C-C Directors Told Plans For Christmas Program

Several tentative features which may be added to this year's Christmas Program sponsored by Haskell merchants, were discussed at the monthly meeting of Chamber of Commerce directors Tuesday morning in the dining room of the Highway Drive Inn.

Property taxpaying voters of Haskell County will ballot Saturday on a proposed $80,000 bond issue, proceeds to be used to enlarge and make needed improvements to the Haskell County Hospital.

Balloting will be at all voting boxes in the county, with polls opening at 8 a. m. and closing at 7 p. m.

Order of election was issued by the Commissioners Court in response to petitions signed by several hundred voters from all sections of the county.

The proposed bond issue has been endorsed by civic organizations and leaders, as well as the hospital board of directors, and all doctors in the county.

Civic groups endorsing the proposed project include the Lions and Rotary Clubs, Chamber of Commerce and Haskell Jaycees.

If authorized by a majority of qualified voters, the county would issue bonds in the sum of $80,000, maturing at such time as may be fixed by the Commissioners Court, but not to exceed 22 years from their date.

Improvement and enlargement of the present county hospital, as planned with the additional funds, would include addition of a number of rooms to relieve the present overcrowded facilities.

Total cost of the improvement program as tentatively planned would be in the neighborhood of $160,000, it is estimated.

In addition to the $80,000 bond issue, application will be made for an equivalent amount in State or Federal funds in financing the complete program, proponents have explained.

Qualified voters in Haskell will ballot at the four precinct voting boxes in the court house, as follows:

Precinct 1, in the Welfare Office, with Clay Smith as presiding judge.

Precinct 2, in the Tax Collector's office, with Jess Collier presiding judge.

Precinct 3, in the County Clerk's office, with A. J. Mansker presiding judge.

Precinct 4, in the County Superintendent's office, with Jessie Ray Miller presiding judge.

There will be no charge for instruction. However, those participating should furnish wiring materials for "on the farm" work.

Classroom sessions will include instruction on simple electric circuits, maintenance, care of appliances and extension cords, 3-way and 4-way switches, splices and connections, selection and care of electric motors, etc. Also there will be electrical safety demonstrations, work problems on selecting proper wire size, practice wiring by class in classroom or shop, and other practical helps.

Of Dogwood and Politics

In years past, the deadline for candidates to file for a place on the Democratic primary ballot was the first Monday in May. Would-be candidates frequently followed an old East Texas tradition of holding off formal announcements "until the dogwood is out."

Election law changes passed this year move the filing date up to Feb. 1. If the whole schedule is moved up accordingly, "dogwood time" would be from late November to early December.

Probably, for the first time at least, long habit will cause most candidates to feel this is too early.

Also for the first time in 1936, county officials will face a new fact of life. A constitutional amendment adopted last year bars them from running for another office while holding their present office, if it has more than one year to run.

This means that district judges, district attorneys, county judges, etc., all of whom have four-year terms, can't run for some state office in their "off year." They will have to resign first. This rule does not apply to state officials holding four- or six-year offices.

Why Trade Goes Elsewhere

As the ancient ballad tells, for want of a nail a kingdom was lost. A modern paraphrase could be that for want of the right kind of advertising great amounts of business are lost.

The Windsor, Mo. Review points out that "the chief competitors of the small city retailer are not other local merchants. His most serious competition comes from nearby metropolitan centers." Prices on standard brands of merchandise, the Review says, are virtually the same everywhere.

Low overhead sometimes gives the small-town retailer a competitive advantage over the big-city merchant. So the Review asks and answers a question: "Why, then, do so many shoppers travel fifty or a hundred miles to buy the same items they could obtain at home for the same price?" Many retailers who ask this question should look to themselves to find the blame. Inadequate advertising is likely to be the answer.

The merchant who just opens his doors and waits for the customers to enter, without attracting them through advertising, is going to do a minimum of business. The merchant who sees to it that people know what he has to offer is going to do the maximum. And the local newspaper is the outstanding advertising medium for the retailer.

Putting Price Tag on Future

(The Houston Chronicle)

No wonder there's so much rubbing alcohol being produced these days. Taxpayers are using it on their sore backs.

United States Census Bureau figures on fiscal 1936, just compiled, probably will send taxpayers rushing to their medicine cabinets.

During that period, said the bureau, Americans paid $98,300,000,000 in federal, state and local taxes. That averages $568 per person.

But that brain-numbing sum still wasn't enough. The public debt at all levels of government increased $11,800,000,000, to a total of $334,400,000,000. Of this, nearly $300,000,000,000 is federal debt.

The debt load per person rose to $1,930, of which $1,595 was federal and $335 was state and local.

Just think, every baby that is born in this country has a debt of nearly $2,000 hanging over his head.

What a price tag to place on future generations!

PEOPLE, PLACES AND THINGS

By A. PATE

Night hunting of rattlesnakes has out-ranked football as the major topic of conversation during the past week, with adventuresome groups going out almost every night and snaring from four to a dozen of the slithery killers.

Title of champion snake killer goes to Jerry Matthews, who is credited with killing 53 rattlers in a single hunt one evening recently. At least that is the report coming to us, and we're perfectly willing to accept the count of whoever tallied the night's kill.

Instead of killing rattlers, a new angle had to be injected by C. C. President Jim Byrd, now known as "Bring 'Em Back Alive Byrd." Jim and his fishing partner E. J. Stewart went rattler hunting one night last week and brought back three squirming, buzzing and thoroughly angry diamond-backs. The reptiles were "donated" to the high school science class.

Over in Throckmorton County, we're told, several rattlesnake hunters were advised they were subject to a fine for killing the snakes. Technically, the charge would be "shooting on a highway," a State law generally assumed to be for the purpose of protecting wild game. However, nobody was fined, merely given a warning, according to reports.

Kirby and Ethel Kirkpatrick, whose home is only a short distance from the business section, found it wasn't necessary to venture out of town to kill wild life.

As they turned into the driveway at their home one evening recently, their car lights picked up a coyote drinking from a pool at the base of a water fountain on their back lawn. Leaving the carlights focused on the interloper, Ethel quickly slipped into the house and returned with a 410 shotgun. One blast spelled the doom of Br'er Coyote.

The coyote, about three-fourths grown, was believed to have been a pet which escaped from its owner after becoming accustomed to being around town.

Nightwatchman Joe Larned claims to have seen what he thought was a young fox or coyote, several times at night in the alley behind the "M" System store where spoiled fruit and vegetables are left to be picked up by the city garbage truck.

First game of the football season always has its exciting moments, as Tom Roberson will agree.

Tom handles the public address system at Indian Stadium.

um, and does a swell job. But, like the fans, he gets excited at times.

During Friday night's game with Olney, the Indians drew a penalty for illegal use of the hands on offense. Tom, a former coach and a qualified referee in all things pertaining to football, spotted the official's red marker going into the air.

"Here's a penalty and it looks like it's going to be against the Indians for unoffensive use of the hands," Tom announced. "Yes, that's the signal," he added. "Unofficial use of the hands by the Indians."

Cheering fans and colorful halftime activities have brought football a long way from the days when the English stubbed their toes kicking around the skull of a Dane.

That's one theory of how the game started, according to research experts with The World Book Encyclopedia.

The Danes occupied England from 1016 to 1042. A few years after they left, some workmen digging in an old battlefield uncovered a Danish skull and started kicking it back and forth. Several boys who had been watching dug up another skull and soon everybody was "kicking the Dane's head."

They were also getting bruised toes. Some precocious youngster substituted an inflated cow bladder, and the game of football was born.

In the 1100's, the "game" was more of a riot. Teams from neighboring towns—sometimes with hundreds of players on each side—met at some midway point. The bladder was thrown down and the free-for-all was on. The object of the game was to kick the ball into the center of the rival town. When the yelling horde descended on the town, pedestrians ran for their lives and shopkeepers bolted their doors.

Eventually the players were ordered to play in some vacant area or give up the sport. The teams retired to a field marked off with boundaries similar to those of a soccer field. And the towns—and football—were saved.

We ran across an interesting sidelight on early days in West Texas, especially the Plains country and New Mexico, the other day through John Decker.

A big problem for settlers on the treeless prairies was finding fuel for firewood. Everyone familiar with the history of the country knows that buffalo and cow chips were relied on as a major source of fuel.

John recalls that in some sections, settlers "grubbed" wood from the ground, or to be correct "mined" their firewood by digging large mesquite stumps out of the ground.

He explained that frequent grass fires kept the mesquite trees burned off, with only a small bush showing above the ground. However, the stump or root of the mesquites reached large size since they were not killed by fire and kept growing from year to year.

George Yancy recalled that he took a job as a youth, to "grub out" some land a Haskell man had bought on the Plains. When they arrived at the place, George saw only mesquite sprouts, and figured he had hired out on an easy job.

"When we started grubbing, or digging out those stumps, I soon found out some of them were almost as big as a man's body. Instead of an easy snap, it was the hardest work I ever tackled," he declared.

With the approach of the fourth Haskell Homecoming, to be held Sept. 25-26, our hopes have been revived that a long-kept secret may be revealed by some of the old-timers.

It concerns the placing of a maverick range cow in a classroom on the second floor of Haskell's two-story schoolhouse back in 1899 or thereabouts. Left in the schoolroom most of the night, the long-horned belting brute almost wrecked the town's seat of education, according to old-timers who remember the incident but disclaim any knowledge as to the perpetrators.

They say a session of the Grand Jury was called, with no results in ferreting out the offenders. Then for several years the "Schoolhouse Cow" incident was No. 1 of every Grand Jury met, but each time the investigators ran into the same old story.

VISIT IN HOME OF SISTER

Mrs. John McGuire had as visitors in her home during the weekend, her sisters, Mrs. G. E. Williams of Dallas and Mrs. John Haynes of Tucumcari, N. M.

The many distinguishing features of the 468-acre Ballard farm and ranch southeast of Haskell furnished clues for identifying the modern diversified farm as Mystery Farm No. 5 pictured in last week's Free Press.

The farm, located about six miles southeast of Haskell, was developed by the late Tommy Ballard, member of an early-day ranching family in this section. It is now owned by Dr. David Ballard of Stamford, who is continuing operation of the farm along the diversified program followed by the late owner.

A portion of the 468-acre tract is in cultivation and devoted to cotton, grain and sorghum.

A large area is in pasture and grassland, ideal for ranching, and is well stocked. A small stream traverses a part of the property making it one of the best watered tracts in this area.

Before his death, the late Mr. Ballard added poultry raising to his diversified farming and livestock raising, and the farm features a modern poultry plant.

Haskell Lad in Scottish Rite Hospital

child. Supported by public contributions and bequests, the hospital has the gratifying record of having accepted more than 100,000 children for treatment since 1925.

An exceptional staff, combined with unusual physical facilities and sincere interest in the individual child, make the Scottish Rite Hospital an outstanding treatment center which serves the entire state.

Illegal Hunting Keeping Game Wardens Busy

Law enforcement duties in the West Texas area have picked up considerably since the first of September, according to the director of law enforcement of the Texas Game and Fish Commission. Within a week's time, 42 cases were made against hunters in the West Texas area, who killed curlew, plover and quail out of season. The shooting of curlew and plover is a Federal offense as well as a state offense.

Although there seems to be a bountiful supply of doves throughout the state, shooting in some areas has been somewhat erratic. Weather changes started the bird movement and wardens of some counties report slow hunting. Water hole shooting has been slowed in some areas because of rains. On the other hand, a bountiful grain crop has provided so much food in other areas that doves are not inclined to leave.

The director warned against killing more than their limit of 10 doves, and against violations of shooting hours.

Imagine a truck ride so smooth and cushioned that fragile loads can travel the worst "wash-board" roads with ease. Imagine a truck ride that virtually eliminates shimmy and wheel fight, cuts side sway on curves, makes steering far steadier and easier, keeps drivers far fresher. Imagine a truck ride that permits higher safe cruising speeds, more trips per day with all kinds of cargo over every type of road surface. Imagine a ride that keeps up to 78% of all objectionable road shock and vibration from ever reaching the driver and cargo, a design that sharply reduces twisting and fatigue forces on chassis, cabs and bodies, that keeps trucks young for extra thousands of miles. / Soon you won't have to just imagine such a ride. You can try it for yourself in the trucks that do the next best thing to paving every road in America—new Chevrolet trucks for 1960. You'll see what happens when Chevy's truck engineers design a whole new line of trucks around a whole new kind of torsion-spring suspension. These trucks are new from the ride on up—with wonderfully roomier cabs, braunier frames, style that's fresh as sixty and more! Don't decide on any new truck till you see the newest of all.

Tropical Dinner Opens Harmony Club Season

The Haskell Harmony Club celebrated the first meeting of the 1939-40 club year with a Tropical Dinner at the Highway Drive in Thursday evening, Sept. 10 at 7:30 o'clock.

The theme for the President's evening was based on scenes from the "South Pacific" musical.

Decor was pampa grass used as attractive wall panels fastened with straw mats. Giant canna stalks were used to resemble palm trees at the entrance and exit of the dining room.

The guest table featured a basket of tropical flowers, miniature palms and berries with colorful foliage in autumn colors.

The tables were suggestive of the South Pacific warmth and color with miniature potted palms and pyracantha berry clusters interspersed with green palm fronds. The piano was decorated with Hawaiian grass, shells and beads.

The menu consisted of broiled chicken smothered in mushroom sauce, buttered asparagus, pineapple salad with cherry center, tomato slices on lettuce, hot rolls, coffee, tea and orange sherbet.

Mrs. Guy Harris gave thanks for the bountiful meal and Mrs. Al C. Williams, the president, gave the welcome address and reviewed the year's work taken from the course of study, "From Madrigal to Modern Music." Woman's Viewpoint

It is a human instinct to seek the company of friends. In the company of several people ideas are shared and ambitions become realities. From small groups of interested people, organizations are formed to include more members. Joint support and periodic meetings soon become the pattern.

Many times the question has been asked, "Why belong to clubs?" For the answer six active club women answer the question.

Mrs. W. E. Huss Jr., mother of a third grade son, finds time to take an active interest in several clubs. She has served as reporter of the Magazine Club, second vice president of the Garden Club, president of the West Texas Utilities Wives, and the P-TA. In answer to the question she replies, "It affords a woman an opportunity to associate with women that she wouldn't ordinarily be with unless she was a club member. It would be wonderful to have a central meeting place supported by all the clubs."

Mrs. Marvin L. Walters, a member of the American Legion Auxiliary, past president of Joesette Home Demonstration Club and County THDA chairman answered, "It offers an opportunity to benefit from the latest information in homemaking and a chance to work with women throughout the county and state. It offers a chance to develop in leadership and to take my place in everyday life."

A mother of three school age children, Mrs. Virgil Wall, is conductress of the Eastern Star. She has served as president of the Service Pine Line Wives, a chairman of the Band Boosters Club, and the P-TA. She says, "I enjoy clubs for social enjoyment, entertainment, fellowship, and the educational values. I especially enjoy the clubs that help our children."

A busy woman, Mrs. R. A. Lane, finds time after closing hours to regularly attend the Progressive Study Club of which she is a past president and the Band Boosters Club. This mother of two daughters answered, "Because of the contact and friendship of club members help to make life more interesting and also clubs offer a chance for self-education. The Study programs help to improve our minds and have given me a desire to continue my education... someday I hope to take some college extension courses."

"I believe that if all clubs met together once or twice a year there would be more interest in civic affairs."

Mrs. R. A. Middleton, mother of two daughters and a former teacher in the Wichita Falls public schools answered in regard to the Harmony Club, "Members have joined the music club because of a general and genuine interest in music. They either enjoy singing or the opportunity of performing on instruments. The members are divided into two groups, the choral members or the active members. A music club should sponsor junior music clubs through the school, with private musical instructors, and in general create a more music conscious community."

Mrs. Luther Burkett, Supervisor of Instruction in Haskell Public Schools, is a past president of the Magazine Club, Business and Professional Womens, and Delta Kappa Gamma.

PAINT CREEK ... COMMUNITY NEWS

BY MRS. GENE OVERTON

Paint Creek won their practice game with O'Brien Sept. 6, 46-6. Our team, small as it is, outweighed O'Brien, but most of our heavy boys are freshmen and substitutes. They all played a good game, the first string and the substitutes too, and we are going to see some good ball this fall. Jackie Daniels broke a bone in his foot and pulled some ligaments in his ankle and may not get to play much more this season. We regret that because Jackie was to be one of our main ball players, and we need every man we have. Coach Tate has had several disappointments. First, the doctors said Jeff Smith must not play ball this fall. Then like Snow broke his hand, and now Jackie is out. Mike was able to play some Saturday night, however, and he is going to be all right. This game Saturday was only a practice game, and we play our conference game with O'Brien there Sept. 24. Thursday night the Pirates beat Woodson 44-32 in another game. Woodson was supposed to beat us but they didn't. This coming Thursday we play Lueders in what is supposed to be our hardest game.

Charles Griffith of Benjamin spent Sunday with his uncle and aunt. Mr. and Mrs. Sammy Griffith and family.

Several of the mothers who were at the FHA installation said their cotton was simply burning up. That hall on Sunday, August 30, hurt some of the maize too. The worst looking cotton is in the southeastern part of Paint Creek, and in the northern part. Maybe we'll get a rain soon that will help it. Several are beginning their pulling the latter part of this week, but most of the cotton is late. Mrs. Lucille Watson has a patch of barley sowed this week for early grazing. E. A. Schaake cut and shocked his sorghum, and Gene Overton and Allen Isbell combined a patch of sorghum alum.

Several have begun sowing wheat. Ray Overton and Allen Isbell took loads of wheat to Monday Monday to have them cleaned, and ready to sow this week.

The Homemaking girls of Paint Creek had a beautiful candlelight installation of their officers for this year Monday night, Sept. 7. The girls were dressed in formals and the installation and induction of new members was most impressive. They have their own capable reporter and she will have a writeup somewhere else in the paper of the details of the ceremony, but it was a beautiful program and the girls and Miss Boshier, their sponsor, are to be commended. New members are Paulette Fischer, Dorothy Coleman, Wanda Medford and Carolyn Livengood.

Paulette Fischer and Margaret Fischer were in the style show at the auditorium in Haskell last week modeling dresses made from materials from the Fabric Shop.

Mr. and Mrs. Ray Sims and children Karen and Bouncer of San Antonio spent the weekend with their parents. Mr. and Mrs. Frank Sims and Mr. and Mrs. Doc Raughton. Glenda and Nelta Walton left

Her mother and father were with her for the surgery and until she was able to leave the hospital. Mina is a student nurse at Hendrick School of Nursing.

Mrs. Lawrence Ballinger of Denver City and Mr. and Mrs. Strickland of Denver City. They were spending the weekend fishing at the lake, and they once lived here. The Alvis boys once lived right across the road from the McCurdys.

Mr. and Mrs. Albin Hokanson had as guests Sunday Sept. 6 to help celebrate their son Leon's 20th birthday, sisters of Mrs. Hokanson and their families. They were Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Stevenson and Mr. and Mrs. Shouquist, her brother Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Strand, Mrs. Lee Medford and Willie Lee.

Little Marcia Jo Morrison broke her leg in a bicycle accident Thursday afternoon. Janay was pumping her on the bike, and she caught her foot in the spokes. Before Janay could stop, it had skinned and cut her leg quite a bit. The Morrissons took her to the clinic, and they doctored the cuts and bruises but didn't X-ray. It kept hurting and Tuesday they returned to the clinic. When Gene X-rayed it, it was found that the bone was broken just above the ankle. It is now in a cast and "everybody can write on it" Marcia says.

Entertaining for their college students who will be leaving for school soon, the Methodist Church had a supper Sunday evening before church services. Sandwiches, punch, homemade ice cream and cake were served and the following students were honored: Wallar Overton who will be a junior in Texas A&M at College Station; Wm. Overton who will return to North Texas College Denton, for his junior year; Arvie Bergstrom who will be a junior at the University of Texas; Dianne Montgomery and Kay Strickland who will go to Kansas City, Kans., to the Central Technical Institute for an airline technique course, and Nancy Fancher who will be a sophomore in Midwestern at Wichita Falls.

Mr. and Mrs. Phil Williams and daughter Lisa Gaye of Lubbock spent the weekend with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Jess J. Mickler and attended the ball game Saturday night. The junior boys won their first football game when they played Mattson Tuesday night at Paint Creek. The score was 21-8.

Mrs. John Kohout and Raymond (Butch) left Monday for Poughkeepsie, N. Y., where they will visit their son and brother. Mr. and Mrs. Robert Kohout. I missed my deadline at The Free Press last week and some of this preceding news is warmed over from last week.

Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Perry had as their guests Labor Day weekend their daughter, Mrs. Thelma Bricker and their grandson and his wife, Mr. and Mrs. Billy Wayne Perry, all from Fort Worth.

Mrs. Gene Overton and Mrs. Lucille Watson were in Denton Thursday where they took Wm. Overton to enter North Texas State College. They came home by Fort Worth and visited a short time with Mrs. Watson's daughter, Mrs. Allen Box and children.

Braceros Deposit Letters in WTU Meter Box!

If some dark-haired senorita south of the Rio Grande is wondering why no word has come from an absent bracero swain, Earl Correll, meter reader for West Texas Utilities Company, can probably give the answer.

Making his monthly meter route this week, Earl raised the door on a meter box at the Farmers Coop Gin east of the railroad to take the reading. Inside the meter case and covering the dial from view were eight letters, all bearing airmail postage!

Newly arrived bracero farm workers, whose living quarters are near the gin, had mistaken the meter box for a mail box, and deposited their letters there for Senor Postman!

ACCIDENT VICTIM TO HAVE CAST REMOVED
Haskell's School Homecoming next week will be a doubly enjoyable event for Mrs. Norma Baker of Dallas, injured in an accident last June. Mrs. Baker has been at the home of a sister, Mrs. Ching Middleton in this city recovering from the fall in which she suffered a fracture of her right leg and arm. Her leg has been in a cast since the accident, but her doctor has told her the cast can be removed next week. An ex-student in Haskell Schools, Mrs. Baker is looking forward to visits from former classmates and friends during the Homecoming.

Former Student Recounts Memories Of Haskell Teachers, Spirited Pupils

Although several decades have passed since he was a student in Haskell Schools, Eustace M. Hutchens of Salado, Texas, vividly recalls many of the teachers and earlyday pupils with whom he was associated.

Some of his recollections and comment about the schools are expressed in a recent letter to Homecoming President Mrs. C. V. Payne, and because of their interesting nature, excerpts from his letter are reprinted below:

"Dear Allee:
You've no notion how delighted I was when I read a note—minim though it was and a mere appendage to the stereotyped sheet—from someone who attended the Haskell High School during the decade I was there. I'm a bit surprised that you remember me.

You, I vividly recollect, and seem to recollect you most as a little red haired girl riding a galloping pony along the streets of Haskell near the hour of sunset. Whether this fitting idyll fits what you were like and what you were doing those several years ago, I can't be certain; memories sifting through so many ensuing days may become a little frayed or refracted. But even if mine are refracted, those I hold of the old Haskell school are also diffracted, edged and colored with iridescent lights.

My heart leaps up when I behold a rainbow in the sky, says the poet, and mine no less leaps up when I recall to mind my former teachers—Thomas, McKay, McGhee, Berry, Ellis, Wells, Blanchard, Harper—names that sound to me like a roll call of heroes and heroines from the Golden Age. Other teachers there were not at all forgotten but they were not my instructors.

I don't think that ever again in Texas (not even in Haskell) there will be in any high school such a collection of idealistic high-minded pedagogues; nor may I imagine that ever again there will be more ambitious and spirited body of students than that one to which those teachers imparted their zeal for learning and achievement. On these points I feel qualified to speak; after leaving Haskell I attended three other high schools and had ample opportunity to observe and appraise their faculties and their students.

It was with unspeakable sadness I left the old school. Acutest of my many chronic regrets is the fact that I did not graduate there. Now and then, even yet, I find myself dreaming that one day not impossibly I may perform some feat of excellence—write a treatise not unlike Areopagitica, or invent a nuclear chewing gum (more expansive and more explosive than Double Bubble) or discover a legal method of strangling female moralists or literary critics, by which extraordinary exploit the trustees will be led to take notice of me and haply decide to extend to me an honorary diploma of graduation. Their doing this would establish for them a unique precedent, for me an enviable distinction. True, the honor would arrive late; but, as some Etruscan poet or other once remarked, Pulchrum autem...

RETURNS FROM VISIT ON WEST COAST
Mr. and Mrs. F. M. Montgomery and son Bud, joined by Mrs. Alva Montgomery of Rotan, returned recently from the West Coast. Having made the trip numerous times, before, most of the time on this trip was spent visiting relatives in Albuquerque, N. M., Pomona and Monterey, Calif. They returned by way of El Paso and visited with Mr. and Mrs. Frank Montgomery and Mr. and Mrs. John Warren and family in Crane, Texas. A highlight of the trip for Bud was when he and two cousins of Los Angeles attended a baseball game in that city's coliseum where they, with more than 82,000 other fans watched the Dodgers beat the Giants, 5-2. Sandy Koufax struck out 18 league-leading Giants for a new record. The scoring rally winning the game was set off by Wally Moon's home run in the bottom of the ninth inning.

TB Association Talks Plans for Seal Sales

A business meeting of the Haskell County Tuberculosis Association was held Monday evening in the community room of the Haskell National Bank. In addition to other business, plans for the coming Christmas Seal Campaign were discussed.

Mrs. D. Hicks of Rochester, president of the county association, presided. Mrs. Fred Monke, County Seals Sale chairman, gave reports on the State Board meetings she attended in San Antonio last March, and in Austin in July.

Mrs. W. P. Trice gave a report on the TB Patch tests being given all first grade school children in Haskell County schools.

Mrs. Hicks stated that announcement had been received from the National Tuberculosis Association that Milwaukee Braves star Red Schoendienst has been named National Honorary Chairman of this year's Christmas Seals Campaign.

Mrs. Monke, in discussing this year's Seal Campaign, said: "We have a long way to go in the battle against TB. Last year several people died of tuberculosis in this area, and there were a few new cases. There are cases still undetected, all of them possible sources of infection."

Present at Monday night's meeting were Mesdames D. Hicks, R. A. Shaver Jr., Manfred Reid, T. C. Walker, Fred Monke, W. B. Guess, C. V. Payne, Jetty V. Clare, W. P. Trice, C. O. Holt, Mr. and Mrs. Waldrup, Miss Nettie McCollum.
