Fall has arrived and the festivities are kicking off. Residents at Parkview Skilled Care and Rehabilitation are in the festive mode and letting their creativity flow. Through a combined effort, residents have created a Fairy Garden and mini pumpkin patches throughout the facility. "Every year our residents pick out their pumpkins and paint them, but we had to do things a little differently this year, as we work through the coronavirus pandemic," Laurie Martinez, Activity Director at Parkview, said. "Our residents were able to get out of the facility and go for a ride, but we had our staff get out and pick the pumpkins this year." She continued, "Our residents enjoyed sipping on some its members, business and community throughout the year," she said. "From local businesses in Big Spring, to Coahoma and even Forsan, the focus of the Chamber has been and continues to be supporting local growth together."

A few of the fundraisers throughout the year include Sticks and Tricks, which offers an opportunity for area golfers – experienced and non-experienced – to get out enjoy the weather and have some fun while supporting local businesses; the annual Chamber of Commerce Banquet which offers members to highlight themselves and services during an evening of networking. The annual health fair is a way that the Chamber supports those in the healthcare industry while offering the community an opportunity to find out about all the services offered locally to help keep the community healthy.

"During the pandemic, in an effort to keep the community informed and extend support to local business, the Chamber teamed up with the CVB (Convention and Visitors Bureau) to share restaurant information through social media and email blasts," she said.

Those who are interested in becoming a member can do so by calling the Big Spring Area Chamber of Commerce and speaking with ValVerde. The cost for a small business is $255 a year.

TSTC Receives Greater Texas Foundation Grant

WACO- The Greater Texas Foundation has awarded a $715,742 grant to help develop Texas State Technical College's performance-based education initiative. The grant was awarded through The TSTC Foundation.

Performance-based education allows students to have flexibility with their schedules as they master set competencies in their programs. Faculty members guide the students as they take courses. "Performance-based education pathways allow students to build on their knowledge and complete credentials without putting the rest of their lives on hold," said Sue McMillin, president and chief executive officer of the Greater Texas Foundation. "We are proud to support TSTC in developing these pathways to extend postsecondary three years. Performance-based education is scheduled to debut in fall 2021 in the Computer Networking and Systems Administration, Cybersecurity, and Heating, Ventilation and Air Conditioning Technology programs. "It is great for the institution," said Kyle Smith, TSTC's deputy chief academic officer. "I would say with this particular grant, it is going to be transformative for our students. If you look at the key drivers of the grant, it is all very student-centered. It increases the accessibility to college, the ability to accelerate, with programs being available from morning to evening.' Instructional designers deconstruct curricula down to knowledge, skills and abilities that provide the foundation for competencies and master assessments, said Gena Jean, TSTC's performance-based education program manager. Instructional designers will work with faculty to develop engaging cur

Performance-based education could allow some TSTC students to graduate early after showing they have mastered competencies to their instructors. Students will still have semesters, but the number of classes will vary. "The whole intent of the vision is to put more Texans in great-paying jobs by allowing them (the students) more accessibility and flexibility in scheduling and the ability to accelerate through the courses they will be in," said Lance Eastman, TSTC's senior vice president of student learning and interim provost of the West Texas campuses.

The Greater Texas Foundation supports initiatives that increase rates of postsecondary enrollment and completion for all Texas students, with a particular focus on students who may encounter barriers to postsecondary success, according to the organization's website.

Judge dismisses 1 charge against former cop in Floyd's death

MINNEAPOLIS (AP) — A Minnesota judge has dismissed a third-degree murder charge filed against the former Minneapolis police officer who pressed his knee against George Floyd's neck, saying there was not enough probable cause for that count to proceed to trial. The more serious seconddegree murder charge against Derek Chauvin re-

Hennepin County District Judge Peter Cahill's ruling, dated Wednesday and made public Thursday, found probable cause for Chauvin to be tried on one count of unintentional second-degree murder and one count of second-degree manslaughter. Cahill also found probable cause to move forward with the aiding and abetting counts against three other former officers, Thomas Lane, J. Kueng and Tou Thao.

"In this court's view, with one exception, the State has met its burden of showing probable cause that warrants proceeding to trial against each of these Defendants on each of the criminal charges the State has filed against them," Cahill wrote. He said a jury will decide whether they are guilty.

Floyd, a Black man in handcuffs, died May 25 after Chauvin, who is white, pressed his knee against Flovd's neck as he said he

After Cahill's ruling, Gov. Tim Walz activated the Minnesota National Guard in anticipation of protests. Protesters demonstrated in the streets after Chauvin was released on bail earlier this month, resulting in dozens of arrests.

On the second-degree murder charge, prosecutors presented probable cause to show Chauvin's actions were a "substantial causal factor" in Floyd's death, and that he was committing or attempting to commit another felony at the time, in this case, assault, Cahill wrote.

He said prosecutors do not need to show Chauvin's actions were the sole cause of Floyd's death. He also said Chauvin's decision to continue kneeling on Floyd's neck after he went silent and motionless "is strong evidence of Chauvin's intent to inflict bodily

Have you ever wondered about singing in church? Is it necessary, every time we gather as the people of God, that we sing? It makes sense for people who like to sing, but what if like me you can't sing? I found this scripture: "Be filled with the Spirit, addressing one another in psalms and hymns and spiritual songs, singing and making melody to the Lord with your heart. (Ephesians 5:18-19) The Bible contains over 400 references to singing. Here are eight reasons why singing in church matters:

Singing is commanded in Scripture. This is not a suggestion. The Bible commands us to sing to the Lord. His glory compels us. Our God is a singing God. In Matthew 26:30 "And when they had sung a hymn they went out to the Mount of Olives. Before Jesus was given up to be crucified, he sang with his disciples. Singing engages our memory. The songs we sing shape us and form us. Through joyful times and dark times, they provide us with an anchor of hope.

Singing engages our emotions. Worship is more than agreeing with theology- C.S. Lewis said "I think we delight to praise what we enjoy, because the praise completes the enjoyment". Singing is an overflow of seeing. The more we see of God's power and Love the more we want to praise Him, so we sing.

Hold up a minute

How many times during our day are we put on hold or hae to wait in line? How many minutes are really lost while we wait? What do we do to fill our seemingly wasted minutes?

It seems our world is so different now. We go to the bank and find it closed. We go to the store and can't go in with-BOHANNAN out a mask. We go to church and are asked to socially distance. No hugging, no up close communicating, no handshaking, no patting on the back with atta ways. It's really sad if you think about it.

So some creative ways to communicate are telephoning with facetime, e-mailing, snail mail cards sent, yelling at each other across the neighbor's fence, or sending a flower or balloon to the sick.

I'm so glad I can receive answers from my Heavenly Father without having to yell at Him. In the first place He wouldn't appreciate that. But I can communicate with Him without Him putting me on hold, or telling me to call back later, or sending me a message in the snail mail. His message to me is in His Bible. He communicates with me every time I

Many times during the day, He has to tell me to "Hold up a minute" so He can talk to me. His impressions on my heart are priceless. I can't wait to get to Heaven to see my Saviour and it won't be in face time either. Then I will see Jesus face to face.

Early morning with the Lord

Jesus said to them, "Come and eat breakfast"...John 21:12

JUST BEFORE JESUS ascended to heaven, He met for the last time with His disciples by the sea of Tiberias. Peter, Thomas, Nathanael, James and John had gone fishing by night and had caught nothing. When the boat returned to shore they saw Jesus standing silhouetted against the morning sun. Gently He asked them, "Children, have you any food?" They answered, "No." He said, "Cast your nets in the right side of the boat, and you will find some." So they cast, and now they were not able to draw it in because of the multitude of fish." Startled by this miracle, John shouted with conviction, "It is the Lord!" Peter, too, was so excited that he jumped into the sea and swam to sore. The other disciples came in the little boat, dragging the net with fish. As soon as they had all landed, they were amazed to see a fire built on the shore, the coals sparkling in the morning light. They looked closer and saw there were fish already cooking on the coals, and bread laid out nearby.

"Bring some of the fish you have just caught, "Jesus urged them, "Come and eat breakfast."He then walked towards them, offering some of the fish and bread They sat down together on the sand, and companionably they ate their breakfast.

Following the meal, Jesus engaged Peter in a discussion about love.

Three times He asked Peter, "Do you love me?" and Peter replied, "Yes Lord, You know that I love you." Jesus then told him,

"Feed My lambs.' What an hour it would be to have breakfast with Jesus in the morning. In a sense, Jesus is the honored guest at our breakfast when he is invited.

companionably, "Do you love Me?" Love, my friends, brothers and sisters, is demonstrated by action. We can manifest the agape love Christ demands by feeding lambs which He has placed in our care day by day. When Jesus asks, "Children, do you have any food?" Let our answer be, "Yes, Lord. Plenty of food. For we shall feed on Your word today. It will be the sweetest food this side of heaven. It will be "manna in the morning."

So Have a good day.

Do We Look For Another?

And John calling unto him two of his disciples sent them to Jesus, saying, Art thou he that should come? or look we for another? Luke 7:19

John the Baptist was that bold, Old Testament prophet which pointed to Jesus and said – behold the Lamb of God which taketh away the sin of the world. In turn, Jesus said that among them that are born of women there had not risen a greater than John the Baptist. However, when John was in prison, awaiting execution, he began to doubt Jesus' authenticity. In the desperation of his own doubt, John sent two of his disciples to ask Jesus whether or not He was the real deal. John was afraid that he might have got it all wrong when he boldly proclaimed that Jesus is the Lamb of God. John was about to be beheaded for preaching and he wanted to make sure that his faith in Christ was not misplaced.

Jesus' answer to John was not a how-dare-you-doubt-my-authenticity answer. Jesus was tender and loving in His response to John's crisis of faith. Jesus told John's disciples to go and tell him about the things they had seen and heard; how that the blind see, the lame walk, the lepers are cleansed, the deaf hear, and the dead are raised. But perhaps the greatest answer and evidence Jesus gave of His own authenticity was the fact that He preached the gospel to the poor.

In my own crises of faith, I need to hear that the gospel is preached to the poor. When the pain of unbelief grips my weak and vulnerable mind, there is but one thing which sets this poor captive heart free – where my own sin abounds, God's grace does much more abound. Today, I cannot see how Jesus caused the blind to see, made the lame to walk, cleansed the lepers, gave hearing to the deaf or raised the dead. But I can hear the Holy Spirit's still small voice as He reminds me of Jesus' words on the cross when He said...it is finished. And I am reassured that I need not look for another Jesus because He is the promised One who should come.

Something to think about...

the many reasons I don't have plans to move to California anytime soon.

Even though I have never been through an actual earthquake, I know what it is like when my world is shaken. I know what it feels like when everything seems to be falling down around me. I imagine that has been the experience of many this year. 2020 has rocked our world. It is in moments like this that we realize that so many things in our lives aren't stable. We cannot hold onto them, much less build our life around them. There is only one solid foundation to build our life on, as the Psalmist writes: As for God, His way is perfect; the word of the Lord is flawless. He is a shield for all who take refuge in Him. For who is God besides the Lord? And who is the Rock except our God? ~ Psalm 18:30-31

And one of my favorite Psalms proclaims:

God is our refuge and strength, an ever-present help in trouble.

Therefore we will not fear, though the earth give way and the mountains fall into the heart of the sea, though its waters roar and foam and the mountains quake with their surging. He says, "Be still, and know that I am God; I will be exalted among the nations, I will be exalted in the earth."

The Lord Almighty is with us; the God of Jacob is our fortress. ~ Psalm 46:1-3 & 10-11

God is God and we are not. Regardless of what happens this November or even next year, His Kingdom will never be shaken. As we allow the Lord to consume our lives, He refines us through the Spirit and the Word and removes those things in us that can be easily shaken. I'm convinced if we take time each day to be still and know that He is God we will find a solid footing to stand on in a world filled with shaking land and sinking sand. This week may we walk in the confidence that we are receiving a Kingdom that can never be shaken!

Big Spring Freshmen defeat Abilene Cooper, Steers JV loses to Fort Stockton

By SHAWN MORAN

Herald Sports Writer

The Big Spring 9th Grade Team hosted the Abilene-Cooper Cougars on Thursday night and the Steers defense came to play. The Steers shut the Cougars out 14-0 as they were able to stifle both the run and pass game for all four quarters. On offense, running back Abram Jackson was once again a force on the ground and racked up over 100 yards. Quarterback Gavin Padron was also able to complete some nice, long passes to his receivers throughout the night and Big Spring's overall record moved to 5-2 on the season.

GAME RECAP

Abilene-Cooper received the opening kickoff of the game and started with the ball at their own 35-vard line. Their drive started out with an instant five-yard penalty before they were able to get their offense started. Following a loss of one yard on their first rushing play, the Cougars broke off two straight 14-yard gains to put themselves into Steer territory.

Then, defensive tackle Jayden Overton broke through the offensive line to take down their running back for a four-yard loss. Abilene-Cooper's drive then stalled out and they turned it over on downs three plays later.

Big Spring then got their first crack at the ball at their own 36-yard line with just over five minutes to play in the first quarter. Tyree Brawley kicked things off for the Steers with a four-yard rush. Following a Gavin Padron incompletion on his first passing attempt, running back Abram Jackson gained 16 yards on back-to-back runs. This gave the Steers the ball at midfield and they attempted to throw to the intermediate level when Padron was picked off and the Cougars returned it all the way back to Big Spring's 30.

The Steers defense then showed their teeth as they were able to end that Cougar drive with another turnover on downs. First, linebacker Jimmy Johnson took down the Cougar ballcarrier hard on two straight plays. However, a Big Spring offsides penalty gave the Cougars a first down. Later in the drive, Overton came up with a big tackle behind the line of scrimmage for that ended up being a seven-yard loss. This gave the Cougars a third-andlong, and they threw two straight incompletions to turn the ball over.

Big Spring's next offensive drive did not end much better than the first, when wide receiver Donavyn Hillario fumbled it right after the Steers had moved into enemy territory.

The Cougars' next drive did not end much better for them either. After gains of 13 and 14 yards early in the drive, Big Spring linebacker Jeremiah Presas came up with a tackle for a loss of five yards that put the opposition in a tough third down situation Abilene-Cooper was able to convert with another 14 yard gain and had the ball at Big Spring's 28-yard line. Then, Corbin Cate came up with a sack that killed any chance the Cougars had of scoring.

Jacob Guzman returns a kick on Thursday. knocked the Cougars back 12 yards and effectively

Big Spring then took over with only 34 seconds remaining in the first half of a scoreless ballgame. Following an intentional grounding on first down that set the Steers back 10 yards, Jackson took the handoff and bursted through the line off right tackle and sped 82 yards into the end zone for a Steer touchdown. Padron completed a pass to Brawley in the back of the end zone for the two-point conversion and the Steers had an 8-0 lead with 11 seconds left that they took into halftime. Big Spring then received the opening kickoff of

The Steers were steadily moving the ball down the field with a balanced attack of passing and rushing plays that set themselves up at the Cougars' 46-yard line. Then, Jackson took the handoff and headed left where he broke through once again and ended up taking it all the way to the house. This time, the two-point conversion was no good and the Steers' lead was 14-0 with 5:06 remaining in the third quar-

That proved to be the final score of the game as the Steers defense continued to dominate in the second half and ended with their second shutout of the season. In the second half, Jesse Cantu grabbed an interception, Hillario came up with one of his own on a perfectly-timed play, Johnson and Presas continued to terrorize the backfield, and Padron was able to complete some long passes on the last drive to run out the clock.

FINAL: Big Spring 14, Abilene-Cooper 0

JV vs. Fort Stockton

The Big Spring JV took the field at home on Thursday night against the Fort Stockton Panthers. The Steers' once again were on the losing end (36-20) but put up a strong fight in this contest.

Big Spring received the opening kickoff and looked to be in good position to score after starting their first drive at the Panthers' 46-yard line. After a few solid plays that included an 11-yard completion from quarterback Jeremy Perez to running back Phillip Martinez, Perez was sacked for a loss of eight yards and the Steers punted the ball away. However, the punt actually went straight up into the air and moved backwards for Fort Stockton then took over on their own 48 still early in the first quarter. Following a long drive that took them all the way down inside the Big Spring 10-yard line, they were stopped on fourth down and turned the ball over to the Steers.

After a four-and-out on the ensuing drive by Big Spring, the Panthers scored from 24 yards out to take a 6-0 lead early in the second quarter.

Big Spring then fumbled the kickoff and Fort Stockton was able to start deep inside Steer territory. A few plays later, the Panthers found the end zone again with a 10-yard touchdown run. They converted the two-point conversion and their lead was 14-0 heading into the halftime break.

Fort Stockton came out of the break and drove straight down the field in less than a minute on a drive that was capped off by a 43-yard touchdown run. The Panthers converted the two-point conversion and extended their lead to 22-0 early in the third quarter.

Phillip Martinez had some nice runs for the Steers on the next drive before Perez threw a pass straight up that was intercepted at the goal line.

Conner Crisp was able to recover a fumble for the Steers on the next Fort Stockton drive, but Perez once again threw an ill-advised pass that was intercepted. The Panthers then scored a few plays later on a 28-yard run that put them ahead 28-0 heading into the fourth.

Big Spring was then able to get on the board after putting together a nice offensive drive that ended with running back Phillip Martinez taking a carry and sprinting 15 yards into the end zone. The twopoint conversion was unsuccessful and the Steers trailed 28-6 with 7:23 remaining in the game.

Following a fumble recovery, Leroy Johnson ran it in for a 34-yard score that trimmed the lead to 28-14 with just over six minutes left in the game.

Fort Stockton answered right back by returning the next kickoff for a touchdown. They now lead 36-14 with just under six minutes left.

Big Spring was not done putting points on the board as Martinez weaved his way through the Panther defense from 37 yards out for another score. This made the score 36-20 with 2:10 remaining.

Fort Stockton then ran out the clock for the win.

Teaching Gratitude to Tots

Dear Annie: Many

of the letters to you complain of ungrateful children and adults who don't send thank-you's, don't call, or who are otherwise ungrateful. Too often, children (aka future adults) are taught to be takers, not givers, so they don't build habits of giving, giving back, or sending replies. Let's change that. Starting early, let's teach children to feel joy as givers themselves. Teach youngsters to pack up a few of their too-small, but clean clothes, outgrown or neglected toys, already-completed puzzles, etc., and let them hand them go with you to drop them off at a local donation center or shelter in need. Designate a box for donations to always have somewhere in your house. When they receive a gift, help them write a thank you, help a tot to include inside a thank you a smiling face picture they have drawn.

With grown kids, children or grandchildren, especially if they never or seldom reply, or if they just have a surfeit of "things," tell them you have sent a check to a charity in their name. They may then think to do the same. Take this as a lifetime project, and don't limit your own giving to family, etc., but reach out to the world, after a flood or fire or refugee situation. Include something in your seasonal letter about your joy in giving to some worthwhile organization (but check with Charity Navigator for the reliability of the charity, especially with money gifts).

There are a great many needs near home or across the world. Let you be a giver! And encourage children, and others in your family and beyond, to do the same. -- Dick Nelson, Retired Counselor Educator

Dear Dick: Fantastic advice that, if followed on a mass scale, would help create a more generous world. Thanks for writing.

Dear Annie: I'm

sure your inbox gets flooded this time of year about problem relatives and holiday dinners. My 35-year-old nephew, "Nick," has been separated from his wife, "Nora," for the past three years. They have five children under the age of 7. Nick, Nora and the kids all come to Thanksgiving dinner, and the children act like wild banshees the whole time. Nick and Nora sit at separate tables and ignore one another and their children. I don't think they have ever said "no" to these children. Nick just sits at the table, staring, like a deer caught in the headlights.

Other members of the family bring their young children, and those children are well-behaved.

I've never had children or been around them so I'm already starting at an uncomfortable place. I need a tranquilizer after Thanksgiving dinner. It's my youngest brother and his wife, "Rose," who host the dinner, as they are the only ones with a big enough house. I confided in my Rose that it would be a much more peaceful celebration if they didn't invite Nick, Nora and their kids this year. Rose agreed but said that wasn't being a good Christian to not invite them. I told her that when Jesus said to turn the other cheek, he didn't say, "Let the person slap the heck out of you." Rose said, "What if Nora invites herself?" I answered it was all about what she wanted, and I wouldn't say anything else about it. What do you think? -- Fed Up with Thanksgiving Madness

Dear Fed Up:

Rose's house, Rose's guest list. I suggest you take up meditation or another calming practice between now and then and engage in said calming activity before heading to her house on Thanksgiving If and when the noise gets to be too much, take your leave, and be grateful you only have to be in the middle of the hullabaloo for a few hours every year versus 24 hours a day.

1.One spade. This follows the general rule that you bid your longer suit first. You should not abandon the rule simply because the hearts are of much better quality than the spades. The length of the two suits is the determining factor. Hearts can be mentioned next if the opportunity arises.

It would be wrong to open one notrump, even though you have 16 high-card points and no void or singleton. The two doubletons, as well as the potential for a major suit game, militate strongly against opening one

2. One club. Here also, the longer suit is bid first. Opening one club makes it possible to bid spades economically at your next turn and then again at your third turn, identifying your five-eard spade suit and, by inference, your equally long or longer club suit. This should help partner steer your side to the best con-

3. One heart. An exception is made here by opening one heart even though the diamonds are longer. The chief reason for this is that when you're dealing with 6-5 distribution in the minimum range, and the two suits are touching one another, it is better to start with the higher-ranking suit even though it might be the shorter one. This enables you to bid the lower-ranking suit on the next round, thereby keeping the bidding tricks, there is simply no adequate opening bid available. To open one spade and be faced with finding a proper rebid if partner responds two clubs or two diamonds is asking for trouble; it would be impossible to make a rebid that would show your values and distribution correctly. Alternatively, to open one club with the 7-6-2 would be too great a distortion of your actual holding. A pass is therefore the best course of action.

4. Pass. Despite your three quick

5. One diamond. Hands containing 14 high-card points are compulsory opening bids. This principle overrides one's natural reluctance to open the bidding with a suit headed by the eight, but there is no other possible bid available. The only alternative — one notrump — would promise a higher point count.

ARIES (March 21-April 19). Whatever the issue, at its very root, it's as old as a people is. What's been written about it? Look it up and you'll find that the problem has been as well-addressed in the last decade as it was in the last millennium.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20). You feel like you're just making up reasons to celebrate, and maybe you are, but if you don't do this, when exactly will celebrations occur? Not nearly often enough.

GEMINI (May 21-June 21). Fear is not the enemy; it's just a message that goes off when triggered, like a car alarm. Also like a car alarm, it often goes off for reasons other than it was designed CANCER (June 22-July 22). Your body has a deep, ancient and intuitive intelligence, which is separate from your mind. Your health gets better when you think less, listen to your body and give it what it needs.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22). The key to amassing friends who truly enrich your life is to be excellent at spotting the stranger or acquaintance who has great potential. First impressions are key. You can trust today's perceptions.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22). The way to win the competition will be to not compete. If you sense someone is trying to outdo you, give them the props they are looking for, and then take yourself out of the game.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 21). They warn against burning bridges. What about just disappointing the bridge a little? It may be impossible not to. It's inevitable that a bridge will get a bit worn out by the crossing, and that's the nature of the journey.

WEEKEND LOVE FORECAST:

ARIES: Once you say yes to someone, it becomes very hard to say no the next time. Keep saying "maybe" until you're sure you can put yes on repeat. TAU-RUS: The starry-eyed phase is as special as it is brief, so savor it! GEMINI: You'll appreciate the one who lets you change your mind without making a big deal out of it. CANCER: Words mean different things to different people. Tread softly, especially with fire signs (Aries, Leo and Sagittarius). LEO: Your process for sorting your thoughts and feelings about a relationship is a private matter, and you'll only share what you're thinking about when you're good and ready. VIRGO: You're entitled to do things that are off-brand for you, but you might want to test them out in a safe place first. LIBRA: Music adds so much to your experiences together. Make a new playlist. SCORPIO: A relationship doesn't have to be in an ideal place for you to celebrate it. There's lots of good here. SAGITTAR-IUS: There's someone who seems to, just by being there, help you think with focus and clarity. CAPRICORN: Don't be afraid of conflict. The relationship atrophies if there's no work to be done. AQUARIUS: A clash of wills doesn't show whose is stronger; it only shows which of you is more stubborn. PISCES: You'll see how you've corrected the mistakes you made in your last relationship and get the benefit of

COUPLE OF THE WEEKEND: Known for popularity and for possessing great social ease in groups, Aquarius can keep things light and friendly like the best of 'em but sometimes has trouble changing gears into romance mode. This Date In History

Today in History Today is Friday, Oct. 23, the 297th day of 2020. There are 69 days left in the year.

Today's Highlight in History: On Oct. 23, 1983, 241 U.S. service members, most of them Marines, were killed in a suicide truck-bombing at Beirut International Airport in Lebanon; a near-simultaneous attack on French forces killed 58 paratroopers.

On this date:

In 1864, forces led by Union Maj. Gen. Samuel R. Curtis repelled Confederate Maj. Gen. Sterling Price's army in the Civil War Battle of Westport in Missouri. In 1910, Blanche S. Scott became the first woman to make a public solo airplane flight, reaching an altitude of 12 feet at a park in Fort Wayne, Ind. In 1915, tens of thousands of women paraded up Fifth Avenue in New York City, demanding the right to vote. In 1941, the Walt Disney animated feature "Dumbo," about a young circus elephant who learns how to fly, premiered in New York. In 1944, the World War II

Battle of Leyte (LAY'-tee) Gulf began, resulting in a major Allied victory against Japanese In 1956, a student-sparked revolt against Hungary's Communist rule began; as the revolution spread, Soviet forces started entering the country, and the uprising was put down within weeks. In 1973, President Richard Nixon agreed to turn over White House tape recordings subpoenaed by the Watergate special prosecutor to Judge John J. Sirica.

In 1987, the U.S. Senate rejected, 58-42, the Supreme Court nomination of Robert H. Bork.

In 1995, a jury in Houston convicted Yolanda Saldivar of murdering Tejano singing star Selena. (Saldivar is serving a life prison sentence.)

In 2001, the nation's anthrax scare hit the White House with the discovery of a small concentration of spores at an offsite mail processing center. In 2009, President Barack Obama declared the swine flu outbreak a national emergency, giving his health chief the power to let hospitals move emergency rooms offsite to speed treatment and protect non-infected patients. In 2014, officials announced that an emergency room doctor who'd recently returned to New York City after treating Ebola patients in West Africa tested positive for the virus, becoming the first case in the city and the fourth in the nation. (Dr. Craig Spencer later recovered.)

Ten years ago: The world's leading advanced and emerging countries vowed during a meeting in Gyeongju, South Korea, to avoid potentially debilitating currency devaluations, aiming to quell trade tensions that could threaten the global recovery. San Francisco's Juan Uribe hit a tiebreaking homer off Ryan Madson with two outs in the eighth inning and the Giants held off Philadelphia 3-2 to win the NL pennant in six

Five years ago: Hurricane Patricia roared ashore in a sparsely populated area of southwestern Mexico as a Category 5 storm, then quickly abated to a tropical storm. A bus carrying retirees on a day trip through southwest France's wine region hit a truck and went up in flames, killing 43 people. The Justice Department announced that neither Lois Lerner nor any other IRS official would face criminal charges in the political controversy over the processing of applications for tax-exempt status. The Kansas City Royals beat the Toronto Blue Jays 4-3 in Game 6 of the AL championship, earning their second straight trip to the World Series.

One year ago: Republicans briefly brought the Democratic-led impeachment investigation to a halt when around two dozen GOP House members stormed into a closed-door deposition with a Defense Department official. Two business associates of Rudy Giuliani -- Lev Parnas and Igor Fruman -- pleaded not guilty in a campaign finance case; prosecutors said they had wanted to use illegal contributions to lobby U.S. politicians to oust the country's ambas-sador to Ukraine. The bodies of 39 Vietnamese migrants were found inside a refrigerated container that had been hauled by truck to England on a ferry from Belgium. (The truck driver later pleaded guilty to manslaughter.) Today's Birthdays: Movie director Philip Kaufman is 84.

Cowboys Corner: The latest news from America's Team

Herald Sports Writer

Zeke's Fumbling Troubles Continue

All-Pro running back Ezekiel Elliott has now lost four fumbles in six games. That is a troubling number for an offense that is looking to find a new identity under backup quarterback Andy Dalton. The Cowboys are having a disappointing season so far and Elliott's turnovers are a contributing factor to the 2-4 start to the season.

"I just think I need to not put myself in vulnerable situations. I've just got to lock in and focus,' Elliott told ESPN Cowboys reporter Todd Archer. "I don't think there's a specific answer. All I can do is give myself, watch as much film as I can, gather as much information as I can and try to use that to help me. But I don't think there's an exact answer on how to fix these fumble problems I've has this

According to ESPN Stats & Information research. Elliott has more fumbles lost in 133 carries than all nine of the NFL's other top 10 rushers combined in 1,104 touches (three).

Sean Lee continuing to work his way back

Following the return of linebacker Leighton Vander Esch on Monday night, the focus now switches to another Dallas linebacker looking to work his way back onto the field following an injury. Sean Lee had core muscle surgery back in September and is still not sure when he will be able to return to the field. However, he was planning on doing some on-field work this week at practice.

"The hope is that once I start practicing I can feel great, I can get into game shape and then help any way that I can," Lee told Archer earlier this week. "I didn't have a camp. I didn't have any of that. So I've been waiting to put the helmet on, put the pads on in practice. So hopefully sooner than later but I've got to go through the process still."

Lee played in all 16 games last season for the first time in his 11-year career. Since missing the entire 2014 season with a torn ACL, Lee has missed a total of 23 games. Injuries have plagued the longtime Cowboy and Penn State product his entire career. The hope is he will be back on the field again soon.

Stephen Jones believes in McCarthy The Cowboys are off to their worst start since 2015, but that does not mean that executive vice president Stephen Jones is wavering in his support for his first-year head coach Mike McCarthy.

"I just think at this point there's so much football. You got 10 games left to be played. Certainly, we've got a new coaching staff and I believe as we move forward we're going to get better. Things are going to - we're going to change the narrative on this. I think Mike McCarthy, as I said, you just go back and look at his track record and you'll see that he's been in some tough situations. He's won the Super Bowl from a wild-card position. Have all the confidence in the world in him and his staff that we're going to continue to improve as a football team and go to work every day and improve," Jones said on Dallas' 105.3 The Fan.

The last time Dallas began a season 2-4 was back in 2015. They ended up finishing that year 4-12.

Randy Gregory removed from Exempt List

Defensive end Randy Gregory has been officially removed from the Commissioner's Exempt List after being conditionally reinstated back in September. He had been serving a suspension for violating the league's substance abuse policy and will now be eligible to play in Sunday's game against the Washington Football Team.

Dallas selected Gregory 60th overall in the 2015 NFL Draft. Since that day, he has only appeared in 28 games for the Cowboys and has not played since Jan. 12, 2019. The return will be welcomed by the Cowboys, who are currently allowing 410 yards and 36.3 points per game. Gregory has seven sacks in his career.

SEC standouts who returned for more finding success so far

Even Georgia's NFL-ready secondary looked ill-equipped trying to cover It showed what many already knew: Smith could have turned pro in January, joining fellow SEC receivers Henry Ruggs, Jerry Jeudy and Justin Jefferson in leaving early, and would be doing just fine at the next level. But Smith chose to stay in school after the Tide failed to reach the College Football Playoff for the first time in his three seasons and then shunned thoughts about opting out amid the coronavirus pandemic. He's not alone, either. Other SEC players also delayed NFL riches and essentially gambled on themselves. There's no senioritis here. Most of them have enjoyed early season success, just not as much as Smith has in Tuscaloosa: Feleipe Franks, Arkansas. Working out for NFL teams wasn't a viable option for the strong-armed quarterback after he broke his right ankle in September 2019. But there were reports he might go play baseball after leaving Florida. He stuck to football, transferred to Arkansas and has been instrumental in the team's 2-2 start. His eight touchdown passes are already more than any Arkansas QB threw last year. Najee Harris, Alabama. The running back already has 11 touchdowns.

The 6-foot-2, 230-pound senior ran for 206 yards and five scores at Mississippi. He followed that with 152 yards and a touchdown on 31 carries against Georgia. The Bulldogs hadn't allowed a rushing score and entered the game allowing a nation-leading 38.3 yards a game on the ground. "All of us are creating more value for ourselves by winning each game because when you win a game it brings a lot of national notoriety -- all the players, not just one particular player," Harris said after his five-TD day. — Alex Leatherwood, Alabama. The 6-foot-6, 312-pound left tackle has start-last two seasons. In 2019, the Bulldogs had 15 turnovers and he was part of seven of them. He leads them with three picks this season and is one of the bes free safeties in college football.

Kellen Mond, Texas A&M. A rare, four-year starting quarterback in the SEC, Mond has become the program's all-time passing leader while guiding the seventh-ranked Aggies to a 3-1 start. He has a career-best 144.9 passer rating in his third season with coach Jimbo Fisher. He's also doing it without top receiver Jhamon Ausbon, who opted out to prepare for the draft.

Dylan Moses, Alabama. Even though the speedy linebacker missed last season with a knee injury, he still probably would have been a first-round pick had he turned pro. He came back and is now the Tide's unquestioned defensive leader. He has a team-best 37 tackles, including 4 $\frac{1}{2}$ for loss.

"I thought he played extremely well in this last game," coach Nick Saban said. "He showed great leadership, really helped the other players play well. I think it was by far his best game in terms of execution, doing what he was

Monty Rice, Georgia. Hoping to boost his draft stock, the linebacker came back and is on pace to make himself more money. He leads the Bulldogs with 24 tackles, including two for losses. He forced and recovered a fumble and then returned it 20 yards for a touchdown in a victory over then-No. 14 Tennessee earlier this month. Jacoby Stevens, LSU. The safety was the lone wolf who stuck around for league's worst defenses. He has 22 tackles, two sacks, including a forced fumble, and two fumble recoveries. Kadarius Toney, Florida. The speedy and shifty receiver looks like a polished route-runner for the first time in four years. He has 18 catches for 237 the defending national champions. He's also been a bright spot on one of the yards and four touchdowns in three games — already closing in on career highs despite being a second option behind star tight end Kyle Pitts. "It's one thing to be this utility athlete, a get-it-to guy, but when you can become disciplined and a great technician at your position, that takes you to a whole other level," Florida coach Dan Mullen said. Marco Wilson, Florida. A three-year starter opposite first-round pick CJ Henderson, Wilson got a chance to garner more of the spotlight and raise his draft stock by returning. It backfired. He's been arguably the biggest disappointment on the team's dismal defense. He was beaten for a game-tying, 51yard touchdown pass in a loss at Texas A&M.

Pandemic World Series draws smallest crowd in over century

ARLINGTON, Texas (AP) — Julie and Lance health restrictions. Smith walked through the mostly empty concourse of Globe Life Field.

Tampa Bay infielder Joey Wendle is married to one of their cousins, and they weren't going to miss his World Series debut.

"It's so weird," said Julie Smith, 38, from Gadsden, Alabama.

"It's kind of nice in a way, too," Lance, 39, said before they headed to their seats in the first deck behind home plate.

They wore masks, but many fans ignored the requirement for facial coverings except while eating or drinking at their ticketed seats. A crowd of 11,388 attended the Los Angeles Dodgers' 8-3 win over the Tampa Bay Rays in Tuesday night's World Series opener, spread in groups of up to four, mostly in alternate rows and none directly behind each other among the forest green seats. That was the smallest Series crowd since 10,535 attended Game 6 in 1909 between the Tigers and Pittsburgh at Detroit's Bennett Park, according to the Elias Sports Bureau. Major League Baseball planned to make about 28% available of the 40,518 capacity at the retractable-roof stadium of the Texas Rangers. The new $1.2 billion venue opened this year and replaced Globe Life Park, the team's open-air home from 1994 through 2019. During batting practice, through the new stadium's glass walls, the sun glistened off the red brick of the old stadium across the street beyond left field, a field now used for high school football. Behind home plate, the Dallas Cowboys' AT&T

Stadium gleamed like a spaceship. World Series games are usually festive, packed early with fans celebrating the dual accomplishments of their team making it to baseball's ultimate stage and of their snagging hard-to-find tickets, usually displayed in plastic hanging from lanyard draped around their necks.

But this World Series had a surreal, at times somber feel caused by the novel coronavirus pandemic. The small crowd was supplemented with fan audio from stadium speakers. No fans were allowed into any of the 898 regular-season games this season, which were played in mostly empty ballparks due to governmental corner, about 18 Dodg-

Players' families were allowed starting for the 18 first-round playoff games, the 15 Division Series games and the AL Championship Series between Tampa Bay and Houston in San Diego, with fans added for the Dodgers' matchup against Atlanta in the NL Championship Series in Arlington, an average of 10,835 for the seven games. Roughly the same amount of tickets were sold for each World Series Behind third base, a group of fans in Dodgers gear watched after flying in. Brian Casey, a 29-year-old from Glendale, California, booked a plane ticket ahead of Sunday night's win over the Braves, knowing he had 24 hours to cancel without penalty, then made a decision after the Dodgers rallied for a 4-3 win. He was at Dodger Stadium when they played Boston in 2018 and watched Tuesday with Ryan Radenbaugh, 37, from "We just went to buy souvenirs and it was all Rangers stuff," Radenbaugh said. Noah Garden, MLB's chief revenue officer, said the pandemic made it difficult to get gear shipped in the short time after teams won pennants last MLB made the decision to play with the roof open. It was closed until the Dodgers started to warm up about $3\,1/2$ hours ahead of first pitch, then slid open as the public address system played Strauss'

"Also Sprach Zarasuthra," known to many as the opening music from Stanley Kubrick's "2001: A Space Odyssey." The usual pregame introductions of teams were dispensed with. When the a cappella group Pentatonix sang a 🧃 recorded version of "The Star-Spangled Banner" played on the 58x150foot video board in right field and the 40-x111-foot board in the left-field

ers were in front of the first base dugout and on the right field line, and roughly a dozen Rays were by the third base dugout and on the left-field line. A live flyover of four jets followed, and ceremonial first pitches were thrown by medical personnel who assisted during the pandemic: Brittney Burns, a nurse practitioner from San Antonio; Erika Combs, an oncology and kidney transplant nurse at a Dallas hospital; and Jamie Edens and Ryan Ward, nurses from Tulsa, Oklahoma, who are a married couple.

Texas Gov. Greg Abbott, who was on hand, yelled "Play Ball!" into a microphone and retired Dodgers announcer Vin Scully delivered by video recording: "It's time for Dodger baseball!" just before Clayton Kershaw walked to the mound.
