Cotton Is Beginning To Open Here

COTTON GINS GETTING READY FOR '29 CROP

As an evidence of the progress cotton is making at this time, the cotton gins here are in preparation this week for quick and efficient gin service here this year. The William & Terry Gin harnessed their engine up Monday and by its 'puffs and blows' inspired us all to harvest activities. Men are naturally industrially inclined, and the movements of active business put pep into us.

Our gins are installing new equipment for more efficient gin service this year, latest ginning machinery being necessary to take care of the ginning of the later season.

Methodist Revival To Begin At Roscoe 12th.

Roscoe, Texas August 7.—The revival meeting for the Roscoe Methodist Church will begin at the city Tabernacle on Monday, August 12, and will continue through Sunday, August 25. Services will be held at ten o'clock each morning and 8:15 each evening.

The Methodist pastor, Rev. M. B. Norwood, who has been serving the church here only four months will do the preaching. Rev. Norwood is a graduate of the School of Theology of Southern Methodist University, Dallas, and of the Divinity School of the University of Chicago. He has had some very successful experience in revival meetings and was engaged in that kind of work in Dallas, Houston and other parts of the state before entering the pastorate.

Rev. Phillips is an experienced choir director and is a wonderful singer. You will be delighted to hear him. Special music has been provided for every service.

150 ATTEND DELEGATION REUNION HERE SUNDAY

In a most elaborate style and enjoyable manner, the Corley Delegation Reunion held for two days here last Saturday and Sunday. One hundred and twenty five of the family connection were present. J. R. Corley, 81, and Louise Claxton Miller, 4 months, were the oldest and the youngest of the family connection present.

There was some sadness mingled with gladness when it was remembered that the place at this celebration formally occupied by W. A. Corley was vacant because of his death last January. M. M. Corley of Blue, Okla. failed to reach here and no representative was sent. These two were greatly missed.

Three different states and 12 Texas counties were represented.

A table 36 feet in length was spread and shaded on the home lawn around which the happy 125 gathered for great feasts both Saturday and Sunday.

The special old-time friend guests were: Uncle and Mrs. Ben Davis of Snyder, Mr. and Mrs. John Reed of this place, and Mr. Ashcraft of Post. The editor also enjoyed the great pleasure of being present Saturday.

This annual coming together of the older members of the Delegation is a real pleasure event. It is a great pleasure to anyone to see them enjoy themselves together.

Next year's reunion will be held on the 1st Monday in August at Lake Worth.

Grandmother Leslie is quite poorly these days. She had a fall in her room recently from which she has not fully recovered.

When cotton stops growing he forms on it will fall off.

ARE WE READY FOR COMMUNITY FAIR?

It is now but a few weeks until time for our annual Community Fair. Are we making the necessary preparations for it? Or, have our Fair Officials forgotten it? It will be necessary for us to begin work at this just as soon as the revival meeting season is over. All the time we have after the community tabernacle is vacated will be necessary to the preparation for what we should like to be the best fair in the history of our Fair organization.

We shall not have a great deal of extra fine farm exhibits this year, perhaps, but we shall have better poultry and live stock than any previous year.

It is here being suggested that we have an exhibit of agricultural plans for a better agricultural community. Why would this not be wise? Ideas thus advanced might be worth more to the community than any other thing which might be done. "Thought power moves the world." Let our Fair Officials think this over.

First Baptist Church Revival In Progress Here

The revival meeting under the auspices of First Baptist Church, Rev. C. E. Leslie, Evangelist, and Prof. S. E. N. Holoman, Singer, is progressing nicely. Attendance is good and quite a bit of interest is being aroused, considering that Hermleigh, some how, is hard to reach with the modern church's message.

Rev. Leslie is the local pastor, and Mr. Holoman is the choir director of First Baptist Church here. These men are both well known here.

Uncle Monroe Sligh was in the office here Wednesday.

CAFFEY AND BELLAR FIRST WITH OPEN COTTON

The first open cotton of the season was shown here Saturday. Bill Caffey brought in a sample boll which was discovered on his farm Tuesday, July 30th. Mr. Caffey has a nice acreage of older cotton which bids fair, he says, to produce good cotton. He will gin his first cotton in August this year.

W. A. Bellar, northeast of Pyron, the "kid farmer," as he is known, brought open cotton to town Saturday. Mr. Bellar is said by his neighbors, and who are among the county's best farmers, to be a real wide awake cotton farmer. It is not bad to have this type of farmers and citizens living in any county or in any one's community. We are proud of Mr. Bellar.

Inadale Family Bitten By Mad Dog Last Week

A big mad-dog scare spread over this part of the country last week-end. The entire family of R. L. Lipham, near Inadale, was bit by a dog which is believed to have rabies. The dog's head was amputated and sent to Austin where rabies is reported to have been found.

The report of rabies dog being loose in the Inadale community have been abroad for several days, but no alarm had been made until Monday. Mr. Lipham, his wife and baby were bitten.

Messrs. Fob Mosley, Cecil Ward, and Guy Morgan of Camby, Texas were here for a show visit with Dr. and Mrs. Ward last week. These fine young business men expressed themselves as being favorably impressed with our good country. There is room here for you, good gentlemen!

DANIEL AMONG THE LIONS

LESSON TEXT—Daniel 6:1-28
GOLDEN TEXT—The angel of the Lord encampeth round about them that fear him, and delivereth them.
PRIMARY TOPIC—Daniel is True to God
JUNIOR TOPIC—Daniel is True to God
INTERMEDIATE AND SENIOR TOPIC—The Meaning of True Courage.
YOUNG PEOPLE AND ADULT TOPIC—The Courage of Faith.

I. Daniel the Prime Minister of the Medo-Persian Empire (vv. 1-3).
Sterling worth brought him to the front and kept him there. The new king was keen to discover his worth and to give it recognition.

II. An Occasion Sought Against Daniel (vv. 4-9).

1. The reason for (v. 4). No doubt that which prompted this effort was envy and jealousy.

2. Failure of (v. 4).
Daniel's official record was blameless. They could not even find an error. Envy is still in the world. Those who excel in any line are sure to suffer in some way for their excellencies. The successful business man in relation to his competitors, the ranking pupil in school, the child of superior merit in the home, will be envied by the others. In politics many times those who honestly strive to do their duty are persecuted. Even in the church we find ministers are sometimes envious of their superiors.

3. The wicked plot (vv. 5-9).

They trumped up a charge on the ground of his foreign religion. They were not careful about their method, so their end was attained. In spite of Daniel's loyalty, the decree was signed by the king which would put him into the den of lions.

III. Daniel's Noble Confession (vv. 10-13).

Though Daniel knew that the wicked decree was signed, he knelt before God as usual. Note the silence of heroism. Weak men bluster; strong men have little to say.

1. He continued his usual habit (v. 10).
He knew that the civil law had absolutely nothing to do with his religion.

His Adventures in Love, Life and the Pursuit of Happiness

Artie Gives Miller a Touch of High Life

"I DON'T know about this, Artie," said Miller, as they alighted from the trolley car. "I have no business coming out here with you."

"There you go again!" exclaimed Artie. "Ain't I told you that anybody I bring stands ace-high? Why I've been tounin' you to Mamie till she's den't nits to see you. Don't go to workin' on me at this stage of the game. You're just as welcome there as you are in the street."

"I dare say," replied Miller, with a nervous little laugh. "but I think you'll have to do most of the talking."

"Let go of that, too. You won't get no frozen face at this place that I'm steerin' you against. Just cut loose the same as if you was at home. I guess you ain't goin' to find no cracked ice in the chairs, and, as I've told you time and again, this ain't shuck on frills. She comes purty near bein' able to size up a guy for what he's worth, and you and her'll Mocha and Java from the jump."

"Remember," said Artie, as he preceded Miller up the steps, "don't be lenty about cuttin' in. Just play you owned the house."

Mamie opened the door and said: "Hello, there," and then, when she saw that Artie was not alone, she gave a small and startled "Oh!"

"Feel your coat and put it in any old place," said Artie to Miller.

"Why, Artie," said she, reproachfully. They were detained in the hallway for a few moments. Artie felt that perhaps he should have presented Miller at the moment of entering, but he preferred to wait until they reached the front room, where there was a full sweep of space at his command. The critical moment having arrived and Mamie having retreated until she stood beneath the chandelier and Mill

Mamie passed off into an attack of giggles from which she could not easily recover.

"You don't expect me to pay much attention to you when there's any one else around, do you?" she asked with the merest suggestion of a wink at Miller.

"Certainly not. I'm s'posed to be playin' a thinkin' part tonight. I ain't really in the cast at all. I think I come on with a spear in the third act."

"You've heard him talk like that before, haven't you?" asked Mamie of Miller.

"Oh, yes; I've become accustomed to it."

"Oh, what a swife!" exclaimed Artie. "I think I'll have to lay quiet for a while after that. What are you doin', Miller; turnin' against me—takin' her part?"

"Artie, I want you to behave. I'm going to ask Mr. Miller all about how you carry on at the office."

"Oh, his conduct is very good," Miller hastened to say.

"That's what you boys always say about each other. Does he ever work?"

"Do I ever work?" Artie interrupted. "Do you think I could travel on my shaps? She ought to see us doin' the shave act there the first of every month; eh, Miller?"

"We have to work hard enough," said Miller.

"He's told me all this," said Mamie; "but he 'eds so much, as he calls it, that I don't know when he's telling the truth and when he isn't. Why, do you know, Mr. Miller, the first time I met him, he told me his name was something-or-other and that he was in the board of trade—oh, the worst string of stuff you ever heard."

Miller had to laugh, because he had already been told the whole story by Artie.

For once Artie was red, embarrassed and at a loss to reply. He smiled feebly when Miller laughed, and then he managed to say: "I guess you faked up some purty good yarns yourself that night."

"I was trying to keep up with you," said Mamie, gaily.

Artie's grin widened and he glanced significantly at Miller.

"What did I tell you?" he asked. "Ain't she a child wonder?"

And by that time Miller was well

BETTER, BUT HOW?

From a common point of view a man's value is determined by the aid he lends. We have long heard the expression, "It is time all good men should come to the aid of their country." Certainly this is that time! How can a man manifest no concern about his own home community, and his own home people? If one is interested in his home people he will show it by coming to the aid of his community.

In what respect does human life differ from beast life anyway? The beast is concerned only about his stomach, and if men are concerned only about their pocket books, just how much are they superior to the beast?

Human nature naturally demands a corresponding society.

If a society is essential to human welfare, then a better society would naturally produce better people. Are our citizens not interested in better things?
 "Man should not live by bread alone."

The old adage, "Old men for council, young men for war," doesn't apply in Hermleigh.
 Our older men want serve on the "council," and our young men are not of a fighting temperment.

Mr. T. W. Tolson (just Tolson) is a man whom we have observed somewhat. We remember his saying, "I am not Mr. Tolson;
 I am just Tolson." Mr Tolson is the type of citizen which constitutes the foundation of good government. He makes his contribution to society and passes community advancement on to others about him. Tolson regards all men alike. With him the honest common man is as great as the presidential type.

Tolson's footprints will long be visible in the sands of our time.
 Mr. Tolson was in the office here last Friday having his subscription extended and sending the Herald to his son, Alex, in San Angelo. This is the type of man who make the newspaper possible.

Joe Roemisch is a good community example from a commercial point of view. He is thrifty, conservative, and substantial.
 And while Roemisch is a good business example, he is more than that. He is a good townsman. He is interested in the general development of the town and community. He is a good neighbor. If Roemisch is your friend, he is your friend.
 And one of the fine things about Mr. Roemisch is that if he is your ill wisher you hardly know it. We need more men like him.

Ira Layman (Mutt), 8, is perhaps one of the youngest sport in town. He is a natural sport.
 The older boys are hardly his equal in the croquet game. He can beat them all out. Ability as seen in this respect is fine evidence that a capable and useful man is in the making. Luck to you, Mutt!

By all means, the inability of the average person to rightly interpret current community events, and the disposition to be slow to listen to the other person's view of things, is the greatest handicap our society has.
 Here we hold up before the eyes of the community our own J. I.
 Chorn. In our opinion Mr. Chorn is one of the best balanced men in the country. His ability to disagree with a man pleasantly is worthy of every man's consideration. We have met with few men in all of our varied experience with men who compare well with Mr. Chorn in these respects.

Mr. Chorn is a retired farmer who is making Hermleigh his home.

C. Karnes said: "If this dry weather is doing nothing else, it is producing a school of disappointed weather prophets." You are right, too, Mr. Karnes. If we had as much weather as we have weather prophets, we should be sitting pretty.

The recent election effort to raise the Governor's salary will likely be announced as defeated by a small majority—times are too hard to talk about raising anyone's salary.

D. Brock of Inadale was in the office here Friday, renewing a subscription to the Herald, sending it to his grandfather, Dr.
 Brock, at Bowie. Thanks D.

On matters of curious data, Mr. B. Y. Rea is said to be the community's best authority. His recollection is remarkable. —But he is no "weather prophet."

"Miller, This is Little Name."

ler having come in from the hall and placed himself, stolid and upright, beside one of the plush chairs. Arlie said: "Name, I want you to shake hands with my friend, Mr. Miller, the best ever. Miller, this is little Name, the girl that makes 'em open all the windows to look at her when she goes along the street."

"I'm so glad to meet you, Mr. Miller," said Mamie. "I've heard so much about you."

She extended her hand and as Miller grasped it and mumbled something, Arlie very facetiously remarked, "Take your corners."

Now, if this was his plan for causing Miller to feel perfectly at home it was not an entire success. Miller laughed awkwardly and backed into a chair, where he sat and smiled in a fixed and helpless condition until Mamie came to his rescue.

"I suppose you've learned by this time that you mustn't pay any attention to what Arlie says," she began. "He doesn't mean half he says."

"Here! How about this?" interrupted Arlie. "You ain't going to be a kin knockin' the first thing. Pay no attention to what she says about me, Miller. Just copper it."
"I'm afraid I'll have to believe a good many things that he has told me about you," said Miller, with an effort.

"What has he been telling you?"
"Slow up there a little. Be careful," said Arlie.

"He said a great many complimentary things about you," persisted Miller.

"Who, me?" demanded Arlie. "What are you trying to do—string the poor girl? All I ever told you about Mamie was the time she shook me for that Indian. I'll tell you about her. Miller I'm good old car-fare and show-tick 's when there's nobody playin' against me, but as soon as any other guy gets in the game she puts me on the sub bench. I ain't in the play at all. You're here tonight. Am I in it? Well, I should say nit." Miller laughed good naturedly and enough acquainted to join in and talk on many topics. It was after ten o'clock when they left the house and started for the car.

"Well, will she do?" asked Arlie almost as soon as the door had closed behind them.

"Yes, indeed," replied Miller, warmly. "She's an awfully nice girl."

"How about her being a good-looker?"

"Arlie, you may think I'm trying to flatter you, but really she is a very pretty girl—very pretty."

"Say, I tumbled that she was the real stuff the first time I ever see her. They don't grow 'em on the Lake Shore drive any better behaved than she is, and a lot that live in them big houses are a good deal wilder 'n'er the sun goes down than this cutie knows how to be."

Extraterritoriality

As early as 1889 China and Russia entered into a treaty providing for a modified form of extraterritoriality. The existing system of extraterritoriality, however, had its origin in a number of treaties between China and the powers, commencing with 1842. In which year the treaty with Great Britain was negotiated. This was followed in 1844 by treaties with the United States and France. In 1847, Sweden and Norway; 1871, Japan. By 1918 these countries and in addition Denmark, Italy, Belgium, the Netherlands, Portugal, Spain, Sweden, Germany, Austria-Hungary, Peru, Mexico, Brazil and Switzerland had concluded similar treaties. Germany and Austria-Hungary lost their rights as a result of the World war.

MOTHER!

Child's Best Laxative is "California Fig Syrup"

Tongue Shows If Bilious, Constipated

Hurry, Mother! Even a fretful, peevish child loves the pleasant taste of "California Fig Syrup" and it never fails to open the bowels. A teaspoonful today may prevent a sick child tomorrow.

Ask your druggist for genuine "California Fig Syrup" which has directions for babies and children of all ages printed on bottle. Mother! You must say "California" or you may get an imitation fig syrup.

Wrongly Diagnosed

"A wrong diagnosis." Representative Clarence Cannon, at a luncheon in Troy, was arguing the question of the farmer's illness. "A wrong diagnosis," he repeated. "It reminds me of a story. A young mother on a train was doing her best to quiet a crying baby. Now she placed it here, now there. Now she raised the cushion under its head, now she stretched it out at full length. But nothing would do. The baby cried and cried. "At last an old gentleman bent over the young mother and murmured politely: "Pardon me, madam, but don't you think it is bound the baby wants instead of lodging?"—Exchange.

"Splendidly. We averaged five and a half miles to the gallon."—Washington Star.

Own rodent as a pest. Originally brought to the islands on the theory that it would do battle with sugar-cane-eating rats, the mongoose has become a nuisance which many people feel is worse than the rats. Its destruction of birds, small poultry and eggs is perennial and extensive. Some years ago the legislature put a bounty on the mongoose in the hope that anti-fur sealers would be collected to diminish its ravages. However, the mongoose is both wily and prolific, and his kind has not appreciably diminished. A bill in the present territorial legislature proposes to do away with the mongoose bounty on the grounds that were the little clamp welcomed and encouraged instead of chased and persecuted, he might co-operate with society more cordially in campaigning against the sweet-toothed rats.

San Antonio Man Has Interesting Life

"At one time in my life I thought I had the worst luck of any man in Texas," says Sam Smith, now one of San Antonio's best taxpayers. "I had to be careful what I ate or I would almost choke from the gas on my stomach. That was many years ago, in fact, until I started taking Nature's Remedy (NR Tablets). Ever since then I eat what I want and let NR take care of the rest."

That's because those little Nature's Remedy (NR Tablets) soothe, sweeten and stimulate the stomach and bowels. Then the starch and sugar wastes can't remain in your system to form those acids which sour your stomach, bind your bowels and rob the blood of the red compounds it must have plenty of to keep you from suffering pain, biliousness, sick headaches, indigestion and rheumatism. More than 3 million NR Tablets are used a day. Get the 25c box at any drug store.

These wicked men watched to find out whether Daniel would pray before his God, and when they found that he continued his worship, they went to the king and reported that Daniel disregarded his decree.

IV. The Foolish Decree Executed (vv. 14-17).

1. The king displeased with himself (v. 14).
2. He labored till the going down of the sun to deliver Daniel, conscious that he had been entrapped.
3. The king helpless (v. 15).
4. The proud ruler found that he was a slave. To enact laws which change not is the height of folly.
5. Daniel cast into the den of lions (v. 16).
6. The king's parting word to Daniel was a poor, feeble excuse for his guilty conscience.
7. The double seal (v. 17).

This double sealing shows the king's purpose to abide by the unfortunate law.

V. Daniel Delivered (vv. 18-23).

1. Note the contrast between the night in the lion's den and the one in the palace. In the palace there was no sleep, no mirth. Daniel's quiet is as a picture of the safety and peace which are the portion of those who trust God and do His will.
2. The king's question in the morning (v. 20).
3. Daniel's answer (v. 22).
4. God's angel has done many wonderful works. The early Christians despised bonds, stripes and death.
5. Daniel delivered (v. 23).

No manner of hurt was found because he believed in his God.

VI. The Doom of His Accusers (v. 24).

They were cast into the den of lions and "as ever they came at the bottom of the den" their bones were broken in pieces. Daniel's enemies fell into the same trap which they prepared for him.

VII. Darius' Decree (vv. 25-27).

Men were to tremble and fear before Daniel's God. As to whether Darius had a change of heart we do not know.

VIII. Daniel's Prosperity (v. 28).

Daniel goes higher into the kingdom and continues in his place of honor even though dynasties change.

In a Better World

A comfortable old age is the reward of a well-spent youth; therefore, instead of its introducing dismay and melancholy prospects of decay, it should give us hopes of eternal youth in a better world.—Palmer.

When a Cross Is Formed

When our will runs parallel with the will of God, no cross is formed; but when our will runs counter to God's will, a cross is formed which is heavy to be borne.—Aughey.

"WHEN I was just a young man, I had bad spells of indigestion. I would have pains in my chest, and everything I ate seemed to disagree with me. I would have a bad taste in my mouth and a lot of gas on my stomach. This was very disagreeable.

"My father's family had been using Thedford's Black-Draught for a number of years, so I bought a package. After I began taking the Black-Draught, I was better; the disagreeable feeling left me.

"After taking Black-Draught for some time, I quit having indigestion. I only take an occasional dose. I am well and strong."—B. I. GREEN, Madison, Fla.

Locals

Jim Pagan remembered us Saturday with a small sack of nice home grown peaches. Pagan says he has a fine crop of peaches this year.

Mr. M. L. White of Bonham, spent last week here, guests in the Cox and Hays home.

Messrs. W. W. Kimsey and M. A. Glass of Pyron were in town here Saturday.

Mmes. Grace and Gardner were Sweetwater shoppers last Friday.

Messrs. W. N. and Jess Brown of Lone Wolf and Dan Hall of China Grove were in town here Saturday. Glad to see you gentlemen.

Dr. Earnest Ward has been heard from in Honolulu. He says there is lots of sugarcane, fruits, and even 'cantaloupes grow on trees' he said. Our own Dr. and Mrs. Ward are planning a visit trip to the Hawaiian Islands right away.

Mr. E. T. Stevenson who is spending the summer with sons W. T., E. D., and G. L. here has been out of town for a few days visit.

Grocer Rowlin of Inadale was in town here Wednesday, sporting his new Ford Coupe.

Hugh, Mrs. Vaughn and the boys returned last week from their summer vacation.

Boyd Rea and family of Leveland are visiting the B. Y. Rea home here this week.

Mrs. Ray Patterson and sister Miss Hazel Spykes spent last week in Ft. Worth, visiting relatives.

J. R. Coker met his cousin, Nix Coker at the Corley Celebration here last Saturday. They had't met before in 45 years. Mrs. Nix Coker is a sister to our own Joe Caton of Snyder.

Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Hacker of Plainview are visiting kinspeople here.

HERMLEIGH BOYS IGNITE FUSE OF ROSCOE FANS

Roscoe went down in a 12-6 game here Tuesday. The game ran 0-0 until the 3rd. inning when Coffey began to 'percolate,' pouring out 3 scores for Hermleigh. This opened the field for a race track which continued throughout the game.

Coffey, Louder, McMillan, West, Davis, and Hill were the chief hitters.

The victory of this game helped to reconstruct the bridge which the flood of Ira enthusiasm washed out here Saturday when they inundated us 11-4. Congratulations to you, Ira.

Mr. Hugh Clift was home for a short visit last week-end. He will graduate from McMurray this summer. Hugh is a young man of whom we are all proud.
