DCOS appointments, bids on city's agenda

A lengthy agenda — including six bid items, an engineering report on upgrading the water treatment plant, and appointments to the Development Corporation of Snyder — faces the Snyder City Council when it convenes at 6:30 p.m. today at city hall.

During the council's regular October meeting, it is expected to award a bid for construction of a gate house, scales and a grease pit at the sanitary landfill. Some $300,000 was budgeted for the project. A second landfill bid item is for a motor scraper.

Four bid items are for supplies at the water treatment plant. The city has sought proposals for liquid alum, powdered activated carbon, chlorine and for caustic liuid soda.

Two appointments, both to the Development Corporation of Snyder, are expected at tonight's meeting. Terms of Dan Cotton and Miller Robinson are expiring, and both have indicated they do not wish to be reappointed. Those appointed will serve a three-year term.

Under old business, the city will once again consider a contract for grounds maintenance. At last month's meeting, a bid of $26,000 was tabled so that a committee could gather information concerning the use of both juvenile and adult probationers in performing community service work.

The committee is expected to make its report tonight. The original bid called for maintenance of city hall grounds, the square, ground under the water towers, and grounds at the water and sewer plants.

The council will hear a request from the Snyder Rotary Club for the city to serve as contractor for landscaping of one of three traffic islands leading to Cogdell Hospital.

The first island is on state property and state regulations require that only the city serve as contractor. The request asks for no funds and seeks only to have the city supervise the project.

Representatives of the engineering firm of Freese and Nichols will be present to give a preliminary report. (See COUNCIL, Page 8)

17 make all-region choir

Seventeen Snyder High School students made the All-Region Choir, during competition held last weekend in Levelland.

"We had the second most students, behind Class 5A (Lubbock) Coronado," said a pleased Melanie Smith, high school choir director.

The students will participate in the Region Clinic and Concert in Lubbock on Nov. 12, and audition for area on Nov. 19, also in Lubbock.

Snyder students named all-region were first sopranos Amy Eicke, Ellen Strayhorn and Katie Thornton; second soprano Jannica Northern; first alto Shelly Engler; and second altos Mandy

Baker, Sterling Cave and Ammie Harrison.

Others were first tenors Jay Ball, Joe Bilano and Richard Rodriguez; second tenors Saby Albaraz, Jared Bailey and Buddy Hilburn; and first basses Jared Dennis, Jimmy Hall and Jonathan Pennington.

Mental health clinic to move

Scurry County Commissioners Court, meeting this morning, approved the purchase of a new ambulance and authorized the county judge to execute a lease for office space for the Scurry County Mental Health Department.

The lease agreement is for the former offices of UNOCAL at 1911 40th Street. The monthly lease for the 2,700 square-foot building is $750.

The authorization to lease the building came following a lengthy discussion in which Pct. 2 Commissioner Roy Idom voiced strong opposition.

Expressing a commitment to be "consistent," Idom contended that the need for additional office space was necessitated by the addition of the pre-natal program at the Scurry County Health unit.

Idom has voted on two occasions against the addition of the pre-natal program. County Judge Bob Doolittle disagreed with Idom over the cause for additional office space.

"We've had two different agencies sharing the same space for some time, and the space has long, for four years, been inadequate."

Doolittle called the proposal "a good situation, one which allows the services offered by mental health to grow at no additional cost."

JoAnn Crill, representing the mental health department, agreed that more space is needed by the two agencies.

Doolittle said the lease will cost the county no additional money because of the reallocation of funds budgeted to the Big Spring State Hospital.

Doolittle said a previous $18,000 cash contribution will be kept by Scurry County and used to expand mental health services in the county.

In an unusual move, Judge Doolittle made the motion to lease the property from D. K. Scott and Etta Browning LeFevre. The one-year lease has an option to renew for four years and can be cancelled in 120 days.

Doolittle, Jerry Gannaway and Ralph Trevey voted for the lease (See COUNTY, Page 7)

CROP Walk date selected

Scurry County Ministerial Alliance has set the CROP Walk date for Sunday, Oct. 30.

Alliance members are calling on all congregations in Scurry County to support the sixth annual walk for world and local hunger needs. Dr. Tim Griffin of First Christian Church is heading up the effort. He will be calling on local pastors and youth leaders for support.

The walk will proceed south from the courthouse along College Avenue through Towle Park and end at Tiger Stadium.

Since the walk began in 1988 it has raised about $5,000 for the Gentle Dove food bank, the local outreach program supported by the walk. Funds raised by the walk have also been distributed around the world through Church World Service to victims of natural disasters, including those in the United States.

Dr. Griffin has asked anyone who wishes to participate in this year's walk to contact him for posters, envelopes and other materials. He may be reached at First Christian Church, 573-6115 or at home, 573-6647.

Dear Abby

Bride-to-Be Defends Decision To Move in With Her Fiance

by Abigail Van Buren
© 1994 Universal Press Syndicate

DEAR ABBY: I am writing about the mother who was happy because her daughter was denied her wish to be married in the Catholic Church due to the fact that she and her fiance had been living together.

I was raised in a strict Catholic family. I went to church every Sunday as well as to confession, observed the Holy Days of Obligation, and have a high moral character, except in one area of my life. I live with my fiance. My parents were heartbroken when I expressed my intent to live with him.

They failed to consider the fact that I witnessed recurring physical abuse in my family while growing up. Many times, I had to step in front of a leather belt that was intended for my little brother — or grab my infant sister to protect her from an apple hurtling toward her head. (Her "crime" was crying loudly while my father was on the phone.)

My mother begged me to reconsider my decision to live with my fiance, saying that it was going against everything I had been taught. I finally told her that the reason I wanted to live with my fiance before marrying him was to make sure he is not like my father. I did not want to live in fear again, nor subject my children to the violence I had endured.

Abby, I have consulted a priest, and was told that they will marry a couple who had been living together, if there is a three-month separation prior to the ceremony. Please pass this information along if you think it will help the daughter.

ANOTHER CATHOLIC DAUGHTER

DEAR DAUGHTER: Thank you for your enlightening letter. I consulted Father Joseph Moniz of St. Joseph's Church in Hawthorne, Calif. He said that such decisions are left to the discretion of the priest.

The diocesan guidelines require that couples wait six months; however, if they have been living together, or have been married civilly, and the priest believes them to be sufficiently mature, he may perform the ceremony in a shorter period of time.

DEAR ABBY: About the music lessons kids hated, but later thanked their parents for forcing them to practice.

When I was a child, my father, who was born in Greece, made me go to Greek school right after regular school. I hated it, for play time was nonexistent during the week. Also, I had homework in two languages.

However, the first time I went to Greece, I blessed my father a thousand times. To be able to speak and read Greek made my visit with relatives and friends all the more enjoyable. Even though I didn't use Greek much at home (being married to a non-Greek), it all came flooding back from years past. The resentment for having been forced to learn Greek quickly faded. I had my reward! You may use my name.

KAYE RUSSO IN FLORIDA

DEAR KAYE: It seems to me I've heard that song before — learning another language has paid me big dividends in terms of communicating with relatives and friends from the "old country."

DEAR ABBY: Why do we use animals and birds to describe the worst qualities in humans? For example:

- As stubborn as a mule.
- As fat as a pig.
- They fight like cats and dogs.
- He's afraid — he's chicken.
- Crazy as a loon.
- What a crab!
- Bird-brain — feather-brain.
- A bull in a china shop.
- They parrot everything I say.
- What a jackass!

I, for one, would never discredit the beautiful creatures of nature, and anyone who does — is as mean as a snake!

Lightens talk

BOCA RATON, Fla. (AP) — Linda Ellerbee lightened the tone of a talk on breast cancer with a tale about her ever-helpful golden retriever.

Ellerbee, who had a double mastectomy, recalled the time a prosthetic breast fell out of her shirt when she bent to pick up a stick. The dog fetched the wrong item.

"Give me my breast, give me my breast!" Ellerbee said she screamed as she ran after her dog. "I laughed until I cried."

Haitians' feelings mixed

How successful is U.S. mission?

PORT-AU-PRINCE, Haiti (AP) — Two weeks after the U.S. military intervention force arrived in Haiti, has it changed the life of the average Haitian? The answer is definitely yes. But not much.

"Life hasn't changed like I thought it would," said Leon Pierre, 30, a resident of Cite Soleil, the poorest slum in the capital, Port-au-Prince. "I have six kids. I still have no food for them this morning."

For others, more than 20,000 American servicemen means a little more security, a little more freedom of speech and some electricity. But the reality is, life is pretty much what it was before the Americans set foot in Haiti.

Ordinary Haitians now have the courage to speak out, to demonstrate in favor of democracy. On the other hand, the same people who have shot them, beaten them, pulled them from their homes and killed them are still doing it. And nothing the Americans have done so far has put an end to that.

"If the American military police want to come here, we can show them all the houses where the guns are," said Pierre. So far, no one has come looking.

Most people believe real peace and real security will come only after the intervention forces destroy the Front for the Advancement and Progress of Haiti. FRAPH, an army-backed militia, has been blamed by human rights groups for much of the violence and repression in Haiti over the past three years.

FRAPH was clearly behind most of the violence during demonstrations last week in which at least 13 people died and more than 100 were wounded.

"I think that the American presence is a bluff," said an angry Francois Victor, 30; one of a group of men gathered outside a small neighborhood cafe. "I was in the demonstration Friday. I was running during the shooting. People died. If the Americans wanted the demonstration, they should have provided security."

The U.S. Embassy has encouraged pro-democracy demonstrations backing the return of ousted President Jean-Bertrand Aristide, scheduled to take place around Oct. 15. The rules of engagement allow U.S. troops to intervene in Haitian-on-Haitian violence, but so far they have not done so, saying that is the job of Haitian police.

"This week, popular organizations in Haiti demonstrated in Cap-Haitien, in Jeremie and other cities," said Louis Jean-Wilson, member of a Haitian youth organization. "In Cap-Haitien and Jeremie, the Americans really provided security, but in Port-au-Prince, they did not. I don't know why. Is it they really can't do what needs to be done, or is it they don't want to?"

Does chromium help curb sweet tooth?

By Peter H. Gott, M.D.

DEAR DR. GOTT: Does chromium help build muscle and curb a person's desire for sugar?

DEAR READER: Trace amounts of chromium, readily available in a balanced diet, are necessary for sugar metabolism. Chromium deficiency in humans is extraordinarily unusual.

Chromium poisoning (at dietary levels about 50 milligrams per day) is associated with kidney and liver damage; thus, chromium supplements should not be used except under close medical supervision. Chromium does not build muscle or affect a person's sweet tooth.

To give you more information, I am sending you a free copy of my Health Report "Fads I: Vitamins and Minerals." Other readers who would like a copy should send $2 plus a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope to P.O. Box 2433, New York, NY 10163. Be sure to mention the title.

DEAR DR. GOTT: I've been diagnosed with polymyalgia rheumatica.

Can you please tell me more about this painful ailment? What causes it and when will it go away?

DEAR READER: This is considered to be an auto-immune disease, in which people become allergic to their own normal tissues — in this case, muscles and arteries.

Polymyalgia rheumatica has a predilection for females over the age of 50. It causes muscle pain and stiffness, malaise, fever, depression, and weight loss. It may affect the temporal artery (near the ear), leading to headache and visual disturbances. The diagnosis is made by blood tests — on occasion — biopsy.

The disease can be successfully treated with prednisone, a steroid drug. If the temporal artery is involved, drug therapy may have to be continued for months, to avoid blindness.

Once symptoms have abated and the blood tests are normal, the prednisone can be stopped. However, recurrences are common and require additional courses of prednisone.

DEAR DR. GOTT: Some time ago, I read in your column that zinc and vitamin E supplements work as healing agents. Am I correct in my recollection?

DEAR READER: Yes and no. Zinc and vitamin E will aid healing, as do many other necessary minerals and vitamins. However, we usually obtain a sufficient quantity of these substances in our diets; therefore, supplements are not necessary, in most cases.

Book claims Diana and her riding teacher were lovers

LONDON (AP) — Princess Diana made love to her riding instructor at Kensington Palace, starting a three-year affair while Prince Charles was away, according to a book published today.

"Princess in Love," written by a reporter, is the story of Maj. James Hewitt, who claims he had an affair with the now-estranged wife of the heir to the British throne. Hewitt gave the princess and her two young sons riding lessons in 1989.

Author Anna Pasternak, a freelance journalist, described the first time that Diana and Hewitt allegedly made love in the royal couple's sumptuous apartments at Kensington Palace, their London home.

"Diana stood up and without saying a word stretched out her hand and slowly led James to her bedroom," wrote Ms. Pasternak. "Later she lay in his arms and wept. She wept for all the times she had been left feeling deficient and alone, and the times when she had longed for such a union to melt her into her husband's bones as she had melted so softly into James's."

Diana, 33, formally separated from Charles, the 45-year-old heir to the British throne, in December 1992. They were married in 1981.

Reporters snatched up the first copies of the book that went on sale at two London stores this morning. The book was published by Bloomsbury.

On Sunday, newspapers rushed into print with Hewitt's claim after word got out that he had sold the story and the book was to be published today.

The News of the World on Sunday quoted Hewitt as saying he and Diana fell in love during the riding lessons and then became lovers. The tabloid said it got the quotes from Hewitt while he was trying to sell the story earlier this year.

The book is the latest embarrassment for Queen Elizabeth II over the troubled love lives of her children.

Last week, the father of her daughter-in-law, the duchess of York, published a book implying that the duchess had affairs with two Americans before she separated from Prince Andrew, the queen's second son, in 1992.

There have been rumors about Diana before, but Hewitt, 36, is the first person to claim to have been the princess' lover.

Prince Charles acknowledged in June that he was unfaithful to Diana after their marriage "became irretrievably broken down."

The Times of London reported today that Diana was "bewildered and upset" about Hewitt — but there was no immediate word on whether she would take legal action.

Sunday newspapers, which reported the story prominently, dubbed Hewitt a "cad."

Hewitt, who is unmarried, served in the elite Life Guards regiment as a tank commander in the Gulf War. He left the army in March on an $11,000-a-year pension.

Describing the end of the alleged affair during an encounter at Charles' country residence, Highgrove, Ms. Pasternak wrote that Hewitt had "kept the dream going" as long as Diana believed they had a future.

"Now, as she lay against him, and his body took her weight, he could feel her doubts. He sensed that suddenly she had faced the truth."

Marine might lose right to honorable discharge

NEW RIVER MARINE AIR STATION, N.C. (AP) — A Marine accused of being a lesbian says an affectionate kiss on the cheek from another woman was misinterpreted.

Lance Cpl. Elena Martinez, 21, a disbursing clerk here, faces an administrative discharge board Wednesday.

Her attorneys, Mark Stevens and George Kripner, said she is the victim of a witch hunt and the Marine Corps probe has violated the Pentagon's "don't ask, don't tell" policy on homosexuals.

The Servicemembers Legal Defense Network, a private legal advocacy group based in Washington, D.C., sent a message Friday to Brig. Gen. Fred McCorkle, commanding general of Marine Corps Bases, Eastern Area, which includes New River. The network was founded about a year ago to defend military personnel accused of being homosexual.

"The course of the case to date bears all the marks of the type of with hunt forbidden by the new regulations," the group's letter said.

Stevens also sent a letter to McCorkle claiming the accusations against Martinez stem from rumors in 1992 that spread throughout her unit. The allegations were that a female Marine had walked in on Martinez and another woman while they were having sex.

"The allegations were summarily dropped simply because the witness denied ever making such a statement to anyone," Stevens wrote.

According to the letter, the incident raised doubts among senior enlisted members of Martinez's unit, and they began to collect evidence to discharge her as a homosexual.

Martinez says she is not a lesbian, but admits getting an affectionate kiss on the cheek from another woman that apparently was seen by one of her male accusers. The act touched off an investigation that could cost her an honorable discharge from the Marine Corps.

"I don't feel I've done anything wrong," Martinez said. "I've served almost three years. I've served honorably and haven't done anything to discredit the Marine Corps."

Martinez, who is married but separated from her husband, wants an honorable discharge to preserve her GI Bill educational benefits. A native of Dallas, she has been in the Corps almost three years, with above-average ratings in proficiency and conduct. Martinez said she has homosexual friends in the military, but there is nothing sexual between herself and them.

Kennedy has trouble with young voters

BOSTON (AP) — Scott Galvin is like many of the voters who have put a scare into Sen. Edward M. Kennedy this election year.

While he isn't a Democrat or a Republican, Galvin has been a Kennedy backer in the past, mainly because he thinks the senator can get things done for Massachusetts but also because of the Kennedy mystique.

Now, however, Galvin is having second thoughts and doesn't know whether he'll vote for Kennedy again.

"Anybody in politics can overstay their welcome," said Galvin, 31, a lawyer and alderman from the suburban community of Woburn. "It could be time for a change."

Such talk once was considered heresy in Massachusetts, where the Kennedy family built its political dynasty. But it's being heard often these days, as Kennedy has found himself vulnerable among voters who want a fresh face and those too young to remember the glow of Camelot.

"Many younger voters have no sense of who he is," said John Gorman, president of Opinion Dynamics Corp., a Cambridge polling firm. "He's kind of a mythical figure to a lot of people. He's not a living, breathing senator to young voters."

A recent poll Gorman conducted showed Kennedy, a Democrat, running neck and neck with Republican Mitt Romney, a wealthy businessman and political novice who is spending millions of dollars to mount his challenge.

Other public opinion surveys also have shown either a dead heat or Kennedy slightly ahead.

"Voters are in a very restive, dissatisfied mood. There's no question about that," said Thomas Kiley, a pollster for the Kennedy campaign. But Kiley said he is confident voters will side with Kennedy.

Romney has portrayed Kennedy as an outdated liberal. His central message is that after 32 years in the Senate, it's time for Kennedy to go. Many voters have echoed that sentiment in surveys, even though they say they think Kennedy is doing a good job.

People inside the Kennedy campaign say the senator, who for years appeared indomitable despite troubles in his personal life, is being hit with the same wave of discontent that has battered other big-name politicians, such as New York Gov. Mario Cuomo, who is in a tough re-election fight.

"There is a very strong anti-incumbent mood," said Rick Gureghian, a spokesman for the Kennedy campaign.

Still, Kennedy has a core of loyal supporters. Last week, more than 60 elderly voters in Springfield slugged through a torrential downpour just to meet the senator's wife, Victoria Reggie Kennedy, who was visiting a senior citizens center.

"I can't imagine the Senate without Mr. Kennedy," said Mildred Hines, one of the voters. "He's seasoned. He been down the road and walked it with us.

None of these fresh little upstarts can say that."

But the political climate in this one-time bastion of liberalism has been changing. Massachusetts, the only state to go for Democratic candidate George McGovern in the 1972 presidential race, now has a Republican governor, William F. Weld, who remains popular with voters while he attempts to bring back the death penalty and cut welfare.

Basic social services — which have formed a cornerstone of Kennedy's career — don't mean as much in a state where the blue-collar manufacturing base is eroding and a young, white-collar work force has been growing, Gorman said.

Graduate of UH found slain

HOUSTON (AP) — German authorities continue to look for clues into the murder of a 24-year-old Houston woman who traveled to the Rhineland to celebrate her graduation from the University of Houston.

Police in Koblenz, Germany, confirmed Saturday that Amy Kate Lopez was found dead Sept. 26 in a cave that is part of the Rhineland city's famous fortress.

Police believe she died of a blow to the head and multiple stab wounds to the chest, said her brother, Walter Rimbau. Rape may have been a motive, Rimbau said.

"She fought to the death. She really put up a struggle," Rimbau told The Houston Post by telephone from Koblenz.

Koblenz is a city of about 110,000 residents at the confluence of the Rhine and Moselle rivers, about 30 miles south of Bonn. The trip to Germany had been a graduation gift from Ms. Lopez's father, Robert Rimbau, family members said.

She arrived at Koblenz last Sunday with an English-speaking tour group, but left the group on Sept. 26, apparently to tour the hilltop fortress overlooking the two rivers, police said.

She may have been planning to stay at a youth hostel atop the hill because she was carrying her belongings, police said.

Two German students found her body later shortly before noon Sept. 26 in a cave near the hilltop. Her backpack and belongings were stacked neatly nearby, but her shoes and glasses were missing.

There were no immediate arrests, but police told the family they suspect a local resident. Roadside peddlers saw Ms. Lopez walking up the hill with a young, blond man about an hour after she left the hotel, Rimbau said.

Easy to overlook

Not that it matches my experience, but Francis Galton, a British scientist, said, "Well-washed and well-combed domestic pets grow dull; they miss the stimulus of fleas."

There are certain bridge plays that seem easy to miss too. One is highlighted in today's deal.

South would have liked better diamond spots for his one-no-trump overcall, but he didn't want to double, because he didn't want to hear his partner respond two clubs. North should have continued with two diamonds, what I call Cue-Bid Stayman, to look for a heart fit. But the actual bidding had an effect on West. Thinking South was prepared for a diamond lead, West guessed to lead the spade nine. (Remember this deal next time you are thinking of not leading partner's suit.)

After winning East's spade jack with his king, South led the club king, which held, and a second club to the queen and ace. Back came a spade.

Now declarer needed a dummy entry. He led the heart queen, but East ducked. Then South tried a sneaky heart nine, but West, wide awake, covered with the jack. The dummy was dead and South had to lose five tricks: one heart, three diamonds and one club.

South left East with a safe exit card. After the club king held, South should have cashed his remaining spade winners, discarding two hearts and a club from the dummy. Then when East wins with the club ace, he has to lead either a heart or a diamond, giving a trick to one of dummy's kings.

Missing this play didn't make South grow dull. His stimuli were embarrassment and a determination to do better next time.

Three survive light plane crash on Wolf Creek Pass

SUMMITVILLE, Colo. (AP) — The chief flight instructor from LeTourneau University in Longview, Texas, and two students survived the crash of their light plane on Wolf Creek Pass during a snowstorm but remained hospitalized early today.

Hail and severe thunderstorms delayed their rescue for more than 12 hours.

Robert Vernon of St. Albans, W. Va., was in critical condition at San Juan Regional Medical Center in Farmington, N.M., and remained in intensive care, the administrator on call, who declined to be identified, said.

The plane single-engine Piper, went down at about 11,500 feet on the mountain on Saturday while en route from Page, Ariz., to Salida, Colo., Civil Air Patrol spokesman Alan Beshany said.

Gordon Moore, 42, of Longview, Texas, and Jeff Hough, 21, of Eugene, Ore., were both in serious but stable condition early today at St. Francis Hospital in Colorado Springs, nursing supervisor Sandra Gonzalez said.

Vernon, whose age is unknown, has major injuries to his legs, kidney and head, said Bill Gibbs, director of university relations at LeTourneau, about 120 miles east of Dallas.

Vernon was flown out by helicopter and the other two were driven out, reaching an Alamosa hospital at 6:30 a.m. They then were transferred to other hospitals.

"It took a long time to get them out of there because it was almost impossible to drive," Fred Harman, an Archuleta Sheriff's Department special deputy, said. "We drove about 2 mph for about 20-odd miles out to the highway. It took forever."

Beshany said the search was launched with CAP ground teams after the plane was reported overdue. Signals from an aircraft Emergency Locator Transmitter placed it at the Wolf Creek Pass area in the San Juan Mountains.

The plane was located in half an hour after the weather improved, but ground crews took four hours to make their way over the rough terrain in wet weather, he said.

Moore, with LeTourneau since 1986, is a "top-notch pilot," Gibbs said. He said Moore was the 1993 flight instructor of the year in the FAA Dallas district.

The plane, one of 16 owned by the school, was returning from San Diego, via Colorado for some mountain flying, and was due back in Longview on Sunday, Gibbs said.

"Apparently the landing gear did go out and they made some kind of emergency landing," Gibbs said. "The plane stayed intact but they were roughed up pretty badly."

Dallas wins 34-7, despite Smith's second quarter hamstring pull

WASHINGTON (AP) — To Emmitt Smith, it was the kind of day that would let everyone know: the Dallas Cowboys — Super Bowl champs the last two years — intend to repeat.

Dallas defeated the Washington Redskins in a 34-7 trouncing Sunday that seemed to erase any doubts about the Cowboys' offense after their 20-17 overtime loss to the Detroit Lions on Sept. 19.

"We've struggled the past couple of weeks. Now everyone will probably say we look like we want to get back into the Super Bowl again. You know, getting on the bandwagon," Smith said.

The Cowboys running back suffered a hamstring strain and left the game at the end of the first half and did not return. Trainer Kevin O'Neill said he would know in a few days how serious the injury is, but Smith said he hoped to be practicing again by Wednesday.

Smith did his part in the first half, carrying the ball 16 times for 48 yards and scoring two touchdowns.

Cowboys quarterback Troy Aikman was 20-for-28 for 181 yards, one TD and one interception.

While the Cowboys played a solid game, the Redskins were awful, committing penalties and turnovers that enabled Dallas to take a 31-0 lead at halftime.

Redskins rookie quarterback Heath Shuler made his first NFL start, going 11-for-30 for 30 yards, one TD, one interception and one fumble.

"I don't think anybody played particularly well, and when you have a young quarterback and nobody plays well, then it will be awfully hard for him to play well," said a visibly upset Redskins coach Norv Turner.

"We weren't ready to play. The ball was on the ground. We weren't physical, we weren't aggressive, and that's what happens, you lose," he said.

Shuler spent much of the day with Dallas defenders in his face and was sacked twice.

"Defensively, they didn't do anything we weren't ready for, they just sent the house," Shuler said. "Anytime you're a rookie quarterback, the first thing the defense is going to do is put on the pressure. I can't stand here and say it didn't get to me. Obviously it did."

Washington's running game was practically non-existent — a feeble 18 carries for 28 yards.

Two fumbles by Reggie Brooks led to 10 points for Dallas as the Cowboys took a 17-0 edge. Brooks was benched in the second quarter and did not return. Ricky Ervins took over the ball-carrying duties, but ran for just 9 yards on seven attempts.

"For the first 30 minutes of the game we really played well," said Dallas coach Barry Switzer. "The defense played well the whole game and really played the running game well."

"The second half, we played a clock offense because we knew the Redskins weren't good enough offensively to be in a position to win the game. They are not a really strong football team."

The day was especially disappointing for Turner, who for the first time coached against the team he helped guide to two consecutive Super Bowl titles in three years as Dallas' offensive coordinator.

Switzer, who was hired this spring to replace Jimmy Johnson, gloated a bit.

"I inherited a better situation than he did. He shouldn't have left," Switzer said.

Lady Golfers defeat Central

For the Snyder Lady Tigers golf team it was just another week and another big win.

This week Snyder hosted the defending 5A state champion San Angelo Central Bobcats at the Snyder Country Club.

The Lady Tigers whipped the Bobcats with a decisive 337 to 366 victory.

"I was pleased with the win," Head coach Matt Glenn said. "Last year at this time we were shooting in the three fifties."

"Anytime a team is able to shoot in the thirties this early in the season, it is a good sign."

Leading the way for the Lady Tigers was senior Kelly Lack, who fired a 79, the low round of the day.

Brooke Lowrance and Kayla Drain shot 81s and Paige Bell put together a round of 96.

Also scoring for Snyder was Brooke Kubena, 98, Daysha Weaver, 98, and Julie Doolittle, 102.

The Lady Tigers host another golfing power in the form of the Andrews Mustangs Saturday at the Snyder Country Club on Oct. 15.

The junior varsity girls will compete against Midland High and Frenship's varsity squads on this Saturday at the S.C.C.

SHS X-Country runs tough at Big Spring

Big Spring's Joe Franklin set the pace in the men's three mile cross country race Saturday morning in Big Spring with a first place time of 16:21.

Michael McQuerry, of Snyder, finished 16th with a personal best on the three mile course of 17:34.

David Kerr, also of Snyder, took 34th place with a time of 19:00.

In the women's division, Robert Lee's Heather Millican won the two mile course with a time of 13:17.

Snyder's Jamie Prather came in 5th with a time of 13:37. The Tigers' next meet is Oct. 8 at Mae Simmons Park in Lubbock.

VRJC dominates 2nd regional rodeo action

VERNON — Western Texas College Coach Todd Danley knew that the defending national champions could be tough. He was right.

Hosting the second Southwest Region NIRA rodeo of the year, Vernon Regional Junior College won both the men's and women's divisions here last weekend.

Western placed third in the women's competition and sixth in the men's.

"They are the defending national champions and that (a strong showing) is to be expected," said Danley. "We've got Vernon to contend with at every rodeo."

Danley said WTC needs more consistency, but added he is pleased with the effort the Western teams are giving.

Cleve Schmidt swept the bareback competition over the weekend, winning the first go with an 80, the short go with a 73 and the average with a combined 153. Blake Thomas was second in the average of the calf roping with a 20.4-second combined time. Shawn Minor was sixth in the average of the saddle bronc with a 132 on two head.

Western totaled 120 points in the men's division, behind Vernon with 380, West Texas A&M with 210, Tarleton State with 195 and Odessa and Eastern New Mexico with 140 each.

Mandy Harsh led WTC's women with a third place finish in the goat tying. Her average total of 18.5 seconds included a second-place 8.5 in the finals. Shawna Davidson was fifth in the average with a 20-second time and Emily Schaffer was 10th with

Snyder downs Lamesa

Get first win over Lady Tors since '90

In a hard fought game that saw the Lady Tigers go down in the first game, Snyder fought back in games two and three to beat Lamesa 8-15, 15-7, 15-2 for the first time since 1990.

"Over the last couple of years all the girls have heard is Lamesa, Lamesa, Lamesa," Snyder head coach Patty Grimmitt said. "Even though Levelland is the team to beat this year, Lamesa is the team that our girls really wanted to beat."

Since they (Lamesa) came back in our district in 1990, we just haven't been able to beat them. The seniors were emotional about this victory, it means a lot to them."

Leading the victory celebration was senior hitter Kelly Clay.

Clay shut down the Lady Tors by serving up 20 sevice point winners in three games, 5 of which were aces. She served points 6-15 in game two and points 1-7, and game point in game three.

"I was really pleased with Kelly's service game," Grimmitt said. "Edwina (Brooks) had a good hitting game and Bianca (Rocha) did a super job digging the ball."

"She (Rocha) was diving all over the floor to keep the ball in play. This wasn't a game won by individuals, though, everyone pulled in and did a great job. It was a total team effort."

The Lady Tigers racked up a total of 23 kills on the day, lead by Brooks and Clay, who had eight kills each.

Senior setter Sterling Cave played a big part, also, by setting up 15 of those kills.

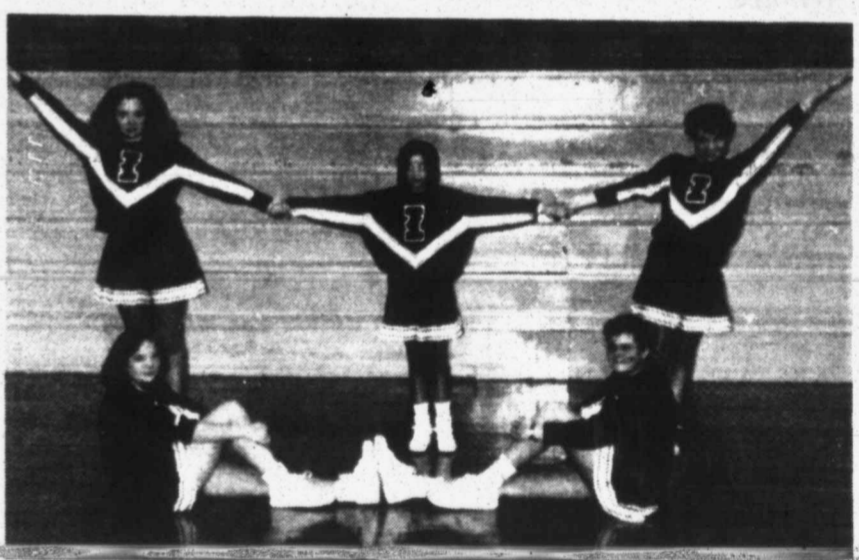

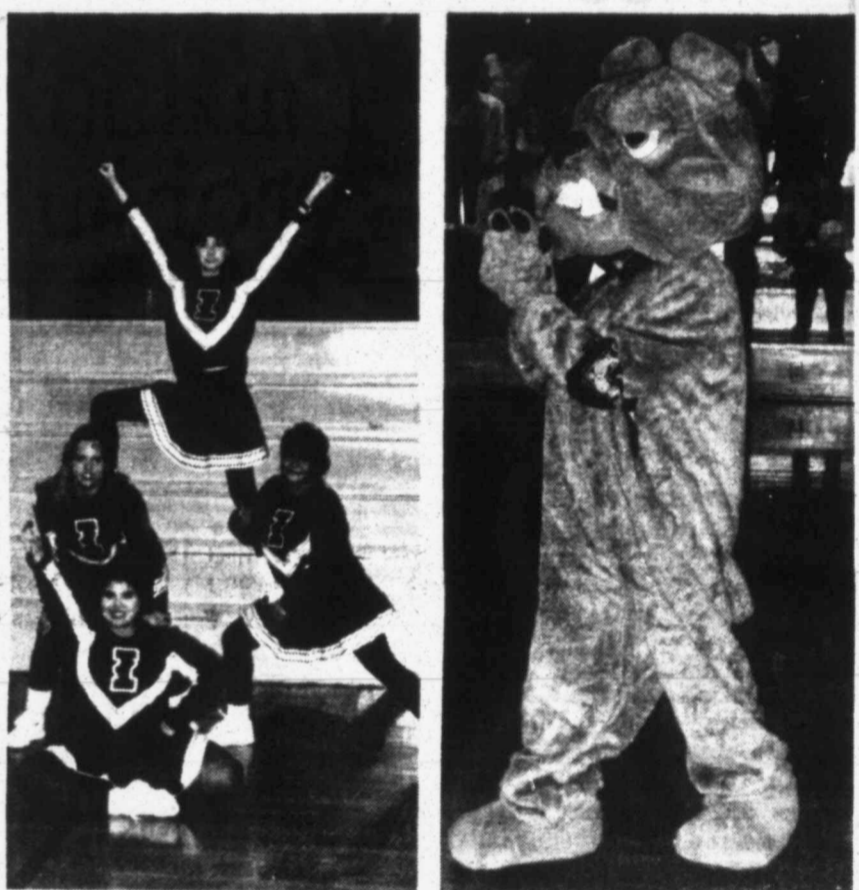

"I was really proud of the girls," Grimmitt said. "They lost the first game, but they kept their composure and never let up."

"I want to also thank the fans that came out to see us. The stands were packed and the crowd noise really paid off. The girls were pumped."

Snyder's next opponent will be the Sweetwater Mustangs. The Lady Tigers will play at 5:30 p.m. Tuesday in Sweetwater.

Other kills for Snyder came from C'Ella Clayton, Joannie Wemken and Tiffany Garza, who each had 2. Raechele Wemken had 1 kill.

Service point winners for the Lady Tigers included Raechele Wemken, who had 7 points and an ace. Sterling Cave scored 4, Bianca Rocha served up three points and Joannie Wemken and Haley Boaz each had 2.

A.Z. GLOVER

A.Z. Glover

KERRVILLE — A memorial service is set for 11 a.m. Tuesday in the First Presbyterian Church for A.Z. Glover, 78, who died Sunday at his home in Kerrville.

Officiating will be the Rev. Thomas Currie along with grandsons Tom, Don and Jerry Hale.

A former resident of Snyder, Mr. Glover had lived in Kerrville since 1986.

Born in Romney, Tex., Mr. Glover married Kathlene Woodruff on Dec. 30, 1935 in Rising Star. He was a staff sergeant in the U.S. Army during World War II, serving in both Europe and Japan.

Following the war, the Glovers lived in an oil camp near Maljamar, N.M. On a return trip to visit relatives in Rising Star, the Glovers stopped in Snyder and commented about the "nice town."

After the oil boom occurred in Scurry County, the Glovers moved to Snyder and Mr. Glover went to work for Chevron. After working for 25 years, he retired in 1977.

In 1954, the Glovers started a small business on the east side of the square. The business, Glover's Dress Shop, closed in 1985.

In those early years in Snyder, Glover played in the men's softball league and earned the nickname "Rag Arm Glover."

Glover served for nine years on the board of managers of Cogdell Memorial Hospital, four of them as chairman.

In Snyder he was a member of the Senior Citizens Center and Golden K Kiwanis Club. He was also a member of the Kerrville Masonic Lodge.

Survivors include his wife, Kathlene Glover of Kerrville; a daughter, Sally Ritch of Kerrville; a son, Paul Glover of Snyder; a brother, Jerry Glover of Andrews; seven grandchildren; and seven great-grandchildren.

Kerrville Funeral Home is in charge of arrangements. The family suggests memorials to the Heart of the Hills Hospice or a favorite charity.

Lenard Lankford

1905-1994
ROBY — Funeral service is set for 2 p.m. Tuesday in the First Baptist Church for Lenard C. Lankford, 88, who died Sunday in Lubbock's Methodist Hospital.

Officiating will be the Rev. Mike Jeter and the Rev. C.J. Smith. Burial will follow in the Snyder Cemetery under the direction of Weathersbee Funeral Home.

WTC student still in serious condition

A Western Texas College student remains in serious condition at University Medical Center in Lubbock following a one-vehicle rollover near here Thursday evening.

Tony Cole, a 19-year-old junior college student from Hamlin, was one of four students injured in the accident, which occurred 6 1/2 miles south of Snyder on Highway 208. Cole was transported by Snyder EMS to Cogdell Memorial Hospital where he was stabilized, then airlifted to Lubbock.

Another 19-year-old, Todd Bezner of Channing, was held for observation at Cogdell Hospital and has since been released. Two other WTC students, 21-year-old James Gardner of Aspermont and 19-year-old Christopher Brown of Hamlin, were treated for injuries and not hospitalized.

The accident took place as the students were traveling north on Highway 208 in a 1987 Ford pickup driven by Cole.

According to the DPS, the pickup veered off the east side of the road, struck a culvert, traveled 194 feet in the ditch until it crossed the road to the west side. It then hit a fence and rolled 2 1/2 times. All four occupants were ejected, according to the DPS report.

Born on June 11, 1899 in Nimrod, she married Doss Maner on Dec. 31, 1922 in Nimrod. He died in 1967.

while Idom voted against it. Commissioner C.D. Gray Jr. was absent.

In addition, the owners of the building have agreed to spend approximately $10,000 to bring the building up to standards of the Americans with Disabilities Act.

Taylor Made Ambulances was awarded the bid for a 1995 ambulance. Taylor's was the low bid at $57,350. Delivery will be 90 days following a delivery of a chassis to Taylor from Ford Motor Co.

Prior to the bid approval, commissioners unanimously amended the budget by $10,000 to cover the purchase of the ambulance. The court had originally budgeted $50,000.

In other business, the court agreed to deed two lots obtained in tax foreclosure to the Noah Project-West as a future site for a new shelter for abused family members.

The two lots are located on West 25th Street and other taxing entities must also agree to deed the properties.

Dee Wilson and Tom Holcomb, representing the local Noah Project, said the land will be used as in-kind contribution in seeking a grant to build the shelter.

Wilson said the current facility, the 100-year-old jail building, does not provide adequate space. She also expressed concerns with old gas lines and plumbing.

In a related item, the court unanimously adopted a resolution declaring October as Domestic Violence Awareness Month.

Cindy Nix and Bennie Maricle, with the local health unit, gave commissioners an update on the food establishment inspection system.

Nix said because the county system is in place, local food service establishments are paying substantially less than fees charged by state inspectors.

They noted that the funds remain in Scurry County to pay for the inspection program. Local fees are $75 for commercial organizations compared to fees ranging from $75 to $250 at the state level, based on gross volumes.

The local fee for non-profit organization is $10 compared to $75 charged by the state. Temporary vendors in Scurry County are charged $5 while the state charges $25.

To date, the local department has inspected 48 commercial establishments, 32 non-profit and 40 temporary vendors.

Commissioners also approved posting of a notice of intent to close a dedicated alley behind the First Baptist Church of Hermleigh.

The alley does not exist, and the church owns the property on both sides of the platted alley. The church is requesting the closure, said Pct. 4 Commissioner Gannaway, in order to build a new fellowship building.

A second budget amendment approved this morning was $3,000 for county court for commitment fees. Also approved was a line-item transfer of $86 for the county attorney for travel from law books.

Supreme Court says...

Texas cannot enforce 'homestead' law

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Supreme Court today refused to let Texas enforce its state "homestead exemption" law barring some types of liens or mortgages on people's primary residences.

Justices uphold lawsuit against Taylor principal

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Supreme Court today left intact a lawsuit that accuses a former Texas high school principal of failing to protect a 15-year-old student from a sexually abusive teacher.

The court, without comment, turned down arguments that a principal should not be held accountable for a teacher's unauthorized acts.

Eddy Lankford, then principal of Taylor High School in Taylor was sued by a student whose biology teacher seduced her into a sexual relationship in 1987.

The girl's civil rights lawsuit accused Lankford of failing to protect her from Stroud's conduct.

After one round of appeals, the full 5th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals ruled that the case against Lankford must go to trial.

The justices, without comment, let stand a ruling that said the state law is pre-empted by federal regulation of the savings and loan industry.

But the Texas law has certain drawbacks for homeowners, who cannot obtain home-equity loans for such purposes as a child's education or to supplement retirement income.

Under the law, the alternative for Texas homeowners is obtaining unsecured loans. Such loans generally are more expensive, and homeowners cannot deduct those interest payments from their federal income taxes. First Gibraltar Bank and Beneficial Texas Inc., challenged the Texas law over two types of home-secured loans it barred. They are a "reverse annuity mortgage" (RAM) and the "line of credit conversion mortgage."

A RAM provides for periodic payments from the lender to the borrower, with the loan being secured by the borrower's equity in a home.

The line of credit conversion mortgage is a type of RAM in which the lender is given a line of credit and may receive payments on demand rather than regularly scheduled payments.

The two S&Ls that challenged the Texas law argued that federal laws allowing such lending should trump the state's prohibition.

A federal judge ruled against the thrifts, but the 5th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals last April reversed that ruling.

The appeals court said two federal laws, the Home Owners Loan Act and the Parity Act, allow the federal Office of Thrift Supervision to pre-empt the Texas law.

In the appeal acted on today, lawyers for the state said the appeals court ruling gave too much deference to the Office of Thrift Supervision's interpretation of the two federal laws.

The April ruling "threatens to alter the balance of federal-state powers," the appeal said.

The Texas appeal was supported in a friend-of-the-court brief submitted by three other states — Idaho, Indiana and Louisiana.

ary update on the water treatment plant study. New state and federal regulations will likely require that the local water treatment plant be upgraded.

The council will also ask the Texas State Library and Archives Commission for an extension of the records control schedule filing deadline.

The final agenda item is engagement of an accounting firm to conduct the city's annual audit. The staff will recommend that Davis, Kinard and Co. of Abilene again be employed to conduct the audit.

Letter to the Editor

To the Editor:

The Scurry County Historical Commission would like to thank everyone who has helped dress up the square in anticipation of the white buffalo festivities on Oct. 8.

On Monday (Sept. 26) we walked around the square and saw these window displays: Bennett Chiropractic Clinic, pages from 1930 Snyder city directory; Margaret's, clothing; Stephens Office Supply, "A Night on the Prairie;" L'il Rascals, parlor scene; Farmers Insurance Group, "Family Treasures;" Preferred Risk Insurance, antique bottles; Honey Dew Krafts, ceramic white buffalo; Limmer's, school desks; and Pleasure's Mine, antique kitchen cabinet and quilt;

Others were Timbers & Threads, wardrobes, dresser and saddle; Nathalie's, antiques and collectibles; vacant building west, "Woman's World" by Janelda Davis and Bobby and Luann Grice and "Man's World" by Scurry County Genealogical Society; 1813 25th Street, Freemasonry; Bennett Office Supply, antique office equipment and barbed wire; and Merle Norman "Today and Yesterday."

(The titles for the exhibits are mine and meant only to be descriptive. The descriptions are very brief and do not include everything included in the displays.)

The Scurry County Museum has set up a buffalo hunter's camp in the window next to Bennett and the Historical Commission, with assistance from Mr. and Mrs. Riley Miller, has a display about J. Wright Moor in the Blackard Building at 26th and College. These are all in addition to the colorful displays the Beautification Committee has in place.

The Scurry County Library set up an exhibit calling attention to the time when the library was housed in the courthouse.

There will probably be other displays in place soon. Each is different and interesting and we encourage everyone to take a stroll around the square and enjoy them.

Yours truly,
G.A. Parks Jr.
Chairman, Scurry County Historical Commission

ER workers sense danger

SAN ANTONIO (AP) — The people who staff emergency rooms nationwide say they face repeated threats of violence from the patients they treat, according to a national survey.

The survey of 5,000 emergency medical professionals by the National Emergency Nurses Association showed that 87 percent said they were exposed to strong-arm physical assault as many as five times a year.

About 24 percent reported they were threatened with weapons as many as five times a year.

Also, 78 percent of emergency centers have security guards, but 31 percent of those have no crisis intervention training, according to the report issued Saturday during the association's convention.

Most of the violence comes from intoxicated patients, but gang violence has become an increasing factor, said Carol Twombly, an emergency room nurse at University Hospital in San Antonio.

"When a gang member comes in and others come in to see him, you don't know if they're coming as friends or to finish the job," Ms. Twombly said.

The University Hospital of Alabama recently installed a metal detector in its emergency department and confiscated 258 weapons in the first week, said Sue Sheehy, president-elect of the National Emergency Nurses Association.

"In Tacoma, Wash., I had to wear a flak vest and helmet when I went on an ambulance call," Ms. Sheehy said. "We're particularly vulnerable in the emergency department because so often there is easy public access."

Paul Glibert, president of the group's California chapter, said exposure to violence always has been a hazard of the medical profession.

"It may not be as high profile as post offices, but hospitals are still the most prevalent place where you're going to find violence," he said.

Ms. Sheehy said the problem has grown worse in the last decade, with emergency departments accounting for 49 percent of the violence in hospitals last year compared with 18 percent in 1983.

The Texas medical community hasn't tried to legislate security standards, but many hospitals are acting on their own, said Susie Graham, president of the San Antonio chapter and administrative director at University Hospital's emergency department.

Mom can't imagine being happy again

HOUSTON (AP) — The mother of a 20-year-old slain Texas A&M University student says she "can't ever imagine being happy again."

Faye Baker, in a Sunday edition interview with the Houston Chronicle, spoke frankly about the Friday morning murder of her daughter, Lori Ann Baker, a 1992 graduate of Kingwood High School, near Houston.

"We'll always be stunned," Mrs. Baker said. "We'll likely never be the same again. I can't ever imagine being happy again."

Lori Baker, a junior accounting major, was asleep when a burglar startled her. She was shot once in the head with a 9mm semiautomatic pistol.

Ron Shamburger, 22, an A&M biomedical senior from Longview, surrendered to College Station police about two hours after the 3:30 a.m. shooting and confessed to the crime. He also admitted to several other recent burglaries in the area.

"She was the sweetest, most wonderful daughter that anyone, anyone in the world could have ever had. She was my angel," Mrs. Baker said Saturday after returning home from a Scotland vacation upon being notified of her daughter's death.

Mrs. Baker said she often spoke and corresponded via the Internet to her daughter from London, where Lori's father, Derrel Baker, is based as an oil executive for Oryx Energy Co. Her father declined comment.

Mrs. Baker said her daughter chose to attend Texas A&M because her father and grandfather, Col. D.L. Baker, a former A&M commandant, both graduated from the university.

A year ago, Lori and her brother, Mark, moved into brick homes next door to one another, just west of campus.

Their father had the homes built to keep them close to each other while their parents lived overseas.

"We wanted Mark as her protector," Mrs. Baker said.

According to police, a fire was set in Lori Baker's house after she was shot by the burglar.

Police say that just minutes after killing Ms. Baker, Shamburger stood in her back yard and watched as her bedroom erupted in flames. While there, he ran into Mark Baker, who was banging on his sister's window to warn her of the fire. At the time, her brother did not know she had been shot, according to College Station police detective Donnie Andreski.

Shamburger walked up to the frantic Mark Baker and said: "Lori's dead. Lori's dead."

Shamburger knew Ms. Baker, having gone on a couple of dates with her years before.

However, police believe the two did not have any recent contact with each other.

"If he was someone significant in her life, I would have known about it," Mrs. Baker said.

Lori Baker's parents last saw her Aug. 25, when she flew to London for two weeks before the fall semester started.

Mrs. Baker said her daughter eagerly anticipated the beginning of the next semester and was considering changing her major to marketing.

Shamburger remained in Brazos County Jail Sunday on $250,000 bond. He has been charged with capital murder and the aggravated kidnapping of Ms. Baker's roommate, Victoria Kohler, who was placed in the trunk of her car by Shamburger, police say. She later escaped unharmed.

Lightning kills man and sheep

MADRID, Spain (AP) — A bolt of lightning struck a children's zoo Sunday afternoon in Madrid, killing one man and injuring five other people.

Miguel Angel Luna, 28, died of respiratory failure on the way to the hospital, the state-run news agency EFE reported. His wife and child were also hit by the lightning and were hospitalized for observation.

Three others also were hospitalized, including 23-year-old Jorge Cubillo Rodriguez, who was standing near Luna when he was hit and reportedly fell into a coma.

Two of the petting zoo's sheep were also killed by the bolt.

It wasn't raining when the lightning struck, but zoo workers told EFE they heard thunder.

Lawyers disciplined in record numbers in Texas in 1994

HOUSTON (AP) — The State Bar of Texas is trying to clean up its ranks by cracking down on a record number of lawyers this year.

In the 12 months ending April 30, bar sanctions were imposed on 655 lawyers, nearly double the 354 disciplined in the preceding year and almost triple the 228 sanctioned in 1992, the year the heightened enforcement efforts began.

State Bar officials expect as many as 800 lawyers will have been disciplined in the 12 months ending next April 30.

The sanctions range from private reprimands to disbarment.

"I find it difficult to brag about the large number of lawyers being disciplined," Bar President Jim Branton of San Antonio said in Sunday's editions of the Houston Chronicle. "But I think lawyers are sick and tired of bad apples and wanted something done about it. I believe they are determined to get it cleaned up."

This month, the State Bar will extend to El Paso an experimental peer-review program that offers counseling to lawyers who have been the subject of less serious complaints. The program eventually will be used statewide.

The State Bar streamlined its grievance system in 1992 to make it more open to the public and allow swifter justice.

Under the new rules, complaints are handled within a year, compared with the old system, in which grievances could languish for two to three years if they did not fall through the cracks, State Bar officials said.

The State Bar now requires the state's 49 grievance committees to each have nonmembers make up a third of its membership. Nonlawyers also must fill half the 12 seats on the Commission for Lawyer Discipline, which oversees committee panels.

"For those who think it is just an old-boy system comprised of attorneys covering up for each other, they are flat-out wrong," said Joe Beneke, former superintendent of the Spring Independent School District and a member of the Commission for Lawyer Discipline.

"That may have been the case a number of years ago, but it is not true anymore."

The new regulations also require lawyers to post a toll-free complaint hotline number in their offices or print them on billing statements or contracts.

As a result, the number of complaints has soared. As many as 750 written complaints are received each month. An average of 400 a month allege professional misconduct.

In the last May-to-May period, grievance panels heard 5,901 cases, resulting in the disbarment of 30 Texas attorneys, license surrenders from 21 others and suspensions of 161 other licenses.

In comparison, there were 12 disbarments, 10 resignations and 65 suspensions in 1991-92.

Although the new grievance system has been widely praised, many contend more adjustments are needed.

Critics contend that some disbarred or suspended attorneys continue to practice law, while some attorneys under discipline fail to reimburse clients for stolen or misappropriated funds as ordered by disciplinary panels.

Electrolux dealership, small appliance repair...

Mapes offers carpet cleaning special

Milton Mapes has moved his Electrolux dealership and small appliance repair shop to 600 Coliseum Drive, next door to Cooper Appliance. During the month of October, he will shampoo an average room of carpet with a dry foam shampoo for only $15.00. Mr. Mapes has been in the professional floor care business for 45 years and has had 30 years experience in the small appliance business and with Electrolux vacuum cleaners. He is the factory authorized dealer for sales and service of Electrolux in the Snyder area. For free home demonstrations, bags or supplies call him at his new number, 573-8105.

What makes the Electrolux vacuum cleaner different from units sold in discount or appliance stores? Several things. First of all, Electrolux is manufactured with pride in the United States. The company has been exclusively in the vacuum cleaner business for 69 years. Electrolux doesn't build radios, TVs or frying pans — they build vacuum cleaners.

Secondly, the Electrolux does something that is rare among vacuums — it cleans. Have you ever noticed when you empty your upright vacuum what you get the most of? Probably you get gobs of carpet fiber and a little dirt. This is because the beater bar tears out the fibers and vibrates the bulk of the dirt and sand deeper into the carpet. The small, tinker-toy type motors of most uprights just don't have the power to pull dirt and sand out of the carpet and into the vacuum. The Electrolux with its powerful 12 amp motor actually vacuums dirt and sand out of the carpet and into the bag. Call Milton Mapes and let him show you the difference with Electrolux.

If you want to use paper bags in your Kirby instead of the cloth, Mr. Mapes has conversion kits that will allow you to change.

Don't throw away small appliances when they go on the blink and buy new ones. Chances are the new appliance that you purchase won't be nearly as good a quality as your old one. See if your old appliance is repairable, right here in Snyder at a reasonable rate. Milton Mapes will give you an estimate, and tell you if it is more economical to have your appliance repaired or to replace it. Many modern small appliances — toasters, coffee pots, mixers, heaters, etc. — that are manufactured in foreign countries have planned obsolescence. They expect the product will fail and then you will have to buy a new one.

Mr. Mapes also repairs all types of clocks including grandfather and cuckoo clocks.

Mr. Mapes rebuilds vacuum cleaners and has several guaranteed reconditioned vacuum cleaners in his shop now. He also carries the microfiltration vacuum cleaner bags for most brands.

If you have stubborn stains that you just can't get rid of, Mr. Mapes also stocks the "Unbelievable Stain Remover" that he demonstrated in his booth at the fair.

Don't throw away your money or your appliances until you see Milton Mapes at 600 Coliseum Drive or give him a call at 573-8105.
