Shortage necessitates leadership effort

By Col. Walter H. Baxter III
Wing Commander

The Air Force leads the way, again. Last week I was putting you on the back for outstanding participation in the Combined Federal Campaign, for you were the community leaders in your community. Now, the time comes for us to do something personal about the energy crisis. The easy, dramatic, and spectacular ideas for individual, institutional conservation may not produce as dramatic results as some institutional measures, but the gains in energy conservation will impact upon our mission—just how much will have to be carefully calculated so as not to cut too deeply into the quality of our product—safety or security; but we must not delude ourselves in thinking that we will not have some losses in each of those areas. We can minimize our losses by extra effort and realization that we must constantly search for new ways to do old jobs better, even though handicapped by constraints on our use of energy. Attitude will play a huge role in the success of our efforts. It will be easy to look around you and see others who either do not choose to recognize the severity of the situation or are unwilling to do their part to resolve the crisis. There will be a strong temptation to join that crowd, and there will be times it all seems futile. Don't give up! Grit your teeth and hang in there. Reese people have been asked to use many resource-saving ideas, and we can get together and swap ideas, and I hope you'll each listen to the other.

Before we get too deep into this, let's get another thing straight: the amount of conserving each of us will have to do will surely change ideas, but the Air Force leads the way, for the Department of Energy is giving top priority to energy conservation throughout the base to cut down on our power usage. (U.S. Air Force Photo by Sgt. Terry Rivera)

We Will need them later.

SAVE OUR RESOURCES—We will need them later. It hasn't quite come to this yet, but Capt. Carl B. Desakio, chief of CSBO, illustrates the point that is being given top priority these days save this period. In a measure, it will be difficult; it may even hurt a little. The gains in energy conservation will impact upon our mission—just how much will have to be carefully calculated so as not to cut too deeply into the quality of our product—safety or security; but we must not delude ourselves in thinking that we will not have some losses in each of those areas. We can minimize our losses by extra effort and realization that we must constantly search for new ways to do old jobs better, even though handicapped by constraints on our use of energy. Attitude will play a huge role in the success of our efforts. It will be easy to look around you and see others who either do not choose to recognize the severity of the situation or are unwilling to do their part to resolve the crisis. There will be a strong temptation to join that crowd, and there will be times it all seems futile. Don't give up! Grit your teeth and hang in there. Reese people are the community leaders, and you can't lead by following. Individually and institutionally we must meet the challenge.

The ROUNDUP is an unofficial newspaper published weekly in the interest of personnel at Reese Air Force Base of Air Training Command. It is published by Barron Publications, Inc., a private concern which is no way connected with the Department of the Air Force. Opinions expressed by publishers and writers are their own and are not to be considered an official expression by the Department of the Air Force. The appearance of advertising, including inserts, in the publication does not constitute an endorsement by the Department of the Air Force of the products or services advertised.
When Maj. Gen. Oliver W. Lewis, Air Force director of Personnel, reviewed the data in the Rosegiggle report, he found that a large number of personnel were spending a significant amount of time on personal needs, such as their hair. He realized that this was affecting mission accomplishment. He decided to take action to address this problem.

In a letter to the Reese Personnel Office, Maj. Gen. Lewis stated, "For the foreseeable future, we expect the trend to be toward reducing the number of personnel involved in the total force. Simultaneously, this means we must do what we can to have all of our bases in and out of uniform in the most efficient manner possible."

Maj. Gen. Lewis went on to describe some of the steps he was taking to address this issue, including increasing the number of personnel involved in the total force, reducing the number of personnel involved in non-mission-related activities, and improving the morale and motivation of personnel. He also encouraged personnel to reduce their personal needs and focus on mission-related activities.

Maj. Gen. Lewis concluded his letter by expressing his hope that all personnel would work together to make a positive impact on the mission and the quality of life for everyone involved.
Power lag prompts energy-saving rules

In a recent message from Col. Frank B. McKenzie, Air Base Group commander, Reese people were advised that the entire base will comply with the directives of the President's Energy Conservation Program, effective immediately.

All base quarters, offices and classrooms will be heated to between 65 and 68 degrees. The only exceptions will be those buildings granted waivers. All warehouses, hangars and large open work areas will be heated to no more than 55 degrees. All thermostats will be set back 10 degrees after working hours and on weekends. No space heaters will be allowed in any office. Lights will be turned off when no one is in the work area. If lights are necessary, turn them on; if not, leave them off.

Windows and doors will remain closed to prevent waste of heat. No sports events requiring night lighting will be scheduled. All refrigerated water fountains will continue to work but the water will not be chilled. No outside Christmas lighting will be permitted on base or in the family housing areas. Of course Christmas trees will not be allowed.

These procedures are temporary measures designed to curb nonmission use of energy. They will be used until further notice. The Base Utilities and Energy Conservation Inspection Team will continue to monitor energy conservation violations.

According to Colonel McKenzie, "We are facing a very real energy shortage. We can only conserve what energy we have and insure that no waste occurs. Lip service is not enough. Full cooperation is required."

Act requires that aliens annually report address

The Immigration and Naturalization Act requires aliens in the United States and its possessions to report their addresses to the Attorney General each year during the month of January.

Aliens temporarily absent from the United States or its possessions during that month must report their addresses within 10 days after they return to the U.S.

This report can be made on cards available at any United States post office during January, he said. A report of the Immigration and Naturalization Service at any time. The cards have the reporting address pre-printed on the back side.

The law provides serious penalties for willful failure to submit this report. Compliance with this requirement is important to all aliens in the Air Force as well as members having alien relatives residing in the U.S.

New officers take posts, clubs set football bout

The Reese Latin American Club elected new officers during a meeting Nov. 9 in the NCO Club.

Installed as the club's new president was Sgt. Andy Gonzalez, with Sgt. Ercie Perez named as vice president.

The Roundup—November 16, 1973—Page 3
Wing 10 explains newspaper function

By Capt. George H. Hobbs Wing Information Officer

The function and mission of a base newspaper, in our case the Roundup, is often misunderstood by Reese personnel. This article will attempt to explain what the Roundup's mission is—its reason for existence.

The Roundup is an unofficial commercial publication which is published at no cost to the government. This is accomplished through a contract between the Roundup's publisher, Barron Publications of Lubbock, and the base. The contract allows the publisher up to 50 per cent of the paper's space for advertising, which pays the expense of production and other costs.

Work Function

Part of the function of the Information Division is to provide the publisher with the news content, features and photographs used to fill the other 50 per cent. Articles submitted for publication must conform to the Armed Forces Style Guide and standards of good taste. The Roundup is critiqued by Air Training Command to insure it follows the style guide as well as ATC directives.

The paper is established by the Air Force on the house organ concept, as a tool of communication between management and employees. As a communication device the Roundup incorporates every form. It provides news and outlines Air Force policies programs of higher headquarters—began in July 1972, is designed to demonstrate and evaluate the F-15's reliability and performance. In addition, it has launched its testing, the aircraft has fired its internally mounted 20mm cannon of its radar fire control system. The Air Force intends to have its activities listed in the Calendar should contact the Roundup, ext. 2845, no later than 11 a.m., Monday prior to the Friday publication date.

Notice

Recently a booklet entitled, "Hints from Heloise," distributed by the U.S. Air Force Recruiting Service Directorate of Advertis­ing, issued a statement which is counter to Air Force policies on fire prevention.

The statement suggested the use of kerosene for washing windows and bathroom ceramic tile walls according to Hayes Hef­ nor, chief of Fire Prevention Technical Services. This is a direct violation of Air Force policies concerning fire prevention, and is misleading to AF personnel and their dependents.

Hefner said, "...the use of any flammable liquids for cleaning purposes will not be condoned by any Air Force installation."

Traffic pattern tops list of challenges

By Capt. Charles Thrasl

One part of pilot training that has always been both a challenge and a problem is the traffic pattern.

This phase of training man­ gages to give both students and instructors many hours of boredom intermingled with moments of stark terror. We recently were even informed the Mobile Controllers functioned as referees while watching these moments of terror come and go.

Well, our minds, being clever and given a couple of weat­ ner days to think, have come up with a means to more eftectively referee. First of all the Controllers will be given a whistle. This whistle will be used to notify offenders in the traffic pattern of their wrong doings.

If an aircrew commits a minor deviation from procedures, the Controller will blow his whistle and penalize the offenders 50 pounds of fuel. This means their mission termination fuel will be increased 50 pounds. For something a little more serious the Controller informsthe aircrew that they have been penalized a touch­ and-go. Therefore the next time they are in the pattern they must proceed straight through initial.

Finally, for major offenses the Controller blows his whistle and the offenders are penalized five minutes in the penalty box. The penalty box will be located near Shallowater, where the aircrew will have to orlbit until their time is up.

You know, after thinking of these for a few moments they don't seem to be such bad ideas.

In the sports department basketball has bounced into the scene. The season starts next week, and there is a need for players. If you are interested, sign up on the sheet in the squadron.

Now is also the time to start getting ready for the squadron Christmas Party. Capt. Dennis Williams is running it this year, and according to him this one will be better than ever.

Chief Silk enlisted in the Air Force in 1948, attended basic at Lackland and graduated from the Control Tower Operators course in 1949.

He has subsequently served overseas in Japan, France, Germany, and Hawaii. He was an air traffic control superintendent at Tan Son Nhat Air Field, Vietnam from August, 1964 to July, 1966.

Following his Hawaii assignment, Chief Silk served at Air Force Communications Service Headquarters. In May 1970, he was assigned to Keesler AFB as the supervisor of the Air Traffic Control Course. He became the Center's Senior Airman Advisor in January 1971.

Chief Silk has been awarded the Bronze Star, Air Force Commendation Medal, and the Good Conduct Medal and numerous service medals.

He is a 1973 graduate of the Air Force's Senior NCO Academy at Gunter AFB, Alabama. He is married to the former Irene Dziegieleski of Pittsburgh. They have three children: Irene, who will graduate from Penn State later this year, Thomas F. Jr, 19, and John C., 15.
AF needs recruiters in E-5, E-6

Randolph AFB, Tex. (ATCPS) - Air Force Recruiting Service is looking for staff and technical sergents who are interested in a special assignment in recruiting.

Vacancies are projected for recruiters throughout the United States, especially in the northeast and midwest. Noncommissioned officers selected will attend eight weeks of training at Lackland AFB, Tex. The curriculum emphasizes sales techniques, recruiting policies and procedures, as well as preparation of related enlistment paperwork, news releases, speech preparation and presentation.

In addition to issues, family housing for many, recruiters receive $50 a month special duty pay, reimbursement for out-of-pocket expenses and additional subsistence money. Application procedures may be obtained from your consolidated base personnel office or Air Force Manual 39-11.

Additional information may be obtained by calling Headquarters Air Training Command, Air Force Assignment Assignment Branch, Aviation, 487-3151, or AF 647-3060.

The Reese chapel is planning special Thanksgiving services for both Protestant and Catholic worshipers. The Protestant Service will be held at 7:30 a.m. on Thanksgiving Thursday at the Officers' Wives Club. A Catholic Mass will be held at 10 a.m. Thanksgiving Day.

Air Force Col. William R. Pogue, presently assigned to Edwards AFB, Calif., has been designated as pilot for the upcoming Skylab VI mission.

Thanksgiving dinner will be served from 11 a.m. until 3 p.m. Thursday at the Officers' Open Mess featuring roast tom turkey and giblet gravy, baked Virginia ham and steamship round au jus. A free drawing will be held for a turkey. Make reservations by calling 2466.

The proper use of Air Force Manual (AFM) 12-20 and AFM 12-20 will enable documentation clerks and custodians to avoid deficiencies. Periodic reviews or your program will ensure that your file plans (AF Forms 80) are current and accurately describe the documentation on hand, maintain your files in proper order and upkeep. This review and maintenance will provide you an excellent opportunity to identify items needing for retirement, destruction or classification change actions.

An estimated 500 people were on hand at the Officers' Open Mess Saturday for the Officers' Wives Club Benefit Art Auction. Proceeds from the sale will be donated to charities named by the wives organization.

Air Force Systems Command has initiated a program to assist in the reduction of escalating costs in buying military hardware. The program is designed to provide the basis for potential reductions in the most costly aircraft systems--aviation "black boxes" and their related wiring and displays.

The base library has announced four new arrivals on the shelves. "Orbit 12" is a new science fiction book and "The Best Sports Stories" is on hand for the sports-minded reader. Another new volume is "Stock Car Racing USA" and the list is rounded out with "The Book of the Bicycle," the enthusiast's complete guide to the sport of cycling.

If you live in Lubbock and commute to Reese on a regular basis here's a good opportunity to make some new friends. Start a carpool. You'll save gas, time, headaches (looking for parking spaces) and at the same time you'll be helping the country.

The following Special Services activities will be open as indicated on Thanksgiving Thursday: Base gym, 1 to 8 p.m., golf course, 8 a.m. to 11 a.m., youth center, 1 to 10 p.m.; Mathis, noon until 10 p.m.; Reese Lanes, noon to 11 p.m.; Officers' Open Mess package store, and dining room, 11 a.m. to 3 p.m.; NCO Open Mess Package Store, 10 a.m. to 11 p.m.; casual bar, 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. and main bar, 5 to 11 p.m. All other Special Services activities will be closed for the holiday.

The U.S. Air Force Recruiting office in Amarillo, Tex., presently has an opening for airmen in the rank of E-5 or E-6. Complete details are available from the 504th USAF Recruiting Group, Lackland AFB, Tex. The phone number is AUTOVON 473-4291.

Entertainment

Flick Flack

- The Nostalgia picture of the year heads up this week’s slate of films at Sinister Theater. It’s the story of the Early Station teenager and his cars, chicks, and calamities. This PG feature rocks and rolls to the tune of over 40 top hits of the era. Parental guidance is suggested. Two showings will begin at 7 and 9 p.m.

- Ring of Bright Water is the violent story of a lightning-fast gunfighter who really enjoys his work. Every scene explodes with unexpected fury in this feature, rated R. Patrons under 17 require accompanying parent or adult guardian.

- The hilarious story of the whole town that tried to quit smoking, “Cold Turkey” dawns to present the battle of the butt. A tobacco company sponsors a contest in which the town enter, trying to win the $25,000 prize. Dick Van Dyke and Bob Newhart spark laughs aplenty in this PG feature.

- Shaft in Africa portrays the famous Harlem detective as he is hired by an African tribal leader to investigate a modern slavery racket. Action and excitement run rampant in this Branded Richard Roundtree and Frank Sinatra star.

At Mathis

- The Zocchi Show will kick off this week’s scheduled entertainment at the Mathis Recreational Center tonight with mysterious marvels of magic.

- The weekly pool tournament play set for 5:30 p.m.

- Monday—Take Off Pounds Sensibly (TOPS) and Family Game Night will meet at 6 p.m. followed by the Boondock Rodeo Club meeting and cake decorating at 7 p.m. Comedian Jerry Eden will be guest master of ceremonies for Family Game Night, host a stage show and a Dating Game event at 8 p.m.

- The Mess dining room is open from 10:30 a.m. until 1:30 p.m. and from 5 until 9 p.m. The room is open from 9 a.m. to 9 p.m. The room is closed Sundays and holidays.

At NCO Open Mess

- "Los Caminantes" will kick off this week’s scheduled slate of events at the NCO Open Mess tonight, with dance music beginning at 9 p.m.

- "The Debate" will take place at 6 p.m., followed by the Lubbock Base Club at 7:30 p.m. A base chaplain will be on hand for a Thanksgiving Bible Class.

- The weekly table tennis tourney begins at 2 p.m. The box office preview nights: Nov. 20, 21, 22.

The Brookshire Inn

- This Thanksgiving season, The Brookshire Inn is offering a variety of special events.

Special slots available for recruiting officers

Randolph AFB, Tex. (ATCP)—Air Force Recruiting Service is looking for officers in the grades of first lieutenant through lieutenant colonel who are interested in special assignment recruiting. Positions available include detachment commander, nurse, recruiting operations officer, recruiting advertising officer. Officials project a number of openings during calendar year 1974.

Officers selected will attend a three-week management orientated course at Lackland AFB, Tex. The curriculum stresses the management facet of recruiting to prepare officers for their duties.

Duty tours are normally three years. Exceptions can occur, of course, when an individual is promoted and/or reassigned to a position of greater responsibility.

Nurse tours are for two years.

Interested personnel can obtain application information by consulting Air Force Regulation 36-20 at their local consolidated base personnel offices or by calling Headquarters, Air Training Command, Officer Assignments Division, AFB-677, 87th Air Command Office.

Atmosphere of records and tapes: some of them as now as last summer. It seems that this change has been brought about by the two hard working women back in the department that we know as Sylvia and Terry. Sylvia is the blonde with the blue fingernail polish, and Terry is the one with the big, bold houndstooth hat.

Anyway, they told me that they were ordering new records every day, and that hopefully by Christmas they would have all of the newest records on the market in stock and ready for your season shopping. "They're doing all we can," said Terry. "...to keep you abreast of the music market of today."

Thanks girls.

The phone service on base seems to be up to its old tricks again this week, due evidently to the wet weather, and it has caused me some embarrassment.

I tried to call home a few days ago to get a confirmation on my order, and as soon as the phone was answered I started into a heavy romantic greeting, to whom I thought was my wife.

Unfortunately, most of the records in stock are the same ones that I saw when I got here over a year ago. This last week, however, I got a pleasant surprise when I found that the record department had restocked and ordered all of their records and tapes: some of them as now as last summer. Texas Tech appears to be heading for an appearance in a major football bowl game come the coming New Year's Day. As of this writing, they possess an 8-1 record with a home record of 6-0.

With football still going strong, would you believe that the college basketball season is upon us already? That's right! Monday night will see a season opening double header tipping off on the campus of Lubbock Christian College. First game, scheduled for 6 p.m. will feature McMurry College of Abilene against Sul Ross State from Alpine, Tex.

In the sixth week of student UPT Class 74-06 II squeaked out the team. Any interested teams have been registered by gymnasium officials.

As of this writing, they possess a 17-9 record. 74-08 holds a 9-7 record. 74-07 still leading with 22 wins and 8 losses. 74-06 holds a 9-7 record. 74-05 II whomped 74-04 II by a score of 2-0, followed by 75-01 with a 10-6 margin.

The season's standings show 74-07 still leading with 22 wins and 8 losses. 74-05 II whomped 74-04 II by a score of 2-0, followed by 75-01 with a 10-6 margin.

In a recent report to the Roundup, Tech coach Jim Carlen disclosed in the locker room after the TCU game that the team had voted to play in a bowl game if they are invited. They also voted on how they preferred to play in, but coach Carlen refused to make that choice public until after the official invitations are extended, sometime after 6 p.m. tomorrow evening.

The early day general store stood for friendliness and help in a time when people worked together... they cared. At First State, Shallowater, we still do. We know you by your name... not a number... and you'll feel at home even if you're not a customer.
