Santa's ETA Set For 10:30 a.m.

Christmas Party Scheduled Tomorrow

Santa Claus arrives a little early at Reese AFB tomorrow—much to the delight of the base's dependent children and 86 young guests from the Buckner Baptist Children's Home in Lubbock.

Santa's arrival at the base theater will highlight the annual Christmas Party sponsored by the base chapel and scheduled to begin at 10:30 a.m. As usual, there will be favors and goodies for all children in attendance, plus entertainment.

Following the theater activities, the children from Buckner—along with their sponsors—will have a catered lunch in the chapel center. Later in the afternoon, the group will witness a fire-fighting demonstration, visit the flight line and return to the chapel center at about 3 p.m. for Christmas caroling, a movie and the distribution of presents—the latter provided by the sponsors of the children who volunteered for such service.

Once again this year, the base has made every conceivable effort to insure that no airman or his family will go without a Christmas meal. Operating through the Base Chaplain Division sponsored Operation Wiseman, a thorough canvassing of the base has been accomplished and those airmen—through misfortune, illness and other contributory reasons—who have a hard time providing the Christmas meals their families deserve are being taken care of. Chaplain (Capt.) Richard K. Knowles, project officer for Wiseman, said that the base has been checked and double-checked to insure that all members of the base were assured of a big Christmas dinner for themselves and their families. Fortunately, not many airmen are in need of such help—perhaps less than a half-dozen—but those who do need help will receive certificates for use at the base commissary allowing them to purchase food.

Financial support for Operation Wiseman was provided through the joint efforts of the Reese AFB Junior Officer Council, Officers Wives Club, and the Protestant and Catholic Chaplain Funds.

Next Thursday will herald a heavy slate of Christmas religious activities to be climaxed by Christmas Day services. The complete schedule may be found in a box on page 16. In addition, the children and youth of base Protestant community will tour the village and base Thursday singing Christmas carols. Friday, Dec. 24 and Friday, Dec. 31 are both legal holidays.

Officer Early Out Policy Announced

WASHINGTON (AFNS) — Strength adjustments required to meet budgetary limitations in fiscal year 1972 has prompted the Air Force to implement a voluntary early-separation program for some officers.

Major commands have been advised that rated officers who have dates of separation on or before June 30, 1972, may apply for voluntary separation to be effective not later than Feb. 29.

For support officers, including chaplains and judge advocates, and those medically exempted from flying duties (Code 2 rated), requests will be accepted for release not later than Feb. 29 from those with dates of separation on or before June 30, 1973.

The early-release program does not apply to medical officers or those participating in student programs. Also ineligible are officers selected for overseas assignments prior to Feb. 29 or those serving "all-other" tours in short-tour areas (17 months or less) who have a return date of March 1 or later.

Today's Roundup Last Issue Of Year

This Christmas issue of the Roundup is the last of the year. The next issue will be distributed Jan. 7, 1972 with the deadline for that issue being noon of Jan. 4 for news articles and noon of Dec. 30 for columns and schedules. Contributors are asked to observe the deadlines.

The two-week period will allow employees of Boone Publications, publishers of the Roundup, and members of the editorial staff, to take holiday leave.

Personnel are also reminded of the two holidays upcoming between now and our next publication date—Jan. 7. They are both on Fridays which moves up the deadline for columns and schedules by one day to Thursday, Dec. 30. Dec. 24 and Dec. 31 are legal holidays and the Roundup Office will be closed.

Personnel are asked to bring or send in news of general interest to the Information Office, bldg. T-1 for dissemination to the Lubbock Avalanche-Journal, Air Force Times and Air Force Home Town News Center.

What Does Christmas Really Mean?

By Chaplain (Lt. Col.)

Daryl G. Meyer

Again, this year, it will soon be Christmas with all it means! But what does it all really mean?

It means children! The light of bright-eyed anticipation that shines in the eye of the very young as they approach these happy and holy days also makes glad the hearts of those who are older.

At church and chapel the young ones in costumes will be dramatizing the story of the holy birth and somehow managing to do so reverently and effectively.

It means the Christmas tree! Once again there is the family discussion to select a tree which everyone agrees is the best. Then there is the annual struggle to set it up as it valiantly tries to maintain posture under the unreasonable load of lights, tinsel and ornaments.

It means fun! Many gatherings of friends result in the sparkle and spontaneity of good fellowship. Then there's the family fun of observing the loved ones, especially the children, as they tear into their gifts, and watching their expressions (out of the corner of the eye) as we open theirs to us.

Yet Christmas should mean so much more!

It means singing! We all have something to sing about! It was joy that moved angels that holy night in Judea to sing the refrain "Unto you is born this day in the city of David a Savior, who is Christ the Lord." That good news is also for us! In great joy we can sing, "Glory to God in the highest, and on earth peace, good will among men."

It means remembering! We remember what the commotion and celebration is all about. We remember that on the first Christmas night, God gave us the greatest gift of all! He sent His Son to the world—for the world, to us—for us as our Savior, our Hope, our eternal joy.

Then we remember those who cannot celebrate the birth in the company of their loved ones—those prisoners of war, those missing in action, those serving remote tours. And we say a prayer that somehow soon they can come home, and even now that they will remember and find comfort in the true meaning of Christmas, that God sent His Son as evidence of His love for them. We remember those not as fortunate as we, who live in need, and in our own way do something about it.

So again it's Christmas! With happy hearts let's join the celebrations in chapel and home no matter what the circumstances. We understand that in the gift of the Christ Child, God is saying to each one, "I love you." "I love you with an everlasting love," for: "Whoever believes in Him shall not perish but have everlasting life."

MERRY CHRISTMAS!

Challenging Year Ahead For Base

By Col. Carl L. Brunson
Wing Commander

The approaching holiday season is a time to reflect on the meaning of Christmas and the old and new years.

Christmas is surely a time for peace. Peace on earth, goodwill toward men. And who is more appreciative of peace than those called on to fight the wars. No one wants peace more than we who are called upon to bear arms. But at the same time no one appreciates more the fact that peace is won through strength than we servicemen who stand ready to fight and die for that peace. We see constant reminders throughout the world where lack of strength has not fostered peace but encouraged suppression. Unless we remain strong—strong enough to resist aggression—then we may never see that cherished peace.

Surely in our Christmas prayers we should pray for peace. We should also reflect that until that day comes when man can live side-by-side with his neighbor in peace, we must remain strong enough to protect ourselves and our friends with whom we have made commitments. Strength is one known deterrent to war and until something better comes along, we must rely upon it.

That brings us to the new and old years. The year 1971 was a good one for Reese. This base is one of nine contributing pilots for the Air Force through its undergraduate pilot training program. In 1971, the base proved to me that it not only has the potential to be the best in Air Training Command—it IS the best in ATC. We had many accomplishments—too numerous to mention here—and of the magnitude of which great units are created.

The year 1972 facing us will be a challenge—a challenge not only to match the accomplishments of 1971, but to surpass them. To make Reese AFB the best base in the Air Force. This means an extra effort on the part of all personnel and in all areas. We were tops in retention in ATC for fiscal year 1971, we must try to be tops in the Air Force in 1972. We were one of the top bases in the Air Force in saving money during FY '71, we must try even to improve on that.

Effort will be the key word for 1972. Everyone can try a little harder. For as we operate as a quality force in accomplishing our mission, we will be doing everything possible to produce a strong and lasting peace to this nation—one that will endure through many Christmases to come.

Unfortunately, I will not be able to see each of you personally during this holiday season. Therefore, I would like, through the medium of this column, to take this opportunity to wish each and every one of you a very Merry Christmas and a most Happy New Year from Mrs. Brunson and myself. Take good care of yourselves and your families and enjoy the holiday season.

Weekend Work Pays Dividends

By Col. Carl L. Brunson
Wing Commander

As everyone knows, we recently experienced the worst weather for early December that we have ever seen at Reese. As a result, our flying training was virtually brought to a halt and our flying time line dipped to a new low of over 2,000 hours behind the time line. With this impossible deficit staring us in the face it looked as though our Christmas holiday season would be seriously jeopardized. With a never say die attitude, Operations, Maintenance and required support personnel launched an all out program for both Saturday and Sunday. As a result, a sizeable dent was made in our training back log. We actually flew over 900 sorties this past Saturday and Sunday—a commendable effort during any two-days during the week.

My point here is that I would like to thank all of our people for their hard work and support toward getting our training program back on schedule. I have reviewed the graduation schedule of the next class and believe that we can make it without any difficulty. Bad weather luck may require that we fly some weekends in January; nevertheless, I feel that our people would prefer being assured now of a good holiday season as opposed to sweating the weather over the next couple of weeks. Hence, I have decided to let our people make their plans for their leave and holiday season early.

The coming weekend will be another full scale effort to further deplete our training back log and ease any training turbulence due to excessive bad weather in January. I am confident that, weather notwithstanding, we will turn out another outstanding weekend performance, and go into the Christmas season with confidence and optimism. Hard work, attention to duty, and determination which I witnessed on the flight line this past weekend are the ingredients of success and outstanding effectiveness. I am pleased to associate with this type of atmosphere and the type of people who generate it.

All offices must be manned during the holiday season to conduct normal business, but maximum leave and time off is encouraged. It is my desire that all supervisors, and commanders insure that their people receive just rewards for their hard work and support to our training mission.

As you all approach the festive period, I would like to ask each of you to take a special interest in caution and safety for yourselves, your families and your friends in all of our holiday activities. Enjoy yourselves, your hard earned vacation, but return to your home and duty safely and ready to start the new year.

dedication, devotion to duty, and sacrifices are appreciated by responsible Americans.

"It is with great pride that I add my thanks to you and extend my best wishes for the holiday season."

Gen. John D. Ryan
Air Force Chief of Staff

"The holiday season is a good time to pause and reflect on the things which have true meaning for all of us. Foremost in our thoughts at this time is the fervent desire for a return to the true meaning of 'peace on earth and good will toward men.'

"It is a source of special pride to Mrs. Seamans and me to be a part of the United States Air Force and to be associated with you who have dedicated your lives to the service of our nation. Your efforts and sacrifices help to make it possible for the people of the world to seek peaceful solutions to their problems. We extend to all of you our warmest best wishes and season's greetings."

Robert C. Seamans Jr.
Secretary of the Air Force

"During this past year, the Air Force has again played a significant role both at home and abroad in our country's quest for permanent world peace. As Air Force people, you have worked long and hard to carry your share of that national effort. I assure you that your

Open Line Entertains Weight Question

By Lt. Col. Wesley E. Romberger
Hospital Commander

Question: We hear so much in the military about weight control programs and are put under a lot of pressure to conform to weight standards. Why aren't these "benefits" extended to the civilian employees?

Answer: The benefits of the program for weight reduction are indeed available to the civilian employees either through the military facility if they are authorized care here or their own physician downtown. Since they are not members of the military fighting force we do not require the same standards of personal appearance, conduct and ability as we do of our officers and airmen.

The bad effects on an individual's health because of overweight and flabbiness, are well known. The cause is almost universally due to an individual's efforts with knife, fork and spoon, and the cure can be effected with proper use of that same knife, fork and spoon.

CHRISTMAS CAROLS—The children and youth protestant choir held a practice session in the snows in early December in preparation for Thursday's round of caroling they will be making through the base and Reese Village. The Catholic choir did their touring last night. (U. S. Air Force Photo)

Incentive Awards Group Approves 36 Suggestions

The Reese Incentive Awards Committee recently reviewed a total of 36 suggestions and granted $1,285 in cash awards to 33 suggesters. Four suggesters won two awards for their ideas.

Sgt. Kenneth G. Asklund, OMS, was awarded $25 for his suggestion concerning Line Covers. No savings resulted. On the second suggestion he also earned $25 for designing a cover for bleed levers on the J-85 lift trailer pump.

Floyd L. Marburger, Quality Control section, saved the Air Force $1,308.25 in manhours and material for his fix on the Northrop T-38 Talon cockpit main step. He also was awarded $25 for another suggestion with intangible benefits.

Homer L. McKee, Field Maintenance Division, earned $130 for his sound supressor guide rails which will afford an annual savings of $1,567.35. Designing a locking device for the intake supressor was the basis for an additional $25 award.

Mrs. Joyce N. Taylor, Comptroller Division, earned $25 plus a suggestion certificate for two suggestions, while W. C. Teel, Civil Engineering Division, and Julian Escamilla, Transportation Division, shared $25 for devising a method to puncture proof tractor tires.

Designing a J-85 compressor stator holder and protector was approved with intangible benefits for Carl J. Brattain, Field Maintenance Division, gaining him an award of $25.

Other $25 winners were Tommy Johnson, John H. O'Neill, Clarence Robinson, Henry Salgado and William E. Wells, all of Civil Engineering Division; TSgt. James E. Jones and A1C Michael McClure, both of OMS; Sgt. Donald E. Strange and Henry Wilson of FMS; A1C Richard C. Evans, Supply; 1st Lt. John S. Nabil, Accounting and Finance; SSgt. Robert V. Heath, Services Division; Sergeants James Parent and John P. Borboch, USAF Hospital; Capt. Alan M. Schall, 3500th PTS; Mrs. Opal N. Merriott, Supply Division; and Mrs. Myrtle Fitzgerald, Military Personnel Division.

First Lt. Rodney B. Bunker, formerly assigned to Operations Division, was awarded $200 for intangible benefits from his suggestion concerning unsuitable tubes.

Capt. Michael A. Perry, Transportation Division, earned $30 while saving $275 for the base. His one-time savings was approved for the repair of equipment.

Sgt. Curtis D. Borgfeld, FMS, suggested a form for mainframe computation. The form was approved by Air Training Command with intangible benefits and $50 was granted.

MSgt. Richard Arbegast, 3500th PTW, earned $105 for his suggestion concerning suspension from flying status of SIE students. Suggested procedure was approved by ATC with estimated savings of $1,100 annually.

Sgt. Clyde Rothman, Personnel Division, suggested a revision in Reese Form 190 which save $500 annually. He was awarded $50.

Suggestion certificates were awarded to TSgt. Harold M. Lowe Jr., Comm. Sq.; Sgt. Mickey J. Friend, Supply; Jeff Perry, Services Division; and A1C Gary Black, Civil Engineering Division.

Lieutenant Cooper Cited

The Instructor Pilot of the Month for December has been named by the 3500th Pilot Training Squadron.

Chosen to receive the honor is 1st Lt. Frank G. Cooper of D Flight who has served as an instructor pilot for more than a year. In selecting him for this honor, Lt. Col. William O. Walker, the squadron commander, cited the "outstanding performance" and significant contributions which Lieutenant Cooper has made during his tenure here.

The lieutenant has served within the flight's organization in a number of positions including the Assistant to the Computer Officer, Associate Stan/Eval Officer, Flight Flying Safety Officer and Flight Briefing Officer.

Capt. Terry Corrigan, commander of D Flight, noted that Lieutenant Cooper's "... performance has been exceptional and consistently characterized by a high degree of maturity and sound judgment. His knowledge of procedures has made him 'the authority' to students and instructors alike within the flight."

The 25-year-old lieutenant is a native of Massapequa, N.Y., and is married to the former Miss Annette Dempsey of Santa Maria, Calif.

Head Of Suggestion Program Recognized For Achievement

Fred A. Flewells, administrator of the Reese AFB Suggestion Program, was recognized for outstanding service through the presentation of a Certificate of Recognition by Tom Ireland, chief of Civilian Personnel.

The certificate, recognizing Mr. Flewells' "superb efforts in furthering the Reese AFB Suggestion Program" was signed by Col. Carl L. Brunson, wing commander, and by Col. Charles D. Owens, 3500th Air Base Group commander.

Mr. Flewells has served as administrator of the program for almost five years and has been instrumental in exceeding the Air Force goals for the entire period in suggestion participation and adoption rates. Reese is the only Air Force base that has exceeded these goals for 16 straight years in the Civilian Suggestion Program. Colonel Brunson stated: "His record in exceeding the goals in the military program compares favorably with any Air Training Command base."

In receiving the certificate from Mr. Ireland, Mr. Flewells said: "This recognition does not belong to me. Rather the loyal civilian and military personnel on base who share their constructive ideas with the Air Force should have this recognition." He added, "Our first-line supervisors deserve a large share of the recognition, too, for they constantly encourage their crews to turn in constructive suggestions. They help workers present their ideas and they evaluate suggestions promptly and fairly."

Born: The 12-cylinder animal

Jaguar, a breed of cat rarely considered timid, announces the most exciting automotive development in years—an aluminum V-12 engine.

The logic of the V-12 configuration: The V-12 is inherently balanced. Its smoothness is almost uncanny.

Significance: This 12-cylinder engine idles in near-silence. Its virtual absence of vibration may take some getting used to.

Some specifics: Jaguar's V-12 displaces only 326 cubic inches and yet develops 314 horsepower. The cylinders have a very large bore and the pistons have a short stroke, to attain higher potential power and longer engine life. And the power is delivered through an exceptionally wide range of engine revolutions.

An eye-opener: The ignition system is transistorized. It employs a new electronic distributor that eliminates all contact points. With no contact points to wear or foul, a major cause of engine tune-ups is eliminated. (Incidentally, an out of tune engine is a major cause of air pollution.)

Finally: Jaguar has a fully-independent suspension system with "anti-dive" front-end geometry. New disc brakes, power-assisted on all 4 wheels. And rack-and-pinion steering, also power assisted, with 3.5 turns lock-to-lock and a turning circle of 36 feet.

See the 12-cylinder animal at our showroom. Study the engine. Because it's the one you'll be hearing about for many years to come.

Training Reductions Told

WASHINGTON, D.C. — The Air Force today announced programmed cuts in undergraduate pilot training (UPT) production for fiscal year 1973. The UPT jet pilot production is programmed to be reduced from approximately 4400 pilots in fiscal year 1972 to approximately 3600 pilots in fiscal year 1973 due to reduced requirement. The total net annual production decrease will be equitably distributed among the nine UPT bases resulting in minimum impact in personnel reduction.

Advance planning provides for a net individual base manpower authorization change occurring after implementation of the reduced pilot training program and will vary according to individual base capability as follows:

| Base | Military | Civilian |
|--------------------------|----------|----------|
| Columbus AFB, Miss. | -182 | -2 |
| Craig AFB, Ala. . | -146 | -23 |
| Laredo AFB, Tex. - | 189 | -9 |

| | | |
|--------------------------|------|-----|
| Laughlin AFB, Tex. | -191 | 0 |
| Moody AFB, Ga. . | -192 | -21 |
| Reese AFB, Tex. - | 187 | -13 |
| Vance AFB, Okla. - | 37 | 0 |
| Webb AFB, Tex. . | -166 | -23 |
| Williams AFB, Ariz. | -227 | -20 |

It is anticipated that minimum reduction in force of civilian personnel will result from this action. However, career and career-conditional civilian personnel affected by these realignment actions will be afforded the full advantages of the Department of Defense program for stability of civilian employment.

Reese T-38s Perform Fly-By

A formation of Northrop T-38 Talon aircraft from Reese AFB performed a fly-by over Morton, Tex., Dec. 6 at the dedication of a monument honoring the dead of three wars.

Second Lieutenants George R. Osborne, James E. Campbell, Morton L. Patterson and Kenneth A. Larson, all of Class 72-05 which graduated Saturday, flew the aircraft while below a color guard from the Reese AFB Security Police Division stood at attention as the honor roll was read.

The monument honors the 24 men killed in World War II, one during the Korean war and two in the Vietnam war from the city of Morton, some 40 miles west of Lubbock.

Senior Airman Advisor Speaks Out

(Editor's Note: The following are excerpts from an interview with CMSgt. Thomas N. Barnes, Air Training Command Senior Airman Advisor, which was published in the Dec. 3, 1971, issue of Que Paso.)

Q: Sergeant Barnes, what are your primary duties as the senior airman advisor to the Commander of Air Training Command?

A: Primarily to apprise him of any situations and conditions concerning the morale and welfare of the enlisted people in ATC. Secondly, to give him a pulse on command activities as far as enlisted activity goes. This, in the two contexts I have given you, constitutes the bulk of the job.

... to appraise him of any situations and conditions concerning the morale and welfare of the enlisted people in ATC.

Q: How new is the Airman Advisory Program to ATC?

A: Very new. The program was initiated just slightly over a year ago. It differs vastly from the old sergeant major program in that it places the Senior Airman now directly under the Wing or Center Commander. Previously this was a director of administration function and was directly connected with administration responsibilities. The Senior Airman program has no such tie-ins at all. It deals strictly with relating to the commander and from the commander those situations affecting the enlisted people.

Q: Prior to the Weighted Airman's Promotion System many commands required completion of an accredited NCO Leadership School before promoting a man into the NCO ranks. With so many young men achieving NCO status within their first enlistment, do you foresee a need for re-establishing this requirement now, or in the future?

A: I do see a need most definitely in that the promotions at this point in some degree surpass the managerial capabilities. These schools would be invaluable in providing this very necessary management need.

Q: What advice would you give a young NCO assuming his first supervisory position?

A: The basic advice I would give initially would be if he hasn't attended a management course of any type to get involved—get in this. Biggest thing following that would be listen and learn by listening and be attuned to the needs of his people. These I think, are very important. He will have to be people oriented to be successful as a supervisor.

A: Very receptive. I have not seen the equal of General Simler in any senior officers in my career. He is completely outstanding.

Q: When did you assume your position as Senior Airman Advisor to the Commander of ATC?

A: I officially assumed the duties 1 October this year.

Q: What one question are you asked most frequently by young NCOs and airmen?

A: By young NCOs, what is the middle management situation improvement outlook? These NCOs currently in the E-6 and E-5 bracket feel somewhat neglected by the program extended to first termers primarily. Of course, Senior NCOs have garnered the many benefits that have come as a result of the improvement programs. The young NCOs, however, feel somewhat left out or by-passed and are quite concerned. By airmen of course the biggest questions are why to about anything. I think this parallels the society values and outlooks of most young people today.

Q: When and if the draft is finally abolished, what role do you foresee for NCOs as the Air Force becomes a truly all-volunteer force?

A: I see a very dynamic role with ever increasing responsibilities both due to the need to parallel the fast increase in educational levels of young people and managerially because the old restrictions or tie-ins will be absent. This is an NCO today—we will never be able to say "Do this" based on the fact that he wants it done. This is the new type or challenging type of leadership that is going to be required of NCOs and this is going to be the primary feature of his role.

Q: How would you compare today's young NCOs and airmen with those of a generation ago?

A: Much more reliant upon their skills from a technical standpoint today and that the technical aspects of the Air Force have increased and expanded so; not dependent upon the grade itself to get the job done but rather dependent upon their skills and abilities to influence others. I don't say that the leadership techniques have significantly changed but I do say the reliance on skills rather than muscle is a big difference.

Q: What can a supervisor do to foster communication between himself and his subordinates?

A: He again, and I know that this is repetition, would have to learn to listen. I think this is the biggest key in communications; learning to listen, particularly between supervisors and subordinates. This is one of our biggest problems now. Many of our supervisors do not take the time to listen.

... the biggest key in communications; learning to listen.

Q: During your travels have you noticed any easing of tension in the area of race relations during your visits to ATC bases?

A: Yes, I feel the tensions are easing although they still are present and the continued efforts by supervisory personnel, center and wing commanders and the fine efforts put forth by base, social actions and human relation courses are doing much to ease this. The initial survey by the command human relation team revealed a number of the underlining causes for the tensions and these are being acted upon and treated and I feel they are directly responsible for the decrease in tensions. We need not be complacent however, in feeling that they all are gone. They still do exist although in a reduced quantity right now.

... if he hasn't attended a management course of any type to get involved.

Q: Do you plan to make a report to General Simler on the completion of your tour?

A: I do most definitely.

Q: Have you found General Simler receptive to most of the suggestions and ideas you have brought to his attention?

Air Force's New Skill Center To Open For Business Jan. 10

HQ. ATC — Air Force's Skill Center at Forbes AFB, Kans., will be open for business Jan. 10, 1972, offering seven-week vocational courses for retraining eligible airmen for civilian jobs.

The vocational training is provided for airmen whose AFSC is not compatible or marketable in the current civilian labor market.

The Jan. 10 courses include auto tune-up, radio and TV repair, and heating and air conditioning.

All airmen up to tech sergeant scheduled for separation under honorable conditions or retiring with at least 60 days left in the Air Force are eligible for the civilian skill training.

Base Transition units are the people to see for the particulars on signing up for the Skill Center.

The 20 student classes repeat every seven weeks. Skill center people are expecting over 700 airmen to complete retraining during the first half of 1972.

The following classes will start in January.

Jan. 10—auto tune-up mechanic, radio and TV repairman, heating and air conditioning specialist.

Current Policy INSIGHT

(An AFNS Feature)

United States airpower will be used in Southeast Asia for some time, President Nixon said recently.

He said that airpower "will continue to be used longer than our ground forces, due to the fact that training Vietnamese to handle the aircraft takes the longest leadtime . . . and we will continue to use it in support of the South Vietnamese until there is a negotiated settlement or, looking further down the road, until the South Vietnamese have developed the capability to handle the situation themselves.

"As far as our airpower is concerned, let me also say this: As we reduce the number of our forces, it is particularly important for us to continue our strikes on the infiltration routes.

"If we see any substantial step-up in infiltration in the passes, for example, which lead from North Vietnam into Laos and, of course, the Laotian trail which comes down through Cambodia into South Vietnam—if we see that, we will have to step them up.

"That is why we have been quite categorical with regard to that situation, because as the number of our forces goes down, their danger increases, and we are not going to allow the enemy to pounce on them by reason of our failure to use airpower against increased infiltration, if it occurs."

BUCKLE UP—SSgt. Robert G. Givens is now a firm believer in that old saying, "buckle up for safety." The sergeant was the first recipient of a steak dinner for two because he was caught wearing his seat belt by the Safety Division. See story below. (U. S. Air Force Photo)

Bad Weather Slows Progress On Some Construction Projects

Bad weather on the South Plains has apparently slowed some construction projects at Reese but others are proceeding on schedule.

The most notable slow-down occurred at the new NCO Open Mess which was originally scheduled for completion in this month with probable occupancy in January or February. The completion date is now set for March, 1972. It is 87 per cent complete—an increase of 7 per cent over last month.

The non-destructive inspection building is proceeding at about the same rate. It is now 78 per cent finished and its completion date set ahead from December to January. The completion date for the base communications building remains Dec. 21 while the addition to building 59 was moved ahead from November to January.

Three other projects not under the Military Construction Program (MCP) are pretty well on schedule. The airmen bathhouse, located at the airmen's pool, is completed as is the commissary reefer. Due for completion next week are the alterations to the Mathis Service Center for the Pizza Parlor.

Seat Belt Campaign Underway

The Safety Division, in cooperation with the Officers Open Mess and the NCO Open Mess, is now giving free dinners for two to private motor vehicle operators who are caught wearing seat belts.

The effort is part of a campaign to make people realize the importance of wearing seat belts. In their first attempt to give away a dinner for two, the Safety Division had to stop four vehicles. The fourth, and the only one wearing a seat belt, was SSgt. Robert G. Givens of the 3500th Field Maintenance Squadron, who became the first recipient of a pair of dinners.

The safety people will be making more spot checks in the future and hopefully giving away more steak dinners. Anyone who might be interested is encouraged to buckle up.

Sergeant Tyler Appointed As Acting Youth Center Director

SSgt. Terry L. Tyler, 3500th Field Maintenance Squadron, has been appointed acting youth director, effective Dec. 1 following the resignation of Mrs. Annice Martin, the former youth director, on Nov. 30.

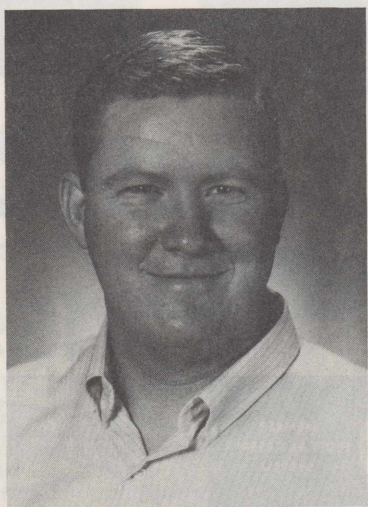

Sergeant Tyler is no stranger to youth activity work. He has led the base youth football program for five years, interrupted only by a tour in Southeast Asia from June 1969 to July 1970. He has been a scoutmaster at Reese and is now assistant scoutmaster at the Lubbock Children's Home. He is coach and director of base youth basketball, the founder and director of the base girl softball program, was president of the Little League on the base in 1969 and managed Little League and Pony League teams. He was also a commissioner with the youth football league and is chairman of the newly formed Youth Athletic Board on the base. He has also organized and directed two youth basketball tournaments conducted on the base. His most recent project is a youth wrestling team on the base.

Actually, this is Sergeant Tyler's second tour of duty as acting youth director. In 1968 the base named him assistant youth director. He served in that ca-capacity during the summer of 1968.

Sergeant Tyler is a native of Lawton, Okla., and joined the Air Force in March of 1966.

Sergeant Tyler is initiating a new youth program although the job is in addition to his regular duties with Field Maintenance. He works the night shift with that unit and devotes much of his daytime hours to the base youth program. He has invited all base dependent children and teenagers to use the youth center and avail themselves of the many programs being offered.

Air Force, Interior Cooperate To Protect Whooping Cranes

WASHINGTON (AFNS) — Secretary of the Air Force Robert C. Seamans Jr. and Secretary of the Interior Rogers C. B. Morton announced an agreement that will permit extra protective measures to be taken for whooping cranes wintering on Matagorda Island, an Air Force weapons range off the coast of Texas.

The 50,000-acre Matagorda Island lies adjacent to Aransas National Wildlife Refuge operated by Interior's Fish and Wildlife Service. Both areas serve as winter home for the world's remaining whooping cranes. The birds make their annual migration from Canada's Wood Buffalo National Park near the Arctic Circle.

The new agreement will permit Interior to undertake habitat improvement projects on the Island as well as to conduct patrol operations. Air Force use of the area is unaffected.

Air Force uses Matagorda as a weapons range year round, but deters certain activities when the whoopers are present. The range area will be administered as an additional portion of the 30,000,000-acre national wildlife refuge system.

The whooping crane has been waging a long but increasingly successful battle to escape extinction. When Aransas Refuge was established in 1937, only 15 of these birds remained.

Added Visibility Given WAPS Test Scores

WASHINGTON (AFNS) — Airmen completing promotion tests now receive the per cent of questions answered correctly in their test score notices. The change, another step taken to improve the visibility of the weighted airman promotion system, was effective with Dec. 1 promotions.

Previously, test scores received by the majority of airmen were expressed as percentile values.

An airman now is able to relate the number of points he is "short" to the actual number of test questions he would have had to answer correctly to be promoted. With the knowledge of how many correct answers he had, the airman has a better understanding of his actual test performance.

Tweety Topics

By Capt. Rowland H. Worrell III with a little help from my friends
 (and with apologies to Clement C. Moore)

T'was the night before Tweety Topics and all through the squadron,
 Not a creature was stirring except for the louse (from Stan/Eval).
 The commander in his nightgown and the flights in their revokes,
 Had just settled down for their Scotch and their smokes.
 The baby jets were nestled all snug in their ice,
 While visions of clear days danced in Mel's eyes.
 When all of a sudden there arose such a squawk,
 Someone was screaming "We're going on top!"
 Away to the line truck I flew like a flash,
 Out to my baby jet, out like a dash.
 The ice on the ramp gave a luster like glass,
 As we pushed the last Tweet from the hanger so fast.
 When what to my wondering eyes should appear,
 But Brunson and Baxter with their vera so clear.
 With a little old pilot so lively and fine,
 I knew in a moment it must be Redwine.
 More rapid than eagles his curses they came,
 And he whistled and shouted and called them by name:
 "Now, Morris! Now, Thrans! Now Eichmeier and Thompson!
 On, Rees! On, McCoy! On, Foster and Swanson!"
 To the top of the ceiling from the sides of the wall!
 Now, Launch away! Launch away! Launch the fleet, all!
 So up from the ramp, the curses they flew,
 With the Tweets full of students and IPs along too!
 And then with a twinkling, I saw in his eyes,
 Mel Swanson a-screaming "We're going Standby?!?!?!?"
 As he slid to the stag bar, so happy and gay,
 He opened the door shouting "No flying today!!!!"
 He was covered in nomex from his head to his toe,
 And his flight suit was tarnished from the beer they did throw.
 A six pack of beer was rung from his back,
 And he looked like a peddler just opening his pack.
 Col. Baxter's eyes twinkled! His dimples were merry!
 His cheeks were like vasi's, his nose like a cherry!
 His droll little mouth was drawn up like a bow,
 The weatherman had said, "Tomorrow, no snow!"
 And I laughed when I heard him because I did know,
 That tomorrow would bring us six inches of snow.
 A wink of my eye and a twist of my head,
 For I knew that tomorrow I would still be in bed.
 But the very next morning, the phone it did ring,
 And I with a headache, from my bed I did spring.
 As I was leaving the house I heard a slight jingle
 I looked in the fireplace; there was Chris Kringle.
 So now that you'll know that nothing's amiss,
 I want to join Santa in this Christmas wish.
 To every IP and each little wife,
 "Merry Christmas to all and to all a safe flight!"

SPs Caution Reesites About Holiday Thefts

The Security Police Division is reminding everyone to be on the alert for thefts and confidence games during the Christmas season. Every year the Security Police receive reports of stolen Christmas presents and ask that everyone remember to lock all doors and windows, close their drapes or blinds or hide the gifts out of sight while away from home.

Security Police officials also warn that Christmas is the time for confidence games, many of which are based on phony charities and projects that collect a great deal of money, but never distribute it to the needy. Also, anyone receiving a package that was not ordered or a bill for un-ordered merchandise is urged to contact the Post Office or the Lubbock Better Business Bureau.

OWC Schedules Board Meet, Monthly Luncheon

By Mrs. John H. Stewart II

The Officers Wives Club executive board will meet Jan. 4, at 9:30 a.m. in the Eagle Room of the Officers Open Mess.

"Frosty the Snowman" will be the theme for the monthly luncheon and business meeting of the Officers Wives Club scheduled for Jan. 6 at noon. Years to remember will be brought back to everyone in a program of popular dance music of the past narrated by Dave King of KSEL radio station. Dances will be demonstrated by Mrs. Norma Lamont.

Senior hostess will be Mrs. Richard Miles with Mrs. Bob Cocke serving as co-hostess. They will be assisted by the wives of the members of the 3501st Student Squadron. Reservations and cancellations must be made no later than noon on Jan. 5. For reservations, call Mrs. George Zesinger at 885-2229.

Officers Wives Club Bridge Day was Dec. 9. Winners were: first place, Mmes. James George and John Stewart; second place, Mmes. Allan Bredenberg and Kenneth Mahaffey; third place, Mmes. Eric Peters and Phillip Rees. Slam winners were Mmes. Thomas Schlick and Lyndon Johnson with a small slam.

Human Relations Council Meets

The Reese AFB Human Relations Council met Nov. 30 at wing headquarters to discuss a number of topics—and to hear a guest from the City of Lubbock—councilman Deaton Rigsby.

Council president Col. Charles D. Owens started the meeting off by bringing the council up to date on current developments in human relations at Reese. A discussion was held on the human relations course being conducted by Capt. William A. Jordan, MSgt. Julian Hyde and TSgt. James Whitehead. Council members had favorable comment concerning the course and agreed that it benefited the base.

SSgt. Raul Sanchez, Hospital Squadron, briefed the council members on the new Mexican-American Club being formed at Reese. He read some quotes from the proposed constitution and by-laws and talked about the aims and activities of the club. Expectations are that it will be patterned after the existing Black 70 club.

Colonel Owens then introduced Councilman Rigsby who gave the Reese council an insight to the developments in Lubbock relating to human relations, including a rundown on the disturbances of Sept. 9-10. He enlightened the Reese council on attendant circumstances relating to that incident.

Mr. Rigsby also spoke at length concerning incidents of housing discrimination in Lubbock, wage rates in the city and the new Lubbock agency that will be handling human relations problems for the city in much the same manner the Reese council does for the base. The councilman said that agency, as yet un-named and still being formed, would probably want to interchange memberships between the Lubbock and Reese councils.

Councilman Rigsby also assured the council members that Reese is an integral part of the Lubbock community and that the City of Lubbock is very much concerned with the welfare of Reese personnel.

SANSUI QS-500 4-Channel Rear Amplifier

At what has to be the best bet yet for 2-channel stereo owners with 4-channel ambitions. It's the all-new Sansui QS-500 4-Channel Rear Amplifier—a feature-packed power amplifier/4-Channel Synthesizer Decoder combination designed to let you parlay your present 2-channel system into a thoroughbred 4-channel system. Here's what you get: a powerful 120 watt high-performance power amplifier plus Sansui's unique 4-Channel Synthesizer Decoder. And here's what it means to you: instant capability for converting your present 2-channel tapes, discs (and FM stereo broadcasts) into the immensely richer 4-channel format. The result is a very, very close approximation of vibrant sound fields as they are experienced at live performances, with all the same liveliness and excitement. With the QS-500, you need only add a second set of speaker systems to your present setup, and you're off and running. And the effect is even more overwhelming when you hear two-channel records, tapes and FM stereo broadcasts encoded from four channels by the Sansui 4-Channel Encoder. Another attractive feature of the QS-500 is that it provides for recording and playing 4-channel stereo tape decks. The Sansui QS-500. A brilliantly-engineered component that carries you in one giant step into the new, breathtakingly beautiful world of 4-channel sound.

Service Awards Go To 28

A group of 28 civilian employees at Reese were presented service pins Wednesday. The group represented a combined total of more than 300 years of service to the Air Force and the Federal Government.

Honored for 30 years of service was Jack House, formerly the general foreman in the Field Maintenance Fabrication Shop. Service awards for 20 years of service went to Rufus J. Wallingsford, Claire L. Ichertz and Betty Patricia B. Stubbs, Alfred P. Curcoe, Manuel A. Stone and Cletus W. Biggs of the Civil Engineering Division and to Johnnie M. Midleton and Claudia T. Winton of the 3500th Supply Division.

Also receiving 20-year awards were Arnald D. Wuthrich, Floyd McWaters, Joseph G. Benet, Thomas E. Fullerton, Tyndal C. Bolash of the Transportation Division, Adolph R. Kiesel, Robert D. Robinson and Billy J. Gridler of the Commissary and James E. Robertson of Civil Engineering.

Ten-year awards went to Patricia B. Stubbs, Alfred P. Cur-

HQ. ATC—All ATC permanent party airmen may now receive notice of selection up to nine months prior to an overseas assignment, according to command Personnel officials.

ATC Personnel people stated that the normal six-months interval between PCS selection and scheduled overseas movement has been extended to nine months as incorporated in the new nine month overseas withdrawal system implemented in October.

This means that an airman can expect to receive a port call for movement up to nine months after his PCS selection.

Personnel officials also said that the extra three months notification will give ATC people more time to "get it together" before leaving for overseas.

By the end of January, airmen will be receiving overseas PCS notifications for assignments effective in September.

Also, in March the CBPO will be apprising airmen whether or not they can expect overseas selection in the next six months. This "personalized" freeze notice will let the individual know that he is hot for overseas and advise him not to make any commitments that could impair his shipment. During this freeze, airmen will not normally be reassigned to any other stateside base.

The command officials said that, barring exceptions and out of cycle Air Force requirements, the expanded assignment system will thus notify an airman that he is hot for overseas up to 15 months before he is actually reassigned.

In order to implement the new assignment notification program, the CBPO has to compress five months of overseas assignment requirements into the next four

This nine months notification is only for overseas duty.

Year End Blast Planned Dec. 31 At Officers Mess

Patrons of the Reese AFB Officers Open Mess will be seeing the new year in and the old year out in style with a gala New Year's Eve Party being offered patrons at a flat rate that will cover all their needs for the evening.

The $15 per couple (or $7.50 single) charge will include free champagne, party favors, a buffet dinner of beef, ham and chicken from 7:30 to 9:30 p.m., free drinks from 7:30 p.m. to 1:30 a.m. and a free breakfast to start 1972 out right. Music for the party will be furnished by the Travelling Salesman in the main ballroom and Between the Generations in the main bar.

The party is on a reservation basis only. To make reservations, call 885-4563 or ext. 2325.

Theater Schedule

Excitement and entertainment are the passwords for this week's lineup at the base theater. See the schedule below for a complete listing.

Tonight and Late Show Tomorrow

"Play Misty for Me" is an invitation to terror that warns, "The scream you hear may be your own!" It stars Clint Eastwood and Jessica Walter and is rated R, under 17 requires accompanying parent or adult guardian.

Matinee and Evening Tomorrow

"The Barefoot Executive" is the rollicking story of "Raffles", a chimp, who helps a poorly rated television network back to its feet. The Walt Disney Production stars Kurt Russell, Joe Flynn, Harry Morgan and Wally Cox and is rated G, all ages admitted.

Sunday

"Let's Scare Jessica to Death" is a horror-thriller that features a woman pursued by supernatural occurrences that will chill even the most avid horror fan. It stars Zohra Lampert, Barton Heyman and Kevin O'Connor and is rated GP, all ages admitted, parental guidance suggested.

Tuesday

"Madron" is the story of a western gunslinger who meets and falls in love with a nun. The context of the plot may offend the sensibilities of some as it has been rated GP. The film stars Richard Boone and Leslie Caron.

Wednesday

"The Buttercup Chain" is the story of two cousins whose affection for each other goes beyond blood relations. The movie stars Hywel Bennett, Leigh Taylor-Young, Jane Asher and Sven-Bertil Taube and is rated R.

Thursday

"When Eight Bells Toll" is a non-stop action adventure which stars Anthony Hopkins as a naval frogman and espionage agent assigned to break a ring hijacking ships for the gold bullion on board. The feature is rated GP.

NCO Open Mess Entertainment Set

The NCO Open Mess is promising an entertaining week with the following events scheduled.

Tonight — Midnight Cowboys; special buffet from 6 p.m. until 10 p.m.

Tomorrow — Kleo's Express.

SPORTS

By Jim Comeaux

Comes now that time of the year in sports when we start looking backward instead of forward and take a look at memorable sporting events at Reese AFB during the past year.

As the new year dawned, attention was riveted to intramural basketball. Class 72-02 went 15-1 during the regular season to emerge as the favorites in the double-elimination play-offs along with Class 71-07, OMS and the 3501st PTS. In those play-offs, Class 72-02 put down strong challenges by OMS in both its games, winning the finale 53-50 to take the base championship.

Second Lt. Brian Shul, a member of Class 72-03, won the base and ATC handball championships and did very well in the Air Force tournament. For his efforts, he was named Athlete of the Quarter for the first quarter of calendar year '71.

Class 72-02 did it again April 1 by beating OMS for the base volleyball title, winning two sets straight over the maintenance men.

As the weather began to warm up, thoughts began turning to track and field, golf and other outdoor sports. Reese had high hopes in the ATC Track and Field Competitions, only to see them dashed at Sheppard AFB. Youth baseball opened in May along with a month-long tournament at the base golf course to uncover the best base golfers. Also off to a fast start was intramural softball.

June saw the popular Reese Partnership Golf Tournament played at the base course with Randall Rieger and Steve Rogers emerging as winners. Jamie Gough and Ken Schweitzer were a distant third. This tournament was followed quickly by the base championship tournament that named a golf team to the ATC tournament held at Lackland. The base team came back from that empty handed.

Certainly one of the brightest spots in base athletics this summer was Bob Murio, personable young tennis star who works at the Mathis Service Center. Murio won the base meet, finished second in ATC singles and third in doubles in the ATC tournament. He made the Air Force team and the All-Interservice teams, playing with some of the top players in the country. He was Athlete of the Quarter for the third quarter of 1971.

Hospital emerged as winners of the 1971 Reese AFB Intramural Softball title, beating FMS in an almost unbelievable comeback. Air Base Group was never headed as they went undefeated to win the Reese AFB Intramural Flag Football title. However, in softball and flag football, the Reesites fell at the ATC level.

However, in a couple of areas Reesites scored surprising wins at the ATC level. In October, David Stockman won the ATC pocket billiards championship and the team of Paul Jantzen and Jimmy Nelson won second place in the doubles table tennis tournament at ATC to give Reese second place in team standings.

Student Squadron rallied behind Bill Croom, Dale Erickson, Ed Sykes and Bruce Bowman to win the Summer Intramural Golf League.

The Reese Eagles, base entry in youth football play downtown, ended the season with a 1-5-1 record, but still had a successful season. Ernest Walker was honored as the Eagles' most valuable player.

And, last month intramural basketball got under way to get the whole cycle started off again.

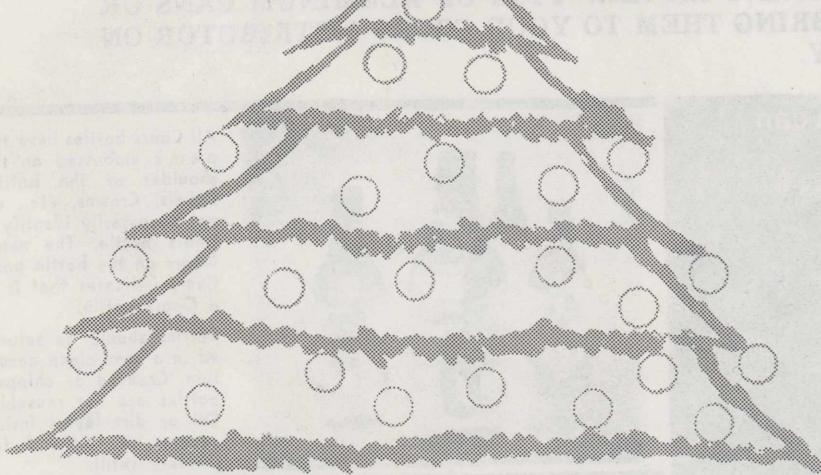

All in all, it was a pretty good year for Reese. There was plenty of exercise, healthy competition and unit spirit and morale expended during 1971—which is a pretty healthy thing for the Air Force. Let's hope that next year is at least as good.

FMS Stretches Bowling Lead

Field Maintenance is back running 1-2 in the Reese AFB Intramural Bowling League following play last week at Reese Lanes.

FMS #2 won four games vaulting from fifth place to a second-place tie with Supply, both with 32-24 records. First is still solidly held by FMS #1 which increased its lead by virtue of a 3-1 win and now stands at 42½-13½—a 10½ game bulge over the field.

Individual efforts continued strong. Jerry Beck of AFCS rolled a 621 series. Jim Russell had a 553 series. Beck had the high game of the week—a 243. Other 200 or better games were rolled by Jay Leinbach (207), Chuck Jones (206), Buddy Thompson (202), Jack Evans (202), Joe Smith (201), Paul Crane (201), Paul Lewis (201), and Bob Bomyea (200).

'Team' Efforts Aid Graduation

BUY AND HOLD
U.S. SAVINGS BONDS

By Capt. Henry T. Johnson

Class 72-05 graduated Saturday on schedule, but it took the combined efforts of many persons both here at Reese and at other ATC bases to get them finished in time for the ceremony.

A month ago the class was in excellent shape with respect to the number of remaining sorties needed to graduate, but the successive days of inclement weather which brought Reese flying operations to a virtual standstill for the better part of two weeks raised some doubts as to whether or not Dec. 11 would find everyone finished with his training and ready to pin on his wings.

The final week of training found several students still needing a number of rides in order to graduate and, with the weatherman still not cooperating, a rather unique plan of operations had to be devised to meet the situation.

Three students were sent along with check pilots to Randolph AFB, Tex., the afternoon of Dec. 7 and allowed to plan from there. With the weather closing down Reese once again late that day they were unable to return, so they flew the second leg of their final instrument check to Laredo AFB, Tex., Dec. 8.

They were forced to remain at Laredo due to the continuing bad weather at Reese and it was there that the team concept that makes the operational Air Force what it is was so smoothly demonstrated. The Chief of Operations at Laredo, Lt. Col. Paul J. Wright, made available to our young pilots all resources that they might require to complete their missions. Not only did he personally secure housing for them when there seemed to be none available, but he extended to them the offer of Laredo check pilots flying in the Laredo local to complete the formation check ride on our students.

Fortunately, the weather improved somewhat on Dec. 9 and the Reese aircrews were able to return home a scant 48 hours before graduation, having undergone the unusual experience of a mid-week crosscountry.

The efforts made by our operations personnel and the support rendered to us both at Randolph and Laredo enabled the 3500th Pilot Training Wing to graduate Class 72-05 on schedule during a period of highly fluctuating and adverse weather conditions. The flexibility and operational insight which were demonstrated throughout the entire operation are a credit not only to the personnel of the 3500th PTW but to the ATC team as well.
