Class 72-0 Graduation: for Thursc

Graduation ceremonies for Class 72-09 will be held at 10 a.m. Thursday in the Base Chapel with Maj. Gen. Frank M. Madsen Jr. serving as guest speaker.

A native of Harvey, Ill., General Madsen is Commander of the Technical Training Center at Keesler AFB, Miss., the electronics training center of the Air Force.

The general was commissioned as a second lieutenant and received his pilot wings in 1944, following advanced flying training at Marianna, Fla. He then joined the 315th Bombardment Wing on Guam, where he served as wing operations officer. Following a tour in the Philippine Islands where he received a Regular Army commission, General Madsen returned to the United States to serve as wing operations officer at Lackland AFB, Tex. From 1950 to 1953 he served as wing training and operations officer at Sampson AFB, N.Y., during which time he was graduated from the Air Command and Staff School in 1951.

Following several other assignments, General Madsen was appointed Commander, 3750th Technical School, Sheppard AFB, Tex., in 1960. During this assignment he earned the Legion of Merit for his assistance in establishing programs for the installation of Jupiter missile sites in Italy and Turkey.

Prior to assuming his present duties in 1969, the general was assigned to Headquarters, Air Training Command, where he was awarded the first oak leaf cluster to the Legion of Merit for his work in planning, organizing and implementing training programs at that headquarters.

In addition to the Legion of Merit with one oak leaf cluster, General Madsen's decorations include the Army Commendation Medal, the Air Force Outstanding Unit Award Ribbon and Small Arms Expert Marksmanship Rib-

General Madsen is married to the former Miss Betty Searle of Homewood, Ill. They have two children, Paul and Thomas.

Among the 48 members of awaiting the silver wings of pilot are Captains Ralph G. Richard G. Tauzin, 1st Lt. Seese II and the following s

June hikes revealed

Promotions for 25 enlisted Reesites, effective June 1, have been announced by local personnel officials.

Five E-4s will be promoted to the grade of staff sergeant while 20 others will sew on their third stripe Thursday.

The 3500th Air Base Group members selected for promotion to staff sergeant are Kenneth A. Chapman, Richard L. Craft and Robert Weber. Two other squadrons also boast personnel that will become E-5s. The USAF Hospital member is William J. Mosley, and Charles H. Cape Jr. of the 3501st Student Squadron will also gain his fourth Personnel selected for promotion to the grade of sergeant are: Michael W. Slaw, 2053rd Communications Squadron; John D. Macjewski, 3501st Student Squadron; Ronald Chernick, Garry L. Dixon, Bobby E. Doten, Kenneth A. Peterson, Jose O. Rodriguez Jr. and Patrick I. Wanzeck, all of the 3500th Supply Squadron; and David C. Lockwood, Thomas K. Clinton, James B. King, Thomas W. McKinney and Ronald J. Waddell, all members of the 3500th Field Maintenance Squadron.

Again, the 3500th ABGp shows the highest number of personnel promoted with seven men being promoted to E-4. Those selected are Michael D. Groeber, Timothy W. Hardin, Leslie G. Hollowell, Gary R. Keyser, William J. Lathrop, Fred D. Navey Jr. and Macario Romero.

frame of reference

"After this holiday, who will be a memory and who will be around to remember?"

d their dead ds of the era. proper mood things are different in this day and age—or are they?

How many blood sacrifices will be offered up to the Great God Speed as we commemorate our dead heroes this Memorial Day? To Bacchus? Or, to the lesser god of too good to do it right? How many right here in the Lubbock area? Two, three, or maybe even four? Who will be the chosen ones? Or, should we say who will choose themselves?

Must all these things come to pass?

To the former questions, only time will tell; to the latter—an emphatic NO! The flying fickle finger of fate doesn't work by accident. Certainly we all must go sooner or later, but while we cannot do anything about the later bit, we can do a lot about the sooner! What rational man will put a loaded gun to his temple and pull the trigger to find out whether his time has come or not? But, that's no accident—that's suicide!

On the other hand, how does one classify the actions of a person who deliberately gets blotto, gets into his car, pushes it up to the peg and splatters himself all over the conveniently located pillars of the Loop 289 overpass? Sure, this didn't have to happen any more than the gun scene, but the results were nearly as certain, albeit messier.

Other "accidents" occur even though an individual does nothing to precipitate the mishap. Usually he does nothing to prevent it either. Which is worse—to cause it, or to fail to try to stop it? In reality, it only counts before the fact—afterwards it may be too late.

After this holiday, who will be a memory and who will be around to remember? The choice may be yours—if you dig this living scene, do it right—and stick around.

The whole TRUTH about marijuana

(Editor's note: The following article is the first in a two part series concerning the effects of marijuana. The second part will appear in the June 2 issue of the Roundup).

> By Capt. Paul R. Kelley Social Actions Officer

A killer drug? A harmless happy high? A drug you can become addicted to? Something anyone can stop anytime?

Does marijuana always lead to heroin or other hard drugs? Does no one go on to hard stuff after grass? Can marijuana distort your mind, or does it just relax you?

Is it true that grass leads people to violence, or does marijuana make everyone happy when used? What is the straight poop about cannis sativa or marijuana? Is marijuana really the harmless happy high that most habitual users claim. Or is it really the addicting mind warper that always leads to heroin as a few misinformed older generation people claim?

The truth, as much as is known, is found somewhere between the extremes. According to federal law, marijuana is defined to mean all parts of the cannabis plant except the stalks and sterilized seeds. In this country marijuana usually refers to a preparation of pulverized leaves, resins and flowers with other substances frequently mixed in to add to the sellers' profit. These substances are frequently parsely, tobacco, cow manure, and various mixtures of leaves and grasses. The grade of marijuana sold in this area is very bad and even if the buyer is getting 100 per cent marijuana, he isn't getting much of the active ingredient, tetrahydrocannabinol, or THC.

THC is what makes marijuana different than smoking clover or oak leaves. The grade or strength of any given preparation of marijuana depends upon how much THC it contains. If THC is taken straight, it has almost the same effect on the user that LSD does. However, due to the mixture of the various parts of the plant and the varying grades of pot, the psychoactive properties range from almost non-existent (true of much of the local grass) to decidedly hallucinogenic when used in its stronger forms and at high doses. The "grass" used in Vietnam is of a much stronger quality than local marijuana.

Hashish is the name of the preparation that uses the resins of cannis sativa. Hash, as it is generally called, is much stronger than grass and has a much higher content of THC.

The use of marijuana produces a variety of mental and physical effects which become more pronounced with chronic use. Some of the effects according to a report by the World Health organization are as follows: hilarity, carelessness, euphoria, distortion of sensation and perception, impairment of judgment and memory, distortion of emotional responsiveness, irritability, and sustained, marked confusion in some cases. Other effects which show up after repeated use include: lowering of the sensory threshold, illusions and delusions, and sleep disturbances.

The effect that the individual user of marijuana obtains will vary greatly depending on a number of things such as the original mood of the individual, the social setting, the strength of the drug, the people the person is with, and the emotional stability of the user.

When only memory remains, what then? That man may lose the world and gain his soul?

By Chaplain (Major) David P. Wood

Memorial Day is senseless unless we take a moment to reflect upon its significance!

Brave and valiant departed heroes have given their lives to secure and defend our American heritage and freedom. With unflinching courage and unyielding devotion they laid down their lives so our precious liberty might be insured.

Lest you forget their deeds or their sacrifices be in vain, may each of us resolve now to be equally steadfast. Let us dedicate ourselves to uphold its priceless freedom which is the legacy of those whose memory we honor.

Inspiration from our God is the most important quality needed to survive the sacrifices being made today. Sunday we will honor our dead in the various Protestant and Catholic services conducted in your Base Chapel. Can you do less than join your prayers to the Divine Author of peace? Your presence and prayers are needed and appreciated.

"The Godfather", starring Marlon Brando as a Mafioso "family" leader, has been slated for eight special showings at the base theater, June 2, 3, 4.

Special times and admission rates will be in effect for this feature presentation at Reese. Details will be released in the June 2 edition of the Roundup.

This week's slate of movies at the base theater offers a mixture of comedy, drama and suspense and a double feature Sunday.

Tonight

"Pocket Money" stars Paul Newman and Lee Marvin in a comedy about two cowpokes who retaliate after being cheated out of a large sum of money. The film is rated PG, all ages admitted, some material may not be suitable for pre-teenagers.

Matinee Tomorrow

"Ring of Bright Water" is a Walt Disney film about the explorations of two otters. It is rated G, all ages admitted.

Tomorrow Night

"Snow Job" is a skiing drama starring Jean-Claude Killy and Daniele Gaubert. It is the story of the attempted robbery of a ski resort which requires only death-defying skiing skills. After the caper, the robbers are found out and robbed again by an insurance investigator. This robbery-chase is rated PG.

Sunday

A double feature is slated featuring "The People Next Door", the story of a suburban family's attempt to cope with the dangers of drugs in their own neighborhood. It stars Eli Wallach and Julie Harris and it is rated R, under 17 requires accompanying parent or adult guardian. The second movie will be "Macho Callahan", starring Lee J. Cobb and Jean Seberg. It is the story of an escaped convict and a female accomplice who find themselves fugitives from justice. It is also rated R.

Tuesday

"Suppose They Gave a War and Nobody Came" is a comedy pitting Uncle Sam's peacetime Army against a group of townspeople in a battle of wits. This film stars Tony Curtis and Suzanne Pleshette and is rated PG.

Wednesday

"The Swimming Pool" is set in the French Riviera. The story centers around four vacationers whose lives turn into a nightmare of romance and tragedy. It stars Alain Delon and Romy Schneider and is rated PG.

Thursday

"Kidnapped" is the Robert Louis Stevenson classic set in the days of the Engilsh-Scotch conflict about a rebel to the English cause. The movie stars Michael Caine and Trevor Howard and is rated G.

Drug Committee meet held

the May 9 meeting of the Reese Drug Abuse Committee centered around the Limited Privileged Communication Program (LPCP), and under what circumstances those utilizing the program should be given an administrative discharge.

It was concluded that administrative discharge could be recommended only after rehabilitation had been deemed not feasible, with rehabilitation being defined as non-use of drugs.

Further action during the meeting included a report by Capt. Paul R. Kelley, Social Actions officer, on the Alcoholism Seminar at Randolph AFB, Tex. In later

The first article of business at action, Captain Kelley met with several high-ranking members of the Texas Commission on Alcholism to discuss a seminar to be held at Reese the second week in August. The purpose of that seminar will be to educate Reese personnel and members of the civilian community on the facts and dangers of alcoholism in an effort to change attitudes toward the alcoholic.

> It was recommended during the meeting that three enlisted men be appointed to the Drug Abuse Committee on a six month basis. Two of the three were named with the third to be recommended at a later date. Appointed were Sgt. Felix Bonard, Field Main tenance Squadron, and AIC Michael W. Texier, Transportation Division.

Other items discussed during the meeting included a lecture on the pharmacology of drugs to be presented to the Committee by Lt. Col. (Dr.) Wesley E. Romberger, commander of the USAF Hospital, at a yet unannounced date; the Committee directed Captain Kelley to contact other bases having Concerned Parents' Councils to examine their organization and method of origin; the captain was further directed to meet with the Lubbock Concerned Parents' Council to discover if contact could be established between the Lubbock Chapter and a possible Reese Chapter.

The meeting was concluded with a discussion between Dr. Romberger and the Committee on the Drug Abuse Testing Program, with the Committee offering the doctor its complete support and assistance.

Congratulations to everyone for an outstanding job! The 3500th Pilot Training Squadron did it again receiving an EXCELLENT from the ATC Stan/Eval team. We managed to outdo our counterparts from down the road. A job well done!

Speaking of ATC and check rides, if you need any help you might speak to "Golden Hands", Capt. Rodney P. Kelly. He dazzled the people from Randolph with a 99 Instructional and a 97 on formation flying. It must be nice to be able to walk on the water, Rod.

Lt. Col. William O. Walker, 3500th PTS comander, got a very nice 94 on a contact check with no errors. These two rides helped keep our error rate to 0.5 per ride which isn't too bad.

Have you ever sat back and looked at the number of evaluations an IP has in ATC per year? Counting written tests, possible

I can't believe I stuffed the who-o-ole thing

By Amn. Jeff King

What does a hunter do with his prize catch at the end of the day when he isn't hungry? David Blenkhorn can tell you.

SSgt. David L. Blenkhorn is a taxidermist. He enjoys hunting and mounting his trophies instead of preparing them for dinner. He would rather see a drake in his living room than on the kitchen table.

Sergeant Blenkhorn became interested in taxidermy while stationed at Udorn AFB, Thailand in June, 1971. He was making an autovon call to his wife and, while waiting to be connected, picked up a brochure advertising the subject and found it interesting. He mentioned his newfound interest to his wife and it just about ended there. Again while overseas, he happened by a shop and saw a leopard and other stuffed game and purchased them to take home to the United

After finding that items of this nature were not permitted through customs because of the possibility of deadly parasites, he decided that the hobby might be too expensive and frustrating and again he dropped the idea, temporarily.

Upon his return stateside and stationing at Reese, the sergeant found to his surprise that his wife had enrolled him in a taxidermy correspondence course. The course was a 14 volume edition with a variety of subject matter ranging from anatomy to formaldehyde. By combining his talent as an Air Force photographer and his interest in the new hobby, he submitted pictures of his work along with a list of the materials and an outline of the procedure used.

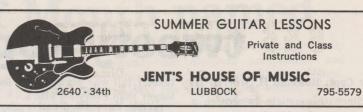

The school returned letters with constructive criticism and suggestions on how to improve his work. After 11 months of hard work, Sergeant Blenkhorn received his certificate of graduation and a high recommendation from the correspondence school.

His collection consists of 10 different specimens. Among the items stuffed are a drake and a chipmunk, but his prize specimen, a five point buck, hangs on his living room wall. This was his first endeavor in the world of taxidermy and the school was enthusiastic about the results.

There is an area of taxidermy where the artist really gets to use his imagination. Not only does he have the choice of any position in which he would like to see his subject but he also has a choice of what the finished product will look like. This type of novelty taxidermy would include Sergeant Blenkhorn's other favorite specimen, a "jackelope." The jackelope is a legendary cross between an antelope and a jack rabbit found only in the farthest regions of North American flatlands. It has the head of a rabbit, the ears of a deer and the horns of an antelope. The jackelope can only be seen during a full moon in Spring and makes a sound like a crying baby when the evening star appears. The species is becoming quite rare, so Sergeant Blenkhorn felt himself very lucky to capture one of these odd creatures.

His hobby kit contains articles ranging from toothbrushes to surgical masks. Since he began his work last year, the sergeant has accumulated a number of strang looking tools required for completion of subjects.

The sergeant has been in the Air Force since 1963 and plans on retiring at the end of a 20-year service career. When asked about his post-Air Force future, he said, "I plan on buying my own business in a town that thrives on stuffing animals. With the talent the Air Force has given me as a photographer and my hobby as a taxidermist, I could furnish my customers with a photograph of the fruits of their hunting or preserve the kill and mount it—or both."

Sergeant Blenkhorn is a native of Portland, Maine. He is married to the former Miss Julia M. Elmore and they have a four-year-old daughter, Amy Irene. The Blenkhorns make their present home in Reese Village.

Since this article is written a week in advance, I'm sure that you understand when I say that the quote of the week has been, "Better you than me!"

Yes, our friends from the South have finally left but are certainly not forgotten. If I could only copyright their act, I'd make a mint.

By the way, Chuck Corley, B Flight's EPQ officer, is taking a poll among the IPs and students on whether or not you can raise the gear with complete electrical failure. At last count I understand the results were running 300 to one for the negative.

I always knew that T-38s was an easy-going, fast cat program, but I didn't realize how true this was until this past week. Just over a month and a half ago we sent Class 73-03 to the Spooks. They were sleek, hungry and ready to tear up the program. However, just this past week, one member of their class, who would like to remain anonymous, a certain 2nd Lt. John Bowling to be sure, had to be cut out of his G suit. This was not due to over expansion of the suit's bladders, but could more correctly be attributed to over expansion of John's gut. I understand that John was wondering why his

Chapel women install officers

Three new officers were elected for the Women of the Chapel at Reese during the monthly meeting held May 16 in the Chapel Center.

The new president of that organization is Mrs. Wendell W. McNew. The vice-president is Mrs. Harold Y. Asari and the newly elected treasurer is Mrs. Charles W. Buck. The ceremony was followed by a luncheon at the home of Col. and Mrs. Walter H. Baxter III.

The Women of the Chapel is an ecumenical group for all women of Reese, regardless of denomination. The WOC meets on the third Tuesday of each month at 9:30 a.m. in the Chapel Center, with the next meeting slated for June 20.

Open Mess slates weekend activities

Entertainment this weekend at the NCO Open Mess features dancing music provided tonight by The Past and Present.

The dinner special will also be presented tonight and tomorrow night from 5 p.m. until 11 p.m. Dancing tomorrow night will feature Chuck Harding and his dance band for the enjoyment of mess patrons.

A reminder to Reesites that the sandwich bar is open every day at noon for those with a short lunch period who prefer a hot sandwich.

Believe it or not, F Flight's own Dennis Williams has coached one of the local women's softball teams to victory. This should net Dennis right side marks on his next OER in areas such as use of resources, adaptability, leadership characteristics and most certainly judgment as well as knowledge and performance of duties. Anyone who can get 10 women to work together has definite potential. I hear that his biggest problem was getting the girls to agree on what color gloves to use.

That old adage that those who talk the loudest are always the first to go has again proven true. We extend our congratulations to Deborah Carson, who tomorrow will net Duane Hutchins, E Flight's most self-proclaimed bachelor, in nupitals being held in San Antonio, Tex. Actually, from what I hear, Deborah is not only very pretty but is also a major general's daughter. That sounds like an Excellent in mission planning, Duane. Seriously, congratulations again, Deborah. We're all looking forward to welcoming you into the squardon.

Airman of Month named

A1C William W. Troy, a 20-yearold records clerk from Irving. Tex., has been named Airman of the Month for the 3500th Pilot Training Wing at Reese AFB.

"As Records Review Clerk in the Processing Section of the Consolidated Base Personnel Office, Airman Troy far exceeds the expectations of a young man of his experience and background in our highly computerized personnel system," said Capt. Ronald E. Hoch, chief of the

"The numerous technical and varied duties of the Records Review Unit require timely and accurate actions to fulfill the mission. Airman Troy displays daily the complete competence and ability to meet this challenge. His initiative and efforts to perform to perfection are exemplary for his peers," said Captain Hoch.

An active and well-rounded young man, Troy holds a parttime job to supplement his Air Force income. He is currently enrolled in two college courses in the on-base program sponsored by South Plains Junior College at Reese. "Even so," said the captain, "these activities never interfere with his primary duties within the CBPO."

Airman Troy is also an active participant in the Military Suggestion and Resources Conservation programs at Reese.

Captain Hoch said, "This young man's loyalty to his job, superiors, subordinates, the Air Force and his country; the manner in which he conducts himself; and his outstanding performance of duty make him well-deserving of selection as Airman of the Month."

Troy was first chosen Airman of the Month for his squadron. He then met a selection board where he competed with Airmen of the Month from other units at Reese. That board chose him to be Airman of the Month for the 3500th Pilot Training Wing.

Airman Troy is married. He and his wife, Judith, have two children and live in Lubbock.

Green fees to increase at golf course Thursday

notified of a change in rates for green fees at the golf course during their meeting of May 18.

Lt. Col. Norman N. White, base Special Services officer who presided over the meeting, informed the council that the decision has been made to raise daily green fees, do away with semi-annual fees in lieu of annual rates and lowering same in an effort to encourage golfers to take the annual plan.

Under the new rates, airmen in grades E-1 through E-3 and their dependents will pay daily green fees of 75 cents and annual fees of $25 single and $35 for the family rate. Grades E-4 through E-9, officers and their dependents will pay a daily green fee of $1.50 and an annual rate of $40 single and $50 family rate.

Civilian employees will pay a daily green fee of $1.50 and an annual rate of $40 single and $50 family rate. Civilian employees will pay a straight $1.50 on any day of play. The annual rate has not been extended to them. Civilian guests will pay $2 on weekdays and $3 on weekends. In addition, cart fees will be raised. Electric cart rates will go to $3 for nine holes and $5 for 18. Pull carts will cost 50

The new rates will become effective June 1.

Colonel White explained that those with current semi-annual paid up cards will be allowed to continue on those cards until they expire. He also said that those who purchase annual rates and who are later transferred away will be reimbursed through the Central Base Fund in some manner for the unused portion of the card.

The rate change was an announcement only and not subject to the approval of the golf council.

The council took some action, though, on those who litter the course, violate rules and courtesy of play and who hold up play, by authorizing the use of marshalls on weekends when they are most needed. Golf council members will serve as marshalls, wearing an arm band and riding an electric cart to police the course on the lookout for those who litter, violate rules of play and etiquette and hold up play. Violations may result in suspension by the golf

Ecology tourney nears

Response to the Silver Anniversary Golf Tournament at the Reese golf course has been extremely good thus far with more than 30 ecology-minded base golfers signed up for the event scheduled June 3 at the course.

Entry fee will be the willingness of the participants to contribute two hours of work on the golf course between 7 and 9 a.m. The tournament will start shortly after that. It will be a Scotch Foursome, matching teams of two determined by their individual handicaps, with both contestants alternating shots after the best drive is selected until the ball is holed out.

At least a dozen prizes will be given out which have been donated by the base exchange, central base fund, golf course and with everyone participating enjoying two kegs of beer, which have been donated by the Officers and NCO Open Messes, following the tournament.

No play will be allowed on the golf course during the 7 to 9 a.m. work period because of the safety hazard, and from 9 a.m. until the tournament is concluded, only those participating in the tournament will be allowed to play. A shotgun start will be used in order that all golfers can finish together and enjoy the beer. Play by non-participating golfers is expected to begin about 1:30 p.m.

There is a possibility that participation may have to be limited. Therefore golfers are asked to sign up early for the tournament in order to avoid being shut out. There will be no entries accepted after noon, June has begun at Reese with the Western and Eastern Leagues composed of 16 individual squadron teams.

Intramural softball league sets schedule for this week's games

The schedule set up by the base gym shows the Eastern League holds its games on Mondays and Wednesdays and the Western League's games are played each Tuesday and Thursday. There are two games each evening at 6:30 and 8 p.m.

The slate for this week reminds Reesites of the Memorial Reese Rattlers win Day holiday, Monday, in that no games will be played. Tuesday will see Class 73-04 vs. Class 73-05 in the first game of the evening, and 3500th Field Maintenance Squadron vs. 3500th Organizational Maintenance Squadron for the nightcap. Wednesday's action pits the Base Civil Engineer team against the 3501st Student Squadron. The second game of Eleven military personnel earned cash awards and two others won suggestion certificates. Seven civilian workers also received cash awards along with two others who were given the recognition of suggestion certificates. The suggestions submitted are expected to save an estimated $3,269 annually both at Reese and Air Force wide.

Military awards recipients include CMSgt. Donald W. Lloyd of the 3500th Field Maintenance Squadron whose idea about the placement of throttle push-pull cables earned him $130. This idea is expected to save $1,514 annually throughout the Air Force. Capt. James E. Vaughn of the 3500th Pilot Training Wing was awarded $115 for his suggestion concerning a procedure for run-
