June hail storms bring drop in cotton production

By Darwin Robinson
Floyd County finished ginning 202,586 bales of 2005 cotton on January 21, 2006. This bale count was down only 60,035 from last year's 2004 record setting number of 262,621, which was the biggest harvest since 1949, according to the experts.

However, according to the local gin managers, this year's cotton crop was better than last year's because of its great grade quality, due to early rains and the dry harvesting season.

Floyd County Extension Agent J.D. Ragland told the Hesperian-Beacon, "The key to this year's good harvest and cotton (grade) quality is due to no bad weather, such as snow or rain, during the harvest and the better seed varieties that are being planted today."

"For the last two years, the producers have been planting higher quality cotton seeds that have been genetically improved with today's new technology. Some of our producers in the county had a higher yield on their dryland cotton this year than on their irrigated cotton. I can't explain that, but with less labor (on the dryland) that is really good. They just got the right rainfall at the right time," said Ragland.

D & J Gin of Lockney ginned the most county bales of cotton this year with a total of 47,754. This was up 3,474 bales from last year. Office Manager Shawnda Foster said, "We had very good cotton quality this year, but we lost some cotton acres in June due to the hail storm."

Floydada Coop ginned 37,500 bales of cotton this year. This is down 22,650 bales from last year. Office Manager Arleen Nixon said, "We lost around 20,000 cotton acres back in June when the tornado and hail came through. We had five or six producers that had absolutely no cotton this year. The cotton grade quality was great. It had good moisture. Our average 'turnout' was 31 percent, which is good and our loan price averaged $.54 cents, compared to $.48 to $.49 last year."

Lockney Coop ginned a total of 31,704 bales of 2005 cotton. On the enclosed chart, this shows to be down 4,724 bales from last year's number, but Office Manager Debbie Harrison explained, "We were really up in our gin count this year, because this was all local cotton. Last year we hired out some. Our quality was good this year and all went well for us."

Darty Gin shows to have ginned 21,820 cotton bales for 2005, which is 329 more than 2004. Office Manager Denise Pernel said, "We lost some cotton acres to hail in June, but we had good quality cotton this year. We really need some rain now."

Barwise Gin was down in their number of bales ginned this year because of the June hail damage. Barwise ginned a total of 21,535 bales of 2005 cotton, down 10,697 from 2004. Gin Manager Scott Hilburn said, "We were down in our numbers because we lost 60 percent of our cotton acres to the June hail storms. However, our quality was the best that I have ever seen."

Blanco Gin showed a total of 13,500 bales ginned for 2005, compared to 22,865 in 2004. They were down 9,365 bales due to the June hail, according to Manager Jody James. "The quality was spectacular this year. We need a good rain now."

Scott Gin had a total of 12,408 bales ginned in 2005. This was down 10,892 from their 2004 count. Gin Manager John Woelfel said, "We also lost 60 percent of our cotton acreage in June due to the hail and our cotton quality was wonderful."

McCoy Gin also suffered from the June hail and tornado. They ginned 8,939 bales of 2005 cotton, compared to 14,514 in 2004. Manager Scott Graham said, "We lost a lot of cotton acreage in June. One of our customers ginned 5,000 bales of cotton with us 2004 and this year he ginned zero. However, the ginning season was smooth running and the cotton quality was real good."

Marble Gin was up a few bales this year with a total of 7,426 bales ginned, compared to 7,361 in 2004. Don Marble said, "Our quality this year was a miracle. It was just excellent. Now we need rain."

Trustees discuss bond election in public forum

By Darwin Robinson
The Floydada ISD board of trustees conducted an Open Public Forum in the FHS auditorium Thursday night, January 26, with about 80 citizens present.

The purpose of the forum was to get the opinions of the district's citizens concerning the possibility of the consolidation of campuses and of having another bond election.

Board Member Rachael Castillo moderated the forum. "We need to decide if we should have a bond election," said Castillo. "Where do we start and what do you want? If we are going to have a bond election, we need to have it in the May General Election in order to get EDA (state) funding in 2007. We need to combine the elementary schools. That would save us about $354,000."

Superintendent Jerry Vaughn said, "I have talked with Vince Vaillie of First Southwest Financial and he has looked at several numbers. One number is a $10 million bond election. We have been working with Grimes & Associates and an architect engineering firm. Since the September 2004 bond election, we have taken out, revamped and consolidated. In a 20 month window from September 2004 and May 2006, our projected costs have increased in construction, fuel, labor and steel."

Vaughn said tax revenue has to be used to make bond payments. Bond payments can not be used with reserve funds in the bank.

Board Member Kerry Pratt added, "We are not interested in maintaining four campuses as the student population dwindles. It is just not practical. How much money do you want to fund?"

Board Member Bart Greer said, "We are cutting where we can cut, but basically it is the same plan as the last one."

Following Denise Payne's questions, "Do you plan to eliminate one campus? What is your goal, and is it a reasonable goal? How do we get there?", Greer said, "The goals are the same. We want to close R.C. Andrews Elementary and the Junior High. The $14 million bond election failed, so we are drawing up something else. I speak for myself, but I don't think we should put out another bond election for the whole thing, because I believe you have already told us once, that would not work. Should we do one campus this year, or two campuses, or do nothing, or put on a band aid, or what? Or portable buildings? I don't want to put too much of a burden on the tax payers. If we knew these answers, I guess we wouldn't be here tonight."

Layne Kirk asked, "How much has been shaved off the original plan?"

Castillo answered, "There is no way possible to get what we

MOCK ELECTION--Election judges took part in a "mock election" at the Floyd County Courthouse last week in an effort to learn how to use the new voting machines that will be up and running in the March primary election. Staff Photo

Polling locations combined

Voting will be easier this year due to new automated electronic voting machines and to polling locations being combined.

In years past the primary voting locations were separated by political party. This year, because of the shortage of new voting machines, all primary election voters will cast their ballots at the same 10 polling places. The polling locations will be the same for the November general election.

Voters will enter the polling location and tell the election judge which primary they wish to vote in and the election judge will direct you in how to proceed.

Polling locations will be:
Southwest Floydada: Massie Activity Center.
Providence: Lutheran Church
Harmony: Harmony Community Center.

West Lockney: Lockney Methodist Church.
S.E. Floydada: Courthouse.
East Lockney: City Hall.

South Plains: South Plains Baptist Church.
Goodnight: Fairmont Baptist Church.

Dougherty: Producers Farm Store.
N.E. Floydada: Mt. Zion Baptist Church.

The Floyd County Republican Party is hosting a "Meet the Candidate" forum, February 9, at 7:00 p.m., at the Unity Center in Muncy.

All Republican candidates running for local office have been invited to attend the forum.

"Each candidate will be allowed to speak for 5 minutes," said Kerry Pratt, Republican County Chairman for Floyd County. "They will not engage in debate with each other or take questions from the audience."

At the end of the forum the candidates will mingle and be available to answer questions one-on-one.

Invited to speak are: Commissioner Pct. #2 Candidates: Preston Belt, Lennie Gilroy, and Lindan Morris.

County Judge Candidates: Craig Gilly, Penny Golightly, and Kirt Wyrick.

District Judge Candidates: Tempie Francis and Bill Smith.

Commissioner Pct. #3 Bill Quattlebaum.
Commissioner Pct. #4 Jon Jones.

District Clerk Candidate Patty Davenport.
Constable #2 & #3 Ray Macha.

Is it just me, or did it bother anyone else when Texas Tech regents gave Chancellor David Smith one million dollars "just cause"?

Smith has announced he is leaving to pursue other interests. He isn't retiring--just leaving. I'd leave too if someone offered me $1 million. (Something to think about for those of you who want me to go away!)

The regents, according to the Lubbock AJ story, agreed to pay Smith more than one year's salary "despite no obligation in his contract with the system to do so".

The regents say they wanted to reward him for the 10 years he worked with the Tech system.

Ten whole years--WOW! I'm really impressed.

(not)

He had already earned at least $716,000 each year.

It's hard for a college kid mom to stomach when I've seen the college kids and their parents sacrificing and working double jobs to put kids through school.

It's hard to stomach when I think about the rip offs at the University book stores--and the hidden "fees" that pop up every where on you college dues.

How many times have you heard about how we need to spend more on education? Giving away 1 million dollars "just cause" is not my idea of spending more on education.

If Tech has one million dollars that is that easy to give away, I really wish they would use it to cut costs for the struggling college kids.

A middle-aged couple had two beautiful daughters but always talked about having a son. They decided to try one last time for the son they always wanted. The wife got pregnant and delivered a healthy baby boy. The joyful father rushed to the nursery to see his new son. He was horrified at the ugliest child he had ever seen. He told his wife: "There's no way I can be the father of that baby. Look at the two beautiful daughters I fathered! Have you been fooling around behind my back?"

After starting a slow burn, the wife smiled sweetly and replied, "Not this time!"

There's a very large question evolving from the latest development in the Middle East. Will we, or won't we, get into another war in that region, this time with Iran? The Iranians just won't do what we tell them to do. Worse, they just won't do what Israel tells them to do, or anybody else for that matter.

The issue in the region formerly known, in Biblical times, as Canaan, is settled, for the moment. We won, and we lost. We won, if democracy is the criteria. We lost, if peace in the region, and the lives of our youngsters, is any criteria. Time and tide indicates that the second aspect is not really all that important.

We have long said that the only thing that stands between us and the passions of "the man in the street" throughout that region is the existence of a few friendly governments that will pay lip service to democracy while riding roughshod over those who shout for democracy. Why Mr. Bush cannot seem to realize that fact has long been a mystery to us. I suppose it all comes down to the fact that in politics, passion trumps reason at every turn, and Mr. Bush is known as a master politician.

If completely free and open elections were held in Egypt, for instance, or in Saudi Arabia, for another "for instance," the results would either be as muddled as that in Iraq, or as decisive as that in Palestine. Can anyone have any doubt, for instance, what the outcome would be in Iran if a completely free and open election were held there with the issue framed on whether Iran should be denied nuclear weapons while its arch-enemy, Israel, sits atop a stockpile of nuclear weapons that the United States acts like it knows nothing about? Our friends throughout that region have repeatedly, and privately, warned of impending disaster unless our policies toward the region was modified.

Still, various and succeeding

Administrations (whether Democrat or Republican), with an eye to money and votes, have opted for the money and votes of Jewish communities in Florida, New York, California and wherever.

Our intelligence agencies have known of Israel's nuclear weapons since the 1970's (some of which were purloined from America), but our government, for obvious reasons, refuses to even acknowledge the fact. And our ever-watchful Democratic Senators, always so anxious to harpoon the President, turn a blind eye. Like the President (and the American press), they too watch the Jewish press in Israel and the Jewish vote in America. They would be stupid, politically, if they did otherwise. And even if Bush has stolen the march on them by trumpeting democracy throughout the mid-east while they insist on Howard Dean as their public image in America, the facts of the Palestine election remain before us. Democracy, in other words, has spoken. Who can argue?

The Israeli government lost no time in announcing they would not negotiate with the newly-elected majority in Palestine. Mr. Bush, parroting the Israelis, also lost no time in announcing the American position.

Our own prediction is: given time, the U.S., the E.U., the UN and whomever will decide that the head of the government in Palestine is not the leader of the recently-elected Hamas, but is the leader of Fatah, which has been around since the days of Yassir Arafat. Let us all hope that is the case. Otherwise we are on a collision course with Iran, and we will have maneuvered the Palestinians into a corner where the only friend they have in the region is Iran. That may be the result hoped for by Israel, and Bush, but it could well end in more blood being shed by young Americans.

Vote Craig Gilly for Floyd County Judge

pol. adv. paid by Jay Lackey, Campaign Treasurer

Letter to the Editor

Dear Alice,

I need to introduce myself. I am Kaisit Plarin and was a visiting teacher to Floydada High School in 1989 - 1990. I stayed with Mr. William Grant Hambricht and was very warm with all the Hambrichts around. Because y'all like to say "y'all come back", I came back to Floydada again in 1995. Dr. Craig came to Thailand but I couldn't manage to see him. How is he now? How is Jan Thayer? She was my supervisor at FHS. How are my dad and mom Neal & Darlynn Hambricht?. There are a lot more people that I can recall and sure am missing them.

I am now a principal of Jaturamit Wittayakarn School - a high school in Khon Kaen, Thailand. I am also studying for my doctoral degree at KGU which is a dual program with Washington State University. A professor from WSU always teases me like: How y'all doin, boy? Hi, partner. Forgot your Texas cowboy hat? Howdy Texan boy? I am proud of that actually. That really reminds me of y'all.

I called mom and dad one day and they gave me Grant's e-mail address. I tried to send an e-mail message to Grant but that couldn't get through. I would like you to help find Grant's e-mail address so I can talk to him. I am missing him. I heard that he is not in Floydada now but working somewhere up north. I am coming to Washington State University, Pullman in April 2007. If Grant is not far from that place, maybe I can manage to see him.

My e-mail address is p_kaisit@yahoo.com. I would like to hear from y'all. I remember you well, Alice. I've been to your office three times. We had a photo taken. I wrote some articles and were published in the Hesperian. I still remember the school atmosphere at FHS, the junior high, the primary, Duncan and the FUSD office where Darlynn was working. I miss Floydada and I want to come back again. It would be nice should this message be published in the Hesperian. I want to thank all of the people of Floydada again for - 16 years ago - keeping me warm and helping me learn a lot of educational issues and language skills.

Bye for now,
Kaisit Plarin

REPUBLICAN
FOR 110TH DISTRICT JUDGE

Dear Voters,

I'd like to take this opportunity to set the record straight and dispel some rumors and false information you may have heard about me. As Will Rogers once said, "Rumor travels faster, but it don't stay put as long as truth."

FALSE: You may have heard that I would move the district office from Floydada to Silverton.

TRUTH: No way. My plan is to travel the district, holding court wherever the cases arise. The majority of my time would therefore be spent in the Floyd County Courthouse. The office will remain where it is.

FALSE: You may have heard I have a lack of experience.

TRUTH: We don't live in a high-crime metropolitan area, so I don't have the weekly trial experience of a TV lawyer - Hallelujah! Isn't that one of the many reasons we choose to live here? As judge, I will continue do my part to protect our quality of life by upholding the law and protecting the rights of families and individuals in our district.

Since elected in 1996, I have assisted the District Attorney in EVERY felony criminal trial before a jury in Briscoe County. These trials have included felony injuries to children, attempted capital murder, and murder. EVERY felon has been found guilty by the jury in each of these trials. I have tried four criminal cases before a jury in the Briscoe County Court. I have also presented cases before the grand jury on my behalf, as well as for the District Attorney when she has been unable to attend.

It's important to note that I have brought before the court in excess of 200 criminals who have pled guilty rather than face trial in Briscoe County Court. I consider this a win/win situation, prosecuting crime while saving taxpayers the expense of costly trials, not to mention hours and hours of jurors' time.

I have also represented child protective services when they have had to remove children from abusive parents. I have experience in family law matters such as divorces and adoptions. As an arbitrator, I have filled the shoes of a judge. I have decided cases after hearing witness testimony and reviewing documented evidence. My decisions as an arbitrator are based on the same knowledge and skills a judge would use.

I will never shy away from comparisons and contrasts with an opponent. Falsehoods are another matter. Distorting facts is a questionable, if not dangerous, habit for a judge.

TRUTH: I am experienced, educated, equipped and ready to serve you as 110th District Judge. And I'm asking for your vote on March 7th.

Sincerely,

Bill Smith
Candidate for 110th District Judge

had offered the last bond election. It is the bare essentials now."

Kirk added, "The longer we wait, the less we are going to get. We need to start now. On $10 million the state (EDA) will pay 53 percent. Our part will be $4.7 million and we can finance $1.9 million. What's the problem? Let's combine junior high and high school."

Nick Long added, "Metal has gone up. A $35,000 barn a few years ago, today costs $65,000. Where has our money been going? We need to be upgrading. We need to give a positive image to motivate our kids. We need to look at this as objectively as we can."

Board Member Amado Morales told the audience, "We need to combine campuses. It will cost us about $9.5 to $10 million, but this is our most pressing need, to combine the high school and the junior high school."

Mitch Probasco added, "I want to address why the past bond election failed. Number one, it was too much money. Number two, a 30 year bond is an eternity. A lot of people did not vote for it because a 30 year bond is a generation and a half. I don't know what the answer is, but I know the bottom line is that you do need to combine four campuses into two and that will save a lot.

"I suggest you take some of the $5 million Fund Balance, maybe $2.5 to $3 million and use that to alleviate some of our problems. Then look at a smaller short term bond. One that might pass in our community. I have talked to a lot of people since I have been off the board and my gut feeling is $10 million ain't going to fly. We need something smaller, like something within our means," concluded Probasco.

Following a question, "Why do we need to combine the junior high and the high school?", Morales answered, "Because the junior high is in dilapidation."

A junior high teacher added, "Wind is coming through the cracks (in the wall)."

Another teacher added, "Because we share teachers and rooms at the high school for junior high kids, it (consolidation) would help greatly."

Eddie Smith asked, "How much will you increase my taxes and what do you intend to use the reserve fund for? I suggest you use these dollars."

Vaughn explained that $2.8 million, of the $5 million in reserve, has already been designated for facilities. $450,000 is designated for laptop computers, $150,000 is designated for band uniforms, $30,000 is designated for a band truck, and $1.5 million is designated for a three month operating fund balance on hand mandated by the state law. "This $2.8 million could be used to complete a project, or used to start a project."

Rex Lawson commented, "If a $10 million bond election will cost (the tax payer) an increase of $.24 cents (per $100 property evaluation) and the $14 million bond election that failed would have cost us $.27 cents to $.28 cents, then I suggest we choose an alternative. Is there a way to put Duncan Elementary and Andrews Elementary together with $4.9 million, then combine junior high and high school with our general savings. Do what you can afford. Junior high and Andrews needs to be fixed."

Tom Farris said, "I believe a $10 million (bond election) will fail now. I believe a smaller and affordable project should be very seriously considered, instead of a large project. We don't want a $10 to $14 million debt for 30 years. We want to trim our debt and for it to be paid off quickly."

Consolidation of area schools was discussed briefly, but it seemed not to be an option in the near future. Also, placing module buildings at the campuses was discussed.

"We can get any size or fashion of modules that we want," said Vaughn.

Denice Payne added, "When we proposed giving the hospital building to FISD, we knew it needed repairs, but it is in close proximity to the high school. It could be used as an auxiliary building, for maybe the ag department, art classes, band, and or P.E. We need to get that building back in use. I wish you would look again at the hospital building. What are you going to do if this fails?"

Someone pointed out that the last bond election failed by a vote of 1040 to 670.

An audience member said, "$10 million will not pass. $5 million will pass. I don't want $10 million. I can't live with that. We've got to do what we can afford."

J. Royce Bradshaw said, "A $10 million bond won't fly. How many businesses has Floydada lost in the past 30 years? 78 businesses are no longer in this town. I won't be here to pay off a 30 year bond."

Stan Payne asked, "What will we do if nothing is done? Waiting for the state to come in, is a terrible answer. We need to improve the buildings we have. If we have $5 million in reserve, why haven't we fixed it? Fix what we need to do."

Castillo closed the forum, "We asked 'What do you want us to do?' and you gave us a figure. Thank you for being here tonight."

Fires continue despite ban

Since the County wide fire ban was put into effect the first week in January, the Floydada Volunteer Fire Department has been called to 4 different locations where people were burning trash or tree limbs.

"No fire resulted from these violations," said Floydada Fire Chief Carroll Sims, "but people should remember the ban is still in effect."

The Floydada VFD has made 23 runs in January. The runs include fire, ambulance, smoke, and cotton burrs fires.

"We've had 6 grass fires in January," said Sims. "We assisted Hale County in a fire that burned 2,100 acres."

Lockney VFD has responded to 11 grass fires in January. "Three of those grass fires were probably started by someone throwing out a cigarette," said Fireman Donnie McLaughlin.

McLaughlin reminds drivers to use their vehicle ash trays to dispose of cigarettes.

McLaughlin said LVFD also responded to 2 structure fires and 3 burr fires.

Texas drought losses reach $1.5 billion

By: Blair Fannin

Texas drought losses have reached an estimated $1.5 billion, fueled by high hay costs and extended supplemental feeding for livestock, Texas Cooperative Extension reports.

"More than 90 percent of the state's range and pastures are in extreme, stressed condition," said Dr. Carl Anderson, professor emeritus and Extension economist. "Hay supplies are short and expensive. Water supplies are short and will only worsen if we don't get any rain soon. The main problem for ranchers is having enough hay and buying enough feed."

"The updated numbers reflect an extended long period of supplemental feeding that has gone on a lot longer than normal," said Dr. David Anderson, Extension livestock marketing economist.

Ranchers are re-culling cattle and selling heifer calves, which will likely cut down the state's cow numbers, Carl Anderson said.

"We can expect a tightening of cows in the next year or two," he said.

Most calves have been shipped directly to feedlots due to lack of wheat fields to graze, he said. Much of the state's 2005 hay production was cut in half due to lack of rainfall, driving up prices for hay and forcing ranchers to spend more money for supplemental feed this winter.

"Overall, the soil profile statewide is dry," said Dr. Travis Miller, associate Extension head, department of soil and crop sciences at Texas A&M University. "The planting prospects are looking pretty grim for spring crops, particularly in South Texas. Normally, we start planting corn and sorghum in mid February. That won't happen unless we get some water to put in the soil profiles."

More than 90 percent of the wheat statewide is poor to very poor, Miller said.

"We've had no utilization of wheat for grazing in non-irrigated fields, which is normally a major industry in Texas," Miller said. "In East Texas, most ryegrass and small grain pastures didn't come up or haven't had enough growth to graze. The wheat stands have failed or are marginal.

There has been significant damage to the overall state wheat crop."

East Texas has been one of the hardest hit regions. Typically, about 750,000 to 1 million acres of winter pasture in ryegrass or ryegrass blended with oats is planted to offset supplemental feeding bills. Lack of rainfall never allowed those plantings to surface, Carl Anderson said.

The current drought will also impact consumers at grocery outlets in the next few months if there is no rain, particularly in the Rio Grande Valley where much of the state's vegetable production is produced.

"Eventually, consumers will see a shortage of fresh vegetables and beef prices will also be increased because of less cows," he said.

The one bright spot for the Rio Grande Valley is adequate supplies of irrigation water are available in reservoirs, Miller noted. Dry conditions in Texas have prevailed since April of last year.

According to the Texas Agricultural Statistics Service, range and pasture conditions in January were rated 63 percent very poor and 27 percent poor.

The index used to calculate the state's wheat crop is rated 20 percent very short," he said.

Rain would strengthen planting prospects in the Rio Grande Valley and Coastal Bend, Carl Anderson said. The current drought has also led to wildfires, destroying hay, fence posts and buildings, he noted.

Work begins on Veterans Park

By Ed Marks

Work begins on the Veterans Memorial, as volunteers form up for concrete. We had a great time working together to see a dream come true.

Veterans who showed up were Edward Marks, Bill Hunter, H.G. Graham, Clyde Walker, Ron Hall, and Billy Collis.

Friends of veterans who helped were Sam Moore, Blaine Hall and Brandon Hall.

To those who gave money we say, "Thank you". You are about to see your investment come to life. Stop those nay-sayers who said it would never happen. We echo the attitude of the 101 Airborne Commander, who when he is putting in a water system and electricity. If you would like to donate materials, see Ricky Griffith at Davis Lumber Yard. We will need 300 feet of 3 inch PVC pipe, 1500 feet of 2 inch PVC pipe, 50 I-20 Hunter heads, 6-156 pm and elbows and reducers. We also need flat rocks for walkways.

We are still taking cash donations. This project is a community project and you need not be a veteran to get involved.

Watters' successful crusades have gained worldwide recognition of his ministry, with invitations to preach on every continent.

Rev. Watters was ordained with the Assemblies of God in 1954 and as a young minister he conducted several preaching missions to Cuba just before the Castro takeover. Churches were organized in 22 cities as a result of these crusades.

Thank you,
Bess McWilliams and Lucretia Campbell!

It means the world to me that two women I greatly respect are endorsing me for District Judge.

Bess McWilliams, retired District/County Clerk, Briscoe County, and

Lucretia Campbell, retired District/County Clerk, Motley County

These ladies have a remarkable record of 62 combined years of experience serving our district!

Bess and Lucretia know what it takes to be a good judge. During their years in office, they have seen many come and go. They have expressed to me their confidence in my knowledge and abilities, my stability and temperament, and my experience and dedication to this district.

Both Bess and Lucretia are lifelong Democrats, but they agree with me that the judge's bench is no place for political labels. As judge, I pledge to uphold the law impartially, and protect the rights of our families and individuals.

These women know both me and my opponent, and with the choice before them, have chosen to honor me with their support. Thanks again, Bess and Lucretia. If elected, I'll do my best to make you proud.

Whirlwinds get district wins over Olton and Lockney

By Coach Brattain

The Floydada Whirlwinds traveled to Olton last Tuesday, January 24, 2006. The 'Winds came out flat and Olton came out ready to win. The game went back and forth for much of the entire game until Floydada came alive and got up by 14.

The final score was Floydada 53 and Olton 39. The 53 points for Floydada were at the time 17 points under their season average.

Leading the way for the Whirlwinds were Douglas Williams with 14 points, Oscar Garza with 12 points, Payte Beedy with 10 points and Jacob Reddy with 10 points.

Up next for the Whirlwinds were the Lockney Longhorns. This game brought a lot of energy and people wanting to see the Floyd County match-up. Staying consistent with the way they have been starting games in District 6-2A play, the 'Winds came out slow and flat at times.

Floydada went in to halftime down by 4 points. This seemed to awaken the team as they scored 22 points in the third compared to Lockney's 11 points. Up 10 points with a minute left in regulation, the Whirlwinds missed free throw opportunities and allowed the Horns to get back in the game. Lockney nailed three consecutive 3 pointers inside that last minute. Floydada escaped with a 1 point win, 54-53.

Leading the way for Floydada was Payte Beedy with 19 points and Douglas Williams with 14 points. This moved the Whirlwinds overall record to 24-1 and district record to 5-0. Again Floydada's 54 points was 16 below their average.

Floydada again left the court to the tune of "over-rated" chants from the Lockney crowd as they have with other district opponents. The Whirlwinds are not concerned with rankings as this points, just wins.

Speaking of wins, the Whirlwinds travel to Friona to start the second round of district on Tuesday night, January 31st. This will be a tough game and to get out with another district win will not be an easy task.

We will host the Tulia Hornets on Friday, February 3rd. There are 5 remaining games left in the regular season.

Thank you for all your support throughout the season.

Whirlwind JV 5-0 in district

By Coach Johnston

The Whirlwind JV used two great first quarters to pull away early against Olton and Lockney.

In the Olton game Floydada JV boys came out with a 20-5 first quarter score and against Lockney they came out with a 16-6 first quarter score.

The Whirlwind JV beat Olton 57-41. Titus Miller led the way by scoring 23 points and grabbing 9 rebounds. Eladio Saldana had 14 points and 3 assists. After jumping up in the first quarter Olton fired back at us the rest of the game and I am proud of the team for answering the call.

Defeating Lockney 49-39 gave the Whirlwinds their 12th win of the year. Just like in the Olton game, Floydada came out on fire and held of a late Lockney push to get back in the game. Titus Miller again led the way with 16 points, followed by Tucker Ross who put in 10 points. Brandon Monreal added 9 points to the game.

The Lockney game ended the first round of district with the Whirlwinds undefeated sitting at 5-0. The Whirlwind JV has had some great success this year on their way to twenty wins and an undefeated district record.

The Floydada JV has played some great competition this year. We have only lost to one 2A school all of this year and have already split with that team. All of our guys have put in great effort all year and really work hard. Probably one of the highlights of the year came when we beat Sundown's varsity, which was the number six ranked varsity school in 1A. That game and competing in the varsity tournament was great experience for the players.

SHOOTING HIGH FOR TWO POINTS-A Floydada Whirlwind is shown going high for two points last Friday night in a very close game, 54-53, against the Lockney Longhorns.

Caprock Cotton Conference successful

By: G. Davis
Extension Agent - I.P.M.

The annual Caprock Cotton Conference held January 17, 2006, at the Baptist Encampment, south of Floydada, was again a success, especially noteworthy due to an increased attendance over 2005.

As always, our gratitude is extended to Michael Wright and the Baptist Encampment Staff for the hospitality shown for our annual gathering, as the roomy facilities and the excellent meal provided a pleasant experience for all attendees. Also, on behalf of the Caprock Cotton Conference Committee, I would like to thank those agricultural producers and agri-business participants, who by their attendance each year, help to ensure the success of this endeavor.

The sponsorship for this year's Conference was also excellent as we had twenty one booth and display participants. Our sincere thanks to all those participating sponsors and providers of door prizes, as well.

Lastly, but certainly not least, gratitude is extended to all media outlets and those individuals that help spread the word regarding this annual educational event.

Presenters for this year's Conference included Dr. John Robinson, Texas Cooperative Extension Economist, providing insight into the cotton 'futures' market and an update on worldwide cotton consumption. A representative from Knowles/Taylor Cotton Co., Inc., Matador, Texas, also spoke on futures forecasting and purchasing cotton options. Dr. Randy Boman, Area Extension Cotton Specialist, provided information regarding 2005 Cotton Variety Trials for the Texas High Plains and participated in a panel discussion with other presenters to answer grower questions. Dr. Roy Cantrell, Vice President for Agricultural Research from the National Cotton Council, Cary, North Carolina, spoke on cotton research trends that are currently popular. Mike Watson, Senior Director of Cotton Incorporated, also from Cary, North Carolina, related the effects of cotton fiber quality parameters in the very volatile cotton market. Gaylon Booker, Consultant and former President/CEO of the National Cotton Council, Memphis, Tennessee, informed participants of the historic role of the National Cotton Council in market stability and market share for the cotton industry.

Ms. Debbie Slocum - Texas Department of Agriculture (TDA) Inspector, updated attendees with the latest law and regulation information for holders of private, commercial and non-commercial pesticide applicator's licenses, and a video regarding "Drift Control Management" was also provided for pesticide applicator attendees. A total of five Continuing Education Units for pesticide applicators was provided by TDA for attendees of this meeting.

Dr. Peter Dotray covered weed control strategies in cotton based on problem weeds in the Texas High Plains and his extensive experiences in application of cotton-weed-pest herbicides throughout this vast area. J.D. Ragland followed Dr. Dotray by administering a weed survey which participants were asked to complete in order that Texas Cooperative Extension might realize the vast number of herbicide applications scenarios, general herbicide knowledge, and overall weed problems in our area.

Plant growth regulator trials were also discussed with recommendations for earlier applications, by ground, to save input costs and decrease risk in production strategies.

I am especially appreciative of the role that Mr. Roger Haldenby, Vice President of Operations, Plains Cotton Growers, Lubbock, played this year as our moderator and introductory greeter for our individual speaker presentations. Also, his role as an advisory committee member, along with Dr. Randy Boman, helped to ensure the high quality presentations made by our "long range" guest speakers from North Carolina and Tennessee.

Sponsors for the 2005 Caprock Cotton Conference included:

AgTexas Farm Credit Service * All-Tex Seed * American Cotton Breeders, Inc. * Bartlett Irrigation/Electric * Bayer Crop Science * Beltwide Cotton Genetics * Chaperone * DeBruce Ag Service, Lockney * Delta & Pine Land Company * Diversified Sub-Surface Irrigation * Eco-Drip Irrigation * First Ag Credit, FCS * Hurst Farm Supply * KFLP Radio, Floydada * Mt.
