning to, you have steadily raised your level of expectation of someone and this person will continue to rise to the occasion. VIRGO: You're going to get your way whether you pretend to collaborate or not because you really do have the best ideas for the relationship. LIBRA: You are attracted to success and will create success in kind to attract others. SCORPIO: Your thoughtfulness will land sweetly now and even better later in the lens of nostalgia. SAGITTARIUS: Tell people about what you want. You'll be surprised by who can help you get it. CAPRICORN: Laughter and breezy conversations will be yours in abundance. It's restorative! AQUARIUS: There's a performative aspect of dating, and it's wise to play it as natural and subtle as possible. PISCES: You've a tender heart for others but you're incredibly tough on yourself. You'll be wise to split the difference.

COUPLE OF THE WEEKEND:

As the full Sagittarius moon flirts with the Gemini sun from across the sky, sparks fly between these two signs. They could be on opposite sides of a room or the globe and everyone in the middle will get a noticeable charge from the energy zipping between them. Venus warns these two not to be too quick to join forces, as there's so much deliciousness in the buildup.

Annie's Mailbox

I'm So Embarrassed!

Dear Annie: What do you do about embarrassing memories that pop into your head randomly and make you want to crawl in a hole?

It seems to keep happening to me lately. I'll be washing my hair in the shower, or trying to drift off to sleep at night, when, suddenly, I remember a humiliating event from my past and feel a flush of heat through my whole body. This is especially a problem when I'm trying to sleep since it sends adrenaline rushing through me and keeps me awake for an hour or more.

I don't know if there's anything I can do about this. I guess I just needed to get this off my chest and share it with someone. I'm also curious to know if anyone else has experienced this. Am I crazy? -- Mortified

Dear Mortified: No, you're not crazy, and you're not alone. To err is human; to dwell on the error, especially so. Everyone experiences these "cringe attacks" from time to time. It can help to let the memory come up, rather than trying to suppress it. What we resist persists. A 2015 study found that focusing on other details of such memories -- such as what the room looked like or who you were with -- can gradually reduce the emotional effect they have on you. (Melissa Dahl discusses this study in her book "Cringeworthy: A Theory of Awkwardness," which is definitely worth a read.)

Still, if you notice that these thoughts are becoming more frequent and interrupting your daily life, consider seeing a therapist for guidance in managing anxiety.

Dear Annie: Recently, I turned 65. I'm a retired Navy pilot and author who has had multiple near-death experiences over the course of a very lucky and unlucky life (including plane and car crashes and terminal cancer caused by excessive exposure to radiation). I'm forever grateful for -- and truly blessed to have -- a wonderful wife and family and friends.

I've always been a huge nature lover, and that's why I learned to fly. I wanted to fly like a bird, high above the earth, enjoying and at peace with Mother Nature.

In essence, Annie, this is what I've learned about life through the years: We're not conquerors of Mother Earth or the universe. We're too small, and the universe is too big. We're too finite, and the Universe is too infinite. Instead, we're merely temporary children -- children who'll sometimes think we're in charge but never are really.

In the mere blink of an eye, we'll all be gone. Eternity does matter, and love does matter. I can't tell you exactly how or why, but -- after what I've been through -- I know in my heart, mind and soul that it does.

So, try to live a joyful and meaningful life with your family, friends and community. Please, just try... you'll be forever glad you did. -- Bill Goss, LCDR USN (Ret)

Dear Bill: Your letter touched my heart. Love is truly all that matters in the end. Everything else falls away. Thank you for sharing your wisdom, and I wish you and your family all the best.

Test your play

1. You are declarer with the West hand at Three Notrump, and North, who opened the bidding with three spades, leads the queen of spades. How would you play the hand?

West	East
♠ K 4	♠ A 7
♥ A 10 4	♥ Q J 6 3
♦ K 9 4 2	♦ A 7 5
♣ 10 9 6 3	♣ K Q J 2

2. You are declarer with the West hand at Four Hearts, and North leads the heart ten. How would you play the hand?

West	East
♠ A 8 3	♠ K 9 6
♥ A K 7 4	♥ Q 5 2
♦ J 9 5	♦ 8 4
♣ Q J 10	♣ A K 8 5 3

1. North probably has seven spades and either the club ace or heart king. If he has them both, your cause is hopeless, so you start by assuming he has only one of them.

The key is to eliminate North's potential entry card before his spades become established, so the question is which suit to attack first. Strange as it might seem, the proper approach is not to force out the ace of clubs but to win the spade lead in dummy and finesse the queen of hearts.

If North has the king, he wins but is then out of the picture, and you later drive out South's club ace to make four notrump. If South has the king, the finesse succeeds, and you score at least 10 tricks.

Thus, it is clearly correct to attack hearts before clubs. If you were to attack clubs first, you would go down whenever South had the ace of clubs and North the king of hearts.

2. Oddly enough, the best play is to let North's ten of hearts hold the first trick! This assures the contract if the opposing trumps are divided no worse than 4-2, since you have 10 tricks -- three hearts, two spades and five clubs -- waiting to be cashed after you duck the heart.

If you won the first heart, the contract would be in jeopardy. Suppose, for example, you took the trick and led a diamond, hoping to ruff one later in dummy. The defense would win and play another heart, and if you took this also and played another diamond, the defense would lead a third heart.

If the trumps then turned out to be divided 4-2, you could try to run the clubs in an attempt to dispose of your last diamond on the fourth club. But if the first, second or third club got ruffed by the defender with the fourth trump, he would cash a diamond to put you down one.

Tomorrow: All you have to do is count.

Today in History
Today is Friday, June 5, the 157th day of 2020. There are 209 days left in the year.
Today's Highlight in History:
On June 5, 1968, Sen. Robert F. Kennedy was shot and mortally wounded after claiming victory in California's Democratic presidential primary at the Ambassador Hotel in Los Angeles; assassin Sirhan Bishara Sirhan was arrested at the scene.
On this date:
In 1794, Congress passed the Neutrality Act, which prohibited Americans from taking part in any military action against a country that was at peace with the United States.
In 1912, U.S. Marines landed in Cuba at the order of President William Howard Taft to ensure order and protect U.S. interests.
In 1933, the United States went off the gold standard.
In 1950, the U.S. Supreme Court, in Henderson v. United States, struck down racially segregated railroad dining cars.
In 1967, war erupted in the Middle East as Israel, anticipating a possible attack by its Arab neighbors, launched a series of pre-emptive airfield strikes that destroyed nearly the entire Egyptian air force; Syria, Jordan and Iraq immediately entered the conflict.
In 1981, the Centers for Disease Control reported that five homosexuals in Los Angeles had come down with a rare kind of pneumonia; they were the first recognized cases of what later became known as AIDS.
In 1999, jazz and pop singer Mel Torme died in Los Angeles at age 73.
In 2002, 14-year-old Elizabeth Smart was abducted from her Salt Lake City home. (Smart was found alive by police in a Salt Lake suburb in March 2003. One kidnapper, Brian David Mitchell, is serving a prison sentence; the other, Wanda Barzee, was released in September, 2018.)
In 2004, Ronald Wilson Reagan, the 40th president of the United States, died in Los Angeles at age 93 after a long struggle with Alzheimer's disease.
In 2006, more than 50 National Guardsmen from Utah became the first unit to work along the U.S.-Mexico border as part of President George W. Bush's crackdown on illegal immigration.
In 2013, U.S. Army Staff Sgt. Robert Bales, accused of killing 16 Afghan civilians, many of them sleeping women and children, pleaded guilty to murder at Joint Base Lewis-McChord, Washington, to avoid the death penalty; he was sentenced to life in prison.

In 2018, fashion designer Kate Spade, known for her sleek handbags, was found dead in her Park Avenue apartment in New York in what the medical examiner determined was a suicide by hanging; she was 55.
Ten years ago: Israeli forces seized a Gaza-bound aid vessel, the Rachel Corrie, without meeting resistance days after a similar effort turned bloody.
Finance ministers and central bankers from the world's leading economies meeting in Busan, South Korea, agreed on the need to cooperate in fending off financial market turmoil and keeping the world economic recovery on track. Francesca Schiavone beat Samantha Stosur of Australia, 6-4, 7-6 (2), to win the French Open, giving Italy its first female champion at a Grand Slam tournament.
Five years ago: The Social Security Administration's inspector general found that disability beneficiaries had been overpaid by nearly $17 billion over the previous decade, raising alarms about the massive program. Former Iraqi Prime Minister Tariq Aziz, 79, died in Nasiriyah of a heart attack while in captivity. A broken bat flew into the stands at Fenway Park during an Oakland Athletics-Boston Red Sox game, seriously injuring fan Tonya Carpenter.
One year ago: An Ohio doctor, William Husel, was charged with murder in the deaths of 25 hospital patients who authorities said had been killed with deliberate overdoses of painkillers, many of them administered by other medical workers on his orders. (Husel has pleaded guilty.) A court in Germany found Niels Hoegel, a 42-year-old nurse, guilty of murdering 85 patients and sentenced him to life in prison; he admitted causing cardiac arrests in patients by injecting them with overdoses of drugs because he enjoyed the feeling of being able to resuscitate them, but sometimes his efforts failed. (Hoegel had earlier been convicted of two other killings.) The Trump administration said it was ending medical research by government scientists that used human fetal tissue. Officials in Nepal said a government expedition to Mount Everest had removed more than 24,000 pounds of garbage and four dead bodies. Carrie Underwood extended her run as the most decorated

Five Forsan tennis players named to TTCA Academic All-State Team

By SHAWN MORAN

Herald Sports Writer

It has been almost three months since the last high school for their favorite teams to play Texas is ready for their favorite teams to play Texas. Summer workouts will begin on Monday for all three local high schools and you can expect each group to be hard at work and trying to improve as much as possible before the fall.

In the latest local news, the Texas Tennis Coaches Association (TTCA) has released their 2020 All-State Academic Teams. The Forsan Buffaloes were in the midst of a very strong overall season from their tennis team and a handful of athletes from the team were named to the Tennis All-State Academic Teams.

To be able to qualify for a spot on the All-State Academic team, the student must have achieved a 92-or-higher grade-point average during the entire school year.

Forsan's Jonathon Gabehart was named to the list and also excelled during his time on the court and not only in the classroom. Gabehart is also a very strong athlete in every other sport that he played while suiting up in those black and white uniforms. In addition to the TTCA All-Academic Team, Gabehart was also named to the First Team All-Academic football team and basketball team during his last year as a Buffalo. The senior will now be moving on to his next destination: college in the fall.

Hunter Carter was also named to the list along with Ty Moorman. After being named to the THSCA Second Team All-Academic last month, coaches from around the state decided they should be included in TTCA's All-Academic ic team as well. It is a huge accomplishment to be recognized at all and shows the entire state how hard each one of these student-athletes worked in the classroom.

Finally, the female duo of Mallory Ezell and Madison Smith were also named to the TTCA All-Academic Team. Both girls were off to a strong start to their 2020 season but it was cut short because of the coronavirus pandemic. It was likely that if those two girls were at a meet, they would likely be heading home with a Top 3 finish.

This entire group's skill on the tennis court almost matches their skill in the classroom and they truly define what it means to be a student-athlete. They each were top-notch tennis players and also earning high grades in their classes that earned them the recognition throughout the entire state of Texas.

It is a great accomplishment for everyone involved. Forsan tennis Head Coach Seth Johnson is very proud of his student-athletes and even tweeted out his excitement about the five athletes named to an All-State Academic Team.

"Way to get it done on and off the court," Johnson said in the tweet.

Even when their spring sport was taken away from them, these student-athletes finished out the year strong and should be praised for their accomplishments during such a unique and trying time.
