Little Legislation Predicted As Lame Duck Session Begins

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House and Senate returned for a lame-duck session today, but leaders predicted it will be brief and unproductive as lawmakers mark time for a new Congress more inclined to increase defense spending, cut taxes, permit prayer in public schools and ban abortions.

The first item on the Senate's agenda as it reconvened was a $9.57 billion appropriation bill for several federal departments, but key lawmakers said this and other spending measures may be shelved until the new Congress meets in January.

There were increasing indications, in fact, that the lame-duck session may do little more on a host of pending appropriations bills than pass an interim resolution to keep the government running until next year.

Republican Leader Howard H. Baker Jr. of Tennessee said just moments before the Senate opened its doors: "We should do as little as possible to take care of the housekeeping details. We might pass some of the appropriations bills, but it's my hope we can finish our essential business and be out by Thanksgiving."

Baker said he was optimistic that the Senate would, in fact, pass a $39 billion tax cut fashioned by the Finance Committee, but he conceded that would be a symbolic gesture which stands no chance of becoming law.

Though the Senate plan differs from the 10 percent tax cut proposed by Ronald Reagan, the president-elect has said he would accept its passage by the lame-duck session as a constructive step.

But while Baker and assistant Democratic leader Alan Cranston of California agreed the Senate may act upon the bill, there was little hope the House would follow suit.

"I'm not optimistic that the House will pass it, and I am almost certain that if it did, President Carter will not sign it," said Baker.

Ballot Recount Underway Here

A three-member crew this morning began recounting votes in the Nov. 4 general election for Scurry County Commissioner in Precinct 3.

The recount was ordered Tuesday by District Judge Wayland G. Holt following a formal request submitted by Charlie Yoast, incumbent commissioner.

Holt appointed Joan Bunch, deputy in the county clerk's office, John Boren, local insurance agent, and Dalton Walton of Walton Construction, to recount the ballots.

Yoast, a Democrat, who lost his race for re-election to Bernhard Bartels, a Republican, based on the unofficial returns, requested that the ballots in the precinct be hand-counted.

Following receipt of Yoast's request, Holt ordered that the ballots be counted again by machine and then be hand counted. The recounting process was expected to require several hours.

The Texas election code includes a procedure for recounts, with the cost assessed the person requesting the recount. Yoast was assessed a fee of $300 for his recount.

If his election is confirmed, Bartels will become the first Republican ever to hold a county or precinct office here, so far as could be determined.

If the recount should switch the victory to Yoast, he would begin his third term as Precinct 3 Commissioner on Jan. 1.

County commissioners were required to table their official canvass of the general election ballots, pending the outcome of the recount in the commissioner's race.

Course A Re-Run For Grad Of '33

For Nell Hale of Roscoe, graduating from the cosmetology program at Western Texas College on Nov. 11 was a re-run.

my grades were pretty low." She brought the grades up, however, and feels that she is now ready for the examinations.

Even though she completed the required 1,500 hours of training, she plans to continue attending classes until nearer the time for the trip to Austin to be sure she works at the required speeds.

Mrs. Hale will be employed by Muriel's Beauty Shop just east of Roscoe.

Cosmetology students at WTC attend class the year around to complete their training in a 12-month period.

Those interested in the program may contact the instructor, Judy Border, for further information. A new class is scheduled to begin Dec. 2.

Reply From U.S. Received By Iran

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP) — The U.S. reply to Iran's terms for freeing the 52 American hostages was delivered to the Iranian government in Tehran today, an aide to Iranian Prime Minister Mohammad Ali Rajai reported.

Rajai's office, reached by telephone from Beirut, gave no indication of the initial Iranian reaction.

American officials thought it might be several days before Iran made its next move.

The Iranian Parliament, the Majlis, discussed the hostage issue during its session today, Tehran radio reported, but it gave no indication on whether the deputies had been told the response was received.

One deputy, Fakhreddin Hijazi of Tehran, accused the United States of using delaying tactics to put off a solution to the crisis "in order to have an excuse to harm the Islamic republic of Iran," the radio said.

Meanwhile, in an unprecedented interview with an American radio station, Bruce Laingen, the senior U.S. envoy held hostage at the Foreign Ministry in Tehran, said he was fine and "We're anxious to leave, hopeful."

Clements Calls For Regional Primary

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — Gov. Bill Clements said today he will ask the 1981 Legislature to approve a five-state regional presidential primary for the 1984 elections.

Clements told a news conference he had talked with the governors of New Mexico, Oklahoma, Arkansas and Louisiana about the plan.

"With the possible exception of the governor of Arkansas, the others appear favorable to the concept. We have just started."

Clements said the proposal, which is being drafted as a state election law change, had been approved by Lt. Gov. Bill Hobby and Speaker Bill Clayton.

A. Following the opening of the new wing, there are plans to remodel the other wings, said hospital administrator Cy Miller. One by one, they will be temporarily shut down for remodeling, but they will not be permanently closed.

Space Mission Reaches Climax...

Voyager I Slips In For Peek At Saturn

PASADENA, Calif. (AP) — Voyager 1 swooped beneath the rings of Saturn today as it raced to an afternoon rendezvous with the golden planet after its camera, aimed point-blank at Titan, failed to penetrate the big moon's smoggy orange clouds.

But scientists, though denied a first-ever look at Titan's surface, reported intriguing hints of detail in the cloudy atmosphere and excitedly began processing a wealth of data from Voyager's nine other instruments, which explored the moon from scarcely 2,500 miles late Tuesday.

Hibbs said the ship, 947 million miles from earth as its three-year journey of exploration neared its climax today, was just 12 miles from the pre-planned bull's-eye as it skimmed past Titan.

Trustees Reject Policy On Bilingual Education

Snyder school trustees Tuesday night stopped short of adopting a written bilingual education policy, saying they preferred the informal program the school system now has.

Trustees did, however, approve a policy revision in regard to use of school auditoriums and school gymnasiums by non-school groups. Approved last night were the fees that are to be charged.

Trustees approved participation in the American Heritage Program, from which a tour will be organized in the spring. Students participating in the tour, it was decided last night, should be given an excused absence.

Meeting in regular session last night, the trustees quickly dispatched the bulk of a short agenda, but discussed at length the issue of bilingual education and the advisability of adopting a written policy on the matter.

Also approved was a textbook committee to select books for the 1980-81 school year. Serving on the committee are Ted Bigham, Sue Eiring, Laura Greene, Wayne Preston, Betty Richardson, Margie Martinez, Gayle Witte, Kav Echols, Timmie

The resignation of Carlota Melgar, a teacher's aide at East Elementary, was also approved.

Gulf Storm Routes Oilmen

MIAMI (AP) — Hurricane Jeanne, the November surprise of the tropical storm season, drifted westward in the Gulf of Mexico today, routing thousands of offshore oil rig workers, though still hundreds of miles from land.

The National Hurricane Center in Miami said the storm weakened slightly during the night and was packing top winds of 75 mph.

At 5 a.m. EST today, the storm was centered near latitude 24.0 north, longitude 89.0 west, about 400 miles south of New Orleans.

It was moving west at about 5 mph, forecaster Miles Lawrence said.

Oil companies began evacuating hundreds of workers from rigs and work barges in the Gulf of Mexico on Tuesday as the storm churned 450 miles south-southeast of New Orleans.

Forced Rescue Threatened

CAYO LOBOS, Bahamas (AP) — Policemen trying to evacuate 102 Haitians stranded on this tiny island for 39 days will use armed force if necessary to put the refugees on a boat to take them back to their home country, a Bahamian source said today.

The Haitians, who Tuesday met a rescue boat with sticks, stones, bottles, sharpened conch shells and pocket knives, have vowed to resist any efforts to take them anywhere but Miami, their destination when they sailed from Haiti in mid-September.

Blowout Prompts Evacuation

HOUSTON (AP) — An inactive well spewed methane gas over a residential area in South Houston, forcing firefighters to evacuate about 1,000 people from a trailer park, authorities said.

Fire department spokesman Bob Kuyn said the well erupted about 3 p.m. Tuesday as workers tried to plug it, but the incident was not reported until 2½ hours later.

Kuyn gave no explanation for the delay or what caused the well to blow out.

The SDN Column

We have heard more comment about fall foliage in this area this fall than ever before. Some believe the heavy frost we had a couple of weeks ago just happened to come at the right time to make the trees and shrubs put on their most colorful attire.

However, all of the information we have seen on this subject says that it is not the weather, but the amount of sunlight that causes leaves to change color and eventually give up and fall to the ground. Whatever the cause, it seemed to have more effect here this year than usual. And it has a tendency to put people in the mood for the holiday season that is just over the horizon.

Perhaps you have heard that the nine-digit Zip Code is headed our way. The current five-digit system identifies not only regions and cities, but also areas within cities. The nine-digit system, we are told, will pinpoint it down to street blocks.

The normal reaction is skepticism, of course. But then we should remember that numbers have been important to modern civilization. The telephone company and prison wardens have understood their advantages for a long time. There are a lot of young postal clerks who have never been to Walla Walla, or Truth or Consequences, but most of them have been through numbers up to 10.

In time, we may find it unnecessary to have places like Chicago and Pecos. They could be identified by using the numbers of Al Capone and Billy Sol, respectively. If that happened to be cities or towns that had not sent anyone to prison, they could convict someone to get their own number. Motion picture producers recognized the value of numbers when they proclaimed Bo Derek a perfect "10." But they obviously never realized how many more points could be covered if they assigned her a nine-digit Zip. And they could add an area code to putting icing on the cake.

There are other postal problems that make numbers inviting. How could they possibly deliver mail to hundreds of Navy ships operating in waters around the world and moving hundreds of miles per day? The answer is, of course, numbers. The Zip can take the place of the FPO. And then perhaps we will encounter the slogan, "A slip of the Zip can lose a ship."

Inspired sayings like that tend to catch on, and we shouldn't be surprised to hear someone in the future say, "They that go down to the sea in Zips."

And surely, if the occasion ever arises, there will be some admiral who will shout, "Don't give up the Zip." This may sound like a lot of nonsense; but still, a personal Zip Code Number could be an ego builder.

infertile thinking

British author, critic and journalist Malcolm Muggeridge once commented that he knew the world had gone mad when he heard of the hoopla made over the first successful "testtube baby" birth in a year in which a million abortions were performed.

Muggeridge's observations seem appropriate in light of an announcement that National Institutes of Health researchers have created an operation to cure infertility caused by blocked Fallopian tubes.

There is an inherent human vanity in us that causes us to want to carry on our lines. We wish to pass on our genes to posterity, but how many of us really possess any traits so rare and valuable that society would suffer if we did not bear children? Even if we have such characteristics, there is no guarantee that the genes for them will be present in our children.

On the other hand, we can teach traits of character and behavior to adopted children. The degree to which a child's potential intelligence is realized is influenced by environment. An intelligent couple can see to it that its adopted children will learn to use more of their innate ability than might otherwise be the case.

With untold numbers of potential lives being tossed away, does it make sense to spend invaluable research time and huge amounts of money to cater to human vanity?

Regardless of one's opinion of abortion, it must surely seem absurd to spend fortunes on abortions on women who wish to dispose of the fetuses they are carrying while scientists labor to make it possible for other women to produce children.

unnecessary crisis

Americans are notorious for their unwillingness to recognize a serious national problem until it practically overwhelms them.

Consider energy. Now there is another such problem: nonfuel minerals dependence. The country imports more than 90 percent of some of the most important minerals, many of them from countries with unstable or unfriendly governments.

Alexander M. Haig, Jr., president and chief operating officer of the United Technologies Corporation, points out that if southern Africa aligned with Moscow, the U.S.S.R. would control as much as 90 percent of several key minerals for which no substitutes have been developed.

"The loss," he says, "could bring the severest consequences to the existing economic and security framework of the free world."

The irony is that the United States has the capability to become nearly self-sufficient in certain of these strategic minerals. Alaska, for example, has vast resources, yet the administration and Congress have chosen to bar mining in areas of great potential.

Clearly, the nation urgently requires a comprehensive nonfuel minerals policy designed to reduce its vulnerability. Long overdue, such a policy should feature an all-embracing resource program. It should stimulate the domestic mining industry, including opening up more federal lands to minerals development, bring the strategic stockpile up to established goals and develop substitutes for critical minerals in short supply here.

Mineral dependency is too important an issue to ignore until it becomes a crisis.

my turn

You don't hear much about plants anymore—not that houseplants aren't still popular, it's just that the "houseplant craze" has died down.

I remember when it first hit—I was a college freshman living in the dorm. One day a large truck stopped outside of the dorm and thousands (it seemed) of upperclassmen jumped from the truck, dragging in all of these dead looking things called houseplants.

Soon the dorm looked like a jungle—you took your life in your hands everytime you went downstairs, never knowing where a plant would be lurking to poke or scratch you with a branch.

At first I was very irritated with the idea. I had to be careful everywhere I walked so I would not be accused of "murdering" one of the precious "babies."

The dorm mother said the reason the plants did so well was because the girls had quit studying with their boyfriends and had begun to study with the plants. All that education was wasted on boyfriends anyway, she said, but it made the plants more beautiful.

Into the second semester, I finally caught that craze, although anything I had ever tried to grow before had died. It began when a friend gave me a small Prayer Plant—the one where the leaves fold up at night.

For once, something I tried to grow lived. It grew and grew. And I got enough confidence to try my hand at other plants, and before I knew it, I had the plant craze.

I had to miss classes because one of my "babies" were sick. Dates were cancelled because I couldn't find a "sitter." I even had to quit going home on weekends because my plants tired out so easily.

"There's an old saying, 'Love me, love my child.'" I took this to mean "love me, love my plants," so when I married, my husband agreed that the plants could come too. My only regret was that my mother simply refused to allow my plants to be in my wedding.

At the time I married, I only had 10 plants. But this number was not enough and I found myself compelled to add to my collection. A casual stroll through the plant shop would find my basket filled with plants. It got so that I couldn't go to the grocery store anymore, because all I bought were plants, pots, soil and plant food.

My husband complained because I talked to the plants more than I did him—that I spent more time "preparing" their food than I did his.

I went to a trusted friend for help in breaking my compulsion. My friend, a long time plant enthusiast, said that she had had a similar experience. She told me that I had to relax, or soon my plants would begin to rebel. She said that plants were like people, they could be "mothered" to death. She said that if I didn't slow down and give my plants some "growing" room, they would rebel, turn brown and yellow, develop rot, and yes, even die.

That did it. I began to relax and not fuss over my plants as much. Oh, I still cared for them, fed them, watered them, repotted them and I don't lie about my age on my driver's license.

I don't tell my dentist I floss when I don't.

So how come I have trouble looking honest?

Ever see me going through customs? You can't miss me. I always look like a poodle who has just missed the paper.

I intend you can always tell when a person is lying. He looks you directly in the eyes and with a sincerity that belongs in the pulpit says, "You can believe me." Maybe it's because people have more riding on a lie than they do on the truth.

I try too hard with the truth...especially when I bear the burden of it.

When my husband asks, "How did that dent get in the car door?" I approach the car like a bullfighter with irregularities...a little stiff-legged, a little hesitant. Don't be too quick to find the spot...nor too dumb to recognize it when you see it. Now, run fingers over it slowly, clear throat, and say in an even voice, "I don't know. This is the first time I've noticed it. Who could have done such a thing? I didn't do it! I certainly would have remembered. Did someone say I did it? They lie!

Don't talk too much. Go for more indignation. "That's a terrible thing to do and then run." Look him in the eyes. He's getting suspicious. "I suppose I could have done it, but..." Ten minutes later, I am making a full confession for something I didn't do.

I've seen honest people wrestle with the problem for years—people who feel like Jack the Ripper because they mistook a $1 for a $5 when they paid their bill, or who were stopped going through airport security for a piece of foil wrapped around their gum.

My Armageddon occurs when my charge is called in for verification. It only takes three or four hours, but it seems longer. First, I try to look bored like it's just a formality. Then in a move of self-assuredness I begin arranging the package under my arm like it's only a matter of seconds. When the salesperson is not looking at me, I search her eyes for some sign of panic or mistrust. My eyes lack coordination (like Marty Feldman) and my throat becomes dry. Sometimes I hum. If I have to go to the credit office, will I

NEW YORK (AP) — In the past six years, through mid-August of this year, the Standard & Poor's 500 stock index more than doubled in value. The Value Line indicator, an even broader measurement, tripled.

More recently, the S&P had gained 34 percent and the Value Line 47 percent from their March lows. Even the Dow Jones industrial index had moved up 27 percent or 200 points since April.

Gains by individual stocks have been even more impressive. From spring lows to recent highs, hundreds of issues have risen 50 percent or more. In a year, at least 300 New York Stock Exchange issues doubled.

This is the foreword to Merrill Lynch's most recent compilation of "Unrecognized Values in Today's Market," a report that some investors believe will go far toward correcting any undervaluations.

Despite the big gains, despite the constant risks, despite the state of the economy — all of which the ML analysts dutifully warn about — there are still values to be found, according to the report.

Thirty-two of them, in fact, beginning alphabetically with Albertsons, Arizona Bank, Baldwin-United, Best Products, Cabot Corp., Church's Fried Chicken, Control Data, Crown Cork and Seal and R.R. Donnelley.

Family Dollar continues the list, followed by Golden West Financial, G. Heileman Brewing, Host International, Lear Siegler, Lennar Corp., Littig Industries, Mission Insurance Group and Morrison Inc.

Two Washington state companies, Pay 'N Pak Stores and Pay 'N Save, are added to the compilation, as are Pennzoil Co., Pitney Bowes, Southwest Air, Sperry Corp., Trinity Industries and United Energy Resources.

And completing the list are U.S. Air, U.S. Bancorp., Valley National Bank, West Company, Whittaker, and Zurn Industries.

"Individual stocks may be undervalued for any number of reasons," says Anna Merjos, vice president, and she lists some:

1. Disappointing earnings could preclude significant market interest, even though the situation is temporary.

2. The market may have failed to recognize that certain conditions that previously affected a company's standing in the marketplace have been corrected. A company might have changed management or policies.

3. Prices for individual issues cap suffer from sheer neglect or unpopularity among investors.

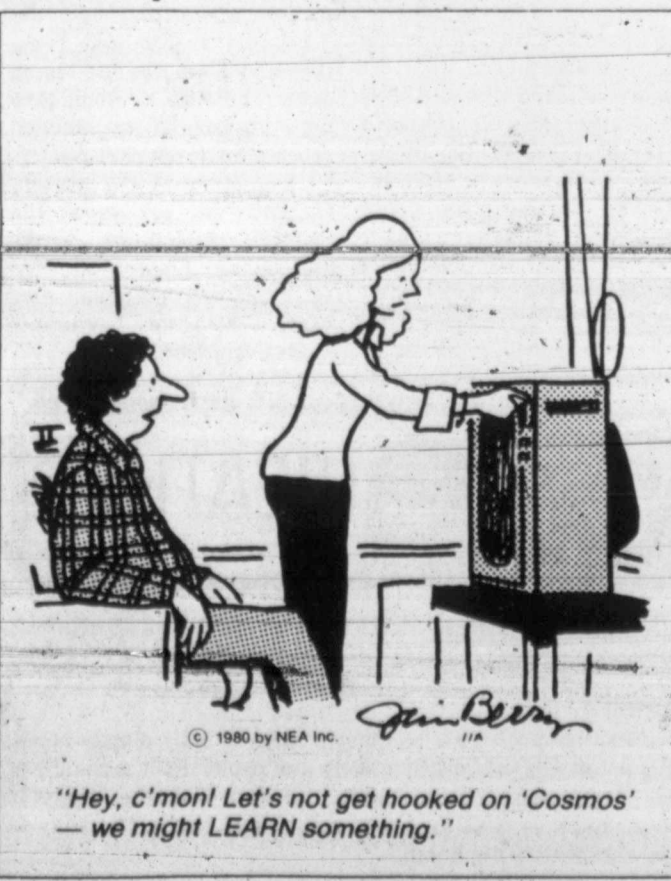

4. Even though the price of a stock may have moved up sharply, the market may not yet have given full recognition to its underlying value and potential.

This list is being used by Merrill Lynch brokers and some of their customers too. Merrill Lynch is a huge operation with enormous market power. Its advice can have a decided impact on prices.

Therefore, anyone using this list as a guide would be advised to check the extent of price changes that might already have occurred over the past several weeks.

Berry's World

A disturbing headline appeared in the New York Times recently:

"Saudis, rebuffed by Carter, warn they may go elsewhere for arms."

The story, in brief, is that Saudi Arabia has requested bomb racks for the 60 F-15 fighters it has ordered from the United States and Washington has turned it down. A contradictory response, it might appear, considering that Washington has already demonstrated its concern at Saudi Arabia's exposed position in the warring Mideast by agreeing to provide, at Saudi request, four electronic surveillance planes.

The explanation is that the latter planes do not have offensive capability, the former do. The prospect of employment of bomb-equipped F-15s by a hostile Arab state is strenuously opposed by Israel, for whose exposed position Washington has equal concern.

So what else is new? The United States is, once again caught between the contradictory interests of two mutually antagonistic clients. It happens all the time.

True, except that here we have an especially insightful instance of how convoluted the Mideast situation has become.

Back to that headline, where is the "elsewhere" the Saudis might have in mind? Usually, the word is immediately understood to mean the Soviet Union, and it is used deliberately to shake up the war-game players in Washington (or in much less frequent employment by a Soviet client, it means the United States, with the Kremlin expected to be seized by a similar spasm.)

Not in the case of the super-conservative Saudis, however. They have in mind another "elsewhere" with which they and some of their neighbors are already well acquainted.

France. The French already have contracted to provide the Saudis with $3.5 billion worth of small warships and coast-defense equipment, and they have just signed an agreement for training and equipping of Saudi security forces. They are natural as an alternative arms source for the Saudis and others.

France is, after the two superpowers, the world's third-ranking arms supplier and far and away the most active in the go-go Mideast market. It has already supplied belligerent Iraq with some $2 billion worth of sophisticated equipment and more is reported in the pipeline, including rockets, field guns and possibly Mirage jets.

The French are proving themselves to be very much friends in need for the Iraqis at a time when the latter's traditional suppliers, the Soviets, appear to have turned down, if not completely off, the flow of arms.

For the French, it is part pure business and part sharp politics. Paris apparently sees the regime in Baghdad as destined to emerge from the present upheaval as the strongest presence in the area, and it wants to be in with a winner.

BARBS

Phil Pastoret

Going for broke is about the only way most of us can afford to travel these days.

One of the first signs of spring is the first delayed payment due on the snow blower you bought last January.

For a kid to look up to you these days, he has to be much shorter than most of 'em seem to be.

Count chickens before they're hatched and you're a natural to become a stock speculator.

Social security lies in having the only wide-screen TV in your neighborhood.

Always keep both feet on the ground and the rest of the parade will pass you by.

But it raises some disturbing prospects. If the Iranian war drags on, it could increasingly become a contest between French and American arms, with what's left of the Iranian military establishment is equipped. Particularly so if release of the Tehran hostages brings a resumption of flow of U.S. material to Iran. That is a situation that could have embarrassing repercussions within the Western alliance, such as it is.

It is, however, a situation Western arms sellers have brought upon themselves, and it could be even worse for one of them.

Suppose Saudi Arabia, for all its skill to date in dodging actual involvement during more than three decades of intermittent Mideastern conflicts, is drawn into the present war on the side of Iraq. That would mean Saudis with the latest in U.S. weapons fighting Iraqis with the latest in U.S. weapons, or close to it.

Now that's disturbing.

Benjamin Blackburn Chapter Honors Charter Founders

Members of Benjamin Blackburn Chapter of the National Society Colonial Dames of the XVII Century of Abilene assembled at the Westwood Club for the annual luncheon honoring chapter founders.

Josie Baird, chapter president, presided.

Delila Baird gave a brief report on the meeting of the National Board of Management held in Washington, D. C., in October. The meeting was in the headquarters building of the society and was attended by the Misses Bairds who are serving as national co-chairmen of the committee on Heraldry and Coats of Arms.

A candle lighting ceremonial honoring charter members of Benjamin Blackburn Chapter was conducted by the president, who read the names of those being remembered. All charter members are now deceased.

Names of living members of the chapter were read by chapter registrar, Delila Baird. Each member present responded to the roll call with statements relating to the life and services of her colonial ancestor.

The chapter charter, signed by the organizing members, was on display. Also shown was a picture of the ship and information concerning Benjamin Blackburn for whom the chapter is named.

Muffins Offer Fiber As Fun To Eat

By Aileen Claire NEA Food Editor

An enjoyable way to add a reasonable amount of additional fiber to the diet is by eating more bran, in cereals and included in desserts.

An orange bran muffin for breakfast or tucked into the lunch bag for work or school lunches offers fiber in a fun-to-eat form.

- ORANGE BRAN MUFFINS
- 1 1/2 cups shreds of wheat bran cereal
  - 1/2 cup milk
  - 1/2 cup orange juice
  - 1 egg
  - 1/3 cup soft shortening
  - 2 teaspoons grated orange rind
  - 1 1/3 cups unsifted all-purpose flour
  - 1/2 cup sugar
  - 2 1/2 teaspoons baking powder
  - 1/8 teaspoon

baking soda
1 teaspoon salt

In large bowl combine shreds of wheat bran cereal, milk and orange juice. Let stand 2 minutes. Add egg, shortening and orange rind. Beat well. In small bowl mix together flour, sugar, baking powder, baking soda and salt.

3/4 full. Bake in 400-degree oven 30 minutes or until cake tester inserted in center comes out clean. Serve warm. This kitchen-tested recipe makes 12 muffins. (NEWSPAPER ENTERPRISE ASSN.)

By Oswald Jacoby and Alan Sontag

The bidding in the box shows one way for South to get to four spades. A simpler way would be for North to give an immediate raise will his bad hand and four spades.

Some Souths will be playing spades at the one level, but the way to make four spades is instructive.

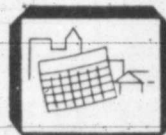

South must start by playing a low heart from dummy at trick one. This stops any further heart leads.

West makes his best shift. The singleton trump. South wins in his hand, leads a second trump to dummy's jack and plays a diamond.

East continues the best defense by going right up with the ace and leads a second diamond.

South wins with the king, ruffs his last diamond for the final entry to dummy and leads a club. East plays low.

The declarer must now guess whether to finesse with the queen or the 10. He does have better than a guess. East has passed in second seat and has been shown to have two aces. He is not likely to have a king in reserve, so South plays the 10 and makes 10 tricks. (NEWSPAPER ENTERPRISE ASSN.)

Lawrence E. Lamb, M.D.

Preventing swelling

By Lawrence Lamb, M.D.

DEAR DR. LAMB — I got in an argument with my neighbor lady about using ice or heat for an injury. I say put ice on a sprained ankle or injury and she says you should use heat. Which is right?

DEAR READER — Both. But it makes a difference when. Most authorities today agree that you should use cold applications intermittently for the first two days. After that if there is swelling or soreness a heating pad may be useful. I must point out that it is unwise to put an injured foot in an ice bucket, in part because of the position involved.

For an injury, position is everything in preventing swelling. Fluid runs downhill and if the injury is level with or below the heart level, the swelling will increase.

Look at your hand a minute: let it hang down. Notice how the veins pop out. If one of those veins was damaged, the blood would be pouring out under the skin. Now hold your hand up before your eyes and look at the veins on the back of your hand. Notice how they collapse. The empty veins will not leak much blood under the skin.

So the first rule in preventing swelling from an injury is get it up above the heart as quickly as possible and keep it up.

Properly applied external pressure also helps to prevent fluid accumulation in the surrounding tissues. Cold, heat, position and pressure are all discussed in greater detail in The Health Letter number 11-6, Swelling: Causes and Management, that I am sending you. Others who want this issue can send 75 cents with a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope for it to me, in care of this newspaper, P.O. Box 1551, Radio City Station, New York, NY 10019. You and your neighbor can read it and bury the hatchet — not in each other.

DEAR DR. LAMB — In the past several months I have been having an unusually heavy flow with my period. What could be causing this? Is this something I should have checked and can it lead to an anemia? Could it be a sign of menopause?

DEAR READER — One of the bits of medical knowledge that every woman should know is that if she has unexplained bleeding or some marked increase in bleeding, she should seek attention from a physician at once. There are a lot of causes for increased bleeding. It can be from a little fibroid tumor in the lining of the uterus. It can be from hormone imbalances such as might occur at the time of the menopause. And, unfortunately, unexplained bleeding and increased bleeding sometimes signals an abnormal change in the lining of the uterus which can be associated with an increased likelihood of cancer. That's why anyone with unexplained bleeding must have an immediate examination.

I don't mean to frighten you but there's so much that can be done if cancer of the uterus is detected early. In 1980 there will only be about 3,200 deaths from endometrial cancer although there will be as many as 38,000 new cases. Cancer of the cervix and endometrium are as frequent today as ever but there were only 10,842 deaths from both in American women in 1977. In 1930 there were five times as many deaths. That's real progress.

The schooner Marie Celeste was found off the Azores on Dec. 5, 1872, with no one on board. The ship had left New York five weeks earlier with a crew of seven, a captain and his wife and baby, and was in seaworthy condition. The boarders found the Celeste in perfect order, with washing on the clothesline and money in the captain's safe. The mystery was never explained. The last entry in the ship's log, written 10 days earlier, showed no signs of distress or mutiny.

Chevron energy report:

A giant U.S. gas discovery in a "driller's graveyard"

It took millions of dollars to find it, many millions more to make use of it.

Chevron's profits made it possible.

Chevron has discovered what could prove to be one of the largest natural gas fields in the U.S. The find was near Carter Creek, Wyoming — once considered a "driller's graveyard" because of countless unsuccessful drilling efforts.

But finding the gas was just the beginning because much of it is "sour" gas — unusable without special processing.

So, along with enormous sums for drilling a number of deep costly wells, Chevron will be spending $360 million to build a highly advanced processing plant, capable of converting "sour" gas into "sweet" gas, usable in hundreds of thousands of homes.

Chevron's profits plus other cash from operations are helping to provide the energy America needs.

Signs Don't Daze Sex Seekers

CHICAGO (AP)—Patti and Frank DiNunzio dismantled the peep-show cubicles in the kitchen, painted over the orange walls, posted two dozen no-trespassing signs and moved in. But their home's reputation as a house of ill repute lives on.

"We didn't think it would still be this bad," said Mrs.

DiNunzio, 28. "Never a day passes that we don't get at least one caller. We have to keep the door locked or they walk right in."

Despite the irrepressible sex-seekers who pound on the door of the DiNunzios' rented home at all hours, the couple plans to stay in the one-time bordello.

"We've done a lot of work here, the rent is low and the house is roomy. We can save enough in a couple of years to buy our own home," Mrs. DiNunzio said.

She and her husband, a 27-year-old self-employed carpenter, got a low rental deal from a real estate company in exchange for remodeling the house's interior. Located in an unincorporated part of the northwestern Chicago area, it previously had been rented by an "artist" who advertised it as "The Professionals."

"Before we moved in last January, Frank would be working in the house at night and there would be knocks on the door as soon as the lights went on," she said. "In the first month after we had moved in, we would get an average of 10 cars a day and as many as two dozen on Sundays."

"They still come, paying no attention to the 24 signs we have posted in the front yard, on the garage, on trees down the long driveway and on the front door, showing it is now a private residence," she said.

"Our daughter, Catrina Marie, is only 6 months old, and I remember getting up at night with her and seeing cars parked with guys staring at the house," said Mrs. DiNunzio.

Kennedy On Top Of Conservative Hit List In '82

WASHINGTON (AP)—One week after helping pick off four of the Senate's leading liberals, the National Conservative Political Action Committee is setting its sights on 20 senators up for re-election two years off. At the top of the list: Sen. Edward M. Kennedy.

The conservative organization, one of the richest right-wing political action groups and one of the largest with 250,000 members nationwide, also said Tuesday it may broaden its efforts in 1982 to include the House as well as the Senate.

"Liberals ought to be very intimidated by the mood of the American public," said NCPAC Chairman John T. Dolan in assessing last week's election.

The group spent $1.2 million this year, and Dolan said it may spend more than $2 million in the 1982 Senate campaigns. NCPAC, like other independent political action groups, can pour millions of dollars into campaigns as long as it has no contact with the candidates they're backing.

Four of the six Democratic senators targeted by NCPAC in last week's elections were defeated — Frank Church of Idaho, George McGovern of South Dakota, Birch Bayh of Indiana and John Culver of Iowa. Sens. Alan Cranston of California and Thomas Eagleton of Missouri survived.

In 1982, Dolan said, the group probably will pick more than six Senate races from the list of 20 to actually work for an incumbent's defeat. He said the final choice will be based on the candidates' vulnerability and voting records.

NCPAC has dubbed Kennedy "the most extreme liberal" in the Senate.

A year ago, when Kennedy was running for the Democratic presidential nomination, the conservative group set up a "Kennedy Truth Squad" and ran newspaper advertisements in Boston and Washington to draw public attention to its criticisms of the Massachusetts senator.

Following Kennedy on the list of potential targets in 1982 are Democrats Donald W. Riegle Jr. of Michigan, Howard M. Metzenbaum of Ohio, Paul S. Sarbanes of Maryland, Harrison Williams of New Jersey and Henry M. Jackson of Washington.

The list also includes three Republican senators — Robert T. Stafford of Vermont, John Chafee of Rhode Island and Lowell Weicker of Connecticut.

Dolan said his group also may go after such key liberal Democrats in the House as majority leader Jim Wright of Texas, Morris K. Udall of Arizona and Phillip Burton of California.

The other potential Senate targets, all Democrats, are Quentin Burdick of North Dakota, Daniel Patrick Moynihan of New York, John Melcher of Montana, Spark Matsunaga of Hawaii, William Proxmire of Wisconsin, Robert Byrd of West Virginia, James Sasser of Tennessee, Howard Cannon of Nevada, Dennis DeConcini of Arizona, Lloyd Bentsen of Texas and Lawton Chiles of Florida.

NCPAC measured its potential targets by several criteria, including support for the Panama Canal treaties and federal aid to New York City and whether they opposed the SALT II treaty and the B-1 bomber.

PLAQUE FOR NORTHERN ELECTRIC—Dave Utterbach, national blanket buyer for Sears, presents a plaque to Earle Maxwell, Northern Electric Co. blanket division manager. The Sears Symbol of Excellence plaque was presented at Northern's Waynesboro, Miss., plant for excellence of merchandise supplied to Sears during the past year: Northern Electric Co. has been a Sears supplier for more than a quarter of a century, with five plants in Mississippi and one in Snyder.

Sears Awards Plaque To Northern Electric

Special recognition went to employees and management of Northern Electric Co., a division of Sunbeam Corp., Waynesboro, Miss., recently for the excellence of merchandise supplied to Sears during the past year.

Dave Utterbach, Sears national blanket buyer, presented a Sears Symbol of Excellence plaque to Northern Electric Co., which manufactures electric blankets for the company, at a special ceremony.

Northern Electric Co., which has five manufacturing plants in Mississippi and one in Snyder, with corporate headquarters in Laurel, Miss., has been a Sears supplier for over 25 years.

Utterbach explained Northern Electric Co. was selected for the Sears Symbol of Excellence by a committee representing the company's retail stores, catalog plants, national service department, quality control personnel and Sears Laboratories. The committee screened nominations from the company's 50 buying departments.

"This award is our salute to those suppliers who have, through their excellence, made significant contributions to Sears reputation for quality merchandise," Utterbach said. "It also recognizes each employee for his or her contribution to the superior performance of the plant in such matters as shipping goods on schedule, and initiative in developing new and improved merchandise."

The award is one of more than 600 Sears is presenting this year to suppliers judged most outstanding among its 12,000 merchandising sources. The plaque was accepted by Earle Maxwell, Blanket Division Manager, Northern Electric Co., on behalf of the entire plant personnel.

"We will continue to strive to make the best quality product at the cheapest price," Maxwell said.

Five-Year Term Levied

A five-year prison sentence was handed down yesterday in 132nd District Court.

Sentenced was Dorotheo Collazo Jr., North Ave. T. He was charged with possession of a controlled substance following a drug raid July 29. He pleaded guilty to the charge.

An identical charge against his wife, Aracelia Sally Collazo, was dismissed.

Hasten Earl Nelson, 2807 Ave. K, received a two-year probation and a $500 fine on a criminal mischief case. Nelson is alleged to have vandalized a car Sept. 20 owned by Robert Brazier.

Also dismissed yesterday was a theft charge against Anthony Boyd Morrison, also known as Anthony Price. Morrison, no current address available, was charged with writing a $1,560 check to Allen Brothers' Motor Co. Oct. 1 that was backed by insufficient funds. The dismissal was requested by the complaining witness, court records show.

Dear Abby

Law's Long Arm Can Slap Lady's Butterfingers

By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: My whole family is so frustrated and upset we don't know what to do, so we're writing to you. My sister, who is a cheerleader, was told to come to school prepared to have her picture taken with the other cheerleaders.

Mom gave Sis the 14-karat gold necklace to wear because she thought it would look nice for the picture. She gave Sis orders not to take it off. The necklace was a Christmas gift from Dad and cost $80.

Well, just before the picture was taken, the woman in charge of the cheerleaders' pictures told Sis she wasn't allowed to wear the necklace for the picture. Sis said she wasn't allowed to take it off, so this woman took it off her and held it while the pictures were being taken.

After the pictures were taken the woman couldn't find the necklace. She said she must have dropped it. All the cheerleaders helped Sis look. The lady also looked, and so did the photographer. Nobody could find it.

When Mom found out about it she was heartbroken. She went to the field, got on her hands and knees, searched for 2 1/2 hours and couldn't find it. Then she called the lady in charge. She just said she was sorry, all she could give Mom was $15 toward replacing the necklace.

Who is responsible for the necklace? We are totally lost. Can we sue this lady in small claims court?

FRUSTRATED

DEAR FRUSTRATED: The woman who took the necklace for safekeeping is morally responsible for its return or replacement. You could threaten to sue her. (A threat sometimes produces results.) But I suggest that you talk to a lawyer first.

DEAR ABBY: A reader asked if a hostess should ask her guests if they want refreshments, or should she go ahead and serve something.

While your response was adequate, I think a more appropriate response would have been one my momma used to use.

"Ah gezunte geëbt min. Ah kranker fregt min." I may not have spelled it right, but I think you will understand what it means.

MILTON SCHMERZLER, SANTA BARBARA, CALIF.

DEAR MILTON: I understand it perfectly. Your momma and my momma must have gone to the same school. And for those who require a translation, it means: "A healthy person you give. A sick one, you ask."

DEAR ABBY: NEEDS A BREAK, the wife and mother who wanted a week's vacation alone at the beach, is doing things backward.

Instead of going to the beach by herself, and then having to spend three weeks cleaning up the mess at home made by her husband and children in her absence, she should send them to the beach and have a glorious, restful week at home.

For my birthday present one year, my husband took my children camping for three days. I had a great time, doing exactly what I wanted to, when I felt like it, and I was as glad to see them come home as they were to see me again.

We were all revitalized and appreciated each other more after that.

Policy Reversals Sought By Conservative Group

WASHINGTON (AP) — A conservative research group with ties to the head of Ronald Reagan's transition team is urging the new Republican administration to halt affirmative action to increase hiring and promotion of blacks, women and minorities discriminated against in the past.

A task force put together by the Heritage Foundation is recommending policy reversals and sweeping executive orders to stop the federal government from advocating cross-district school busing for integration, from bringing suit to boost minority and female enrollments in professional schools, and ultimately from even gathering employment data by race, sex or ethnic origin.

The group called the Civil Rights Division is the "most radicalized" element of the Justice Department.

The Reagan staff neither developed the proposals nor has it endorsed the ideas. But Reagan said during the campaign that he opposed school busing to achieve integration and quota systems for minorities, although he endorsed limited preferences for minorities among equally

'Rights' Fight Planned Soon

CHICAGO (AP)—James "Quick" Tillis of Chicago and South American champion Domingo D'Elia clash Thursday night for the right to meet Mike Weaver for the World Boxing Association heavyweight title.

Former WBA light heavyweight champ Mike Rossman of Turnersville, N.J. will take on Luke Capuano of Chicago in the other main fight on the six-bout card.

Weaver, who defeated Gerrie Coetzee in South Africa on Oct. 26 to win the WBA title, is expected to be the main attraction at the International Amphitheatre for the 12-round Tillis-D'Elia fight.

D'Elia, 28, of Santa Fe, Argentina, is currently rated the No.3 contender by the WBA, while Tillis, 23, is rated fifth. Rossman is the 10th-ranked light heavyweight contender and Capuano, at 27 three years older than his opponent, is unranked.

D'Elia and Rossman both said they were not bothered by the prospect of fighting before their opponent's hometown fans.

"No problem," said D'Elia, 23-1-3, at a news conference Tuesday.

"I'm experienced in coming into another guy's hometown," said Rossman, whose 38 victories include 24 knockouts. He has lost six fights and tied three.

Tillis, who touts himself as the "fastest-heavyweight in the world," has an 18-0-0 mark, including 15 knockouts. He said he intended to be "feinting and moving all the time" during the fight, which will be D'Elia's first in the United States.

Capuano, 19-2-0, said he would try to "get down low and work to the body" in his bid to stop Rossman and gain a WBA ranking.

Jim Turner of the New York Jets kicked six field goals in one game against the Buffalo Bills in 1968.

Dusters Pop Ranger; Tough Test Thursday

Anyone who fell asleep during last night's Western Texas College Dusters game here should come back Thursday. Wake up call will be 6 p.m.

The Dusters, 5-0, easily handled Ranger Junior College 70-36 to set up more promising excitement Thursday when national finalist Henderson Junior College comes calling.

"It's difficult to have much intensity in a game like that (Tuesday's) but I have no doubts that we'll have our hands full Thursday," said Coach Joe Cushing. "We're looking forward to playing Henderson County. They advanced to the national finals last year and almost all of those players are back. They've got a quality ballclub, a good program and a very good coach."

Last night's contest was anything but quality, though the Dusters did their usual fine job. The competition just wasn't there.

Western Texas jumped out to a 39-16 halftime lead - with the starting unit on the bench much of the way - and strolled on to the victory. Ranger did not score its 20th point until 29:15 was gone from the 40-minute game, and hit 22 with 9:05 left to play.

"I was pleased we were able to get some playing time for a lot of our younger players," said Cushing, who played every girl on the team. "I felt like Lori Watson had her best game of the year. Some of the other girls had good games, too, but it's difficult to keep up intensity in that kind of situation."

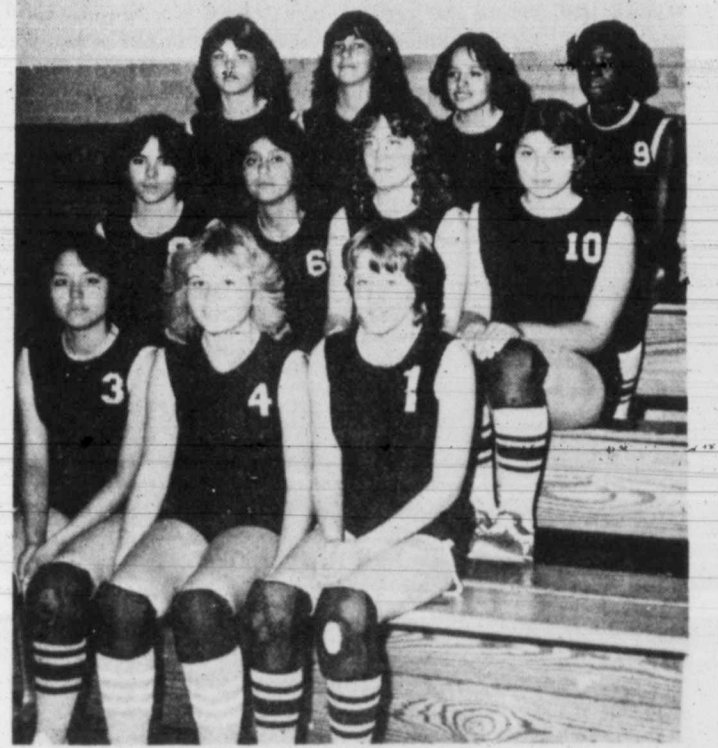

Watson scored 10 points as one of four girls in double figures. Shari Teal led with 17 while Linda Holubec chipped in 12 and Valerie Wells added 10. Joy Guyton and Jenni

Anderson led in the rebounding department with six each as WTC out-boarded Ranger 49-28. Wells and Teal had five each.

Stella Bickley had four assists, while Holubec led in steals with five, and Wells had a blocked shot.

Back to Thursday's game to be held at WTC Gym: "Henderson is not a big team. They have adequate size," explained Cushing, "but they are awfully quick and have fine outside shooters. Their post people are good, too, so we've got our work cut out

Bryant Thinks No. 1 Anyway

CHICAGO (AP)—Bear Bryant of Alabama and Dan Devine of Notre Dame long to be No.1 again but both realize it will be next to impossible for the loser of Saturday's game to nail down the national football championship.

Both coaches revealed Tuesday in separate telephone interviews with the Chicago Football Writers that top-ranked and undefeated Georgia is the main target.

"No.1 is still possible, yes," Bryant said "but our only chance would be for Georgia to go to the Sugar Bowl and for us to play them there."

Alabama, the defending national champion, had been No.1 before losing to Mississippi State two weeks ago.

Devine, whose Irish had taken over the No.1 spot from Alabama only to lose it to Georgia this week following last Saturday's 3-3 tie with Georgia, also envisioned a possible bowl game against Georgia.

"Our destiny in the polls will be determined by what we do against Alabama and Southern Cal and whomever we play if we play in a bowl game," said Devine.

"If Georgia were No.1 and we had a chance to play them, we'd put on the moleskins or the uniforms and jump at the chance to play them," added Devine.

But first there is Saturday's game between No.5 Alabama and No.6 Notre Dame and Bryant's chance for his first victory over the Irish which defeated the Crimson Tide 24-23 in the Sugar Bowl in 1973, 13-11 in the Orange Bowl in 1974 and 21-18 in South Bend in 1976.

"I've never beaten anyone,"

Welcome Back Four Lettermen...

SHS Cagers Ready For Saturday

Snyder High School boys' varsity basketball team gets its season rolling this weekend and the Tigers are ready, said Coach George Byerly.

"Put something in there to the effect that we're ready to get going. We've been working out about 10 weeks now and we're anxious to get the season started," he smiled.

The Tigers open up on the road, meeting Abilene Cooper at McMurry Gym, 8 p.m. A junior varsity contest will be held at 6:15.

Helping get the team on track this year are three returning starters, Eric Arnold (6-2), Barry Blackmon (6-2) and Chris Seale (6-3), all seniors.

"We're looking to them to supply us with the leadership we need throughout the year," said Byerly. "We don't have many returning, but the ones we have are quality kids. Barry and Chris started every game for us last year. Eric was like our sixth man, and he made all-district first team so you'd have to consider him a starter. I consider him a starter."

The only other letterman back is junior Keith Wallace (6-1), who has been playing football and won't be working out with the rest of the team until Friday.

The returning four are perhaps one of the reasons Snyder has been pre-season picked No. 6 in the state. That, and the team's 28-5, state finals finish last year.

The rest of the team remains a mystery at the present.

"Last year we were pretty well set. We knew who our varsity players were going to be going in, but this year, with only four lettermen returning, it's going to be a question mark for a couple of weeks," Byerly stated.

One of Byerly's main concerns this year will be depth, but this could work to his favor, he feels.

"We lack depth at this time, especially in contrast to last year's team. Hopefully it's there and we just haven't found it yet among so many young players. It's kind of a good situation; experience with inexperience. It could work out real well if we have some kids come through for us."

In other areas, Byerly sees Snyder as in reasonable shape.

"We've got good, average height, but we don't have the big guy and this will be a problem when we run up against a team that does. We'll just have to match up as well as possible and count on a lot of help from everybody else. I think we have a chance to be a good shooting team. We've had days of very good shooting, and some that weren't so good, but I think the potential is there," he added.

As usual, Snyder's pre-district schedule is one of the toughest around, and includes Class 5A members Cooper, Abilene High, San Angelo Central, Odessa Permian, Big Spring, and Midland Lee.

"Anytime you can play better (than average) competition and compete with them it's going to help you down the road," explained the coach. "It may not be the best thing for your record, but I think it will help us when we get into district. Obviously if you go into district play 0 and 15 it hasn't helped, but I think we can compete with the 5A schools."

Snyder plays those 5A schools right up until district battles start, save possible tournament action. The Tigers play their first three games out of town, against Cooper on Saturday, then at San Angelo on Nov. 18 and against Abilene High on Nov. 21 before entertaining Cooper in the coliseum on Nov. 24. Snyder also plays in the coliseum on the 25th, hosting Permian.

Tigers Rated No. 6; Andrews Picked 3rd

Coach George Byerly's Tigers are out of the fire, but you can bet they'll be keeping the frying pan warm around the state in 1980-81, too.

Byerly guided the Tigers to a state finals berth in his first year as head basketball coach here last year, and Snyder has already been pre-season ranked No. 6 in Class AAAA for the current campaign.

But before local fans begin making plans for another state tournament, they'd be wise to learn that Snyder is, in fact, not even favored to get out of the district.

"Andrews would have to be favored to win the district," explained Byerly. "They were defeated by Berger in bi-district last year by two or four points and they've got four starters back, so they are definitely the favorite. Lamesa and Ector are always strong traditionally, and in my mind, Fort Stockton and Monahan will be too. When you have as many district games as we do and travel as much as we do, a team will have to play pretty consistent ball to win it. I don't think any team will go through undefeated...but," he grimaced, "we're going to try." Andrews is rated No. 3 in the state.

On the other hand, well... "I'd be disappointed if we don't win the district championship. That's our goal right now, and I think our kids would be disappointed too, if they didn't win it. But the world is not going to come to an end if we don't. Certainly we plan to do everything we can to win it," he acknowledged.

Coach Hanifan Upset...

Cards Take Aim Again

IRVING (AP) — The frustrated St. Louis Cardinals, who figure they lost to a fluke two weeks ago, get another shot Sunday at the Dallas Cowboys, a team that delights in tormenting them with last-second come-from-behind victories.

Quarterback Danny White, taking a page out of retired Roger Staubach's book on how to break St. Louis' heart, flipped a fourth-down 28-yard touchdown pass to Tony Hill with 45 seconds left in 27-24 victory.

The loss sent Cardinal Coach Jim Hanifan into a rage, saying he could remember too many Dallas-St. Louis games where "we'd lose by a point or get cheated out of the game."

He added, "I get mad about this thing that has happened so many times." Luck has certainly been on Dallas' side since 1978.

In 1978, a Jim Bakken field goal bounced off the upright in the fourth quarter and Dallas won in overtime with its own field goal.

In 1979, with 1:16 left in the fourth period, a Rafael Septien field goal bounced off the upright and barely skipped over the crossbar for a Dallas win.

Two weeks ago, a short pass tipped off the hands of O.J. Anderson, and Cowboy safety Dennis Thurman ran 78 yards with the interception for a touchdown to get Dallas back in the game. Then White made his big play.

St. Louis has lost 7 of its last 10 games, including an overtime loss to Atlanta last week.

"I'm convinced we have an attitude problem," said quarterback Jim Hart. "We're just as good as we think we are. We've got to think we can win no matter what happens during the game."

Dallas, trailing Philadelphia by two games in the National Conference Eastern Division, rates a 10-point favorite over the Cardinals in the 3 p.m. game at Texas Stadium.

The Cowboys were shocked 38-35 last Sunday by the New York Giants.

"We've got to bounce back strong," said Dallas Coach Tom Landry. "Philadelphia is in the driver's seat right now."

The big chore for the Cowboys is stopping wide receiver Mel Gray, who has had 56 receptions for 1,133 yards and 13 touchdowns in his career against Dallas. He caught a 34-yard touchdown pass against Dallas two weeks ago.

Stone Chosen AL Cy Young Player

NEW YORK (AP) — Baltimore's Steve Stone, the majors' top winner in 1980, won the American League Cy Young Award today in a close battle with Mike Norris of Oakland.

Each pitcher received 13 first-place votes from the 28-man committee of the Baseball Writers Association of America, but the Orioles' 25-game winner piled up more second- and third-place votes to emerge the winner by nine points, 100 to 91.

Rich Gossage of the New York Yankees was third with 37½ points while teammate Tommy John finished a distant fourth with 14. Dan Quisenberry of Kansas City was fifth with 7½ points, and Kansas City's Larry Gura and Baltimore's Scott McGregor tied for fifth with one point apiece.

Under the BBWA voting system, five points are awarded for first place, three for second and one for third.

"All along I thought I deserved it and I'm sure that Mike Norris thought he did," said Stone. "This decision in no way diminishes the type of year he had."

Mustangs Will Accept Holiday Bowl Offer

FORT WORTH (AP) — Southern Methodist will end its long quest for a post-season appearance Saturday night when it accepts a promised bid to the Dec. 19 Holiday Bowl in San Diego, according to a published report.

In a copyright story in today's editions, The Fort Worth Star-Telegram quoted "a high-ranking" official with a competing bowl as saying SMU was "locked in" with the Holiday Bowl — regardless of the outcome its Saturday game with Texas Tech.

The official, who asked not to be identified, said the information came from highly placed sources in both Dallas and San Diego, the Star-Telegram reported.

SMU Athletic Director Russ Potts, who decides which post-season game the Mustangs will play in, said he could not confirm the report.

But Potts told the Star-Telegram that Holiday Bowl officials had met all requirements he set forth for an SMU appearance.

An unnamed source close to SMU told the newspaper: "it looks like you've done your homework."

Holiday Bowl Selection Chairman John Reid also said he could not confirm the report.

"I really can't say anything," Reid said. "The NCAA regulations are very restrictive about discussing anything before next Saturday."

Reid did say his committee expected to extend an invitation next Saturday and that the main objective was to get "the highest-ranked team with the best possible following."

Reid said the committee's top three choices were "SMU, LSU (Louisiana State) and Navy."

Of those teams, only SMU is ranked in the latest top 20 poll by The Associated Press.

The No. 18 Mustangs have been besieged by bowl committees since they upset Texas 20-6 three weeks ago and have been offered bids to no fewer than five bowls, the Star-Telegram reported.

Potts told the newspaper that the list had been narrowed to three — the Holiday, Sun and Tangerine Bowls.

The Star-Telegram quoted a "highly placed source" in the SMU athletic department as saying the El Paso-based Sun Bowl would not meet Potts' desire to award his team with an out-of-state trip.

The source also said the Dec. 19 Holiday Bowl would not interfere with the Christmas holidays, the newspaper reported.

Another factor under consideration by Potts is that the Mustangs want to play a higher-ranked team, the Star-Telegram said.

The Western Athletic Conference champion serves as host team at the Holiday Bowl and 13th-ranked Brigham Young is expected to win the bid.

Zimmer Expected Texas Ranger Manager For 1981

ARLINGTON (AP) — Don Zimmer was to be named as new manager of the Texas Rangers today, The Dallas Morning News reported today.

The newspaper quoted Rangers majority owner Eddie Chiles as saying late Tuesday that Eddie Robinson, the Rangers' vice president in charge of baseball operations, would have a "major" announcement to make at a news conference today.

Zimmer, 49, fired as Boston Red Sox manager a week before the end of the 1980 season, had said he wants the job.

Robinson said Tuesday the club would make a decision "soon," and sources close to the team said the announcement could come as early as today.

"I have now spoken to every prospect under consideration for manager of the Rangers and a decision will be made shortly," Robinson said.

Pat Corrales, manager for the past two years, was fired after the final game of the season and offered an administrative position with the club. Corrales hasn't said whether he'll stay.

Zimmer emerged as the No. 1 contender from a group that included former St. Louis manager Vern Rapp and former New York and Chicago manager Bob Lemon.

But when Yankee owner George Steinbrenner indicated he might replace rookie manager Dick Howser, despite New York's division championship, Robinson and Chiles put things on the back burner.

Border Bankers Notice Drop In Value Of Peso

SAN ANTONIO, Texas (AP) — Texas border bankers are noticing a gradual decline of the value of the peso, but they discount the possibility of a major devaluation of the Mexican currency similar to the 1976 drop.

The peso's value has dropped 75 centavos, 3.4 percent in relation to the American dollar in the past five months.

The gradual drop in the peso's worth has occurred in several "mini-devaluations" of 1 or 2 centavos at a time, four in the last two weeks. The peso has been allowed to "float" on international money markets since the dramatic 50 percent devaluation on Sept. 1, 1976.

The latest drop was last week when Banco de Mexico, equivalent of the U.S. Federal Reserve System, began buying $1 (U.S.) for 23 pesos and selling $1 (U.S.) for 23.20 pesos, a 2 centavo decrease in the peso's value. It was preceded the previous week by one 2 centavo and two 1 centavo drops.

Carlos Cruz, head of the international exchange department of Union National Bank in Laredo, predicts there will be several more of the tiny declines in the pesos, 2 to 3 centavos each, for the rest of 1980.

"I expect it from now to the first of the year because they (Mexicans) have a dollar drain because of people coming to the United States to shop during the Christmas season," Cruz said. "Some Mexican banks don't have the dollars. That's when Mexicans bring pesos across the border."

"If they change the pesos to dollars across the border, it's better for them because some stores on this side take the pesos at 24 to 25 for the dollar."

Securities broker Mike Gomez of Laredo, however, said he sees the gradual decline, from 22.45 to 23.20 pesos for the dollar over the last four to five months, as a gradual devaluation begun by administration of President Jose Lopez Portillo because of burgeoning inflation south of the border.

Gomez speculated Mexican officials might gradually decrease the peso's value to avoid a repeat of the sudden devaluation. The 1976 drop was preceded by the flight of millions of pesos from Mexico at the end of President Luis Echeverria's 6-year term in office.

Prior to that devaluation, millions of Mexican pesos were brought across the border, changed for dollars and deposited in U.S. banks or used to buy property in the United States to avoid the loss when the value of the pesos slipped from a long time 12.5 pesos to the dollar down to 26 pesos to the dollar before it leveled off at about 22 pesos to the dollar. And Americans who converted dollars to pesos to take advantage of higher Mexican interest rates also lost.

"They're disguising it (devaluation) somewhat," Gomez said. "Four years ago the 50 percent devaluation lost a lot of people virtually half their money."

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP) — In a $7,500 thank-you to Arizona voters, Sen. Barry Goldwater promised "enthusiasm and dedication" in his fifth term of office.

Full-page advertisements purchased by his campaign committee appeared Monday in the Tucson Citizen and Tuesday in the Arizona Republic and Phoenix Gazette and the Arizona Star.

"The election is over...but the job is just beginning," Goldwater's ads said.

Her Chicago appearance Monday coincided with the release of her autobiography, "Swanson on Swanson," which touches on a love affair she said she had with Joseph P. Kennedy, patriarch of the Kennedy family.

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP) — In a $7,500 thank-you to Arizona voters, Sen. Barry Goldwater promised "enthusiasm and dedication" in his fifth term of office.

Full-page advertisements purchased by his campaign committee appeared Monday in the Tucson Citizen and Tuesday in the Arizona Republic and Phoenix Gazette and the Arizona Star.

"The election is over...but the job is just beginning," Goldwater's ads said.

Former Tarzan Said Improving

MEXICO CITY (AP) — It's been a long time since he plunged into a lake as the movies' jungle king, Tarzan, but 76-year-old Johnny Weissmuller is up to a stroll around his Acapulco pool several times a day.

Weissmuller, a swimmer who won five Olympic gold medals, is "improving all the time," his wife Maria said Tuesday. "Any reports that he is dying are just terrible and not true."

Six months ago, she had reported her husband wanted to be left alone, was not lucid, talked very little and was waiting to die.

Weissmuller came here in May 1979 after he was removed from an old age home in California where he had begun making "Tarzan" yells in the middle of the night. He suffered a series of debilitating strokes in 1977 and spent months in hospitals.

Swanson Responds

CHICAGO (AP) — Gloria Swanson stepped off the Broadway Limited with an armful of red carnations and a fur coat draped over her designer suit to face a hometown welcome and a special tribute at the Chicago International Film Festival.

Asked about her health and longevity, the 81-year-old actress said: "When you were young, did doctors fill you with pills and stick injections into you? No, of course not! You grew up all by yourself. The body is smart enough to manage its 7 trillion cells all on its own, and if your body is clean inside, it can heal anything. But if you feed it with junk food, what do you expect?"

Her Chicago appearance Monday coincided with the release of her autobiography, "Swanson on Swanson," which touches on a love affair she said she had with Joseph P. Kennedy, patriarch of the Kennedy family.

Legislative Pioneer Says...

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — A legislative pioneer in Texas property tax changes says homestead exemptions must be increased to meet the rise in inflation.

Rep Wayne Peveto, D-Orange, commented Tuesday in reply to the report of a researcher for Texas House members who said the 1981 Legislature must change the new property tax laws or a "California-type" tax revolt is likely in Texas.

"I don't know about a revolt but I do think some changes must be made in the law," said Peveto, a sponsor of the Property Tax Code who has been trying to reform property tax laws since 1973.

"Of one thing I'm sure," Peveto said, "I think the Legislature must increase the $5,000 homestead exemption... I don't have any definite figure yet but we are playing with the idea that it should be a percentage figure rather than a flat figure."

Peveto said inflation had shifted the effect of the property tax changes from other taxpayers to homeowners and must be corrected.

A report of the House Study Group — an unofficial research group supported by some House members but with no connections with any state or legislative body — issued a long report Monday.

Theft Case, Two Mishaps Reported Here

A theft and two traffic accidents were reported to police Tuesday.

Reporting the theft was Loyd Sands. He told officer Don Whittenburg two speakers were taken from his pickup truck parked at Snyder High School. The loss was estimated at $50.

Whittenburg also worked a two-vehicle collision at 24th St. and College Ave. at 4:45 p.m. Involved in it were a 1978 Pontiac driven by Linda Susan Nunn and a 1978 Ford driven by Floyd Weeks Logan.

A two-vehicle collision was worked by Sgt. Clay Scogin Tuesday at 4 p.m. in the 4000 block of College Ave. There, a 1979 Chevrolet driven by Macky Wayne Holladay collided with a 1973 Chevrolet driven by Alfonso Rodriguez.

B. J. Thomas sang "Raindrops Keep Falling on My Head," a Hal David-Burt Bacharach composition, in the movie "Butch Cassidy and the Sundance Kid."

THERE IS MORE THAN one way over a hurdle, as was demonstrated by Bret Clemens and his erstwhile mount during jumping competition at the recent Colorado State Fair. After dusting themselves off, horse and rider went on to clear three other hurdles with ease.

Hostage Well Aware Of Release Negotiations

SEATTLE (AP) — The senior U.S. diplomatic officer held hostage in Iran declined to comment when asked by telephone about negotiations for the release of 52 Americans.

"You see, Laura, I'm reluctant to speak in any way to the substance of the moment because of the sensitivity and delicacy of where we are. I join you and all Americans in hoping it will produce results now," Bruce Laingen told KAYO radio talk-show host Laura Hall Tuesday night.

"I'm in no position to speak to that," he said. "We are totally out of touch as far as the substance of the problem."

Laingen, 57, of Washington, D.C., was reached by phone at the Foreign Ministry in Tehran where he and two other Americans are being held.

Forty-nine other American diplomatic personnel also are being held in Iran since militants seized the U.S. Embassy on Nov. 4, 1979.

The radio station was able to reach Laingen about 9:30 p.m. PST Tuesday after several weeks of effort.

Property Tax Adjustment Necessary To Avoid Revolt

"In the Dallas metropolitan area, development corporations are seeing their taxes on not-yet-developed land fall by 90 percent or more," he said. "In Travis County, the House Study Group found numerous examples of land formerly valued at $1,000 to $4,000 an acre that is now on the rolls at $40 to $150 an acre... Similar findings have been reported in Port Arthur, Corpus Christi and Houston."

One bill passed by the 1979 Legislature allows school districts to be reimbursed for taxes lost due to the new provision giving each homeowner a $5,000 exemption on property taxes.

"In some school districts, the exemptions have totally removed all houses from the tax rolls," Brody's report said. "In other districts, half or more of all residential value has been exempted. These high exemptions occur because the district has been appraising their property at only a small portion of its true value."

Laingen also said he was aware of the election of Ronald Reagan.

"To some degree, some information is available to us," he said. "We know about the election. We wish the president (Reagan) well, we wish President Carter well."

Laingen said he had no knowledge of the hostages not held at the ministry. Seemingly to choose his words carefully, he described his condition as "fine... We're anxious to leave, hopeful."

Ms. Hall invited Laingen to give any message he wished to the American public.

"I would only say this: We have been exceedingly gratified by the kind of public support we have had from the beginning from the American people and government."

"We have no doubt that it is continuing, and at this particularly crucial time that kind of support is even more important than ever."

"It's a time for patience, calm, cool resolve, and a time of confidence that it will soon be over."

Abilene Adventurer To Stake Out Ocean Claim

ABILENE, Texas (AP) — A Texas oilman who has spent a fortune scanning the ocean floor for the wreck of the Titanic now intends to dig a little deeper in search of wealth beneath the North Atlantic.

Jack Grimm said he and a group of other Texas oilmen will try to claim the mineral rights to 10,000 square miles of seabed beyond Canada's 200-mile territorial limit.

He said Tuesday the team would return to the area next June 15 and would remain until July 1.

Originally the team planned to locate and film the wreckage. But Grimm has said since that the group will attempt to recover the ship's safe, which he maintains could hold $200 million in diamonds.

He said any salvage effort would depend on whether the wreck was in a position that would allow access by submarine.

Grimm told the Abilene audience Tuesday that he also is interested in the $10 million plan of a identified Houston raising the

Study Links Refinery Work To Brain Cancer

HOUSTON (AP) — The National Cancer Institute has linked increases in brain cancer to work at oil refineries, citing the deaths of 33 male employees at three large Texas petroleum companies.

The findings confirm a "hypotheses-generating" study released in May 1979 that suggested refinery workers are exposed to increased risks of cancer — with the largest increase being brain cancer — according to the report.

Scientists at the National Cancer Institute and the National Institute for Occupational Safety and Health have found an apparent association between increased risk of brain cancer and employment in the oil refinery industry, said a NCI fact sheet obtained Tuesday by The Houston Post.

However, NCI researcher Terry Thomas cautioned, more studies must be conducted before any correlations can be drawn.

At that time, Gulf released the results of its in-house study, billed as the "largest study of refinery employees ever reported in North America."

Gulf scientists, however, used a different statistical methodology and reviewed death certificates of 4,766 employees between 1935 and 1979. They found 30 brain tumor deaths, compared with an expected rate of 31.
