Senator Yarborough

YARBOROUGH IN THE VALLEY

Mercedes -- More than 3,000 Democrats, the majority being Mexican-Americans, shouted their approval to the Federal Ralph Yarborough, re-election candidate, while he was talking in a political meeting at the Civic Center of Mercedes last Sunday, standing in front of a sign read:

This land is Yarborough's And it is Not Sale. The meeting took place after a journey along the Rio Bravo Valley, where Yarborough cut the ribbons to open his campaign quarters Brownsville and Harlingen.

In his talk in Mercedes, Yarborough criticize Lloyd Bentsen, his opponent in the Democratic election for failing in his duty to help the Mexican-Americans in the Valley.

"The only thing the Bentsen's have even done for the Valley is to employ a herd of men at 25¢ an hour, sell land of low quality for high prices to credulous clients by means of false descriptions of irrigation systems non-existing and declaring false statements that the land is fit to grow citric tees.

Yarborough was introduced in Mercedes by Dr. Ramiro Casso, well known doctor and co-director of the Pro Yarborough Campaign of Hidalgo County who congratulated the Senator for his work in favor of legislating public health camps,oldage benefits, veterans benefits, health programs for migratory workers, and bilingual education. Atorney Bill Ellis worked with Dr. Casso as codirector of the campaign.

Yarborough said that the Bentsen's owed millions of dollars to the Valley area, dollars that were taken from the region throughout the years and that Lloyd Bentsen millionaire from Houston was more of a Republican and not a Democratlike he says.

Shouts like "Viva Yarborough" and " Adelante con Yarborough" interrupted the Senator's speech, in which he said he would face with " two Republican candidates: the first (Bentsen) only a facade for an ex-governor (Connally); the other one (george Bush) is only a figure represents President Nixon.

After the trip to the Valley, Yarborough went to Laredo where he spoke before the Central Council Syndicate of Webb County, before returning to his Congressional duty in Washington.

Now comes the moment of truth.But many instances of the rare phenomenon have already been seen.

People from all walks of life have given of their time and material gains to help us in a noble and progressive cause.

In spite of our natural setbacks, in spite of our political non-sophistication, we have launched forth with great strides to accomplish in a few months what would normally have taken several years to achieve — awareness, interest, and involvement.

The beautiful people of Lubbock, from all shades and colors of the human Kaleidosope, have blossomed forth to our aid.

The rich, the poor, the economically uncertain, all have risen above and beyond their self-concern to become involved in a united effort to cause a drama of change in Lubbock, Texas!

Our people from the barrio, students, Pastors, lawyers, Doctors, laborers, housewives, teenagers, crewcuts and longhairs, and many non-political people—have not only helped us with material contributions, but also, with ideas, suggestions, and something that could never be labeled with a price—the inspiration to rise above the level of our former apathy.

Let us therefore continue to stive with even more energy and renewed vigor,— for although we may have Glamis and now Cawdor too,"the greatest is behind..."

This Saturday, May 2nd, let us all continue with our unity and effort to elect, Paulina Jacobo for County Commissioner of Precinct 4. La Causa needs your vote!

Se arrima el momento esperado—el momento de verdad. Pero ya hemos visto muestras de este raro fenomeno.

Toda clase de personas de diferentes situaciones han dado de su tiempo y de su materia para ayudar una causa noble y progressiva

A pesar de nuestros obstaculos naturales, a pesar de nuestra falta de satisfacion en politica, nos hemos lanzado con grandes pasos para llevar a cabo en unos cuantos meses lo que normalmente tomaría años para realizar — hemos despertado, nos hemos interesado y hemos tomado parte en la política.

La hermosa gente de Lubbock, de toda clase de color Kaleidoscopio humano, a florecido para ayudarnos.

Los ricos, los pobres, los economicamente inciertos, todos han sabido elebarse, sobre su preocupación de si mismos para tomar parte en un esfuerzo unido para causar un drama de cambio en Lubbock, Texas.

Nuestra gente del barrio, estudiantes Sacerdotes, abogados. Doctores, trabajadores, esposas, jovenes, y muchas otras personas sin interes político — nos han ayudado no solamente con materia, sino que tambien con ideas, sugerencias, y algo a lo cual nunca se le podría poner precio —La inspiración para elevarnos sobre el nivel de nuestra anterior apatía.

Entonces sigamos adelante aun con mas energía y nuevo vigor, pues el premio más grande aun nos resta.

Este Sabado, dia 2 de Mayo, continuemos, con nuestra unidad y esfuerzo para eligir a Paulina Jacobo para County Commissioner del Precincto 4.

I must challenge a serious error in an otherwise excellent talk by animal scientist Dr. L. S. Pope, guest speaker at the Phi Kappa Phi Scholastic honor society's annual banquet here Friday night. Dr. Pope's error was his assumption that inferior reasoning ability among Ethiopian university students must be explained as an inherent racial difference.

Certainly there is ample evidence of inherent individual differences in mental abilities. Individual genetics and population genetics are quite different, however, and there is no scientific evidence for inherent racial differences in intellectual capacities. There are, on the contrary, adequate reasons to explain this differences between average mental performance measures of racial groups on the basis of environmental differences created by social conditions in the culture.

Rapid progress in the development of a civilization seems to be possible only when a culture places a high value on inquiry and innovation. Thus, when a child is part of a culture which is on the ascendancy, he would receive positive reinforcement for his natural curiousity about "whys" and his natural tendency to innovate. In such a culture, the child could be expected to develop a high order of reasoning ability.

Conversely, when a culture becomes first stable, then stagnant, the child receives positive reinforcement for learning and remembering the traditional "facts" which are handed down to him, but negative sanctions for questioning traditional methods, concepts, or values. This difference should explain why, in traditional societys, children develope remarkable abilities in rote memory and little reasoning ability.

When Ethiopian, West African, Chinese, Greek, or Aztec cultures were on the ascendancy, their ruling classes at least must have had reasoning ability to a high degree. At the same time, our primitve ancestors in Northern and Western Eucropean forests were traditional hunters with little need for higher order reasoning. What has greatly changed since then is not our respective gene pools, but the demands and opportunities of our different cultures.

When our society places high rewards on inquiry and innovation by children in urban ghettos and barrios, on Indian reservations, and among share cropper and migrant labor farm families, we can expect that as many children in these settings will develope high reasoning ability as in our White middle-class society, where these abilities so long have been admired and rewarded.

For further discussions and a review of the scientific literature on this issue, see an article by Cartwright and Burtis in the December 1968 Social Science Quarterly or the series of articles in the Spring 1969 and Summer 1969 numbers of Harvard Educational Review.

THE PERFECT CRIME

Listen to the man with the plastic smile the friendly wave and the practiced tongue

Listen to him carefully he deals with promises and commits the perfect crime seducing the mind with aphrodisiac lies

Listen to him he promises to be your friend he'll listen to your problems with cotton in his ears and shackles in his head

Now look at him see the alligator shoes the diamond ring and sharkskin suit

Now listen again to what he is saying "if I am elected" see him confuse theory with practice you see, truth is the first casualty. Robert Lopez

As one of the interesting things happening in the precinct conventions this Saturday, May 2nd, La Voz makes public a resolution drawn by several conscientous minds of our fair city — Mecca of the lands through the world.

The resolution is to be presented and passed in several of the Democratic conventions throughout Lubbock.

RESOLUTION

In view of the fact that the United States has suffered more 150,000 casualties in the military misadventure in Viet Nam, and in view of the fact that we are spending more than $36 billion each year and contributing to the bankrupcy of our treasury as well as our foreign policy by pursuing the war in Viet Nam, and in view of the fact that the military-industrial complex, which produced Viet Nam now offers the American people a splendid new musical tragedy called Cambodia and a rerun of Laos, and in view of the fact that the people American have increasingly expressed their dissatisfaction with American involvement in Southeast Asia and in view of the continued irreparable damage done to the morals and concience of the American people, and in view of the terrible injury done to the American reputation as a member of the Community of Nations by our involvement Southeast Asia and in view of the incalculable hardship and suffering brought to so many families by the sacrifice of our soldiers and view of the ruinous effect of our economy of the insanity in Asia.

BE IT RESOLVED by this convention assembled that the American tion end its involvement in Southeast Asia, and BE IT FURTHER RESOLV-ED that the Democratic Party of Lubbock County, the state of Texas, and the United States immediately call for an end to American involvement in the Viet Namese war.

AN EDITORIAL BY BILL WILKERSON

A smoothly running political machine fueled by brown power and the misappropriation of public funds will attempt the write in re-election of Dub Rogers as mayor of Lubbock Tuesday.

But The Beacon hopes the machine will strip a gear and come to a

Dub's re-election as a "spontaneous mandate" from the people is very funny and we'd be laughing if he didn't pose such a terrible threat.

With a "spontaneous mandate" Rogers would return to office carrying enormous power and his proposal for one man rule in city government would be very difficult for the councilmen to resist.

But this "spontaneous mandate" is hardly spontaneous since it has been on the political drawing board for months, as carefully planned and engineered as any political machine that ever rolled to the polls.

Dub and his chief engineer, T.E. Milam, believe the vote will be about even in southwest Lubbock. So they're going after the minority ete in north Lubbock, which they believe will be the deciding factor. Co-pilots of the brown power political machine are Father Aidan onlon and Sister Regina, who were active in the garbage strike that came close to paralyzing Lubbock about two years ago. They've been amusing themselves lately by raising cain with Lynn County schools. Important cogs in the brown power machine are a Spanish television rogram whose perpetrator says time has been purchased on his late Sun-lay show for a political appearance by Dub Rogers, backed up by adertising in La Voz, a Spanish-English newspaper circulated in Lubbock's artio, edited by a Mexican national who frequently prints articles praisthe glories of Castro's Communist Cuba.

ub cranked up his machine when he appeared at a meeting of the Labback Homebuilders Association, announced he would not seek reelection and demanded all power at City Hall be placed in the hands

then he went back to City Hall, had 1,000 copies of his speech (about 30 ages) printed and mailed, with the City of Lubbock footing the bill

Aditical affairs in Lubbook have a decided effect on the future of Idalou and other towns in rural Lubbock County. For this reason The the people of Lubbock re-elect Despotic Dub they deserve what it get--and other residents of Lubbock County will be forced to suffer with them.

Mr. Bill Wilkerson Editor, Idalou Beacon Idalou, Texas

Dear Mr. Wilkerson:

This is in response to your editorial of April 17.1970, which appeared in the prejudice, second-rated, hate filled piece of junk you call a newspaper and it is my bet that you will not have the intestinal fortitude to print my res-

Undoubtedly, your attack on three very respective people, Mayor Rogers, Sister Regina, and Father Donlon, was motivated envy and frustration. These people became victims of your editorials because they have respect for human dignity, something you obviously lack.

The Browns supported Mayor Rogers because he was the first public Official to treat them with respect and dignity which is simply a very Christian deed not well practiced in West Texas... Father Donlon is a true apostle who fights for human dignity and the brotherhood of man which is what Christ intended us to do.Sister Regina like Father Donlon is dedicated to her call and has contributed more to her fellowbeings than most people contribute in alif-

Incidentally, I have made inquiry about you from very reliable people here in Lubbock and I have yet to hear a positive impression of you. But since everybody is loved by someone, I am sure your mother loves you.

Obviously you were unable to sell your trash in Lubbock and moved to a more vulnerable community to poison the minds of others and of course this was one way to avoid taxes. Before you go sowing the seeds of hate, please get your information correct Sister Regina and Father Donlon have absolutely nothing to do with the Lynn County Schools. They have enough to keep them busy trying to raise the standard of the Lubbock Public Schools.

Mr. Wilkinson, It is people like yourself the at sow the seeds of hatred in the world and then wonder what is happening to our society..blame it on the young generation, on drugs, drink, anything but where the blame really lies. You are one of the reasons why youth is rebelling today. Did you ever try to practice charity?Thank God for people like Mayor Rogers, Sister Regina and Father Donlon.

> Sincerely, Mrs. Connie Delgado

La Voz replies to Mr. Wilkerson's sophomoric editorial only because it is the simple people who merit more of our attention and our time.

La Voz asked Father Aidan Donlon of St. Josephs Catholic Church if he wished to make a reply. Father Donlon's words were, "No, it is not worth it!"

La Voz does remind vou, oh enlightened colleague, that you consulted with the editor on the Dub Rogers write-in campaign. You asked the editor of this paper if he was taking part in the campaign and what endorsements he would have in the Mayor's race.

The editor of La Voz answered;"I am not part of this movement, nor am I particular about who is elected in this race."

The editor felt that whoever was to be elected would stive to bring progress to Lubbock . You, Mr. Wilkerson, have therefore no excuse for stating that the editor of La Voz "is an important cog in the brown power machine" of this movement.

Furthermore, the Editor of La Voz, although, proud of his Aztec lineage, is not a Mexican national, but a citizen of the world- nor is he a cog in any machine, but a humble revolutionary fighting for peace and justice.

As to Cuba, La Voz has printed two articles: one from an Anglo student who visited the Island reported progress, and one from a teacher and refugee who wrote about the rape of his country by Castro's Communist regime.

La Voz has published articles about a noble medical doctor and man of letters who gave up his medical career and easy existence to fight as a guerilla in the jungles. The man, Che Guevara, lost his life for the people he attempted to both heal and to restore to liberty.

So you see, my enlightened friend, in spite of simple folks like you, we strive for the betterment of this country - although too often we find inspiration somewhere else.

So in all my cultivated equanimity, I will not call you a simple idiot, but rather beg you to humbly learn and listen. The revolution could be sweeter with your love!

La Voz does remind you, oh enlightened colleague, that you consulted with the editor on the Dub Rogers write-in campaign. You asked the editor of this paper if he was taking part in the campaign and what endorsements he would have in the Mayor's race.

The editor of La Voz answered;"I am not part of this movement, nor am I particular about who is elected in this race."

The editor felt that whoever was to be elected would stive to bring progress to Lubbock . You, Mr. Wilkerson, have therefore no excuse for stating that the editor of La Voz "is an important cog in the brown power machine" of this movement.

Furthermore, the Editor of La Voz, although, proud of his Aztec lineage, is not a Mexican national, but a citizen of the world- nor is he a cog in any machine, but a humble revolutionary fighting for peace and justice.

As to Cuba, La Voz has printed two articles: one from an Anglo student who visited the Island reported progress, and one from a teacher and refugee who wrote about the rape of his country by Castro's Communist regime.

La Voz has published articles about a noble medical doctor and man of letters who gave up his medical career and easy existence to fight as a guerilla in the jungles. The man, Che Guevara, lost his life for the people he attempted to both heal and to restore to liberty.

So you see, my enlightened friend, in spite of simple folks like you, we strive for the betterment of this country - although too often we find inspiration somewhere else.

So in all my cultivated equanimity, I will not call you a simple idiot, but rather beg you to humbly learn and listen. The revolution could be sweeter with your love!

other crafts have been out of work. Children were out of milk and mothers were worried. Walter Allison, business agent for carpenters local 1884, a local union said to La Voz, "We have been asking for a contract for our people that was denied to us."

The West Texas Chapter of General Associated Contractors of America refused to assure the workers of local 1884 of regular employment. As a result the union voted to strike.

The unions of other crafts were thus affected when the carpenters stopped building and working on construction sites.

Nonetheless, the craft workers fully supported the Carpenters strike even when there was work for some of the craft unions.

The city employees also supported the carpenters strike.

After weeks of picketing and the company's attempt to hire new workers to break the strike, the wives of the workers decided to join the husbands in the strike.

As a result, the company finally made a verbal agreement with the carpenters union, to sign a partial contract with their business agent.

However as we go to press, it is still uncertain whether or not the company will negotiate the other demands with the workers.

The carpenters have also asked for hospit-alization and coverage of injuries which the company has refused to consider.

For those in Texas who believe progressive change and who still believe basically in America's form of government, the reelection of Sen. Ralph Yarborough is the number one public task of 1970. Senator Yarborough's reelection is essential as Texas' contribution to the quality and character of the United States Senate, to helping make the Senate responsive to the popular will, and to helping the Senate to stay abreast of these rapidly changing, perplexing, complex times.

For Ralph Yarborough has amply demonstrated that he is a man of these times, fully aware of the diverse and divergent forces at work among the citizens, in sympathy with extending freedom and fairness to all Americans, and devoted and dedicated to the American system to the extent that he knows that more change is necessary, and soon, if the country is to be a healthy place politically, socially, and economically.

In an era when being young is often taken as the sole criterion for relevance, for caring, Yarborough is, at 66, a reminder that chronological age is not an infallible index to worthiness. The descendant of a lineage whose members have regarded 66 as middle age, the senator's vigor, dedication, and hard work are common knowledge in

THE TEXAS OBSERVER

Washington, whose sophisticated denizens regard Yarborough of Texas as a marvel of zeal, dedication, and devotion to state and nation. Let those who anticipate outcampaigning Senator Yarborough by virtue of younger age, who believe they can wear him down by being more vigorous – let these people beware.

This is the man who has stood with the disadvantaged all his public and private life, who has championed the underdog. This is the man who has voiced, in ever more distinct terms, his rising unease over the morally indefensible atrocity of America's role in Vietnam. This is the man who supported Sen. Eugene McCarthy, a stance taken more out of conviction than for personal political advantage. This is the man who has sought to represent the best interests of his state and nation, who has labored long into many a night in public service. This is the man who has, more than any other Texan in the post-World War II era, championed "the people," crusaded against selfishness, and given hope to harring the contract of the co

That, once again, Senator Yarborough finds arrayed against him two candidates who represent the big money of Texas, the selfish interests that for 35 years have befouled the society of our home state, is no surprise. Ralph Yarborough is accustomed to taking on the big money, the state's economic royalists, as he did in 1952, in 1954, in 1956, in 1957, in 1958, and in 1964.

The Tory wing of the Democratic Party and the state's growing Republican party once again are gearing up to do Yarborough in; their chances of success this year are better than at any time since Yarborough joined the Senate 13 years ago.

Let those who value Ralph Yarborough determine today that they shall devote themselves to the cause of working for his renomination and reelection. There is no better way, in 1970, in Texas, to serve our nation's form of government, to help redeem the pledges America made to all its citizens and the world nearly two centuries ago, and to improve the chances of providing a Texas society that is more civilized, genteel, and open.

Mercedes--Mas de 3,000 Democratas, la mayoría Mexico-Americanos, gritaron su aprobación al Senador Federal Ralph Yarborough, candidato a reelección, mientras este hablaba en un mitin político en el Centro Civico de Mercedes el Domingo pasado, parado ante un letrero que llevaba la leyenda: Esta tierra es de Yarborough, y no esta en venta."

En su charla en Mercedes, Yarborough critico a Lloyd Bentsen, su contraincante en la ellección del partido Democrata, por haber falladoen su deber de ayudar a los Mexico-Americanos en el Valle.

"Lo único que los Bentsen jamas han hecho para este Valle es ocupar a una manada de alambres a 25 centavos la hora, y vender tierra de baja calidad a precios inflados a clientes credulos por medio de dar falsas discripsiónes de sistemas de riego no-existente y de declarar falsamente que la tierra era apta para el cultivo de arboles cítricos."

Yarborough fué presentado en Mercedes por el Dr. Ramiro Casso, medico conocido y co-director de la Campaña Pro Yarborough del Condado de Hidalgo, quien felicitó al Sr. Senador por su obra a favor de legislación en los campos de Salubridad pública, beneficios de vejez, beneficios de veteranos, salubridad de los trabajadores migratorios y la educación bilingue. El Lic. Bill Ellis sirve con el Dr. Casso como Co-Director de la campaña.

Yarborough dijo que la familia Bentsen debía millones de dolares al pueblo del Valle, dolares que habían sacado de las venas de la region a traves de los años, y que Lloyd Bentsen, millonario morador de Houston, era mas bien un Republicano, y no Demócrata como dice este.

Gritos de "Viva Yarborough" y "Adelante con Yarborough" interrumpieron el discurso del Senador, en el cual dice que estará enfrentandose, con"dos candidatos Republicanos: " el primero (Bentsen) es nomas una facada por un ex-gobernador (Connally); el otro (George Bush) es nomas una figura que representa al Presidente Nixon."

Despues del viaje al Valle, Yarborough volo a Laredo, donde habló ante el Consejo Central de Sindicatos del Condado Webb, antes de volver a sus deberes congresionales en Washington.

Nota: Recortes de articulos en la prensa Latinoamericana tocante a la candidatura del Senador Yarborough seran sumamente agradecidos.
