This past Friday, Big Spring's Chapter 47 of the Disabled American Veterans provided a Christmas cookout for residents at the Lamun-Lusk-Sanchez State Veterans Home. Veterans Home Admissions Coordinator Daphne Glenn said she appreciates the DAV's efforts. "(The residents) are always wanting something different, and we can't always give them exactly things like this," Glenn said in a statement to KBEST Media. "So for somebody to step up and offer this for them to get to enjoy a good old steak dinner for Christmas, it's pretty special for them."

 Activity Director Amy Romero said the DAV asked what they could do for the residents at the Veterans Home. "Since the COVID has been going on, they have not been able to have family, friends or any type of visitors," Romero said. "After myself and Daphne were talking to Mr. Tarpley, we told him they requested for someone to come out...they wanted steak. They wanted someone to actually cook for them. We made it happen. Mr. Tarpley made it happen. They were just overwhelmed. We had residents who were very touched and some were very emotional with tears."
 DAV Vice Commander Mike Tarpley said the request came

In a moment long awaited in Big Spring, Economic Development Corporation Associate Director Teresa Morris announced at Tuesday evening's meeting: "The roads are open!" Morris went on to say, "We've gotten all the signatures. The barricades were taken down today, so they are open to the public." The "roads," of course, are the U.S. Highway 87 Truck Relief Route skirting Big Spring to the west. Although a ribbon-cutting on the route was held in August of 2020, additional construction was needed on a portion of the route, so it was closed to through traffic.

The announcement was met by cheers and applause from the EDC Board. EDC Director Mark Willis confirmed that the roadwork is now under warranty.

“What minor issues there are are covered under the warranty until May,” he said. “They could’ve been covered under the warranty since May, but that’s neither here nor there.”

Following the meeting’s opening invocation and Pledge of Allegiance, the board’s president, Shane Seaton, called for public comment, but nobody chose to address the board.

Board members unanimously approved the minutes of their Nov. 16 meeting, as well as the November Investment Report and Financial statements, before Willis began his Director’s report. He ceded the start of his report to Morris’ announcement.

After the Relief Route news, Willis continued his report with financial indicators

“Since October, we were up 1.2 percent, which means we actually lost ground when we adjusted for inflation,” he said. “Rig count’s up a bit, that’s good. Labor statistics, again, we’re starting to see the hit from the prisons, I think at this point. Sales tax wise and unemployment-wise, it will probably get worse third quarter and then we’ll start to climb out of that hole.”

Willis reported on the Dec. 6 county-wide Leadership Summit held at Howard College’s Dorothy Garrett Coliseum.

“The Leadership Summit went well,” he said. “Basically, nothing concrete came out of it, but the idea was to get people talking. I know all three school districts and Howard College have met up since then, and that’s positive. I came out if with, now I will go to workshop with the County Commissioners once a quarter and give them a report and tie in with them. For me, the important part was to put out the concept of how the TIRZ (Tax Increment Reinvestment Zone) out west will work. I know it was a shock to some people that I said the county and the city need to participate at 75 percent, but I didn’t get any real negative feedback when I talked to the people who were surprised by it, so I’m happy with that.”

Willis reported on the status of a federal grant for the TIRZ area.

“The revised grant will go in January 10, and rather than $5 million, now the federal government has told us that we only can get $1.5 million. It will be turned in on Jan. 10,” he said. “They will tell me before mid-March whether we get it or not.”

Activity at the McMahon-Wrinkle Airpart was next up in Willis’ report.

“The Compute North agreement is signed,” he said. “Rekord Tents has purchased a building out north. They do big event tents, not camping tents and stuff like that. They’re a Belgian company.

We’re glad to have them.”

Other companies are also interested in setting up shop on the Airpark, he said.

“To give you an idea how short we are on places to put these people, Horizon Ag Products, which is an ag tech company out of Houston who wants to be here, were also bidding on that same building,” Willis said. “Now, they are set to come in Monday and meet with (Big Spring Director of Public Works) Shane Bowles and look at Building 75 out on the Airport. They need a long-term lease.”

And that’s not all.

“We also have another couple of companies that are also interested in that same building because it’s the only building of any size that we’ve got,” he added.

The search is underway to find a new Airpark Director following the retirement of former director Jim Little.

I’ve sat in on interviews with two of the candidates for Airpark Manager,” Willis said. “Teresa sat in on the other one yesterday. They’re down to three finalists, and either one of the two I was involved in the interview with would be good for the position. Teresa said the third guy would fit too. I have my personal favorite, but I don’t think the city cares, but we were able to get them to understand and see that they understood how that type of thing works. All three of them has the kind of experience you need.”

Willis said he planned to travel to Austin and to Las Vegas on work-related trips in January.

as something of a surprise.

“We were gonna offer presents to the veteran residents and we figured they’d want socks or jogging suits, but they said they wanted steaks,” he said. “Thanks to the community providing us with the funds, we were able to purchase 125 ribeyes.”

Kenneth Pool of KRP Rentals donated the grill and helped cook along with his son and Gerald King. The Cross Roads Young Marines pitched in to help out, and Air Force service members from Abilene’s Dyess Air Force Base brought a snow cone machine and provided snow cones to the home’s residents...and then left the machine as a Christmas gift.

“They donated that snow cone machine to our residents,” Romero said. “I’m the activities director, and I wasn’t even aware of it. They were about to leave, and they handed the snow cone machine over to me. I couldn’t believe it.”

Lamun-Lusk-Sanchez Texas State Veterans Home, located on U.S. Highway 87 north of Big Spring, opened in 2001 and provides long-term care for up to a capacity of 160 residents, including a separate, secure unit for Alzheimer’s patients. Currently, 100 residents live at the facility.

FESTIVAL

Stewart. Vicki passed away Dec. 26, 2020, while Howard died July 15 this year.

“We have done a memorial area for Vicki and Howard Stewart that is by Haynes Pavilion when you’re going into Kid Zone. That is new this year,” she said. “Without Vicki and Howard this year, we just tried to do the best we could to honor them and keep the lights going. We hope that anyone who hasn’t been able to come out is able to come out between now and Dec. 25. The lights will be on from 6 to 10 p.m. It’s free. We do take donations on the weekends.”

Herrera said this year’s Festival has only posted greeters on the weekends, so no accurate count of guests was taken.

“On the weekends, we’ve averaged probably about 2,000 people per weekend night, which is fairly average for us. So it’s been going really well,” she said.

The Festival of Lights began illuminating the park in the Christmas season of 1996, making this year the 25th Anniversary of the event.

The Lady Steers pulled out a last-second victory on Tuesday, Dec 21, as they beat the Andrews Mustangs by a final score of 38-37. The game was a back-and-forth affair, with both teams leaving it all out on the court. Alex Enriquez was the hero on this day as she made the last-second three point shot off a assist from Tristan Smith to give the Lady Steers the win. The victory now puts them at 8-7 on the year. The Lady Steers will be on a short Christmas break and be back in action in Monahans for a tournament.

The Steers made it rain Tuesday afternoon at Steer Gym - threes that is. Big Spring concluded a successful two game home stand by defeating the Denver City Mustangs 71-48 much to the pleasure of its fans.

Using their three-point barrage, the Steers started Monday by defeating Eldorado 64-35. Gavin Greathouse and Chris Martinez combined for six threes in the win with Greathouse making four. Greathouse led all scorers with 20 points, followed by post player Isiah Holloway with 18 points. Martinez scored 12 points and Eli Cobos chipped in eight.

Tuesday night it was all about Martinez who was lights out. Martinez had a tough act to follow after Big Spring won the junior varsity game 70-32, a game Derrick Wallach pumped in 31 points for Big Spring, many coming on three-pointers.

Martinez, a 5-foot-6 senior guard, was unstoppable, finishing with a career-high 36 points on a 12 of 16 shooting night. Nine of his shots were beyond the arch. "The thing about Chris is that once he hits a couple you could be in for a long night," said first year Big Spring coach Bobby Cash. "You know everybody looks at us and they laugh because we're so short. but these guys play pretty good," he said of his team that starts only one player over six foot tall.

Rebounding wise Big Spring held its own against a much taller D-City squad Leading the way was Saquan Fizer and Holloway, who combined for 11 rebounds. Greathouse, who made three threes himself, ran the offense well, dishing out seven assists.

Martinez got Big Spring on the right track by making three threes in the opening quarter. In the last minute of the quarter Big Spring scored 12 points, via four consecutive D-City turnovers. Big Spring led 21-6 after one.

Using its height advantage Denver City battled back and kept it close for a while. The Mustangs got as close as 28-22 when Rick Montes made back-to-back threes late in the second quarter. But every threat was answered by a barrage of Martinez three-pointers.

Coach Cash said he likes his team's chances as district play approaches. "Lubbock Estacado is the team to beat. They're ranked like fourth in the state and have a 6-10 player. Just about all of our kids are seniors, they've brought into what we're trying to teach them. We're starting to get some fan base and people are getting excited," said Cash

The Steers will be in action Dec. 28 when they compete in the Brownwood tournament.
