34th annual Drive-thru Live Nativity sees record number of attendees

By AMANDA DUFORAT
 Managing Editor

The 34th annual Drive-thru Live Nativity has wrapped up for 2020 and the event was marked a success by Pastor Richard Schneberger and the NazFamily Church members. There were almost 2,000 people who drove through during the three-day event.

“We had better attendance this year than we have for several years,” Pastor Richard Schneberger said. “I think it was a reflection that people are looking for safe ways to celebrate the season with their family.”

This past year was a difficult year for many as chaos and significant crisis was seen throughout the year. With the event being a drive-thru there were

Howard College approves boiler purchase in special meeting

By AMANDA DUFORAT
 Managing Editor

A special meeting of the Howard College Board of Trustees was called this past Monday in an effort to get the replacement of failing and already failed boilers hopefully completed during the Christmas/holiday break.

Since September the College has lost four of the six boilers, with the most recent going down last Monday. Requests for bids had been sought over the last few weeks and accelerated when the fourth boiler went down. According to Dr. Cheryl Sparks during the special called meeting, in order for the campus to be fully functional with heat, it requires three boilers and the second three provide rotation of heat as

Tips to enjoying a safe holiday season

By AMANDA DUFORAT
 Managing Editor

Christmas time has arrived. As families wrap up last minute shopping and prepare to head out for family celebrations, the Big Spring Police Department offers a few safety tips for this holiday season.

While this year has looked a little different than previous holidays, and the CDC has recommended to limit gatherings there will still be those who travel or choose to gather.

“As we have mentioned before it’s important to pay attention to your surroundings,” Big Spring Police Chief Chad Williams said. “For those who are wrapping up their Christmas shopping, with the days being shorter and it getting darker earlier, if you will be out after it gets dark make sure and park in well lit areas.”

Holiday safety tips can extend into every day activities to help detour the possibility of criminal activity. When heading out in public, especially at the holiday season where there is an increase in foot traffic at malls and grocery stores, it is important to travel with someone.

“There is always strength in numbers. Shop and travel with other family members or friends, especially if it is at night or you are traveling to an area you are not familiar with,” Chief Williams said.

For those traveling – just as any other time of the year – do not post travel plans online. For those who will be out of town for the holidays, ask if a neighbor or trusted family member or friend will check your residence while you are out.

While out shopping make sure to keep items purchased out of site if at all possible. Leaving gifts purchased in open view or purses in seats to be seen by a passerby is a window of opportunity for theft.

When shopping items, once placed inside the vehicle, should be covered with a blanket or some type of cov-

 “We understand that there are those who may not have someone to check on their home while they are out of town, and we want to remind the community we do have a free house watch program in Big Spring,” he said. “To get set up simply call the police department, and not many changes that had to be made in order to keep the event safe as families drove through. However, there were some added precautions that NazFamily Church decided to implement in order to provide for a safer experience for those volunteering and those coming through the event. Social distancing was encouraged amongst volunteers as well as increased sanitizing in the spaces were volunteers congregated.

“As this year comes to a close we are thankful that we are able to once again share the hope of Christ with our community through our Live Nativity. We pray this event continues to point us all to the One we celebrate and reflects His light into this dark world,” he said. “People need to know now more than ever and we know our ultimate hope isn’t in a vaccine, though the eradication of deadly disease is certainly something to celebrate, our eternal hope is in Jesus. Apart from Him there is no lasting hope.”

As each year does, this year brought many memorable moments as the weekend concluded. As Schneberger worked the greeter booth, he was able to see the impact this story has on people as they came through. There were those who were moved to tears while others are joyfully celebrating. One of the main questions as people drove through was if the Jesus in the Ascension scene was a real person.

“Spoiler alert ... he is real,” he said. “He’s just gotten good at standing absolutely still. One of the most meaningful things this year was witnessing the generosity of this community.”

While the event is free for the community to enjoy, donations are accepted and according to Pastor Schneberger, this year the community was more generous than previous years. One of the most touching moments according to Pastor Schenberger was when a donation was received from a 5 year old.

According to the boy’s mother, he had emptied out his piggy bank before the family headed out to the Nativity because he wanted to give it all to Jesus. The volunteers were so moved by the gesture.

“We were so moved by his gesture. It meant more than all the other large bills that were dropped in the buckets,” he said.

Pastor Schneberger continued, “We are blessed to be able to continue this tradition. The people who came through were very grateful that we are keeping the tradition alive. Thank you to our community for supporting us and encouraging us. Your attendance year after year and your affirmation of this ministry truly means a lot to us.”

designed in the Central Plant constructed in the bond project. The most recent boiler loss put the campus at greater risk and in need to put action into motion to ensure students would have heat upon their arrival back to campus in January.

“The first three boiler issues were identified in a routine check during September in preparation for the winter season. One of which was operating at a dangerous level and the others showing concerns related to gas,” Dr. Sparks said. “The boilers were operating well last winter and showed no sign of needing to be addressed, however, over the past few months, they have been going down. Director of Facilities and Fleet Maintenance/HVAC Specialist, Shane Clark has been carefully watching the second two over the last few days as we determined a solution forward.”

The Board of Trustees came together Monday afternoon to hear the situation surrounding the immediate replacement of the boilers, considering one, three or six boilers. After hearing from Dr. Sparks and other involved college personnel about the current situation, the Board of Trustees opted to approve the purchase of six boilers utilizing existing unspent funds. The bid was awarded to Trane for a cost of $265,748, which includes warranty. Trane will be working with Bosworth to do the installation. The project work should be able to begin within a two week time frame, accounting for manufacturing, shipping, and holiday schedule.

Also included in the meeting Dr. Sparks delivered an update on a recent announcement and good news for the holiday season regarding nursing students.

Through the generosity of the G. C. Broughton, Jr. Foundation, 52 nursing students currently enrolled in the program received full coverage of tuition, fees and books. According to Dr. Sparks, the students in the LVN program will have their Spring semester paid for, graduating in May 2021; LVN to ADN/RN transition will have their tuition paid through October 2021 graduation; 2nd year RN students will be covered for the Spring, graduating in May 2021; and the 1st year ADN/RN students will have their Spring and Fall 2021/Spring 2022 tuition, fees and books for next year covered, graduating in May 2022.

a house watch will be set up.”

In addition to keeping your home safe while traveling, it is important to draw extra attention into your home by opening windows and making gifts around your tree viewable to those walking or driving by. During the holidays there tends to be an increase in items being taken from porches or outside the home.

“Do not have packages delivered to your residence if someone will not be there when they are delivered,” he said. “Have packages delivered to your work or to someone whom you trust who will be home at the delivery time to help avoid having packages stolen from your home before you are able to pick them up and take them inside.”

For those who will be attending holiday parties outside their home, Chief Williams reminds of the importance to find a designated driver if you will be having any alcoholic beverages.

“It’s always a good reminder to not drink and drive, especially with the holidays with increased traffic,” he said. “Set up a designated driver and as always, when out and about if you see something suspicious give us a call.”

He continued, “No matter what your activity – shopping, traveling, or enjoying time in your community – have patience during the busy holiday season.”

The Lady Hawks will look almost completely different from last season. One constant will be Tatym Barnes (left). Newcomers Claudia Hernandez (middle) and Sumaiyah Abdur-Rahim (right) will be new faces in the red and black this season.

By SHAWN MORAN
Herald Sports Writer

It is the beginning of a new era in Howard Lady Hawks basketball as new Head Coach John Ishee prepares to take over this season. While Ishee was not the one that recruited the players that comprise the current roster, he is the one that will be responsible for coaching them up and leading them on the court this season.

Howard has 13 players on its current roster and only two players returning from the 2019-2020 team - Tatym Barnes and Anais Bonnemaïson. Those two players account for two of the four sophomores that will suit up in the red and black this season. Eight of the nine freshmen on the squad are from high schools around Texas, from Houston to Amarillo. The only freshman to join the Lady Hawks from out of state is Charnay Robinson, who will be coming all the way from Detroit.

Following a 7-22 season last winter, this young, new-look Howard squad will be learning on the fly under a new coach in a shortened season. Luckily for Ishee, he will be able to rely on assistant coach Meesha Wade to help out the team in all different areas. The Lady Hawks will only play a total of 22 regular season games this year, so as long as they do not go winless, they will assure themselves a smaller amount of games lost than last season.

The team is very young and will continue to play in the vaunted NJCAA Region V. However, Ishee could install new life and energy into a program that needs it after a down past few years. Let us now take a look at the new and returning members of the Lady Hawks and what they might bring to the hardwood this season:

SUMAIYAH ABDUR-RAHIM

Abdur-Rahim is a transfer student-athlete from Weatherford College that plays the guard position. She averaged 6.9 points per game for the Lady Coyotes last season while also dishing out over two assists (2.1) per game. Her season-high in scoring was 21 points and she even notched an 18-point game against the Lady Hawks in the first game of the season last year. In all, she scored in double-digits eight times and should bring a nice scoring presence to Howard.

Barnes returns to the Lady Hawks after starting 24 games last season as the point guard. She averaged 10.5 points per game last season along with 3.3 rebounds per game and 1.0 assist per game. Barnes is a competitive two-way player that scores in bunches when she gets hot. She will just need to be more consistent this season.

ANAIS BONNEMAISON
Freshman - Agen, France

Bonnemaïson is the second and final returning Lady Hawks from last season. She averaged 5.5 points per game in 2019-20 but did grab 4.2 rebounds per game. She started 19 games last season and is a consistent scorer in the post. She should be given opportunities on the floor once again this season.

HILLARY BROUSSARD
Freshman - Houston, TX

Broussard is a 5-foot-7 guard/forward that played her high school ball at Summer Creek High School. She will add even more flexibility for Ishee and Wade with their lineups this upcoming season.

SHERIDAN GAMBLE
Freshman - Waco, TX

Gamble is a 5-foot-10 forward/center who played her high school basketball at University High School. As a senior, she averaged 14.1 points per game to go along with 6.2 rebounds per game. On defense, she grabbed 2.0 blocks per game and 1.8 steals per game. She will add much-needed size to the Lady Hawks frontcourt.

KIARA GREEN
Freshman - Amarillo, TX

Green is a 5-foot-5 guard that played high school basketball at Palo Duro High School. She is talented both shooting and facilitating for her teammates. Green should compete for playing time along with the other guards.

Hernandez is a transfer student-athlete who played her first year of collegiate basketball at Laramie County Community College (WY). She did not receive much playing time during her first season at the junior college level and averaged 3.2 points per game. The main factor that led to her transferring was her desire to earn more playing time. "She's a point guard with experience, so that already gives her an advantage. Plus she can shoot the three very well," Wade said.

ANGEL JONES
Freshman - Dallas, TX

Jones is a forward/center that played her senior year of high school basketball at Cedar Hill High School. The versatile 5-foot-11 baller has plenty of talent and size which should help her find herself in the rotation. "She'll fit in just fine. She's a bigger kid than what we had last season and will make our team more versatile," Wade said. Jones describes herself as a player that plays aggressive and fast-paced.

MIKAYLA MALIK
Freshman - Houston, TX

Malik was teammates with Broussard at Summer Creek High School. She is a 5-foot-11 forward that should play consistently for the Lady Hawks this season.

BREELEY OAKLEY
Freshman - Trophy Club, TX

Oakley is a 5-foot-9 shooting guard from Byron Nelson High School. She is a strong rebounder for her size and can score the ball as well. She played at the 6A level and should bring some great experience against top-level high school talent with her to help her adapt to the next level.

DANIELA PERDOMO
Freshman - Houston, TX

Perdomo played her high school basketball at Manvel High and will bring a mix of shooting and facilitating ability to the Lady Hawks. "Daniela is an inside-out player who can post-up smaller guards but can also shoot the three very well and has an amazing basketball IQ," Wade said.

CHARNAY ROBINSON
Freshman - Detroit, MI

While her hometown is Detroit, Robinson played her senior year of high school basketball at Cypress Ridge High School in Houston. Robinson is a point guard and will bring her talents west to lead the Howard Lady Hawks on the court at some points this season.

RAEGAN TRAVIS
Freshman - Allen, TX

Travis is a 5-foot-8 forward that played her high school basketball at state powerhouse Allen High School. She will be an integral part of the Lady Hawk rotation this season and will find consistent minutes on the floor because of her versatility.

The long wait is almost over and the Lady Hawks are a little less than a month, Ishee will make his debut as the new coach while a group of 11 players make their debut as Lady Hawks. As a group, they will turn the page and look ahead towards a new season.

Mavs look for deeper run in 2nd year with Doncic, Porzingis

By SCHUYLER DIXON
AP Sports Writer

Luka Doncic will have to wait for European sidekick Kristaps Porzingis to join him for their second season together after the pair led Dallas to the playoffs for the first time in four years.

The Mavericks emphasized defense and toughness in the offseason while trying to build their roster around the young stars who want to get the franchise out of the first round for the first time since its only championship a decade ago.

Josh Richardson and James Johnson came in trades, former Arizona defensive ace Josh Green in the first round of the draft and two-time NCAA champion Jalen Brunson and versatile forward Dwight Powell are back from injuries.

"We've got to be very competitive," said coach Rick Carlisle, getting ready for his 13th season in Dallas. "We've got to be tough-minded and unselfish."

of Federal and Private Lands Plains Area Office Agricultural Research Center

The U.S. Department of Agriculture, Agriculture Research Service, Plains Area Office has prepared an Environmental Assessment (EA) to analyze the potential impacts associated with the proposed land exchange of ARS land in Big Spring, Howard County, TX with privately-owned land in Hale County, near Abernathy, TX. This notice announces the availability of the EA for public review and comment. The EA was prepared in accordance with the National Environmental Policy Act of 1969, 40 CFR Parts 1500-1508, and evaluates the potential impacts of the Proposed Action and No Action alternatives. Under the Proposed Action Alternative, the ARS land in Big Spring, TX would be exchanged for privately-owned land near Abernathy, TX to provide land suitable for farm cultivation research, allowing the ARS Cropping Systems Research Laboratory to meet their current research needs and mission priorities. The Big Spring site would be acquired by a third-party oil and gas company that would construct and install a wellsite and associated flow pipelines.

This EA will be open for public review for 30 days, from December 18 through January 16. An electronic copy of the EA and Finding of No Significant Impact (FONSI) is available on the ARS 's website at <https://www.ars.usda.gov/plains-area/lubbock-tx/cropping-systems-research-laboratory/docs/lubbock-land-swap/>. double showed diamond length and strength and encouraged West to bid five diamonds over South's Blackwood bid. East's pass of six hearts is totally incomprehensible; he should have bid either six spades to reveal the two-suited nature of his hand, or else seven diamonds.

Declarer had no difficulty making six hearts, losing only a spade trick to score 1,430 points.

At the second table, where North-South's teammates held the East-West cards, the bidding followed a completely different path:

South	West	North	East
1♥	Pass	4♦	2♣
Pass	3♦	4♥	4♣
Pass	5♦	Pass	Pass

This time, it was the East-West pair who bid and made a slam, which was doubled by South. Here declarer also had no difficulty making the contract, so East-West scored 1,540 points to yield a total gain for his team of 2,970 points!

The general rule in competitive auctions at high levels — where it's clear both sides are bidding on distribution rather than high-card values — is to bid when in doubt. That's what East should have done at the first table, and what either North or South should have done at the second.

One might think that in duplicate bridge, where the contestants play exactly the same hands, the results would be the same at most tables. While this may be true when the distribution is relatively flat, almost anything can happen when the distribution is freakish. Consider this deal from the final round of a major team championship.

At the first table, the bidding went as shown. North's four-diamond bid was a "splinter," indicating heart support and game-going values, plus a singleton or void in diamonds. East's

COSMIC HOLIDAY REPORT:

The trine of Mercury, the minister of communication, and Uranus, master of whims and unexpected occurrences, suggests holiday surprises. If the bull moon has anything to do with it, these delights may be gastronomical in nature, as Taurus rules appetite. It should be noted that, when faced with the temptation of a once-a-year variety of treats, it can be hard, or even futile, to resist. It may cut down on a lot of unnecessary internal conflict to follow the Oscar Wilde adage "The only way to get rid of a temptation is to yield to it. Resist it, and your soul grows sick with longing for the things it has forbidden to itself..."

Of course, physical appetite isn't the only sort ruled by this moon. Essentially, anything craved by stomach, body, intellect, heart or soul falls into the category. As we get busy with life's demands, we often do not realize what we want until the "hunger" signals become uncomfortable. But there really isn't a good reason to wait until a longing becomes painful. The earlier you heed the call coming from inside, the more time you'll have to develop and enjoy those things that most speak to your soul.

Mercury Assists Harmonious Sharing

ARIES (March 21-April 19). Feelings have a way of overflowing and spilling all over the place. In the case of joy, appreciation, love and comfort, the mess is such a pleasure it's hardly worth cleaning up.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20). Your inclusiveness relaxes people and helps them feel comfortable enough to connect. Ultimately, the sense of belonging you promote will wrap around you like a warm blanket on a snowy night.

GEMINI (May 21-June 21). To notice someone's nervousness and take that away from them with your warmth and easy manner is among the kindest things you can do today. You're the antidote to anxiousness, and it calms you to be so.

CANCER (June 22-July 22). The deepest levels of you have little to do with your body or even personality. You may get caught up in temporary attitudes, opinions and adornments, but you will not confuse them with who you really are.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22). You'll make your preparations and run through your idea about how things should flow. Without those moments of fantasy and forethought, you simply couldn't pull off your day in the same magical way.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23). Just as an author's skill is in making the reader turn the page, your skill is making those close to you wonder what's next. You love to play with expectations and draw out anticipation to its most delectable tension.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 21). You'll emphasize what you want people to see and know about you. While you can't control what others think, the extent to which you can effectively lead their attention will please you greatly now.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22-Dec. 21). It's so easy for you to see the good in others and nurture those talents until they gleam. What's hard is holding back your praise, but there's no point to that today. Roll out the enthusiasm!

Annie's Mailbox

Simple Gesture Made a Difference

Dear Annie: Years ago, I read the toilet seat debate in the Ann Landers column. It featured women upset about men leaving the toilet seat up after use and men defensive about it.

My wife and I were married for 45 and a half years, and she never complained about it, but I thought if such a simple thing might make her more pleased then why not do it. So, I always made sure to put the seat down when I was done using the bathroom. She died a little over a year ago, and I still put the seat down. -- Caring in Spokane

Dear Caring: I'm so sorry for your loss. I'm sure your thoughtfulness was something your wife loved about you. At a time when many couples have been cooped up together for months, your letter is a reminder to be kind to each other in every way we can, while we can.

Dear Annie: I've been in this relationship with a guy for four years. I think I can count on both hands how many times he's said he loves me. I've always questioned his love for me. He barely touches me. If I touch him, he jumps away from me, but when he's ready to be affectionate, I'm always available to him. The last time we were intimate was many months ago.

Another thing that concerns me: Whenever we have conflict, he always threatens to leave. I told him that I don't appreciate the threats and that I would never ask a partner to leave unless I actually wanted him to go.

The last time he threatened to leave, I told him to leave and that I would help him pack. So far, he's stopped with the threats since then.

I'm 49 years old, and I just can't see myself wasting another year with this type of relationship. It's hard and depressing, especially during the pandemic.

I feel like he's a manipulator and needs to go. What should I do? -- Feeling Unloved

Dear Feeling Unloved: I don't think that you need me to tell you what to do. You're just having trouble actually doing it. My advice: Stop thinking of the last four years as a waste. Far from helping you gin up the courage to leave, that mindset may actually paralyze you into staying. Instead, consider that the relationship offered valuable lessons and growth (and, hopefully, some happy memories), but it's no longer serving you. The sooner you end this, the sooner you'll be onward and upward.

Dear Annie: The letter from "CRC Survivor," who only found out he had colon cancer when he went to donate blood, brings up two great points: The first is the importance of donating blood on a regular basis, since blood is always in short supply; the second is the value of routine colonoscopy, since colon cancer can be completely silent, I remember Katie Couric promoting it after her husband died at a young age from colon cancer. I hope that your readers follow your advice. -- Haridas

Dear Haridas: The American Red Cross is in critical need of blood and plasma donations right now -- particularly from COVID-19 survivors, whose plasma can help people fighting COVID-19 now. You can go to <https://www.redcrossblood.org> to sign up for an appointment.

Fun By The Numbers
Like puzzles? Then you'll love sudoku. This mind-bending puzzle will have you hooked from the moment you square off, so sharpen your pencil and put your sudoku savvy to the test!

Level: Intermediate

Here's How it Works:
Sudoku puzzles are formatted as a 9x9 grid, broken down into nine 3x3 boxes. To solve a sudoku, the numbers 1 through 9 must fill each row, column and box. Each number can appear only once in each row, column and box. You can figure out the order in which the numbers will appear by using the numeric clues already provided in the boxes. The more numbers you name, the easier it gets to solve the puzzle!

Today in History

Today is Thursday, Dec. 24, the 359th day of 2020. There are seven days left in the year. This is Christmas Eve. Today's Highlight in History: On Dec. 24, 1814, the United States and Britain signed the Treaty of Ghent, which ended the War of 1812 following ratification by both the British Parliament and the U.S. Senate. On this date: In 1524, Portuguese navigator Vasco da Gama — who had discovered a sea route around Africa to India — died in Cochin, India. In 1851, fire devastated the Library of Congress in Washington, D.C., destroying about 35,000 volumes. In 1865, several veterans of the Confederate Army formed a private social club in Pulaski, Tennessee, that was the original version of the Ku Klux Klan. In 1913, 73 people, most of them children, died in a crush of panic after a false cry of "Fire!" during a Christmas party for striking miners and their families at the Italian Hall in Calumet, Michigan. In 1943, President Franklin D. Roosevelt appointed Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower supreme commander of Allied forces in Europe as part of Operation Overlord. In 1968, the Apollo 8 astronauts, orbiting the moon, read passages from the Old Testament Book of Genesis during a Christmas Eve telecast. In 1980, Americans remembered the U.S. hostages in Iran by burning candles or shining lights for 417 seconds — one second for each day of captivity. In 1984, actor Peter Lawford, 61, died in Los Angeles. In 1992, President Bush pardoned former Defense Secretary Casper Weinberger and five others in the Iran-Contra scandal. In 1993, the Rev. Norman Vincent Peale, who blended Christian and psychiatric principles into a message of "positive thinking," died in Pawling, New York, at age 95.

In 2014, Sony Pictures broadly released "The Interview" online — an unprecedented counterstroke against the hackers who'd spoiled the Christmas opening of the comedy depicting the assassination of North Korean leader Kim Jong Un. In 2016, Israeli Prime Minister Benjamin Netanyahu accused President Barack Obama of a "shameful ambush" at the United Nations and said he was looking forward to working with his "friend" Donald Trump; Netanyahu's comments came a day after the U.S. broke with past practice and allowed the Security Council to condemn Israeli settlements in the West Bank and east Jerusalem. Ten years ago: Pope Benedict XVI ushered in Christmas Eve with an evening Mass amid heightened security concerns following package bombings at two Rome embassies and Christmas Eve security breaches at the Vatican the previous two years. Five years ago: Christian faithful from around the world descended on the biblical city of Bethlehem for Christmas Eve celebrations as an outburst of Israeli-Palestinian violence dampened the typically festive mood. California Gov. Jerry Brown pardoned Robert Downey Jr. for a nearly 20-year-old felony drug conviction that sent the Oscar-nominated actor to jail for nearly a year. William Guest, 74, a member of Gladys Knight and the Pips, died in Detroit. One year ago: With the Notre Dame Cathedral in Paris unable to host Christmas services for the first time since the French Revolution because of damage from a fire earlier in the year, the clergy, choir and congregation relocated to a Gothic church next to the Louvre Museum for Christmas Eve and Christmas Day services. Democratic presidential contender Michael Bloomberg said he had cut ties with a contractor that used prisoners to make calls for his presidential campaign. Today's Birthdays: Federal health official Anthony S. Fauci, M.D., is 80. Recording company executive Mike
