Sears Heist Nets $50,000

NILES, Ill. (AP) — Thieves used crowbars, sledgehammers and screwdrivers from the tool department of a Sears, Roebuck and Co. store to rob the store of at least $50,000 worth of gold watches, gold chains and valuable coins, police say.

Two or three men hid in the suburban Chicago mall store after closing time Tuesday night, then ransacked the jewelry department, forcing open display cases and storage drawers and filling four tote bags from the luggage department with loot, chief of detectives Lt. John Christie said Wednesday.

"It was a very crude operation, Christie said. "It was not a professional job because of the way they hacked their way into the drawers."

He said the burglars escaped by smashing a plate-glass window leading to the mall. The broken glass was discovered by security guards at 5 a.m. Wednesday when they went to open the store for maintenance personnel.

Chickens Await Death Warrant

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — The Texas Animal Health Commission is awaiting a death warrant from Gov. Bill Clements before killing 55,000 diseased chickens in Gonzales County.

The commission met in emergency session Wednesday to approve the "depopulation" of breeding chickens exposed to laryngotracheitis, which attacks the respiratory system of the birds. It can kill up to 70 percent of the birds in an infected flock.

A commission release said Clements must issue a "proclamation" before the chickens can be killed.

"Because it can spread so rapidly, commissioners voted to take this action to protect the state's poultry industry," the release said.

Says Soviets Wants Oil

CANBERRA, Australia (AP) — Saudi Arabia's oil minister, Sheik Ahmed Zaki Yamani, declared today that the Soviet Union's target is the Middle East oil fields.

Yamani told the National Press Club that Soviet military involvement in the Horn of Africa, Afghanistan and South Yemen showed what the Kremlin goal was.

"Their target is the oil fields, because sooner or later they will need the oil for themselves and for their satellites," he said.

Yamani urged the United States to strengthen its allies in the Middle East to counter the Soviet thrust, but said the Pentagon should avoid establishing a military base in the area.

He said the Soviets could use such a base as justification to move into the Persian Gulf area, and that would only bring "more heat to an area already inflamed."

Funeral Home Rules Sought

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Federal Trade Commission, which drew heavy congressional criticism over an attempt last year to regulate the funeral industry, is trying again.

The FTC proposed Wednesday that funeral homes be required to give prices on request over the telephone and to have itemized price lists available for inspection. The commission said funeral home customers frequently have trouble getting such information when they need it.

The regulation cannot take effect until the public has 60 days to comment and a 20-day period for rebuttal comments passes. The commission would then have to meet again to make the ruling formal.

The proposed regulation would apparently be free from any attempts by the Reagan administration to stop it. President-elect Ronald Reagan has said he thinks there are too many federal regulations.

The volume of mail apparently is nearing its annual pre-Christmas crest, judging from our observation of the city carriers, who seem to find it takes longer and longer to make their routes. However, we noted a decline in one type of mail the first three days of this week. We received letters from only three organizations who claim to be responsible for electing Ronald Reagan as president.

There have been times when there were two or three in a single day. They come from spokesmen of organizations who vigorously backed the newly-elected president, and each is certain that his, or her, organization was the deciding factor in the election.

It reminds us of an opposite reaction when W. Lee (Pappy) O'Daniel was elected Governor of Texas. He got more votes than all other candidates combined, but nobody would claim credit (or take the blame) for his election. But this time it seems that everybody who spoke out in Ronald Reagan's behalf wants to take credit for his success at the polls. And, as you read their material, you get the idea that each regards all others as "special interests."

The West Central Texas Oil and Gas Association has compiled some statistics on the "Windfall Profits Tax" to throw some light on the effect it has on this area's economy.

Their estimate of the impact on Scurry County is $924,140 per day. That is the amount going to the federal government as a result of this tax.

The estimate for a 23-county West Central Texas area is $1,725,217. So, you can see that more than half of that amount is being siphoned away from Scurry County. These figures are based on statistics obtained from the Texas Railroad Commission, and they are considered conservative, because royalty owners, like major oil companies, pay higher tax rates.

Meanwhile, the Permian Basin Petroleum Association has reiterated its opposition to a bill recently approved by Congress that allows a $1,000 credit for royalty owners for 1980. PBPA's objection is based on the fact that it is for one year only and it believes royalty owners should be completely exempt from the tax, not for merely one year, but always. Now, says PBPA, Congress can say "don't bother us anymore, we've already done something for the royalty owner."

ANGEL STREET AND GRAND—The junior high school will be buzzing with activity at 8 p.m. today when members of the mixed choir and drama classes meet at Angel Street and Grand in "Christmas On Angel Street." The musical follows the Snyder High School Choir Christmas concert at 7 p.m. at the high school. Under the direction of Eleanor Dryden and Martha Fagin, the musical is a modern

Missile Site Report Released By Air Force

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Air Force today released its long-awaited study of the impact on Utah and Nevada of deploying the proposed MX missile system, and described the effects as "manageable."

Air Force Undersecretary Antonia Chayes told reporters that, "while the impacts may appear severe when viewed from the perspective of a little-developed area of the country, from a national perspective — and MX is a national program — the impacts are not that large."

Briefing reporters in advance of the report's release, she called the impact statement a comprehensive and exhaustive study that can guide policymakers in their final decisions on the MX. But congressional critics were less charitable, describing the 1,900-page report as "the same old euphemisms suggesting that there is no problem too large for the Air Force to solve."

The report reaffirms the Air Force's preference for the desert valleys of Utah and Nevada for deploying the planned $34 billion missile system.

The $17 million study envisions thousands of con-

Sales Tax Rebate Passes $650,000

Snyder's retail sales tax rebates moved past the $650,000 mark for 1980 with the latest distribution made by the Comptroller of Public Accounts.

Bob Bullock, state comptroller, said the Snyder rebate for the period ending Dec. 4 amounted to $48,080, pushing the total for the year to $654,948. This represents an increase of 26 percent over the 1979 total.

Bullock said his office mailed out checks for a total of $33.5 million this month to the cities levying the one-percent sales tax. Houston got the biggest check. It was for $7.8 million and brought that city's total for the year up to $116.1 million.

The city sales taxes are collected along with the state's four percent sales tax by merchants and businesses and the comptroller rebates the cities' portions monthly.

Snyder's 1980 sales tax rebates topped those for cities in its population bracket in this region of the state.

Figures for other area cities, with the December rebate and the total for the struction workers, their families and related workers flooding into Utah and Nevada during the peak MX construction years in the mid-to late-1980s.

No Qualifications In School Audit

Snyder School Trustees yesterday accepted the annual audit of school funds at a special meeting held at the high school.

Presenting the audit was Joe H. Morren CPA, who noted that he had submitted no qualifications in his audit report, which covers the last fiscal year, which ended Aug. 31.

So far as could be determined it is the first unqualified audit ever received by the local school system. This means that accounting procedures in all categories comply to the letter with state requirements.

The audit report shows a surplus of $829,000 at the end of the fiscal year. Of that amount, half a million dollars was plowed back into the school system's budget for the 1980-81 school year, school officials said.

The audit also shows that the school district's bonded indebtedness has dwindled to $35,000 and this is due to be paid off by 1987.

Although funds are available to pay off the outstanding bonds now, the difference between interest rates now and those in effect

Includes Wage Freeze... Chrysler OKs Survival Plan

NEW YORK (AP) — Directors of Chrysler Corp., which expects to lose $200 million in the final three months of this year, today approved a survival plan for the automaker that includes wage freezes and an additional $400 million in federally guaranteed loans.

Chrysler Chairman Lee A. Iacocca told reporters following the board meeting in New York that the plan was approved unanimously by the directors. Only Douglas Fraser, president of the United Auto Workers union, failed to attend the meeting.

Chrysler Vice President Wendell Larsen told reporters the application to the Chrysler Loan Guarantee Board would not be made today, as spokesmen had said earlier, but could occur within a few days. He said the board had not asked for the application, and Chrysler was awaiting that request.

Larsen said Chrysler expects to lose about $200 million in the final quarter of 1980, a loss that would boost its 1980 deficit to $1.7 billion, more than any American corporation has ever lost in a year.

At a news conference in Highland Park, Mich., on Wednesday, Iacocca said the No. 3 automaker probably can stay afloat through January, but "has no future" after that unless it gets the $400 million in government-guaranteed loans.

Chrysler is confident of conditional approval for the guarantees, Iacocca said. "I would hope to get a signal to say that this plan looks terrific and it's viable; let's get on with it," he said. The automaker already has received $800 million in loan guarantees out of the $1.5 billion Congress first authorized last year when the loan guarantee board was created.

Santa's Line Open Tonight

The Jaycees are having their annual telephone hookup to the North Pole tonight from 7 until 9. With only one week remaining until Christmas, kids are encouraged to call Santa and tell him exactly what they want.

The phone numbers to call are: 573-3558 or 573-5508, said Kerry Tidwell, Jaycee spokesman.

Says Iran Official...

Guarantees Could Spring Hostages

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP) — Iranian Prime Minister Mohammad Ali Rajai said today the United States can win the release of the 52 American hostages before the Christmas holidays if Washington "can give the necessary guarantees," the official Pars news agency reported.

Rajai made the statement after a one-hour meeting with Sweden's ambassador to Tehran, who deplored the continuing crisis of the hostages now in their 411th day in captivity.

"Every measure to speed up the release of the hostages depends on the U.S. government," Rajai said. "The United States can release the hostages before the Christmas holidays if they can give the necessary guarantees."

He said Iran's "final reply" in the negotiations for the release of the captive Americans "will be sent to the United States in the near future."

Iran's revolutionary leader, Ayatollah Ruhollah Khomeini, gave his blessing to the final response prepared by Rajai and his cabinet on Tuesday.

U.S. officials in Washington reacted cautiously, saying they wanted to first see the Iranian reply which carries a demand for a guarantee on meeting the financial terms for the release of the hostages.

On Nov. 2, Iran's parliament laid down four conditions for ending the crisis: return of the late shah's wealth, unfreezing of Iranian assets in U.S. banks, dropping of legal claims against Iran and a pledge of U.S. non-interference in Iranian affairs.

Those guarantees were believed to be assurances that the shah's assets would be considered Iranian national property and that the $8 billion in Iranian assets frozen in the United States would be returned.

Dear Abby

Teachers' Affair Gets Flunking Grade

By Abigail Van Buren
© 1980 by Universal Press Syndicate

DEAR ABBY: As a teacher at a junior high school (no name or location, please) I am deeply concerned about a situation that exists here.

First, let me say I think a major aspect of teaching is to set a good example for the students to follow in terms of behavior. However, it is common knowledge that two teachers here (both married, but not to each other) are having an affair. It has progressed to the point where it is a topic of discussion among students and other teachers.

I realize that what two adults do in private is their own business, but by being so open about it, our students might get the impression that all of us teachers condone such behavior, which is certainly not true. Thus I am truly concerned about the detrimental effect this example is having on our students.

The administration is aware of this problem, but I'm told they have taken the position that it is a private matter, and not within their jurisdiction.

I welcome your advice as to how this situation should be handled by both me and the administration.

NAMELESS, PLEASE

DEAR NAMELESS: Children formulate their moral values at home, long before they reach junior high school, so you needn't be concerned about their following the "bad example" set by the teachers you mention.

If this alleged affair is, as you say, common knowledge, it is possible that the administration is dealing with it in ways unknown to you. Since they haven't solicited my advice, I'll offer them none, but if I were you, I'd stay out of it.

DEAR ABBY: One of the women I work with fixed me up with a friend of hers last Saturday night. I hate blind dates, but I must admit that this one lived up to her billing.

On Monday I received a bouquet of flowers from my date. The card said, "Thank you for a terrific evening." I was really shook, but I must say I liked it.

Abby, maybe I'm behind the times, because I have never heard of a woman sending flowers to a man to thank him for a date. I suppose this is part of the women's lib thing. Tell me, is this the way women do things today?

JEFF

DEAR JEFF: Only the smart ones.

DEAR ABBY: For whatever this is worth: I drove a taxi for a while, and Christmas Eve was a heartbreaker. Nearly all my calls came from bars. Most of my passengers were elderly; all of them were lonely. As the evening progressed, some of my fares were so drunk I had to help them into and out of the cab.

Abby, please remind your readers to remember elderly friends and relatives who are alone on Christmas Eve.

North's double of West's overall was negative showing length in the unbid suits and eight or more points. Although South had only 13 points in high cards, he liked his good seven-card suit and jumped to three spades which North routinely raised to game.

West made a speculative opening lead of the ace of diamonds. He continued diamonds at trick two and East ruffed. Declarer won the king of clubs return with dummy's ace and took a trump finesse. West won with the king and played a club which South ruffed. It might now appear that declarer must lose a heart trick to go one off, but that is not the case.

The defense had no chance. As long as East has the queen of clubs, a virtual certainty, and West the high diamonds, declarer must prevail.

Declarer led four rounds of trumps coming down to the king-10 of hearts, the nine of diamonds and the jack of clubs in dummy. West had three hearts and a diamond queen remaining and East three hearts and the club queen. South now played his last trump. West had to discard a small heart to keep his queen of diamonds and declarer pitched the worthless nine of diamonds from dummy.

Then it was East's turn. He also had to let go of a heart to hold onto his queen of clubs. Declarer cashed the king, ace and the good eight of hearts for his 10th trick. He had made his game via a double squeeze.

Wants No Unemployment Checks For Those Who Quit

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — Sen. Roy Blake has introduced a bill that would keep people who quit their jobs from collecting unemployment compensation. Blake, D-Nacogdoches, said Wednesday he was outraged that a Cuero teacher who quit his job to "seek other employment" was getting a total of $2,520. Blake's bill would deprive "voluntary quits" of jobless benefits until they obtained new jobs and worked for at least six weeks. Chairman Nolan Ward of the Texas Employment Commission opposes the bill because, he said, it would deny the TEC flexibility to award benefits to employees who quit for good reason and need money to live on while they start over. Blake complained because a majority of the three-man TEC had voted to award benefits to the Cuero teacher. Like all school districts and most cities, the Cuero Independent School District pays unemployment benefits directly from its tax revenue. "The thing that galls me about the situation is the fact that TEC could have disqualified this person for 25 weeks, and the taxpayers of Cuero ISD would not be made to pay $2,520 to a teacher not to teach plus paying the salary of a replacement," Blake said. Ward said the TEC does deny benefits for a period of time to persons who quit their jobs as a "punishment" but the time varies from case to case. The TEC can deny benefits for up to 25 weeks. "If someone quits because her husband is seriously injured or she has a child who is seriously injured, we tend to disqualify for four weeks on the average. If she quits to move with her husband, it's anywhere from one to seven weeks," Ward said. He said under the present system, the commission can look at the facts in each case and render a decision that is fair for both employee and employer. "I think the law contemplates that everybody doesn't quit for the same reason. The ability to be flexible in 'punishing' is left to three reasonable people who are looking at the case rationally. The (Blake) bill would take that away," he said. Ward noted that Texas' unemployment tax on employers is the nation's lowest as are its costs of operating the unemployment insurance program. "This policy (of denying benefits to voluntary quits) won't lower that (tax) rate at all. The only thing it would do is make it difficult for people who have circumstances where they must quit voluntarily to start over again," he said. Ward said in most cases involving voluntary quits, he and commissioner A.C. Shirley, who represents employees, vote to award benefits while employer representative Ken Clapp opposes them. Shirley's term expired Nov. 21, and Gov. Bill Clements has yet to name his replacement. Shirley is a union man, but the law does not require that the workers' representative come from organized labor.

Compensation Contested

DES MOINES, Iowa (AP) — Layton and Janet Vick say they hope there are no hard feelings over their decision to contest an unemployment compensation claim filed by their son. Paul Vick, 18, filed the claim after his parents fired him Oct. 15 from their gas station, grocery and sporting goods business near West Lake Okoboji. He was initially granted compensation, but his parents appealed and a state hearing officer has disqualified him. Job Service of Iowa announced this week. The elder Vick said his son was fired for his "general attitude towards the customers" and because he had been working on his car while he was supposed to be on the job.

Nurse upset with fad diets

By Lawrence Lamb, M.D.

DEAR DR. LAMB — I am the nurse in an all girl's high school and come in contact with students constantly on starvation diets. On many occasions we've had students faint from lack of food.

I have called the County Health department, The Dairy Council and several other agencies, but all they can recommend to me are brochures on the four basic foods.

Do you have any flyers, brochures, etc., that I might obtain to counsel these students on the hazards of drastic dieting? I would appreciate any help you can give us.

DEAR READER — The country seems to be plagued by two great ills — obesity and dangerous dieting. In my opinion, the large number of ads promoting fad diets is largely responsible for the dangerous practices such as you are seeing in high school students.

Fainting is a common consequence of many of these diets. Why? Because many low-carbohydrate plans depend on the body's tendency to wash out sodium, and with it, water. This, of course, does absolutely nothing to correct obesity, which is the accumulation of fat, not fluid.

Loss of hair, disturbances in the menstrual cycle, loss of interest in sex by the male and many other problems from such dietary fads are discussed in The Health Letter number 16-2, Dangerous Dieting, which I am sending you. Others who want this issue can send 75 cents with a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope for it to me, in care of this newspaper, P.O. Box 1551, Radio City Station, New York, NY 10019. This issue should be useful as a handout to youngsters you see who are not on a proper dietary program.

I approve of prevention and control of obesity but it can be done in a slow, sensible way that doesn't endanger one's health. Developing permanent good dietary habits along with a good exercise program is usually the best approach on a long-term basis.

DEAR DR. LAMB — Very often I wake up with one or both eyes swollen or puffy. It usually takes a few hours before the swelling goes down. Sometimes it doesn't disappear until evening. What causes this and how can I avoid this annoying problem? How can I get rid of the swelling once it has occurred?

DEAR READER — Some fullness around the eyes in the morning is normal. The more tendency you have to accumulate excess body water the more likely you will have swelling in the morning. Many women are bothered with this problem when they accumulate fluid before their menstrual period.

You notice it in the morning because fluid tends to run downhill from the heart. So you don't accumulate fluid in the daytime when you are up as fluid doesn't flow uphill. At night when your heart is at the same approximate level as your head, your eyes puff up. Fluid normally passes out of your blood vessels into your tissues and at night it all doesn't run back into your circulation from the tissues around your eyes. The skin and tissue around the eyes is loose so it is easy for fluid to accumulate there.

If it is marked, you should see your doctor to see if you have any important medical reasons for accumulating fluid. Otherwise, cut back on your salt. If you have enough fluid accumulation to justify doing it, your doctor may

Crude Buyers

Ask Increase

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — Major buyers of Texas crude oil have asked the Railroad Commission for 2,587,938 barrels a day in January, an increase of 28,566 barrels daily from December.

The purchaser nominations reflect what buyers think they can obtain from their leases.

The commission will meet Thursday to set the January production allowable, which has been 100 percent of capacity for seven years.

Chlorinated Water Linked To Cancer

By MARTIN CRUTSINGER
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — Chlorine, the chemical that keeps 80 percent of America's drinking water free of disease, has been linked to several types of cancer in a new study. The report on "Drinking Water and Cancer," released Wednesday by the President's Council on Environmental Quality, found that death statistics in five states provided fresh evidence to support "an association between rectal, colon and bladder cancer" and chlorinated water. But officials of the Environmental Protection Agency — which sets the country's drinking water standards — said the new study did nothing to change their position that the benefits of chlorine far outweigh the risks. Indeed, study researchers conceded the study did not take into account other factors that could alter cancer death rates, including smoking and diet. The use of chlorine in city water systems became widespread early in the century. The chemical kills a variety of disease-carrying organisms, including bacteria that carry cholera and typhoid germs. "Chlorine is a very effective disinfectant. It has saved countless thousands of lives," said Dr. Joseph Cotruvo of the EPA. The study was a follow-up to a 1977 report by the National Academy of Sciences, which raised the first scientific questions of cancer threats from chlorinated water. The new studies analyzed death statistics in Illinois, Louisiana, New York, North Carolina and Wisconsin to see if cancer rates differed between people who drank chlorinated water and those who did not. More than 50,000 different kinds of insects exist in Canada.

Reagan Is Undecided On Final Cabinet Choices

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Ronald Reagan still can't make up his mind who to pick for the rest of his Cabinet, say sources on the president-elect's transition team.

Of five Cabinet posts yet to be filled, Reagan reportedly has settled on choices for secretary of interior and secretary of energy. There were still some questions about his choices for secretaries of housing and urban development and agriculture and education, however.

While Reagan was trying to round out his Cabinet, his chief of staff, James Baker, told reporters in Washington on Wednesday that Reagan is "seriously considering" declaring an "economic emergency" shortly after he takes office Jan. 20.

Baker said Reagan and his advisers feel "it's extremely important to act quickly and decisively" on economic matters. He also said Reagan would probably ask for changes in the fiscal 1981 budget already approved by Congress. The 1981 fiscal year began Oct. 1.

Baker's comments came several weeks after a call last month by Rep. David Stockman, R-Mich., for an aggressive legislative program of tax and spending cuts during the first 100 days of Reagan's term. Stockman has since been picked by Reagan to head the Office of Management and Budget, a key executive branch post.

Stockman has said that unless Reagan takes decisive action, his administration could face rises in the inflation rate, an unstable dollar, and a new recession.

While the economic moves are being considered, Reagan and his top advisers are also trying to complete the Cabinet, a task that has taken several weeks longer than planned.

Reagan spokesmen originally talked about filling the Cabinet by Thanksgiving. Now, they say, Reagan hopes to announce the final five secretaries before Christmas, if not by the end of this week.

Former South Carolina Gov. James B. Edwards is in line to become energy secretary, according to his secretary, Lil Jenkins, who said he had been offered the post by Reagan and had accepted. The appointment of Edwards would mollify southerners who had complained there were no southerners among the first 10 Cabinet appointments.

James G. Watt, a conservative Colorado lawyer who heads a foundation that has challenged environmental regulations, is reportedly in line for interior secretary.

Sources said Philip Sanchez, former head of the defunct Office of Economic Opportunity, was the likely candidate to be HUD secretary, until Wednesday, when one source said a problem developed that could block Sanchez. The source would not disclose the problem.

Richard Lyng, former president of the American Meat Institute, reportedly was in line to become secretary of agriculture, but some sources said his selection might still be in doubt.

Reagan also was said to be undecided about his choice to head the education department, which he has vowed to dismantle. The most prominently mentioned name for the job has been former Federal Trade Commission member Elizabeth Dole, possibly the only woman to serve in a Reagan Cabinet.

Police Report

Three Mishaps

A theft, criminal mischief, and three minor traffic accidents have been investigated by city police.

The theft was reported about 2 a.m. today by Ruben Capps who said a car battery had been taken from him. It was valued at $40. Working that case is Bill Armstrong.

Yesterday, Trudy Hataway reported her car's tail light and antenna had been broken. That vandalism was pegged at $200.

The first traffic accident occurred about 8:25 a.m. Wednesday at 3712 Ave. U. It involved a parked 1976 Chevrolet driven by Aubrey Williams and a 1977 Ford driven by Jerri Ann Murphy. Working it was Kerry Fritz.

At 12:20 p.m., Fritz worked a collision at Snyder High School parking lot. Involved in it were a parked 1967 Ford owned by Keith McClain and a 1978 Mercury driven by Charles Staton.

Keith Ward worked the final accident Wednesday at 6:05 p.m. in the 3400 block of College Ave. In it, a 1977 Ford driven by Rex Gard struck a street curb.

Rams Dominate NFC Pro Bowl Selections

NEW YORK (AP) - Los Angeles dominates the National Conference Pro Bowl team announced today, but Steve Bartkowski, who helped Atlanta break the Rams' hold on first place in the NFC West, is the starting quarterback.

The Rams, who had won seven consecutive division titles before settling for a wild-card playoff berth behind the Falcons this year, put eight players on the 40-man unit (20 on offense, 17 on defense, 3 specialists) which will face the American Conference Feb. 1 in the National Football League's all-star game at Honolulu's Aloha Stadium.

Los Angeles' starters are guard Kent Hill, center Rich Saul, cornerback Pat Thomas and safety Nolan Cromwell. The Rams' reserves on the team are guard Dennis Harrah, defensive tackle Larry Brooks, middle linebacker Jack Reynolds and cornerback Rod Perry.

Dallas and Philadelphia, battling this Sunday for the East Division title (both already have clinched NFC wild card berths), placed four players apiece on the Pro Bowl team. The Eagles' starters are wide receiver Harold Carmichael, defensive tackle Charlie Johnson and safety Randy Logan; the Cowboys' starters are guard Herbert Scott, defensive tackle Randy White and middle linebacker Bob Breunig.

Bartkowski and reserve quarterback Ron Jaworski of Philadelphia rank second and third in NFC passing, behind Vince Ferragamo of Los Angeles, but were selected ahead of him by the conference's 14 head coaches and NFL members of the NFL Players Association.

The running backs are Walter Payton of the Chicago Bears and Otis Anderson of the St. Louis Cardinals. Payton, with 1,330 yards, leads the NFC in rushing (second in the league behind Houston's Earl Campbell) and is seeking his fifth consecutive conference rushing title.

Anderson has 1,230 yards and is third in the conference, 19 yards behind rookie Billy Sims of Detroit. Sims and Atlanta's William Andrews are the reserve runners.

The AFC's starting quarterback, Dan Fouts, wide receiver Charlie Joiner and guard Doug Wilkerson.

New England placed seven players on the AFC squad, including starters Stanley Morgan at wide receiver, John Hannah at guard and cornerback Mike Haynes. Pittsburgh, the defending Super Bowl champion, has three starters - center Mike Webster, middle linebacker Jack Lambert and safety Donnie Shell.

Forsch Looking For Trade Still

HOUSTON (AP) - Houston Astros pitcher Ken Forsch, one of eight possible starters on the roster, is ready to help Manager Bill Virdon in choosing his five-man rotation - Forsch says he still wants to be traded.

Forsch reacted sharply and quickly to the firing of Tal Smith on Oct. 27 by saying he wanted to be traded. Forsch still wants to leave but under his own terms.

"I've been here a long time and I've always thought about the team first," Forsch said. "Now it's time to think strictly about myself. If San Francisco doesn't want to pay that (extension) then I'm not going to approve the deal. That tells me I don't figure in their plans all that much."

Forsch referred to a proposed trade with the Giants that would have sent Forsch and outfielder Jeff Leonard to the Giants in exchange for outfielder Larry Herndon and an unnamed player.

"I'm not going anywhere unless I get an extension of my contract," said Forsch, who has two years remaining on his current contract. "I don't see any point in taking a financial beating."

As a 10-year veteran with five years on the same club, Forsch can nullify any deal the Astros try to make.

Forsch compiled a 12-13 record last season with an earned run average of 3.20, 10th best in the National League. But the Astros currently have eight potential starting pitchers including recent signees Don Sutton and

Johnson and Louie Kelcher. Their reserves are quarterback Dan Fouts, wide receiver Charlie Joiner and guard Doug Wilkerson.

New England placed seven players on the AFC squad, including starters Stanley Morgan at wide receiver, John Hannah at guard and cornerback Mike Haynes. Pittsburgh, the defending Super Bowl champion, has three starters - center Mike Webster, middle linebacker Jack Lambert and safety Donnie Shell.

Bob Knepper. "I don't imagine I have a good chance to make the starting rotation now," Forsch said. "I'm just trying to be realistic here. It looks like I'm eliminated before I ever get to spring training."

Virdon says Forsch is being critical of his abilities. "What he needs to do is to be more positive about his own ability," Virdon said. "He's a better pitcher than he gives himself credit for."

But Fritsch May Be Back...

Marcol Grateful For Chance

HOUSTON (AP) - Five games into the 1980 season, Chester Marcol's world came apart.

After nine years with the Green Bay Packers he was cut from the team and admits he went on an 11-day binder. Marcol started putting his life back together but had given up on playing again this season, until he got an early Christmas present last Saturday - a call from the Houston Oilers, who just happened to be in town to play the Packers.

With the benefit of only a brief tryout, Marcol signed on with the Oilers and kicked a 27-yard field goal en route to a 22-3 victory. He also missed two of three extra point attempts and says he tried to hide his nervousness.

"But I felt it inside," he said. "I wanted to do well so badly that I missed the first extra point. But everybody told me not to worry that I'd come back and kick a field goal. It really helped calm me down."

Marcol may get a chance to kick again in Sunday's regular season finale against Minnesota if regular kicker Toni Fritsch has not fully recovered from a back injury that kept him out of the Green Bay game.

Fritsch returned to workouts Wednesday and pronounced himself ready to kick but Coach Bum Phillips said both kickers might be on the sideline for Sunday's game.

"Today I feel fine, I went through a regular schedule and I'll be ready to do my best on Sunday," Fritsch said. "It is good to know what is wrong and what is not wrong. You can't just go to the store and get new parts for my back."

Marcol said he had continued to work out twice weekly after being cut by the Packers. He said he could get his timing down with Oiler holder Gifford Nielsen before Sunday's game.

"I'm just happy to get a chance to play on a championship team again," Marcol said. "I haven't been on one since 1972 and it feels good."

JENKINS CHARGED
BRAMPTON, Ontario (AP) - Ferguson Jenkins, right-handed pitcher for the Texas Rangers, was found guilty Thursday in provincial court of possession of cocaine.

Jenkins, 37, four-time Canadian athlete of the year who was awarded the Order of Canada in 1979, was to be sentenced later in the day after testimony from character witnesses.

Tigers Open District Friday Against Ector

ODESSA—Coach George Byerly's Tigers are a man short and still have some problems to iron out, but he's optimistic about starting the District 2-AAAA slate here Friday.

"I think they (the team) are ready to get after it. I know I am," he said this morning, prior to leaving for Friday's 8 o'clock game with Ector here.

A junior varsity game will open the night's fare at 6:15.

"We had a tough week last week, playing five games in a row without a workout. We've been able to get into the gym this week and I think that's helped us some," added the coach.

The Tigers will be going into Friday's district opener without the services of starter Eric Arnold, who twisted an ankle in the first game of the Canyon Reef Tournament and has been sidelined since.

There are also a few more bugs to be worked out of the Tiger game, which has played, for the most part, better than its 3-11 record indicates.

"We need to get more consistent," Byerly explained. "We are capable of beating anybody in this district, but we're going to have to play consistent basketball more than we have. It seems like we play real well in spurts, but we'll get tired or have mental letdowns."

According to Byerly, his Tigers won't be able to let down against the Eagles tomorrow.

"Ector is traditionally one of the powers in that (old 2-AAA) district and I'm sure they will be in this district, too," he stated. "They are especially tough at home. They have good crowd support."

The Eagles, 8-7, are led by 6-5 all-district performer Kevin Butler and guard Charles Ricks.

"Butler is really the key to their team," said Byerly. "He does most of their rebounding and is usually their high-point man. Ricks is a little guard and is an excellent shooter."

The rest of the district also picks up action Friday as Lake View treks to Fort Stockton, Lamesa is at Monahans and Sweetwater is at Pecos. Andrews is idle.

Snyder, along with most of the rest of the district, takes a break after Friday's bout until Dec. 30, when the Tigers travel to Big Spring for a non-conference tilt. District action picks up again Jan. 2 as the Tigers host Pecos.

Eagles Come Knocking On Lady Cats' Door

Snyder's Felines resume District 2-AAAA play here Friday, taking on the Eagles of Odessa Ector High School in SHS Gym at 8 o'clock.

A junior varsity game will open the double header at 6:15.

Snyder goes into the contest at 2-1 in first-round loop play, one game back of Monahans and Sweetwater. Ector is 1-2, having defeated Pecos 69-52 its last time out.

In other 2-AAAA girls' games Friday, Fort Stockton is at Lake View, Monahans travels to Lamesa and Sweetwater entertains Pecos. Andrews is idle.

Current first-round standings have Monahans on top with a 4-0 record, followed by 3-0 Sweetwater, 2-1 Snyder and Fort Stockton, 2-2 Pecos and Lake View, 1-2 Ector, 1-3 Andrews and 0-4 Lamesa.

Snyder, last year's District 3-AAA champion, is looking to defeat Ector, Pecos, Lamesa and Fort Stockton in succession before traveling to Sweetwater on Jan. 13. The Felines are also hoping league leader Monahans gets bumped off along the way, possibly Jan. 6 against Fort Stockton or Jan. 9 against Sweetwater.

To have success in conference action, the Felines will have to get strong support from returning personnel Pam Gray, Theresa Browning, Brenda Anderson and Tracy O'Day.

Snyder received good help from its guard positions earlier this week to exit rival San Angelo Lake View 39-35.

"That is encouraging, because that was one of our weaker areas going into the season," noted Coach Ken Housden, who saw his starting guards graduate last year. "We still need better consistency all-around, and more strength at times inside."

The Felines are 4-7 on the season, but have won two of their past three outings, including conference wins over Lake View and Andrews. Snyder lost to Monahans 56-48, a game Housden would like to have back.

"We started out slowly," he said. "We were behind by nine points after the first quarter and Monahans won the game by eight. We played with them the final three quarters, but it was that first one that got us."

After Friday's game, the ladies will not play another conference tilt until they travel to Pecos, Jan. 2. In non-district action, Snyder plays Rotan on Dec. 30.

To Meet Texas In Bluebonnet...

Tar Heels 'Relax' For Bowl

CHAPEL HILL, N.C. (AP) — North Carolina football coach Dick Crum has never lost a bowl game. He's 3-0 going back to his days at Miami of Ohio.

He begins preparations today for his fourth bowl appearance.

Following a break after the regular season, the 13th-ranked Tar Heels start their practice sessions today for a Bluebonnet Bowl encounter with unranked Texas on New Year's Eve in Houston's Astrodome.

"It's probably a quirk of fate that I've never lost a bowl game," Crum said Wednesday at a news conference. "But when you go to a bowl game, the players ought to go to enjoy themselves. I think some people lose because they go to a bowl and work their players to death. We practice early in the morning and get it out of the way so the players can enjoy themselves and not have to keep thinking about having to go to practice. We may only practice for a half hour, but it's an intense practice."

But while it may be a fun trip, "we take the game very seriously," Crum said. "We work very, very hard in practice."

North Carolina, 11-1, fell only once this season, a 41-7 loss to Oklahoma. But the Longhorns hit the skids at the end of the regular season, finishing 7-4 and taking some of the edge off the post-season meeting.

But Crum knows the Longhorns are not to be overlooked or taken lightly.

"I've looked at Texas enough on film to know they have a good football team," he said. "They had some injuries that hurt them. But they've had time to heal."

WALSH FIRED
DENVER (AP) — Donnie Walsh was fired as coach of the Denver Nuggets, a spokesman for the National Basketball Association team said, adding that assistant coach Doug Moe would take over on an interim basis.

Walsh succeeded Larry Brown as Nuggets' coach in February 1979 when Brown resigned under pressure. Walsh completed that season with 19 victories in the team's last 29 games.

The Nuggets are 11-20 this season.

MAXWELL AWARD

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — University of Pittsburgh defensive end Hugh Green was named as the 44th recipient of the Maxwell Award for the outstanding college football player in the country.

Green won the 1980 Lombardi Award as the nation's outstanding lineman and was runner-up to running back George Rogers of South Carolina for the Heisman Trophy. His strongest competition for the Maxwell award, presented annually by the Maxwell Football Club of Philadelphia, came from Rogers, whom he will play against in the Gator Bowl when No. 3 Pitt faces 18th-ranked South Carolina.

TUFTS DIES

PINEHURST, N.C. (AP) — Richard Tufts, former president of the U.S. Golf Association and a prominent amateur golfer, died. He was 84.

It will be "tough to get ready" for the Longhorns, Crum said, because the Tar Heels have not had to face a team like Texas this year. Texas plays a split-back veer offense, and "that's not like any specific team we've played all year. It's tough to draw any conclusions about them."

North Carolina did most of its damage this year on the ground, thanks to two 1,000-yard performers — tailbacks Amos Lawrence and Kelvin Bryant. The Tar Heels went to the air for variety and relied on its defense to save the day. But Crum said there might be a few surprises in store for Texas.

"You're always going to add a new wrinkle or two, but we'll stay with our base offense and defense," said Crum.

And Texas may have a surprise for the Tar Heels, but Crum said his team will be ready.

"I wouldn't be surprised to see the wishbone," he said. "They're an old wishbone team, and we'll do some preparation for that."

But All-America linebacker Lawrence Taylor, the man who led the Tar Heels highly touted defense this year, said prospects of the wishbone don't bother him.

"I wouldn't mind," Taylor said of the possibility. "The wishbone is a pretty complicated offense. It's a high-risk offense, and you can't throw it together in two weeks and not expect a lot of fumbles."

Crum is a bit more concerned, considering that's the offense, led by quarterback J.C. Watts, that did the Tar Heels in against Oklahoma. But he's not overly concerned about it, though.

"It depends on who is running the wishbone," he said. "If you've got a J.C. Watts running it, then it gets your attention immediately."

The Longhorns have not amassed very impressive statistics this year, averaging only 204 yards rushing a game and 168 passing. Defensively, though, they have not been bad, despite some inexperience. They have allowed only 143 yards rushing and 141 passing.

But the Longhorns top running back, A.J. Jones, played only seven games because of an injury and is a question mark for the Bluebonnet Bowl. He gained 657 yards in those seven games.

The Tar Heel offense is a bit more potent, though. North Carolina averaged 271 yards a game and held opponents to 126. In the air, the Tar Heels only managed 95 yards a game, but the opposition only got 131.

Bears Strap On Pads; Prepare For Alabama

WACO (AP) — The Baylor Bears, getting ready for their Jan. 1 date with Alabama in the Cotton Bowl, donned pads Wednesday for the first time since the regular season ended.

Cotton Classic Is A Sellout

DALLAS (AP) — Cotton Bowl officials have announced that the Jan. 1 classic between Alabama and Baylor is a sellout.

A crowd of more than 73,000 is anticipated for the 1:10 p.m. kickoff, said Mike Justice, director of the ticket sales. "The response has been overwhelming. Baylor has moved a record 25,000 plus with Alabama around 10,000. We are returning orders received by the two institutions and our office for more than 9,000 seats," Justice said.

All mail order requests to the Cotton Bowl Athletic Association postmarked on or before Nov. 20 were accepted and tickets have been mailed, he added.

The CBAA created additional seats by moving bands to the playing field and into special constructed end zone bleachers to help meet the demands, Justice said.

DeJesus Charged With Murder

SAN JUAN, Puerto Rico (AP) — Former World Boxing Council lightweight champion Esteban DeJesus was charged with first-degree murder in the Thanksgiving Day shooting of a 17-year-old youth, police said.

Authorities said DeJesus, 29, who held the WBC title two years, was charged in San Juan District Court in connection with the death of 17-year-old Roberto Cintron Gonzalez, who was shot with a single bullet fired from a .38-caliber pistol, according to Police Information Officer Ramon Gonzalez.

Until Sugar Ray Leonard did it last month, DeJesus was the only fighter to have beaten Roberto Duran.

Eruzione Will Never Forget...

Hockey Moment Recalled

By HAL BOCK
AP Sports Writer

The moment is etched in Mike Eruzione's mind and it will stay there, probably forever.

Sure, he will remember scoring the winning goal for the United States against the Russians in the Olympic hockey tournament.

Sure, he will remember the crowd counting down the clock "...5...4...3...2...1..." and the bedlam that erupted on the ice at Lake Placid, N.Y., after the Soviets were beaten.

And sure, he will remember goalie Jim Craig wrapped in an American flag, his eyes glazed over, looking for his father so they could share that once-in-a-lifetime moment.

But most of all, Mike Eruzione will always remember the medal ceremony when 20 Americans, who called themselves Big Doolies, stood on a podium designed for one, and together accepted their gold.

"I remember it so well," said Eruzione. "Standing there on the podium, I felt at the time and I still feel now that one person doesn't win a hockey game or a tournament like that one. I hoped all 20 of us would get up there. I stood there and I watched for awhile. And then I said to myself, 'Hey, wait a minute, they've got to come up here with me.'"

And that's when the captain of the team, motioned for the rest of the Big Doolies to join him. It wasn't exactly Olympic decorum but it was fitting. The Doolies belonged together at that moment.

Sports Illustrated brought some of them together Wednesday, bestowing on these remarkable young men its Sportsman of the Year Award.

It was an obvious choice. And an outstanding one. Remember the circumstances. Fifty-three American citizens were being held hostage in Iran. Russia had sent troops into Afghanistan and the United States was talking about an Olympic boycott of the Summer Games in Moscow. The tenor of the times was bleak at best.

Into this setting skated the American hockey team, a bunch of kids obviously in over their heads at this level of international competition. They were realistic about their chances.

In a pre-Olympic exhibition in New York, the Soviets battered the U.S. team 10-3 with some frighteningly expert, textbook hockey.

"We thought we had a shot at a medal," said Eruzione. "Maybe a bronze, maybe a silver. We had to be realistic. But we thought if we got a chance at the gold, one chance, well then, anything could happen."

And, of course, something surely did. The Russians breezed through the early games to the long anticipated showdown with the United States.

"I have a tape of the game at home," said Eruzione. "My dad watches it more than I do. I'll come home and he'll say, 'C'mon, Mike, here's a good play coming up.'"

Farm Export Rise Due

WASHINGTON (AP) — No one can predict with a straight face that sales of queen bees to Mexico or rabbit skins to Taiwan will some day overshadow wheat, corn and soybeans at the top of the huge U.S. farm export list.

But those items — and many others even more exotic — are important to American producers and others who share in the huge world market where U.S. agricultural products dominate.

Farm exports are expected to rise to about $48.5 billion in the year that began Oct. 1, up 20 percent from $40.5 billion in 1978-80 and, for the 12th consecutive year, another record in value.

Grain and grain products, and oilseeds, mostly soybeans, and their products are expected to account for about $36.4 billion or 75 percent of this year's total export value.

In terms of quantity, those products — grains and oilseeds — will total around 136.9 million metric tons, more than 80 percent of the projected record of 170.5 million metric tons that will be exported in 1980-81.

But U.S. export growth, while based on the big grain and oilseed crops, also includes cotton, rice, tobacco, sunflowers, fruit, vegetables and many other crops.

And when it comes to being even more specific — such as an inquiry recently from Mexico asking about buying queen bees — the Agriculture Department regularly publishes scores of trade leads or tips from prospective foreign buyers.

In some cases, the information published by the Export Trade Services Division of the department's Foreign Agricultural Service includes outright offers to buy certain items.

On Monday, as an example, the agency's regular report noted that Egypt wants to buy frozen beef at the rate of 5,000 metric tons a month — a metric ton is about 2,205 pounds — and specified that it must have been slaughtered "according to Islamic rites."

Another item said a buyer in Australia wants 400 bags — 50 pounds each — of uncooked pistachio nuts. And another in England is interested in beef, pigs feet, edible oils, rice and sugar on behalf of some of its clients in the Middle East and West Africa.

In Sweden, a buyer is interested in getting "canned or otherwise ready-packaged but not frozen" Mexican-style food and corn flour.

Looking at other recent "export briefs" published by the agency, a firm in New Zealand "wants health food items, including nuts, edible seeds, dried fruit, rice (and wheat gluten)" and plans to establish "a chain of bulk health food outlets shortly in New Zealand."

And a buyer in England asked quotations on

"mealworms," living food" with deliveries every two weeks or monthly.

VISIT WITH A MENTOR—Daniel Chasteen, sixth grade student at Northeast Elementary School, visits his "mentor," Lyle Deffebach, local insurance man. At right is Cindy Lickey, Mentorship Coordinator for Project Excel, the program in Snyder Public Schools for academically gifted students. The mentorship program puts pupils in contact with an adult who has special knowledge in a field in which the student has a special interest. (SDN Staff Photo)

For Gifted Students...

Project Excel Aided By 'Mentorship' Plan

In an effort to meet individual needs of students in the Snyder Independent School District, various curriculum programs have been innovated or adopted. One of these is the Mentorship Component of Project Excel, Snyder's program for academically gifted students.

Mentorship had its beginning in Greek mythology and history. In recent years, more and more school districts are turning to mentorships as an alternative form of education. The mentorship idea is based on the pairing of a student who shows exceptional interest and ability in a field of study with an adult from the community who has knowledge and experience in the same field. The adult, known as a "mentor," works with the student on a one-on-one basis, imparting knowledge in a way that no textbook can. Mentorships are an especially useful tool for emphasizing career education and citizenship responsibilities. Many of today's adults were influenced during early childhood by a person who showed a special interest in them. Consequently, many individuals choose a career because of just such a person who showed that special interest.

What kind of students are, or will be, involved in a mentorship program? They are students who show a great deal of maturity, interest, responsibility and motivation. These traits are necessary since the studies that the student undertakes with the mentor are in addition to regular school work.

The student must also be willing to work with the mentor after school hours if it is necessary. At this time, they are students who have been involved in Project Excel for two years, sixth and seventh graders. In the future, the program may be expanded to include additional students.

What kind of adult would make a good mentor? Men, women, young, old, doctors, mechanics, retired persons...the possibilities are endless, but certain characteristics are necessary. First, the mentor is interested in the welfare and development of children. Second, the mentor has knowledge or a skill and the willingness to share this knowledge or skill with an interested youngster. The mentor must be willing and able to provide the time needed for such a relationship, approximately an hour a week for four to six weeks. Exact time allowed depends on the nature of the study and the time the mentor and student have to devote.

At this time, a community resource file of persons who would be willing to work as mentors in the future is being developed. If you would be interested in working with teachers to provide this type of educational opportunity for gifted students, or if you would like more information about this program, contact Mrs. Cindy Lickey, Mentorship Coordinator at Humble-Smith School, phone 573-9364.

The interest and effort of local community individuals to help provide the best possible educational opportunities for the children in Snyder are considered valuable additional resources. And all are urged to keep in mind that the children of today are the leaders of tomorrow.

Graham Hopes For Peaceful Solution

NEW YORK (AP) — Calling Poland "one of the most religious countries in the world," evangelist Billy Graham says he hopes Poles will be allowed to resolve their political turmoil peacefully.

Graham, who will visit Poland Jan. 5-6 to receive an honorary doctorate from the Christian Theological Seminary in Warsaw, said Monday he finds the Polish situation "somewhat confusing."

Sesame Street Going To Israel

NEW YORK (AP) — "Sesame Street" is extending its boundaries to Israel.

A Hebrew-language version of the award-winning television series, which is already carried in nearly 50 countries, will be produced by Children's Television Workshop in cooperation with the instructional Television Center of Israel under a $750,000 grant from the Charles H. Revson Foundation.

The joint production will result in 65 half-hour programs in which Israeli and U.S.-produced material will be integrated in a Sesame Street with its own individual Israeli stamp, according to CTW President Joan Ganz Cooney.

Stresses Of Divorce Can Produce Physical Illness

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — Divorced persons pass through a predictable psychological process — often with conflicting feelings of love and hate — which causes such stress that physical illness may result, a Dallas psychiatrist says.

"Much of what those people who have gone through a divorce need to understand is it is not a simple event. It doesn't simply occur on a given day. They are going to have many longings and dreams of reunion, even though intellectually they know it is not a wise thing to do," Dr. Keith Johansen said in an interview.

Johansen presented his views in detail in the December issue of Texas Medicine, journal of the Texas Medical Association.

He is director of professional education at Timberlawn Psychiatric Hospital and teaches at the University of Texas Southwestern Medical School.

"Following the period of private doubt, friends and family may become aware of the consideration of divorce," he said. "The couple may be surprised by the sense of loss even this may represent."

"Often they have enjoyed some sense of accomplishment or even respect among family and friends as 'having a good marriage.' Losing this image may be very significant to both individuals and, indeed, far out of proportion to any actual loss of respect by the community," Johansen said of the initial stages.

The departure of one spouse from the home, pending the actual divorce, and the early property division "means the loss of the familiar and the valued."

Neither spouse is likely to feel fairly treated, "and the sense of becoming a helpless victim creates an even greater stress in the process," Johansen said.

Both parties might look forward to the court date with the anticipation of freedom but the formal dissolution of the marriage will not end the stress.

"Rather than finding the sense of relief or freedom as expected, each individual may begin to experience some of the more painful and unexpected aspects of the process," Johansen said.

He said the "effort toward becoming strangers again" creates the most severe stress, the kind that might produce physical symptoms that ultimately require a doctor's care.

In his article and the interview, he mentioned such complaints as fatigue, insomnia and "stomach problems."

"Among the more common apprehensions is the fear of feelings toward the estranged and divorced spouse. These feelings are both unexpected and unwanted. Often they involve feelings of love and caring toward the ex-spouse at a time when only anger, resentment or blame is anticipated," Johansen said.

These feelings can cause a sense of confusion, weakened personal integrity and doubt about the decision to divorce," he said.

"It is important that the individual be helped to recognize these feelings, as well as to realize that such a confusing mixture of feelings is 'normal' and necessary," Johansen said.

"These feelings of love can be used by the newly divorced individual to accept and integrate the fact that he or she once chose to marry the person now being left. The feelings and memory of the marriage must be integrated as an acceptable part of the person's past, rather than pretending that the marriage did not exist or that 'it was just not me.'"

Johansen said the newly divorced person might also have recurring wishes that the ex-spouse was dead, and this can create a sense of guilt.

"This wish for death is a psychic effort to simplify the grief to be resolved and must not be seen as an indictment of the patient's moral character. In effect, death is easier to understand," he said.

Another phenomenon is the experience of "fantasies and dreams of reunion with the ex-spouse" — again the occasion for self-doubt and reduced self-confidence, Johansen said.

"A major task of this period is the resolution of conflict between the feelings which struggle toward fierce independence on one hand and the needs for connection and sharing on the other. The grieving individual must attempt to redefine his or her own sense of identity apart from the former spouse. The fear of loneliness, abandonment or of being 'a nobody' comes up against the fear of falling back into a rebound romance," he said.

Says Michigan Operator...

America Could Easily Absorb 200 Canadian Rigs

By MAX B. SKELTON
AP Oil Writer
HOUSTON (AP) — John Miller says about 200 Canadian oil drilling rigs could be absorbed into U.S. operations rather quickly. Miller is a Michigan operator who agreed in 1979 also to serve as full-time president of the 6,000-member Independent Petroleum Association of America. He had won his battle scars earlier, his 1973 election as the trade group's chief executive for two years having coincided with the start of the Arab oil embargo. On a recent Houston visit, Miller was asked about reports new Canadian tax and energy policy plans could turn up to 200 rigs and $1 billion or more in investment funds toward U.S. operations. "I think without a question there is going to be a movement of rigs from Canada to the United States," he said. "In fact, we already have had a number of calls into our office in Michigan asking whether or not there was any opportunity for investments through our company from Canadian concerns. I think it is a logical situation." Miller said he would be surprised if the Canadian movement to the south failed to develop. "I think the only thing that would prevent it would be that Canada impose some sort of embargo to prevent either iron or dollars from coming across the line, and we know that is a two-edged sword," he said.

"So I think it is very practical to assume they will be here and I think those rigs could be utilized rather quickly in our economy and that the dollars could find homes in some exploration programs." He sees no threat to the domestic industry. "You could get into some short term softening if we run into an extreme case of bad weather, but in generalities looking at six months or even longer, I think that on a balanced equation we are going to need more rigs," he said. "We are adding on the average of 400-plus rigs annually right now and my argument has been all along that if there had been any feeling of continuity in our energy program we could have been adding half again or maybe twice that many rigs." Miller said a couple of hundred rigs from Canada might soften the rig utilization rate a bit. "But right now with a real tight market around, I'd say we probably would be back to a more manageable level," he said. "Right now it is difficult to get a rig in a number of areas and people are waiting. I've got a couple of personal situations where I've tried to get some rigs to drill some holes and they weren't available." The holes, he said, were in wildcat areas. Miller said the areas were a "little removed, not right in the so-called patch." "Well, obviously, the contractors are much more desirous of staying right in the circle, not for just selfish motivation because they have the labor consideration," he said. "You may want to move the rig to a more remote location, but the hands might say, 'Thanks, but I'll stay here and jump over to Mr. Jones' rig where I can get home every night'." Miller said many things favor additional rights at present. "I really believe some more rigs in this economy would be good," he said. "It would create some additional competition and I think it would be very good for the economy." With Republican Ronald Reagan in the White House, Miller expressed hope "we will have a better attitude on the part of those in a position of leadership." The island of Madagascar, with an area of 203,035 square miles, is slightly smaller than the state of Texas.
