Raissez is new Sheriff for Floyd County

NEW SHERIFF SWORN IN--County Clerk Marilyn Holcomb swears in Paul Raissez as the new Floyd County Sheriff. Paul's son, Reon, and Paul's parents, Al and Arlenee Raissez look on.

Paul Raissez was sworn in as the 19th Sheriff of Floyd County, Friday, February 2.

After accepting the resignation of Sheriff Royce Gilmore, the County Commissioners entered into executive session shortly after 3:00 p.m., Friday, to consider the applications for the position of Sheriff.

After approximately 15 minutes the Commissioners reconvened in open session. Commissioner Ray Nell Bearden then stated, "Since it is our policy to appoint the most qualified person for the job, I make a motion we appoint Paul Raissez Sheriff."

Commissioner Lennie Gilroy made the second and Commissioners Jon Jones and Bill Quattlebaum also voted in favor. Sheriff Raissez will fill the 2 year unexpired term of Gilmore.

Other applicants for the position were: Richard Zavala, of Lockney, Clarence Douglas Walding, of Floydada, and Charles Dunn, of Floydada.

Raissez, 32, was born in Floydada and attended school in Floydada until the 3rd grade when he moved to Lockney.

He attended Lockney schools from that point on and graduated in 1994.

Raissez attended South Plains College, in Levelland, for one year and then went to work at the Floyd County Sheriff's Office in May of 1996 as a jailer.

He graduated from the Lubbock County Sheriff's Academy in 1998 and was hired as a deputy, by Sheriff Gilmore, in 1999.

Raissez currently lives in Lockney and is the single parent of a 13 year old son, Reon. The Sheriff's parents, Al and Arlenee Raissez, also live in Lockney.

Raissez has one deputy assisting him at the Sheriff's office, Trey Dolloff. The Sheriff is currently advertising for another deputy.

The Sheriff says his #1 priority at this time is to improve the relationship with the Commissioner's Court. "I want to work with the Commissioners and County Judge and get that relationship back in good standing."

Raissez's name will now be added to a list of 18 other Sheriff's, starting with Floyd County's first Sheriff, D.W. Jenkins, who served from 1890-1895.

The progression of the County's Sheriff's is as follows: Jenkins, E.C. Henry, S.B. McCleskey, A.C. Goen, J.A. Grigsby, John R. Maddox, P.G. Stegall, Mrs. P.G. Stegall, J.M. Wright, E.S. Randerson, F.N. Clark, Lee Howard, Earl Cooper, Walter Hollums, L.L. (Bud) Rainey, Fred Cardinel, Charles Overstreet, Royce Gilmore, and Paul Raissez.

The men who have served the longest as Sheriff were Walter Hollums, from 1956-1971, and Fred Cardinel, from 1976-1992.

County produces 2nd biggest cotton crop

By Darwin Robinson

The 2006 Floyd County cotton bale count is set at 220,698 bales ginned in the county. According to records, this is the second biggest cotton harvest in Floyd County since 1949.

The 2004 record cotton harvest was 262,621 bales ginned. The 2004 bale count was the largest since 1949, according to Economist Dr. Carl Anderson of the Texas Cooperative Extension at College Station, as reported in the April 14, 2005 issue of the Hesperian-Beacon.

According to Anderson, in 1949 the region harvested 7.5 million bales of cotton on twice the number of acres, while the 2004 regional cotton harvest was 5.5 million bales on half the number of acres planted in 1949.

Floyd County Extension Agent J.D. Ragland reported in his December, 2006 newsletter, "40,000 acres of cotton failed in 2006 due to the dry conditions, leaving only 151,822 acres harvested. When the failed acres are omitted, the average 2006 yields don't look too bad."

Most gins reported good cotton quality this year, but they said the 2006 drought during the summer caused a large expense for the producers who had to irrigate.

Floydada Coop ginned the largest number of 2006 cotton bales in the county at 53,786, compared to 37,500 ginned in 2005.

Lockney Coop ginned the second largest number of 2006 cotton bales in the county with 33,574, compared to 31,704 in 2005. The cotton quality this year was real good, according to their office.

D&J Gin of Lockney came in a close third with 33,298 bales ginned in 2006, compared to 47,754 bales ginned in 2005. Their bale count was down this year because of the lack of any dryland cotton this year, according to their office.

Barwise ginned their seconded biggest number of bales ever with 28,000 bales for 2006, according to their office, compared to 21,535 bales in 2005. Their quality was very good, according to their office.

Scott Gin of Floydada ginned 23,417 bales of cotton in 2006. This set a record for them with the largest number of bales ever ginned, according to their office. This was compared to 12,408 bales ginned in 2005.

McCoy Gin Manager Scott Graham reported 16,726 bales ginned in 2006, compared to 8,939 bales in 2005. "The quality was excellent this year," said Graham.

GIN	2006	2005	2004	2003
Barwise Gin	28,000	21,535	32,232	6,200
Blanco Gin	10,600	13,500	22,865	5,000
Darty Gin	15,246	21,820	21,491	4,597
D&J Gin	33,298	47,754	44,280	8,428
Floydada Co-op	53,786	37,500	60,150	12,479
Lockney Co-op	33,574	31,704	36,428	2,407
Marble Bros. Gin	6,051	7,426	7,361	1,158
McCoy Gin	16,726	8,939	14,514	5,500
Scott Gin	23,417	12,408	23,300	1,337
TOTALS	220,698	202,586	262,621	45,948

Randy Pernell, Gin Manager of Darty Gin, reported 15,246 bales ginned in 2006, compared to 21,820 bales ginned in 2005. "We lost a lot of acres this past summer to hail storms," said Pernell.

Blanco Gin Manager Jody James reported 10,600 bales ginned for 2006, compared to 13,500 bales ginned in 2005. James told the Hesperian-Beacon, "We still have about 300 bales of cotton in the field to be stripped and to be ginned at a later date. I am adding those 300 bales to our count for 2006."

Don Marble, of Marble Brothers Gin, reported 6,051 cotton bales ginned in 2006, compared with 7,426 bales ginned in 2005. Marble said, "The drought got our dryland cotton this year, but our irrigated cotton was real good quality."

Christian Women's Job Corps coming to County

Christian Women's Job Corp NOW (New options for Women) began in Floyd County as a joint effort of Christian women from Floyd and surrounding counties. The purpose of the organization is to provide a Christian context in which women in need are equipped for life and employment, and a missions context in which women help women.

"We are currently working on the final preparations for implementing this program in Floyd County," said Shannon Cage.

"On January 12 and 13 we met for a weekend leadership retreat at Plains Baptist Assembly to pray, go over our mission plan, and establish our By Laws in an effort to become a 501 © 3 non-profit agency.

"This was a big growth step for CWJC. Donations then could be 100% tax deductible and grant applications could be started.

"We were also privileged to have two young women who have been through the CWJC training at "My Fathers House" give their testimonies. It gave us great insight to exactly what these women felt and received from attending a CWJC course. To hear these women express their love for our Heavenly Father, and to see them with the Holy Spirit light shining through was truly a inspiration."

Work for a local CWJC began in Floyd County in 2004. A very successful Christian Women's Conference was held at the Unity Center in 2006 to raise money to go forward with the project. This January conference was one more step in implementing the program locally.

"Getting our 501-© 3 is our immediate goal," said Shannon. "Some of the goals set for this year include:

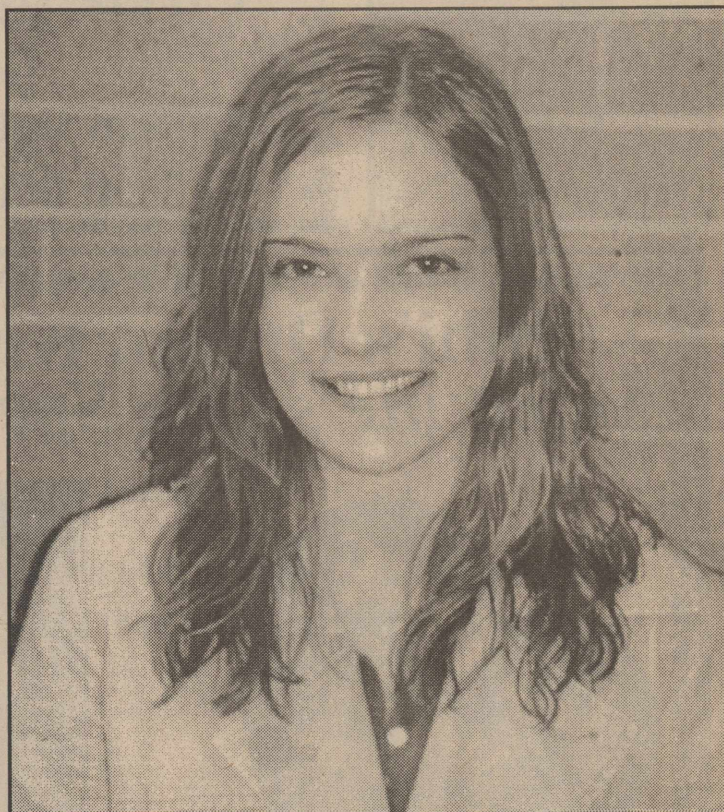

"Having an office up and running two days a week by March, start the Mentor training by April,

I saw an article in the AJ the other day which made me laugh and groan at the same time. It also made me glad, once again, that I live in Texas and not somewhere else.

In Cambridge, Minn a 74 year old farmer, Kenneth Englund, has been charged with second-degree assault (a felony), after he chased down a thief for stealing gasoline from a neighbor's farm.

The report was sketchy, but from what I read Englund saw a man and woman at this neighbor's farm stealing gas. He pointed a gun at them (which wasn't loaded) and then chased them in his vehicle at speeds of 70 mph (oh, my goodness!).

During the chase he used his cell phone to call the Sheriff's office and tell them what was happening. The 74 year old man made the mistake of asking the dispatcher if he should "blow them away".

Not being a Texas dispatcher, the operator and Sheriff took offense at this.

The story never says who actually arrested the thief or how the chase ended, but Englund ended up being charged with a felony.

The thief was charged with a misdemeanor. The thief, however, is still in jail being held on a felony warrant from another state (he better hope it's not Texas).

The Cambridge Sheriff, Mike

Ammend, says he arrested Englund because, "you can't take the law into your own hands".

Englund says criminals can escape by the time a deputy can arrive from Cambridge because it is 15 miles away.

Can you imagine one of our local farmers holding a thief at gunpoint for trespassing and stealing "anything" from him or his neighbor, and then when one of our deputies or police showed up doing anything more than shaking the hand of the citizen and saying, "thanks for your help"?

It's not like Englund shot the guy. His gun wasn't even loaded-which I thought was pretty nervy for this senior citizen.

The news article said that more than 350 people attended a fundraiser for Englund and are circulating a petition supporting him. I hope if he does have to go to trial, the jurors are a bunch of retired Texans-although I have no idea why any self-respecting Texan would move to Cambridge, Minnesota.

The picture below is my "brag page" Valentine picture. My husband found this recently and it made us remember the good old days when our house was full of boys eating us out of house and home. These are some of "our Valentines" and we miss them very much.

We see by the papers, finally, some mention that the U.S. Department of State has asked the U.S. Congress what to do about the fact that Israel has violated an agreement with this country about the use of cluster bombs in the most recent fracas in the Middle East.

Talk about wasted effort. In the first place, it is ridiculous for the current State Department to ask the current Congress what to do about a situation wherein "America's closest friend" misuses arms and ammunition that was given to Israel for "defensive" purposes.

Congress will not even answer, nor should they. The State Department ought to do the honors. That's the way it has always been done. That way they can blame each other for not doing what they both should do, or should have done, and that's jump down Israel's throat for using arms given them for one thing or something else entirely.

Neither the current Administration, nor the Congress, will ever find any fault with Israel on anything. Israel was fussed at, ever so slightly, for using American arms to invade Lebanon back when Ariel Sharon was a Defense Minister of Israel bucking for Prime Minister. They made all sorts of explanations and apologies for that one. The simple truth is that Israel lied to America about the extent of their proposed invasion of Lebanon and then lied again when they blamed the horrible slaughter that resulted on paid mercenaries. (Some of you may remember that episode. The Jews blamed it all on a bunch of Christians they had in their pay (the South Lebanese Army)...and in the pay of certain religious charlatans in this country).

Israel was not even fussed at by our government when they attacked the U.S. Naval ship Liberty, in international waters during another of those endless wars. (I think, but I am not certain, that this particular war was during Johnson's tenure as President).

More than 30 American sailors died in that attack. In fact, about the only time we can ever remember Israel getting fussed at, on anything, was when they joined with France and England to take the Suez canal away from Egypt back during Eisenhower's time. Ike simply told all parties to back off, which they did.

Both this Congress and this Administration have their own reasons for coddling Israel. With Congress, it's simply a symbiotic relationship. Israel's friends in the United States supply a majority in Congress with funds, and Congress supplies Israel with all kinds of support at taxpayer expense. Witness: Republican Mitch McConnell of Kentucky and any number of Democratic officeholders.

With this Administration, it's another story. This administration lives in hope, which is not necessarily a bad thing, within reason. They hope Israel's friends in the U.S. will convince the bulk of America's Jewry, including those in the media, to support Bush in his Middle East ventures, and maybe even vote Republican. It hasn't happened yet, but Bush can, and does, live in hope. Even Sen. Joe Lieberman won't vote with Bush on anything but the Iraq war and he has his own reasons for that. But Bush will still go out on a limb and support Lieberman for reelection. The message we are left with is one that says Bush is more interested in Middle Eastern matters than he is any sort of conservative values in his own backyard right here in the U.S.A. Illegal aliens can flood this country, with Bush turning a blind eye to all, while hoping he can, someday, get his treasured "amnesty" plan through Congress and join LBJ in helping shape the demographics of this country.

So don't waste your time, gentle reader, waiting for something to be done about the latest misuse of American tax dollars by Israel. Nothing will be done.

Letter to the Editor

Re: My letter to the Editor

This past weekend I received a threatening letter because of my letter to the Editor concerning the $1800.00 private jet trip. This is to the cowardly person who sent me this letter and did not sign it.

Your letter does not bother me and if you would like to have it published, all you have to do is sign it and send it to Ms. Gilroy. Be sure that is what you want to do. When you threatened me you also threatened every farmer in Floyd County. You acquired your information from a website that a lot of farmers didn't like when it was started and I am sure they still do not. The information on this website is also, not completely accurate, you have to know how to read it which you very obviously don't.

To all of the people who called, who personally contacted me and thanked me for writing the letter, I thank you.

Sincerely,
Sue Ward

South Plains Study Club News

By Sandra Lass

The South Plains Hobby Club met at the home of Sandra Lass for the annual Christmas Party on December 13, 2006. Members present included Virginia Taylor, co-hostess and Mistress of Ceremonies, Barara Cawley, Kay Gilbert, Ann Hartman, Peggy Roberts, Wanda Lane, Dovie Davis, Janis Julian, Carolyn Marble, Mildred Smitherman and guests Lou Burleson and Mary Jo Lass, Sandra's sister-in-law. Each member brought a covered dish, a wrapped inexpensive gift (no more than $10) and an assortment of practical items such as combs, brushes, tooth brushes, body soap, powder, makeup kits to be given to the ladies at the Plainview Crisis Center. Although not arranged in advance, no two covered dishes were alike and there was a nice assortment of finger food, salads, main dishes and desserts. Peggy, Barbara and Sandra served water, coffee and tea; otherwise, everyone went around the counter and helped themselves.

Following the meal, Virginia explained the game she planned: a variation of the Chinese Birthday Party, except in this game, each person selected a gift (not the one they brought). Then, as Virginia read the poem "A Visit from St. Nicholas" by Clement Clarke Moore, at various times she inserted either the word "left" or "right" at which time each person would pass the gift either to the left or right, whichever one of the two words Virginia said. As Virginia read the poem she inserted the words left or right more frequently, to the point that many of us were not only getting mixed up but dropping some of the gifts (nothing broke) and laughing so hard that it was hard to concentrate. By the time Virginia finished the poem, some of the wrappings were a little bit worse for wear, but nobody ended up with either the gift they brought or the gift they selected at the beginning of the game.

The South Plains Hobby Club met at the South Plains Baptist Church fellowship hall on January 9, 2007. Members present included Barbara Cawley, Virginia Taylor, Ann Hartman, Carolyn Marble, Kay Gilbert, Peggy Roberts, Donnie Bowman, Wanda Lane, Connie Sanders and Sandra Lass. The purpose of the meeting was to plan activities for the rest of the year, elect new officers and pay dues. Donnie Bowman was elected president and Peggy Roberts, Vice president. Ann Hartman and Sandra Lass were reelected Treasurer and Reporter, respectively. Peggy and Barbara volunteered to help Donnie prepare the 2007 Calendar.

The group planned activities for each of the ten months that the Hobby Club meets: a trip to Matador to see Bob's Oil Well which has recently been restored; a tea party at Shepherd's Meadow in Floydada to learn about long-term care and assisted living; a trip to Crosbyton to see the Smith House and gift shop.

The group also plans to have sessions on scrap booking, seasonal candy making and other crafts, as well as the annual Hobby Club Christmas party to be held in December.

Following the meeting, hostesses Peggy, Barbara and Carolyn served refreshments. The next meeting will be held on Valentine's Day, Wednesday, February 14, 2007.

Snow, Snow and more Snow. I know this snow has been good moisture for the farmers and everyone but I am sure glad to see some pretty weather.

Judy Macha and I had lunch last Thursday with Wilma Edwards who cooked some of the best stew. Judy and I really enjoyed Wilma's yummy stew and our visit.

Please keep Christine Byerly in your prayers. She has been real sick in the Muleshoe hospital. She is now recuperating in the nursing home in Muleshoe. She went to Muleshoe to be close to her granddaughters.

A dear family friend of ours passed away unexpectedly last Saturday night. Bill Dean Washington's funeral services were Monday February 5, 2007 in the Flomot Baptist Church. A beautiful matching pair of big grey horses pulled a wagon with Bill's casket in it to the Flomot cemetery. His pallbearers, his grandchildren boys and girls followed Bill in another wagon. I know Bill was pleased. Please keep his wife Erma and their family in your thoughts and prayers.

A former Lockney resident, Gordon Suits, passed away January 18, 2007. His memorial services were held in Albuquerque, N.M. and he was buried in Santa Fe, N.M. His survivors include his wife Joan, daughter Susan and husband Steve Dodge. One grandson Brian Dodge and wife Domi, and one granddaughter Melissa Dodge.

Gordon was born February 10, 1918 in Jayton, Tex. to Arlie "A.A." and Mary Ella "Dollie" Henson Suits. He was an only child. The Suits family moved to Lockney in 1918. Arlie was a mail carrier.

Gordon graduated from Baylor University in Waco with a degree in music and education in 1938. The day after graduation he went to Dallas and started a career as an entertainer and singer with the WFFA radio station's "Early Bird" morning program where since Gordon was red headed he was nick named "The Red Robin" and that along with the song "When the red red robin comes bob bob bobbing along" written by David Luebbert in 1926 came to be Gordon's trademark.

Suits worked for WFFA until he joined the army in 1942. After he was discharged in 1945 as a 1st Lieutenant he returned to WFFA in Dallas.

In 1950 Suits moved to Amarillo and went to work at KGNC and hosted "The Red Robin Show" a daily program that opened with Gordon at the piano singing his trademark, "When the red red robin comes bob bob bobbing along"

In 1960 he received his Master of Education degree and was the choral director at Amarillo Caprock High School until his retirement in 1981.

During the last 11 years his love of teaching compelled him to become a mentor for adult literacy. Gordon's mission was to make a positive difference in someone's life. He did for many through his music, teaching, humor and love of life. He will be greatly missed.

This Thursday, February 8, and Friday, February 9, from 1:00 p.m. to 5:00 p.m. each day, an AARP representative will be at the Center teaching a course of Driver's Education.

Taking this course will give you a discount over a three year period on your auto insurance. The cost is $10 per person. Please call, 983-2032 to sign-up. No tests will be given. You do not have to be a senior citizen to take the course, it's for any age.

If you are disabled, unable to get out of your home, or if you are a caretaker of a homebound person, you are eligible for a lunch delivered Monday through Friday to your home.

Depending on your income, the meal will either be free, reduced, or the suggested donation cost of $3.00 a day. If you are interested, please call 983-2032 and talk with Joanne Smith, our director.

Visitors at the Center, Wednesday, January 31, were Dale and Carol Lawson Redd, of Flomot. They ate lunch with us and visited several friends. They have recently moved to Flomot after living in Hawaii for 8 years. Carol's mother is Queen Annie Lawson.

Thank-you for remembering the Center when you need to make a memorial donation.

By Bettye Jackson

"Now is the winter of our discontent" is the opening line from Shakespeare's "Richard III". This phrase has been running through my mind since the first snow and ice two months ago and seems an apt description for the wintry weather. Mother Nature has shown us she can produce snow, sleet, and bone-chilling cold in spite of global warming. Our pioneering spirit has been tested with loss of electricity and water, not to mention being house bound for several weekends. My hat is off to those courageous pioneers who settled this country.

All this weather talk prompted me to look through our files to find major snow and ice storm stories in past years for Floyd County. These are what I found and I am sure most of our older citizens can come up with a lot more with more detail.

April 1938--A spring blizzard with heavy snow and low, record breaking temperatures that dated back to 1907.

January 1941--This article didn't mention show but the temperature dropped below zero for 3 days in a row.

February 1956--Blowing snow dumped 12 inches of white stuff.

February, 1971--A blizzard and blowing snow brought Floyd County to a halt.

January, 1983--I remember this 18 inch snow fall very well. It is the worst snowstorm I have personally endured, EVER.

Snow plows cleared the highways, schools were dismissed and I got stuck in snow in the middle of the highway trying to get to work.

The second line in the quote from Shakespeare ends with the hope of "glorious summer by the sun". I can definitely handle that.

Our Museum Board of Directors has a couple of new faces. Dorothy Turner and Hulon Carthel have agreed to serve on the Board. We welcome these new directors.

Memorials have been given in honor of Chris Sue, Imogene Baird, Charlene Reid, Ruth Kreis McIntosh, Riley and Lula Teague, Ed and Alma Holmes, Ann Fae Laws George and Arthur and Sallie Kreis. As always we are so grateful for the family and friends who give to honor loved ones.

Inclement weather and the holidays have slowed our visitors to the museum but we always enjoy each and every one. Whether it is a first visit or visit number twenty we welcome you to the museum. The registration book shows visitors from Crosbyton, Mission, Silverton, Amarillo, Lubbock, Quitaque, Lockney, Bellville, Childress, San Antonio, San Marcos, and Floydada. Out off state visitors were from Long Beach, California, Oklahoma City, and North Carolina.

Come for a visit at the museum.

Lockney's Ledesma achieves through CAMP

According to a West Texas A&M News Release, Jesse Ledesma thinks he probably would be roofing houses today if it were not for the College Assistance Migrant Program (CAMP) at West Texas A&M University. Instead, the Lockney native finds himself with a career in financial management and a home of his own that he can put a roof on whenever he likes. "CAMP" made all the difference in the world," said Ledesma, a 2004 WTAMU graduate with a degree in business management and a job as a branch account manager for CitiFinancial of Amarillo. "CAMP", funded by the U.S. Department of Education, is designed to help students from migrant and seasonal farmworker families succeed in post-secondary education. The program enables 30 new students to enroll at WTAMU each school year. Those students receive scholarships and monthly stipends throughout their freshman year, including partial housing waivers, books, supplies and a variety of counseling services, financial aid advisement and assistance with the application process.

Ledesma entered the program in 2000, its second year to serve West Texas A&M. Four years later, he had his degree. He bought a house just this winter. "What that first year taught me more than anything else was how to manage time," he said. "That's how I finished in four years. "I didn't even think college was possible before I found out about CAMP, and even then I wasn't sure I could handle it. But I soon discovered that they have meetings and counseling sessions and other activities that teach you time management. I had to get a job after that first year, but by then I understood how to manage my time.

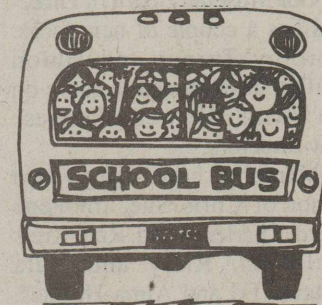

"I know one thing: not having to work during my freshman year and receiving a monthly stipend took a lot of pressure off my transition to college. That had a huge impact on my ability to succeed." More than 70 percent of students who have been accepted into the CAMP program at WTAMU have graduated from college, like Ledesma, or are continuing their post-secondary work. For more information about CAMP at West Texas A&M University, contact the CAMP staff at 806-651-2351 or mlopez@mail.wtamu.edu.

Secretary of Agriculture Mike Johanns rolled out the Bush Administration's Farm Bill Concept paper earlier this week and provided an interesting counterpoint for the Farm Bill debate.

Since detailed analysis of the proposal will take some time, the early reactions from Congress and commodity groups have been understandably mixed. From Congress initial responses have expressed appreciation for the thought, time and effort that USDA put into development of the proposal clearly punctuated with a reminder that it will be Congress that decides what ultimately becomes part of the 2007 Farm Bill.

Most of the responses also take note of the fact that the proposal appears to contain some individual components that merit full consideration.

"The fact of the matter is that producers shouldn't take too much of the Administration's proposal to heart," says Plains Cotton Growers, Inc. Executive Vice President Steve Verett. "Ultimately it will not be Congress, not the Administration, that writes the 2007 Farm Bill and the proposal released January 31 will be viewed as a set of ideas on the table for consideration."

Verett notes that despite the fact that many of the changes proposed by the Administration probably won't gain much traction, there are some positives to be found.

He points to two important concepts that are clearly espoused in the proposal. The first is a commitment to support the three main components of the 2002 Farm Bill - the marketing loan and the direct and counter-cyclical programs. The second is the Administration's recognition that additional budget authority will be necessary to meet the new needs they helped identify.

The Administration proposal would require approximately $5 billion in new spending authority to be fully implemented. Specifics of the Administration's proposal include: Maintaining the marketing assistance loan program in its present form with changes in the mechanism used to determine the loan rates for program crops; maintaining the Direct Payment Program with initial changes to the payment rates for cotton and rice to partially offset impact of marketing loan rate adjustments and with increases on some other crop payment rates in the out years; maintain a modified Counter-cyclical payment program with a revenue based trigger and payment rate calculation mechanism; maintain the Federal Crop Insurance Program with a downward revision in the program's loss ratio target and adding the ability to purchase GRP/GRIP insurance policies in tandem with individual Multi-Peril Crop Insurance/Revenue insurance policies; and, modify current Payment Limitation rules by replacing the current 3-entity rule with a single $360,000 payment limitation provision ($110,000 limit on Direct payments, a $110,000 limit on Counter-cyclical payments and a $140,000 limit on marketing loan program benefits).

Perhaps the only concrete thing that can be said about the Administration proposal at this time is that some of it warrants further review and it will not be dismissed wholesale as a potential source for positive enhancements to the current program.

It is also clear that many of the proposals, such as the proposed revamping of the loan rate discovery mechanism, are problematic and not likely to be viewed favorably by Congressional farm bill writers.

USDA Deputy Secretary Bruce Knight provided an accurate and insightful comment on what the Administration proposal "is" and "is not" when presenting the Administration's proposal to an audience in Sioux Falls, South Dakota on January 31.

"There still is a great deal of discussion on the specific details raised by the [USDA's] proposed farm bill and the bill undoubtedly will go through changes as input is sought on its ideas," Knight said.

"This is an opening document that is meant to open a discussion," he concluded. "We want to make sure to have substantive discussions on how you can improve farm policy."

Upland Cotton average price received by growers through November 2006

marketings for the first five months of the 2006-marketing year totaled 6.325 million bales according to information released January 31 by the USDA National Agricultural Statistics Service.

That figure is 1.432 million bales off the pace set through the same period last season.

According to USDA estimates December 2006 cotton marketings totaled 2.062 million bales with an average selling price of 49.30 cents per pound. So far the 2006 Upland Cotton Weighted average Price calculated through December 2006 stands at 47.35 cents per pound.

With the first five months of the marketing year now past, the calculated 2006 Weighted average Price is still almost five cents below the 52-cent threshold where 2006-crop Counter-cyclical payment rates would begin to drop although prices also continue to show an upward trend. The preliminary mid-month price reported for January 2007 was 49.50 cents per pound.

The following table shows the average price received each month by farmers and the associated weighted average price based on prices and cumulative marketings from August 1 through December 31, 2006.

The 2006 Counter-cyclical payment rate authorized under the 2002 Farm Bill will be based on the 12-month Weighted Average Price Received by growers. For cotton the 12-month Weighted Average Price will reflect price and marketings for the 2006 marketing year. The 2006 cotton marketing year began in August 1, 2006 and ends July 31, 2007.

Dr. Roy Cantrell to head up Monsanto Molecular Breeding

Technology Initiative

Dr. Roy Cantrell has announced he will be leaving Cotton Incorporated effective March 23, 2007 to become the Molecular Breeding Technology Lead for Monsanto.

Cantrell have been with Cotton Incorporated since 2001 and has overseen a dramatic overhaul of the organization's research programs and priorities as Vice President of Agricultural Research.

In addition to guiding the extensive CI research program, Cantrell has been instrumental in implementing innovative research and developmental programs over the last five and a half years that reformed the current, as well as the future of the U.S. cotton breeding community.

Two of the key programs he has helped implement are the "Cotton Incorporated Fellowship" program provides financial support for research fellowships in the area of cotton breeding with the goal of identifying and training the next generation of cotton breeders.

The CI Sustainability Initiative is a program designed to set the record straight about what it means to have sustainable cotton production system and to educate consumers about the true environmental impact of modern cotton production systems.

Being a West Texas native Dr. Cantrell is well known to cotton producers across the High Plains region and his leaving Cotton Incorporated will not go unnoticed.

Cotton Incorporated officials say that they intend to work with a consulting firm in a national search for applicants to fill the vacancy-similar to the process that was undertaken when Dr. Cantrell was hired.

Love Fund

A Love Fund has been started for 4 year old Christopher Barnes, at FNB Floydada. Parents are Jody and Gail Barnes

A subscription to this newspaper is the gift that gives every week!

The family of Margaret Fowler would like to express our deep appreciation to Dr. Ahmad and staff for their expert and tender care in order for Mother to keep her dignity throughout her illness. Lee Battey from Hospice came in the last hours to minister to us along with FUMC pastor Les Hall as well as close friends - a blessing indeed.

Also we are thankful for Melvin and Janet Lloyd and staff at Shepherd's Meadow for their loving and perfect care for Mother and even to all of us - what a joy they bring to all as they nourish body, mind and spirit.

Words can never truly express our gratitude for all those who sent flowers, cards, kinds words of encouragement, memorials, all your prayers and deeds of thoughtfulness.

It is truly a blessing and comfort for all of us who love and miss her dearly.

WTAMU awards Fall 2006 Diplomas

Two area people received their diplomas during fall commencement exercises December 15, 2006 at the First United Bank Center in Canyon.

Margaret Jurahee Jones, daughter of Joe and Anne Jones of Floydada, received a Bachelor of Science degree in Agriculture, graduating Cum Laude.

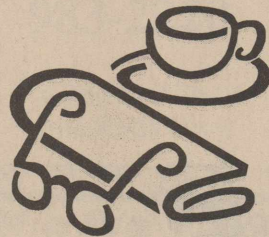

Pamela B. Ricketts received a Master of Education degree in Counseling. She is the wife of Tony Ricketts of Floydada.

Support comes in many forms. Sometimes it is monetary, physical, or it can be as simple as a word of encouragement. I would like to take this opportunity to thank the Floyd County Stock Show Association, Lockney Buyers Club and Mr. Ted Young and numerous individuals for the support that they have given me and the Floyd County Stock show over the past 10 years. I feel blessed to be part of such a generous community. Thanks for the memories!

A VISIT WITH OL' MAN LISTER

By Steve McLean
 Email: olmanlister@gmail.com

IMA WONDER

When you live in a small town like Ponder Point, you get to know the other folks in town pretty quickly. And if you ever move here, the person you will get to know the most about is Harvey Wonder's wife, Ima. The reason you'll get to know about Ima is that Ima will tell you about Ima for as long as you like, and even longer. If Ima is having lunch at the cafe when a stranger walks in, she'll jump up and pour 'em a cup of coffee and introduce herself, adding those interesting details about her life, from the onions in her garden to the bunions on her feet. She could talk the ears off a corn stalk.

One day last week, ol' man Lister and I were watching Ima close in on her latest victim, a migrant farm worker who apparently spoke very little English. He seemed to appreciate her company more than most folks, and they spent a good portion of the afternoon in a one-way conversation.

I asked Lister what he thought about Ima Wonder. He said, "Kid, one thing Ima has going for her; she never talks bad about her neighbors. She never gets around to it!"

You know...I reckon he's right.
