Rotary District Governor Will Visit Haskell

Rotarians will welcome on Wednesday, September 11, the governor of this Rotary District, Dr. Ike H. Harrison of Fort Worth.

He will address the Rotary Club of Haskell, Thursday noon, September 12, one of the 41 in his district, and will confer with R. C. Couch, Jr., president of the local Rotary Club, and with other club officials to obtain information on the group's plans for its service activities and to offer suggestions on Rotary administrative matters.

Dr. Harrison is one of 288 Rotary governors in all parts of the world who are serving as representatives of Rotary International in districts composed of member clubs. Each district leader is responsible for supervising the clubs in his area. Rotary, an international men's service organization, has more than 633,000 members in some 13,319 clubs in 143 countries.

A member and past president of the Rotary Club of Fort Worth, Dr. Harrison is Dean of the M. J. Neely School of Business of Texas Christian University. He was elected to office at the Rotary convention in Mexico City in May, 1968, and will serve until June 30, 1969.

Though a seasoned Rotarian before his election to the office of district governor, Dr. Harrison attended an eight-day international assembly last May at Lake Placid, New York, at which all Rotary governors for 1968-69 attended in-depth seminars to plan for their jobs. One of his biggest jobs will be to hold a district conference of all Rotary clubs in this area. The conference will be held at the Sheraton Texas, March 13, 14 and 15, 1969, in Fort Worth.

He and three others had spent the night at a listening post and were headed back to the company perimeter when they were attacked by small arms fire and grenades.

"I remember when I went out to the listening post, I had a feeling I would get hit. There were so many NVA (North Vietnamese) around," he said.

When he first arrived at Khe Sanh, "it wasn't so bad. It was okay until the Tet offensive began. I was a little scared knowing we were surrounded by a large group of the enemy."

Ozuna, 21, entered the Marine Corps in May of 1967. He arrived in Vietnam last October and spent the summer recuperating at the U. S. Naval Hospital at Corpus Christi.

He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Silvestre D. Ozuna of Haskell.

CIVIL DEFENSE CONDUCTS TEST IN MOCK DISASTER

The officials with scores of incidents resulting from the mock explosions. Inside the center, police, fire, welfare, public works, health and transportation representatives tried to provide appropriate response to each report.

The activities inside the center were supervised by an executive unit, composed of key city, county and civil defense personnel.

The problems facing the center ranged from looting, overcrowded shelters, lack of food and water, to escaped convicts, train and plane wrecks, fire and smoke in one shelter and people had to be evacuated.

Local officials had prepared for the exercise for several weeks, with the assistance of a team of specialists from Texas A&M University. Persons from civil defense units throughout the area were invited to witness the exercise, and several defense authorities were on hand to offer suggestions.

A total of 96 different emergencies, in addition to other routine reports, passed through the center during the exercises, Kimbrough said.

Boy Scouts acted as messengers during the Emergency Operations Simulation Exercise.

Atomic Bombs Peppered the Abilene Area Last Thursday

Atomic bombs peppered the Abilene area last Thursday night, August 29th, effects of the blasts were only felt in the Haskell Elementary School Cafeteria.

City, county and civil defense officials gathered at the Elementary school for an emergency exercise based on a simulated nuclear attack. The exercise was designed to strengthen the Haskell area civil defense capabilities. John Kimbrough, Civil Defense Coordinator, said.

During the exercise, which was conducted with as much realism as possible, officials were asked to deal with a variety of problems which would arise from such a disaster.

The exercise began at 6:30 p. m., with a warning of an impending air attack. At 7:19 p. m., a mock surface burst occurred near Sweetwater, followed by an air burst over Lake Stamford.

The combination of surface bursts in the area and the air burst at Lake Stamford provided the officials with a complicated combination of simulated blast and fire damage and radioactive fallout.

A simulation team, connected to the emergency operations center by telephone, presented

HASKELL SOLDIER TELLS OF HARROWING EXPERIENCE

The Texan at war crawled along the trail, his leg feeling like it was on fire and his elbow crippled.

Marine Pfc. Silvestre D. Ozuna Jr. was trying to reach the company perimeter but he didn't know if he would make it or not.

A simulated like my leg was blown off," the Haskell native said. "Then it got real hot from my knee up, like my leg was on fire."

Then he saw his buddy coming to his aid.

"He was a big guy," Ozuna said. "He was running back, firing as he came. He picked me up and carried me on his shoulder."

The big Marine carried his 144-pound buddy about 25 meters. Then he, too, took some shrapnel in his leg.

"He had to put me down. We crawled the rest of the way to the outside of the perimeter. I was dazed and moaning. My boot was full of blood."

Ozuna said a rescue helicopter barely missed being shot down trying to pick him up.

"Every time it came down, a machinegun opened up and it

Normal rainfall to date for 1968 is 16.23 inches; however, a total of 22.65 inches was registered through August, Herren reported.

Every month during 1968, with the exception of April, June and July, Haskell has topped normal precipitation, according to Herren's records.

Here is how the rains came during August: August 10, .47; August 19, .03; August 25, .89; August 26, .45; August 28, .20. Total, 2.04.

Riding Club To Go To Henrietta September 19th

Could be that "13" is an unlucky number for the Haskell County Sheriff's posse. The club was scheduled to ride in the parade and grand entry of the Fischer County Rodeo last Thursday, August 29th, which would have made the thirteenth road trip for the Haskell riders this season.

President Gene Hunter said he was unable to "round-up" enough riders for last Thursday's outing, so the trip to Roby was cancelled.

The Haskell County Sheriff's posse has "racked-up" an enviable record this season, having made 12 outings, and has brought home 12 trophies, including eight first places, two seconds and two third places.

Baumbach Is Wounded Near Saigon

Sgt. Glen (Shorty) Baumbach, 21, who has been in Vietnam since November, 1967, was seriously wounded August 27, by an enemy booby trap.

The Otto Baumbachs, who reside in the Paint Creek community, received a telegram Wednesday of last week which stated their son had both hands amputated, had shrapnel wounds in his chest and stomach, and injury to both eyes.

Mr. and Mrs. Baumbach went to Dyess Air Base, Abilene, and had the Chaplain call the hospital in Vietnam and received almost the same report as the telegram.

Sunday, a cable from the Red Cross said that Sgt. Baumbach was very seriously ill due to the amputation of his left hand and a part of his right hand. His general condition was improving and his abdominal and chest wounds were healing, but he also had serious injuries to his eyes. The cable further stated that Baumbach was in excellent spirits and was scheduled for evacuation to Japan soon, if able.

Released From Hospital

Mrs. Jetty V. Clare, who has been a patient in the Methodist Hospital, Houston, since July 28th and had vascular surgery, August 12th, was dismissed from the hospital last Saturday and is at the home of the Clare's daughter, Mrs. Temple W. Williams in Houston.

In a telephone conversation late Tuesday afternoon, Mr. Clare said they would probably return home this week-end.

From all indications, residents of the cities of Haskell, Munday, Rule and Gore will march to the polls in good numbers today, Thursday, September 5th, to cast their votes on the Water Contract Election which would authorize their city councils to make contracts to buy water to be stored in the Millers Creek reservoir by the North Texas Municipal Water Authority. The lake will be located seven miles southeast of Munday.

The election, in Haskell, will be held at the city hall, with Henry King, presiding judge, and E. J. Stewart, alternate judge.

Sample ballot reads as follows: FOR the water contract proposition; AGAINST the water contract proposition.

The Water Authority will build the reservoir, install water filter plants and lay pipelines to the towns. Treated water of good quality will be delivered to the cities' elevated storage tanks under pressure sufficient to fill them.

The water supply thus will be the responsibility of the Water Authority. The cities will be concerned only with operation of their distribution systems within the city limits.

Water Contract Rate

Thirty-six cents per 1,000 gallons is the estimated rate to be charged by the Water Authority. Purpose of the contract to be voted on today, September 5th, in the four cities is to authorize the city councils to buy the water at that estimated rate. Should other cities decide to buy water from the Authority that probably would result in lowering the rate charged all towns involved. Each city will adopt its own water rate for

Miss Diann Cadenhead Lions Speaker

Diann Cadenhead, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Frank Cadenhead, who recently returned from a month's stay in beautiful Sweden, and a tour which took her into six other European countries, spoke to members of the Lions Club Tuesday noon and also showed slides of her trip.

Troy Culepper was program chairman of the day and introduced the speaker.

During the month of July, Miss Cadenhead had the privilege of being a Lions Club exchange student in the Borje Anderson home in Ornskoldvik, Sweden, a town of some twelve to fourteen thousand people.

Miss Cadenhead said that Ornskoldvik had a very industrious Lions Club of over fifty members, and told of the many activities and projects of that club.

"My trip to Sweden was highlighted by a farewell party given the day before I left, by the Ornskoldvik Lions Club members, and their families," Miss Cadenhead said.

The guest speaker showed many colorful slides taken in Sweden and the six other European countries she had the privilege of touring.

During a short business session, Lions voted to stage the annual picnic supper on October 18th, and to purchase a tent for the Boy Scout Troop 31.

Guests noted were Wayne Cadenhead and Emily and Elliott Cox.

Hess Hartsfield, president, presided over the meeting. Invocation was given by Bud Herren and Wallace Cox Jr. led the singing, with Judy Therwanger at the piano.

County Reaches 73% of Saving Bond Sales Goal

Savings Bond sales through July 1968 in Haskell county totaled $160,777, according to a report received from R. W. Herren, chairman of the Haskell County Savings Bonds Committee. This represents 73% of the county's goal of $220,000 for 1968.

Sales of U. S. Savings Bonds and Freedom Shares in Texas for the first seven months were $106,830,122... an increase of 8.9% over sales during the same period of 1967. For the month of July, sales totaled $15,862,130... an increase of 11% over July 1967.

Sales of both Series E and H Bonds and Freedom Shares throughout the country totaled $416 million. Total sales of $2,996 million for the seven-month period represents 54 per cent of the nation's goal.

Property Tax

Result of action recently by the Texas Water Development Board requires the North Central Texas Water Authority to collect a property tax of 50 cents in 1969 and 1970. The Authority expects to be ready to begin delivering water to the cities in 1970.

Reasons for the Water Development Board's interest are: it is loaning the Authority $730,400 and will purchase the Authority's bonds at a rate of 3.70 per cent.

Temporary Tax

To safeguard its investment fully the Water Development Board requires that a reserve fund be established, consisting of money sufficient to pay one year's interest on the bonds, $111,000, plus an emergency fund of $50,000. As long as those funds are intact no additional property tax will be levied. The project is planned so as to enable the Authority to pay all operating expenses and interest and principal on the bonds, from the sale of water.

The Water Authority will collect the 50-cent tax on property within limits of the four cities. Basis for collection will be 65 per cent of actual value.

The people who use Millers Creek reservoir water as a result of its purchase by their cities, actually will be paying for a little less than 60 per cent of the total cost of the entire project. The total estimated cost is $5,200,000.

The Water Development Board loan of $730,400 and a grant of $1,500,000 received from the U. S. Housing and Urban Development Department total $2,230,400. That leaves a balance of $2,969,600 to be paid by the sale of water, as compared to a total cost of $5,200,000.

Authority's Responsibility

The water supply is the Authority's responsibility. The cities will be concerned only with their distribution system for serving their own citizens. This should result in considerable operating expense savings for the cities. The existing wells will be maintained in stand-by condition for emergency purposes. Should such an emergency occur, the Authority will pay the cities for any water pumped from their wells.

Hospital Penalized By Water Quality

For some years, the Haskell Authority has needed to modernize, improve and expand the hospital. It has been unable to do so because, due to quality of the water it must use, it cannot obtain financial assistance available to hospitals which use acceptable water. Those sources include Hill-Burke funds, which must be approved by the State Health Department and other state and/or federal assistance programs.

Rotarians Hear Facts About Speed Reading

Ira Hester, program chairman, at last Thursday's noon-day luncheon session of the Rotary Club at Felker's Restaurant dining room, introduced Jack Hill, of Abilene, Area Coordinator for Evelyn Wood Reading Dynamics, and in turn Hill spoke to the club members and guests and showed a film, "Mental Frontiers."

The guest speaker said that Mrs. Wood, a school teacher from Utah, had developed her reading technique into the world's largest reading program, with more than 400,000 graduates.

Hill said that reading, "under the Evelyn Wood system, teaches one to read quickly, easily and smoothly down the page as well as from left to right."

In conclusion the speaker pointed out that Reading Dynamics teaches how to read more than one word at a time; how to see words in meaning patterns and how to find thought in a paragraph.

During a short business session, Rotarians voted to give financial support to Boy Scout Troop 31. E. W. Pruett is Scoutmaster of the newly organized troop, and Abe Turner, assistant.

Guests noted were Jerri Sue Couch and Mrs. Abe Turner, of Haskell; Charles Bragg of Stamford; Garland Maples, Lubbock; Bob Carson of Fort Worth and James Abbott of Temple.

R. C. Couch, Jr., presided over the meeting. H. V. Woodard led the singing with Jo Nell Anderson at the piano and invocation was given by Rev. H. O. Abbott, Jr.

Hold High The Torch!
You did not light its glow
'Twas given you by other hands you know.
'Tis yours to keep it burning bright.
There are others' feet that we must guide
And other forms go marching by our side.
Hold high the Torch!
It started down its pathway bright.
The day the Maker said "Let there be light."
Ye are the light of the world!
Go shine for me.

Mrs. R. Y. Mobley brought the thought of the day. She related the five commandments of human relations: speak to people, be generous with praise and what counts most in life is what we do for others.

Mrs. Hut Pitman was in charge of table decorations which were lovely with huge center bowl of fruit and lighted candles. Punch was served from a crystal bowl with cake and cookies. Mrs. L. L. ## Fifth Annual Installation Banquet Held By Haskell Young Homemakers

A bright setting of paper flowers and a gay enthusiasm met those who attended the installation banquet at the Fellowship Hall of First Baptist Church Thursday night. The invocation was given by Jerry Sorrells. Each guest was confronted with an array of food, all of which had been prepared by the Young Homemakers. The program was opened by Mrs. Bettye McBroom with an introduction of all special guests, which included members of the newly formed club in Woodson. Outgoing president, Jeanette Frierson, told of the past year's activities and told of numerous accomplishments by Young Homemakers.

The new officers installed by the candlelight ceremony were: president, Mrs. Wynette Mullins; vice president, Mrs. Bettye McBroom; secretary, Mrs. Sonja Weatherford; treasurer, Mrs. Carol Weatherly; reporter, Mrs. Linda Burson; parliamentarian, Mrs. Mollie Moeller. The ceremony was presided over by Mrs. Gayle Baker, the Area IV President of Young Homemakers. The new President for this year, Mrs. Wynette Mullins, brought greetings for the future year in hope that it would be as successful as the past.

Mrs. Grace Hannsz made the presentation of the Outstanding Young Homemaker Award to Mrs. Jeanette Frierson. Presentation of other awards was given by Mrs. Carol Weatherly. These were awards of appreciation and were presented to Mr. Roger Weatherford for his many services, Mrs. McCollum for her tireless work as club sponsor, Mrs. Jeanette Frierson for her outstanding work as club president, and to Mrs. Bettye McBroom for her work as Area IV Vice President.

Mrs. Carolyn Reynolds introduced the guest speaker, Mrs. Lee Barnett, by stating that "to know her is to like her." This statement was found to be unquestionably true as she spoke to the club. She told of the old and new Germany and reminded each how great it really is to be an American. Her personal and Christian testimony was most inspiring. The Installation Banquet was a great success and a credit to the Young Homemakers of Haskell.

PAINT CREEK ... COMMUNITY NEWS

Mrs. Gene Overton
Mr. and Mrs. Tom Horton were in Dallas Sunday where they met for the first time their little twin sons from Buckners Orphans Home. The babies were born August 23rd. One weighed under five pounds so he has to remain in the hospital until he is heavier. But they brought one home with them. They are naming the boys Thomas Patrick (Thomas for his daddy, and Patrick for the late Pat Morrison), and William Matthew (William for Superintendent Bill Gibbs), and they will be called Pat and Mat. I think twin sons is the nicest thing that could happen to anybody, especially to a young couple who already own a washer and dryer! (The community is going to have a baby shower Thursday afternoon for them at the Paint Creek Baptist Church). Just imagine receiving a phone call one evening that you had twin sons waiting for you. The Hortons called their parents and then went down faculty row telling all their neighbors. They even woke up all those who had gone to bed to tell them. The next day Tom was passing out cigars two at a time.

Li Mike Overton reported to Fort Stewart, Ga. August 27th, to begin flight training. He had been stationed at Fort Hood, since June. His parents and his brother Waller met him in Dallas last week-end and spent two days with him.

Attending the Davis reunion at Haskell VFW building Sunday were Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Davis, Mr. and Mrs. John E. Kuenstler and Mr. and Mrs. Vernay Howard.

Mr. and Mrs. Tommy Lambert and children from Commerce spent Sunday visiting her mother, Mrs. Jim Dean and her sister's family. Mr. and Mrs. Dale Middlebrook and Phyllis. Mrs. Dean went home with them for a two-week visit.

Attending the funeral of Mrs. Amos Ivy in Rule Thursday were Mr. and Mrs. Howard Montgomery, Mrs. W. S. Cox, Mr. and Mrs. H. B. Montgomery and Mrs. Gene Overton. Mrs. Ivy was the widow of a cousin of Howard Montgomery and Mrs. Cox.

Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Hollingsworth of Lubbock spent Labor Day week-end with the Allen Isbells.

Brother and Mrs. Ken Neely and family of Fort Worth visited in the community over the week-end. Brother Neely is a former pastor of the Baptist Church here.

Mr. and Mrs. L. O. Green and Mr. and Mrs. Ned Green took the Mrs. Green's parents, Mr. and Mrs. McMillian to Montague, Texas to attend the funeral of Mr. McMillian's brother, Ray McMillian.

The children of the late Mr. and Mrs. W. T. West gathered at Veda's Camp, Lake Stamford, Saturday night and Sunday, August 24 and 25 for a family reunion. All ten children were present. Present were Mr. and Mrs. P. E. Thompson, Mr. and Mrs. J. T. Caffey, Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Guillet, Miss Jay West of Stamford, Mr. and Mrs. C. T. West of Goree, Mr. and Mrs. H. L. Terrell of Paint Creek, Mr. and Mrs. W. S. Thomas of Abilene, Mr. and Mrs. J. J. West of Fort Stockton, Mr. and Mrs. H. A. West of Weatherford and Mr. and Mrs. Billy E. West of Merkel. There were 25 grandchildren and great-grandchildren present. They were from Lubbock, Stamford, Midland, Kermit, Commerce, Mesquite, Odessa, Abilene and Mineral Wells. Former neighbors and many friends also visited with the family during the reunion. The time was spent in playing "42", boat riding, skiing, swimming and catching up on family news.

Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Terrell and children, Mike, Debra and Ricky of Kermit visited Lloyd's parents, Mr. and Mrs. H. L. Terrell at the Purdue Ranch Thursday through Monday of last week.

Also visiting the Terrell's last week-end were Mr. and Mrs. Jerry White of Mesquite, Mrs. White will be a senior in East Texas and Jerry, a freshman next semester.

Velton Middlebrook was in the Stamford Memorial Hospital last week with a gall bladder attack.

Milton Simmons of Dallas visited in the community week before last. He visited Mr. and Mrs. Louie Kuenstler. He lived in the community as a boy and his parents were Mr. and Mrs. Bob Simmons.

Dr. Glen Cherry and son, Ray, and Dr. Cherry's brother of Dallas spent the Labor Day week-end hunting in Paint Creek pastures and visiting the Allen Isbells. Dr. Cherry is a foremost neurologist and was Danny's doctor at Baylor Hospital.

Mr. and Mrs. Boyd Cathey and Elizabeth spent the Labor Day holiday at their home here. Monday the Catheys returned to Grand Prairie and Elizabeth went to Lubbock to resume her teaching.

Mr. and Mrs. George Barns and three daughters of Breckenridge spent Tuesday visiting his sister's family. Mr. and Mrs.

A LOOK AT LINGERIE

NEW YORK (ED)—Everything about fashion is fair—turn about included. It's now smarter than not to mix what you wear on the outside. So what happens? The answer is inner fashions in matched sets—a bra, slip and panties in the same pastel or flowery print, for one combination. Another is a long line bra, lightweight foundation, and flaring half-slip especially designed for flared skirts. Both kinds of sets often extend to a nightie and a little bedtime or breakfast robe.

Looking pretty privately is not only simple, but smoothing to the figure. If you have the right little nothings under your dress, you have all you need to lift or wide-belt your waistline, trim your hip line and effect a natural but neat altogetherness.

Some underthings serve a smoothing double purpose. These include the one-piece body suit or body shaper of an airy stretch blend that you step into and pull all the way up. Another altogether idea is the bra-slip. One kind is gently flared from right under the bosom, and another kind shapes the bosom but is seamed at the waistline. Choose with the line of your dress in mind, and if your dress is knit or something else clingy, buy the bra-slip in non-clingy material.

A very special bra-slip is required for the new see-through blouses and blouse tops of dresses. The bra part of such slips is frothed over with lace and plunges in front.

For an easy lesson in lingerie shopping, the Consumer Service Division of the H.G.W.U. offers an illustrated booklet, "Glamour Guide." And if you're to be a bride soon, you will also want "Planning Your Trousseau." Either or both will be sent free. Request to: Union Label Dept., Box 608, Radio City, New York, N. Y. 10019.

The way not to buy underthings is to guess at your size ("I'll just try it up to me") or at the length you want. Slips come in chemise, short and midi lengths, and almost all bras come in sizes—with different sized cups. As for half-slips, you may have any length you want, and just the fullness you want. Some of the new half-slips have a smooth hip line yolk and soft flare beneath. Others are tailored in back but hemmed with lace in front. Some also wrap—and this far from "wraps up" the picture.

Stitching And Stewing

By Ruth Ann Fausler County H. D. Agent

The relatively new indoor-outdoor carpet already has a new twist bulked yarn to give a plush. Indoor-outdoor carpeting, in the past, has been a little on the stiff side. The bulked yarn has softened the surface, yet it wears like stiffer finishes.

The carpeting is easy to care for, highly stain resistant and resistant to mildew and rot. It has good acoustical properties, low static build-up and low moisture absorbency.

There are other new indoor-outdoor developments underfoot. Patterned carpets are coming on the scene for more decorator versatility. These carpets, with special barriers to keep moisture through, especially are good for use over wood.

Two basic types of indoor-outdoor carpeting are woven or non-woven. The woven carpet is textured and in cut-pile, much like other carpeting. In the non-woven or felted construction, the carpet is somewhat like resilient floor covering and is cheaper. Aside from the price, there is no general advantage of one type over the other.

Another version of the non-wovens is carpet tile. The tiles are 12-inch squares with soft rubber backs for use indoors or out.

Sharp objects, such as cleats on shoes, can damage the non-wovens. If some repair work is needed, then you could replace a few tiles and not the entire carpet.

The manufacturers of indoor-outdoor claim it will hold up for a long time in or out of the weather; on boards, cement, brick or even bare ground. According to extremely rigorous tests conducted by independent testers, the manufacturers don't exaggerate.

In tests it was found to have good bursting strength (important if the carpet is laid over holes or pebbles outdoors). It was not resistant and resistant to shrinkage as well as providing good footing dry or wet.

Water did not affect the carpet in any way. Some did tend to hold water, as a towel does. Think twice about laying one of these on an outdoor porch with a wood floor; the dampness could accelerate the rotting of wood. On a cement floor a carpet might remain damp for a couple of days after a rain.

If the carpet will be exposed to moisture be sure to check the backing. If the backing is not a synthetic fiber also, it could rot from moisture trapped underneath.

The stains that were left came off quite easily when washed with clear water or dilute detergent, even 25 hours after the spill. Lipstick turned out to be tougher than most staining agents, but a grease solvent, even when used lightly, got rid of it quickly and should work well on most other greasy or oily stains.

Ordinary dirt washes off easily and can be hosed down outdoors. Or, it can be vacuumed like any other carpet.

The right care will keep indoor-outdoor carpet in its prime longer, the home furnishings specialists believe. This type of carpet is highly resistant to stains but some foods when allowed to set or to be ground into the carpet can cause trouble.

Take care with cigarette ashes. The synthetic fibers of the carpet aren't likely to catch fire, but the heat from the ashes could leave a melt mark.

Two additional advantages of the indoor-outdoor carpet are cost and ease of installation. It is the cheapest type of carpet available—starting at $5 a square yard.

Installation is easy since the carpet can be cut with a knife, razor blade or scissors. It is important to cut to size very carefully since the material can't be stretched. The felt types do not need binding, but the tufted types should be bound to prevent raveling.

When buying indoor-outdoor carpet be sure and get specific care instructions for stain removal and general upkeep. Then follow them.

Good Dove Crop Reported Statewide

Mourning dove hunters can go into the hunting season in the North Zone with mixed emotions—depending on what section of the State they are in, according to Ted Clark, state-wide mourning dove project leader for the Texas Parks and Wildlife Department.

Recent mourning dove counts show four pretty well defined high population areas of the State, but these are subject to change with the weather and without notice, Clark said.

High population areas 10 days prior to the season are: about 10 counties in the Trans-Pecos area; a dozen counties in the extreme northeast section of Texas; a dozen counties which surround the Bryan-College Station area; and approximately 30-40 counties contained in the area from Sherman - Denison area to Waco to San Angelo to the Childress area.

Horace Gore, wildlife supervisor in Waco, said that weed seed production in the Possum Kingdom Regulatory District is about three weeks later than it was at the same date last year. He said in areas with thinner soils, weed seeds had already begun maturing while in the deeper soils weeds such as sunflowers are still very green.

Clark said there are fair numbers of birds in East Texas, and good populations in the lower sections of the Post Oak belt in Robertson, Milam and Bastrop counties, with no reported concentrations reported on the coastal plains in the South Zone.

South Texas has had no concentrations of mourning doves reported, Clark said, but this could change completely by the time the South Zone opens two weeks from now.

Clark said Game Management Supervisor Ed Sturdivant in El Paso reported extremely good mourning dove conditions in the El Paso Valley. Good rains in May and June of this year in the 70-mile long sand hills between the mountains and river has produced a bumper crop of crotol, a favored dove food.

Supervisor Sturdivant said mourning dove hunters in the past have lined up along the river and hunt practically shoulder-to-shoulder, strikingly similar to white-winged dove hunting in the lower Rio Grande Valley.

"A good shift in weather or a radical change anywhere in the State could turn the white dove hunting picture upside down," Clark said. "Predicting where concentrations of mourning doves will be a week in advance is like predicting the weather—in fact, you have to predict the weather first."

Clark earlier this year reported an 11 per cent drop in the breeding population of mourning doves, but also said that the average hunter would not be able to discern the drop.

VIETNAM VIEW

(As reported by Marine Corps Combat Correspondents and edited by Gysgt. Bob Montgomery)

North of Quang Tri a hidden Marine patrol watches a platoon of North Vietnamese Army (NVA) soldiers pass. Near Da Nang, a Viet Cong is captured when he tries to enter a Marine installation.

In both instances, Leathernecks detected the enemy's presence and took counter moves before their adversaries could strike.

Their early warning came from a scout or sentry dog and its handler.

The Scout and Sentry Dog Platoons attached to the 3rd Military Police Bn., support Marine units throughout I Corps. Scout dogs are used as the point on patrols to give infantrymen an early silent warning of the enemy's presence.

The sentry dog is used to guard perimeters of bases and installations.

Since their arrival in Vietnam over two years ago, scout and sentry dogs have amassed a flawless record. No patrols using scout dogs have been ambushed and no perimeter guarded by sentry dogs has been penetrated.

Dogs, like their handlers, are trained in the United States. German Shepherds are procured for all the Armed Forces by the Air Force and sentry dogs are trained at Lackland AFB, Texas. Scout dogs are sold to the Army at Ft. Benning, Ga. Both schools last 12 weeks, but dogs are put through the course at least three times to insure their combat effectiveness.

Sentry dog school is broken into three phases... obedience, scouting and advanced scouting. The first two weeks of obedience includes an orientation and history of dogs, psychology and handling methods and a handler-dog relationship. Basic scouting teaches the dog-handling as the point for patrol team the fundamentals of trails.

"Advanced scouting goes into detection of mines and boobytraps and the dogs use on different types of patrols (listening posts, ambushes, etc.). Staff Sgt. S. T. Desmond, Agawam, Mass., non-commissioned officer-in-charge of the 2nd Scout Dog platoon.

Like scout dog school, the first two weeks of sentry dog school centers on the obedience-get acquainted period. The remainder of the course covers guard, walking a post and detection. Once the dog has learned this, he is taught how to attack, search and escort the infiltrator.

"We have agitation classes to help the sentry dog aggressive," says Staff Sgt. H. A. Alexander, Monticello, Ky., NCO-IC of the two sentry dog platoons. "The only man who is ever nice to a dog is his handler. A few slaps with a hat and a shove now and then and a sentry dog will attack anyone, including his handler if he isn't stern enough," Alexander concluded.

Sentry dogs are deployed in the field for 30-40 day periods. Their assignment to units is handled by the III Marine Amphibious Force G-3 Operations section.

When a dog team is sent to a unit, the handler must carry enough gear and provisions for himself and his dog. Since sentry dogs normally work an established perimeter on a compound, the handler can carry all the gear they may need. The scout dog handler in the field must pack supplies to last the length of a patrol.

The biggest hazard dogs face is not enemy bullets or shrapnel, but heat. Since January, 10 scout dogs have died from heat and over-exercising caused by being worked day and night. Only two have been killed by enemy fire.

Ten of the scout dog teams work with 1st and 3rd Marine Division reconnaissance units. These dogs are chosen because they are especially quiet and gentle. If a dog were to bark or attack one of the patrol members, the entire patrol could be detected and killed.

Cpl. Carl D. Pedrotti, Arcata, Calif., and his dog "Woton" are one of these teams. Pedrotti has worked with 3rd Force Recon teams since he arrived in Vietnam 10 months ago. Woton has worked with 3rd Force Recon for over two years. (A scout or sentry dog's tour in Vietnam lasts until death or the war's duration).

During these 10 months, Woton has saved Pedrotti's life several times. Once, during a 5-day patrol, Woton alerted while they moved down a trail near the Demilitarized Zone (DMZ). The Marines took cover and waited.

A squad of NVA soldiers came into view and stopped less than 25 yards away for a "chow" break. For almost an hour, the patrol and Woton watched. "One whine or growl from Woton and we would have all been dead," said Pedrotti.

To say the man and dog became attached is an understatement. Normally handlers carry dog food wrapped in plastic because it's lighter and easier to store. Pedrotti carried canned dog food for Woton while on patrol and as many as 15 canteens of water for himself and his dog. When asked why he does it, Pedrotti light-heartedly replied, "my dog likes it."

A North Vietnamese Army (NVA) platoon commander was not quite fast enough to get away from a fast-stepping Marine Corporal during a recent encounter southwest of Da Nang.

Spotting an enemy hut in a nearby treeline, Delverde aimed his M-79 grenade launcher and fired two rounds into the hut. A communist soldier ran out of the hut and tried to get away from the Leathernecks. When he reached a rice paddy dike, the NVA ducked behind it, attempting to hide.

Delverde gave chase, reached over the dike and pulled the startled NVA to his feet. The detainee later confessed that he was an NVA platoon commander.

COTTON PICKIN'S

Rolling Plains Cotton Growers, Inc.

The big question facing the cotton industry now is whether the present farm program can provide enough cotton, at a fair price, to meet domestic and foreign demand.

That's what Roy Davis, head of the world's largest cottonseed oil mill and President of the National Cotton Council, told area cotton leaders in Lubbock last week.

"We know the program can reduce supplies," Davis said. "Our cotton stocks have been cut from 16.7 million to 6.3 million bales in only two years. Forecasts are calling for another short crop this year, which will likely reduce stocks at least another 2 million bales. The situation is critical. We must maintain adequate supplies of the various qualities, at a competitive price, if we are going to keep our markets."

The Lubbock meeting, designed to bring together government and industry leaders to find new ways to increase cotton exports, was attended by over 400 cotton men from throughout the U. S. On the distinguished list of speakers were: Congressman George Mahon, Representative of the State Department, Commerce Department, Export-Import Bank, Federal Credit Insurance Association, United States Department of Agriculture, Foreign Agriculture Service and Maritime Administration, all of Washington, D. C.

Cotton Producers were represented at the meeting by Rolling Plains Cotton Growers, Inc., of Stamford, Texas; Plains Cotton Growers, Lubbock; South Texas Cotton and Grain Assn.; Victoria; and the Louisiana Cotton Producers Assn., Lake Providence, La.

The cotton trade was represented by the Exec. Committee of Cotton Council International and a special export committee from the National Cotton Council.

Cotton shippers were well represented, as were buyers, mills, and exporters. Five major railroads had spokesmen present, as did the maritime service.

Just a few of the tangible results of the meeting were: (1) initiating a pilot test for "containerized" shipments of cotton to Japan and Western Europe. The plan calls for placing 60-100 bales of cotton into a single container that will remain closed from the time it leaves Texas until it arrives at the foreign mill; (2) a broader use of Export-Import Bank financing accompanied by proper credit insurance through Federal Credit Insurance Association; (3) two liaison committees were set up: one to develop and disseminate information on the Export-Import Bank and the other on FCIA operations; and (4) preliminary plans were laid for sending a trade mission of cotton producers to visit cotton mills in the Orient early spring of 1969, and for reciprocating visits from the foreign cotton industry to the U. S. as soon as arrangements can be made.

The U. S. Department of Agriculture will almost certainly call for a production goal of 15 million bales of cotton in 1969, according to Charles G. Bragg, Executive Vice President of Rolling Plains Cotton Growers, Inc.

Bragg made that prediction at a meeting of managers and officers of seven rural electric cooperatives August 27 in Abilene's Old Town Restaurant.

He pointed out that the carryover of cotton in this country on August 1, 1968 was only 8.3 million bales, the lowest since 1953. If U.S.D.A. estimates of production and consumption are correct, the carryover next August 1 will be below 4 million, well below the reserve considered essential by the Congress and the Secretary of Agriculture.

"U.S.D.A. is estimating this year's crop at 10.9 million bales," Bragg said. "This, plus the 6.3 million on hand and 100,000 bales normally imported, would give a total U. S. supply of 17.3 million bales from which to satisfy domestic and export demands until August 1, 1969. Many cotton men in the trade and at mills are guessing consumption at home, plus exports, at around 13.5 million, which if correct will reduce the carryover to 3.8 million, less than 4 months' supply."

"U.S.D.A. must declare marketing quotas and announce major details of the 1969 program by October 15 of this year," Bragg said. "And the Secretary of Agriculture has authority to make changes in the cotton program in at least 3 areas to bring about increased plantings."

VA Questions and Answers

Editor's Note: Veterans and their families are asking thousands of questions concerning the benefits their Government provides for them through the Veterans Administration. Below are some representative queries. Additional information may be obtained at any VA office.

Q—Will the new surtax on incomes which is retroactive to last April 1 apply to the educational allowance I receive from the Veterans Administration under the G.I. Bill?
A—No. Educational allowance, compensation and pension, and even G.I. insurance dividends are exempt from taxation, including the new surtax. The only taxable VA payment is the interest earned on G. I. insurance dividends left on deposit with the VA. This is not considered a veterans benefit and must be reported as earned income.

Q—I was recently separated from active duty after three years of service. However, I now belong to an Organized Reserve unit which trains two days each month and two weeks each summer. Will this Reserve service increase my education and training benefits or add to the time in which I can use my G. I. Bill home loan entitlement?
A—No. The Post-Korean G.I. Bill, which grants veterans such as you with active duty after Jan. 31, 1955, both education and training and home loan benefits, excludes Reserve training from this program.

However, you are already entitled to the maximum of 36 months of education and training benefits by virtue of your three years of active duty. You must complete this training within eight years after leaving active duty. And you have 20 years from the date of your separation from military service to use your G. I. Bill home loan entitlement.

Any time you have a question about any of your veteran benefits, check with your nearest Veterans Administration office. Q—I plan to enter college under the G. I. Bill in September and intend to take one three-semester-hour course. With a wife and three children, I must also work. Will I receive extra training allowance for my dependents?
A—No. A veteran enrolled for less than half time can be paid the cost of the course only but not to exceed $30. Three semester hours are one quarter time for an undergraduate student. Thus you will not receive additional training allowance for your dependents.

Q—I am a World War II veteran receiving VA service-connected disability compensation for blindness of both eyes. I have never received the $1,600 automobile allowance. Is it possible to receive this benefit now?
A—You may now be eligible for this benefit. You should file a claim with the Veterans Administration regional office which maintains your records. The "Veterans Pension and Readjustment Assistance Act of 1967," signed into law last Aug. 31, removes the time limit in which eligible veterans can apply for this benefit.

MILLION NEW TRUCKS

The nation's trucking industry now buys more than a million and a half new trucks and trailers each year. Registrations of new units in 1966 totaled 1,610,450 trucks of all kinds and 131,895 trailers.

TAX MAN SAM SEZ:

The Texas Community Property law creates quite a few differences in the income tax you owe. One of the surprises is the fact that both halves of the community property estate are re-evaluated as of the date of death.

To illustrate how this works, Grandpaw and Grandmaw bought a 1,000-acre ranch in 1920, for $1,000. Under the community property law of Texas, if they sold the ranch in 1967, Grandpaw had a $500 basis for his half and Grandmaw had a $500 basis for her half. In 1948 they struck oil on the ranch, and shortly before Grandpaw's death in 1968 an engineering appraisal placed a $1,000,000 value on the ranch. The Crude Oil Company offered them $1,000,000 for the property, but Grandpaw decided not to sell; even though they could take a capital gain, they would owe about $250,000 taxes, since they only had a $1,000 basis. Grandpaw died on May 1, 1968. His half of the property went to their children, but Grandmaw still owns her half. However, on December 1, Grandmaw decides to take the Crude Oil offer of $500,000 for her property. She does not owe any income taxes. Naturally there will be an estate tax on the $500,000 value of Grandpaw's property. The effects of the community property law have become far more important in recent years, since the value of most property has increased a great deal during the life span of the owner.

Which Way Will The Wind Blow?

Are you satisfied with Haskell? Several persons will probably answer that question in the affirmative.

Do you want Haskell to continue to prosper and grow? Some will say, "I like it the way it is now." Most residents like Haskell, that is why most Haskellites would like their town to be on the move.

What will Haskell be 10, 20 or 30 years from now depends upon on action we take today!

Haskell is a friendly, beautiful little city. Fine churches, schools, homes, hospital, paved streets, attractive down-town appearance. If we want to keep it that way, qualified voters will go to the polls, today, Thursday, September 5th, and vote FOR the water contract proposition which will authorize the City Council to enter into a contract with the North Central Texas Municipal Water Authority for the purpose of supplying water to the City of Haskell.

If the election results favorably to the making of the contract, the city council will pass an ordinance prescribing the form and substance of the contract and directing its execution. North Central Texas Municipal Water Authority will issue the bonds heretofore voted for the purpose of construction of the water supply.

We have a live-wire Chamber of Commerce, a working Industrial Development Committee, but we cannot expect much industrial development until we solve our water problem.

A few years ago a town not too far distance from Haskell had just about "seven-up" an industry, but the company backed down because it had well water. When the question was put to the heads of the company, even though it would use very little water, as to why they could not locate the industry in that particular town, the officials said: "We like your town and the building and location offered, but a "well-water" town does not have the possibility of growth, and we want to locate where growth is assured."

Industrial Development Conference Is Slated September 13th, 14th

Industrial Development in the '70s will be the theme for the two-day, 18th annual Texas Industrial Development Conference scheduled for September 12 and 13 at the Ramada Inn, College Station. This has been announced by James R. Bradley, head of the Industrial Economics Research Division, Texas A&M, and conference director.

The conference is the highest level meeting of the year in Texas on industrial development and is open to all Chamber of Commerce members and staff, industrial foundation and industrial committee members and all those interested in industrial and community development. The conference is jointly sponsored by Texas A&M University and the Texas Industrial Development Council.

Jay C. Casey, Director of the Industrial Development Division of the Oklahoma Industrial Development & Park Dept. of Oklahoma City, Oklahoma, has been announced as keynote speaker by James H. Harwell, program chairman.

Industrial Relations is the title of discussion group No. 1, featuring as moderator, Bill R. Shelton, Manager of Industrial Development for the Fort Worth Chamber of Commerce. Moderating discussion group No. 2, Transportation, will be Thomas H. Perkins, Manager of Industrial Development for the San Antonio Chamber of Commerce.

Speaker at the first day's luncheon will be Marilyn Van Derbur, guest lecturer, General Motors Corp., Denver, Colorado. Miss Van Derbur is a former Miss America and is presently GM's only woman guest lecturer.

Scheduled for the second day is a "Stump the Experts" panel discussion, with a panel of the State's leading industrial development professionals including Harry Clark, 1st National Bank of Midland; Rupert Hays, Corpus Christi Industrial Commission; R. E. Eitelman, Jacksonville Chamber of Commerce; Freeman Carney, Tyler Chamber of Commerce; Ted St. Clair, Lubbock Chamber of Commerce; and Brodie E. Allen, General Telephone Co. of the Southwest.

The intensive two-day program will touch upon all important aspects of industrial and community development. Attendance by all interested Chamber members is urged. Full registration details and printed programs may be obtained from James R. Bradley, Industrial Economics Research Division, Texas A&M University, or from the Texas Industrial Commission, Box JJ, Capitol Station, Austin.

They include brighter interiors, tighter door sealing, new cab mounts for quieter ride, automatic choke, and foot-operated parking brake. Fashion Forecast

Masks Will Be "In"

Air pollution is threatening to make an indelible mark on female fashion.

With soot, smoke, ash and other matter pouring from auto exhausts, chimneys, smokestacks and municipal incinerators, an Army surplus gas mask may well become as familiar an element of fashion this Fall as wrap-around shirtdress.

While the gas mask isn't very chic, it does a highly effective job of protecting the wearer from pollutants in the air. At the heart of the gas mask for a full half century has been an activated charcoal filter which absorbs, or holds, the pollutants, while permitting fresh air to pass through un-checked.

Best known for its use in the cigarette filter which gives Tararetons the taste which makes smokers say they'd "rather fight than switch," activated charcoal takes on pollutants in our daily life in a variety of ways. It protects food from odors and contamination; it is used to purify the water in the reservoir systems of thousands of American cities; soft drink, beer and alcoholic beverage producers employ it in the production of their products.

And outside the gas mask, it is still doing an excellent job of purifying the air we breathe. It is the key to the fresh air problem which faced designers of atomic submarines—craft which hover beneath the surface for weeks at a time without taking in any fresh air. Activated charcoal filters are also used to provide fresh, breathable air in space capsules and in "air conditioned" buildings from coast to coast.

Nervous System Of An Army Is Its Communication Work

The nervous system of an Army is its communication network. Through the air and through wire go the multitude of messages required to plan, fight and re-supply the line of battle.

At the center of this network is the U. S. Army communications specialist. Trained to get the message through, whether carried by courier or transmitted on complex communications devices, the comm center specialist is a kingpin of command.

Trained at the U. S. Army Signal Training Center, Fort Gordon, Ga., the new soldier undergoes nine weeks of fast-paced training before he is ready to take up his new duties. During the nine-week course, he studies automatic, semi-automatic and manual teletypewriter equipment, cryptographic procedures and the basics of communications center operations and procedures.

This course is one of many which he may undertake during his career. Other courses prepare him to supervise communications operations or to specialize in the fascinating field of cryptography, the science of encoding or decoding messages to prevent them being intercepted by an enemy.

The qualified communications center specialist who does not desire to make the military service his career is a demand as a telegraphic-typewriter operator or radio-message router in civilian life. The skills he gains in typing and general administration also make him a valuable man in general office work. The Federal Civil Service also has wide requirements for skilled communicators.

If you are a high school graduate, or the equivalent, you may be able to enlist for a guaranteed assignment to the communications center course. See your recruiter. See your local office in Abilene, Texas, for information on this and other Army school options.
