

Senate Considers Spending Proposal

WASHINGTON (AP) — Much of the federal government technically ran out of money as Congress failed to approve a stopgap spending measure by midnight Monday.

Early Tuesday morning, the House approved a "bare bones" compromise spending proposal and sent it to the Senate for consideration.

The Senate was to take up the House offer almost immediately and a possible end to the increasingly bitter congressional deadlock was in sight.

The measure passed by the House was essentially the same as that approved earlier by the Senate, except for several added provisions, including $500 million for jobs aid and $500 million for aid to Israel and Egypt.

But no adjournment of the 96th Congress was possible before mid-morning. The House, after sending its proposal to the Senate, recessed until then.

Earlier, the Senate had ended several hours of private negotiations by adopting on a voice vote its own "bare bones" version of the multibillion dollar spending bill.

In a related tactical maneuver, the Senate also sent to the House a more Justice, Commerce, Treasury and Health and Human Services technically lost their authority to spend money.

An opinion from Attorney General Benjamin Civiletti last April said government agencies cannot legally spend money unless specifically authorized to do so by Congress.

However, when a similar situation arose in October, most affected government agencies continued to operate normally.

The Senate actions Monday were similar to votes taken by the House Saturday night when the principal issue in the congressional confrontation centered on a proposed pay raise for members of the House and Senate.

Tuesday update

Pot Seized In Boat Bust

DULAC, La. (AP) — Authorities have seized another boatload of marijuana — 30 tons of it — bringing to 270 tons the total intercepted in south Louisiana in the last nine weeks.

Monday's raid in a Terrebonne Parish bayou was the latest in a series along the marshy Louisiana coast.

Seized were three trucks and a 78-foot shrimp boat, the Ar-tista, with bales of marijuana stacked on the deck, in the cabins and in the halls. Officials said it appeared to be out of Galveston.

Three men were arrested when officers stopped a van which had been seen leaving the area where the shipper tied up, about 17 miles south of Houma, at the Buquet Bridge across Bayou Grand Caillou.

Bridges Bad In Louisiana

BATON ROUGE, La. (AP) — More than half of Louisiana's 14,800 bridges are deficient by state and federal inspection standards, according to a study made for builders of bridges and highways.

The Road Information Program report said the bridges were not necessarily unsafe, but merely need to be "rehabilitated or replaced" at a cost of $130.7 million over the next 15 years.

The study, released Monday, said there was little danger of bridge collapses as long as posted vehicle weight limits are observed. It said, too, that the state of Louisiana will have to pay for more of the bridge repairs because the federal government was cutting back on bridge repair projects.

Angry At TMA Lobby

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — A critic of organized medicine's lobbying tactics says the Texas Medical Association scored a victory when the Sunset Advisory Commission refused to recommend changes in the State Board of Medical Examiners.

Sen. Lloyd Doggett, D-Austin, said the board wanted more secrecy than other agencies and had objected to proposals allowing non-doctors on peer review committees and placing license fees in the state treasury.

"It's outrageous," he said Monday. The commission's final vote was 3-3-1, with six votes needed for adoption.

The medical examiners board, which has been criticized for not requiring doctors to serve in rural areas or city slums, was among 28 state agencies reviewed by the commission at its final meeting prior to the 1981 Legislature.

There's Still Time To Mail Packages

If you've waited this long to do your Christmas shopping, there's still a way to get your package delivery by the post office on time.

"Priority mail is probably the best bet for shoppers at this point," said Snyder Postmaster Jack Tilson.

Priced slightly higher than parcel post, priority mail offers next-day delivery up to 150 miles from the originating post office and delivery in three days anywhere in the U.S. during Christmas season.

Prime Rate Goes To 21

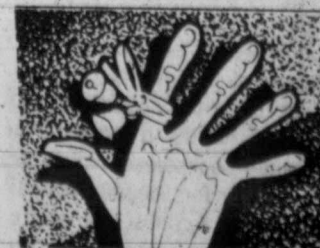

NEW YORK (AP) — Major banks raised their prime lending rates today to a record 21 percent, adding further pressure to the economy and fueling fears of another recession.

The increase, from the 20 percent prime rate set just last week, comes amid further increases in banks' cost of acquiring funds.

Morgan Guaranty Trust Co, the nation's fifth-largest bank, was the first to announce the increase, which was quickly matched by a number of banks, including Manufacturers Hanover Trust Co., the nation's fourth-largest bank, No. 6 Chemical Bank and No. 9 First National Bank of Chicago. Other major banks were expected to follow suit.

"It's simply a rate based on our management's judgment of a proper rate ... given our cost of funds," the spokesman said.

Priority mail affords first-class handling for packages weighing over 12 ounces and up to 70 pounds. Priority mail can be sent from any post office, station or branch, or through rural carriers, to any address in the U. S. and even to foreign countries. The service is available with insurance, return receipts, COD, certificates or mailing and special delivery. Customers interested in priority mail should contact the post office for details.

9 SHOPPING DAYS TILL CHRISTMAS

The SDN Column

Retail business people have been apprehensive during this Christmas shopping season, we are told, because even the most trusted experts were uncertain as to how shoppers would react to the economic situation this winter.

As a result, there have been some reports that stores were running low on some types of merchandise. This was attributed to smaller inventories prompted by that same uncertainty. Fortunately, there are sources of supply which are capable of replenishing stocks in a relatively short time, and everybody is likely to be able to buy what he or she wants by Christmas.

Anyway, latest reports indicate that Christmas shoppers are reacting just about the same way they always react at Christmas time. That is, they are buying. Perhaps not precisely the things some people thought they would be seeking, but they are buying, nevertheless.

We can attest to this because we have been in some stores recently, and we saw people taking out merchandise by the arm load.

We refer to the buyers as shoppers rather than consumers. Some of the do-gooders have, in our opinion, ruined another perfectly good word by their repeated reference to "consumers" as a group set aside, or specifically, as a group victimized by other groups. So far as we are concerned, everybody is a consumer. Moreover, everybody is victimized sooner or later by someone or something, regardless of whether it is a business, a crusading group, or an over-zealous individual.

A television documentary series that included considerable footage on Snyder has earned Dennis Johnson of Channel 8, Dallas, the annual media award of the Dallas-Fort Worth Hospital Council.

The series dealt with problems smaller cities have in providing quality medical service. Snyder and Cogdell Memorial Hospital were cited as examples of success, with the Hospital Auxiliary's scholarship program for medical students getting special attention. Also, facilities at Cogdell and the new wing under construction were shown. Johnson, a reporter for the Dallas TV station, went to various sections of the state in developing the series, which the station carried several weeks ago as a feature on its evening newscasts.

Incidentally, Cy Miller, administrator at Cogdell, reports that only two more rooms in the new wing remain to be furnished by donors. So, if you planned to provide furnishings for a room and want to get the cost credited on your 1980 income tax, both time and the supply of rooms are getting short.

OPEC Boost To Hike Gas Price

BALI, Indonesia (AP) — end of a two-day session of the Organization of Petroleum Exporting Countries announced increases today of $2 to $4 a barrel in base crude oil prices, an action the U.S. Energy Department said could hike gasoline and heating oil costs in the United States by up to 5 cents a gallon. A maximum price for OPEC crudes was raised from $37 to $41 a barrel.

Col. Sanders Dies At Ninety

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — Harland Sanders, the white-haired, white-suited Kentucky colonel who parlayed sales ability and a secret recipe into a fried chicken empire, died today at Jewish Hospital in Louisville. He was 90.

Sanders, internationally known as the founder and symbol of the Kentucky Fried Chicken fast food franchise, died at 7:40 a.m. EST, according to company spokesman John Cox.

Cox had no other details, except to say that Sanders' wife, Claudia, had been advised of the death.

Sanders had been in the hospital since Nov. 7, suffering from leukemia and pneumonia.

He first took his chicken franchise on the road when he was 64, an age when many people consider retirement. He was still working for Kentucky Fried Chicken at age 89 when doctors diagnosed acute leukemia in June 1980.

"It's just one more thing we've got to conquer," he said when told of the disease. "I've overcome a lot of things in my life."

He was hospitalized repeatedly for other ailments in the months that followed the diagnosis. In September doctors said the cancer was in remission.

Sanders, who wore his signature white suit and string tie even while relaxing, learned to cook at age 5. "I cooked like Mom did, and later when I went into the restaurant business, I just kept on doing it the same way," he once said.

In his later years, he traveled some 250,000 miles annually on promotional tours for Kentucky Fried Chicken, earning over $200,000 yearly. "Work keeps you young," he once said, "gold or fish isn't as much fun as working." Born Sept. 9, 1890, on a farm in Henryville, Ind., Sanders dropped out of school in the sixth grade, later working as a streetcar conductor, a railroad fireman and insurance salesman. He lied about his age at 16, volunteering for duty with the U.S. Army in Cuba, and later ran a steamboat ferry on the Ohio River.

In 1930, Sanders settled in Corbin, Ky., and built a motel and restaurant. There, he developed a process for quick-cooked chicken that became the "finger lickin' good" Kentucky Fried Chicken.

Ask Us

Q—Why don't they let the hospital take over the ambulance service?

A—This is something that has been discussed from time to time, but the fact is, no agency is anxious to take on this operation. The city council has "offered" it to the hospital on previous occasions, but hospital officials say they prefer that it remain in the hands of the city, which in turn contracts for the service.

Actually, there is no law or regulation that requires any government agency to provide ambulance service. But, the responsibility has been assumed since funeral homes went out of the ambulance business several years ago because it is an essential service.

Incidentally, this question has come in from three sources the past few days, and some have even suggested that perhaps voters of the county should decide which agency they want to oversee the ambulance service.

Reagan To Name Haig

WASHINGTON (AP) — President-elect Ronald Reagan will name retired Gen. Alexander Haig, Richard M. Nixon's last White House chief of staff, as secretary of state today, sources close to the transition said.

The sources also said Reagan will appoint New Jersey construction executive Raymond Donovan as labor secretary.

The appointments were to be announced at 2 p.m. EST today.

a formula for peace

Is peace in our time possible? We think it is, if enough people, here and elsewhere, accept the fact that they themselves must abide by one fundamental rule in order to foster peaceful relations. What is that rule? It can be expressed by the initials MYOB. What do these initials mean? They mean, mind your own business! Doesn't that sound like a simple thing to do and something we should strive for in order to foster peace in our time? But how many of us do mind our own business? Don't all politicians and bureaucrats and their supporters violate this injunction constantly by the nature of government actions? Government supports itself by breaking the peace. In each and every instance in which government collects any kind of tax from an unwilling taxpayer it does so by breaking the peace between those in favor of such a tax and those not in favor of it. Governmentalists constantly break the peace, refusing to mind their own business, and yet their propaganda has been so effective for thousands of years that most people even today think government is necessary to "preserve the peace." However, more and more serious students of history are coming to the conclusion that government per se, far from being necessary to preserve the peace, by its very nature violates the peace. Peace as a goal must be sought by peaceful means. Means determine ends. Seeking peace through government actions must result in failure because government actions by their nature are nonpeaceful. That's the reason for the existence of government. A group of individuals favor a project which they refuse to pay for themselves. Instead, they form a government in order to legitimize the force they then exert upon unwilling taxpayers. Breaking the peace with these unwilling taxpayers they beat their propaganda drums and claim they possess the only road to peace. How can such nonpeaceful means result in a peaceful end? While peace often exists between government supporters and detractors, the reason it does is that the detractors don't resort to force. They remain peaceful. The formation of the government means the supporters have resorted to force. That's why they formed the government. To legitimize any force in opposition to them. The supporters of government are not responsible for any peace between them and the detractors. The detractors are responsible for this peace. Government never obeys the fundamental rule expressed as "mind your own business." Yet, what is more obvious than the fact that peace in our time can only come about when each and every one of us minds his or her own business?

Even the most visionary amongst us are nit picking pessimists at heart, I'm afraid. Historically we have been dissatisfied with the present but afraid to step into the future. Even the best of us have a tendency to expect the worst. Quest Magazine dug up these "Dire Predictions" just so I could prove my point. Even such stellar inventors as Thomas Edison had trouble accepting new things. On electricity he is quoted as saying in the late 1880s: "Just as certain as death, (George) Westinghouse will kill a customer within six months after he puts in a system of any size." Earlier, in 1878, when Edison announced that he was working on an incandescent lamp, the British Parliament sent an observer to Edison's laboratory to assess the future of the light bulb. Edison's ideas are "good enough for our trans-Atlantic friends," he reported, "but unworthy of the attention of practical or scientific men." And H.G. Wells who wrote such science fiction masterpieces as War of the Worlds, said of the submarine in 1902: "I must confess that my imagination, in spite even of spurring, refuses to see any sort of submarine doing anything but suffocate its crew and founder at sea."

spread socialistic feeling (in this country) more than the use of the automobile." Harper's Weekly penned in 1902: "The actual building of roads devoted to motor cars is not for the near future, in spite of the many rumors to that effect." Radio, in its infancy, attracted its share of notable skeptics. A U.S. district attorney said in a fraud trial in 1913: "De Forest has said in many newspapers and over his signature that it would be possible to transmit the human voice across the Atlantic before many years. Based on these absurd and deliberately misleading statements of de Forest, the misguided public, Your Honor, has been persuaded to purchase stock in his company." In the 1920s speaking movies were also viewed as a passing fancy. "When a century has passed, all thought of our so-called speaking movies will have been abandoned. It will never be possible to synchronize the voice with the picture." Even natural wonders have been scoffed at by men with high intelligence and shallow imagination. On finding the Grand Canyon, Lt. Joseph Ives, Corps of Topographical Engineers, said: "...is of course, altogether valueless. Ours has been the first, and will doubtless be the last, party of whites to visit this profitless locality." "The world tells its own tale and in its general decadence bears adequate witness that it is approaching its end. There is less rain in winter to encourage the growth of seed; springtime is not now so enjoyable or autumn so fruitful; the quarries, as if from weariness, give less stone and marble and the gold and silver mines are already worked out..." "Everything is rushing to its doom." —Cyprian of Carthage, A.D. 250 You said it Cyp.

The anatomy of a volunteer who was asked to fill a table of eight for a style show benefiting needy children: Monday: Called Jeanette.

Jeanette bought a ticket and in turn sold me two tickets for a gymnastic exhibition to send six baton twirlers to the inaugural. Also gave me three books of chances to sell on a microwave oven to lobby against dirty books. Tuesday: Saw Marge in supermarket. Marge bought a ticket and sold me two tickets to a ball to fund "Save the Whale Sperm." Gave me 60 flyers to distribute for a race to be run a week from Sunday to Stamp Out Puberty Among Our Young People. Thursday morning: Sold two tickets to Elaine who sold me a cookbook and two tickets to a luncheon with proceeds going to a Home for Retired Girl Scout Cookie Chairmen. Thursday Afternoon: Called Marty and sold her a ticket.

Marty, in return, asked me to make a table decoration for a luncheon and solicit Weight Watchers scholarship as a door prize. The luncheon would benefit a Shotmobile that would administer flu shots to the elderly. Thursday Evening: Saw Mayva. She bought a box of peanut brittle and sold me a ticket to a house tour benefiting Misplaced Homemakers. She was sorry she couldn't attend my style show but signed me up to drive a group of Women in Crisis over Night Driving to a concert Friday night. Friday: Saw Heleg selling fruitcakes in a supermarket to buy a camper for the nuns at the school. She reminded me that when she bought a ticket from me last year for the

Sponsor-a-Tree picnic, I told her I would collect door-to-door for Foot Health Week coming up next month. Friday Afternoon: Heard Marsha just got home from the hospital and wanted to get to her before anyone else. Sold her two tickets to the style show, but not before she made me promise to serve as chairman of the next year's Devotion to Motherhood and Wine-Tasting Seminar. Saturday Morning: Georgia finally returned my call. Before I could make my pitch, she asked me to fill a table of eight for a style show benefiting needy children. letters to the editor

To The Daily News: I certainly did not mean to imply that the teachers aren't doing their job—there is probably not a more dedicated sector of our society than the teachers. As a parent of five, I have been in classrooms in Indiana, Michigan, North Carolina and Texas. I have seen no greater love and concern in any profession. We sure know they are not teaching because of the money! Many, many times have they taken papers home and worked into the night grading them. Many, many times have they given up their evenings for the school or classroom functions. Many, many times have they lain awake at night, trying to find the answer to a particular student's problems. Many, many times have they prayed for guidance, prayed that they cannot fail. If a mile-high monument were to be dedicated to any profession in our society, it should be our teachers. If parents would back up the teacher 100 percent, our society would be the strongest in history. Greater love hath no man, or woman, that they give up 30 or more years of their life to instill learning, wisdom, love of country and God to children who sometimes get it nowhere else. Please, please parents—especially fathers—get more involved. Talk to your children's teacher, especially if they have problems. Visit the classroom, especially at the primary level, let your child know you are concerned. Praise your child when he or she does well. Give them loving concern when grades fall. Be a full-time parent. In your personal behavior, do nothing that could embarrass or hurt your child. Your reward will be great! Keith B. Martin Arach Rt. Box 64 Snyder

No Porn Shops In Jacksonville

JACKSONVILLE, Fla. (AP) — After a five-year campaign led by Baptist ministers, all the city's adult bookstores are closed and every X-rated movie theater is shut — making Jacksonville free of pornography, local officials say. "It's like night and day now," said Jake Godbold, mayor of the city of 534,000. "They were all over town." The last of the adult theaters was shut down Monday when Sheriff Dale Carson announced the indictment of 13 people on racketeering charges involving the sale of obscene films and sexually explicit live performances. "As far as I know, we're the only major city in the United States now that's free of pornography — bookstores and movies — and we intend to keep it that way," Carson said. However, Godbold said pornography outlets have often quickly reopened after being shut down. "Tonight, there's no pornography in Jacksonville," Godbold said Monday. "Tomorrow there may be."

A returning vacationer grumps that the knickknack shops seem to sell souvenirs with plenty of nicks, but very little knack in their manufacture. Why do presidential cabinets so often prove to have been made from lumber discarded from campaign platforms? Our erstwhile drinking neighbor survived pink elephants, purple snakes and whatnot, but seeing Santa, himself, downtown, "has shocked him into sobriety." Don't let the baby sitter know it is now possible to direct-dial most any country in the world. The blessing of the fleet is what you've enjoyed if you make it to the traffic island. Pioneering, '80s style: Having to make do with the whole, canned cranberries when you had intended to buy the cranberry jelly. If you don't think spirits walk at night, you've never seen our neighbor come wobbling home with a full cargo.

look back to Nov. 4 in the United States but a glance forward to May 10 in France. There is an election coming up there, and it is of more than national interest. For one thing, when the French go to the polls next spring they will be completing a process in which electorates of all the great democracies will have passed judgment on their governments in the two years since Margaret Thatcher's Tories took power in Britain. Results so far are a mixed political bag. Americans and Canadians, along with the British, have found the status quo wanting and opted for change. Twice in the case of Canada. West Germans and Japanese voted for more of the same. And the Italians — well, they are always changing premiers anyway. By now, change has come to mean no change. The French campaign already is under way with what looks like a crowded field. The Gaullists, who sometimes give the impression of being more personality cult than political party, could end up juggling three contenders, including a woman, a first for France. There is also an entertainer in the race, a comic specializing in barnyard language whose message to French voters is: "You think you're clowns, so why not vote for one?" The political establishment is scandalized by the antics of this Gallic combination of Lenny Bruce and John Anderson, but is having trouble laughing off what the response to him says about the public's attitude toward French politics as usual. He pulled 27 percent of the vote in a recent news-magazine straw poll. But the real contest is once more between incumbent President Valery Giscard d'Estaing, completing a seven-year term, and Socialist Francois Mitterand, who came within 300,000 votes of defeating Giscard in 1974. Until very recently, Giscard looked like a shoo-in. The French system, devised by Charles de Gaulle, gives the president immense powers that in hands that know what to do with them can make parliament's endeavors almost superfluous. Giscard has wielded them adroitly, using his strong position at home to elevate himself to a leading statesmen's role on the world scene. But lately, even Giscard may be having some doubts. His center coalition has lost a string of by-elections, largely to Socialists. Talk of scandals in his government and immediate family won't be stilled and has embroiled him in a highly public battle with France's leading newspaper, Le Monde. His nominal allies, the Gaullists, are working against him, and the disarray that followed a 1978 parliamentary election split between the Socialists and Communists appears to be inconveniencing Mitterand much less than anticipated. He is appealing to Communist voters over the heads of the party leadership and the by-election results indicate they are listening. And there are also indications that the French may be wearying of the status quo in general. If Giscard is returned, another seven-year term means a very great deal of the same. By 1988, he will have led France — some would say his style makes ruled the more appropriate word — for 14 years, a very long tenure in a democracy. The presidency of Franklin D. Roosevelt, who to earlier generations of Americans seemed to have been around forever, endured only 12 years. The France of de Gaulle's Fifth Republic has come to represent rock-like stability in world politics. But it should be remembered that it was preceded by a virtual breakdown in the social order during the late '50s. France in its long history has known just about everything in the line of government — monarchies, empires, virtual anarchy, directorates and, in the surprisingly long-lived Third Republic, possibly history's freest-swinging effective parliamentary democracy. France is changeable and could change again. It has been said that the modern nation's real problem, the explanation for its periodic upheavals, is that the French Revolution, a watershed event for the entire world, has never been carried to completion in la Patrie. The unrest manifesting itself beneath the placidly prosperous surface of French life as this presidential campaign develops could be signaling that the French are working themselves up to yet another go.

Retired Teachers Host Covered Dish Dinner

The Scurry County Retired Teachers Association (RTA) celebrated its Christmas meeting with a covered dish dinner at the Senior Center at 5 p.m. Dec. 11.
 Tables were centered with votive candles in hurricane globes, framed with poinsettias and holly candle rings. A program of beautiful Christmas music was provided by the Senior Center Sunshine Choir, directed by Chuck Weatherford, youth and music director of the First United Methodist Church, and accompanied by Virginia Whitson at the piano.
 Ray Summers gave the invocation. Jewel Summers, president of RTA, welcomed guests and introduced the speaker, Larry Shaw, state representative. Shaw conducted a question and answer session with the group, and expressed his appreciation at being a part of the meeting. He urged members to keep in communication with his office. Fifty members and guests attended the meeting.

Foster echo then and now

The Foster echo goes back to whist. You simply play your second-best card when following to a suit led by partner and when you are not trying to win the trick yourself. This echo is still used on many occasions by modern players but should not be followed blindly.
 This Foster hand shows how the Foster echo works perfectly. The bidding would probably be the same today since South has a standard three-notrump opening. In Foster's article, East followed with the deuce to the opening lead and declarer just cashed three top diamonds, whereupon South claimed the last 10 tricks.
 If East had played the 10 as a Foster echo, West would have known that he held the jack and led a low diamond. The defense would then take the first five tricks.
 A modern expert would not use the Foster echo here. Instead, he would simply play the jack to guaranty possession of the 10. In modern expert play you always signal with the highest card you can spare and obviously you can't spare the jack if you don't hold the 10.
 Conversely, the 10 play would be a come-on but would definitely deny possession of the jack. (NEWSPAPER ENTERPRISE ASSN.)

A warm shower before bedtime is as soothing as a bath but can take half the time and is less drying to your skin. Aim the shower head at tense muscle areas. Use a loofah to remove dry, rough, dead skin cells. Smooth away calluses on elbows and heels with a pumice stone. When you step out, dry with a fluffy-terry towel, then apply body lotion and powder all over before slipping into your nightgown, and bed.

Dear Abby

'The Other Woman' Won't Ever Be the Wife

By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: Quite often I read in your column what I call "the other woman lament." I understand her position, but from where I stand, I think her position is most enviable.

I'm a respectable married woman but would almost welcome being "the other woman." If I were "the other woman," my lover would probably remember me on my birthday and special holidays. My husband does not. My lover would probably compliment me from time to time. My husband does not—even though I am considered an excellent cook and housekeeper, attractive, and weigh within 3 pounds of what I weighed when he married me. My sex life would probably be much improved, as my husband's idiom wants sex, and when he does, he satisfies only himself. My lover might even tell me he loves me occasionally. My husband never does.

The respectability and security of marriage are important, but they're not enough. In the next life (if there is one), I want to be "the other woman."

ENVIUS

DEAR ENVIUS: Before committing your next life to "the other woman," please read this letter from my files:

DEAR ABBY: May I give your readers the benefit of my very valuable experience? I address this to "the other woman," who is in love with a married man:

Never expect to see him on Sundays or holidays. Never call him at home. Don't ever expect him to take you out in public, but be prepared to entertain him at your place. He may bring a bottle or the steaks occasionally, but in actual dollars and cents you will spend more on him than he'll spend on you. Never depend on him in times of personal crisis. Don't believe him when he tells you his wife is a shrew, cold, homely, too fat (or too thin) and he hasn't slept with her for 10 years.

Don't ever expect his wife to divorce him—even if she catches him. She knows you are not his first and won't be his last. Also, she is not about to give up her social status, financial security and retirement income because of you.

However, her discovery will probably terminate his affair with you, so be prepared to get some new clothes, circulate, and find another married man whose wife is a shrew, cold, homely, too fat (or too thin) and hasn't slept with him for 10 years. Sign me

HIS WIFE

DEAR ABBY: I am another one who lives in New Mexico and has been mistaken for a foreigner.

I mailed a check to National Geographic magazine for the renewal of my subscription and received the following letter:

"We are sorry to inform you that the amount of your check does not cover a subscription to a foreign country."

I turned the letter over and wrote on the back:

"I have placed a stop-payment order at my bank for the check to renew my subscription. I did not realize National Geographic was not published in the United States of America. I do not wish to subscribe to a foreign publication."

MRS. R. L. KOPP, ROSWELL, NEW MEXICO

DEAR MRS. KOPP: So what happened? Did the magazine acknowledge the human error, or blame the computer like everybody else does?

Do you hate to write letters because you don't know what to say? Thank-you notes, sympathy letters, congratulations, how to decline and accept invitations and how to write an interesting letter are included in Abby's booklet, "How to Write Letters for All Occasions." Send $1 and a long, stamped (28 cents), self-addressed envelope to: Abby, Letter Booklet, 132 Lasky Drive, Beverly Hills, Calif. 90212.

Carbon Dioxide Injections Could Hike Oil Production

HOUSTON (AP) — Shell Oil Co. says tests indicate that the injection of carbon dioxide into a large West Texas oil field can boost production by 280 million barrels.

Shell spokesmen said Monday the company is proceeding with a final design of the $1.6 billion project, which will include the Denver Unit of the Wasson field in Texas, a field near Cortez, Colo., and a 480-mile long pipeline.

C.L. Blackburn, Shell executive vice president for exploration and development, said that in Texas and New Mexico alone the industry's recovery potential with carbon dioxide is at least 2 billion barrels.

He said "nationwide, it is estimated carbon dioxide and other enhanced oil recovery methods have a potential of up to 30 billion barrels, slightly more than today's total U.S. proved reserves."

Shell said primary and waterflooding methods will produce 850 million barrels or about 39 percent of the 2,200 million barrels of oil believed to be in the Denver Unit reservoir.

Officials said that ultimate recovery with carbon dioxide flooding could be increased to 52 percent and the productive life of unit extended to 25 years.

Fine, Jail Term In DWI Conviction

Alfred C. Totty, 3307 Ave. A, was sentenced yesterday in 132nd District Court to serve a four-month jail term on a charge of driving while intoxicated. He was also fined $500.

The offense dates back to a Sept. 5 arrest. He had entered a guilty plea in the case.

According to a poll conducted by Advertising Age, 69 percent of the men surveyed think women have changed for the better in the past 20 years, but only 46 percent of the women felt the same way about men. The modern men say they like today's women because they are more aggressive, ambitious, self-confident and intelligent.

Farmers Not Immune To Ravages Of Stress

BISMARCK, N.D. (AP) — Frank Smith has just learned he won't be able to borrow the $16,000 he needs for a new combine. Will the old patched-up one make it through another harvest?

Last week, hail mowed down what was left of his sunflowers — the ones that didn't shrivel in the drought.

Frank Smith is an imaginary farmer, but his problems are not.

Some farmers with such troubles shrug them off and hope for better times ahead. Some, however, get ulcers and high blood pressure.

If things are bad enough, they start hiding bottles in tool sheds. Or hitting their wives.

City folks tend to view the farm as a placid retreat in which to "get away from it all." But mental health experts are recognizing aspects of farm life that are far from idyllic and untroubled. They're also developing programs to reach farmers before the suppliers of the nation's food explode.

The biggest problem is "the unpredictability of being a farmer," says April Moen-Johnson, coordinator of VISTA's Small Farm Family project in North Dakota. "It's a high-risk operation."

A farmer is at the mercy of the weather and the market, two factors he can't control.

This year in North Dakota, drought, hail, excessive rain and early frost struck in succession.

"People aren't getting out of their land what they put into it," Ms. Moen-Johnson said.

"These people have to buy thousands of dollars worth of machinery, and they can't plan on it. And they have this tremendous dependency on government that they don't understand. They tend to be pessimistic about everything."

Put two or three generations of a family together in a farmhouse, miles from a town or neighbor — especially during a bad winter — and tensions can explode.

"There are some very talented, capable women on farms who have no outlet," said Myrt Armstrong, executive director of the Mental Health Association.

The frustration comes into sharp focus when children leave home and a drinking or pill problem is born, she said.

Pride prevents farmers and rural people from seeking help, said Sheldon Loftsgard of the Memorial Mental Health and Retardation Center in Mandan.

Dirt can hurt

...in your filter, on your bill.

The filter in your heating and cooling unit is there to collect dust and lint. But when the filter's full, the unit has to work longer to force air through. And that forces up your energy bills.

It's a good idea to check your filter once a month. A dirty filter should be cleaned if it's a permanent filter or replaced if it's a disposable. And that's an easy job ... to overlook.

To help you remember when you checked your filter, we've included a filter checklist with your December bill. You can tape it right to your unit.

At Texas Electric, we think the more you know about using —and saving—energy, the better.

Lee Rebels Edge Tigers

Midland Lee's Rebels held on for a 55-52 victory over the Snyder Tigers last night in the Scurry County Coliseum, as the teams moved closer to the opening of the conference season.

Actually, the Rebels won two quarters and the Tigers won two quarters, but a four-point edge in the third stanza made the difference.

The score was knotted at 26-26 at half-time, and after the visitors hit for 18 points while the Bengals got only 14 in the third period, the locals made a strong bid in the fourth, but it fell short.

Barry Blackmon was the top scorer for the Tigers with 10 points, while Alvin Dunson had 14 for the Rebels.

The Tigers are now 3-11 on the season, with most of their losses inflicted by Class 5-A teams.

The Tigers are scheduled to take on District 2-AAAA conference foe Odessa Ector in Odessa at 8 p.m. Friday.

In other action last night in the coliseum, the Snyder Junior Varsity nipped the Midland Lee JV, 57-56, in overtime, and the Midland Lee sophomores edged the Snyder sophs, 66-64.

SNYDER VARSITY: Brad Robertson 1-7-9; John Wilson 0-9-9; Keith Wallace 4-0-8; James Caldwell 1-1-3; Barry Blackmon 5-0-10; D. W. Lofton 1-3-5; Kris Seale 2-1-5; Curtis Gafford 1-1-3; totals 15-22-52.

9th Graders Fall, 50-49

The Snyder 9th Grade Black basketball team dropped a 50-49 decision at Big Spring last night to wind up their pre-Christmas schedule.

Snyder had three players in double figures as Fred Fleming accounted for 15 points, Chad Peterson 11 and Torri Walker 10.

Dunnam, was the top scorer for Big Spring with 24 points.

SNYDER 9TH: Fred Fleming 7-1-15; Chad Peterson 4-3-11; Torri Walker 4-2-10; Norman Malone 3-0-6; Sonny Cobb 1-1-3; Jerry Comstock 1-1-3; Paul Tate 0-1-1; Totals 20-9-49.

Frosh Girls Win, 30-25

The Snyder Freshman Girls basketball team downed the Big Spring freshmen, 30-25, last night in Big Spring for their first victory of the season. They are now 1-2 for the season.

Carmen Rios scored 14 points to lead the scoring, while Mona Green and Susan Hamlett had five each. Andrea Kitchens, Deana Underwood and Linda Walker had two each.

In their previous outing Thursday, The Snyder Frosh girls dropped a 32-21 decision to Sweetwater. In that game, Rios had 12 points, Green six, Walker two and Hamlett one.

The Snyder Frosh Girls Team goes to Lamesa for their next game Thursday at 5:30.

Judoists Of WTC Place

Five members of the judo team from Western Texas College placed in the Texas Open Judo Tournament at Texas Christian University Saturday, announces Dr. Shelby Hillis, team sponsor.

Angela Manly placed first in the women's 134 pound division. Placing second were: Eric Johnson in the 172 pound division; Kay Mitchell in the 106 pound division; and Kevin Burns in the boys 11 and 12 year-old heavyweight division.

Mark Thomas took third in the men's 189 pound class. The next tournament will be the Denton Open in Denton Jan. 17, said Dr. Hillis.

Quisenberry Honored

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (AP) — Sinkerballing Dan Quisenberry, who recorded a club-record 33 saves this past season, was named the Kansas City Royals' pitcher of the year Monday.

The 27-year-old right-hander, who compiled a 12-7 record in just his second major league season, was voted the Rolands American League Fireman of the Year last week in Dallas.

Top Three Maintain Positions

NEW YORK (AP) — DePaul, Kentucky and UCLA maintained their stranglehold on the top three spots in The Associated Press college basketball poll Tuesday as defending national champion Louisville — a surprising victor over then No. 4 Maryland last week — returned to the Top 20 despite its 1-3 record.

DePaul, 5-0, claimed the No. 1 position for the third consecutive week, collecting 32 first-place votes and 1,150 points from a nationwide panel of sports writers and broadcasters. But the Blue Demons, who posted easy victories over Northern Illinois and Texas last week, do not have much breathing room. Preseason favorite Kentucky, 4-0, is just 12 points back after getting 23 first-place votes.

And the Wildcats are gaining momentum. Last week, DePaul held a 32-

20 first-place vote advantage over Kentucky in the poll and a 24-point margin. Two weeks ago, the poll gave the Blue Demons a 38-15 margin in No. 1 ballots and 1,171 points to 1,085 for the Wildcats.

UCLA, 4-0 following a triumph over Pepperdine, was third, being tabbed No. 1 on two ballots and receiving 1,039 points.

Oregon State, 5-0, and Virginia, 5-0, each moved up a slot and took over the No. 4 and 5 positions, respectively. The Beavers got one No. 1 vote and 988 points, while the Cavaliers, who grabbed the final No. 1 ballot, amassed 963 points.

Notre Dame jumped three spots and took over the No. 6 position with 693 points following its upset victory over then-seventh-ranked Indiana.

Ohio State drew one notch closer to the top with 645 points. North Carolina, 6-1, was eighth with 616 points — 14 more than Atlantic Coast Conference rival Maryland. Louisiana State, impressive in beating Nevada-Las Vegas, rounded out the Top Ten with 565 points.

Indiana, which has spent the season in the Top Ten but has been beaten by both Kentucky and Notre Dame, now heads the Second Ten — one whose rear is brought up by Louisville. Wake Forest has the 12th position and is followed by Texas A&M, Arizona State, Michigan, Iowa, Illinois, Brigham Young, Arkansas and Louisville.

Last week, the Second Ten was Louisiana State, Texas A&M, Wake Forest, Missouri, Arizona State, Iowa, Arkansas, Michigan, Brigham Young and Syracuse.

This week's poll, which was conducted before Monday night's action, has one newcomer, Illinois and one returnee, Louisville, which was ranked No. 3 in the preseason poll. They replace Missouri, which was defeated by Illinois last week, and Syracuse, which posted victories over Detroit and Illinois State last week, but couldn't gather enough support to make this week's poll.

Rams Set Up Playoff Match

ANAHEIM, Calif. (AP) — Vince Ferragamo staged an aerial show and Jewel Thomas put on one on the ground which probably will continue the playoff rivalry between the Los Angeles Rams and Dallas Cowboys.

The Rams whipped the Cowboys 38-14 Monday night at Anaheim Stadium and thus assured both would be in the playoffs. Most likely they will meet each other in the opening round.

Five of their last nine meetings have been playoff games, with Dallas holding a 3-2 edge, but the Rams were a 21-19 winner last year.

Ferragamo, still suffering from bruised ribs he received a week ago against Buffalo, hit touchdown passes of 40 yards to Billy Waddy, 34 to Preston Dennard and 1 to Victor Hicks.

All told, he completed 15 of 25 throws for 275 yards, with no interceptions.

Ferragamo said his ribs hurt him, but he had a heavy fiberglass protector, and Jackie Slater and Doug France (the offensive tackles) did a fantastic job protecting me," he said. "Nobody really touched me all night. Not direct, anyway.

"Thomas was fantastic. He adds a great additional dimension to our offense."

The 5-foot-10 speedster from San Jose State weighs 223 pounds and has great breakout acceleration.

Dallas defensive end Harvey Martin said only, "We were all just mixed up tonight. Ferragamo had a great night, but we contributed to it. He has a great offensive line, but we were not playing defense. We just made too many mistakes."

Quarterback Danny White, who completed nine of 23 passes for 147 yards but had three intercepted and was sacked three times, said, "We really played badly. It was a team effort to get beat like that. They took it to us early and we never got back into it."

"When we meet them in two weeks, it will be a different story. We didn't practice well during the week. We should have expected this."

The Rams gained 517 total yards to 271 for Dallas and Thomas was the leading rusher of the game with 147 yards on 16 carries. The veteran Tony Dorsett gained 77 yards on 14 carries.

The outcome of the nationally televised game left Los Angeles at 11-4 and Dallas at 11-4. If they meet in the playoffs as expected, the only way it could be in Los Angeles would be if the Rams beat Atlanta next week and Dallas loses to Philadelphia.

"Then we'll have them in our own backyard," said Coach Ray Malavasi. "We have a lot of confidence in Jewel Thomas and I thought Vince did a great job. He also had a lot of time to throw the ball. We have momentum now. This was an important game and next week is an important game."

"I'm disappointed that we didn't win the division, but very happy that we are in the playoffs."

Tired Bruins Pressed

UCLA Coach Larry Brown stopped just short of relegating his Bruins to the Pacific 10 Conference cellar.

"Those who are talking about a national championship or even a conference championship are reading our press clippings too closely," he said. "We're just not doing it on the court."

Brown was in a hang-dog mood after the third-ranked Bruins defeated the Evansville Purple Aces Monday night at Pauley Pavilion, 69-62. The Bruins never seemed able to shake a determined Evansville team.

"We looked tired tonight, and it seemed like Evansville got every loose ball," Brown said. "That comes from being tired and, I'm sorry to say, from getting outstuffed. I guess we weren't really ready to play."

UCLA won its fifth game without a loss while dealing the Purple Aces their second straight defeat after they had opened the season with four victories. But the night was not without some tense moments for UCLA.

The Bruins led by 15 points at the half. Evansville rallied to cut the lead to 10 at 51-41 with 12 minutes left, and the Purple Aces paced UCLA the rest of the way until cutting the margin to its final seven points.

"I'm proud of the way we played and the character our kids showed," Evansville Coach Dick Walters said. "We made this a difficult game for UCLA but we're not Notre Dame or Oregon State..." Freshman center Kenny Fields scored a career-high 17 points to pace the Bruins, and sophomore forward Darren Daye added 16. LeRoy Mitchell led the Purple Aces with 17 points, and Brad Leaf had 15.

Only one other game Monday night involved a ranked team. No. 11 Indiana, led by Ted Kitchel's 16 points, easily handled Oral Roberts, 65-56.

Many of Kitchel's 16 points came from long distance — what ORU Coach Ken Hayes called three-point range — as Oral Roberts concentrated on the Hoosiers' inside game.

"I thought we had to stop Indiana inside, but Kitchel was hitting them from where you don't even bother to guard anyone," Hayes said.

NEW YORK (AP) — In the first 366 games of the 1980-81 National Basketball Association, players have been successful on 22.6 percent of their three-point field goal attempts. That's down from the 28 percent accuracy mark posted last season, the first in which the three-point goal rule was used.

Problems solved.

Healthy holiday cooking

By Lawrence Lamb, M.D.

DEAR DR. LAMB — I dread the holidays because I know I am going to get sick. The problem is my mother-in-law. She is a dear, sweet woman but a disaster in the kitchen. We have to have our holiday dinners at her house and she does all the cooking and doesn't like suggestions, at least from me. That is why I need your help.

She cooks a turkey, or I should say half-cooks it, and she prepares her dressing the night before. I've tried to suggest that turkey needs to be cooked well to get rid of the bacteria but she won't listen so it will be another day of rubbery turkey served with bacterial dressing. She claims food isn't good if it is overcooked. Could you send me something I can show her to convince her that there is a better and healthier way? A holiday without diarrhea would be wonderful.

DEAR READER — I'm not sure she will be convinced but I'll try. The truth is that bacterial infections of food cause far more illnesses than chemicals, which have received most of the attention. About 50 percent of all turkeys are contaminated with salmonella bacteria. And pork, beef and lamb are also often contaminated. Proper cooking will kill these bacteria.

Internal temperature of poultry should be at least 175 F (80 C) for at least 30 minutes, and the peak internal temperature of turkey should be 190 F (87.8 C). Although much of our food is contaminated with bacteria, proper cooking will destroy them and render them harmless. Once sterilized by proper cooking, you need to keep the food free of contamination. Cooking utensils and table tops must be kept free of bacteria. The precautions to take to avoid food poisoning are outlined in The Health Letter number 6-2, Food Poisoning of Infectious Origin, which I am sending you. You can give it to your mother-in-law. Others who want this issue can send 75 cents with a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope for it to me, in care of this newspaper. P.O. Box 1551, Radio City Station, New York, NY 10019. As explained in that issue, once the bacteria-free cooked food is prepared, it should be kept adequately refrigerated to avoid growth of new bacteria.

Not all bacterial poisons are killed by cooking. The cream pie and potato salad problem is caused by staphylococcal infections that form a toxin in the food. The toxin is already there and heating or refrigeration after the toxin is formed won't eliminate the problem. The best bet here, as with dressing, is to not allow it to stand at room temperature for any length of time during preparation or after cooking.

DEAR DR. LAMB — I am a 52-year-old woman. When I go to bed and relax, I can't move or speak. I am like this for a few minutes. I have to get up for awhile to stop this. Sometimes I don't have any control over my neck muscles when I get up. I also lose control of my face, neck and arm muscles when I laugh real hard. I would appreciate any help you can give.

DEAR READER — Your brief story sounds like narcolepsy. Sleep paralysis, as you describe, is only one feature of the disorder. Such people often have a tendency to have short attacks of sleeping at frequent intervals. There is a tendency to sleep, much like short catnaps, which may occur anytime. If your family doctor is not clear on your problem, you might ask him to refer you to a psychiatrist or neurologist for further studies to be sure what you have. If that is your problem, Tofranil (imipramine) is sometimes used to control the sleep paralysis problem. (NEWSPAPER ENTERPRISE ASSN.)

More Concessions Wanted

WASHINGTON (AP) — Treasury Secretary G. William Miller says banks, suppliers and employees of the Chrysler Corp. must make more concessions before the ailing automaker can qualify for more of the federal loan guarantees it needs to stave off bankruptcy.

Miller, speaking after Monday's two-hour meeting of the federal Chrysler Loan Guarantee Board, which had been called to discuss Chrysler's latest financial plans, voiced doubt about whether the company can put together a qualifying package by the end of this week.

"In terms of whether all the pieces will fall in place, I cannot tell," he told reporters. "We're just trying to assess the information."

But if a decision needs to be made, he promised, the Carter administration will make it instead of leaving it to the incoming administration of Ronald Reagan, who becomes president Jan. 20.

"If it is necessary to make a decision, we will make it," Miller said. He pledged to keep Donald Regan, the Treasury secretary-designate, informed of the board's thinking on Chrysler.

Regan's judgment is "welcomed" and "appropriate," Miller said, explaining that he doesn't think his successor's views would be much different from his own.

Chrysler officials are expected to ask the board for $300 million to $400 million in additional loan guarantees, probably later this week. Chrysler has already drawn $800 million of $1.5 billion in federal loan guarantees granted by Congress. It can get more only if the board certifies that Chrysler can survive.

At a meeting last week of the loan board, federal officials warned Chrysler that it must cut much further to qualify for the loans.
