Carter Blasts Plan To Get Busing Ban

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Carter administration says efforts to end public school discrimination could be crippled by a conservative-led Senate vote to deny the Justice Department its last resort: seeking court-ordered busing.

But President Carter may find it difficult to veto the provision. Like one previously passed by the House, it is attached to a $9.57 billion appropriations bill to keep the Justice Department and several other federal agencies operating through the fiscal year that began Oct. 1.

Carter could not reject the amendment without vetoing the entire bill.

The proposal would not ban busing but would forbid any federal expenditure on efforts to require busing to achieve integration. Liberal Sen. Lowell Weicker, R-Conn., who led the provision's opponents, said the Justice Department would have to withdraw from any case in which busing is involved.

Sen. Jesse Helms, R-N.C., who offered the amendment with Sen. Strom Thurmond, R-S.C., said it might give some federal judges second thoughts about busing.

Thursday's 42-38 Senate vote — 21 Democrats and 21 Republicans voted for it — came despite a plea from Attorney General Benjamin Civiletti that the measure is unconstitutional and would effectively hamstring government officials working on school desegregation cases.

Helms and Thurmond both argued that Ronald Reagan's landslide victory last week was a sign that Americans oppose forced busing to achieve racial balance.

During the debate on the bill, Helms asked: "How long are we going to allow federal bureaucrats in the Justice Department to torment the little children of America? The vast majority of Americans, black and white, are fed up here seeing their children hauled past neighborhood schools, sometimes as far away as 15 miles."

Weicker acknowledged that busing may be unpopular but added that the Senate "is not supposed to be a body of polltakers."

"It's supposed to exercise leadership," he said. "I'm not speaking for busing. I'm speaking for individual rights, for equality of opportunity."

A final vote on the appropriations bill, including the amendment, is due Monday. Assuming approval then, the measure would go to a Senate-House conference committee to work out minor differences in the two versions.

Civiletti, in a letter to the Appropriations Committee chairman, Sen. Warren Magnuson, D-Wash., argued that the amendment's provisions could "unconstitutionally withhold from the executive branch any ability to ensure through the courts that federal funds are spent in a non-discriminatory manner." As the law now stands, courts may order busing as a last resort to enhance racial balance. But Civiletti said that if the Senate action becomes law, even that use of busing would be eliminated.

Area Swept By New Cold Spell

A new cold spell swept through the Snyder area overnight, bringing brisk north winds and tumbling temperatures from the balmy 80s to the mid-30s.

A cold front that had moved on to the south and east by dawn today was expected to keep thermometers on the low side for the next couple of days.

Travel advisories were posted in the Panhandle where freezing rain and snow were reported. Forecasts indicated that some areas of the Panhandle likely would receive up to an inch of snow today and temperatures were due to plunge into the low 20s tonight.

The official low reading overnight in Snyder was 35 degrees, following a high of 73 degrees Thursday. Some light rain was forecast here, and a few sprinkles had been reported in the area by mid-morning. Readings here tonight are expected to be in the low 30s or upper 20s and the cold is expected to continue through Saturday.

A tropical storm in the Gulf of Mexico added to the Texas weather variety. It was expected to head inland on or near the upper Texas Coast. However, forecasters said that if the storm continued moving to the west, warnings would be posted on the lower Texas Coast.

New Right Frets Over Transition Personnel

WASHINGTON (AP) — President-elect Ronald Reagan's choice of mainstream Republicans for his transition team is setting off alarms from the New Right, whose leaders are worried over their apparent decline of influence.

"We don't understand why the conservatives have not been more prominent in the campaign and the early stages of the transition," said Richard Viguier, a leading fund-raiser for conservative causes. "It sure looks strange."

Although New Right leaders continue to voice confidence that Reagan will live up to his conservative principles, they are clearly concerned about being shut out of the incoming Reagan administration.

"The early signs are that Governor Reagan will be pursuing rather liberal policies economically and a policy of detente in foreign affairs," said Howard Phillips, national director of the Conservative Caucus.

Reagan has turned heavily to former officials from the administrations of Presidents Gerald R. Ford and Richard M. Nixon in setting up his transition team. And that has raised suspicion among some conservatives that a Reagan administration might adopt policies similar to those pursued by his two Republican predecessors — policies the New Right considers too moderate.

The New Right, which advocates major tax cuts, sharp reductions in social spending and a massive military buildup, has been particularly critical that advisory positions have been given to former Secretary of State Henry Kissinger, former Treasury Secretary George Shultz and Alan Greenspan, former chairman of the president's Council of Economic Advisers.

"We're concerned that the type of people who are setting policy in the budget area are concerned with merely slowing growth of government, instead of making real cuts," Phillips said in a telephone interview. "Treaties with the Soviet Union are not the way to protect American interests."

"If Ronald Reagan was to install himself as the second act of the Ford administration, I would be concerned," said Terry Dolan, director of the National Conservative Political Action Committee, which supported Reagan and spearheaded attacks against several liberal senators who lost re-election bids.

On Thursday, members of the Reagan transition team fanned out through the Cabinet departments, meeting with Carter administration officials and taking stock of the policies and problems Reagan will inherit Jan. 20.

"We're trying to identify the time bombs before they explode," said one top official in Reagan's transition office.

Most of those named were department officials in the Nixon and Ford administrations, but Reagan's aides insisted that the appointed team leaders are not necessarily potential Cabinet secretaries.

Ask Us

Q. What would be the procedure for Texas to secede from the Union?

A. "There is no legal procedure for any state to secede from the Union," said Dr. Franklin Pruitt, professor of government and history at Western Texas College. The issue came up a little over a hundred years ago and was answered in civil war. After the war was over, it was the contention of the North that there is no legal way to secede. The issue has not been addressed since then. There is no mention of it in the Constitution.

Taiwan Struck By Earthquake

TAIPEI, Taiwan (AP) — A strong earthquake jolted northern and eastern Taiwan on Friday and preliminary reports said people fled into the streets in panic but did not indicate whether there were casualties or damage.

The central weather bureau said the tremor, registering 5.9 on the Richter scale, occurred at 9:37 p.m. (8:37 a.m. EST), and gave the epicenter as 16 miles south of Ilan, in eastern Taiwan. It listed an aftershock of undetermined intensity a minute later.

In Tokyo, the Japanese Central Meteorological Agency said its seismographs recorded the quake but did not determine its intensity immediately.

The Richter scale is a measure of ground motion as recorded on seismographs. Every increase of one number means a tenfold increase in magnitude. Thus a reading of 7.5 reflects an earthquake 10 times stronger than one of 6.5.

An earthquake of 6 may cause severe damage in a local area.

The San Francisco earthquake of 1906, which occurred before the Richter scale was devised, has been estimated at 8.3 on the Richter scale.

Voyager I Speeds Off Into Unknown

PASADENA, Calif. (AP) — After radioing a legacy of photographs and data that tells more about Saturn than earthlings had learned "in the entire span of human history," Voyager 1 today was already more than 1½ million miles beyond the ringed planet.

The robot spacecraft has one last duty as it speeds into the unknown: to send radio signals as long as possible. Scientists at the Jet Propulsion Laboratory here will monitor them in hopes of finding the end of the solar wind — a stream of electrically charged particles emitted by the sun.

That point marks the end of the sun's influence, where the spaceship, truly begins its endless voyage among the stars.

The week of photographs taken as Voyager reached the climax of its 38-month, 1.24-billion-mile journey — by soaring near Saturn's moons, rings and swirling cloudtops will mean years of analysis and interpretation for scientists. "We have learned more about Saturn in the past week than in the entire span of human history," Bradford Smith, head of Voyager's camera team, said Thursday.

"Saturn has always been special to me. It was always the mysterious one, that was just a little bit far out to really see. It's an object about which we knew almost nothing and now that we're finally seeing what's really out there, it's all unexpected," he said.

Sales Tax Rebate Here Up Sharply

Snyder's city sales tax rebates for 1980 are running 17 percent ahead of 1979, according to the latest report from the office of State Comptroller Bob Bullock.

Snyder's rebate for the period ending Nov. 6 amounted to $102,588, compared to $89,392 for the corresponding period last year. Bullock reported as rebates for the entire state hit a half-billion dollars.

This ran Snyder's total for the year to $606,867, a gain from $517,633 at this time last year.

Bullock said that all cities combined received more than $60 million more in their November payments than they did in 1979. Houston topped the list with $15.1 million, which pushed its total for the year to $108.2 million. Dallas got a check this time for $8.9 million, bringing its year-to-date total to more than $61 million. Snyder continued to lead among cities of this area in its population bracket.

The reports for area cities includes: Levelland, $98,626 for November and a total of $488,397 for the year; Sweetwater, $94,962 and $502,732; Lamesa, $70,746 and $407,129; Pecos, $67,280 and $392,334; Brownfield, $56,401 and $327,891; and Monahans, $51,934 and $322,310.

Colorado City got a rebate of $22,185 this time, running its total for the year to $155,439, while Post got $20,051, making its total for the year $130,463.

Rotan received $9,446 this month and now has a total for the year of $50,909. Roscoe received $4,588 to make a total of $23,712 for the year, and Roby got a November check for $2,950 to make a total of $11,596 for the year.

Friday update

Exemption Success Predicted

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Lloyd Bentsen has predicted a quick and successful end to the effort to exempt small oil royalty owners from the "windfall" profits tax.

The Texas Democrat said at a news conference Thursday that his proposal had a good chance for approval during the current lame-duck session of Congress.

"I think we'll win that one," Bentsen said. "That's in the (budget) reconciliation bill. We were able to get the president's commitment to support it."

Budget reconciliation is one of the major projects before the lame-duck session that started this week, although there is no guarantee that it will not be postponed until the next session of Congress starts in January.

The exemption would consist of a $1,000 annual tax credit to individuals paying the "windfall" tax designed to reclaim some of the revenue headed for oil companies as a result of deregulation of domestic oil prices.

The Senate Finance Committee staff has said the tax credit generally would mean that anyone receiving less than $400 a month in oil royalties would be exempt from the "windfall" tax. Bentsen said more than 80 percent of the 650,000 royalty owners in Texas receive less than $100 a month.

Pushes Aid For Schools

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. John Tower, pointing to the federal government's inability to enforce immigration law, says local school districts should get some financial help to educate illegal alien children.

"The states are not responsible for the establishment or enforcement of our nation's immigration policy and laws, and I do not believe they should be burdened with the expense brought on by the federal government's failure of enforcement," the Texas Republican said Thursday in introducing a bill to provide federal aid.

The measure is the second introduced since a federal judge last summer declared unconstitutional a Texas law that denied state funds for the education of illegal alien children.

Supreme Court Justice Lewis F. Powell Jr. later refused to allow Texas school districts to postpone enrolling illegal aliens or to charge them tuition while the decision was being appealed.

Rep. Jim Mattox, a Democrat from Dallas, introduced in the House a bill similar to Tower's but there has not been any movement since it was referred to committee.

Home Builders Fear Reagan

COLORADO SPRINGS, Colo. (AP) — The housing industry will founder if president-elect Ronald Reagan tightens mortgage money supplies to combat inflation, says a housing industry spokesman.

Home builders are afraid Reagan will seek advice from leading economists like Alan Greenspan, who has suggested that the government call a six-month moratorium on mortgages to help correct the nation's economic problems, said Herman J. Smith, president-elect of the National Association of Home Builders.

Airmen's Bodies Returned

DOVER, Del. (AP) — Spectators and the honor guard shivered in the chilly night air as a C-141 landed with the remains of 13 U.S. airmen killed in a practice mission in Egypt.

Families of the 11 men and two women were met at Dover Air Force Base when the transport plane arrived Thursday night after a 9½-hour flight from West Germany.

Six pallbearers, led by a color guard, removed each flag-draped casket from the plane to a waiting hearse for transfer to the base mortuary.

The airmen were killed shortly before midnight Wednesday when their plane crashed during the first test of America's Rapid Deployment Force, authorities said.

Keeping tabs on our neighbors: "How are you going to keep them down on the farm after they've seen Paris?"

That's an oldie, but similar lyrics might be applied to the ex-lawmakers who still hang around the nation's capital.

Orlin Brewer of the Vernon Record plucked this comment out of a story in last Sunday's Dallas Morning News concerning 200 former Congressmen who prefer to live in Washington rather than return to their home districts:

"I don't want to embarrass the Wichita Falls folks, but yes, it would be dull back there. You can afford to be dull if you make a living, but I thought I could do better here."—Former Congressman Graham Purcell, who also used to practice law at neighboring Big Spring.

Every time a big election is held, we become more thankful for Scurry County's voting machines.

The Levelland and Hockley County News-Press reports that it was 1:30 a. m. before that county's votes were counted in the Nov. 4 general election.

And the Hood County News lamented that the ballot count there was completed more than 20 hours after the polls closed, which means it took much longer to count the votes than it did for voters to cast them.

Americans, who have more of it than anyone else in the world, seldom take time to enjoy it when they consume food, laments Tommy Hart of the Big Spring Herald.

"Some gourmets in other parts of the world have been known to take up to three hours to put away a dinner," Hart reminds. "Furthermore, they look happy when they're eating. Their conversation is light-hearted. They appear to be saying grace over every bite they take. Not so with most Americans. Some of us use our time at the dinner table conspiring with other Americans over a business deal, completely unaware whether our steak is cooked to our satisfaction, or whether the waitress brought ice tea when we asked for milk."

The proper Englishman was careful in arranging his attire for dinner, even in the darkest jungle with no one of culture to view the ritual any closer than 50 miles. Sadly, some restaurants today have to put signs on their doors which read, "No shoes, no shirt, no service."

WASHINGTON (NEA)—The untold story of the 1980 presidential campaign is precisely that — what the public wasn't told about the contest before Election Day by the pollsters, the pundits and the politicians.

A dazzling array of sophisticated new polling techniques, a veritable army of journalists reporting on every imaginable aspect of the race and a host of politicians supposedly sensitive to public opinion all failed to gauge the voters' mood.

The purveyors of the country's most respected public-opinion surveys correctly concluded that Republican presidential nominee Ronald Reagan would win the election — but they wrongly predicted that his margin of victory over President Carter would be a slim 2, 3 or 4 percentage points.

Similarly, virtually no journalist (including this one) or politician even hinted at the breathtaking scope of the Reagan victory — more than 8 million votes and 10 percentage points in the popular balloting and an Electoral College sweep of all but six of the states.

In retrospect, it's apparent that all of the elements of a Republican landslide had been present for many weeks — at least since the "official" start of the presidential campaign on Labor Day.

At that point, Carter possessed the lowest popularity rating of any president in modern times, a dubious distinction that set the tone for his entire campaign.

Reagan's greatest potential liability was the likelihood that he would be widely perceived as too far removed from the political mainstream to be generally acceptable to the electorate; but his successful effort to assuage such fears dates back to his acceptance speech at the Republican National Convention July.

Because neither the Reagan nor the Carter campaign developed any new initiatives, both efforts came to be characterized as stagnant. But none of the self-proclaimed political experts apparently recognized that a lack of significant movement in either camp would produce a resounding defeat for a widely disdained president.

A nationwide survey by ABC News of more than 9,300 voters as they left their polling places on Election Day showed that the dimensions of Reagan's stunning victory should have been clearly apparent by late October.

According to that poll, 68 percent of all voters decided upon their choice in the presidential race prior to the last week of the campaign — and they preferred Reagan to Carter by a very wide 53-48 margin.

Three events were widely touted as holding the potential for producing a dramatic shift during the last week of the campaign — the nationally televised Reagan-Carter debate, unpredictable developments relating to the American hostages in Iran and the proclivity of wayward Democrats to "come home" to their party as Election Day approached.

In fact, none of those developments substantially affected the outcome of the contest. The ABC News poll showed that the 27 percent of the votes who made their decision during the final week preferred Reagan by a 44-40 margin.

Even now, with all the votes cast, there are countless questions that remain unanswered. Among them:

Why did the South, so proud of its native son only four years ago that it voted overwhelmingly for Carter, resoundingly reject him everywhere in the region this year except in his home state of Georgia?

Are there no more specific explanations for the electorate's disenchantment with the president beyond the vague and imprecise references to his reputation as a weak, ineffective or incompetent leader?

Finally — and perhaps most important — what can the professional analyst, commentators, observers and prognosticators do to improve their performance in the future?

nea's demonstration

Several months ago the U.S. News & World Report carried an item under the headline: "Teachers Learn How to Use Political Muscle."

Last June 29 the New York Times published an article under the headline: "An NEA Endorsement of Carter Would Be a First."

Reed Larson, who heads the National Right to Work Committee, in a commentary recently wrote: "... So imagine if you will, the reaction of the school children in Simi Valley, California, after recently witnessing two of their teachers, symbols of authority and a respected tradition of learning, actually served with papers in their classrooms by local police officers. In all, fifty Simi Valley teachers had been served with subpoenas for the 'crime' of refusing to join the National Education Association—union."

"For Simi Valley school children, the new lesson in civics was stunningly clear: Individuals have no right to think, act, or work independently of the regimented mass. Teachers are subordinate to, and hold their positions at the sufferance of, union officials."

"The Simi Valley lesson was a brutal demonstration of NEA (National Education Association) muscle. But there are other, more subtle ways in which school children are being taught to follow the collectivized herd instead of thinking for themselves..."

A thing like that could not happen in Texas? Ponder this lead-sentence in a Washington-dated news item: "Susan Staub, director of Concerned Educators Against Forced Unionism (CEAFU), charged that officials of the National Education Association Union are 'pushing for the repeal of all Right to Work laws to help them stop the exodus of teachers from the Texas State Teachers Association (TSTA) and other affiliates throughout the country..."

The Texas State Teachers Association endorsed Jimmy Carter for re-election and designated collective bargaining legislation its top priority for 1981. These are blunders that indicate the Texas teacher "leadership," at least, has turned sharply to the left.

From time to time we have referred to the TSTA as a big labor union, and some teachers, with their feelings hurt, have objected, declaring the union is not a union. Now it is clear it is a labor union body with 140,000 members.

It was good to note that Gov. Bill Clements said he would veto legislation giving state teachers collective bargaining rights, if such were approved by the legislature.

It also is good to note that there are sensible teachers in Texas withdrawing from membership in the big TSTA-Union. Many others, we are told, are afraid to.

But it should be pointed out that while there are these two things, in addition to the general good sense of most Texans, that give us hope the big teacher-union effort will be stopped, there always is the chance that a back-door sneak attack may give the unionites the upper hand, at least temporarily. In that case, we could expect the same police-state action in Texas as happened in the little city of Simi Valley, Calif. It will pay all Texans to be alert to what kind of civics the teachers are teaching—and thinking. It should be noted here, too, that there are many well-meaning teachers in the teacher-union who find it expedient to "go along" with the union bosses rather than risk being an outcast in the collectivized herd.

The planets and I were first formally introduced when I was in the second grade. The teacher hung a mobile of the solar system from the light fixture in the middle of the room.

With the sun in the center, each of the planets dangled in their relative proximities around it and actually revolved in their respective orbits whenever a breeze came by. Pairs of little lungs provided lots of big breezes.

Mars had been everyone's favorite planet until then, except for a few of the mushy girls who held out for Venus. But after the mobile was in place, and we could compare, we all fell in love with the one with all the moons and those mysterious rings.

"We still don't know much about Saturn," replied Mrs. Owens, (who knew just about everything about everything) to our barrage of questions. "But in your lifetime," she promised, "its spectacular secrets will be revealed."

Nearly a quarter of a century later, a robot spacecraft is proving her to be an honest woman. Three years after leaving our pebble earth, the tiny nuclear-powered machine (At 1,800 pounds, Voyager I is smaller than most cars.) has traveled 947 million miles to send scientists the most revealing photographs ever of the puzzling planet with the golden clouds and beautiful rings.

We had no call to be impatient. We should thank our lucky stars to live in this age of real discovery. Every December, the ancient Romans would indulge in a colossal round of carousing and revelry to propitiate Saturn, the sickle-wielding deity of agriculture.

After nearly four centuries of telescopic observation, astronomers knew Saturn was a giant, (second only to Jupiter) rapidly spinning ball of hydrogen and helium (It's the only planet lighter than water.) surrounded by rings, satellites and the largest moon in the solar system.

It wasn't until Wednesday, day before yesterday, that we got a real peek at the shrouded kingdom. Voyager I cruised within about 2,500 miles of the super moon, Titan, and then aimed its TV cameras at the gassy planet only 77,000 miles below.

Today, Voyager is leaving the realm of Saturn to begin an endless voyage into the deeper regions of space. During its brief rendezvous, the spaceship sent back enough information to eclipse all prior knowledge of the sixth planet from the sun and enough data to keep scientists in a Saturnian daze for months.

The discoveries came fast. Three new moons were found bringing the total to 15. Two of these "new" moons are in the same orbit, which will necessitate a tricky step in the celestial waltz when they meet, approximately two years from now.

But for every mystery solved, perplexing new questions were posed. For example, Voyager found two bizarre ringlets in the thin outer ribbon that appear to be almost entwined, looping around each other like crude braids. And in one spot there is what looks like a kink or fold in the ringlets. Why?

Perhaps some of the new mysteries will be unraveled when the twin ship, Voyager II arrives on the scene in August, by way of Neptune and Uranus.

Talk about a tough act to follow. Voyager I left Cape

The neat thing about having your first baby is that you have done something that no one has ever done in the history of the world: given birth.

God only knows how all these other people got here... maybe by bus... but this child which you hold has actually been conceived, grown inside you, and been born by sheer miracle.

No one feels the impact of the "manger syndrome" more than Grandma. I observed a new mother at the airport the other day who was going on her first trip away from her baby, leaving Grandma holding the hope of the free world.

"Be careful now. You have to support their little necks because their muscles haven't developed yet. Here, just put your hand under it like this."

Grandma: "I remember." "And cover her face. All these children running around here coughing and hacking like Germ City. You don't know where they've been."

Grandma: "Right." "Did Daddy set up the crib? I hope it's not under the air return. It dries up their noses and they can't breathe. You can tell if the room is dry. If it is, just put on a small panful of water or run the vaporizer."

Grandma: "You got it."

"And don't forget to burp her after every meal. Those air bubbles are painful. She's not like other babies. She never cries... only when something is bothering her. So check. Of course, she could have leaky plumbing if you catch my drift."

Grandma: "I caught it." "I see absolutely no excuse in the world for diaper rash. Did you get the special diapers and special milk? And you did put the dog in the kennel? Remember, only fresh vegetables, hand mashed. Remember, Mom, they don't test them on their tongues anymore. Let's see, you've got the name of the pediatrician, my number, diaper service, hospital emergency, all night druggist and..."

Grandma: "They're boarding now." "Bye, sweetheart. Oh, and remember, Mother, no soap—use the cotton tips with a little oil for those fat folds in the legs, and no patty-cake at bedtime. She gets too worked up. I'll call you as soon as I get there."

The door closed. The plane took off. Grandma slung the kid over her shoulder easily and said softly, "Hang onto your booties, Baby, you and Grandma are going to have the time of our lives. How about a slice of pizza with everything?"

To The Daily News:

On July 16, 1979, many parishoners of Our Lady of Guadalupe Church stood helplessly by to watch their church, the fruit of years of hard work and much sacrifice, go up in flames.

At the time, we were in the throes of building a much-needed Sunday School building which cost us $125,000. With the money we received from insurance of the burned church, $56,000, we paid off a loan of $50,000 to the diocese. Again, thanks to the generosity of our people, we managed to pay all the debt.

Ever since the tragic church burning, our people are more determined and committed than ever to build a new church. We cannot afford an elaborate building, so we are quite happy and satisfied with a good, functional one. The low bid on a square building (metal structure with brick finish and capacity for 600 persons seated) was $205,000.

Financial status: The architect, Mr. Pizzini of San Antonio, has already received $9,000 as partial payment of an eight percent fee (i.e. independent of church cost). Our contractor, Mr. Seay of Abilene, has already been paid $12,107 for work done so far. The diocese has promised us a loan of $100,000 and an Extension Society hopefully can give us $15,000. On hand, the church has $45,000 in a certificate of deposit but still needs to come up with $32,893 in order to be able to pay the contractor when the church is completed in February of 1981 (not to mention furnishings).

A church community in any town is an instrument of God's grace and blessing whose objectives should be to rightly inform the consciences of the many misinformed. Thus, a church is a tremendous asset to any community in enabling its members to be law abiding citizens which necessarily stems from a knowledge and respect of God's law. We firmly believe that we are not only aiding our own community of Our Lady of Guadalupe, but the entire community of Snyder in the long run.

Therefore we plead with you and challenge your generosity in this worthwhile endeavor. For more information, or if you would like to talk to me or any member of the Parish Council, please call 573-3866 or 573-7142. Any help or suggestions would be greatly appreciated. Praying that the good Lord may reward you for your generosity, however small, I am,

Tom Jordan, M. S. C. Pastor

Dear Abby

Affair to Be Forgotten, Not Remembered

DEAR ABBY: You always advise people who know that a friend's spouse is having an affair not to tell the unsuspecting wife or husband.

I just found out that my husband has been having an affair for six years, and I am now in the process of getting a divorce. He surely must have been seen by some of our friends. Or they certainly must have heard about it. Had I known about this earlier I might have been able to save my marriage, but how can you fight back when you don't even know there is a problem?

You don't ignore a fire in the hope that it will burn itself out. To stop it, you've got to throw water on it.

I think your policy of keeping quiet is wrong, Abby. Please reconsider.

TOO LATE IN CLEVELAND

DEAR TOO LATE: I would never recommend informing a friend that his or her spouse is having an affair.

In the first place, it may not be true. But if it were, the spouse possibly already knows but is trying to put up a good front in hopes that the fire will burn itself out. (Some do.) However, each case is different. Generalizations are useless — including this one — but I still wouldn't make it my business to inform.

DEAR ABBY: When I was 15, I gave birth to a baby girl out of wedlock. She's a beautiful child, and I know I did the right thing by keeping her.

Now, three years later, I am getting married to a wonderful guy who loves me and thinks of my daughter as his own.

My problem? My father says that a girl who has "made a mistake" doesn't deserve any kind of wedding — she just goes off to a judge and gets married without any celebration, publicity or parties.

I say that the past should be forgotten and that because this is really my first marriage I'm entitled to be married by a minister in a church with a few flowers. Abby, I don't want a big, expensive wedding. All I want is a small wedding with my friends and family present. And I wouldn't wear white. And most of all I want my dad to give me away.

My mother is on my side, but Dad is the boss, and he is stubborn. I told him I was going to write to Dear Abby to settle this, and he agreed to go along with your decision. So what do you say?

GETTING MARRIED

DEAR GETTING: I hope your father will enjoy walking you down the aisle in a lovely little church wedding, because that's what I think he should do. Good luck, and may all God's blessings be yours.

DEAR ABBY: A Hawaiian complained that a lot of people didn't know that in 1959 Hawaii was admitted to the United States of America as the 50th state. Instead they considered Hawaii a "foreign country."

Well, hear this: One of the oil-rich countries in the Middle East got mad at the U.S. and decided to punish us by cutting off shipments of oil. However, the country continued to ship oil to Hawaii because it didn't know that Hawaii was part of the U.S.A!

Then some idiot in the State Department had to go tell the country that Hawaii was part of the U.S.A., and that put an end to the oil shipments to Hawaii.

Girl Scout Troop 266 Helps Repair GS Camp

Snyder Girl Scout Cadette troop No. 266 attended "Do Your Own Thing" at Camp Boothe Oaks recently.

The troop had decided to fix some of the damage caused by the flooding of the Sweetwater Creek.

Part of this fix up included repairing the chapel. The troop replaced the chapel's railroad ties which served as seats and put the cross back in place.

The scouts were also busy repairing "Shadows," an outdoor theater and meeting place. The workers searched and dragged back the railroad ties used as seats and put them in place. The seats had been carried downstream as far as 1 1/2 miles.

It wasn't all work and no play, since the outing included hikes which followed nature trails and the creek. The troop saw huge trees that had been uprooted during the flood. They also went on scare raids. Girls attending the outing included Lesa Barkowsky, Lenora McVey, Cherisse Reeves, Laura Shifflett and Jerilynn Trice.

Leaders attending were Peggy Vernon and Kay Shifflett. David and Sam Shifflett also went on the trip.

The Girl Scouts is a participating agency in the United Way.

Use fine fabric, such as leather or fur, from dated or worn garments to make a vest or appropriate accessories, suggest Becky Saunders, a clothing specialist.

The bidding of this charity game hand is almost automatic, as is the opening spade lead. South should rise with dummy's king. East should play the jack to show that he also holds the 10. South should drop his eight spot to give the impression that he was dealt only two spades.

South comes off dummy with a diamond. East wins the first or second diamond and leads the 10 of spades. The defenders cash their three spade tricks and whoever wins the last spade gets off lead with his last diamond.

Meanwhile, South will have had to make some discards and do some thinking. He can count eight tricks in top cards and can make his ninth trick in either hearts or clubs. He has a two-way finesse in either suit and also some squeeze possibilities.

Those South players who want to give themselves the most chances will discard a club and heart from their own hand on the spades. When in with the high diamond, they will now play king and ace of clubs to see if the queen will drop and then lead the last diamond in order to chuck the jack of clubs.

East and West will each sluff a heart.

Now they play king, 10 of hearts from dummy. If they finesse they are home. If they don't they are set. (NEWSPAPER ENTERPRISE ASSN.)

Dr. Krenek Speaks To Women's Club

Law enforcement was the topic of the Wednesday meeting of the Altrurian Daughters at the Martha Ann Woman's Club.

Dr. Harry Krenek, history professor at Western Texas College, was the guest speaker. He presented his book, "Power Vested," which delves into the history of Texas National Guard, the present Texas Rangers, and the advent of the Texas Department of Public Safety as members of the state law enforcement system.

Krenek also discussed the history of the Texas rangers prior to the story told in his book.

During the business session, the group made plans for the annual Christmas luncheon set for noon, Dec. 10.

Hostesses for that event will be Lee Falls, Beth Teal, Mary Beth Thomas, Virginia Clark, Joan Hill, Nell Greene and Gwen Mlcak.

The Altrurian Daughters members each brought a gift to be given to patients at the Big Spring State Hospital at Christmas.

Hostesses for Wednesday's meeting were Ophelia Blackard and Mary Killam. Beth Teal was program chairman.

Baked potato slims will appeal to the most picky eater and impress the most recent gourmet dining at your table.

BAKED POTATO SLIMS
3 medium baking potatoes
1/4 cup water
1/2 teaspoon pepper
1 package Shake 'n Bake Salt

Pare potatoes and cut into strips (as for french fries). Soak in cold water. If desired, use a crinkle cutter to make strips. Mix water and pepper sauce in pie plate. Drain potato strips, a few at a time, and put pepper sauce mixture in pie plate. Swish around to moisten on all sides. Put about 8 moistened potato strips at a time into plastic bag with Shake 'n Bake. Shake to coat well. Remove and place in rows on foil-lined baking sheet. Repeat with remaining potatoes. Bake in 325-degree oven 1 hour. Sprinkle with salt and serve immediately. This kitchen-tested recipe makes 4 to 6 servings. (NEWSPAPER ENTERPRISE ASSN.)

The Earth Stove.

Tired of wasting wood in inefficient stoves & fireplaces?

- The Earth Stove burns 1/3 the fuel of many stoves because pre-heating draft manifold promotes efficient and complete combustion like solid fuel power plants. Super-heated air prevents "cooling" of fire unlike manual "hole" drafts do. Even large chunks burn slowly and completely—eliminates frequent ash removal.
- Wood gases not wasted. Secondary drafts introduce oxygen above primary fire zone to burn volatile gases such as methanol, pyroigneous acid, etc.

How much iron is needed?

By Lawrence Lamb, M.D.

DEAR DR. LAMB — I would like to be sure that I am getting enough iron in my diet. What foods are rich in iron? I know spinach is a good source of iron but I don't like spinach.

DEAR READER — Modern civilization has eliminated one of the best sources of iron in the diet. Those old iron pots and pans your grandmother used allowed iron to be absorbed into the food and helped a lot. Now pans often are aluminum or coated with Teflon.

A cup of cooked spinach contains less iron than a cup of cooked mature bean seeds. Liver is one of the best sources of iron, particularly hog liver. I am sending you The Health Letter number 4-4, Iron and Anemia, which lists the iron value of common foods. Other readers who want this issue can send 75 cents with a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope for it to me, in care of this newspaper, P.O. Box 1551, Radio City Station, New York, NY 10019.

Unless iron has been added, milk is a poor source of iron and babies that are on a milk diet only get iron deficiencies. Women in the childbearing years need extra iron, often more than can reasonably be expected from the diet alone. In that age group a daily iron supplement is not a bad idea. They need more iron than the "older" person who is often advised to take an iron preparation for "tired blood."

Fortunately, the body recycles the iron from old worn-out red blood cells so unless you are losing a small amount of blood constantly the daily requirements are not huge.

Think about using iron pots and pans. Your doctor can test your blood to see if you really need additional iron.

DEAR DR. LAMB — I read your column about the person who had so-called migraine headaches. That person gave a perfect description of vision problems that precede headaches which is an age-old side-effect of self-abuse or masturbation.

Most suffering males or females would never confess to their doctors that they practice it. They'd rather have a better way to have sex. When a child first starts having headaches, they're rushed to the eye doctor and the sure cure is glasses. Blah to that. In six months or less of complete lack of self-abuse, the sudden almost blinding headaches and often vomiting will cease.

DEAR READER — I included your letter in my column as an example of misconceptions that are still widespread. No, masturbation does not cause headaches, no matter how vociferously you choose to claim that it does. Neither does it cause knock-knees, blindness or impotence. In point of fact, masturbation has no adverse effects on an individual's health.

Sometimes a person may have side-effects caused by guilt reactions because he has been told that masturbation is bad. In males an exaggerated form of guilt reaction to masturbation early in life may indeed lead to impotence later. But this is strictly a psychological reaction to the types of misinformation that your letter emphasizes.

May I point out to you that masturbation is almost universal, particularly in young boys in their developmental stage, and it's considered part of the normal process in the evolution of sexual expression. In other words, there are many more people who masturbate than have headaches, as common as both conditions are.

New Bills, Old Losers Pile Up For Lawmakers

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — Wearing masks, scalping tickets and selling babies are some of the things under attack in proposed legislation that will be scrutinized by Texas lawmakers when they convene here in January.

Legislators won't take their seats until Jan. 13, but several eager participants have pre-filed a pile of bills that would:

- Make it illegal to wear a mask.
- Ban excessive profits on ticket scalping.
- Increase the penalty for selling children.
- Do away with the Sunday blue law.
- Allow criminal prosecution of children.
- Double the penalties for crimes against the elderly.

Churches Plan Big Attendance

A thrust by all churches for high attendance on Nov. 23 can help each church and the cause of God, says Rev. Gary Dudder, president of the Ministerial Alliance.

Nov. 23 has been proclaimed "Let's Show Our Thanks" Sunday by the mayor.

Each family and individual is encouraged to attend the church of their choice on this particular Sunday preceding Thanksgiving. Snyder has some three dozen churches which are prepared to extend a warm welcome to members and visitors alike.

A joint service will be conducted at 7:30 p.m. at Colonial Hill. Rev. Gary Horton of Houston will deliver the Thanksgiving message. Also, at this service the grand total of Snyder Churches' morning worship attendance will be announced.

Rev. Dudder says that with so much to be thankful for, Scurry Countians should make a special effort to be present in church Nov. 23.

WTC Paper Gets 1st Class Rating

The Western Texan, student newspaper at Western Texas College, has received a first-class rating for the spring, 1980, semester from the Associated Collegiate Press, national critical service headquartered at the University of Minnesota School of Journalism.

Of five categories, three "marks of distinction" were given in coverage and content, writing and editing, and editorial leadership and opinion features. This was one short of an All-American rating. A total of 4,110 points, 310 above the low first class score, were given.

Critic judge Mary Skar wrote that "The Western Texan is a bright and lively publication that has come a long way. Lots of information in clear and concise copy. Congratulations to the editor and staff."

Money Eating Machine Goes Through Millions

DALLAS (AP) — Every day at an unobtrusive building on downtown's east side, $1.5 million in good old American greenbacks are chewed into its-bitsy pieces.

That's roughly $7.5 million a week, $30 million a month and (gasp) $360 million a year.

And the destruction has Uncle Sam's full blessing.

Before you clutch your chest and keel over, let's explain: The money is old, dirty, tattered and downright unusable.

Federal Reserve Banks just yank the dingy bills out of circulation and feed them to a paper shredder the likes of which you've never seen.

The hungry beast counts the money, checks each bill for fitness, spots counterfeit money, then hits the unusable fortune with a blast of air as it chews it into an unrecognizable mess.

The result is a tangled wad of spaghetti-like strips. Each bill takes up 27 times as much space as it did when it left your wallet.

The Federal Reserve Bank in Dallas owns two of the greedy money shredders — known in government-ese as Currency Verification and Counting Systems — and is about to purchase a third.

The CVCS can process more than 70,000 bills an hour, and it stays pretty busy since the Dallas bank receives between 700,000 and 800,000 pieces of currency each day from area banks.

After it is reduced to so much confetti, the money is shipped weekly to Great Bend, Kan., where it is pulverized and mixed with oil drilling mud.

The money, it seems, gives the goey mud a slippery, but durable consistency.

Bob Davis, owner of Davis Mud and Chemical Co. in Great Bend, says he started using the money after the Environmental Protection Agency banned incineration of the currency.

"About eight years ago, I saw a newspaper story about how banks were having trouble getting rid of this old money," Davis said during a recent telephone interview. "They couldn't burn it any more, and when I found out they were shredding it, I knew we could use it."

"Not only is it a high quality of paper, but it is durable."

Although Davis gets the money for free, he says weekly transportation costs soon may make it too expensive.

AN OPEN LETTER OF APPRECIATION

We would like to take this opportunity to openly commend the Snyder High School football coaching staff for a year of diligent hard work.

Although this has not been a big winning season from the standpoint of the win-loss record, there have been many positive things happening "behind the scenes." The moral character and example of clean living that our coaches have set before our young men is invaluable. The lessons our coaches have taught our team concerning how to live are far more precious than all of the football plays in existence.

We are confident that the years ahead will be fruitful in terms of football excitement due to this year of rebuilding. We are even more confident that the years ahead for the young men on the SHS football team will be richer for having played for Mike Jenkins and his staff.

Please join with us expressing your appreciation to each coach and each player. They have given their very best.

Bishop Says Apology Due By Americans

HOUSTON (AP) — The United States has caused the deaths of many who try "to free people" from tyrannical regimes and Americans should apologize for the "horrible things" done in their name, says a Methodist bishop who has worked to free the hostages in Iran.

Bishop Dale White, who twice has traveled to Iran in an effort to win release of the 52 American hostages, told the United Methodist Council of Bishops Thursday his suggestion probably could include apologizing to Iran for past actions and making restitution.

White, of Princeton, N.J., told the 90 bishops attending the biennial meeting that Americans were like passengers who "enjoy the festivities in the great ballroom of a ship while it is sinking."

"No matter how many horrible things are done in our name in the world, when someone suggests we own up to our own culpability, we all stand in the door of our establishment with an ax handle crying, 'Never,'" White said.

Check Sent To Wrong Person

HOUSTON (AP)— A.E. Birdwell knew that check for $22,000 was just too good to be true.

Birdwell, a Houston marketing specialist, received the check from a local brokerage firm where he had done business in the past.

He figured one of his investments could yield such a windfall, so he called and learned the check had been meant for another person.

William Stern, an official of the brokerage firm, said a clerical error caused the financial flub.

Birdwell said he still wanted to keep the check.

Death, Dying Seminar Set At Cogdell Hospital

A seminar on death and dying, the first of its kind in Snyder, will be held Wednesday at Cogdell Memorial Hospital.

Although the one-day seminar is designed for nurses and ministers who provide care and support for the dying patient and his family, others in the health-care industry may attend, said Margaret Martin, nursing supervisor at Cogdell. Persons wishing to attend may contact Mrs. Martin at the hospital by Tuesday. The course fee is $10. So far, she said, about 70 have signed up.

The seminar is not a skills and techniques course, but is designed for idea exchange. "The objective of the workshop," said Mrs. Martin, "is to provide information and explore ideas about caring for the dying patient."

The program content, added Mrs. Martin, will focus on the emotional and spiritual needs of the dying patient and the supportive care of the family. Also discussed will be moral and ethical issues.

The seminar begins at 8:30 a.m. with registration and continues through about 3 p.m. A film entitled "Whose Life Is It, Anyway?" will also be presented.

Faculty for the seminar are Dr. David Wiman, a local physician, Dr. Jim Woodworth, minister of counselling at First Christian Church in Lubbock, Chaplain Tom Daugherty from Methodist Hospital in Lubbock, and Louise Rinker of the Home Health Agency in Lubbock.

On the advisory planning committee are, besides Mrs. Martin, Rev. Gary Dudder, minister of First Christian Church here in Snyder, and Cy Miller, administrator for Cogdell Memorial Hospital. Financial assistance for the seminar comes from Bell-Seale Funeral Home.

The seminar is also aimed at providing "a better working relationship for the ministerial alliance, nurses, the patient, and the patient's family," added Mrs. Martin.

Gets Bill After

HOUSTON (AP)— Evelyn P. Walker, whose home had been destroyed by fire, was somewhat surprised when she received a water bill for $205.72.

She went to the Houston Water Department and said something must be wrong. There was nothing left of the house but one wall and all that had happened three months before she received the bill.

An inspector was sent to check and said the water in question had flowed through Ms. Walker's meter and she would have to pay up.

Wednesday, Ms. Walker took her problem to the City Council.

Public Works Department spokesman Dan Jones then admitted, "It was our error. Her bill will be adjusted so that she only pays the very minimum."

Jones said the Fire Department routinely notifies the water division when a building or a house is destroyed and then the water meter is turned off.

City records show the water division was notified about Ms. Walker's fire, but the meter kept clicking.

Suspect In Theft Nabbed

The suspect who is charged with stealing a 1976 Chevrolet from Mrs. S.D. Hays Sr. earlier this week was arrested last night in East Texas, allegedly while burglarizing a school in Gilmer.

The car was recovered, said Scurry County Sheriff Keith Collier, and Doyle Edward Denton arrested.

Collier said Denton will face burglary charges in Gilmer, but will be returned to Snyder to face a charge of unauthorized use of a motor vehicle.

"If you want to get the most for your car insurance dollar... see me."

Reporting the house burglary at 7:35 p.m. Thursday was Mrs. Pat Jones, 3608 Hill Ave. She told officers an undetermined number of Susan B. Anthony dollars was taken, plus a $50 hat, sometime between Nov. 8 and Nov. 13. Working the case was Sgt. Clay Scogin.

Yesterday morning, Mrs. Howard Dorman, 4400 Ave. U, reported her 1975 Ford pickup had been broken into and a 20-gauge shotgun worth $100 stolen. It was investigated by Kerrie Fritz.

Sgt. Jerry Parker worked a two-vehicle collision at 1:15 p.m. Thursday in the 1300 block of College Ave. Involved in it were a 1978 Chevrolet driven by Rosa Garcia and a 1974 Oldsmobile driven by Juan Carrasco.

Fifteen Seniors Make Final Appearance...

Tigers Close Out Season Here At 8 Tonight

FIFTEEN seniors will make their final grid appearance for Snyder here tonight as the varsity Tigers close out their season against undefeated Andrews at 8 in Tiger Stadium.

The 15 will be attempting to upset the state-ranked Mustangs, who have already set a bi-district playoff date with Lubbock Estacado.

Andrews, 9-0, comes into the game a heavy favorite over the 2-7 Tigers. The Mustangs boast a team that averages almost 247 yards rushing and 26.3-points per contest. Defensively, Andrews has allowed 243.9 yards on the average, and 10.7 points.

"THEY make the big play when they have too, and to me, that's the mark of a championship team," said Snyder Coach Mike Jenkins.

Though no statistics are available, Andrews probably leads the district in "big plays", including punt and kickoff returns. The Mustangs rallied to beat Fort Stockton 21-20 several weeks ago with less than 30 seconds in the game, scoring a two-point conversion for the victory.

A KEY figure for the visitors is second-year quarterback Keith Brooks, who has passed for 367 yards and run for another 603. He is tied with teammate Van Percy for most points scored in the district, 74.

Percy led the loop in rushing until a week ago, and still boasts almost 1,000 to his credit. He needs only three yards tonight to go over the mark.

He also leads the district in punting with a fine 44.3 average.

LEADING the charge for Snyder will be the 15 seniors, including Mike Roemisch, Tracy Loyola, Vaughnie Voss, Miguel Ortegón, Steve Ham, Oziel Gonzales, Tony Degrate, Ricky Elliott, Ken Goodman and Gary Waller.

Others are Matt Taggart, Jason Johnson, Keith McClain, Neil Evans and Glenn Pherigo. McClain, out with an injury since early in the season, will not be in the lineup, however.

Offensive starters tonight for Snyder are, offensively, Britt Vincent at split end, Trey Harlin and Barry Davis or Degrate at tackle, Ham and Evans at guard, Pherigo at center, Goodman at tight end, Roemisch at quarterback, Kirk Herrley at tailback, Mark Shaw at fullback, and Glenn Parham at flanker.

DEFENSIVE starters are: Waller and Johnston at ends, Degrate or Davis and Gonzalez at tackle, Jesse Hernandez, Evans and Matt Davis at linebacker, Voss and Brent Roemisch at safety, and Casey Peterson and Loyola at halfback.

Felines Lubbock Bound

LUBBOCK-Mid-November in West Texas brings forth visions of cooler weather, mid-semester grades, early Christmas shoppers, and, of course, Snyder's Felines in the Region I volleyball tournament.

That's right, Snyder High School has sent its varsity volleyball team to the Region I Tournament here for the past five years, six times in seven years, as a matter of fact.

Saturday, the girls make the trip once again, facing Cleburne in the first-round match, to be held at 10 a.m. in Coronado High School Gym.

Lubbock Dunbar will take on Graham in the other Class AAAA first-round, and the two winners will meet for the regional championship - and a trip to the state tournament - at 1:30 p.m.

Class AAA also holds its tournament in conjunction, as Kermit and Perryton square off at 8 a.m. The winner meets Colorado City for the title, match at 12:30. C-City, by some stroke of fortune, received a bye to the regional tournament, and a bye to the tournament finals.

Though Coach Joyce Elrod would no doubt downplay the obvious, her Felines go into the tournament as the favorites in Class AAAA. The Tigers are the state's No. 1 ranked team, and boast a 29-1 record.

Obviously, playoff experience - if there is such an animal - is in favor of the Felines.

"Some of our girls were there last year, four of them, and I think that might help us some," said Elrod. "They kind of know what to expect."

The foursome are Lisa Cobb, Sherry Mayes, Shauna Pate and Kathy Northcott. Cobb was all-district, all-region and all-state last season, while Mayes was first-team all-district also.

What could possibly work against the Felines - don't bet on it, though - is the fact that Elrod and her squad have never seen any of their three possible opponents play this year. The quick tournament schedule also hampers the team somewhat.

"With Colorado City getting a bye, there's not much time inbetween games to get the girls something to eat and prepare for the next match."

Former Cats Battle WTC

Two former Snyder High School players will return to the confines of Scurry County Coliseum Saturday night when Western Texas College's Westerners meet Angelo State University junior varsity at 8 o'clock.

Tickets are $2 for adults and $1 for students.

Last year's District 3-AAA Most Valuable Player, Kyle Short, and former all-South Plains standout Randy Courtney will be trying to upset the Westerners' 4-0 start. Short, a third team All-State player, was a key figure in SHS's state finalist basketball team of a year ago. Courtney was the leading Tiger scorer for 1977-78 and one of the top high jumpers in the state. The 6-4½ ballplayer competed on the courts for Clarendon Junior College last year.

pointed out Elrod. "If ours lasts an hour, it's not that long until we have to be back out on court warming up for the finals - providing we even reach the finals," she added.

Snyder will go into the match with Cleburne blind, though Elrod noted she was able to get some limited information on them, and will try to scout the Dunbar-Graham game before Snyder plays at 10.

Team enthusiasm is sky high.

"There are posters and slogans plastered all over the place down here," Elrod laughed. "It's unreal."

Dusters Pull Together, Defeat Henderson, 69-64

Western Texas College's Dusters staged a mid-half rally to overcome Henderson County Junior College here last night, 69-64.

The Dusters, now 6-0 on the year, conclude their three-game home stand here Saturday, taking on Weatherford College at 6 in the coliseum.

"Our kids believe in themselves, that's evident in the Cisco game and in the Henderson game," stated an elated Coach Joe Cushing this morning. "They had their backs to the wall. A lesser team might have said 'that's it, we're going to get beat', but they overcame that and were able to get back into the ballgame."

Western Texas fell behind in the early-going of the second half, but ignited to stun the visitors for a 68-57 lead with 2:47 to go in the game.

The talented Henderson club also rallied, hitting for six straight points in a 28 second period before the Duster defense clamped down again.

Aiding the Duster effort was a small but vocal crowd.

"Our sixth man was definitely the difference in the ballgame," said the coach. "The crowd support was outstanding. The girls did a few things to help turn the

'Stangs Stop Snyder Frosh

Snyder freshmen toppled to Andrews here last evening, 27-6. The loss concludes the team's season at 3-5.

Snyder scored in the second quarter as Norman Malone took an option pitch from Tim Derryberry and raced 55 yards. The PAT failed.

"Despite the score, it was one of the better games the team played," said Coach Larry Scott. "We had a few turnovers in the third period that really hurt us."

Cats Conquer Andrews; Complete Season At 5-1-2

ANDREWS-Snyder's junior varsity closed out their season with a 15-6 win over Andrews here last night, giving the team a 5-1-2 mark for the season.

Snyder fumbled on its first possession, but put together a five-play, 69-yard drive moments later to take a 7-0 lead. Raymond Jeffery's 11-yard TD run was set up by a 42-yard pass play from Keith Wallace to David Miller. David Guterrez booted the point-after.

The Cats reached the Mustang six-inch line again in the half, but time ran out on the team before it could score.

Snyder scored its final touchdown of the night with 2 minutes left in the third quarter as Miller broke loose behind good blocking for a 70-yard punt return. Jeffery ran the conversion over for a 15-0 advantage.

Andrews scored its only touchdown with 8:42 left in the game; a flea-flicker that went for 41 yards. The PAT failed.

Jeffery's 144 yards rushing paced Snyder to a total pickup of 344 yards, 196 on the ground and 148 through the air. Andrews tallied 194 yards.

Cited as defensive standouts for Snyder were James Caldwell, Ronnie Lindsey, Tracy Neves and Darrell Robertson. Caldwell and David Delce each recovered a fumble. Miller intercepted one pass.

SHS Girls Open Season

ROTAN-Snyder High School girl's varsity basketball team, the defending District 3-AAA champion, opens its 1980-81 campaign here Saturday at 7.

A ninth grade game and a junior varsity game will also be held here, at 4:30 and 5:30 respectively.

It will be the varsity girls' only test prior to the Killeen Tournament, which Snyder attends Nov. 20-22. The local eighth grade gets going Nov. 17, hosting Big Spring.

Snyder brings back four lettermen from last year's team, including 5-4 senior Pam Gray, and juniors Tracey O'Day (5-8), Brenda Anderson (5-7) and Theresa Browning (5-5). O'Day, the team's leading rebounder and second-leading scorer of a year ago, was named to the 1980 all-district second team, as was Anderson, a two year letterman. Anderson was also selected second team all-district in 1979.

Boys Will Compete, Too

ABILENE-Snyder varsity and junior varsity boy's basketball teams open the season here Saturday against the Eagles of Abilene Cooper, in McMurtry Gym.

The Tigers, ranked 6th in the state according to the latest coaches poll, play the Eagles at 8. The junior varsity tilt will open the double-header at 6:15.

Snyder welcomes back four lettermen from last year's state finalist team. Returning starters are 6-2 Barry Blackmon, 6-2 Eric Arnold and 6-3 Kris Seale, all seniors. The other returning member is 5-11 junior Keith Wallace.

Saturday's game marks the first of three road games for the Tigers, who travel to San Angelo (Central) on Tuesday then return here next Friday to play Abilene High.

Hermleigh Falls To Grady, 40-32

HERMLEIGH-Hermleigh's Cardinals came up just short here last night, concluding their season at 1-8 after falling to the Wildcats of Grady, 40-32.

In other District 2-1A six-man games to be held tonight, Borden County welcomes McCaulley and Trent hosts Highland.

Grady worked to a 28-16 halftime lead on two passes from Larry Key to Jackie Vining, another pass from Vining to Ron Deatherage and a 1-yard run by Key. Key also kicked two conversions.

Hermleigh's first-half scores came on runs of 3 and 7 yards by Kenny Riley, and two Melvin Wallace conversion kicks.

The Cards took the lead in the third period as Kevin Roemisch hit Riley on a 38-yard toss and Dennis Jones scampered over from 13 yards out. A two-point safety put the hosts ahead 32-28.

Hermleigh began moving again and got inside the Grady 25-yard line before a fumble changed momentum. The Wildcats capitalized on the next play as Key broke loose on a 60-yard TD run to regain the lead at 34-32.

Though the Cards got inside the Wildcat 25 on two other occasions, they were stopped on fourth down plays, and Grady went on to score another touchdown - a Key 4-yard run - to win the game.
