

Colonel Laliberte Takes Over Wing

Col. Robert C. Laliberte has been appointed commander of the 3500th Pilot Training Wing for the period of April 5 to April 24, 1971.

Colonel Laliberte assumes command of the wing from Col. James M. Breedlove who has been assigned to Headquarters, Air Training Command, Randolph AFB, Tex., as Deputy Chief of Staff/Operations. Colonel Breedlove will return to Reese April 24 to participate in the formal change of command ceremony on the flight line scheduled for 11 a.m. At that time Colonel Laliberte will turn over the command of the wing to Col. Carl L. Brunson then resume the duties of his former post—that of deputy commander for Operations.

Colonel Laliberte arrived at Reese Oct. 8, 1970 and assumed the duties of DCO, a post he held until his appointment as wing commander. His previous assignment was vice commander, 3rd Tactical Fighter Wing, Bien Hoa AB, Republic of Vietnam.

Colonel Laliberte's decorations include the Legion of Merit, Distinguished Flying Cross with two Oak Leaf Clusters, the Air Medal with 15 Oak Leaf Clusters and the Purple Heart Medal.

Colonel Laliberte and his wife Catherine, live at 101 Andrews Drive, Reese Village, with their four children, Sally, 17, Robert Jr., 15, Susan, 13 and William, 11.

Safe Flying Gets Command Award

The 3500th Pilot Training Wing has received the Air Training Command Flying Hour Honor Trophy in recognition of completing 100,000 flying hours without a major or minor accident during the period Jan. 25, 1970 through Jan. 23, 1971.

The trophy and accompanying citation were presented by Maj. Gen. John R. Murphy, vice commander, Air Training Command, during graduation exercises for Class 71-07 at the base theater Saturday to Col. Robert C. Laliberte, 3500th Pilot Training Wing commander.

CITATION

ATC FLYING HOUR HONOR TROPHY

The Air Training Command Flying Hour Honor Award is presented to the 3500th Pilot Training Wing, Reese Air Force Base, Texas, in recognition of completing 100,000 flying hours without a major or minor accident during the period 25 January 1970 through 23 January 1971. The significance of 100,000 accident-free flying hours, while conducting undergraduate pilot training can only be attributed to a dynamic and aggressive flying safety program and outstanding support activities. This achievement perpetuates the highest traditions and standards of safety in Air Training Command and reflects great credit upon the 3500th Pilot Training Wing, its related support activities, and the United States Air Force.

Responsibility Likened To Two-Edged Sword

By Col. Robert C. Laliberte
Wing Commander

Responsibility—like loyalty—is a two-edged sword. It works equally well in both directions. Too many people look on responsibility as something that goes only with authority. Nothing could be further from the truth.

In today's liberalized Air Force, there are actually instances of when authority is reduced, responsibilities are increased. As an example, the allowing of grievances to be aired by junior officers and enlisted personnel is a case in point. There are times, however, when it appears that these junior officers and enlisted personnel are reluctant to accept the responsibilities which have resulted from such liberalization. Some people feel that moderation has occurred at too great a rate while others believe that it has not been fast enough. Regardless of how we believe, the Air Force has a system whereby all its personnel may be heard on grievances or any other matter of concern to the individual. This system has many outlets, some of which have only recently been innovated. One of our local outlets is right here in this paper. I'm referring, of course, to the "Letters to the Roundup" column where minor complaints can be aired in a base paper. The heart of the Air Force system for handling grievances however, is the Inspector General, usually referred to as the IG.

I refer to this outlet as the "heart" because it is somewhere in the middle of the chain of recommended steps for an individual to take in airing a grievance. A person should start with the first step and give his immediate supervisors every opportunity to right any wrong he may have suffered whether or not those supervisors played any part in that wrong. After this step, if satisfaction has not been received, you should contact one of two persons here at Reese. The first one could be CMSgt. Lloyd V. Edwards, our Wing senior airman advisor who has an open door to my office and is empowered to not only hear but act on airmen grievances. The other is Maj. Richard L. Russell who is the Wing IG. He is available at all times to listen to and act upon grievances from airmen and officers alike. If for some reason your grievance cannot be resolved locally, the system moves upward. Next is the Air Training Command IG and then the Air Force IG. As a final step, you may contact your Senator or U.S. Representative in the Congress. For some, there is even further recourse through legal action in courts. In spite of these excellent steps some people continue to do themselves and their supervisors injustice by starting at the wrong end of the chain in hopes of cutting through red tape. The Air Force system requires a complete investigation whether the grievance is started at the bottom—or the top. This is so that everyone in the chain may be heard and a just and fair decision rendered. An individual accused of something deserves the protection of the system as well as the person making an allegation against him. You may have heard stories about someone obtaining quick action by going to the top first, but in most cases that quick action probably would have been even quicker had the initiator begun with the first step. Think of something for a moment. If you worked for a civilian concern would you deviate from the company method of submitting a grievance? Would you write the chairman of the board concerning your grievance or would you try to work it out with your supervisor first?

When we give an individual the right to register a grievance against his supervisor, we have in some sense taken away a little authority from that supervisor. That authority now changes to responsibility on the part of the individual. Responsibility to live with the system—not to abuse that authority. In other words—a two-edged sword which works both ways.

More Energy From Vitamins?

By Lt. Col. Wesley E. Romberger
USAF Hospital Commander

QUESTION: Is it all right to take a vitamin pill when I'm run down so that I can get more energy?

ANSWER: Yes, it's all right in that it won't hurt you, but on the other hand it is unlikely to produce any good results either. The average kind and amount of food as eaten by people here at Reese contain more than sufficient vitamins for each person each week. An excess supply is not used by the body but is merely excreted as waste. In addition, if large amounts of certain vitamins, such as Vitamin A or Vitamin D, are taken in excess over long periods of time definite harm can be produced.

In some rare cases a run down feeling or lack of energy can be produced by a vitamin deficiency. This is so seldom seen that the average physician may practice for a life-time and never see one. In addition, there would be so many other symptoms associated with the vitamin deficiency that the patient would have many other things to tell the physician about besides a tired-run-down feeling.

Rapping... about people

(An AFNS Feature)

QUESTION: Why does the Air Force "push" for first-term reenlistments at the same time early release programs are implemented?

ANSWER: The enlisted force programmers must determine the size of the career force needed to support the Air Force mission. Currently, this objective is at 229,700. To support this career force, the Air Force has a requirement to obtain 20,100 first-term reenlistments in Fiscal Year 1971. This requirement exists even though other programs, such as early release to attend school or early release for Christmas, may appear to run contrary. Air Force planners work with two major groupings—the total enlisted force and the career enlisted forces. Adjustments to the total enlisted force, which is made up of both first-term and career airmen, can be made without changing the career-force requirement. Therefore, it is appropriate for the Air Force to scale down the total force by permitting the early release of first-term airmen, and at the same time, push to achieve the first-term reenlistments needed to sustain the career force.

Letters

To The Roundup

Dear Sir:

Civil Engineers seems to regard the weather around Reese as stable and very predictable. So much so to the point that they can set definite dates as to when the heat may be turned off and the cooling system turned on.

When 20 to 30 per cent of the patrons walk out of the theater because they can not stand the heat, the theater is not effectively operating nor providing the proper type of atmosphere for the entertainment it supposedly is there for.

Inasmuch as the weather is not as predictable as CE would like to think it is, is there some way to inform them of this fact? Or must patrons continue to suffer through the almost unbelievable heat to "enjoy" a movie on base.

ATC Urges Current Form 90s

HQ. ATC — Air Training Command Career Development officials urge all officers to keep their AF Form 90 (Career Objective Statement) current, especially those interested in special duty assignments.

Special assignments include such programs as the Air Staff Training Program, Military Assistance Advisory Group, Military Aide and assignment to the Air Force Academy.

Upon completion of the Form 90, the application flows through ATC to the U.S. Air Force Military Personnel Center for consideration. An answer is usually forwarded within a month.

Career Development officials welcome questions concerning assignments, officer effectiveness ratings and various other personnel programs. The Autovon telephone number is Randolph AFB, Tex., 487-3485.

Race Relations Study Started

WASHINGTON (AFNS) — Secretary of Defense Melvin R. Laird, in a continuing effort to improve equal opportunity within the Department of Defense under the human goals program, announced the establishment of an education program in race relations for all members of the armed forces.

Air Force, in cooperation, will integrate education in race relations into on-going educational and training programs. This includes on-base instruction until all members are included.

Air Force To Intensify Summer Safety Plans

NORTON AFB, Calif. (AFNS)—Two new safety programs, Summer Attack and Critical Six, will replace the highly successful 101 Critical Days campaign this year, according to Air Force safety officials.

Statistical evidence has shown that while successful, the 101 Critical Days program started too late and ended too abruptly. Air Force sponsored the program every year since 1964 to cover the high hazard period beginning with the Memorial Day weekend in June, and ending after the Labor Day holiday in September.

While the Memorial Day-Labor Day period, and especially August continue to be the most critical periods, the days preceding and following the close of past campaigns have been consistently severe in terms of deaths and injuries.

Safety records show that 68 per cent of the May drownings and 89 per cent of the May private motor vehicle (PMV) deaths occurred before Memorial Day. Similarly 50 per cent of the drownings and 80 per cent of the PMV deaths in September occur after Labor Day.

Summer Attack includes the original 101 days and stretches out on both ends to cover the entire five-month period, April 1 thru Sept. 30.

Critical Six is designed to zero in on the six most critical summer safety hazards and runs in conjunction with Summer Attack.

The six areas that require special safety emphasis were identified in special studies of off-duty accidents.

Items in the program and the months they will be emphasized are: Emergency situations (an intensive program aimed at traffic accident prevention)—April; water sports—May; use of seatbelts—June; alcohol countermeasures—July; motorcycle safety—August; and single-car accidents—September.

Air Force members have been asked to press the Summer Attack to its fullest extent in the belief that dividends in lives saved and injuries avoided will be well worth the effort.

RN Club Sets Aide Courses

Reese's Registered Nurse Club will conduct a mother's aide course Tuesday through Thursday and again April 27-29 at the USAF Hospital.

The course is sponsored by the American Red Cross and is designed to help upper elementary and junior high school students learn some of the important aspects of child care and some of the simple procedures they might be expected to use. It would be particularly helpful to students who frequently baby sit.

Persons interested in attending the course should contact Eloise Powell, nurse instructor, at 885-4919, or the Red Cross field director at ext. 2215.

'The Beguiled' Top Attraction At Base Theater This Week

Donald Sutherland stars with Genevieve Bujold in "Act Of The Heart" tonight at the base theater. The romantic drama about a girl who lives to love and a man who has vowed never to love a woman as much as he loves God is rated GP—all ages admitted with parental guidance suggested.

"The Valley Of Gwangi" will be the theater's matinee attraction tomorrow. The adventure drama stars James Franciscus, Gila Golan and Richard Carlson in the story of a group of wild west show riders who stumble upon a lost world while searching for a new attraction. The film is rated G—general audiences.

Franco Nero is "Detective Belli" in tomorrow evening's feature at the base theater. The suspense - melodrama co-stars Florinda Bolkan in a classic and contemporary study of a law enforcer gone wrong. The feature is rated R—restricted, under 17 requires accompanying parent or adult guardian.

Michael Duchaussoy, Caroline Cellier and Jean Yanne star in "This Man Must Die" Sunday at the base theater. The GP-rated drama is a suspenseful story of a man who decides to hunt down and kill the hit-and-run driver who killed his small son.

"Horror House" will be screened at the base theater Tuesday evening. The horror drama stars Frankie Avalon, Jill Haworth and Mark Winter as a group of Carnaby Street youths who hold a party in a haunted house outside London. The film is rated GP.

Clint Eastwood stars as a seriously wounded Union soldier in the Civil War South in "The Beguiled" Wednesday and Thursday evenings at the base theater. Geraldine Page, Elizabeth Hartman and Mae Mercer co-star as a group of women in a girls' seminary who plan to nurse Eastwood back to health before turning him in. The suspense-drama is rated R.

Military Personnel To Receive Monthly Earning Statements

HQ. ATC—By May 31 all Air Training Command military personnel will be receiving an individual monthly earning statement.

This action is the result of implementation of a suggestion made by the command Project Volunteer workshop which convened in San Antonio in December.

The monthly statement will provide individuals with details of pay entitlements, deductions, and allotments affecting their pay. These statements will be issued at the end of each month and normally should reach the person on or before payday.

Personnel at Randolph AFB, Webb AFB, Tex., Mather AFB, Calif., and Williams AFB, Ariz., are already receiving the statements.

Of the the 22 Project Volunteer recommendations on which ATC has the authority to act, 15 have been entirely or partially implemented.

Special Nights Set At Mathis Service Club

The Mathis Service Club is now conducting continuous base-wide tournaments in pool and table tennis to select a team to represent Reese in the Air Training Command tournaments.

Survey Reveals Airmen Straits

EDITOR'S NOTE: Lt. Gen. George B. Simler, Air Training Command commander, requested the ATC chaplain to conduct a census of the lower three grade married airmen's living conditions and financial problems (e.g. inadequate pay vs living expense, number of children; requirements for improved housing; requirements for added benefits like movement of household effects). This article is the third of four to identify the problems aired by the affected airmen, their recommendations and proposals to cure the ills.

"We are barely surviving now and we will really be in for hard times when the baby arrives in two months. Food allowance is not enough to feed three people for the month. It's pathetic!"

These comments by a Lowry AFB, Colo., airman in response to a survey by the Air Training Command chaplain vividly describe the problems of many of the lower ranking airmen who are starting families.

The chaplain found that more than 70 per cent of ATC lower three grade married airmen have no children. Of those with children, the majority had but one child.

Because of low pay (many below the official poverty level) many young couples are forced to delay having children because of the added expense involved. At least equally important is that many of their wives work to make ends meet or to enjoy a few of the luxuries most were accustomed to prior to joining the Air Force.

The chaplain surveyed nearly half of the more than 12,000 married airmen in the lower three grades.

Among the more distressing was the plight of a Chanute AFB, Ill., student two-striper who was enrolled in a 37-week course, with an anticipated graduation date in mid-March. The couple was expecting its first child. The airman said that he and his wife never went out and rarely ate meat. He added, "My wife can't find a job." He realized that the baby would be an added expense. Also, his anticipated move after graduation would further complicate his financial problems.

Quarters allowance for the lower grade airmen is $60 per month for one dependent, $90 per month for two dependents and a maximum of $105 per month for three or more dependents. The average rent alone was greater than the maximum allowable quarters allowance.

A childless airman first class at Laredo AFB, Tex., who must delay having wanted children because of financial reasons, said he was paying $150 per month for what he considered to be inadequate quarters. He added, "Thank God my wife was lucky enough to find a decent job. Without her pay, we would never make it."

This airman recommended that first term married airmen be given an allotment comparable to the average cost of housing in the area assigned. Additionally, he recommended that the first term be given a chance at base housing.

ATC recommended to Air Force and Department of Defense several actions to take to rectify the problems of the first termers. Most of the recommendations were included in the overall package of a suggested increase in salary and various allowances. (ATCPS)

Brian Shul Takes Fifth Place In Air Force Handball Singles

Brian Shul, the Reese AFB and Air Training Command singles handball champion, is back at Reese following a fifth place win in the Air Force Lifetime Sports Tournament conducted at Maxwell AFB, Ala., April 5-9.

Shul won fifth place from among the 35 contestants entered in the handball singles event in the Air Force-wide tournament despite

Ladies Golf Group To Meet Tuesday

The Reese AFB Ladies Golf Association will hold its first meeting of the year at the golf course clubhouse Tuesday beginning at 9 a.m.

Membership in the association is open to all female dependents on the base.

Tuesday's meeting will be highlighted by an election of officers and coffee.

Among the many activities planned for the group this year are lessons available to members only, regular golf play and tournaments scheduled through the year. Golf clubs are available to those who do not have their own.

Tourney Winners For Last Weekend

Winners in the weekend golf tournaments held last weekend at the base golf course numbered five.

There were four winners in the Blind Bogey Tournament on Saturday. They were Larry DePriest, Buddy Foy, Tony Giglio and Randall Horstman. Each had net 72's—the winning number on the draw.

The Sunday putting tournament was won by Steve Pierce with a 32.

Hole-In-One Hit By Reese Golfer

Reese AFB's second hole-in-one was scored April 6 on the par 3, 186-yard third hole by MSgt. Glenn W. Matney playing in a foursome with Larry Corbin, Sylvester Rice and Norman Vander-schel. He used a four iron.

What was unusual about the shot was that it was his first of the day. Matney was late in joining the group and caught them on the third hole in time to tee off with them. The shot hit on the green, took a couple of hops and disappeared in the hole.

The first hole-in-one of the year was scored by Lt. Col. Melvin G. Swanson on Feb. 20 on the 165-yard par three 14th hole using a six iron.

some severe handicaps. First, he injured his left hand while winning the ATC crown only a few days earlier at Sheppard AFB without losing a single game. He had declined to participate in the doubles event in the ATC meet, preferring to concentrate on the singles event, but at the Air Force tournament was teamed with a contestant from Williams AFB, Ariz., in the doubles—taking more wear and tear out of Shul.

Even with the hurt left hand and fatigue, Shul managed to beat Tactical Air Command, 21-17, 21-7 on April 5 and Air Defense Command, 21-18, 21-14 before being beaten by Military Air Command, 18-21, 20-21.

Over in the loser's bracket Shul fought hard for another chance. He beat U.S. Air Force, Europe, 21-2, 21-15; Air Defense Command #2, 16-21, 21-5, 21-14. He then lost to U.S. Air Force, Europe #2, 13-21, 16-21 to be eliminated but still took fifth place.

In doubles, he and his teammate won two and lost one.

By Jim Comeaux

April marks the annual spurt in the number of golfers turning out on the Reese AFB golf course. Summer intramural golf begins this month, along with regular weekend tournaments. It brings out not only the seasoned veterans but the beginner as well.

Something else that starts this month is the marshalling of the golf course on weekends by the rules and courtesy committee of the Reese AFB Golf Council. That committee is head by Lt. Col. Melvin E. Swanson who has served notice that rules and courtesy would be enforced perhaps more strictly than in years past. It therefore behooves golfers playing at Reese to know these rules and course courtesy before stepping up to the first tee in order to avoid embarrassment by having to be told of them by a marshal.

The rules and courtesy committee has asked that this reporter write a series of articles on rules and courtesy. Let's start out by separating the two. Rules are those regulations passed by the United States Golf Association (USGA) and by the Golf Council in order to standardize play, speed-up play, protect the golf course and the players themselves. Courtesy is just what the word implies—consideration for your fellow golfers for the purpose of making the game more enjoyable. After all, golf has always been considered a gentleman's game, and one should first learn to act as one, then take up golf.

The standard rules of golf are clearly outlined in a booklet on sale for 25 cents in the golf clubhouse. It has always amazed me why so many golfers would spend hundreds of dollars on equipment—clubs, shoes, etc., and never spend 25 cents for the item they needed most—a rule book. How many matches have been lost because a player didn't know the rules? Ask Jamie Gough.

Local course rules define such as out of bound markers, hazards and a myriad of other matters designed to help golf and the golfer. For instance, it is a local course rule that all players must wear either golf shoes or approved athletic shoes—such as tennis shoes. Street shoes are forbidden. They tear up the greens with their heels and ruin the course for others.

Other local course rules forbid more than four persons playing together on a weekend or holiday. It is also forbidden for one person to play alone on these days, while twosomes may be allowed at the discretion of the golf course manager. Threesomes and foursomes are okay.

Every player MUST have his own bag and set of clubs. Golf carts are not allowed within 30 feet of greens. If you are carrying your bag, do not place it on the green. It is a rule (not courtesy) that you must repair divots in the fairway and ball marks on the greens. It is a rule that you not hit your shot until the players in front of you are beyond the range of your shot (even your most optimistic shot). Violation of this rule could easily get you suspended.

These are not all of the rules, but the ones most frequently violated and the ones the marshalls will be out to detect. Next week we will take up courtesy—such as letting faster players play through, when to let a group hit up behind you and such as that. Meanwhile, learn the rules of play. They can help you.

Calloway Golf Tournament On Tap Tomorrow

The Reese AFB golf course will stage a 36-hole Calloway tournament Saturday and Sunday—open to all Reese AFB golfers. Entry fee will be $1 per contestant.

A Calloway tournament can be won by anyone, regardless of his ability as a golfer. It is a "fun" type tournament—one of several of this type scheduled this year by the tournament committee of the Reese AFB Golf Council.

Contestants must pay their entry fee at the time of entering. They then shoot 18 holes tomorrow and another 18 Sunday, turning in their gross scores to the clubhouse manager. A number of holes are "deducted" depending on the score the golfer shoots. For instance, if a man shoots an 87 and this score falls within the range whereby two holes may be deducted from his score, he may take off his two worst holes. Let's say he had an 8 on one hole and a 7 on another. He can deduct both holes from his total score (15 strokes) giving him a net 72. On the other hand, a low handicapper may shoot a gross 72 and have no holes deducted giving him and the 87 shooter the same score.

Golfers are also reminded to choose their partners for next week's Scotch Foursome to be held Sunday afternoon (April 25). The tournament for April 24 will be a blind bogey.

The first of the "big" tournaments will be held starting in May—the Reese AFB Match Play Tournament—again open to all Reese AFB golfers, active duty and retired. Handicaps will be used within flights.

The entry fee is $5 per contestant. They will have either Saturday or Sunday in each of the first four weekends in May, (1-2, 8-9, 15-16 and 22-23) to play.

STEREO CONSOLES: We have just received a shipment of 5 brand new stereo consoles. These 1971 nationally advertised models are in beautiful walnut finish with four speaker systems. ## Intramural Golf League Begins

The Reese AFB Summer Intramural Golf League opened play at the base golf course Wednesday with 11 teams representing eight squadrons teeing off.

The matches will be held each Wednesday afternoon, teeing off between 12:30 and 2 p.m., through September at which time the winner of the first half of league play will meet the winner of the second half of play for the intramural golf championship.

Three of the eight participating units have entered two teams. These are the 3500th Field Maintenance Squadron, 3500th Air Base Group and the 2053rd Communications Squadron. One team each is entered from the 3501st Student Squadron, 3500th Organizational Maintenance Squadron, 3501st Pilot Training Squadron, USAF Hospital and 3500th Supply Squadron.

Golf course manager Ken McGuire said that the golf course would be open for play during the 12:30-2 p.m. tee-off times for intramural play, but that intramural golfers would have preference on the tees during those times.

National Secretaries' Week Observance Starts Sunday

The week beginning Sunday has been proclaimed National Secretaries' Week and in recognition of that event the Roundup is happy to print the following list of "Commandments For The Boss" submitted by Margie Negri, secretary to the base civil engineer and a civilian employee at Reese:

- I. THOU shalt take a course in penmanship, thou stinking writer.
- II. THOU shalt not mumble during dictation in an effort to "tempt" your secretary into repeating words you were trying to find.
- III. THOU shalt not invade the sanctity of thy secretary's file cabinet unless permission is first obtained from her, and then she must supervise you on this excursion.
- IV. THOU shalt remember thy secretary's coffee breaks and lunch hour and keep them holy and void of war stories and personal errands.
- V. THOU shalt not covet thy secretary's stapler, staples, paper clips, dictionary or pencils, nor chew thy pencils and expect thy secretary to sharpen them, thou unsanitary louse.
- VI. THOU shalt not covet thy secretary's (ladies) magazines to "ogle" and "snicker" at the feminine advertisements, nor hide the "Air Force Times" from the rest of the office until you get a chance to cut out the "pinup."
- VII. THOU shalt not go to the Stag Bar between the hours of 8 a.m. and 4:45 p.m. and expect thy secretary to cover for you when the boss or wife or both call.
- VIII. THOU shall limit thy war stories to ten a week, combat missions to 300 (a year) and medals won to 25.
- IX. THOU shalt remember thy secretary on each Valentine's Day, Christmas and birthday, awarding her a small token of appreciation for her reminding you of these occasions for your wife; nor shalt thou chastise her for forgetting to obtain a gift and sign a card to your wife on your anniversary.
- X. THOU shalt ALWAYS remember thy secretary is a human being first, a secretary second, and a walking tape recorder third—lest you forget the first and second.

Talk

By Capt. Wayne M. Schnell

We have to say goodbye to several of our IPs. Goat Flight is losing three: Capt. Edward T. Meschko will be going to Squadron Officers School. Capt. George R. Zesinger will be going to OTI and Capt. Dwight L. Daley will be moving to check section.

To replace all these, G Flight will be getting 1st Lt. Kermit M. Wright. We like to make newcomers feel wanted and welcome right away!

Flounder Flight had a splash down party after Capt. Charles E. (Chuck) Chambers' 1,600 missions over West Texas (no patch authorized). The party was given by Capt. Edward V. Murphy. Only one swollen jaw and one swollen eye was reported so all in all it must have been a good night.

By Capt. Gerald T. E. Gonzalez

Class 72-05 recently celebrated a milestone in the course of their passage through Tweet training—the occasion of the first solos in both sections. First to solo in Section I was 2nd Lt. Harold M. Hall who was "loosed to the winds" by Capt. David E. Thrams, the head "Blue Chip" in A Flight. First to solo in Section II was 2nd Lt. Ralph B. Omann and his steel-nerved instructor was 1st Lt. Lawrence M. Schenck.

Although they gained a solo, A Flight managed to lose an instructor somewhere in the process—Capt. Michael W. Malone is trading his Blue Chip patch for an officer training instructor badge.

Another squadron loss: Sgt. Johnny Bryant, squadron dispatcher "extraordinaire" has left us for "Sunny Southeast Asia"—the result, it's rumored, of paying excessive heed to the Air Force travel posters.

Brahma Flight is also in the process of undergoing some "internal reorganization": Capt. Richard W. Shuey, B Flight's "habla espanol simpatico" is now the third-ranking Blue Chip in the squadron. It's also rumored that Capt. William A. Kalbfleisch—"Bill-the-Leaf"—will soon be transitioning into Check Section.

We would like to take this opportunity to extend a considerably belated "Bienvenidos" to 1st Lt. Kenneth M. Smith of Charlie (Tuna) Flight fame. Can't have him running 'round the squadron without having been extended an official welcome . . .

And our last personnel change for this column: 1st Lt. Robert A. Corson has exchanged his Caesar patch for the corridors of the hallowed academics section.

This week's quote: "What do you mean a brand-new class?"

Datsun Monthly Sales Top 20,000 Mark In March

Gardena, California: For the first time in their ten year history in the United States the Nissan Motor Corporation in U.S.A., the distributor of the Datsun line of cars and trucks, announced sales in excess of 20,000 vehicles for a one month period.

Reporting a total retail sales for the month of March of 21,685 vehicles, Nissan's volume was up 145% over a similar period a year ago when the company sold 8,839 units. Datsun passenger cars recorded 14,965 units retailed an increase of 177% over March of 1970. Retail sales of the Datsun pickup truck for March amounted to 6,720 units, up 96% over the same period a year ago when 3,428 were sold.

Datsun retail sales for the first quarter of 1971 amount to 60,043 units (42,626 passenger cars and 17,417 pickup trucks). This year to date figure, with three months recorded amounts to more than Nissan sold in this country during the full year in 1968.

"Surpassing the 20,000 mark in retail sales for one month is a tremendously gratifying accomplishment," stated Yutaka Katayama, NMC/USA's President, "it indicates to me that our ten years of laying a solid foundation in this country is now reaping its rewards. Datsun is certainly an integral part of the 'age of the small car' and our dealer network has matured at just the right time."

Katayama went on to point out that at this time last year Datsun had yet to retail 10,000 units in a month, a feat they went on to accomplish in April. Five months after passing the 10,000 per month figure, Nissan topped the 15,000 mark in September of 1970. Now, six months later, the 20,000 retail sales per month level has been surpassed.

"These sales increases are certainly proof that our continuing effort to upgrade dealer service and parts availability to insure continued customer satisfaction is paying dividends. While large sales increases are nice, our basic philosophy has been, and will continue to be, a policy of 'responsible marketing.'" We constantly stress to our distributor people and dealers that after sales service is as important as the original sale," Katayama concluded.

Girl Scouts Offered Camping Opportunities

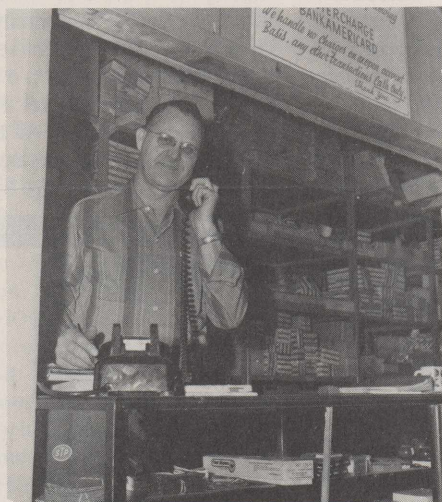

Parents of Girl Scouts at Reese AFB are reminded that the Caprock Girl Scout Council is offering two types of camping for girls this year.

Day camp will be held at McKenzie State Park's barbecue pit June 21-25 at a cost of $3.50 per girl. Daily bus transportation will be provided both ways. This is for all levels — Brownies through Seniors. Parents should fill out the registration cards contained in the camp folder passed out at Girl Scout meetings and turn them into Mrs. Carl Rodeffer, 314 Arnold Drive by May 15.

Another camp is Camp Rio Blanco near Crosbyton, Tex. There will be a two-week session for younger girls and one-week sessions for all ages. Register for this camp at the council office.
