Miss Hunt Shows Slides At Rule, M PHEASANT Haskell Clubs

Madalin Hunt, teacher in the Haskell Elementary School, presented programs the past week for the Rotary Clubs of Stamford and Rule, at their noon luncheons.

Miss Hunt showed slides of the Brussels World Exhibition, and discussed the outstanding features of the Fair.

An altercation Saturday night | Sheriff Bill Pennington, Highway Patrolmen Sgt, Frank Jircik and Arthur Mason, and Chief of Police Tom P. Barnett and District Attorney Royce Adkins, investigating the incident, were told:

Juan Flores, about 20, McAllen, became involved in an argument with Floren Ciocostillo and Joe Acuna, both about 25. The younger man, Flores, whipped out a knife and stabbed Ciocostillo in the abdomen, then slashed Acuna

Retaliating, Ciocostillo secured a heavy rock, or piece of brick bat, and began beating Flores about the head, inflicting severe injuries and possible skull fractures. After subduing Flores, Cio-costillo and Acuna came to the hospital in Acuna's car, they told officers. Shortly afterwards, another Mexican brought the third injured man to the hospital, officers learned.

Acuna was released from the hospital Saturday night, after 60 stitches had been required fn dressing the long slash on his forearm, officers stated. Ciocostillo, whose most serious injury was a deep stab wound in the abdomen, was released from the hospital Condition of the third man, Flores, remained serious and he was still hospitalized Wed-

Sheriff Pennington said that no charges had been filed, pending further investigation of the incident.

Listed as Haskell's newest residents this week are Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Hoyt, recently married and who have established their home at 804 North

The Chamber of Commerce conducts a weekly canvass of newcomers to Haskell, and a committee from the Progressive Study Club visits new residents and presents gift certificates from Haskell merchants.

Haskell's three gin plants, up to Wednesday noon, had processed 8,576 bales of cotton from the 1958 crop. This represents approximately 80 per cent of the yield this year in the immediate Haskell area, ginners estimated.

Generally fair weather of the past two weeks has speeded harvesting of the crop, and a majority of farmers report the labor supply adequate to gather remainder of the crop which

A large area of the county, particularly in the Rule-Ro-chester-O'Brien sections, has had ideal weather for harvesting the crop while the remain-der of the county received showers and light rains. As a result, some of the surplus labor from the Rochester-O'Brien area has been able to assist in gathering the crop in the Paint Creek and other sections during the past week.

A large portion of the cotton still in the fields will be harvested with strippers after the first killing frost, farmers and local ginners believe. For the county as a whole.

production from the 1958 crop is now estimated at approximately 60,000 bales.

Tax Revenue Lost By Haphazard Methods

Whether the next Legislature should or should not pass a state sales tax or income tax next year has become the subject for lively discussions of late. Most people are pretty strongly pro or con-no lukewarm feelings.

Property taxes are another matter. People may gripe about them, but they don't often get stirred up about them.

The latest report by the Texas State Tax Study Commission, "Our Property Taxes," emphasizes the importance of this levy. It is Texas' biggest money-maker for state and local government. In 1958 property taxes will bring in an estimated H. M. Conner, accompanied $629,000,000 to the state and all the various local taxing units.

What is more interesting, the Tax Commission's study of assessment and collection practices and problems indicates that this figure is probably only a fraction of what is legally due.

Shortage of personnel and the difficulties of locating and evaluating all the items involved add up to inequalities and haphazard methods.

Under Texas law, individuals and businesses are supposed to pay property taxes on all real estate-land and buildings. In addition, both businesses and individuals are liable for taxes on all "tangible personal property"-cars, airplanes, boats, furniture, jewelry, business equipment, fixtures, inventories, etc. Also, on all "intangible personal property"-money, bonds, stocks mortgages, etc.

In practice, many of these are ignored outright by officials and citizens alike. Many cities make no effort to collect property taxes on cars. As to money, the Commission report obsarves, "If money in the bank were taxed on January 1, relatively few persons or businesses would have any money on

In other areas where more vigorous efforts at collection are made, results are spotty. Researchers found that the same piece of property would net widely varying tax bills in different counties. On one example the range was from $616 in Harris County to $1,132 in Travis County.

They also found that some people claim homestead exemtions for more than one house. At $3,000 each, these add up 13 to 7. to unknown thousands in untaxed value.

Exemptions plus low assessments take a big bite from theoretically possible tax collections. In a study of 3,037 house sales, the Commission's research staff found the legal tax due to be $95,019. Actual taxes levied were $2,706, only 3 per cent of what strict application of the law would have produced.

Even though many tax offices are undermanned, Texas has 1,500 assessor-collectors. Sometimes a county, city and school district (as in Haskell) each will have an official doing the same job in the same area, Result: Total cost of property tax administration in Texas exceeds $15,000,000 a year,

Religion In American Life

It is indeed fitting that November has been set aside as Religion In American Life Month.

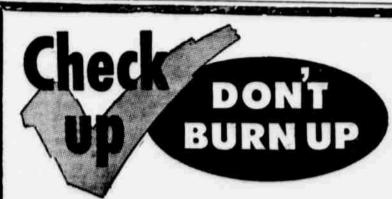

For it is during this holiday season that we are able to enjoy those rare moments that we miss during the rest of the year-time to think and count our blessings. The renewed faith that we build now can provide a stepping stone to a stronger, richer life in the year round-if it is encouraged and allowed to grow. We can find the strength for our lives by worshipping together in our faith this week. The following is the inscription on the Plymouth Rock monument-it has been a challenge to every generation of Aemricans and rings as true today as it did in 1620; This spot marks the final resting place of the Pilgrims of the Mayflower. In weariness and hunger and in cold, fighting the wilderness and burying their dead in common graves that the Indians should not know how many had perished, they here laid the foundations of a state in which all men for countless ages should have liberty to worship God in their own way. All you who pass by and see this stone remember, and dedicate yourselves anew to the resolution that you will not rest until this lofty ideal shall have been realized throughout the earth." The non-sectarian Religion In American Life program stresses this freedom by urging us to worship regularly at the church or synagogue of our choice.

given bond and qualified, but Mr. Collins cannot take charge of his office until notified of the approval of his collector's bond by the state comptroller.

PEOPLE, PLACES AND THINGS

Justice of the Peace George Piland believes in fitting the punishment to the crime-or nature of the law infraction, to state it a little more generous-

The mild-tempered official is lenient with first offenders as a rule, and they get off with a minimum fine and a strong lecture. But let a "repeater" whose none-too-good record is known to the Judge, and he's had it. On more than one occasion, Justice Piland has slapped a fine of $100 and costs on drunks known to be repeaters; Sympathy doesn't work, neither does it matter whether the offender is a man or woman. For instance, officers stopped a woman the other night who was driving over 90 miles an hour. En route from Okiahoma City to Midland, she told officers she would like to pay her fine and continue her trip.

It was 1:30 a. m. and Justice Piland had to be called out of bed to take the complaint. After accepting her plea of guilty, he pointed out the dangers of driving 90-95 miles an hour. She had endangered not only her own life but that of the officers who had to drive at a dangerous speed to overtake and stop her. "Besides that." he added, "it's way after midnight and I had to get out of bed to hold court, so I'm going to fine you $50.50, so that you'll remember what the speed limit is from now on." Assuring the Judge that she certainly would, she paid the fine and was released.

Another out-of-stater, a man from New Mexico, was of a mind to grumble over the $25.50 fine assessed him by the Jus-

"Look here, Mister, that is the minimum fine and if you're not satisfied I can make it more and might do it," the Judge told him. "Do you realize I could fine you as much as $200 a month?

That ended the grumbling, as the man quickly shelled out $25.50 without further comment.

He probably figured Texans might have enacted a law imposing fines on a monthly ba-

Next time Frankie Atkeison sees a "dead" rattlesnake she's going to give it a wide berth until positive that the reptile has departed this world for good.

While Frankie and Carrie McAnulty were fishing near the lake a few days ago, Frankie decided to change her fishing spot and started walking down a road nearby. She noticed a snake, motionless and stretched out in the road. Thinking it had been run show up in his court, someone over and killed by a car, she ing. As several hapless hunt-kicked the cluster of rattles as ly the snake con... buzzing its rattles furiously and ody to strike but Frankie wa-10 feet away by then!

Then, using a mesquite limb as a club, she killed the snake, which had eight rattles.

Frankie declares she's seen many rattlesnakes, but this was the first she'd ever seen lying stretched out perfectly straight. But I'll know the next time," she declared.

For some reason, rattlers have been more numerous than in many years, particularly in the area around the lake and in the Paint Creek community. Most people believe the waters of the lake have displaced the snakes from their harboring places in the rough country along the creek, and this is probably the most plausible explanation.

However, there's been an increase in other wild creatures, turkeys and wild hogs, for instance.

In addition to that "dead" rattlesnake, Frankie reported seeing a bunch of five or six wild hogs across the stream from where she was fishing, and a flock of at least a dozen wild turkeys. Although turkey and hogs are fairly numerous on the Clear Fork in the southeast corner of the county it has been many years since they were seen on the smaller streams where they are now frequently reported.

County Agent Frank Martin tells of seeing a flock of at least 20 wild turkeys on California Creek, where the road crosses the stream Frank was on his way to the Cobb community for a farm meeting, "The turkeys crossed the road a short distance in front of my car, then took flight," he said. He thought there were three hens in the flock and the remainder were young birds, about two-thirds grown.

Now, just in case someone might get ideas about slipping up on some of this wild game. the try wouldn't be worth the cost.

State Game Warden Bert Iverson knows just about every foot of the area where wild hogs and turkey range, and he takes a very dim view on the matter of out-of-season shooters can testify. Iverson has the devil!" the she started .... Immediate- the darndest habit of being on hand when a game law is violated.

> One man, fined for shooting doves from the road, declares MACHINERY -Iverson must have parachuted in Texas. This was the program topic directed by Mrs. Fields when members of the Magazine Club met Friday. Mrs. Fields stated that the Magazine Club, the oldest civic club in Haskeil, owns many art treasures. Treasures she brought to the attention of members are the house as a whole, "Our most valuable possession;" the east porch is a genuine flagstone terrace; the floors are pecan; the sink back in the kitchen is a solid piece of marble from the old Collier's Drug Store; and the pink mirror in the powder room is a treasured possession.

Among the works of art is a copy of Rembrandts' The Syndics or The Cloth Merchants in a gold leaf frame; an oil painting entitled Spring Song by Raymond Everetts, and an etching by Mrs. Rowe of Abi-

Mrs. Tom Davis told of an art class for young girls organized in 1915 by the Magazine Club. Mrs. Fields directed this group in the study and appreciation of art.

A quartet composed of Mes-dames C. V. Payne, R. C. Couch Sr., Wallace Cox Sr., and C. L. Lewis sang Mrs. Fields' favorite song, "Look for the Beautiful." They were accompanied by Mrs. O. E. Patterson.

Mrs. C. V. Payne discussed individual exhibits of art, glassware and hand work from their art treasures.

Several members displayed objects of art with which they love to live.

The home of Mrs. Virgil Sonnamaker was the setting for a Phone 52 gift tea Friday afternoon hon-oring Miss Christell McHam of Knox City, bride-elect of Kenneth Tucker, Haskell.

Guests were greeted by Mrs. Sonnamaker and introduced to the receiving line. In the receiving line were Miss McHam, Mrs. N. L. McHam, mother of the bride-elect, and Mrs. Louis Tucker, mother of the prospective bridegroom.

The bride's table was laid with net over taffeta decorated with white wedding bells with silver and crystal appointments. Guests were served white cake squares decorated with white bells tied with blue ribbons, by Bobbie McHam. sister of the bride-elect, and punch was ladled from a crystal bowl by Mrs. Jack Hamil ton, sister of the honoree. Cummins of Haskell, attracted national publicity last week when accidents just crossing a he traveled from Fort Worth street." to New Orleans for the Southern Medical Association meeting held there.

Then, he was to celebrate his cake ready for him. Relatives were to meet him 100th birthday in his hometown of Cookeville, Tenn. in Tennessee. There, he plan-ned to spend his 100th birthday

When he boarded the train at Fort Worth, his bon voyage gift was a scroll from the Tarrant County Medical Society. Its President, Dr. William E. Flood, made the presentation at the railroad station.

Dr. Cummings also collected two kisses from admiring nieces, Mrs. J. P. Berry and Mrs. A. B. Pumphrey, the former Davie Maud and Artie Bell Cummins of Haskell. Another niece is Mrs. V. W. Meadors of this city.

Without eye glasses, Cummins proudly read the scroll as he sat in a couch waiting for the train to pull

The scroll allowed it is an "epochal event" when a doctor turns 100 and is still practicing. It wished him many more birthdays.

stores will cooperate in pre-senting this city's monthly "Dollar Day" on Tuesday, Nov. 18, and will feature outstanding bargains for the spec-

Orleans, but the association was afraid he might get sick. The once-a-month Dollar Day has become popular with peo-ple throughout the Haskell trade territory because of the exceptional savings by local merchants on that day.

The November event is particularly timed to the approaching holiday season, and many of the stores will feature new Christmas merchandise

Cooperating stores are presenting a partial list of Dollar Day bargains in the advertisements in a four-page circular being mailed and distributed throughout the trade area this weekend. Watch for your copy of the circular and use it in making up your shopping list.
