Howard College Board of Trustees to meet Monday to fill vacant seat

By ROGER CLINE
 Herald Staff Writer

The Howard County Junior College District board of trustees will meet at 10 a.m. Monday to officially accept the resignation of at-large trustee Patricia Bennett before adjourning into executive session to interview applicants for Bennett's vacated seat on the board, and to select one of those applicants to fill the seat.

The board will also hold a special open meeting at 4 p.m. Monday to officially appoint the new board member, who will first participate in a board meeting at the regular meeting Sept. 27.

Bennett resigned her seat last week prior to a planned move to El Paso.

Applications for the position were accepted through this past Thursday, Sept. 16.

According to the meeting's agenda, the board will conduct closed-session 45-minute interviews starting at 10:45 a.m. The interviews will continue through 12:15, when the board will and conclude at 3:15 p.m., when the board will take a break and then discuss the interviewees before the 4 p.m. open meeting.

The meeting will take place in the Student Union Building's Tumbleweed Room. Interested parties may attend in person, or by phone at 1-888-204-5987. The access code for the meeting is 314842#.

US 87 Relief Route receives regional recognition from American Transportation Awards

The North portion of the Relief Route was opened up last year and recently received recognition from the American Transportation Awards. The relief route is part of the Ports to Plains project.

HERALD Staff Report

The Relief Route is a project that has been in the works for more than a decade. The South Relief Route was completed several years ago, and this past year, the North Relief Route portion was officially opened. Recently, the US 87 Truck Relief Route – part of the Ports to Plains project – was recognized on a regional level by the American Transportation Awards. With this regional recognition, the project is able to be presented for national recognition.

According to Big Spring Economic Development Director Mark Willis, the relief route is the largest project thus far in the Abilene TxDot District. The total funding for the project is $118 million, with $25 million of those funds coming from Proposition 12 designated from other TxDot districts. The surrounding districts saw the importance of the relief route and the positive impact that could result from the completion of the project, not only for the region, but the economy on a national level, and elected to provide funding to the project. The relief route spans 16 miles of roadway and is part of the Ports to Plains Corridor. (7.5 miles being the northern portion).

Participation ... building a better economic community

By MARK WILLIS
 BSEDC

I was fortunate enough to be invited to the retirement party for Colonel Jim Little on September 1, celebrating his 18 years of service managing the Big Spring airport/industrial park. As this is Jim's third attempt at retirement, I hope he gets it right this time. He has served this area well and deserves to enjoy some me time.

However, there was something about the celebration that didn't occur to me until later and reminded me of one of my real concerns about the future. A large portion of the leadership of Big Spring and Howard County were in attendance, and rightfully so, but what bothered me was that I was likely younger than the average age of those in attendance. Not to date myself, but I should not be below the average age at any event these days unless it has "senior" in the title.

The generation directly following my own is engaged, though in my opinion less so as a group than my own. And I must admit that my generation is likely less engaged than my parent's. This is a concerning trend that I feel threatens our continued success nationally and locally.

In my own family I find myself nagging my adult children to just vote, much less volunteer to serve on boards or committees in their respective communities. Part of the problem is that we have become a more mobile society, making it harder to tie ourselves to a particular place and committing ourselves to the long-term goals of making it better when we know it is very likely we won't be there to see our efforts come to fruition. Not many people end up spending their lives in their "hometown" anymore. Coupled with what seem to be ever increasing demands on our time, really getting involved is a truly an altruistic endeavor.

A democratic government from the city level to the national level is only as good as those who participate in it and the long-term nature of the process requires continuity of involvement. An example of how this works is exemplified west of the airpark here in Big Spring.

Obituaries

Charles (Chuck) David Martin

Chuck Martin, 79, lost his battle with cancer on Aug. 28, 2021, at his home in Santa Anna, Texas, surrounded by his family. It was a beautiful Saturday morning; the sun was shining, the cardinals were singing. On that beautiful morning, he flew to heaven to meet again and dance with his wife, Beverly.

Chuck was born in Johnston County, Oklahoma on Jan. 31, 1942, to Gladys Colbert Martin and William Elexander Martin. Gladys was of full native Chicasaw descent. Consequently, Chuck was also a registered member of the Chickasaw nation, which he considered a great honor. He was always very proud of his heritage.

Chuck wed the love of his life, Beverly Carol Pearson, July 17, 1963. Exactly nine months later, their son, Rick Martin, was born. They enjoyed 55 years of happiness and marriage until Beverly's passing in March of 2019.

Preceding Chuck in death is his mother and father, brothers James Hendricks, Cadian Hendricks, and George Hendricks. Surviving brothers are Al Hendricks of Kenetic, OK; Paul Martin of Ardmore, OK; and John Martin of Goodyear, AZ.

William Neal Scott, Jr.

William Neal Scott, Jr., 71, of Big Spring, passed away Thursday, Sept. 16, 2021. Memorial services will be 10 a.m. Monday, Sept. 20, 2021 at College Baptist Church.

Family will receive friends from 3:00pm to 6:00pm Sunday, September 19, 2021 at Nalley-Pickle & Welch Funeral Home.

He was born December 6, 1949 in Big Spring and married Cherylann Rodriguez January 20, 1986 in California.

In the mid 1980's he led the oil field for Christ movement that won thousands to the Lord. He met Cherylann at a pool and it was love at first sight. They moved to California from West Texas and were involved with tent revivals and children's ministry in San Diego. They moved back to Big Spring and was involved with local churches, prison ministry and children's ministry at Living Waters Fellowship. The family moved to San Antonio and was involved in The Food pantry ministry with Church on The Rock and various other churches. He led his life chasing his one true love Jesus Christ. It was evident in the way he lived and the way he interacted with people. He worked in the oil fields for over 40 years as a roughneck, though nothing was rough about him. Every person he met would leave hearing about Jesus. He was a friend to all and never met a stranger. He was a dedicated husband, father, friend and mentor. He loved people and people loved him. You couldn't go into Wal Mart without him stopping to talk to people, so if you wanted a quick trip, you didn't take him. He was an author who has written over thirty books and each of those books always pointed to Jesus. He loved his wife Cherylann with all his heart for all of the 36 years they were together. He loved his kids and not a day could go by without him checking on them and praying for them. He bragged about all his grandkids and their accomplishments. He loved playing football in the yard with them, watching them play sports and was their biggest and loudest fan. Each grandkid thought they were his favorite and he always had gum or tic tacs for them. He was a practical joker and loved pulling peoples legs. He had a joke and prayer for every situation. He lived life to the full-

Surviving Chuck is his son Rick Martin and wife Mandy Martin of Santa Anna, TX; granddaughters Kayline Martin of Tularosa, NM, and Maiya Denson of Bingham, NM; grandson James Denson of Santa Anna, TX, and great grandson, Kole Martin of Tularosa, NM.

Chuck worked for Fina for 25 years until his retirement from the position of superintendent of pipeline at the young age of 60. Chuck loved staying busy. Not only did he work for Fina, he always kept busy with side work like roofing houses and cutting deer in his meat shop next to his house. In his classic sense of humor, he would sometimes greet friends and family with "What are y'doin?"; which typically elicited a response of "Nothin;." Chuck would then say gruffly with a smile, chuckle and twinkle in his eye, "Well then WHY aren't ya doin' somethin'?" After retirement, Chuck and Beverly moved to Ruidoso for 12 years before moving to La Luz, NM where they lived until Beverly's passing in March of 2019, when he moved to Nogal, NM.

In March of 2020, Chuck moved with Rick, Mandy, James and Maiya to the Hill Country of Santa Anna, Texas and helped start an exotic game ranch. He helped chop wood, feed animals, doctor animals, work on equipment, mow, and garden.

Chuck was an accomplished fisherman and hunter. He was also a deadeye shot. Once, Chuck shot a whitetail deer in the neck from 700 yards, across est and he said "live hard, work hard, and pray even harder". His laughter will ring in our ears for years to come. His selflessness and kind heart will be a seed to all he touched and grow like a wild vine, unstoppable with no fear. Death is only the beginning. Great things are yet to come. Do not mourn the loss of Bill, but rejoice for he is with his Savior.

He is survived by his wife of 36 years, Cherylann Scott; his children, Neal Scott and wife, Jennifer and their daughters, Maddie and Maranda Scott; Mark Scott and wife, Maranda, and their children, Lyla, Tessa and Lilliana Scott; Nadia Scott and her child, Briahna Brant; Dennis Brady and wife, Shawnda, and their children, Skylar Brady and Ziven and Zolton Cornwell; Richard Brady and his children, Richard Brady, Jr. and Tristan Brady; Amber Nichols and husband Chance and their children, Makaya Nichols, Haddon Nichols and Bear Nichols; and Daniel Scott and wife, Jessica and their children, Easton Scott, Shepard Scott, Hanna Rodriguez and Mason Rodriguez. He is also survived by two brothers and a sister, Jaime Scott and wife, Janet and their children, Jared and Jacob Scott; David Scott and wife, Debbie and their children, Alan and Ann Marie Holder and husband, Justin and their children, Abby, Emmy, Charlie, Jake and Fischer; and Debi Newell; and a sister-in-law, Helen Scott and her children, Shandria and Stefani Scott.

He was preceded in death by his parents, Billy Neal Scott and Patsy Scott; and two brothers, Ronald Scott and Kenny Scott.

Dad, thank you for all your hard work you have done for the family. Your love has saved us and laid the ground work for the life and families we have now. When no one else believed in us, you were always there. Not only were you our father, you were our best friend. Today would normally be a sad day, but that's not how you raised any of your kids. Today our father and best friend took his first steps into the kingdom of heaven and that's something to celebrate. So here's to you father, mentor, Dad. Until we meet again. Love, Us.

In lieu of flowers, the family would like donations to be made to Happy Days Humane Society.

Arrangements are under the direction of Nalley-Pickle & Welch Funeral Home. Online condolences can be made at www.npwelch.com a canyon, when his buddy bet him a case of Crown Royal that he couldn't.

Chuck also loved to garden. He had a huge vegetable garden, every year, even in 2021. He was known for growing tomatoes "as big as a Volkswagen."

Chuck was a devoted husband, father, and grandfather. He taught Rick to fish, shoot, hunt, play basketball, garden and cook. They took many trips all over New Mexico, Texas, and Colorado to fish and hunt. They were more than father and child - they were buddies. Chuck was also like a father to many. Any young person that needed guidance or mentoring, Chuck and Beverly took in as their own, and were always there.

A celebration of life will be held at 4 p.m. Saturday, Sept. 25, 2021, at the Dora Roberts Community Center, 100 Wipley Drive, Big Spring, Texas. Dinner will follow at 5 p.m., and we look forward to sharing many wonderful and funny stories of Chuck and his legacy among all. Services in the care of Henderson Funeral Home Staff of Santa Anna.

Honorary pallbearers will be Don Kelso, D.F. Stanley, Ken Kelso, Billy Kelso, Jimmy Bridge, and Jake Johnson.

Chuck was a kind man. If you needed something, and he had it, he would give it to you. If he didn't have it, he would go find it and give it to you.

Jimmy Graves

Jimmy Graves, 75, of Big Spring, died Wednesday, Sept. 9, 2021 at Mesa Springs

Nursing Facility in Abilene, Texas. Memorial service will be held at a later date.

Jimmy was born March 22, 1946, in Winters, Texas, to Verba Verdell McAdams Graves and James Robert Graves.

He sold and repaired used tires, everyone knew him as the "Michelin Man" on the Ask Your Neighbor radio program.

He enjoyed ice cold beer, a game of pool and good conversations. He spent his younger years hunting the mountains of California, fishing the Rio Grande river and hiking across Arizona. He is survived by his daughter Eba Kinard and her husband Brad Kinard of Merkel Tx. and three grandchildren.

In addition to his parents, he was preceded in death by his sisters Aloma Koerber and Gloria Alexander both of Big Spring, Texas.

ROAD

"Through the hard work and engineering expertise provided by TxDOT the northern section of the reliever route was finished in 2020, completing the route around Big Spring.

Big Spring Economic Development sees the vision of economic growth this route will kindle and has already made a $6M transportation investment by building access roads off the route into private and City airport/industrial park property to meet the needs of the vision of increased development," Willis said.

According to a press release, eight state department of transportation projects in Arizona, California, New Mexico, North Dakota, Oregon, Texas, and Utah earned regional recognition for providing safer access to kids walking to school, removing a highway to reconnect a community, and creating a better way to inform motorists about weather events to save lives, among others.

"As the COVID-19 pandemic forced many Americans to drastically change work patterns, state DOT employees continued the harrowing work of keeping our transportation systems operating safely and efficiently for those who had to travel, whether by vehicle or other means," said Jim Tymon, executive director of the American Association of State Highway and Transportation Officials, said. "The America's Transportation Awards program highlights just a few of the projects and programs across the country that had a positive impact on our communities' quality of life during an otherwise uncertain time."

Sponsored by AASHTO, AAA, and the U.S. Chamber of Commerce, the competition serves as a way to recognize state DOTs and the projects they deliver that make their communities a better place to live, work, and play. Project nominations fall into one of three categories: Operations Excellence, Best Use of Technology & Innovation, and Quality of Life/Community Development. All nominated projects will first compete on a regional level against projects of their own size: "Small" (projects costing up to $25 million), "Medium" (projects costing between $26 million and $200 million), and "Large" (projects costing more than $200 million).

In the Western region—the last of the regional competitions—13 states nominated 29 projects, with seven state DOTs taking home the following eight America's Transportation Awards.

Arizona Department of Transportation — Fourth Street Bridge over Interstate 40 (Quality of Life/Community Development, Small category)

Texas Department of Transportation — US 175/S.M. Wright Freeway Phase 1 project (Quality of Life/Community Development, Medium category)

Utah Department of Transportation — I-15; Lehi Main to S.R. 92, Technology Corridor (Quality of Life/Community Development, Large category)

Oregon Department of Transportation — I-84 Snow Zone Safety Improvements Project (Operations Excellence, Small category)

North Dakota Department of Transportation — New Long X Bridge (Operations Excellence, Medium category—TIE)

Texas Department of Transportation — US 87 Truck Relief Route in Howard County project (Operations Excellence, Medium category—TIE)

California Department of Transportation — U.S. Highway 50 Echo Summit Sidehill Viaduct Replacement Project (Best Use of Technology & Innovation, Small category)

New Mexico Department of Transportation — NM 136 Pete Domenici International Highway Concrete Overlay Project (Best Use of Technology & Innovation, Medium category)

More on America's Transportation Awards categories:

Community Development/Quality of Life - Recognizes projects that provide significant benefits to the communities in which they are located, especially in the form of economic growth and the well-being of citizens.

Best Use of Technology - Recognthat they may think sets them apart and precludes them from getting involved, to consider looking for a path to participation. Look closely at city, county, state, and even national level opportunities to get involved and help ensure a successful future for those who will follow. At the very least, educate yourself and vote for the people who share your vision or can convince you the one they promote is one you want your children to live with.

I worry far less about those people that attempt to vote more than once, than I do about the majority that don't even bother.

BUILD

30 years ago, area leaders began the process to get the Highway 87 Reliever Route built and it only opened last year. Recently the next group of leaders took the next step and facilitated the construction of ancillary roads to open the area between the airpark and that route for development.

Now the leadership group I work with is attempting to bring the other needed infrastructure (water, sewer and broadband) to a portion of the area served by those roads that will allow it to meet its real potential. But our generation will not complete the tasks required for the entire area that should eventually develop, much less see the successful transformation of Highway 87 into the "Ports to Plains" interstate and whatever unforeseen following steps may become required to ensure a bright future for Big Spring.

So, I urge all citizens, regardless of age or any other characteristic

Miss Kat's sewing machine and vacuum repair

Miss Kat has an interesting business in Temple. "It's A-1 Sewing and Vac Center," she says. "I repair sewing machines, vacuum cleaners and some associated equipment. I actually do no sewing, no alterations. I just repair the machines."

She took care of her parents until they passed away and she was looking for a job when one opened up at this place in 2012. She was hired to do the inventory but eventually learned to repair machines and bought the business.

"We're near downtown in what used to be the old Temple post office. I have my sewing machine repair station up front and I fix vacuums in the back. It is a pretty decent size building. The walls are covered in pegboard where I keep belts and parts. The whole back wall of the showroom is covered in vacuum cleaner bags because they make so many different kinds. Years ago there were only half a dozen types. Now when you need a vacuum cleaner bag you need to know the manufacturer and the model. I have all kinds of books that list the different kinds."

She says today, people buy some appliance or piece of equipment, wear it out in a few years and throw it away. She repairs old machines, some dating back to 1918.

"Years ago an appliance was a lifetime investment. That thing better last thirty years. I remember our old vacuum cleaner and I remember my dad fixing it. He did something to the motor in the kitchen to test run it."

Kat works on all brands of machines and her customers are young and old. Many have a sentimental value attached to the things they bring in for repair

"I work on everything from things that are purely mechanical and don't have too many moving parts all the way to computerized embroidery machines. I don't get too many of those but I will work on them."

Kat grew up in Louisiana and runs the business by herself.

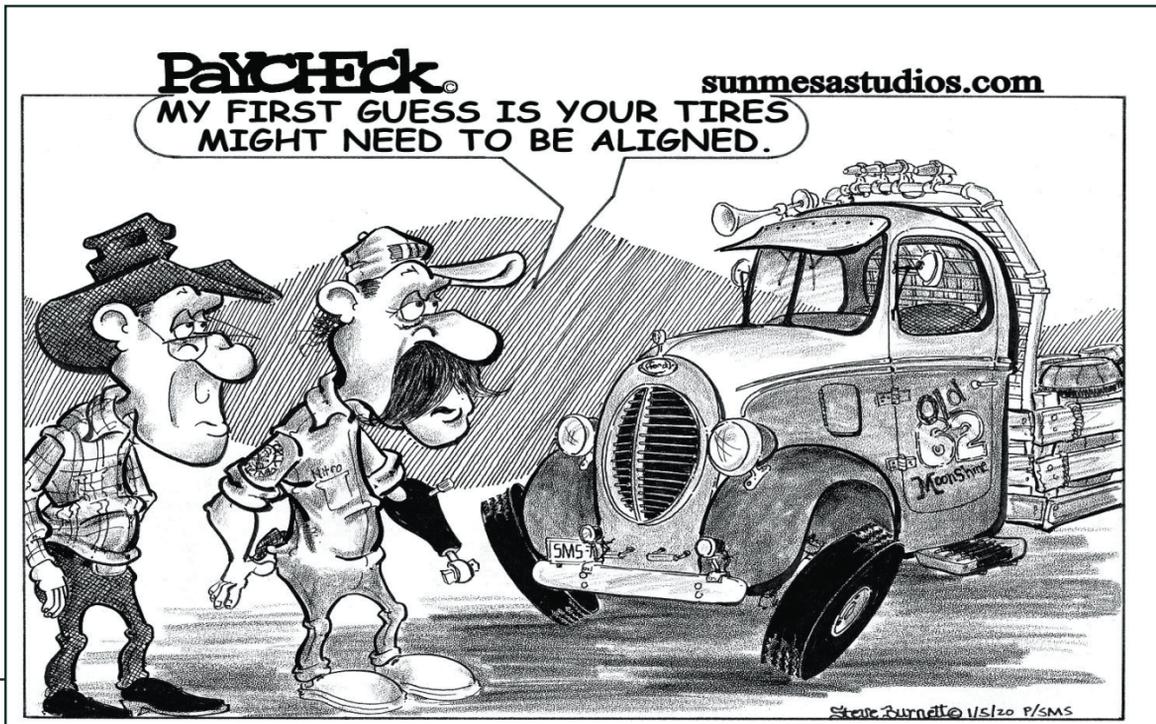

"If I charge for my time I probably would not be in business because I'd have to charge too much. It's the type of business that you have to be interested in and be willing to take the extra time, write things down and figure things out."

She is mechanically inclined, something she picked up from her dad. "Because I've got little bitty girl hands, Daddy had to teach me how to use tools to make up for it. I get to use some of my daddy's tools every day."

Her mother didn't sew. "My mama was not that good with her

They let us eat cake

Blackie Sherrod—arguably the best sports-writer this side of the ancient Olympic Games begun in Greece seven centuries before the birth of Christ—had a name for us. He classified us as drones and worker bees, mostly “9-to-5’ers” with little hope of ever getting ahead.

He called us “The Great Unwashed.” He described the masses as they chowed down on whatever gruel the monied guys opted to shove down our throats. Sherrod figured that sports fans among the great unwashed asked few questions and gulped down whatever the TV brass doled out.

We eat it, though, pretending it’s cake.

This thought re-surfaced recently when the Universities of Oklahoma and Texas—thinking the grass on the fence’s yon side to be greenest—bolted to the Southeast Conference.

The Big 12 is green enough for most, but TV revenue in the Southeast Conference is greenest of all.

Remaining members of the Big 12 passed on the perfect opportunity to rein sports in a few notches. Coaches, athletic directors and institutional presidents would have none of that. And members of policy-making boards (trustees, regents or whatever) made no waves.

Here’s what could have happened. Texas institutions remaining in the Big 12 could have surveyed several other schools around the state (SMU, Universities of North Texas, Houston, Texas-El Paso, Rice, Texas State and Texas-Arlington come to mind).

The “pitch” would have been to organize a league with member schools staunchly committed to the strictest of rules, playing for conference championships. Period. Nothing more.

Let the NCAA go its merry way. Would this affect TV revenue? Most assuredly.

But “wayda” minute. Were intercollegiate sports introduced to colleges and schools to make money, or to provide a wholesome activity good for students at large, as well as athletes?

Policy-making boards could hasten back to history instead of turn heads the other way.

In Texas, there still would be plenty of interest to merit substantial TV support without the sale of souls.

Some poor guy who said that every time he thought he’d caught up with the Jones, they re-financed.

That’s the way it is in the NCAA. A few powerhouses will win national championships most of the time.

Some, trying to keep pace, cut corners from the very “soul fabric” their institutions claim. Messes of pottage simply aren’t worth it. In leagues dominated by the same schools year after year, playing fields are tilted. Soon, integrity is ignored and outright cheating occurs. Ask SMU fans who saw their Mustangs corralled by the NCAA in the ‘80s, or, more recently, Baylor University. These school’s names have been tarnished, and will remain so for a long time.

Recalled is a scene from 12 Mighty Orphans. When the late Rusty Russell arrived to start Masonic Home’s football program, he discovered that they not only didn’t have a football field, neither did they have a football.

Athletic teams don’t have to be diamond-studded or otherwise bejeweled. In yesteryear, fans could afford tickets. Students could pile into cars or buses to follow their teams to almost all road games.

Coaches’ salaries could be in line and great rivalries restored. When fields became unlevel, administrators could intervene. Short of this, boards could—and should—step in....

Forty-one years ago, I was named president of Western Texas College in Snyder. The previous year, the men’s basketball team won the NJCAA championship, wrestling the biggest trophy away from usually powerful Midland College.

I should have encouraged intercollegiate sports in perspective. I believe other institutions would have come alongside, and that common sense, faculties and taxpayers would carry the day. How refreshing it would have been to see team rosters dominated by Texans.

After all, public institutions are established by Texans and supported by their tax dollars. Oh, woe is me. Most coaches, players and fans don’t want level playing fields, now, later or ever.

Week four final: lightning and patience wins out

By DUSTIN POPE
Herald Sports Writer

What a Friday night of football this was. Not because of the play on the field but because of good ole Mother Nature. This night of local football games was, well, crazy. The Friday started as usual as can be. Then we had two local teams take the field on the Saturday Night Action we were looking for.

We will start with the Big Spring Steers. The Steers were all set to host this year's homecoming festivities. Unfortunately for the Steers, this would be a game dominated by the weather. It was just after 6:33 left to play in the first quarter when after the Steers marched down the field to answer a Cub TD, the refs would call the game for lightning in the area. At first, nobody gave these two thoughts, but eventually, the delay turned into two hours. It was then that the coach for the Brownfield Cubs decided to forfeit the game and take the boys back home. In the only drive of the game for the Big Spring Steers, they showed they could move the ball at will at any given time. It would be QB Gabriel Baez who threw a TD pass for the Steers' only score of the night. Because the Steers and head coach Cannon McWilliams still wanted to play on the game will go down as a forfeit for the Brownfield Cubs, making their record 0-4 and the Steers now at 3-1 making the young record. While that score may seem close, The Steers looked dominant in the one drive they did have with the football. Even though this win wasn't how the Steers wanted, it was a win nonetheless.

Next up was what I believed to be the game of the night. The Forsan Buffaloes took on the McCamey Badgers. Forsan Buffaloes coming off its McCamey in a row and was awarded the #10 spot in the state for 2A. Like the Steer game, after about a quarter of play, this game was out into a lighting delay. After about an hour of back and forth, play finally resumed once again. Lightning once again was in the area during the halftime festivities, promoting another delay of at least one hour. After the final hold it was finally time for some much-awaited football. It would be the Forsan Buffaloes who pretty much handled business this game as they were able to defeat the McCamey badgers despite all the delays by a final score of 40-21. The victory will push the Buffaloes record to a perfect 4-0 on the field, with next week being their homecoming game.

Like the first two games, the Coahoma Bulldogs would also fight Mother Nature. In their homecoming game, the same thing happened to the Bulldogs this Friday night. Coahoma would face a three-hour delay before they got to play ball against the Colorado City Wolves. Once play started again, the Bulldogs were far and away from the better team on the field. You must admire a team's focus to be delayed for as long as the Bulldogs were and still come out and be focused and get the win. Coahoma improved to 2-3 on the year as they went on to win the late-night game 26-13.

While this may not have been the typical Friday night of football, all the teams still came out and played their tails off. Despite all the delays, the Forsan Buffaloes and the Coahoma Bulldogs battled all the elements to come out victorious tonight. I will have a more detailed breakdown of all the games in my Thursday edition of Friday Night Lights. Congrats to all of our local teams on their well-deserved victories tonight.

In a 4th decade of the Ryder Cup, Garcia still going strong

By DOUG FERGUSON

AP Golf Writer
Sergio Garcia didn't waste much time making a point on how he values of the Ryder Cup.

He was a teenager — at 19, still the youngest player in Ryder Cup history — and just over five months removed from being the low amateur at the Masters, when Garcia and Jesper Parnevik took down Tiger Woods and Tom Lehman in foursomes at Brookline.

That was his first point. And that was just the start.

Now with more gray than dark brown in his stubble, the 41-year-old Spaniard sets off for his 10th Ryder Cup at Whistling Straits to extend a remarkable run defined by numbers.

He is one of only four players to compete in Ryder Cups across four decades, the first one in 1999 with no reason to think this one will be the last.

Garcia has won 25 1/2 points (winning 62% of his matches), which already is the most in Ryder Cup history. That's as many points as this U.S. team combined. He is two wins away from breaking the Ryder Cup record held by Nick Faldo, which would be sweet for other reasons.

Perhaps most telling is the list of Americans who have lost to him — Woods and Phil Mickelson (four times each), Davis Love III and David Duval, Steve Stricker and Jim Furyk. "Sergio Garcia loves the Ryder Cup," European captain Padraig Harrington said, a rare occasion when the Irishman felt no need to elaborate.

Garcia was on stage a few weeks ago with Collin Morikawa, the 24-year-old Californian about to make his Ryder Cup debut. They took part in a Q&A during the Payne Stewart Award ceremony in Atlanta, and with Dan Hicks of NBC Sports as the host, the Ryder Cup was bound to be mentioned. Hicks asked Garcia if he had any advice.

"Share the secrets," Morikawa said with a laugh.

"I really haven't done that well in it, anyway," Garcia said, laughing along with the audience. "No, you'll have fun. It's amazing."

The Ryder Cup is everything to him, as much as that Masters green jacket he won in 2017 for his first major. And yes, he's done OK. But while he has contributed points, that's not how Garcia keeps score.

He has been on six winning teams as a player, one as a last-minute vice captain in Wales.

"Being the highest points-score in Ryder Cup history, that was never my goal," Garcia said. "It's something that I never thought about because I was always focused on winning the Ryder Cup as a team. I never thought, 'Oh, even if we lose, if I win 3 or 3 1/2 points, I had a great Ryder Cup.' No, that doesn't do it for me.

"I've always said I could win five matches. If we don't win the Ryder Cup, it's not a good Ryder Cup for me," he said. "It's not the way my brain works and probably is one of the reasons why I've been fortunate to be a part of so many teams and do so well in it."

The passion he brings is reminiscent of Spaniards from another generation, Seve Ballesteros and Jose Maria Olazabal, the latter who was Garcia's fourballs partners in 2006 (they won both their matches at The K Club).

It is on equal terms as Ian Poulter, another European whose legacy is the Ryder Cup.

"I certainly had my heart set on Ian and Sergio being the soul of a Ryder Cup team," said Harrington, who used two of his three captain's picks on them.

Those three losses Garcia experienced in the Ryder Cup sting.

Garcia and Parnevik were unbeaten at Brookline, and then Furyk took him down in singles in a pivotal match that set up the stunning U.S. comeback in 1999.

In 2016 at Hazeltine, Garcia did his part to stave off an inevitable loss. He birdied his last three holes, the final two to match Mickelson birdies, and earned a halve. Garcia and Mickelson combined for 19 birdies that match and both had a medal score of 63.

And then there was 2008 at Valhalla, with Faldo as the captain, the only Ryder Cup in which Garcia failed to win a match (he had two halves). Six years later during the Ryder Cup telecast, Faldo said on air that Garcia was "useless" that week because of physical and emotional issues.

European players at Gleneagles rallied around Garcia. He and Lee Westwood had never missed a match until that year — Westwood had gone 12 consecutive matches without a loss — and Faldo sat them both on Saturday morning.

"I'd say Sergio was fairly useless ... because he wasn't able to play," McDowell said.

Garcia has had 11 partners over the years, only three on this team — Westwood, Paul Casey and Rory McIlroy. In the last two Ryder Cups, he has been called upon to nurture the newcomers, like Rafa Cabrera Belo at Hazeltine and Alex Noren last time in France.

Europe has only three rookies this year, a short list that includes Bernd Wiesberger, whom Garcia describes as one of his best friends on the European Tour.

"Sergio just loves the fact that he'll be mentoring rookies, at least one of the rookies, and he loves that job," Harrington said. "It's very important to have your rookies ... the enthusiasm, the passion that they bring. Yeah, you wouldn't want to be there without them."

That was Garcia long ago, holing out from the fairway, sprinting and leaping into his partner's arms with boundless energy. All these years later, it never really left him.

LEADING OFF: Scherzer unbeaten with Dodgers, faces Reds

A look at what's happening around the majors on Saturday:

MAX EFFORT

Max Scherzer has dominated since being traded to the Dodgers, and tries to extend his success streak when he pitches at Cincinnati in a matchup with playoff implications.

Scherzer is 6-0 with an 0.88 ERA in eight starts for Los Angeles, which got the three-time Cy Young Award winner and star infielder Trea Turner from Washington at the trade deadline in late July. In 51 innings for the Dodgers, Scherzer has allowed just 29 hits and struck out 72.

Overall, the 37-year-old Scherzer leads the majors with a 2.17 ERA and is a combined 14-4 for the Dodgers and Nationals.

The Dodgers have already clinched a playoff spot and are competing with the Giants for the NL West title. Sonny Gray (7-7, 3.80) starts for the Reds as they aim for a wild-card spot.

LIKE FINE WAIN

Longtime Cardinals ace Adam Wainwright has been as sharp as ever lately, winning five straight starts going into this outing against San Diego at Busch Stadium.

The 40-year-old Wainwright (16-7, 2.88) has won nine of his last 10 starts and a major reason why St. Louis is in the playoff race, competing with the Padres, Reds, Phillies and Mets for the second NL wild-card spot.

Wainwright was tagged for a season-high three homers by the Padres in a loss on May 15. Yu Darvish (8-10, 4.32) starts for San Diego.

LANCE GLANCE

Lance Lynn looks for his first win since July 25 when he starts for the AL Central-leading White Sox at Texas.

Lynn (10-4, 2.50 ERA) is 0-1 in his last seven starts. He spent time on the injured list during that span because of inflammation in his right knee. Last weekend, in his first start since being reinstated, he shut out Boston on two hits for five innings.

The 34-year-old Lynn is in his first season with Chicago and was an All-Star. He'll see plenty of familiar faces on the Rangers after spending the previous two years with them.

STILL HERE

The Phillies and Mets are clinging to slim postseason hopes as they continue a series in New York. Both teams are chasing the Cardinals, Padres and Reds for the final NL wild card and trying to keep the NL East-leading Braves within sight, too.

Philadelphia right-hander Aaron Nola (7-8, 4.58 ERA) gets the ball trying to shake a recent rut. Since taking a perfect game into the seventh inning against San Diego on Aug. 21, Nola has a 6.41 ERA over four starts. He'll oppose right-hander Carlos Carrasco (1-2, 5.59).

Column: A tribute to the trailblazers of college football

By PAUL NEWBERRY

AP Sports Columnist

ATLANTA — When racial protests rocked the nation last summer, the College Football Hall of Fame became a target of the anger.

The glass facade that looks out over Centennial Olympic Park was shattered. The gift shop was vandalized. The final toll was a quarter-million dollars in damage.

Fortunately, nothing of real value was harmed. Even better, those who run this shrine to the gridiron in downtown Atlanta realized that a change in priorities was needed.

Before the protests, they had been planning a tribute to Southern football — which, for all the towering figures and glorious exploits, is still tinged with the stain of segregation.

"In light of everything that had gone on, Southern football didn't seem like the right thing to do," said Kimberly Beaudin, the hall's chief executive officer.

Instead, curator Jeremy Swick quickly assembled an expanded tribute to Historically Black Colleges and Universities, better known as HBCUs.

That's where many of the forgotten stars of Southern football played the game, chipping away at the barriers face by people of color.

"There was a lot of courageous change that happened," Beaudin said. "That courage is what we need today."

Speaking of courage, the Georgia Bulldogs will be honoring a group of their most influential players Saturday during a game against South Carolina.

Richard Appleby, Horace King, Chuck Kinnebrew, Clarence Pope and Larry West were the first Black players to receive scholarships to play football between the hedges — hallowed turf that had long been the domain of white players only.

"The First Five" made their debut on the freshman team a mere 50 years ago. A blip in time, when you really think about it.

"It certainly sounds like a long time," West said, "but it seems like it was just yesterday."

While the vast majority of our attention is focused on where the game is headed — from jarring conference realignments to Nick Saban trying to win another national title to players finally being able to earn a buck or two off their names and likenesses — we shouldn't forget those who laid the groundwork not so long ago.

Thankfully, the racial reawakening that emerged from the long, hot summer of 2020 sparked a renewed interest in the enormous role that HBCUs played in the developing the modern college game, with increased media coverage spurred along by the arrival of prominent coaches such as Deion Sanders at Jackson State and Eddie George at Tennessee State.

The HBCUs are suddenly hip, at least to a very large segment of white America that was blissfully unaware of the amazing stories these schools could tell.

Black America has every right to wonder: What took you so long?

At the College Football Hall of Fame, they're hoping folks will linger for a while at their new exhibit, which better late than never celebrates the opportunity, community and leadership that HBCUs brought to so many lives when the scourge of racism closed so many doors.

"We're here to entertain people, but we're also here to educate and inspire," Beaudin said. "That's an important part of our mission. If they learn something they didn't know and have a deeper understanding of the value of HBCUs, that is invaluable."

The display honors the coaches, players and teams that any true college football fan should know, such as Grambling's Eddie Robinson, but just as compelling are those that have largely faded from memory.

For instance, there's a banner from Maryland Eastern Shore, formerly known as Maryland State, an HBCU that is likely the greatest college football program you never heard of.

For roughly a quarter century stretching from the end of the World War II to the demise of segregation, the Hawks produced multiple undefeated seasons, numerous conference championships and an array of stellar players, including Emerson Boozer and Art Shell.

Sadly, football at Maryland Eastern Shore went the way of the Negro Leagues, shutting down more than four decades ago after integration provided more prominent options to players such as the Georgia Five.

Growing up in segregated Athens, King figured he would have to play his college ball at an HBCU.

But times were changing in the late 1960s and early '70s. Four years after Nate Northington became the first Black scholarship football player in the SEC in 1967, Georgia coach Vince Dooley was knocking at the door, offering King a scholarship to play at Sanford Stadium for the mighty Bulldogs.

There were challenges, of course. Those who favored the status quo greeted the First Five with Confederate flags and nooses.

Even so, they generally look back fondly on their time in Athens, heaping praise on everyone from the coaches who kept them in line to the cafeteria workers who kept their bellies full.

The Big Spring Area Chamber of Commerce is coming off of the most recent networking events, in an effort to provide local business owners with an opportunity to network and form new partnerships across Howard County. This month's Alive After 5 event - Let's Toast to Campaign 2022 - was hosted by the United Way of Big Spring and Howard County.

The Thank You presentations continue to take place on a weekly basis. The presentations are aimed at showing the Chamber members how much their support to the Chamber and the community means. Through the support of local business, growth is taking place across Big Spring and Howard County.

In addition, more Ribbon Cuttings are starting to make their way to the event calendar. New buildings, new business, upgrades and renovations have been the featured presentations this year. More construction is taking place in our community which means growth is happening.

"Being part of the Chamber opens a door of connection to other local business owners, industry leaders, and community resources by providing an opportunity to further connect with the community," Debbye ValVerde, Executive Director at the Big Spring Area Chamber of Commerce, said.

Another annual venture offered by the Chamber - Leadership Big Spring - is gearing up for a new semester. Last year the Leadership Big Spring class was put on hold in order to help slow the curve of cases in Howard County. This year, the class is set to begin Oct. 14 and register is now open. Applications can be submitted by e-mail or more information can be obtained by calling the Chamber office at 432-263-7641. Class size is limited this year in order to allow for Covid precautions to be put in place. The class registration will close at 10 participants.

Stocks end lower after a brief afternoon recovery fades

By DAMIAN J. TROISE and ALEX VEIGA

AP Business Writers

Another day of choppy trading on Wall Street left stocks mostly lower, cutting into the major indexes' gains for the week.

The S&P 500 and the Dow Jones Industrial Average each lost about 0.2%, while the tech-heavy Nasdaq managed to eke out a gain of 0.1%. More stocks fell than rose in the S&P 500, and most of the benchmark index's sectors took slight losses.

The market had edged higher in the early going after a surprisingly good retail sales report for August, but then quickly turned lower and remained there for much of the day. By late afternoon, major indexes had clawed back the ground they lost earlier and turned slightly higher, only to shed some of those gains in the final minutes of trading.

Markets have been choppy as investors shift money between various sectors while they parse any data coming out that could give more clues and signals on the potential direction of the economy and how the Federal Reserve will react.

The central bank will meet next week, and investors will listen closely for any comments about when and how much it will taper support for low interest rates that have helped fuel gains for stocks throughout the year.

"What you're seeing over the last month has been hesitation to really commit," said J.J. Kinahan, chief strategist with TD Ameritrade. "Until we have more clarity from the Fed, the pattern will continue."

The S&P 500 fell 6.95 points to 4,473.75. The index remains within 1.4% of the all-time high it set on Sept. 2. The Dow dropped 63.07 points to 34,751.32, while the Nasdaq added 20.39 points to 15,181.92.

Small company stocks also gave up some ground. The Russell 2000 index slipped 1.54 points, or 0.1%, to 2,232.91.

Investors were given another mixed bag of economic data to review as they try to gauge the economic recovery's path ahead amid the virus pandemic, inflation and other factors.

The Commerce Department reported that retail sales rose 0.7% last month. Economists had expected a 0.85% contraction over concerns that people would have pulled back on spending as the highly contagious delta variant of COVID-19 prompts consumers to pull back on shopping.

Consumers simply shifted spending to more online purchases and away from businesses that are still struggling to recover from the pandemic, including restaurants and other business that rely on in-person spending.

Wall Street also weighed a disappointing report showing that weekly unemployment claims rose more than expected.

Industrial, health care and raw materials companies were the biggest drag on the S&P 500. Deere & Co. fell 1.2%, Eli Lilly dropped 1.2% and Freeport-McMoRan slid 6.6%, the biggest drop in among S&P 500 companies.

Losses for banks were tempered by rising bond yields that help them charge more lucrative interest on loans. The yield on the 10-year Treasury rose to 1.33% from 1.30% late Wednesday.

A mix of retailers gained ground following the retail sales report, which showed a surprise jump in August. Gap rose 1.6% and Bath & Body Works rose 2.1%.

This week's reviews are large print western books.

Whip Station, a critical stop on the Butterfield stagecoach line, is dead smack in the middle of no-man's land in Massacre at Whip Station-The O'Malley's of Texas (LP W RIC D) by Dusty Richards. The lawless call it an easy target. Joe O'Malley calls it home. If anybody can tame a wild, violent territory, it's the seasoned frontiersman and his family, who have the same pride and honor coursing through their veins. Helping to plant roots is his son Jackson, a former wrangler married to a steady force of nature. Joe's grandchildren have their own brand of grit. The boy, a firebrand with a knife. The girl, book-smart and wicked-wise. But Whip Station is also hunting ground for the deadliest outlaws who ever drew a breath. It's time for the O'Malley's to take aim. With a rawhide-tough will to survive, they're banding together to protect their future against the most imaginable odds.

At 35, Federal Marshal Buck Fyffe has had 11 years' experience as a lawman in A Pack of Predators (LP W SOP S) by S.I Soper. When he and Deputy Steve Larson were charged with taking the outlaw Luther Gibbs to the newly established Yuma Territorial Prison, he wasn't expecting any problems.

But when Larson gets bitten by a snake and dies, Fyffe finds himself almost three days away from the Yuma prison with no one to keep watch while he sleeps. Gibbs and his gang had stolen $25,000 from Southwestern, but only Gibbs knew where it was hidden and he knew the gang would be looking for their leader. It doesn't take long for Gibbs gang to find them.

Fyffe is overtaken by the gang and suffers at their hands. The gang hatches a plan for Gibbs to pose as Fyffe and one of his men to pose as Larson. They deliver Fyffe to Yuma Prison, claiming he is Luther Gibbs. In spite of Fyffe's insistence that he is in fact the federal marshal, he finds himself as prisoner number 109. Now, in addition to fearing that Gibbs will get to the money and get away, Fyffe must survive in a prison where he is sure that someone he has previously sent to prison will recognize him and exact their revenge.

New Mexico is in the middle of a dreaded dry year in Stirrup Brother (LP W WIL C) by Cherry Wilson. An old, blind cowman named Eagle Strange, living in retirement on his range, Big Springs with his only daughter, Memory, is unaffected by the drought until sheep threaten to invade his stronghold. The old man sends for his two oldest sons but they fail him. He is too proud to send for Quinn, his estranged son. But memory sends for him, and when in his stead comes Dirk Haskell, the pal for whom Quinn has renounced all, the stage is set for gripping drama and stirring romance. In the ensuing conflict over the range a conflict which brings in hired guns from distant parts, the circumstances which made it impossible for Quinn to answer his sister's call are made clear, with many unexpected surprises.

Boyd Reynolds rode into town after three years of wandering, happy at the thought of seeing his ranch again, and Ellen Petrie in Tough in the Saddle (LP W BAL T) by Tod hunter Ballard. But the town had changed, drastically. Fear rode his former friends and neighbors, for Jud Laws and his hired killers had taken over, ruthlessly annexing ranches to his already enormous holdings, stealing cattle, and getting a stranglehold on the law. Anyone who balked was either killed or run out of town. And Ellen? Even she was now Jud Laws' property, basking in the reflected glory of the violent man's power. It was a bitter homecoming. Gone were his ranch, his woman, and maybe his right to live, unless he could gather the last few stragglers remaining in town with guts enough to ride against a determined man backed by 40 gunslingers!

"Books are my friends, my companions. They make me laugh and cry and find meaning in life." Christopher Paolini, Eragon

UN: More pledges needed to avoid 'catastrophic' climate path

By FRANK JORDANS

Associated Press

BERLIN (AP) — A new report shows the world is on a "catastrophic pathway" toward a hotter future unless governments make more ambitious pledges to cut greenhouse gas emissions, the head of the United Nations said Friday.

The U.N. report, reviewing all the national commitments submitted by signatories of the Paris climate accord until July 30, found that they would result in emissions rising nearly 16% by 2030, compared with 2010 levels.

Scientists say the world must start to sharply curb emissions soon, and add no more to the atmosphere by 2050 than can be absorbed, if it is to meet the most ambitious goal of the Paris accord — capping global temperature rise at 1.5 Celsius (2.7 Fahrenheit) by 2100.

The planet has already warmed by 1.1 C since pre-industrial times, experts said

"We need a 45% cut in emissions by 2030 to reach carbon neutrality by mid-century," U.N. Secretary-General Antonio Guterres told a virtual meeting of leaders from major economies hosted by U.S. President Joe Biden.

"The world is on a catastrophic pathway to 2.7 degrees (Celsius) of heating," he added.

Some 113 countries including the United States and the European Union submitted updates to their emissions targets, also known as nationally determined contributions or NDCs, by the end of July. Their pledges would result in a 12% drop in emissions for those countries by the end of the decade — a figure that could more than double if some governments' conditional pledges and assurances about aiming for carbon neutrality by 2050 are translated into action.

"That's the positive side of the picture," said U.N. climate chief Patricia Espinosa, whose office compiled the latest report. "The other one is more sobering."

Dozens of countries, including major emitters such as China, India and Saudi Arabia, failed to submit new pledges in time for the report.

Espinosa called for leaders at next week's annual U.N. gathering in New York to put forward stronger commitments in time for the global body's upcoming climate summit in Glasgow.

"Leaders must engage in a frank discussion driven not just by the very legitimate desire to protect national interest, but also by the equally commanding goal of contributing to the welfare of humanity," she said. "We simply have no more time to spare, and people throughout the world expect nothing less."

Espinosa added that some public pledges, such as China's aim to be carbon neutral by 2060, haven't yet been formally submitted to the U.N. and so weren't taken into account for the report. An update, which would include any further commitments submitted by then, will be issued shortly before the Glasgow summit, she said.

Still, environmental campaigners and representatives of some vulnerable nations expressed their disappointment at the findings.

"We must ask what it will take for some major emitters to heed the scientific findings and deliver our world from a point of no return," said Aubrey Webson of Antigua and Barbuda, who chairs the Association of Small Island States. "The findings are clear — if we are to avoid amplification of our already devastating climate impacts, we need major emitters and all G20 countries to implement and stick to more ambitious NDCs and make strong commitments to net-zero emissions by 2050."

NOTICE OF APPLICATION AND PRELIMINARY DECISION FOR TPDES PERMIT FOR MUNICIPAL WASTEWATER

NEW PERMIT NO. WQ0015974001

APPLICATION AND PRELIMINARY DECISION. Permian Lodging Big Spring LLC, 1 Flagg Place, Lafayette, Louisiana 70508, has applied to the Texas Commission on Environmental Quality (TCEQ) for a new Texas Pollutant Discharge Elimination System (TPDES) Permit No. WQ0015974001, to authorize the discharge of treated domestic wastewater at a daily average flow not to exceed 40,000 gallons per day. TCEQ received this application on April 7, 2021.

This combined notice is being issued to correct the mailing address, contact person's name, and phone number of the original NORI.

The facility will be located at 5101 East Midway Road, Big Spring, in Howard County, Texas 79720. The treated effluent is discharged to Beals Creek, thence to the Colorado River Below Lake J.B. Thomas in Segment No. 1412 of the Colorado River Basin. The unclassified receiving water use is limited aquatic life use for Beals Creek. The designated uses for Segment No. 1412 are primary contact recreation and high aquatic life use. In accordance with 30 Texas Administrative Code § 307.5 and the TCEQ implementation procedures (June 2010) for the Texas Surface Water Quality Standards, an antidegradation review of the receiving waters was performed. A Tier 1 antidegradation review has preliminarily determined that existing water quality uses will not be impaired by this permit action. Numerical and narrative criteria to protect existing uses will be maintained. This review has preliminarily determined that no water bodies with exceptional, high, or intermediate aquatic life uses are present within the stream reach assessed; therefore, no Tier 2 degradation determination is required. No significant degradation of water quality is expected in water bodies with exceptional, high, or intermediate aquatic life uses downstream, and existing uses will be maintained and protected. The preliminary determination can be reexamined and may be modified if new information is received. This link to an electronic map of the site or facility's general location is provided as a public courtesy and is not part of the application or notice. For the exact location, refer to the application.

<https://tceq.maps.arcgis.com/apps/webappviewer/index.html?id=db5bac44afbc468bbdd360f8168250f&marker=-101.400833%2C32.268333&level=12>

The TCEQ Executive Director has completed the technical review of the application and prepared a draft permit. The draft permit, if approved, would establish the conditions under which the facility must operate. The Executive Director has made a preliminary decision that this permit, if issued, meets all statutory and regulatory requirements. The permit application, Executive Director's preliminary decision, and draft permit are available for viewing and copying at Howard County Library, 500 South Main Street, Big Spring, Texas.

PUBLIC COMMENT / PUBLIC MEETING. You may submit public comments or request a public meeting about this application. The purpose of a public meeting is to provide the opportunity to submit comments or to ask questions about the application. TCEQ holds a public meeting if the Executive Director determines that there is a significant degree of public interest in the application or if requested by a local legislator. A public meeting is not a contested case hearing.

OPPORTUNITY FOR A CONTESTED CASE HEARING. After the deadline for submitting public comments, the Executive Director will consider all timely comments and prepare a response to all relevant and material, or significant public comments. Unless the application is directly referred for a contested case hearing, the response to comments will be mailed to everyone who submitted public comments and to those persons who are on the mailing list for this application. If comments are received, the mailing will also provide instructions for requesting a contested case hearing or reconsideration of the Executive Director's decision. A contested case hearing is a legal proceeding similar to a civil trial in state district court.

TO REQUEST A CONTESTED CASE HEARING, YOU MUST INCLUDE THE FOLLOWING ITEMS IN YOUR REQUEST: your name, address, phone number; applicant's name and proposed permit number; the location and distance of your property/activities relative to the proposed facility; a specific description of how you would be adversely affected by the facility in a way not common to the general public; a list of all disputed issues of fact that you submit during the comment period; and the statement "[I/we] request a contested case hearing." If the request for contested case hearing is filed on behalf of a group or association, the request must designate the group's representative for receiving future correspondence; identify by name and physical address an individual member of the group who would be adversely affected by the proposed facility or activity; provide the information discussed above regarding the affected member's location and distance from the facility or activity; explain how and why the member would be affected; and explain how the interests the group seeks to protect are relevant to the group's purpose.

Following the close of all applicable comment and request periods, the Executive Director will forward the application and any requests for reconsideration or for a contested case hearing to the TCEQ Commissioners for their consideration at a scheduled Commission meeting.

The Commission may only grant a request for a contested case hearing on issues the requestor submitted in their timely comments that were not subsequently withdrawn. If a hearing is granted, the subject of a hearing will be limited to disputed issues of fact or mixed questions of fact and law relating to relevant and material water quality concerns submitted during the comment period.

EXECUTIVE DIRECTOR ACTION. The Executive Director may issue final approval of the application unless a timely contested case hearing request or request for reconsideration is filed. If a timely hearing request or request for reconsideration is filed, the Executive Director will not issue final approval of the permit and will forward the application and request to the TCEQ Commissioners for their consideration at a scheduled Commission meeting.

MAILING LIST. If you submit public comments, a request for a contested case hearing or a reconsideration of the Executive Director's decision, you will be added to the mailing list for this specific application to receive future public notices mailed by the Office of the Chief Clerk. In addition, you may request to be placed on: (1) the permanent mailing list for a specific applicant name and permit number; and/or (2) the mailing list for a specific county. If you wish to be placed on the permanent and/or the county mailing list, clearly specify which list(s) and send your request to TCEQ Office of the Chief Clerk at the address below.

All written public comments and public meeting requests must be submitted to the Office of the Chief Clerk, MC 105, Texas Commission on Environmental Quality, P.O. Box 13087, Austin, TX 78711-3087 or electronically at www14.tceq.texas.gov/epic/eComment/ within 30 days from the date of newspaper publication of this notice.

INFORMATION AVAILABLE ONLINE. For details about the status of the application, visit the Commissioners' Integrated Database at www.tceq.texas.gov/goto/cid. Search the database using the permit number of this application, which is provided at the top of this notice.

AGENCY CONTACTS AND INFORMATION. Public comments and requests must be submitted either electronically at www14.tceq.texas.gov/epic/eComment/, or in writing to the Texas Commission on Environmental Quality, Office of the Chief Clerk, MC-105, P.O. Box 13087, Austin, Texas 78711-3087. Any personal information you submit to the TCEQ will become part of the agency's record; this includes email addresses. For more information about this permit application or the permitting process, please call the TCEQ Public Education Program, Toll Free, at 1-800-687-4040 or visit their website at www.tceq.texas.gov/goto/pep. Si desea información en Español, puede llamar al 1-800-687-4040.

The bidding:

Opening lead — queen of clubs.
Most hands played by declarer fit into a pattern that he has encountered many times before. Because of this, many declarers tend to treat similar situations in similar fashion, which is not always the healthiest approach to the play of a hand.
Consider this deal where West led the queen of clubs against four hearts. East followed with the jack, and West shifted to the nine of spades. Declarer played low from dummy, losing to the king, and East returned a low trump.

At this point, South put on his thinking cap. Had he finessed, which seems the natural thing to do, he would have gone down one. But South was not a player who relied solely on past experience.

He realized that finessing would be the proper play in most hands, but he also realized it would be the wrong play in this hand. So he went up with the ace, felling the king, played the ace and another diamond, and wound up making 10 tricks after ruffing two of dummy's diamonds in his hand.

There is no denying that South was lucky to find West with the singleton king of hearts. But good luck is frequently the byproduct of good dummy play, so South was entitled to some measure of glory in nabbing the singleton king.

Declarer realized at trick three, after East had shown up with the jack of clubs and king of spades, that East could not also have the king of hearts. Had East held that card, he surely would not have passed his partner's opening bid.

So, after concluding that West had to have the heart king, South went up with the ace — not because he expected to drop the king, but because he recognized that his only chance was to find the king unguarded.

Tomorrow: Famous Hand.

Fun By The Numbers

Like puzzles? Then you'll love sudoku. This mind-bending puzzle will have you hooked from the moment you square off, so sharpen your pencil and put your sudoku savvy to the test!

Here's How It Works:
Sudoku puzzles are formatted as a 9x9 grid, broken down into nine 3x3 boxes. To solve a sudoku, the numbers 1 through 9 must fill each row, column and box. Each number can appear only once in each row, column and box. You can figure out the order in which the numbers will appear by using the numeric clues already provided in the boxes. The more numbers you name, the easier it gets to solve the puzzle!

Tomorrow's Horoscope

BY HOLIDAY MATHIS

Lunar Precognition

Thoughts aren't the same as facts. In fact, sometimes thoughts are the opposite, serving to add the noise of speculation that makes the truth harder to get to. As the moon swells to tomorrow's full Pisces status, serenity will involve fewer questions and answers. The resulting mental space makes room for the knowingness of body and soul.

ARIES (March 21-April 19). You treat people well, and they usually reciprocate. Even when they don't, as long as you uphold your own standards of character, the interaction is a win for you.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20). You're happy with the product of your hard work, yet you know better than to get too comfortable. A brief acknowledgement, then you're off seeking further improvement. This is what gives you the competitive edge.

GEMINI (May 21-June 21). Today's superpower: Whatever you focus on, you'll fix. So focus on the fix that affects many -- the one that will ripple out and correct a whole collection of problems.

CANCER (June 22-July 22). A new friend opens your eyes to another side of life. You'll see options you missed before. You're especially compatible with earth signs: Taurus, Virgo and Capricorn.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22). You're up to something. You'll talk or write about it, involve others, investigate and quest. There's a sparkling air of excitement around these ambitions of yours.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22). You're trying to learn something. The ideal teacher is not the one who is the best at this; you can also rule out anyone who comes by the skill naturally. Seek help from the person who learned it the hard way.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23). You have a knack for meeting the rare, special unicorn of a person who solves the strange problem or embodies traits that don't usually go together in one person. These types are drawn to you for good reason.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 21). "Look at me" has never been your style, but you stand for justice. This cause calls you to stand (SET ITAL) out- (END ITAL) for justice as well. Not all attention is supportive, but you'll gain power with each eyeball you attract.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22-Dec. 21). The blind spots that once held you back will now be your point of focus. You'll clearly see the wrong assumption you made. Your new, more accurate understanding makes the old problem avoidable.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19). Learning gives you a palpable buzz of energy you can store to apply when the opportunity opens. Your craving for knowledge will never be sated, so luckily, there is always more to learn.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 18). Before you rally the troops, establish the point in which all should meet. This could be a location, but it can also be a definition of the problem at hand. To solve the problem, first agree on what the problem is.

PISCES (Feb. 19-March 20). You don't have to go too far to explore worlds. Books and the internet will take you there. However, talking to people in your family, or people in your daily life, will bring a more visceral and immediate experience.

TODAY'S BIRTHDAY (SEPT. 19). You'll start a new project with high expectations and higher energy, and experience tremendous beginner's luck. It won't take much to convince friends to join your adventurous antics as this solar return amplifies your charm then concentrates it into the twinkle in your eye. Ask, twinkle and receive. Pisces and Sagittarius adore you. Your lucky numbers are: 5, 30, 22, 1 and 18.

FORECAST FOR THE WEEK AHEAD: The full moon gives a message of emotional illumination. Lighting changes perspective; perspective changes what we choose and how we act, which changes destiny. So, make efforts to see things in good light. Coming at things with too much intensity is like looking at them in the harsh glare of the noonday sun. Soften your heart and stay on medium emotional intensity, such as when you'd get in the haze of a new morning, or the golden hour before sunset.

Wednesday brings the equinox and the change of the sun from Virgo to Libra. In these last moments of the season, consider what you'll take to the next. You hold onto certain things for sentimental reasons. However, there are also things you hold onto for reasons wrongly categorized as "sentimental." Sentimental items are imbued with meaning and specialness, so by definition, there can be but a limited number of them. If everything is special, nothing is. This week presents opportunities to single in on things we carry around with us, and determine why we still hold the weight and whether we want to continue to do so in the future. Examine old possessions and relationships. Let go of old possessions and make way for the new.

CELEBRITY PROFILES: Lovable Jimmy Fallon has traveled a cross section of Hollywood, from "Saturday Night Live", to feature films, to his own late-night talk show where he racks up the awards. Fallon was born when the sun and Venus were both in the hard-working, ever-young earth sign of Virgo. Fallon's natal Mercury, Mars, Uranus and Pluto are all in Libra -- the sign of harmony, diplomacy, art and collaboration.

Annie's Mailbox

How Do I Tell My Kids Our Dog Died?

Dear Annie: One of our two sweet dogs died recently. Do you have any suggestions for how to explain it to our two children, who are 3 and 7 years old? She had heart disease that progressed quickly -- within a month and mainly over the last five days of her sweet life.

Thank you very much. -- Explaining to Our Children

Dear Explaining: Losing a pet is always difficult, whether you are a child or an adult. They were a member of your family that was with you for too short a time. I am very sorry for your loss. When explaining to your children, avoid saying that they just went to sleep; rather, tell them that they will not be physically coming back. Try to find children's books that address this issue. "Dog Heaven" by Cynthia Rylant is a great one. I also always find comfort in reading the classic "Rainbow Bridge" poem:

"Just this side of heaven is a place called Rainbow Bridge.

When an animal dies that has been especially close to someone here, that pet goes to Rainbow Bridge. There are meadows and hills for all of our special friends so they can run and play together. There is plenty of food, water and sunshine, and our friends are warm and comfortable.

"All the animals who had been ill and old are restored to health and vigor. Those who were hurt or maimed are made whole and strong again, just as we remember them in our dreams of days and times gone by. The animals are happy and content, except for one small thing; they each miss someone very special to them, who had to be left behind.

"They all run and play together, but the day comes when one suddenly stops and looks into the distance. His bright eyes are intent. His eager body quivers. Suddenly he begins to run from the group, flying over the green grass, his legs carrying him faster and faster.

"You have been spotted, and when you and your special friend finally meet, you cling together in joyous reunion, never to be parted again. The happy kisses rain upon your face; your hands again caress the beloved head, and you look once more into the trusting eyes of your pet, so long gone from your life but never absent from your heart.

"Then you cross Rainbow Bridge together ... "

Dear Annie: Your advice to the gentleman who wrote about his fiancée's discomfort at family gatherings with his ex around was spot-on. I would also have mentioned that, in addition to having been married to his first wife for more than 20 years, he has grown children with her, which may also mean shared grandchildren someday

His fiancée could very well find herself with his ex at a Little League game or dance recital.

It would behoove her to understand that such a scenario is natural when married to someone who was formerly married, and all is OK. Just more adults to love those grandbabies! -- Being Positive Helps

Dear Being Positive: What a wonderful perspective you have! Thank you for sharing.

'FBI: International' introduces a new CBS crime-fighting team

With two successful series already in the franchise, "FBI" is going global in adding a third. Having also done it with his "Law & Order" and "Chicago" shows, executive producer Dick Wolf continues building on his successes with CBS' premiere of "FBI: International" Tuesday, Sept. 21. It joins "FBI" (entering Season 4) and "FBI: Most Wanted" (Season 3) to form that night's weekly lineup on the network, starting with a crossover episode linking all three dramas as a murder investigation lures "Most Wanted's" Crosby (Kellan Lutz) – who knows the suspect – and takes "FBI's" OA (Zeeko Zaki) to Budapest to work with "FBI: International" Fly Team leader Scott Forrester (Luke Kleintank) as the case expands.

"FBI: International" premieres Tuesday on CBS.

Actually making "FBI: International" in Budapest, "The Man in the High Castle" alum Kleintank is grateful for the job for a number of reasons. "I lost my father during this whole pandemic," he notes, "and there were a bunch of signs coming about this. When they officially offered me the role, it was on Father's Day, and that was a huge sign for me. And my dad loved dogs his whole life, my nickname is 'Tank,' and we have a dog in the show whose name is Tank. I thought, 'This is meant to be.'"

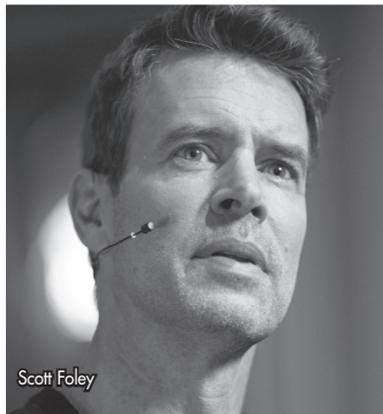

Being friends with "FBI's" Zaki from working with him before, Kleintank considers that another omen. He describes his "International" character as "a little bit of a cowboy. I think he loves his job so much, he forgets about his personal life. As this kind of show goes on, it reveals more, so I'm discovering him as we go along."

After having helped launch "FBI: Most Wanted" when her own series was in its second year, "FBI" star Missy Peregrym says she's happy to do the same now for "FBI: International." Also seen in the "Most Wanted" part of the crossover, she reflects, "Dick's vision the whole time was to be able to have three shows, and what's amazing is that he's pulling it off. To be working in a pandemic and keep them going is really remarkable." And Peregrym isn't surprised that all of the "FBI" iterations are filling the same night: "That was always the plan."

Fox makes 'The Big Leap' with new drama about a dance contest

The show's title pretty much says it: An ensemble of actors, some familiar and others relative newcomers, are ready to take "The Big Leap."

In a rare instance of a documentary (in this case, England's "Big Ballet") inspiring a drama series, the Fox offering that premieres Monday, Sept. 20, sees people from various backgrounds vie on an unscripted program for roles in a modern version of Tchaikovsky's legendary "Swan Lake." Scott Foley ("Scandal") plays a producer trying to move past recent personal and professional setbacks as he and a choreographer (Mallory Jansen) tackle the project.

Scott Foley

Among the contenders: a businesswoman (Piper Perabo, "Covert Affairs"); an ex-ballerina (Teri Polo, "The Fosters"); a once-aspiring dancer (Simone Recasner) and her former partner (Justin Reyes); a troubled pro football player (Ser'Darius Blain); and a ballroom dancer (Anna Grace Barlow) and her twin brother (Jon Rudnitsky). Kevin Daniels plays the ex-dancer who devises the contest, though in fact, "The Big Leap" includes executive producers Liz Heldens ("Friday Night Lights") and Jason Winer ("Modern Family") on its creative team.

"I've got my hand in all the storylines here," Foley notes, "because playing the producer who's putting the show together, I'm sort of the puppet master, the wizard behind the curtain. It's really interesting for me to dip my toe into one story, then pop out and dip into another one."

Perabo says she's "really excited to be doing something with dance again" after the popular 2000 movie "Coyote Ugly." "When this came up during a really difficult part of the pandemic, I was just so happy to read something positive about people supporting each other. Amid all of that, it was really the kind of story I wanted to tell next."

Producers have been represented in everything from "A Chorus Line" to "The Morning Show," but for "The Big Leap," Foley had a specific role model: "Scrubs" mentor Bill Lawrence, with whom he made the series "Whiskey Cavalier." The actor states that he "learned a ton from him. We've known each other for 20 years, but I had never seen him with that much depth in regard to producing. I modeled a lot of this character on how he conducts himself, not only on-set but off-set."

Though her "Big Leap" character has to go through many tryouts, including each week she's on the reality show, Perabo maintains, "I kind of like to audition. I know that's a very controversial statement, since most actors dread it, but I like the opportunity to go in and show what I can do. I always wanted to be an actor when I was a kid and would have killed for an audition, so when I get one, I'm psyched."

TV superstar John Ritter made his mark in movies, too

Q: I was very touched by the recent ABC documentary about John Ritter. I know it made mention of "Sling Blade," but what were some of the other movies he did? – Sharon James, via e-mail

John Ritter

A: Ritter already had some movie credits before the sitcom "Three's Company" premiered in 1977, including the Charles Bronson police thriller "The Stone Killer" and the Peter Bogdanovich-directed "Nickelodeon." His television stardom brought him bigger theatrical-feature roles ... in fact, he played the U.S. president in "Americathon," and he also appeared in "Hero at Large," "Wholly Moses!" and another Bogdanovich project, "They All Laughed."

"Real Men" and director Blake Edwards' "Skin Deep" preceded the first really big movie hit Ritter had, "Problem Child" (which also was referenced on that ABC special by his second wife, actress Amy Yasbeck, whom he met while making that film). That logically led him into the sequel "Problem Child 2," which he followed with "Noises Off," "Stay Tuned" and "North." Then came "Sling Blade," in an image-changing dramatic role devised for Ritter by writer, director and star Billy Bob Thornton (who had worked with him on the series "Hearts Afire"). Only a handful of other movies afterward, such as "Tripfall" and "Tadpole," made use of Ritter's more-serious acting skills before his very untimely passing in 2003. And along the way, he also starred in a great many made-for-TV movies, plus the miniseries of Stephen King's "It."

Q: How long has Hoda Kotb been an anchor of "Today"? – Lisa Powell, Reading, Pa.

Hoda Kotb

A: She has been a host of "Today's" fourth weekday hour since September 2007, and Kathie Lee Gifford was teamed with her on the NBC program the following April. Gifford stayed for 11 years, then Jenna Bush Hager succeeded her and remains Kotb's partner there. Kotb's co-anchor tenure on the first two hours of the weekday "Today" began in November 2017 after the firing of Matt Lauer, when she joined Savannah Guthrie to reveal that news. She stayed, and the following January, it was made official that Kotb would be Guthrie's partner at the anchor desk going forward. Kotb maintained that she also would keep the fourth hour of the show, and she has continued to make good on that promise.

Getting ready for fall on Food Network and Cooking Channel

It's football season, a time when the sports fan's thoughts turn to tailgating.

Food Network's "The Kitchen" is right there with them, and in the episode airing Saturday, Sept. 25, Geoffrey Zakarian is setting the stage with his upstate-style roast beef sandwich while Alex Guarnachelli gets in the spirit of the season with her apple hot toddy. Elsewhere Katie Lee Biegel hearkens back to her college days waiting tables with her Cincinnati-style chili, Sunny Anderson makes her grilled corn with Cajun trinity butter and Jeff Mauro tops things off with his giant peanut butter dark chocolate sea salt buckeyes. A spread suitable for any parking lot.

Elsewhere on Food Network, the season premiere of "Girl Meets Farm" on Sunday, Sept. 19, finds host Molly Yeh getting the day going with her hammy hot dish breakfast, followed a Mommy-and-me lunch consisting of her savory tomato basil soup with parmesan and bunny pesto cristos on the side. And for dessert, it's her mini princess cakes.

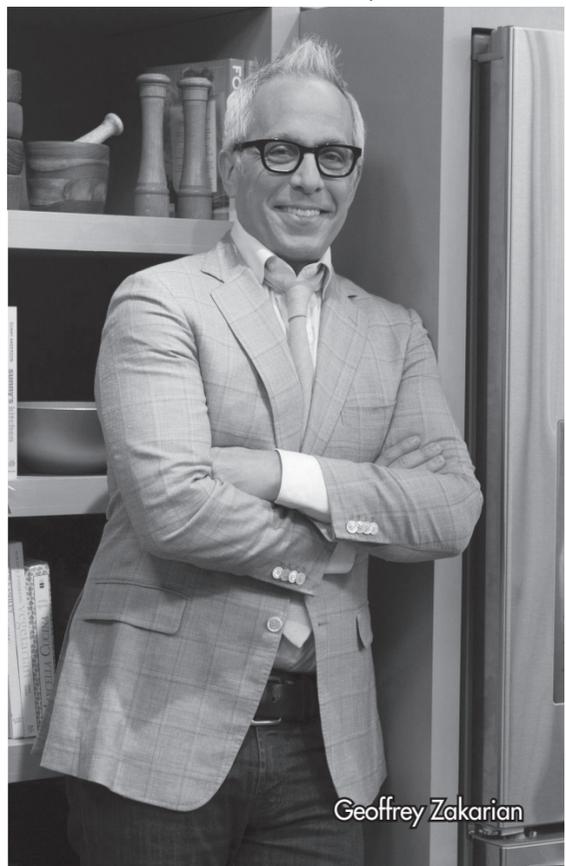

Saturday on "Guy's Ranch Kitchen," Guy Fieri is in the mood for a clambake, so Rocco DiSpirito stops by with his Southampton clambake in a can and his clam chowder jalapeno poppers to get things rolling. Jonathan Waxman offers up his seafood al cartoccio and a grilled zucchini and eggplant casserole with a pistachio pesto. And on the sweet side is a juniper-infused blueberry cobbler courtesy of Aarti Sequeira.

If it is Southern fare you crave, chef Kardea Brown has what you seek in Sunday's episode of "Delicious Miss Brown," as she hits the road to Atlanta to make her mom a meal consisting of New Orleans-style barbecued shrimp and grilled rubbed chicken with an Alabama white sauce paired with a rainbow carrot and fennel salad with apricots and washed down an unwind sangria.

Speaking of hitting the road, Andrew Zimmern is really getting out and about in the Monday, Sept. 20, edition of "Bizarre Foods: Delicious Destinations" on Cooking Channel, as he ventures to Santiago, Chile, to sample the iconic flavors and signature dishes of this culinary destination, such as Asado a la Parrilla, Pastel de Jaiba and Chacarero.

And on the Wednesday, Sept. 22, edition of Cooking's "Food Paradise," a delicious drink and a savory dish is the order of the day, which means comestibles such as a deep fried lobster mac and cheese, an oversized corned beef sandwich and a surf-and-turf po' boy are paired with libations like a liquid nitrogen margarita, a drink called a hurricane and all manner of craft beers.

"La Frontera With Pati Jinich" (PBS — series premiere, Oct. 15)

Mexican-American chef Pati Jinich makes her PBS primetime debut as host of this two-part series, which concludes next week. Jinich, who also holds a master's degree in Latin-American studies, travels to the U.S.-Mexican border, where countries and cultures come together to create a place that's all its own. She meets with artists, musicians, athletes and other local figures whose work reflects the blending of American, Mexican and other cultures.

BY JAY BOBBIN

'Grease' still is the word for movie-musical fun

"Grease" always will be timeless, and for a good reason. Brig shown by AMC on Saturday, Sept. 25, the 1978 screen version of the hit stage musical unapologetically presents actors who clearly are well beyond their high school years as ... high schoolers. The audience is in on the joke from the start, though, so the Randal Kleiser-directed picture's campy undercurrent is a huge part of its appeal.

John Travolta was just coming off a gargantuan success with "Saturday Night Fever" when he went back to his pre-stardom roots with this project, which he had done in live theater with a touring company. As cooler-than-cool gang member Danny Zuko, he lets his guard down during a summer fling with the virtuous Sandy (depicted here as an overseas exchange student to accommodate Olivia Newton-John, a charmer in her first major film role).

Flash forward a bit, and Danny is stunned to find Sandy has transferred to be one of his fellow pupils at Rydell High - where he puts up a charade to try to keep others from discovering the softer side he showed with her. Naturally, she isn't happy with his turn in attitude toward her, so she aligns with rough-around-the-edges Rizzo (Stockard Channing) and the other Pink Ladies to win him back.

Admittedly, this is not the deepest of plots, but where "Grease" really succeeds is in topping that with massive doses of star appeal and great music. Though many of the tunes come from the original version, "You're the One That I Want" and "Hopelessly Devoted to You" were added for the film, as was Frankie Valli's title song (written by Barry Gibb). All were enormous hits on the charts, as was "Summer Nights," from the original stage score.

Another cast notable is the late Jeff Conaway, who had understudied (and eventually starred in) the role of Danny on Broadway and appears here as pal Kenickie. Didi Conn and Dinah Manoff also stand out as couple of Pink Ladies, and owing to the nostalgic feel here is a parade of stars from earlier eras; Eve Arden, Sid Caesar, Frankie Avalon and Edd "Kookie" Byrnes are among those who turn up in that vein.

Sequel-itis being what it is in Hollywood, a "Grease 2" was attempted several years later, but its most memorable aspect was that Michelle Pfeiffer largely stayed away from singing and dancing from then on. The original "Grease" is that kind of movie magic that happens rarely, where a legion of fans is willing to suspend disbelief and just go with what they see and hear. And not only is a new generation doing that, so are longtime fans who are happy to experience the film's many joys again.

InFocus

"The Walking Dead: World Beyond" (AMC — season premiere, Oct. 3)

The epic saga of four friends - Iris (Aliyah Royale), Hope (Alexa Mansour), Elton (Nicolas Cantu) and Silas (Hal Cumpston) - who made a cross-country journey that changed their lives concludes in Season 2 of this spinoff series. As this quartet faces off against the mysterious Civic Republic Military and fight to control their own destinies, bonds will form and then crumble, goals will refocus and innocence will be both lost and found.

Cedric the Entertainer is in the Primetime Emmys neighborhood as host

BY JAY BOBBIN

Cedric the Entertainer hoped to play to a traditional indoor-theater audience at the Primetime Emmy Awards, but he's still presiding over television's top honors.

The night before his CBS series "The Neighborhood" starts its third season, the actor-comedian does extra duty on the network by hosting the 73rd edition of the TV industry's yearly honors Sunday, Sept. 19. Though the event still will originate from Los Angeles' Microsoft Theatre, it will be staged behind it on the outdoor Event Deck at L.A. Live, to allow for social distancing ... with the limited number of attendees required to be vaccinated and to show a negative COVID-19 test.

"You have the first moments where you come out and do a monologue, and then you become a traffic cop," Cedric reflects of serving as a first-time Emmy host, "but we want to keep people engaged and make sure they have a lot of fun. "We certainly know the rules of COVID, but we want to give the room just a little bit more of a feel of being invited to this super-exclusive party. That's what I want to be the guide to."

people speak highly of. I've been enjoying things like 'Ted Lasso' and 'The Kominsky Method' in my free time, shows that resonate with me in some way. There's just so much, man."

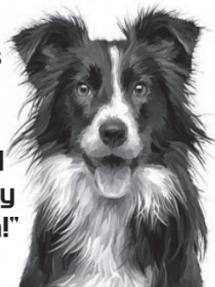

While cable and streaming outlets again lead the Emmy nominations by far this year – Netflix's "The Crown" and Disney+'s "The Mandalorian" are the shows tied for the most,

Yankees look to Cole to lead them into October

As the New York Yankees gear up for the postseason and a likely Wild Card berth, thoughts turn to the pitching staff and who will lead them. Gerrit Cole, this is your time to step up.

In his first full season in pinstripes, the 31-year-old native of Newport Beach, Calif., has shown himself to be every bit the ace that the Bombers thought they were getting when they signed him to a massive nine-year, $324 million contract in December 2019. And if his stellar performance continues into October, he could make New York a very dangerous team in a short playoff series.

As of early September, Cole sported a 13-6 won-lost record with a 2.80 ERA (third in the AL), 200 strikeouts (second), 114 hits and only 32 walks in 148 innings, for a miniscule .99 WHIP (first), numbers that have gotten him on a short list of Cy Young contenders in 2021. He also set a Yankee record when he reached his 200th K in his 24th start of the season on Aug. 27, besting David Cone, who took 25 starts to reach the milestone in 1997.

And Cole has a history of coming up big in the postseason, pitching to an 8-4 record with a 2.68 ERA in 13 starts with the Pittsburgh Pirates, Houston Astros and New York Yankees, so the pressure of the big game clearly doesn't bother him. The Yankee faithful hope that continues.

Cole's Yankees can be seen twice this week on MLB Network: Monday, Sept. 20, at home against the Texas Rangers and on the road against the Boston Red Sox on Saturday, Sept. 25.

The STREAM Scene

Where all the top choices can be found in one place!

“Movie: American Traitor: The Trial of Axis Sally”
 From director Michael Polish comes this 2021 drama that recalls the case of Mildred Gillars (played here by Meadow Williams), who stood trial for treason for broadcasting Nazi propaganda to U.S. troops during World War II. Al Pacino plays James Laughlin, the lawyer who defended her. Thomas Kretschmann and Mitch Pileggi also star.

“Movie: Riders of Justice”
 From writer/director Anders Thomas Jensen comes this 2020 actioner that stars Mads Mikkelsen as Markus, a recently deployed soldier who is forced to return home after his wife is killed in a train accident. When a survivor comes forward claiming foul play, Markus begins to suspect his wife was murdered and embarks on a mission of revenge. (ORIGINAL)

“How to Be a Cowboy”
 Ride 'Em, cowboy! This unscripted series follows Dale Brisby, a professional bull rider from Radiator Ranch in Texas, as he uses his social media savvy and rodeo skills to craft a how-to lesson on being a cowboy and thus keep the traditions that are near and dear to him alive. (ORIGINAL)

“Star Wars: Visions” (Sept. 22)
 From Lucasfilm comes this anthology series of shorts that tell new “Star Wars” stories through the singular style and tradition of Japanese anime, which viewers can watch both with the original Japanese voice cast or the English dub cast including Joseph Gordon-Levitt, Alison Brie and Neil Patrick Harris.

InFocus

“All or Nothing: Season 6” (Amazon — season premiere, Oct. 1)
 Amazon teams with NHL Original Productions for this multi-part docuseries, the first to focus on hockey. This season follows the Toronto Maple Leafs on and off the ice during the 2020-21 season, as they compete in the first all-Canadian division in NHL history, offering an intimate look into the world of the players, coaches and team personnel.
