Howard County Library receives grants for support services

By AMANDA DUFORAT
Managing Editor

The Howard County Library is the recent recipient of four grants for the Fiscal Year 2020. The library received a $6,000 grant from Family Place Libraries; 2020 Census Grant for $600; $1,500 from the Texas Library Grant from the Texas Book Festival; and $741.85 from Public Library Association and Microsoft Public Wi-Fi Micro Grant.

Each of these grants are aimed at providing a different service for the community, but all are in support of improving access and providing resources to encourage the community to utilize the local library services.

The Family Place Libraries Grant is aimed at supporting Howard County Library becoming a community center for literacy through the promotion of early childhood development, parent education and engagement, and support for family and community information.

"Family Place Libraries is an organization that helps libraries increase their capacity to become vital centers for early learning, parent engagement, family support, and community connectivity to help ensure that children get the best start in life," Sandra Verdin, Children's Librarian at Howard County Library, said.

The $6,000 – funded by the Texas State Library and Archives Commission – received through this grant will provide training for library staff on how to learn to implement parent-child workshops, help develop a special collection for parents and caregivers, and to set up a specifically designated space for families in the library. There will also be additional programs for babies and toddlers and new resources to support connecting parents and caregivers to community resources. The funds are also able to be utilized to support outreach in the community and educate the residents about the new services. "This grant is to help public libraries address early learning with a goal of ensuring that all children enter school ready and able to learn."

The Howard County Library received information on this grant through the Texas State Library and Archives Commission weekly newsletter and submitted an application for consideration. The final list of libraries receiving this grant has not been made available, but in past years, there have been as many as 24 libraries awarded this grant.

"This grant is important because it will help us provide materials to parents and caregivers with a focus on early learning," Verdin said. Currently, grant disbursement and training for this grant have been postponed due to Covid, the library will inform the community of any updates.

In addition, the library received a grant from the Public Library Association and Microsoft Public Wi-Fi Access Micro-Grant Program. This grant was in the form of a reimbursement payment for $741.85, which covered the cost of adding another Wi-Fi access spot in the library. The Wi-Fi spot was made available in order to allow further Wi-Fi coverage and for patrons to access the service at all times.

"Jill DeFore, Howard College Librarian, sent along the information to us, because it was set up for public libraries," Verdin said. "This grant was used to add another Wi-Fi access point near the reference area, placed so that signal reaches out to the first row of the Holidays are around the corner - planning has kicked off with local businesses and organizations

The Festival of Lights will be turning on their lights Dec. 5, but more volunteers are needed than ever before. Volunteers to help set up displays are needed in order to ensure the lighted displays are ready to go for opening night.

By AMANDA DUFORAT
Managing Editor

The year, as unexpected as it has proven to be, is moving quickly and almost over. The holiday season is right around the corner, which means holiday plans are on the table. Recently, the Business Development group – composed of different business representatives throughout Big Spring – gathered to discuss Halloween, Thanksgiving and Christmas plans.

"We are planning in the midst of Covid-19. We want to make sure that the holiday season in Big Spring is still one that community members can enjoy and count down to," Debbye ValVerde, Executive Director of the Big Spring Area Chamber of Commerce, said. "For the safety of everyone there will of course be changes to annual events, but we want to keep the events that we can going and support our local businesses and community."

Halloween is the first on the horizon of festivities to be coming up on the calendar. According to Kenda Jones with H-E-B from the local store, The H-E-B Safe Stop will continue. This year, the stop will be turned into a drive through distribution process, taking place from 5:30 p.m. until 6:30 p.m. and kids will receive pre-packed goodie bags.

"Our businesses want to continue to offer the safe alternative to trick or treating so we don't have kids going door to door," ValVerde said. "A drive through option will allow for kids to still get dressed up, get out and get some treats, while limiting crowds and maintaining social distancing."

Local businesses are encouraged to take part this year if possible.

DPS Troopers hit milestone in child rescues

Special to the Herald

AUSTIN – The Texas Department of Public Safety (DPS) Highway Patrol Troopers this week rescued their 500th child during traffic stops since the implementation of specialized training that began in 2009. Troopers receive the training as part of the Interdiction for the Protection of Children (IPC) program.

The IPC program training teaches officers to spot indicators that a child is a victim or at risk of becoming a victim, and includes children who are missing, exploited, at-risk or endangered. Troopers receive this training through a two-day, 16-hour course that uses a child-centered approach and assess the totality of circumstances to determine if a child is at risk.

In addition to removing these children from dangerous situations, the training also aids DPS in related child abduction, human trafficking, possession of child pornography and sexual assault investigations.

“This is an outstanding contribution to public safety by our Troopers who identified and rescued children during standard traffic stops, even though the child could not necessarily vocalize they needed help,” said DPS Director Steven McCraw. “At the same time, it helped us take reprehensible criminals who prey on one of our most vulnerable populations off the streets.”

IPC marked its 10th anniversary in 2019. In addition to child rescues, IPC has trained more than 10,000 people in its methods across the U.S. and other countries, prompting groundbreaking changes in how agencies improve accountability and approach child safety concerns.

IPC uses a multidisciplinary approach to train law enforcement, prosecutors, criminal intelligence analysts, child protective service, victim services and child advocacy center professionals collectively. IPC continues to advocate the message: “Stop waiting for children to ask for your help.”

parking lot.”

She continued, “With families, and community members learning and working from home, it is important to have Wi-Fi access. This grant helps us to extend our Wi-Fi coverage, the library leaves Wi-Fi on 24/7 with no password required. We remind patrons to practice social distancing while using Wi-Fi outside the library.”

While adding Wi-Fi access and community support resources, the Howard County Library also received a grant from the Texas Book Festival and the Texas Library Association to enhance the children's e-book collection. The grant was in the amount of $1,500.

“This grant is to help libraries enhance their collections in any area, with print material or digital materials,” she said. “We found out about this grant through the Howard College librarian as well. She sent us information about grants for public libraries, and we saw it on the Texas State Library and Archives Commission newsletter, weekly e-mails about grant opportunities for libraries and museums.”

Howard County Library was one of 42 Texas libraries who were awarded this grant. While this is an annual grant in Texas this is the first time Howard County has received it.

“We know that families will be using digital tools a lot more due to Covid, remote learning, or homeschooling. We wanted to add digital children's books, for families that may be looking to access these library resources remotely,” she said.

She continued, “We are excited to be able to receive this grant to enhance our children's eBook collection. We are selecting books, in genres that are low in our current collection, we are focusing on picture books, beginning reader's books, diverse books, and bilingual books. Check our Facebook page regularly to check out updates about the collection and visit our website to learn more about accessing our entire digital collection.”

To find out more about the Howard County Library or to utilize the resources, stop by the library at 500 S. Main. The library is open from 9 a.m. until 6 p.m. Monday through Friday.

Pre-packed goodie bags are encouraged along with drive up distribution processes. For those wanting to take part, H-E-B will once again be publishing a Safe Stop list. Those who register for the Safe Stop list will be provided with six bags of candy after the registration fee is received. Those taking part are encouraged to wear masks and gloves while distributing candy or goody bags.

The annual Holiday Open Houses set for the middle of November along with the 12 Days Before Black Friday, both aimed at supporting local business and staying local, spending local during the holiday season are still set to take place.

“Our local businesses have been impacted just as many of our residents have. With the statewide shut down and limited occupancy still in place, there are many businesses who are struggling. We want to encourage our community members to spend local when at all possible because when we shop local we are supporting our community, our neighbors and our friends.”

The Holiday Open House event is set for Nov. 14-15. During the 12 Days Before Black Friday there will also be an opportunity to leave your wish list at local boutiques to make Christmas shopping a little bit easier on your loved ones. One change that is taking place is the holiday Sip-n-Shop event is being rescheduled for Dec. 17.

“This holiday season would be the perfect time to shop local if you haven't shopped local before. It's a great way to show support for local businesses and many of our shops have unique gift items,” she said. “Shopping local also takes the travel time out and allows more time for shopping. Whether you are looking for home décor, new winter outfits, or customized items, we have local businesses who can take care of all those needs.”

The Festival of Lights is another annual event and long standing tradition that plans to continue this year. However, in order to make sure the light displays are set up and ready to go volunteers are needed.

“Normally the FCI prisoners are a huge help in setting up the displays and preparing for opening day,” ValVerde said. “This year, due to the pandemic, they are not able to offer their help, which means more community volunteers are going to be needed in the days leading up to opening day.”

Setting up the displays normally takes about 25 volunteers continuously helping. Just to gain a better understanding, just one of the candy canes takes three people to get it set up correctly. In addition to the volunteers needed to set up the foundation displays, there are Adopt a Spots available.

“Local businesses, schools, youth organizations, even families can choose to adopt a spot and set up a lighted display for the Festival of Lights,” she said. “Those who choose to adopt a spot will be provided with lights, extension cords to be used to help decorate a sign, banner or other display you would like to set up. Greeting cards are also available for purchase and are mounted on an 8'x8' steel frame.”

“The Festival of Lights is a long standing tradition in Howard County. We have people from all over come and experience the lights each year and this year we are expecting to be able to offer the same time honored tradition,” she said. “Driving through the Festival of Lights is a great way to spend time with family and friends, experience all that is great about Big Spring and this year, one of the ways that already has social distancing in place.”

Those wanting to help volunteer or sign up for one of the adopt a spots, contact Howard and Vicki Stewart at 432-935-0572.

The Heritage Museum is also looking at continuing with the Christmas Tree Forest and Breakfast with Santa events. The Breakfast with Santa will be a drive through style. There will be Christmas characters on hand to welcome the families. Animal land kits will also be available for purchase with cash. Those businesses wanting to host a booth at the event are welcome and should contact Tammy Schrecengost at the museum. The Christmas Tree Forest will go on, but entrance to the museum will be limited to control social distancing.

ACEC Texas Presents "Champion of Infrastructure" Award to Representative Drew Darby for the 86th Legislative Session

AUSTIN, TX – The American Council of Engineering Companies (ACEC) of Texas is pleased to recognize Representative Drew Darby (R-San Angelo) as an engineering industry champion with the Champion of Infrastructure Award.

The Champion of Infrastructure Award recognizes elected officials who support the engineering community by promoting policies that encourage infrastructure investment and create a fair, business-friendly environment in the State of Texas. The award recipients are chosen by the members of the ACEC Texas Public Policy Council (PPC).

Representative Darby is a longtime advocate for infrastructure funding and most recently authored House Bill 1211 in the 86th Legislative Session to prohibit certain unfair and uninsurable provisions in contracts for professional services.

"Representative Darby has supported the engineering community throughout his tenure in the Texas Legislature," said ACEC Texas President Peyton McKnight. "His work with our industry on infrastructure funding and pro-business issues has helped to create a fair business environment that allows Texas engineering firms to thrive. On behalf of ACEC Texas, I am honored to present this award to Representative Darby."

"The American Council of Engineering Companies has been a steadfast supporter of legislative policies to strengthen and evolve our state's building systems and infrastructure development," said Representative Darby. "I greatly appreciate this recognition, and want to thank ACEC and its many members for your partnership and pro-business advocacy."

ACEC Texas is the business association of Texas engineering firms. The organization is committed to advancing the private practice of consulting engineering, enhancing markets for private engineering services, educating the public on the importance of infrastructure investment, and promoting sound business practices within the industry and its client base.

Representative Darby serves House District 72, which includes Coke, Concho, Glasscock, Howard, Irion, Reagan, Runnels, Sterling, and Tom Green counties.

Big Ten changes course, will play fall football after all

By RALPH D. RUSSO

AP College Football Writer

Big Ten is going to give fall football a shot after all.

Less than five weeks after pushing fall sports to spring in the name of player safety during the pandemic, the conference changed course Wednesday and said it plans to open its football season the weekend of Oct. 23-24.

All 14 teams will play eight regular-season games in eight weeks, plus have an opportunity to play a ninth game on Dec. 19 when the conference championship game is in Indianapolis — if all goes well. That should give the Big Ten an opportunity to compete for the national championship.

The Big Ten said its Council of Presidents and Chancellors voted unanimously Tuesday to restart sports. The vote last month was 11-3 to postpone, with Ohio State, Iowa and Nebraska voting against.

"We're in a better place, regardless of how we got here or how painful it was during the time we waited to get this moment," Ohio State athletic director Gene Smith said. "That's all behind us. What's beautiful is that we have a process and protocols in place that's based on science and based on lessons learned since Aug. 11."

The decision to play came after sharp pressure from coaches, players, parents and even President Donald Trump, all of them pushing for a Big Ten football season. The conference is home to a number of battleground states in the November election, and Trump swifly applauded the move in a tweet.

The emergence of daily, rapid-response COVID-19 testing, not available when university leaders decided to pull the plug on the fall season, helped trigger a re-vote. The Big Ten said it will begin daily antigen testing of all its fall sport athletes, coaches and staff Sept. 30.

Northwestern President Morton Schapiro, chairman of the presidents' council, said the turning point for him on giving the green light to football — even though many students have not been allowed back on the Evanston, Illinois, campus — didn't come until this past weekend.

"Medical opinions changed," Schapiro said. "Paul Samuelson, the great economist was once asked why he changed his mind. And he said, 'When the facts change, the mind changes.'"

Team positivity rates and population positivity rate thresholds will be used to determine whether teams must halt practice or play. The earliest an athlete will be able to return to game competition would be 21 days following a COVID-19 positive diagnosis, following a cardiac evaluation and clearance from a cardiologist designated by the university.

Myocarditis, an inflammation of the heart, was also among the concerns cited by the Big Ten in August.

"Everyone associated with the Big Ten should be very proud of the groundbreaking steps that are now being taken to better protect the health and safety of the student-athletes and surrounding communities," said Dr. Jim Borchers, team physician for Ohio State.

The Big Ten will take a bow, but the conference has been battered for a month and businesses in college towns from Nebraska to Maryland have lost millions in sales.

First-year Commissioner Kevin Warren was the main target, criticized for a lack of communication and not providing enough information to back the initial decision.

"We have passionate athletes. We have passionate families and we have passionate fans," Warren said of the blowback. "And so I take that from a positive standpoint."

The Big Ten postponed fall sports just six days after unveiling a modified conference-only schedule that was set to begin Labor Day weekend, and indicated it would try to make up the season in the spring. But there was no plan in place and the reaction was sharp. Trump at one point called Warren, who described their conversation as "productive" and "respectful."

The Pac-12 followed the Big Ten in postponing, but was far more detailed in its explanation and also had more obvious hurdles to clear. Half the Pac-12 schools are still operating under statewide restrictions that make it impossible for teams to practice.

Pac-12 Commissioner Larry Scott released a statement Tuesday saying the conference has not been given the go-ahead by state officials in California and Oregon to begin preparing for a football season.

"We are hopeful that our new daily testing capability can help satisfy public health official approvals in California and Oregon to begin contact practice and competition," he said. The conference is also dealing with wildfires across the West.

As the Big Ten and Pac-12 bailed in August, the other three Power Five conferences forged ahead, along with three other major college football leagues. Games have started, with the Big 12 and Atlantic Coast Conference kicking off last week. The Southeastern Conference is scheduled to start playing games Sept. 26.

Meanwhile, the Big Ten was on the sideline, with coaches struggling to explain to players why other teams could play but they could not.

In Nebraska, the school president, athletic director and coach Scott Frost all expressed disappointment. Frost even suggested Nebraska might look outside the Big Ten to play games while eight of his players filed a lawsuit against the Big Ten over its decision to postpone.

Cross Country Excited to See Talented Underclassmen Compete this Fall

Special to the Herald

UT Permian Basin Cross Country's young roster is ready to reach the next level in 2020. After months of waiting to know if they'll have a season, the Lone Star Conference is allowing the cross country season to compete and eventually run for an LSC Championship after moving most of the fall to the spring because of COVID-19.

The Falcons are ready to step into the spotlight and compete for the conference championship. Top runner Erik Burciaga returns after a sensational freshman season. Burciaga finished 12th in the conference and qualified for the South Central Regional last season. He was a record setter, breaking the school record in the 8k in just his third race of the season and at the regional ran the second fastest 10k in school history.

He's joined by talented freshman Hector Sanchez and Joshua Garcia. Last year at the state championships Sanchez finished 17th while Garcia, from Permian High School, finished 33rd. The young trio looks to take the Falcons to the next level after being picked to finish 11th in the Lone Star Conference.

"I had Nicholas (Wittkopp) two years ago, and Erik (Burciaga) last year as my top runners, but Hector is out ahead of them already," said Head Coach Alick Musukuma. "If he stays healthy and doing what he's doing he will certainly do amazing things. Hopefully him and Erik can push each other every day in practice and get the best out of each other."

The Falcons are a little more seasoned on the women's side, featuring three seniors. This year the women are picked to finish 12th in the LSC. Throughout practice, Musukuma says two local runners have impressed him the most so far.

"Freshman Nayeli Galindo has looked really good in practice so far," said Musukuma. "Thalia Balderas is back for me and has been working really hard. We just got to get the mental part of it down. They can train as hard as they want, but if they don't believe in themselves they won't be successful."

Musukuma comes into the fall with a young roster, 17 of the 25 runners are either a freshman or sophomore. While the roster is young, Musukuma knows they have the talent to be successful if they come together as a team.

"The younger runners are hungry and responsive in practice," said Musukuma. "Adaptation is super important in running. They're adapting to our running philosophies here and if they listen to their teammates they'll adapt more quickly. No matter how good your team is, if they don't work as a team they won't be successful. I emphasize every day at practice to work as a team, so when we get to the meet things are a lot easier. Championships aren't won at the meet, but at practice."

As for the expectations that the Falcons are going to finish around where they did last season, Musukuma isn't paying much attention.

"The preseason poll doesn't matter to us," he said. "Look at a few years ago when we finished third after being picked ninth. This team brings energy every day to practice and they want to be there and get better. It just depends on how badly they want it."

As for the conference, West Texas A&M is the favorite on the men's side while Lubbock Christian and WT tied on the women's side. The Conference Championships are scheduled to take place on October 31 in San Angelo.

Annie's Mailbox

Not Loving the Likes

Dear Annie: My boyfriend follows more than 3,000 people on Instagram. And almost all of them are women. It didn't bother me when we first started dating, because I figured that now that he had a girlfriend, he'd stop investing so much time in looking at women.

A few months into our relationship, he was showing me something on his profile when I caught a glimpse of a notification indicating that he had commented on a girl's photo. I asked him about it. He tried to play it off. Of course, I remembered the girl's username and looked up her profile.

I was surprised to see that he had "liked" and commented on a lot of her pics. And he said some flirty things to her are things that he also said to me.

I confronted him. I said that I get it: Men look at women. I mean, hello -- it's Instagram. And I even said it wouldn't bother me if he just "liked" their photos. But to comment with a bunch of flirtatious emojis is disrespectful. It makes me look like a fool because these women know that we're dating. So, he said that he'd stop.

However, in March, it came to my attention that he again was commenting on a lot of women's pictures. I told him I thought he understood where I was coming from. His excuses are that he's not going out to cheat; he's not sending them private messages; it's not a big deal because it's online; and that, in real life, he's with me. But I told him he's missing the point. I told him the fact that he knows it bothers me yet he keeps doing it means he's disregarding my feelings and just doesn't care. Can I get your advice, please? -- Disliking It

Dear Disliking: You're asking for so little, and he's giving you even less.

Your assessment of the problem is spot-on: It's not even his behavior on Instagram, per se. It's that you told him how you feel about it, and he's disregarding that.

Reiterate to him again that you feel hurt when he flirts with other women on Instagram, and it would mean a lot to you if he would stop. If he persists after that point, then he's not going to change anytime soon, and you have to decide whether you can live with his behavior.

Dear Annie: It may not be enough this November to simply drop your ballot in the mail shortly after you receive it and assume that it's going to be received in time to count, especially if you receive your mail-in ballot within just a week or two of the election. Return postage that is preprinted on the ballots is bulk rate -- the lowest priority and usually the last mail to be delivered. What everyone needs to do (unless you are dropping off your ballot in person or voting in person) is spring for a 55-cent stamp to put on their mail-in ballot, thus elevating it to the status of first-class mail, which gets much higher priority. Spread the word, please. -- Gerry Schwartz

Dear Gerry: I know that USPS does everything it can to ensure that ballots get where they're going. But this is a year like no other, and I encourage everyone to mail in their ballots as soon as possible so that they can successfully exercise one of their most important rights as Americans. On their website, USPS states: "Contact your local election officials about ballot submission deadlines and other information that will help ensure your vote is counted."

Opening lead — king of clubs.

It is not uncommon to hear a player claim that his partner should have made a contract he failed to make. However, one must be careful to base such an opinion on fair analysis rather than on hindsight derived from seeing all four hands.

South went down one on this deal, and the question is: Should he have made the contract? West led the K-A and another club, South discarding a diamond on dummy's ten of clubs.

Declarer's only remaining hurdle was to draw the opposing trumps. So he cashed the ace of spades and ace of hearts, ruffed a heart and led the queen of spades. East took the king and returned a heart, and West's ten of spades became the setting trick.

South was unlucky to run into a 6-2 heart break and 10-x-x of spades in the West hand as well. However, he did make a mistake in the play — a small one, to be sure, but it cost him the contract.

The error occurred at trick three when he discarded a diamond on the ten of clubs. Instead, he should have discarded a heart! Then, after cashing the ace of spades, he could have ruffed a heart without having to cash the ace first and next led the queen of spades. This would have left declarer in complete control regardless of what East returned, since West would still have had a second heart in his hand.

This subtle variation in the play was necessary in the actual deal, though most of the time it would have made no difference. It illustrates how important it is to employ maximum precaution during the play of the hand.

Tomorrow: Test your play.

New Moon Musings

ARIES (March 21-April 19). Competitive urges can be exciting to follow, but there's risk here, too. Some of your impulses will be to do dangerous things and you'll quickly rule them out or water them down to a more appropriate intensity.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20). It's like you're waiting for something to happen, though you're not sure what since nothing has been ordered, planned or promised. This is your intuition turned all the way up.

GEMINI (May 21-June 21). It seems counterintuitive, but coming across tremendous good fortune is generally not what makes people happy, unless they feel that the luck is earned. Small earned luck brings more gladness than big dumb luck.

CANCER (June 22-July 22). You'll be very busy, and mainly it's your own fault. You are so vivacious, knowledgeable and attractive that everyone wants a piece of your time and attention.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22). Casual elegance, kindness, worldliness -- these are qualities you are attracted to in others, you aspire to embody and you are credited with today, though maybe behind your back.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22). People make decisions for the reasons that make sense to them. You'd love to know those reasons. Was a choice made out of desire or a lack of other options? You'll learn answers you can bank on.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23). Be careful what you acknowledge in others because you can count on getting more of it. Focus on the kindnesses you'd enjoy an abundance of. If you give lots of attention to bad behaviors, they will continue, too.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 21). Today brings a suspenseful scenario, so enjoy the exquisite tension of mystery at play. You could guess 12 times and still not predict this one.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22-Dec. 21). It will be the daily kindnesses -- feeding someone, driving them, listening to them -- that add up to the stuff of good relationships. Even so, you'll throw in the extras because it's so easy for you to give in that way.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19). There is no persuasion without observation, no influence without understanding the needs and wants of others. If all you do is open an inquisitive mind to the behaviors of others, you'll grow in influence.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 18). It's like a wind-up toy: you turn the key, set it on the ground and release. It should be predictable, what happens next, but somehow it isn't. The same movement in a different environment changes the outcome.

PISCES (Feb. 19-March 20). It's the higher virtues that call to you today -- courage, nobility, loyalty -- the ones that work as well in the modern world as they did in more feudal times.

TODAY'S BIRTHDAY (Sept. 17). Of your many talents, the one that gleams at the top of this new cycle is your knack for finding and making mutually beneficial arrangements. You bring people together and create scenarios that only you could. An exciting breakthrough in your personal and financial life happens in January. Aquarius and Pisces adore you. Your lucky numbers are: 4, 39, 2, 50 and 13.

ASTROLOGICAL QUESTION: "Why has she stopped flirting with me, liking me and making me a priority? My guess is that someone else has come into the picture for her. How can I get her back to thinking I'm the one for her? She is a Virgo. I'm a Capricorn."

As a rule, people do what works for them. If your Virgo is getting something from another interaction that she deems more worthy of her attention than what she is getting in the relationship with you, then it is only natural that she'd wander over to that.

One of the many excellent qualities that go with earth signs is the innate understanding of the value of work. In light of this, and the fact that both you and your Virgo share this earth sign value, you might consider gearing your approach with the frame of "labor."

What creates emotional labor is asking people to behave in a way that is counter to their natural impulses. If they have to mentally control themselves in any way, this is work. The most attractive relationships are the ones that require the least work. Tune in Saturday for more astral insights on the topic of emotional labor.

Here's How It Works:

Sudoku puzzles are formatted as a 9x9 grid, broken down into nine 3x3 boxes. To solve a sudoku, the numbers 1 through 9 must fill each row, column and box. Each number can appear only once in each row, column and box. You can figure out the order in which the numbers will appear by using the numeric clues already provided in the boxes. The more numbers you name, the easier it gets to solve the puzzle!

Today in History
Today is Thursday, Sept. 17, the 261st day of 2020. There are 105 days left in the year.
Today's Highlight in History: On Sept. 17, 1787, the Constitution of the United States was completed and signed by a majority of delegates attending the Constitutional Convention in Philadelphia.
On this date:
In 1862, more than 3,600 men were killed in the Civil War Battle of Antietam (an-TEE'tum) in Maryland.
In 1908, Lt. Thomas E. Selfridge of the U.S. Army Signal Corps became the first person to die in the crash of a powered aircraft, the Wright Flyer, at Fort Myer, Virginia, just outside Washington, D.C.
In 1937, the likeness of President Abraham Lincoln's head was dedicated at Mount Rushmore.
In 1939, the Soviet Union invaded Poland during World War II, more than two weeks after Nazi Germany had launched its assault.
In 1944, during World War II, Allied paratroopers launched Operation Market Garden, landing behind German lines in the Netherlands. (After initial success, the Allies were beaten back by the Germans.)
In 1947, James V. Forrestal was sworn in as the first U.S. Secretary of Defense.
In 1971, citing health reasons, Supreme Court Justice Hugo Black, 85, retired. (Black, who was succeeded by Lewis F. Powell Jr., died eight days after making his announcement.)
In 1978, after meeting at Camp David, Israeli Prime Minister Menachem Begin (men-AH'-kem BAY'-gihn) and Egyptian President Anwar Sadat signed a framework for a peace treaty.
In 1987, the city of Philadelphia, birthplace of the U.S. Constitution, threw a big party to celebrate the 200th anniversary of the historic document; in a speech at Independence Hall, President Ronald Reagan acclaimed the framing of the Constitution as a milestone "that would profoundly and forever alter not just these United States but the world."
In 1997, Comedian Red Skelton died in Rancho Mirage, California, at age 84.
In 2001, six days after 9/11, stock prices nosedived but stopped short of collapse in an emotional, flag-waving reopening of Wall Street; the Dow Jones industrial average ended the day down 684.81 at 8,920.70.

In 2011, a demonstration calling itself Occupy Wall Street began in New York, prompting similar protests around the U.S. and the world.
Ten years ago: Thousands of cheering Catholic schoolchildren feted Pope Benedict XVI on his second day in Britain, offering a boisterous welcome, as the pontiff urged their teachers to make sure to provide a trusting, safe environment. A scientist and his wife who once worked at a top-secret U.S. nuclear laboratory were arrested after an FBI sting operation and charged with conspiring to help develop a nuclear weapon for Venezuela. (After pleading guilty, Pedro Leonardo Mascheroni was sentenced to five years in federal prison while his wife, Marjorie Roxby Mascheroni, received a year and a day; the U.S. government never alleged that Venezuela or anyone actually working for it had sought U.S. secrets.)
Five years ago: General Motors agreed to pay $900 million to fend off criminal prosecution over the deadly ignition-switch scandal, striking a deal that brought criticism down on the Justice Department for not bringing charges against individual employees; GM also announced it would spend $575 million to settle the majority of the civil lawsuits filed over the scandal. The Federal Reserve kept U.S. interest rates at record lows in the face of threats from a weak global economy, persistently low inflation and unstable financial markets.
One year ago: New York became the first state to ban the sale of flavored e-cigarettes; the move came as federal health officials investigated a surge of severe breathing illnesses linked to vaping. Broadcast journalist Cokie Roberts, who had chronicled Washington for NPR and ABC News, died of complications from breast cancer at the age of 75. Israeli elections left Prime Minister Benjamin Netanyahu well short of the parliamentary majority he had sought.
Today's Birthdays: Sen. Charles E. Grassley, R-Iowa, is 87. Retired Supreme Court

Justice David H. Souter (SOO'tur) is 81. Singer LaMonte McLemore (The Fifth Dimension) is 85. Retired U.S. Marine Gen. Anthony Zinni is 77. Basketball Hall of Fame coach Phil Jackson is 75. FRIDAY NIGHT UNDER THE LIGHTS

High School Football In Howard County

Big Spring looking to improve record to 3-0 this week against Brownfield

By SHAWN MORAN
Herald Sports Writer

The Big Spring Steers have looked like a complete team through the first two games of the season and are coming off of a 28-6 dismantling of the Monahans Loboes last Friday night at Memorial Stadium. Big Spring is now 2-0 for the first time since 2014 and Head Coach Cannon McWilliams has continued to say that this is the most physical group he has had while coaching at Big Spring. The 2020 Steers will be looking to match that team from six years ago once again this Friday when they travel to Brownfield to take on the Cubs with a chance to move to 3-0.

Junior quarterback Gabriel Baeza continued the hot start to his second year as starting quarterback with a four-touchdown performance and a tremendous night running the ball. Baeza was once again accurate and decisive with his passes and finished the game with 215 passing yards. The junior was able to connect with receiver Jose Cantu on one score on a perfect pass down the left sideline and found the end zone three more times courtesy of his legs. Baeza led the team in both passing and rushing while receiving great blocking up front from his offensive line all night long.

Coach Brad Harman's defense was vital to the big win last Friday night and seemed to force a turnover at just the right time on multiple occasions. The linebacker duo of Ricky Escovedo and Braxton Pearson have established themselves as the leaders of the defense with defensive end Caydon Rash contributing with a consistent pass rush and defensive back Java Ford breaking through as a lockdown corner. The defense has forced 8 turnovers through two games and have been great at forcing opposing teams into bad decisions.

"Our defense has done a really good job at that the first two weeks," McWilliams said.

Coahoma travels to C-City on Friday night to take on the lackluster Wolves

By SHAWN MORAN
Herald Sports Writer

The Coahoma Bulldogs showed off their high-powered offense once again last Friday night with a 59-34 dismantling of Eldorado on the road.

Coahoma running back Brysen Kerby was a huge part of the Bulldogs' offense and his rushing ability paired with the physical offensive line was a big reason why they were able to pull away from the Eagles.

"It all starts up front and those guys had a good game," Coahoma Head Coach Chris Joslin said. "Brysen has been putting in a lot of work.

He's changed some things with his running style and it has really helped him."

Kerby finished the game with 18 rushed for 254 yards and five touchdowns. Joslin said the running back's patience to wait for his blockers to open holes before he fires through them are a big reason Kerby has been putting up big numbers.

Quarterback Kolt Redden added two scores (one passing to tight end Colin Daniels, one rushing) for the Bulldogs in addition to one touchdown apiece from Isaiah Martin and Ky Kemper.

Forsan set for trip to McCamey following first win of season last Friday night

By SHAWN MORAN
Herald Sports Writer

After a pair of tough losses over the first two weeks of the season, Forsan prevailed 27-6 in the Battle of the Buffaloes over Stanton last Friday night at Roger Hudgins Field for their 2020 Homecoming Game.

Forsan was led by their strong running game as junior running back's Nate Hernandez and Chris Mendez both found the end zone on the ground. The Buffalo passing offense was not great on the night, but it did not need to be for the win over rival Stanton.

On defense, linebacker Drayklyn Henry's perfectly read play that turned into a pick-six was the highlight for the black and white. Cornerback Cayden Morgan also played a big part in the strong performance and was making plays all over the field. Sawyer Stallings also grabbed an interception of his own and Forsan seemed to finally be finding their groove in this early-season matchup.

Now, Forsan will travel to McCamey to take on the unbeaten, high-scoring Badgers (2-0) this Friday night.

"We just have to keep getting better," Forsan Head Coach Jason Phillips said. "We executed a lot better offensively and tackled a lot better defensively against Stanton. We just have to continue to do that. Our pre-district schedule is pretty tough and McCamey is a different type of opponent. They're not going to be as big as Stanton or Post, but they've got some guys that can run so it's going to be a different look. We definitely need to limit their big plays offensively."

Players of the Week

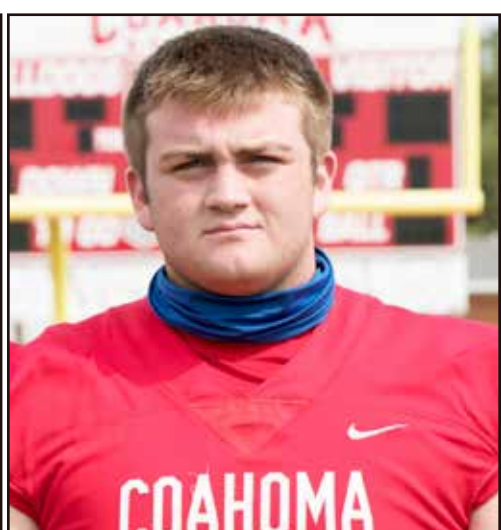

GABRIEL BAEZA

RICKY ESCOVEDO

Baeza continued his hot start to the 2020 season by adding another four touchdowns (three rushing, one passing) to his total on the year. The junior dual threat finished the win over Monahans with 215 yards passing and 39 yards rushing while leading the Steers offense down the field for 28 points. Baeza has led the Steers to their first 2-0 start since 2014 and now has 500 yards passing, 95 yards rushing and 10 total TD's.

linebacker Ricky Escovedo has made plays all over the field through the Steers' first two games. Head Coach Cannon McWilliams has described Escovedo as "fun to watch". The physical LB is surely not afraid to make contact and he has delivered several big hits this season. Against Monahans, Escovedo lived in the Lobo's backfield and finished the contest with 13 total tackles (four tackles for loss) and one sack.

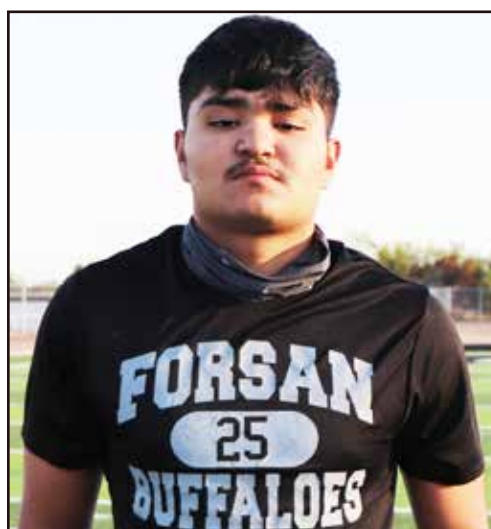

BRYSEN KERBY

KOBE CERVANTES

Kerby picked up right where he left off the previous week and his five touchdown scores were enough to lead Coahoma to a big 59-34 victory over Eldorado. The junior carried the ball 17 times for 254 yards (14.9 yards per carry) and five touchdowns. He was unstoppable on the ground all-game long and also was able to pick up two tackles on defense. Kerby now has 461 rushing yards and eight touchdowns through three games.

The junior defensive lineman played his third straight big game for the Coahoma Bulldogs and finished with a team-high 11 total tackles last Friday night. Cervantes plays with a physical edge and also powered his way through blockers to pick up two sacks against the Eagles. Cervantes also showed off his awareness on a play where he was able to recover a fumble. The junior has 24 total tackles so far this season.

NATE HERNANDEZ

DRAYKLYN HENRY

Forsan picked up their first win of the 2020 season due largely in part to the play of Hernandez on offense and Henry on defense last Friday night against Stanton. Hernandez carried the ball 15 times for 80 yards and one touchdown. In a game where Forsan threw the ball just seven times, Hernandez' ability to pick up yardage on the ground was huge for the Buffs' offense. On defense, senior linebacker Drayklyn Henry picked up 11 total tackles, one interception and one forced fumble. Winning the turnover battle is one of the most important things in order to win a football game and to be responsible for two in one game is a big feat. As an honorable mention, cornerback Cayden Morgan led the team with 15 total tackles and two sacks from his spot on the perimeter.

“We’ve forced a bunch of turnovers already and Java Ford has three interceptions through two games. I think forcing them into those bad decisions is one of the keys defensively.”

Big Spring struggled themselves with holding onto the ball last Friday with three first-half turnovers. McWilliams knows that his team needs to do a better job of not turning the ball over and while interceptions may happen sometimes in their high-volume passing offense, three total turnovers in one game is too many.

Brownfield is currently 0-2 this season with losses to Friona and Tulia. The Cubs like to pass the ball and that accounts for most of their offensive attack. They have turned the ball over a total of eight times through their first two games and that is an area that Harman and his defense surely plan to attack.

“We’ll need to continue to get pressure on the quarterback,” McWilliams said. “Our corners and safeties did really well last week and I hope they continue to build on that.”

Brownfield has also struggled to stop the run this season which could mean a big game for Baeza and running backs Orlando Sanchez and Isaiah Johnson on the ground.

“It will all depend on what they give us,” McWilliams said. “The teams they’ve played so far have been really run-heavy so I’m interested to see how they line up against us.”

The game will begin at 7:00 p.m.

Defensive coordinator Mitchell Woodard’s defense was able to get after the quarterback and spend a lot of time in the Eldorado backfield throughout last Friday’s game. The pairing of Kobe Cervantes and Bryden Fontana each accounted for two sacks apiece while Redden and Tony Hagins picked up one apiece.

Colorado City has yet to find the end zone through three games this season and have only compiled two points as a team courtesy of a safety last Friday against Ballinger. Joslin is still not letting his team overlook the Wolves and knows that they will be a well-coached team that is looking for their first win of the season this Friday.

“We’re treating it like we do every week,” Joslin said. “We told our kids that we can throw the records out the window. This is a big rivalry game for both schools and we’re going to get their best game.”

Coahoma won this matchup last year by a score of 60-8 for the first win over the Wolves since 2007. Joslin and his coaching staff do a wonderful job resetting each week and letting his players know that anything can happen once the pads go on and last year’s result no longer matters.

In order to replicate last year’s performance, Joslin just believes his team needs to wake up on Friday morning ready to play.

“I thought this past week was the best we’ve looked coming to play at the start of the game,” Joslin said. “I told the players that they just need to come with that same mentality every week. The guys have gradually gotten better, they’ve settled in, and they’re playing really well.”

Coahoma will be looking to make it two straight wins over the Wolves when they travel to C-City on Friday for the 7:30 game.

McCamey has scored 134 points through their first two games (wins over Menard and Odessa Compass Academy) of the season and are led by a group of senior playmakers on both sides of the ball.

In order for Forsan to be able to have a big game and defeat the Badgers, they will need to contain those veterans and have their own upperclassmen make a few big plays of their own.

“I like where our experience level is at,” Phillips said. “We’ve got a lot of kids with multiple years of varsity experience so that’s always going to be a plus for us. McCamey returned nine people on both sides of the ball and they were a playoff team last year.”

Forsan’s offense uses the passing game to try to open up the running lanes and they plan to run the ball down McCamey’s throat this Friday night. Phillips has also said that his coaching staff has made a conscious effort to throw the ball some more and feels that the passing game could open up some more scoring opportunities for the Buffaloes’ offense.

“We’ve had a great week of practice and we’ll be ready to go,” he said. The game will begin at 7:30 p.m.
