Shuttle Launch Delayed

SPACE CENTER, Houston (AP) — The launch of space shuttle Columbia has been delayed four days to provide time for additional tests of the spacecraft, already two years behind the original launch date because of technical problems, NASA officials said Wednesday.

The launch now is scheduled for March 14, said Donald K. "Deke" Slayton, astronaut in charge of orbiter tests for the National Aeronautics and Space Administration.

Slayton said a "rollout review" on Nov. 13 will determine if Columbia should be moved from the orbiter processing facility at Cape Canaveral, Fla., on Nov. 23.

"Everything is looking good at this moment for a rollout on Nov. 23," Slayton told reporters in briefing on the orbital test program.

Carter Changes Stance

WASHINGTON (AP) — Jimmy Carter the incumbent Democrat is quite another person from Jimmy Carter the lame-duck president. He is now declaring his "firm belief" that Ronald Reagan will try to keep peace and pledging to help the victorious Republican help negotiate a new SALT agreement.

The day after his overwhelming defeat by Reagan, Carter also said his loss was not due to "a personal turning against me" but to "just a frustration that there are some unresolved challenges and problems and the natural tendency is to vote against incumbents."

Calm and a bit subdued, Carter spoke with reporters in the Oval Office on Wednesday, saying also that he would "go a second mile" to insure a smooth transition for the new Republican administration.

End Seen To Embargo

WASHINGTON (AP) — If President-elect Ronald Reagan's actions follow his campaign rhetoric, Jimmy Carter's embargo on Soviet grain exports will be an early casualty of the new administration.

While many of Reagan's agriculture proposals have been only vaguely defined, his opposition to the embargo is clear.

"I will, when elected, fully assess our national security, foreign policy and agricultural trade needs to determine how best to terminate yet another of the inequitable and ineffective policies of the Carter administration," he said of the grain embargo on July 3.

And the platform adopted by the Republican National Convention also stated its flat opposition. "The Carter grain embargo should be terminated immediately," the document said.

Citizen Carter Gets Pension

WASHINGTON (AP) — When President Carter leaves office next Jan. 20, he will receive a $69,630 annual pension, a share in $1 million for administrative help in winding up his affairs, $150,000 a year for office staff, and Secret Service protection for life.

The president's annual pension, which is the same as a Cabinet officer's salary, will increase as Cabinet salaries rise.

Bill Nichols, general counsel of the Office of Management and Budget, said Carter and Vice President Walter F. Mondale will share up to $1 million for six months for expenses in finishing their official business. The money has been authorized by Congress and probably will be appropriated when the House and Senate return next week for their post-election session, he said.

The SDN Column

Don't let anyone tell you that politics doesn't change in the United States.

We have been around long enough to witness a few presidential elections, and this one was different from any other we ever observed, or participated in. There have been nip-and-tuck races, won in the wee hours of the morning after, and there have been runaway triumphs that overall were as impressive as that of Ronald Reagan. But in our time, there has never been another in which the winning trend was so consistent from coast-to-coast.

Back when Alf Landon took his beating from Franklin D. Roosevelt, to the one-sided triumph of Lyndon Johnson over Barry Goldwater and Richard Nixon's obliteration of George McGovern—none took the same turn as Ronald Reagan's stunning victory over Jimmy Carter. The trend was set in the first report and it never changed, no matter which state or which region of the country was involved. Normally, in times past at least, various regions vote their own way, but this time there was no difference from region to region as the vote counted its way from east to west across the country.

Another factor that undoubtedly will have the political scientists scratching their heads for months to come is that there apparently was more unity among the "classes" than ever before.

Professional people and day laborers, minorities and majorities showed signs of going for the same candidate in unprecedented numbers. There are those who say that a gigantic consolidation of voter strength took place during the final hours of the campaign, or at least during the last two or three days. Nobody knows for sure, of course, but you can bet that the Reagan strategy for closing out a campaign will be studied carefully by future office-seekers.

One of the more amazing factors is that the Carter people seemed to recognize that it was happening and readily admitted early that they had lost, which is the reason that Jimmy Carter made his statement conceding defeat shortly after the vote count began in the east and long before balloting had ceased in the west.

One gets the impression that if Reagan can assemble a staff to run the country that matches the performance of his campaign leaders, the country is going to have astute leadership under his command. And that, of course, is what the voters were searching for.

SHS Band Takes 27th Top Rating

The Snyder High School Black and Gold Band has done it again—for the 27th time.

The Snyder musicians were one of only three in upper class competition to earn Division I ratings in the University Interscholastic League marching contests Wednesday at Abilene.

It was their 27th Division I rating in this contest, which is held each fall for bands in the South Zone of Region II of the UIL.

In addition, a trio of SHS twirlers, Patty Gleastine, Donna Joplin and Lana Burns, rated first division in their contest for twirling ensembles.

In the UIL contests, the bands, ensembles and individuals are graded on a scale which labels Division I as superior, Division II excellent, Division III good, Division IV fair, and Division V poor.

Judging is based on their marching and playing ability in the annual marching contest.

The Division I rating for the band puts it in a position to compete for a sweepstakes award when contests for instrumental ensembles and individuals are held next spring.

Only other bands in the top divisions earning Division I ratings were Abilene High and Abilene Cooper High entries.

Local Voters Face Another Election Soon

Scurry County voters, who went to the polls in unusual numbers Tuesday, have another chance to cast ballots coming up soon.

Absentee voting is already underway at the county clerk's office for a special election to fill the position of State Representative for the 63rd District. Mike Ezzell resigned that post recently to take a position with the State Health department.

The only candidate listed on the ballot is Larry Shaw, the Democratic Party's nominee for the post and uncontested winner in Tuesday's general election. However, the term for which Shaw was elected Tuesday does not begin until January and the special election will be for the time remaining on Ezzell's term. The election is set for Nov. 22.

Farm Workers Schedule Rally

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — The Texas Farm Workers Union has scheduled a noon rally in the Capitol rotunda on Monday to start its legislative campaign for a bill giving collective bargaining rights to farm workers.

Both City, County...

New Report Hikes Census Total Here

Both Snyder and Scurry County gained in the latest report on the 1980 census and the final count will not be known until early in 1981.

The preliminary reports, received by local officials this morning show Scurry County with a total population of 18,176 and the City of Snyder with a total of 12,671. Both figures represent a substantial increase over the "pre-preliminary" figures announced earlier, and local officials believe there is a good chance that even more gains will be reflected in the final report after the first of the year.

The pre-preliminary figures had shown a total of 17,570 for Scurry County and 12,301 for the City of Snyder. Although these figures represented a significant gain over 1970, officials of both the county and city requested and received cooperation of census officials for the Lubbock District in re-checking and it apparently has paid off with additions to the totals.

The city's preliminary total announced today is exactly 1,500 more than the official 1970 count of 11,171 for Snyder.

Scurry County had an official total of 15,760 in 1970. If the new preliminary figures should stand, it would mean a gain of more than 13 percent for the City of Snyder, which includes only those residing inside the corporate limits, and a gain of over 15 percent for Scurry County during the last 10 years.

City Manager John Gayle said that census personnel in the Lubbock district had indicated that Snyder's total ultimately could be even higher. However, no official word is expected before the final figures are announced early in 1981.

Preliminary figures for some area counties and their official totals 10 years ago, include:

Borden, 857 and 888, down 3.49 percent; Fisher, 5,816 and 6,344, down 8.32 percent; Howard, 33,285 and 37,796, down 11.94 percent; Kent, 1,144 and 1,434, down 20.22 percent; Mitchell, 9,082 and 9,073, up .10 percent; Nolan, 17,373 and 16,220, up 7.11 percent; Stonewall, 2,395 and 2,397, down .08 percent.

The latest preliminary report shows Scurry County with a total of 7,228 housing units, compared to 6,209 in 1970, a gain of 16.41 percent.

Mideast War Slackens Pace

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP) — The rain of Iraqi artillery and mortar fire on Iran's besieged refinery city of Abadan slackened as the Persian Gulf war went into its 46th day today, Iran reported. It claimed 200 Iraqis killed along the 300-mile invasion front, and Iraq said 100 Iraqis were killed or wounded.

The Iranian command said Iraqi troops had been cleared from the Abadan side of the Bahmanshir River, the scene of heavy fighting Tuesday and Wednesday. It also said victims of the Iraqi shelling included patients at two hospitals, nine of them killed and 37 wounded.

The communique, broadcast by Tehran Radio, said Iranian forces were returning fire from inside Abadan, at the southern end of the invasion front and Iran's last stronghold on the disputed Shatt al-Arab estuary, Iraq's only waterway to the Persian Gulf.

It also claimed that Iranian forces still controlled the eastern part of Khorramshahr, the port 10 miles northwest of Abadan, and were preventing the Iraqis who took the rest of the city two weeks ago from breaking through to the Khorramshahr-Abadan highway.

However, other Iraqi forces advanced to the north of Khorramshahr and Abadan, then turned south to the Shatt al-Arab, cutting off the two Iranian cities from the rest of the country.

The Tehran command said Iranian paratroopers killed 200 Iraqi soldiers in attacks up and down the invasion front, including one at Dezful, 150 miles north of Abadan, and that an Iraqi MiG was downed during a raid on the Kharg Island oil terminal, 150 miles southeast of Abadan in the Persian Gulf.

Iraq claimed 100 Iranian casualties in fighting Wednesday and said its warplanes scored direct hits on the military base at Mahabad, in northwest Iran, set an oil pipeline ablaze in western Iran and destroyed a telecommunication station in Abadan.

The Baghdad command said an Iranian Phantom was downed during one of six raids flown against northern and central Iraqi towns, and that five civilians were injured in the attacks.

None of the claims could be confirmed because Western reporters have been barred from the battlezones. Iran earlier this week rejected a cease-fire appeal from the Non-Aligned Movement of which both it and Iraq are members, and the 94-nation organization cancelled a peace mission to Baghdad and Tehran.

Ask Us

Q.—In a previous article concerning the band not making the trip to Odessa, why was it stated that it was the band's decision and where was this information obtained?

A.—The information was obtained from school officials, including, as the original answer plainly stated, Sam Robertson, director of bands for Snyder Public Schools, who has the responsibility of making decisions concerning band activities.

Pleasures And Pains Of Nation's Top Spot Descends On Reagan

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The trappings — and responsibilities — of high office already are beginning to descend on President-elect Ronald Reagan.

Among the trappings are beefed-up Secret Service protection, phones to connect him with any part of the world, and other special treatment that not even a Hollywood star can expect.

The responsibilities are more complex, including the naming of the task force that will guide the transfer of power to a Republican administration, the choice of Cabinet, officers and other high officials, and the opening of relations with other world leaders.

Reagan scheduled a half-hour nationally televised news conference today with Vice President-elect George Bush to name the transition team. As for those being considered for permanent posts, sources say some well-known officials from past Republican administrations are included, among them Henry Kissinger, William Simon and Alexander Haig.

Expected to be clarified at today's news conference is the status of Richard V. Allen, Reagan's senior campaign adviser on foreign policy who was thought to have an inside track to become national security adviser before his abrupt resignation four days prior to the election.

Allen has denied reports that he sought to use his White House post during the Richard M. Nixon administration for personal financial gain, but his future in a Reagan administration still is uncertain. However, he is expected to head the foreign policy section of the transition team.

And among those reportedly under consideration for permanent posts are:

—Kissinger, a former secretary of state who could get his old job.

—Haig, a former NATO commander and Nixon's chief of staff, also being considered for secretary of state.

—Simon, former secretary of treasury who may return to his old post, too.

tolerance gets test

Vanessa Redgrave's performance in the controversial CBS-TV drama "Playing for Time," while expert and moving, was hardly "the finest performance ever given on a television screen," as Newsweek billed. Their report was the kind of extravagant overstatement that seems reserved for left-wing activists who are also performers.

Few would claim that Vanessa Redgrave is not a fine actress. We're willing to accept, on the evidence of her performance, that she maintains a certain schizophrenic attitude, separating her professional career from her political convictions. Aside from drama criticism, at which we don't claim special expertise, what are the implications of the Redgrave affair?

First, Ms. Redgrave was well within her rights to accept the part and it's not surprising that she would do so. It was a meaty part, and the predictable controversy got her on the cover of Newsweek and splashed across most newspapers, which can't hurt her career or whatever luster her association lends to the splinter group of pro-PLO Anti-Israel Trotskyites she supports.

CBS was within its rights to cast her in the part, though we can hardly credit the disingenuousness of young producer Linda Allen, who claims she didn't anticipate the furor the casting would unleash. It may be that the predictable controversy was the main impetus to stirring viewer interest in the program.

Most television producers know they need a little extra to get viewers to watch serious drama, and we wouldn't be surprised if the casting choice wasn't made with such a flurry in view. If so, while cynical and in poor taste, it was within the rights of the producers.

Jewish groups and others who objected to the casting choice were also well within their rights. Here we must give special attention to the opinions of Fania Fenelon herself, whose life was depicted and who objected strenuously to Redgrave in the role. While she apparently didn't maintain a veto power over casting when she sold the rights to her book (not an unusual situation) we would have thought CBS would have paid special attention to her vehement objections.

Jewish groups that boycotted the program and pledged to boycott sponsors were also well within their rights. Those are legitimate forms of protest in a free society, however wise or unwise. A few groups came close to calling for objectionable censorship, but we note that most Jewish spokesmen, while strenuous in their objections, stopped short of advocating censorship, for which restraint they deserve praise.

Thus, in a society in which artistic expression is relatively free, most parties involved in the controversy were able to exercise their rights without seriously damaging the rights of others. The film was made, and those who objected to it had their say. The sponsors took the risks associated with a possible boycott.

The ironic thing is that in a society dominated by the kind of Trotskyite fanatics Ms. Redgrave supports, such freedom would be unthinkable. We're at a loss to understand how she can reconcile taking the considerable benefits which her talents can give her in a free society with advocating that it be replaced by an unfree society.

But a free society has the strength to tolerate that kind of error and irrationality; a fact for which Ms. Redgrave should be thankful.

we owe a debt

Americans, you and I are in debt to a car dealer we've never met.

Louis Peters is a rich man; he did not have to get involved.

Among other things, Louis Peters owns a prospering car dealership in Lodi, Calif.

About 2 1/2 years ago a man came in and offered to buy the business. That was flattering.

But when the man offered $2 million for a business that was worth only $1 million, big Louis Peters kinda backed off.

Then the buyer explained that he was really seeking to purchase the business for somebody else.

For a man named Joe Bonnano - who wanted to buy a dozen such dealerships.

It was obvious why Joe Bonnano, Mister Big in the West Coast mob, wanted some legitimate businesses through which he could launder some illegitimate money - money made from vice, gambling, racketeering.

Louis Peters could have said yes or no and left it there. Instead he said "maybe" - and went immediately to the FBI.

The FBI had wanted for years to get evidence that would lock up Bonnano. The bureau asked Peters if he would go along with the deal; get friendly, get on the inside, get that evidence. He said he would.

Over the year that followed

Louis Peters got to know Joe Bonnano, was invited to stay in Bonnano's home in Tuscon, was introduced as "one of the family."

During some of those visits, Mr. Peters allowed himself to be wired by the FBI so that they got recordings of conversations involving - and incriminating - Bonnano and his nephew Jack De Filippi.

Then complications set in. De Filippi wanted to date Mr. Peters' daughter.

He could not explain to those he loved his involvement. But for their protection he insisted on separation - so that they would get out of town, out of reach.

The agonizing odyssey which began in June of 1977 ended this year when Joe Bonnano was convicted. Joe Bonnano, who started as a gun runner for Al Capone and rose to head one of organized crime's big five families, for the first time ever was convicted and sent to prison.

Louis explained to his family; they're together again.

There is no way known to relate the stress of that experience to the next one.

But Louis Peters - big man, 6-3, 240 pounds, millionaire - can't remember ever being sick a day in his 48 years - has collapsed.

Doctors diagnose brain cancer; inoperable.

They say he has a year - maybe.

That's all. I just wanted you to know of a man who did not have to get involved yet did. A man who had everything - and gambled it all to make the world a little less dirty for the rest of us.

Republicans at the courthouse were jubilant Tuesday night as election results came in. The belief among them was that as soon as Ronald Reagan takes office the nation's ills will be righted, the ship of state will sail through calm waters, inflation will vanish, and bureaucracy will melt away. Reagan at one time or another probably made those promises, but I for one won't hold my breath waiting for them to come true.

There is more to being a president than making great promises. Rhetoric is cheap. Jimmy Carter found that out and I think Ronald Reagan will, too.

Four years ago Carter also promised us the moon. He, too, promised to reduce inflation, strengthen national defense, and fire the bureaucrats. But between the promises and his actual performance he failed. Why? What went wrong?

The president is only a man and there is only so much one man can do. Carter, without congressional backing, could do little on his own. He went up against a system bigger than he was. To work with it he had to compromise some of his beliefs and in compromising them he became like the system he was hoping to reform. The result was a muddled performance, a kind of gray performance that was not particularly good or bad.

Four years from now, as we look over the Ronald Reagan presidency, we will probably view it as a rather gray one also. It, too, will probably lack distinction. I'll wager it will resemble the Eisenhower presidency.

Inflation, for example, is something that probably can't be whipped in four years. Try as he may, I don't think Reagan will be able to stop it.

He may be able to slow it down, but stopping it is beyond anybody's ability in four years. The same can be said, I think, of any other issue facing us today.

The day of there being a president who can singlehandedly conquer national problems is over. I believe, too, that the lines between Democrat and Republican begin to blur.

An old-timer is a person who can recall when chairs were built so that you could find the pocket change of the most-recent sitter.

Two classes of people never have time on their hands: Busy ones, and lazies who watches whose straps are broken.

Violence on TV is quite permissible when the show is so bad you'd like to break-up the set.

In times like this, relative security is to be found in a nice, comfy house located right on the San Andreas fault.

Meanest man on the block is the father who sets the burglar alarm to go off when his daughter is entertaining a date at home.

The odds on a long reign appeared decidedly short at that time. Jorday was among the smallest and poorest of Arab states, existing on first Britain and then American subsidies.

Hussein was, regularly castigated as an imperialist lackey by the then chief poobah of the Arabs, Egypt's Gamil Abdel Nasser. He was also saddled with an ancient family feud with the rulers of neighboring Saud Arabia. He has been the target of repeated cup and assassination plots. In 1958 his cousin, King Faisal of Iraq, was overthrown and the royal family strung up in the streets of Baghdad by the predecessors of the very regime Hussein now so ardently backs. Back then Hussein appeared a likely next to go.

But the odds-makers of 1952 have been proved very wrong. He not only survived but much more. He has been in power longer than any other Arab leader. And he has become quite possibly the most consummate diplomat in the Mideast, Egypt's Anwar Sadat and a number of Israelis perhaps excepted.

Viewed from this perspective, Hussein's current maneuverings may raise questions. While pushing the Iraqi cause he is, for example, also preparing for a long-scheduled Arab "unity" summit meeting in Amman later this month, unity always having been in short supply among the Arabs and no more so than at present.

But he may have his reasons. And in any case it would be a mistake to write him off. He has if-nothing else, a remarkable record for challenging the odds and surviving.

More active involvement would thus appear to pose considerable risks for Hussein. That would not, however, be anything new for him. He has risked - with mixed results - before. He plunged late into the 1967 Mideast war and lost Jerusalem and the West Bank to Israel. But in 1970-71, he took on Palestinian guerrillas who in the process of using Jordan as a base for raiding Israel had virtually taken over the country. He won, driving them out of Jordan, but at the price of being a pariah in intra-Arab politics for the next several years.

Hussein's entire career has in fact, been a risk, or a series of risks. He came to the Jordan throne in 1952, at the age of 17, following the assassination of his grandfather and the deposing of his mentally unbalanced father.

thoughts

Lord told Moses that all the families should kill a lamb and dip a bunch of hyssop in the blood and strike the doorposts and the lintel with it. When the Lord passed through to kill the firstborn of the families, He would spare those homes with blood on the posts. Pharaoh let them go after suffering that plague. They baked unleavened bread as they were thrust out and could not delay. "And this day shall be unto you for a memorial, and ye shall keep it a feast to the Lord throughout your generations... Seven days shall ye eat unleavened bread..." Exod. 12:14-15

Dear Abby

Geographical Ignorance A Passport to Confusion

By Abigail Van Buren

© 1980 by Universal Press Syndicate

DEAR ABBY: This letter is in response to the letter from Hawaii. Your Hawaiian correspondent was put out by the number of people who didn't know that Hawaii was part of the United States.

We who live in NEW Mexico are constantly running into the same situation. Let me give you a few examples:

New Mexico was the only state in the union whose license plates were stamped with "USA" in the lower right-hand corner of the plate.

I have also seen maps in which New Mexico was completely omitted!

As a counselor who assists students in applying for financial aid to further their education, we have been asked why they did not seek aid from their own country! (Meaning Mexico.) And this from so-called educated administrative assistants and executive secretaries!

Many people visiting New Mexico comment on how surprised they were that they didn't have to go through customs or present a passport. They actually thought New Mexico was a part of Mexico.

FROM MEXICO (THE NEW ONE)

DEAR FROM: Move over. Many from West Virginia wrote to say that their state is sometimes considered the western part of the state of Virginia.

And while we're on the subject of geographical ignorance, many wrote to say that they wish people would quit getting Australia confused with New Zealand.

DEAR ABBY: One of the things I admire most about you is your willingness to admit your mistakes. You certainly made one in your advice to IN A BIND IN MINNEAPOLIS, who recently acquired cable TV in her home. She said their 12-year-old daughter had been watching all the R-rated movies and they didn't want her exposed to the constant stream of sex and violence.

Your reply: "Responsible parents would not permit their children to eat garbage, so why tempt them with intellectual garbage by making it so handy and accessible? If you believe you are exposing your daughter to a constant stream of sex and violence with cable TV, you shouldn't have it in your home."

Abby, if IN A BIND is unable to control her daughter's viewing habits, a simple lockout device with a key is available from her local cable company, most likely at no charge other than a small security deposit.

However, I think you should know that cable TV brings to the home the same programming transmitted on the airways. The R-rated shows, to which you refer, are also transmitted over the same cable, but are a product of one of the pay services. IN A BIND had to pay extra for these R-rated movies over and above what she pays for her regular basic cable TV.

In justice to all the cable TV companies around the world, I hope you publicize the fact that there is a way of controlling children's viewing habits short of removing the cable from the home.

MARK ANDERSON, GREAT FALLS, MONT.

DEAR MARK: I'm glad you wrote. This is the first I've heard about a "lockout" device for cable TV. It's a great idea.

DEAR ABBY: I have finally learned to be completely honest when I am asked a direct question by people who want to know me better. It has to do with what I have been doing lately.

I don't know quite how to handle their uneasiness when I tell them that I spent the last two years in a mental institution.

I am now ready to get back into the mainstream of life, but I'm not sure many people are ready for me. Any suggestions?

BEEN THERE AND BACK

DEAR BEEN THERE: Your honesty is admirable, but the problem is not yours; it's that of the people who get uneasy. The more natural and relaxed you are, the easier it will be for them to overcome their initial discomfort. Let's hope the day will come when people will learn to accept mental illness as naturally as they accept other illnesses. Honesty such as yours helps. God bless.

Art Guild Study Club Learns About Furniture

The Art Guild Study Club met Nov. 4 at 6:30 p.m. in the home of Mrs. Jerry Hendon, 4506 Houston. Mrs. D. V. Merritt Jr. was co-hostess.

The subject chosen by the program leaders was "Furniture: Today." Mrs. Hendon presented Gary Landes of Landes Home Furnishings.

Through the display of a small piece of furniture and pictures, Landes explained the difference in the grades of furniture. He told the group that the better grades of furniture are made of solid wood and that the middle and lower grades included some veneer. Oak is one of the woods that is most desired at this time, he added.

Landes spoke of groupings in the bedroom, dining room and living room. He also showed samples of upholstery material and explained the wearing qualities of different materials as well as methods of cleaning each.

In answering how the consumer could tell furniture quality, Landes said "you are at the hands of your dealer."

Mrs. Myron Roe, club president, conducted the business meeting, followed by the serving of refreshments by the hostesses.

Thirteen members attended the meeting.

Here is another hand from Great Britain. As you can see, East has a very sound opening spade bid. It also gave South a problem which South solved by bidding one notrump. An unusual two notrump to show the minor suits might have been ideal, but apparently North and South were not using that convention.

North's raise to three notrump might well have been a winner although we aren't going to approve of it. Anyway, there was a reason for it. The game was a mixed pair event and North was a great expert playing with a lady whose one aim was to watch her expert partner operate notrump contracts.

East doubled to ask for a spade lead and South inquired the meaning of the double.

West (a lady) replied, "He is demanding a spade lead."

If South had passed he probably would have received that spade lead, but South was hungry. He redoubled. West opened a heart and the defense took the first six tricks.

South complained to high heavens, but the lady said sweetly, "I said that he was demanding a spade lead, I didn't say I was going to lead one."

Oh, yes! Six clubs is a wrap up.

'TIS THE FASHIONABLE SEASON—The coming holidays will be exciting this year and the new fall and winter fashions just add to that excitement. Dena Ellis (left standing), Wanda Early, Carolyn Greene, Dorothy Dennis, Jena Duke, Glen Polk

Review Of Reagan's Campaign Promises

WASHINGTON (AP) — Here is how President-elect Ronald Reagan's campaign pledges would affect government agencies:

STATE DEPARTMENT: The SALT II treaty would be withdrawn from Senate consideration and a new round of negotiations would be sought with the Soviet Union with the United States taking a tougher stance.

PENTAGON: Defense spending would increase to an unspecified level to strengthen U.S. armed forces and to boost salaries and benefits for servicemen. Reagan opposes draft registration.

SUPREME COURT: A female justice would be appointed, subject to approval of the new Republican-controlled Senate.

AGRICULTURE: Reagan denounces President Carter's partial embargo of grain sales to the Soviet Union, saying it's unfair to ask farmers to bear the brunt of U.S. retaliation against the Soviet occupation of Afghanistan.

ENERGY: Reagan says the United States has an "abundance of energy" and all that is needed to produce more is to relax "unnecessary government regulations." He has called synthetic fuels and solar energy "unproven methods."

HEALTH AND HUMAN SERVICES: Reagan favors a constitutional amendment prohibiting abortions, even if paid for privately, and wants to prohibit use of federal money to pay for abortions, except to save life of the mother.

He opposes use of "forced busing" for school integration, favoring instead "magnet" schools and other voluntary methods of desegregation. He opposes mandatory national health insurance.

Reagan proposes that the welfare program be returned to the jurisdiction of states and local communities, which would receive block federal grants and could make their own rules on payment levels, work requirements and eligibility.

He also pledged to repeal Social Security earning limits for elderly, who now lose $1 in benefits for every $2 they earn above $5,000.

JUSTICE: Reagan says instead that laws which discriminate against women should be repealed, and he opposes ratification of the Equal Rights Amendment.

LABOR: Reagan favors a lower minimum wage for teen-agers.

TRANSPORTATION: Reagan opposes gasoline rationing and the national 55 mph speed limit.

TREASURY: Reagan pledges to balance the federal budget by 1983, and perhaps as early as 1982, and vows to cut federal spending at least 7 percent, and perhaps as much as 10 percent, by 1985 by weeding out waste, inefficiency and extravagance.

He pledged to seek a 30 percent cut in income tax rates for individuals, 10 percent a year for three years, along with accelerated depreciation for business.

Anti-Reagan Rally Staged At Berkeley

BERKELEY, Calif. (AP) — Campus activists who watched a rally against President-elect Ronald Reagan dwindle into a sit-in over a hodgepodge of university causes say they'll be back — and hope to build a new nationwide student movement.

Fifty-two people were arrested Wednesday as police dragged protesters out of a University of California administration building. On Tuesday, 3,000 people marched in the streets of Berkeley to protest Reagan's victory.

Protesters said they planned another rally today.

One demonstration "probably won't do anything. But more and more demonstrations are going to do something," said student Teresa Clarke. Others shouted they hoped to spark a student movement similar to that of 15 years ago.

"We're going to be doing this a lot," said satirist Stoney Burke, one of the protest organizers.

Campus police arrested 35 students and 17 others after a 5½-hour protest that moved from Sproul Plaza, site of anti-war rallies of the 1960s and early 1970s, to the campus ROTC building and then to the administration building, where 150 people occupied a stairwell.

The rally was called "to build an educational movement against Reagan... when Reagan reinstates the draft and begins to cut back social programs," said Joe Lambert of the Berkeley Progressive Students Organization.

Inside the occupied California Hall, dissidents handed out communist leaflets, denounced the campus ROTC — chanting "Hey, hey, ho, ho, ROTC has got to go!" — and demanded an end to the university's involvement in nuclear weapons research for the government, support for a campus child care center and increased Third World enrollment.

Iran Anticipates Delay

The deputy speaker of Iran's Parliament says he expects Ronald Reagan's election to delay U.S. acceptance of Iran's terms for freeing the 52 American hostages. But one of Reagan's chief aides said the president-elect would cooperate with President Carter in the effort to get the hostages released.

"Because Carter was already in office, we would have reached a solution faster if he were re-elected. With Reagan's victory this will need a long time," Hojatoleslam Musavi Khomeini said Wednesday in an interview with Greek television.

Reagan's campaign chief of staff, Edwin Meese, said the president-elect's staff would "work cooperatively with the present administration to provide for a continuity of government policy" and would "work out a way in which to cooperate in any fashion that might help our national interest and help in getting the hostages home."

Soviets Rebuff Carter

MOSCOW (AP) — The Soviet media said today that Ronald Reagan's landslide election victory reflected a widespread dissatisfaction among Americans with President Carter's policies—including his hostility toward the Soviet Union and his boycott of the Moscow Olympics.

"As for the U.S.S.R.," the radio said, "our country has always stood for the normalization and development of Soviet-American relations on the basis of the principles of peaceful coexistence."

Commentaries over the Soviet radio and the official news agency Tass explained the election results exclusively as a rebuff to Carter and gave no assessment of Reagan or his policies.

Among the policies Americans were said to have rejected, the radio listed the "arms race and Carter's renewed hostility towards the Soviet Union."

Though it took no position, the Kremlin was thought to favor Carter slightly because of his support for the SALT II treaty.

China Bestows Praise

PEKING (AP) — China praised President-elect Ronald Reagan today as a "moderate" and a "pragmatist" who wants friendly relations with Peking, military superiority over the Soviet Union, a more powerful U.S. image abroad and a less restrictive economy at home.

"Last fall Reagan mentioned several times the United States would re-establish official relations with Taiwan, arousing public opposition for his 'slip of the tongue'" China's leading newspaper, the People's Daily, said.

"But later, in his several speeches about China, he did not repeat the same thing and on the contrary stressed he was trying to develop friendly relations with the People's Republic of China."

"Reagan is a pragmatist and he is good at adapting and being flexible," the article continued. "During the election campaign he revised many of his conservative stands and has shown that he is actually a moderate."

A word on aspirin, strokes

By Lawrence Lamb, M.D.

DEAR DR. LAMB — My doctor says that all men over 40 years old should take two aspirin with breakfast and with the evening meal to help prevent strokes and heart attacks. I would like your comments pro and con.

DEAR HEADER — Why just take my word for it? The Food and Drug Administration has reviewed the available information and as of the last review does not recommend the regular use of aspirin to prevent strokes. They do recommend its use in men (not women) who have already had a stroke or TIAs (transitory ischemic attacks — sometimes called little strokes).

And from the National Institutes of Health a long study of aspirin to prevent recurrence of heart attacks has failed to show that aspirin is effective either. As a result the National Heart, Lung and Blood Institute "recommends have suffered a heart attack. Now, I don't think the last word on all of this has been heard. But for the moment there seems to be very little reason to recommend that anyone routinely take aspirin to prevent strokes or heart attacks — particularly if he has never had either. The amount that might be most effective and when to take it has not been settled. And I might add that the routine use of aspirin is not without some complications. This includes irritation of the digestive system.

The dangers of aspirin as well as its uses are included in The Health Letter number 8-8, Aspirin and Related Medicines, that I'm sending you. Other readers who want this issue can send 75 cents with a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope for it to me, in care of this newspaper, P.O. Box 7551, Radio City Station, New York, NY 10019. It also includes a list of common preparations you can buy without a prescription that contain aspirin.

Incidentally, the results of these studies I have cited here probably came out after your doctor had a chance to talk to you. DEAR DR. LAMB — I'm a 25-year-old female and have not had my period for six months when I stopped taking birth control pills. At that time I also lost about 25 pounds on a strict diet. A month after stopping the pill I had surgery and was sterilized with a tubal ligation. Since I am not interested in becoming pregnant, should I be worried that I have not had my period yet? Is there any benefit to a period? I also have started noticing gray hair. Is this related in some way? DEAR READER — Having a tubal ligation should not alter a woman's basic cycle. The ovaries should function just as they did before the surgery. I doubt that your failure to have menstrual periods at this time is related to your surgery. It could be related to basic hormone functions. These are really controlled by the brain. It might be related to taking the pill, but a better guess is that it is related to your marked weight loss. Severe dieting often upsets a woman's normal cycle. A menstrual period does not do anything beneficial for you but its absence suggests that you might have some basic abnormal hormone cycle function. It is worth a visit to the doctor for a check up. Your gray hair is not related to a tubal ligation. (NEWSPAPER ENTERPRISE ASSN.)

WASHINGTON (AP) — It was a bad year for the third parties, too. Like the Democrats, the also rans also limped.

But both the Libertarian Party, which thinks that government ought to limit its role to protecting the nation and fighting crime, and the Citizens Party, which thinks corporations have too much power, said 1980 established them as permanent fixtures on the political landscape. The Libertarian Party spent $3.2 million on its campaign for nominee Ed Clark, and had hoped to finish with "double digit" figures — at least 10 percent of the vote.

Clark always told reporters he would not win but he would get "millions of votes." He had to settle for about 880,000 votes, 1 percent of the total. He went back to his job Wednesday as a lawyer for the Atlantic Richfield Co. in Los Angeles.

Environmentalist Barry Commoner, candidate of the new Citizens Party, had hoped to win 5 percent of the vote, qualifying the Citizens Party for federal financing. But Commoner won only about 220,000 votes. He left Wednesday on a Caribbean vacation.

"We all thought we'd do a little better, but no one I've talked to is crushed," said Citizens Party spokesman Steve Dombroski.

The Citizens Party's big moment in the campaign came when it ran a network radio-commercial describing the campaigns of its big league competition — the Democrats and the Republicans — as "bullshit."

An uproar ensued, and the party flickered into the public eye for a moment. The Citizens Party represented a coalition of the remnants of the peace and environment movements. Commoner advocated ending "corporate control of the economy" and told followers Tuesday night the party now must become the rallying point for "progressive forces."

Both parties said they would be back with candidates for Congress in 1982. The Libertarians intend to nominate a candidate in every House and Senate race — something the Republicans and Democrats don't do.

"Our big accomplishment was building local organizations," said Libertarian spokesman Tom Palmer. "We knocked on eight million doors."

The Libertarians also managed to get on every ballot in America — the first third party since 1916 to achieve that. The Citizens Party was on the ballots of 29 states and the District of Columbia.

The Libertarians said they elected Mary Shell as mayor of Bakersfield, Calif., and two state legislators in Alaska.

But they had hoped to finish second in Alaska, behind Ronald Reagan and ahead of Jimmy Carter, a most unpopular figure in Alaska. They didn't.

Clark wound up with 12 percent of Alaska's vote — more than independent John Anderson's 7 percent, but less than Jimmy Carter's 31 percent or Ronald Reagan's 55 percent.

McGraw Latest 'Name' To Join Free Agent List

NEW YORK (AP) — LeFlore of the Montreal Expos and Dusty Baker of the Los Angeles Dodgers. Those three, along with McGraw and pitcher Don Sutton of the Dodgers should generate the most interest when the bidding begins.

McGraw, one of Philadelphia's postseason heroes and pinch hitting specialist Del Unser, who had a couple of big hits in the World Series, were the only Phillies to file. Kansas City signed infielder Dave Chalk Wednesday to retrieve him from the pool, leaving the American League champion Royals with four players on the list — catcher Darrell Porter, first baseman Peter LaCock, outfielder Jose Cardenal and pitcher Marty Pattin.

All clubs have until Monday to sign their potential free agents. After that, each team could still retain negotiation rights to their players, but only after the draft when up to 13 other teams could select and bid for them.

The only compensation awarded to teams losing players in next Thursday's draft are amateur draft choices. That remains a serious problem between the Players Association and the owners, who would like something more substantial. The conflict nearly resulted in a player strike last May.

WTC Resumes Cage Action

Western Texas College basketball teams resume play out of town tonight, and continue action through the weekend.

WTC's Westerners, the men's team, is in Mexico today for a two-game series with Juarez University. The team will play the hosts tonight and Friday; both games at 7:30.

Duster action picks up again Friday in Temple. The women challenge Blinn Junior College at 7:30 Friday, then stay over for another 7:30 game Saturday with Temple.

Both WTC squads are 2-0 for the season.

Gridders Take Spoilers Role

AREA-District 2-1A six-man teams near Snyder have a chance to play spoiler's roles this weekend along with the possibility of winding down their respective seasons on a positive note.

Ironically, this week's most interesting clash not only has no bearing on the district standings, but is between two winless squads.

Hermleigh and McCaulley tangle in McCaulley Friday night for what should determine the 2-1A cellar team. Coach Clarence Spieker's Hermleigh Cardinals have had two weeks to prepare for the tilt, and would appear to have the inside track.

"We're playing better," noted the coach, following a narrow loss to Borden County two weeks ago. "We still have enthusiasm out there and we're improving."

The only area six-man squad playing at home this weekend is Ira, which could conclude its season with a fine 7-3 record by defeating undefeated Trent on Friday.

The contest promises to be a high-scoring affair with two of the district's fleetest backs in Ira's Wade Pierson and Trent's Herbert Beaver. A victory by Ira — already out of the district race in theory — would put a crink in the Gorillas' title plans.

It is the season wind-up for the Bulldogs, who have next week, the final week of regular season play, open.

In the same role is Borden County, 5-3, which faces the loop's only other undefeated team, Highland, this week.

Victories at Highland this Friday, and against McCaulley next week, would give Coach Randy Roemisch's Coyotes a 7-3 finish. Not bad for a team which began playing six-man football for the first time in September.

Tigers-Panthers To Battle At Fort Stockton Friday

FORT STOCKTON — Snyder's Tigers venture west this weekend in hopes of tripping up a strong Fort Stockton Panther team.

The Panthers, 3-5 on the season, will be coming into the game with a 43-12 victory over Sweetwater last week.

"We've done an excellent job of catching everybody at their best this year," said Tiger Coach Mike Jenkins, whose team is 2-6. "I thought Monahans last Friday night was the finest team we've played. Fort Stockton had some problems early with turning over the football. They got beat 7-6, 10-7, 21-10... score like that, so they've played everybody real close. It looks like they've gotten things together the last two weeks."

The Panthers lost to No. 9 ranked Andrews 21-20 in the final 26 seconds of the game two weeks ago, then blasted Sweetwater last week.

Unlike most of the teams Snyder has faced this season, Fort Stockton does not have the reputation for throwing the ball well. The Panthers like to stick to the ground when possible.

"They are ground oriented, from the Wing-T," explained Jenkins. "They'll throw once, twice, maybe three times a game. At least that's been their pattern this year. They like to control the ball on the ground, and we don't look for them to change that. They do a good job of what they do," he added.

Starting quarterback Mike Roemisch, out with an illness last week, will return for the Tigers Friday, though sophomore Brent Beck will take some snaps also, noted the coach.

Other changes from last week will see Britt Vincent at split end, Echols experiencing only limited duty at tailback, and Ricky Elliott spelling Trey Harlin on the offensive line. Echols is still hampered by a sore knee, and Harlin has been sick all week.

To move the ball, Jenkins contends Snyder will "need to have some big plays. We're not going to fill the air with footballs or anything like that, but we may be a little more open this week. Fort Stockton has a very strong defense. We'll need to try to get the ball outside some and complete some passes."

Friday's game will be the first regular-season encounter between the Panthers and Tigers, though the two have scrimmaged each other in recent years.

"This will be the first time we've played them since I've been here and I think the first time ever," said Jenkins. "It would be good to start off with a winning tradition." Kickoff time is 8 p.m.

Hartenstine Fined; 'Spearing' Called

CHICAGO (AP) — Chicago Bears defensive end Mike Hartenstine has been fined $1,000 by the National Football League for his tackle of Philadelphia quarterback Ron Jaworski last month.

Hartenstine learned of the fine Wednesday. He avoided commenting on it, though, saying, "It doesn't matter what I think. I got the fine."

He said he would discuss with his attorney whether to appeal the fine. Under NFL rules, a fined player is entitled to a hearing, but the league's court of appeals is Commissioner Pete Rozelle, who also levies the fines.

The fine was levied for Hartenstine's helmet-first tackle of Jaworski in the Oct. 26 Bears-Eagles game. Hartenstine hit Jaworski between the shoulder blades with his helmet and hands.

"They claimed I used my helmet and my hands too vigorously," Hartenstine said. Jaworski missed the rest of the first half of the game and most of the second half because of what the Eagles said was a mild concussion. Jaworski played all the Eagles' game last Sunday.

Sideline Glances Picks...

Texas, Ira And Baylor

by Bill McClellan

Basketball season is one week old and already I've made my first mistake. My apologies to Cisco Junior College, which calls its teams the Wranglers and Wranglerettes — as an informative fan pointed out earlier this week — instead of the Bulldogs.

Where I got Bulldogs from is anybody's guess, but I have a feeling that it comes from the overlapping of football, volleyball and basketball. I'll get it straight soon though: All you gotta' do is remember punt, thump, dunk... football, volleyball, basketball.

Course there are those who will argue you thump a basketball, but...

Brutal is the word for last week's grid predictions. At least six upsets — the Lamesa-Pecos tie, Texas, Baylor, Arkansas among them — ravaged our pickers like harvest time in a blueberry patch.

Fortunately, I managed to survive well through the other major college games and the pros and hit my usual (by now boring) 14 right, 6 wrong...70 percent.

For the season then, it's 125 right, 55 wrong for a 694. Another correction, by the way: a recheck of the past shows my adding machine mis-calculated two of Mal Donelson's predictions. Those have been corrected this week.

Now, on with this week's nailbiters...

1. Snyder at Fort Stockton. If the Tigers can play four quarters as they played in the second half last week, they've got a good chance. My pick, obviously unpopular, is...PANTHERS 21, TIGERS 20. (PS: That column eating party is still on.)
2. Lamesa at Ector. The worst of two evils. Lamesa has upset Fort Stockton and tied Pecos this year. Who would YOU pick?...TIGERS 27, EAGLES 24.
3. Lake View at Monahans. The Chiefs are improving, but if Ramsey runs against Lake View like he did against Snyder, well...LOBOS 21, CHIEFS 14.
4. Sweetwater at Andrews. If there was a chance, injuries and two straight losses have ended Sweetwater's Cinderella season. Still, W.T. Stapler should be in line for Coach of the Year honors, despite...ANDREWS 24, SWEETWATER 21.
5. Hermleigh at McCaulley. I'm happy to announce: Clarence Spieker's bunch gets a well-deserved victory...CARDINALS 38, EAGLES 27.
6. Trent at Ira. Ira didn't let the hometown folks down last week when they could have folded after being knocked out of the district title race. Here's to the spoiler's role...BULLDOGS 42, GORILLAS 30.
7. Borden County at Highland. A fine year for the Coyotes as they go 6-4 for the season. Unfortunately, that includes a loss to Highland...HORNETS 45, COYOTES 28.
8. Arkansas at Baylor. Baylor is still on top in the SWC race. Last week's upset teaches a well-learned lesson...BEARS 21, HOGS 17.
9. Houston at Texas. The toughest one. I can't see the Longhorns losing three in a row, but if they play like they have the past two weeks, well...Pick it...TEXAS 21, HOUSTON 17.
10. SMU at Rice. Bowl talk is circulating and the Ponies are listening...SMU 35, RICE 21.
11. Texas Tech at TCU. Last week's win over Texas should buy the Red Raiders over the Horned Frogs...TECH 23, TCU 14.
12. USC at Stanford. Stanford's capable, but USC has already been upset once this year. Once is enough...USC 35, STANFORD 21.
13. Cincinnati at Oakland. Could go either way but Oakland needs victories to keep atop the AFC West with San Diego. Cincy's probably out of the running...RAIDERS 28, BENGALS 21.
14. Cleveland at Baltimore. Ditto for the Browns, though Baltimore is still in the AFC East race, too...CLEVELAND 21, COLTS 20.
15. Dallas at New York Giants. No need for comment...DALLAS 24, NEW YORK 14.
16. Denver at San Diego: CHARGERS 28, BRONCOS 27.
17. Detroit at Minnesota: LIONS 27, VIKINGS 24.

Are you worried about the high cost of heating?

The Kero-Sun Radiant 10 operates on clean burning, safe kerosene. Amazingly efficient, the Radiant 10 burns over 30 hours on less than 2 gallons of fuel, producing a remarkable 9,400 BTU hr (heating as much as 3,000 cu. ft.). This provides per hour heating method brings welcome relief from today's cost of heating 1/4 to 1/2 cost of equivalent electric heat. So stop shivering, start shopping for a Kero-Sun Radiant 10 heater.

Title Hunt Gains Fury In SWC This Weekend

DALLAS (AP) — When it comes to the unpredictable, last Saturday in the Southwest Conference would be tough to top. But nobody's making anymore predictions, certainly not with the four matchups slated for this Saturday.

The key games, as far as the conference race is concerned, are at Austin and Waco. With the right combination, Baylor could clinch a tie for the championship this Saturday.

That would come about with a Bear win over Arkansas in a regionally televised (ABC-TV) game from Baylor Stadium, and a Texas win over Houston at Memorial Stadium. Such would give Baylor a two-game lead with two to play.

But history shows that neither of those events will come easy. Baylor hasn't beaten Arkansas in Waco since 1963 (14-10), but has tied the Hogs twice at home since then.

Texas has beaten Houston in Austin only once (1953) out of four attempts. The other three have produced a tie and two losses for the Horns.

Baylor, ranked 16th this week, can tie its most wins since 1916 when Baylor won nine. The Bears are going for their eighth win of the year.

Houston, after its 1-3 start, has won four straight conference games and is alone in second place behind Baylor.

But the Cougars need to win their final three games and for Baylor to lose two out of its last three in order to make a third trip to the Cotton Bowl.

A Baylor-Houston co-championship would send the Bears to the Cotton Bowl, by virtue of Baylor's 24-12 win over Houston.

Rejuvenated Rice will be going to tie its most wins in a season since 1963, when the Owls finished 6-4. A win over SMU would be Rice's fifth victory of the year. The Owls won five in 1973 and 1970. SMU has already tied its most wins since 1972. A win Saturday would be the Mustangs' seventh and their most wins since the 1966 championship season.

In Fort Worth, Texas Tech comes from its win over Texas, visiting TCU. The Frogs are looking to break into the win column. They haven't beaten Tech at home in the last four tries but the Frogs still own a 13-6 edge over the Raiders in games at Amon Carter.

Texas A&M takes the weekend off before its battle at Arkansas next week.

Saturday's games in order of CST starting times with full-season and conference won-lost-tied records in parentheses:

ARKANSAS (4-3, 1-3 in SWC) at BAYLOR (7-1, 5-0 in SWC), 11:35 a.m. (CST (ABC-TV).

HOUSTON (5-3, 4-1 in SWC) at TEXAS (5-2, 2-2 in SWC), 1 p.m.

TEXAS TECH (4-3, 2-2 in SWC) at TCU (6-8, 0-5 in SWC), 2 p.m.

SMU (6-2, 3-2 in SWC) at RICE (4-4, 3-2 in SWC), 2 p.m.

Norton To Attempt His Comeback Friday

SAN ANTONIO (AP) — Former World Boxing Council heavyweight champion Ken Norton comes out of retirement Friday night for an expected slugfest with undefeated Randall "Tex" Cobb, a colorful character who has knocked out 16 of his 17 professional opponents.

"Randy is a very good fighter. He's young. He's tough. He's hard. He comes to fight. I'm in very good shape for the first time in three to four years. I'm ready to fight. I feel I have a lot to prove," Norton declared.

"I'm here to fight. Ken's here to fight. I expect a (bleep) good fight," said Cobb, at age 23 the WBC's 9th ranked heavyweight who enjoys shocking audiences with his salty language.

Both fighters boast a strong knockout punch going into the match billed as "The Battle of the Jawbreakers."

Norton, 32, who registered 33 knockouts en route to a 41-6-1 record, broke Muhammed Ali's jaw in 1973 in the first three meetings with the champion. Cobb broke Ernie Shavers' jaw in two places in his last fight on Aug. 2.

The main event is part of a boxing card assembled for the HemisFair Arena Friday night by Muhammed Ali Professional Sports which also will feature a 12-round match between San Antonio boxer

Felines Test Central Tonight

SAN ANGELO--Snyder's District 2-AAAA championship volleyball team takes on San Angelo Central in "practice" play here tonight at 6.

The contest serves as a warmup for the Felines, who are slated in the Region I Volleyball Tournament in Lubbock, Nov. 15.

Snyder girls are 28-1 on the season.

Mike Ayala, the North American Boxing Federation junior featherweight champion, and Javier Flores.

Two former Grambling football players, NABF heavyweight champion Leroy Jones and Lynn Ball, also will stage a 12-round title fight.

Also on the undercard are Olympian Tony Tubbs versus Ron Draper in a heavyweight match; Dandido Tellez of Mexico City against Candy Igelesias of Houston in a flyweight match, and Rocky Burke of Las Cruces, N.M., meets Billy Sanchez of San Antonio in a flyweight fight.

FREE! A BIG 8x10 COLOR PORTRAIT OF YOUR FAMILY WHEN YOU BUY DOWNY.

To have a big, beautiful, free, natural-color photograph taken of you and your family, don't say "cheese," say Downy.

All you have to do is buy a 64 oz. bottle of Downy® Fabric Softener. And you will get a free photograph from your nearest Olan Mills Photography Studio, recognized nationally for their outstanding family photography. The skilled, professional photographers at Olan Mills will take an 8 x 10 color photograph of you or your family.

Or — when you buy two 64 oz. bottles of Downy — Olan Mills will take an 11 x 14 color photograph. (Both sizes printed on Kodak® paper.)

Here are the details. To make an appointment, simply mail the postage paid postcard from the Downy/Olan Mills display at any participating store. An Olan Mills representative will call you at home to make an appointment, either for the nearest Olan Mills Studio or the Olan Mills Traveling Photographers. If the displays are not in the store, call toll-free, 1-800-251-7664 and 1-800-251-7665.

Offer starts September 1, 1980, ends March 1, 1981. So hurry and buy Downy.

You'll love what Downy does for your family's clothes. It rinses in skin-loving softness, April Freshness. Helps rinse away static cling.

Oh, and Mom, don't forget to get into the picture.

CARACAS, Venezuela (AP) — Hijackers forced a DC-9 Venezuelan AVENSA jet plane with 62 people aboard to Cuba today, a spokesman for the airline reported.

Tower Shuns Top Senate Job

WICHITA FALLS, Texas (AP) — Texan John Tower, who now ranks sixth among Republicans in the U.S. Senate, says he has no intention of seeking the post of majority leader, although he well could become head of the Armed Services Committee.

Tower, who enters his 20th year in the Senate in January, said Wednesday that position should go to the current minority leader, Sen. Howard Baker of Tennessee.

Republicans, who gained Senate domination in Tuesday's election, "are perfectly happy with the current leadership," Tower said Wednesday.

Tower, who has a "hawk" reputation in military affairs, was mentioned earlier this fall as a possible defense secretary under President-elect Reagan. But the senator said Wednesday he had not been contacted about any Cabinet position.

As chairman of the Republican Party platform committee before last summer's convention, Tower helped draft the defense stance used by Reagan and other office seekers. He said he would support that platform, including stiff increases in defense spending, in any future role.

"I think we need to build up our military strength," Tower said.

Tower is ranking minority member of the Armed Services Committee, chairman of the Republican Policy Committee and a member of the banking and rules committees.
