Ask Us

Q—Who are the people cleaning up each Tuesday evening along College Avenue and Business 180? Are they city or county workers?

A—They are a group of a half-dozen citizens who are volunteering their time to try and keep trash picked up and yards mowed along the major traffic areas through Snyder. And, they need help. Anyone willing to donate a couple of hours a week—including business owners—is asked to call Doug Hutchinson at 573-1544.

At college...

8th turfgrass conference set to begin

More than 200 people are expected to attend the annual West Texas Turfgrass Conference here Wednesday and Thursday at Western Texas College.

The conference began informally today with golf this morning and afternoon on the college course and will include a 6 o'clock barbecue this evening.

Registration will be held tonight at Willow Park Inn and at 8 a.m. Wednesday at the college Fine Arts Theatre.

This is the eighth year for the conference, which is co-sponsored by the West Texas Golf Course Superintendents Association and the Western Texas College Golf & Landscape Technology Department.

This year's conference will include sessions covering turf technology, golf course instruction and will offer several continuing education units for pesticide applicator licensing.

Keynote speaker for the conference will be Tim Wilson of Boise, Idaho, chairman of the National Water Conservation Committee of the Irrigation Association—an international association.

Wilson will address the group in the Fine Arts Theatre at 9 a.m. Wednesday, following a welcome by Dr. Harry Krenek, college president.

Speakers include Brent Beam with the Texas A&M Research Center, Amarillo; Bill Bedford with the La Cantera Resort in San Antonio; Gary Brooks, Rhone-

County court tables request

A request for a private commercial operator to do mechanic work at the county-owned Winston Field was tabled this morning by the Scurry County Commissioners Court.

A request by former airport manager Darrell Mize to perform maintenance work on an aircraft owned by another individual was unanimously tabled after the court promised quick action on proposed airport rules and regulations.

Just minutes before, the court had set a 7 p.m. public hearing for Oct. 20 to discuss proposed regulations for commercial activity at the county airport.

At a public hearing held last month, the discussion bogged down on the question of required liability insurance for proposed commercial operators. The scheduled public hearing will be held in the district courtroom, if available.

Mize said his request to do mechanic work was based on current rules adopted in 1988 which states that permission must be granted by the commissioners court or its agent.

Commissioner C.D. Gray made the motion to table the request, saying it would be premature in view of the adopting pending rules and regulations. Gray said the request would hopefully "push along the approval process."

County Judge Bob Doolittle said the court had the authority to grant the approval, and added that he felt the liability question did not apply to the free enterprise request.

Because the county accepted federal airport funds, Gray said the county could not discriminate by requiring the airport manager to have insurance and not requiring other commercial operators. Doolittle said he saw it differently since airport manager Gary Halton acts as an agent for Scurry County.

Mize said he needed to work on an airplane now, but said quick approval of the rules and regulations would work.

The court also approved line-item transfers for three departments. Some $12,430 was moved from repairs to computer equipment for the adult probation department.

Also approved was $95 for the district attorney to repairs from liability insurance. The health unit was granted a funds transfer request totaling $600 from chemicals, with $300 going to supplies and $300 to telephones.

Judge Doolittle presided and commissioners present were Gray, Roy Idom, Jerry Gannaway and Ralph Trevey.

'Brown Bag' event slated

Western Texas College will hold its first "Brown Bag Concert" of the school year Wednesday in Room 102 of the Fine Arts Building.

The concert will be from 12:15 until 12:45 p.m. and is open to the public.

Carrie Keith will perform a piano solo, John Rogers will play the trumpet and Leroy Martinez and Cliff Allmon will play guitar solos. Also performing will be the WTC Guitar Ensemble, featuring music instructor Jon Palomaki, Randall Proctor, Darrel Johnson, Jerry Echols and Paul Hagood.

Those attending the informal concert are invited to bring a "brown bag" lunch and eat during the event.

Kirkpatrick wins contest

First place honors and a check for $50 go to Billy Kirkpatrick of 959 N. Ave. R who had only two misses in last week's SDN Football Contest.

Kirkpatrick missed one pro game and one college game.

Two entrants with five misses took the second and third prizes, using the tie-breaker procedure in determining the order of finish.

Joel Loper of 3101 Ave. U won the second place prize of $25, and Allen Stone of 3802 Noble won the third place prize of $15.

Winners will be mailed their checks.

Another contest appears in this issue.

Personnel requests, property donation approved by board

Western Texas College trustees formally approved the hiring of two new staff members Monday during a short meeting.

Approved were Deidra Graves and Lynda McCormack, both student services specialists. Graves was hired on a 12-month contract, McCormack, 10 months. Both are in charge of recruiting and public relations. They replace Darla Doty, who has moved.

In other business, the board approved donating two lots located at Beaumont and the U.S. Highway 180 to the Noah Project, a shelter for victims of family violence. The lots are owned by the college, city, school district and county, and approval will have to be secured from all four entities. Thus far, the county and college have approved donating the land. Snyder ISD trustees are expected to address the issue Thursday evening.

The Noah Project is currently seeking grant funds to help finance the construction of a new facility on the site because it is not feasible to renovate the current facility, said Dee Wilson, outreach coordinator. She said that if the new facility is not built, the land will revert back to the controlling entities.

In the only other business, the board also approved previous minutes and the financial report.

During a discussion session, the board received pre-bid information on lighting equipment for the Fine Arts Theatre. Most of the equipment currently in use dates to the opening of the college more than 20 years ago.

Drama professor Michael Endy indicated that bids are estimated to come in between $15,000 and $16,000 for the equipment with another $5,000 to $6,000 for installation.

Dr. Harry Krenek, college president, said the new equipment is needed not only for WTC students but for community programs as well. Some of the equipment to be replaced has been deemed unsafe for student use, he said.

The board will also seek bids for the 1995-1996 college catalogue. Dr. Krenek said seeking three-year bids works best for the college.

Dr. Krenek announced the college has scheduled a special 1 p.m. board meeting Saturday. The focus of the meeting will be long-range planning and will include a review of finances, recruiting, ad-

The SDN Column

The feller on Deep Creek says, "A born loser is the guy who runs out of gasoline on a date, only to have the girl pull out a bottle — filled with gasoline."

One of those pay TV channels has been running ads saying it is the answer to a lively Saturday night.

The pay movie channel commissioned a nationwide survey that shows that most Americans still view Saturday night as their big night out, but that selected activities often go awry.

Seventeen percent of respondents experienced their worst Saturday night at a party, while 16 percent at a dinner. Finishing third was that venerable American institution, the blind date. It was responsible for one in 10 lousy Saturday nights.

When asked the worst thing a companion had ever done over the course of an evening, 19 percent said "gotten sick" while 16 percent complained of fighting. Fourteen percent said the companion talked about self all evening.

The HBO poll revealed other Saturday night observations:

--A third of all women who had a bad experience on Saturday night blamed their companion, whereas only one percent blamed a pet. There must be a lesson here.

--More than 25 percent of 18 to 14 year-olds had their worst Saturday night occur at a party, while one in six had their evening ruined by companions who either made advances or left with others.

--Among those personally blamed for a ruined Saturday were former Michigan football coach Bo Schembecher, two ladies of the evening and former President Richard Nixon. Even now, we still have Nixon to kick around.

--Almost a quarter of city dwellers complained of an evening messed up by a stranger, clearly a violation of urban law which says: never, ever make eye contact.

--Among other worst things that a companion has done over the course of a Saturday night includes not showing up or talking about an ex-spouse.

The poll, however, found the ultimate in antisocial behavior — even worse than falling asleep. It was dying while on a date.

Candidate forum scheduled tonight

Area citizens will have an opportunity to hear candidates for state and local office tonight as United We Stand, America presents its eighth candidate forum.

The event is free to the public and will begin at 7 p.m. in Towle Park Barn.

Democratic State Rep. David Counts and his opponent, Wilma Hogan, will speak, as will Tom Haywood, Republican challenger to unseat Sen. Steve Carriker. The senator will be represented by spokesman Greg Beatty.

Scurry County candidates attending will include those for county judge, Ricky Fritz and Bobby Goodwin; Precinct 2 Commissioner Roy Idom and his opponent, Wayland Huddleston; and Precinct 4 Commissioner Jerry Gannaway and challenger Charlie Henderson. Also scheduled to speak are County Treasurer Charlie Bell and his opponent, Janet Merritt; and District Clerk Elois Pruitt and her opponent, Polly Wadleigh Echols.

UWSA officers said each candidate will be given an allotted time to speak. Questions to the candidates will be allowed, although question and answer periods will be kept brief in order to keep the program within a reasonable length.

Western Texas College has also scheduled a "Meet the Candidates" forum for Wednesday, Oct. 19, at 10 a.m. in the Fine Arts Theatre on campus.

The election takes place on Nov. 8. Early voting will be held Oct. 19 through Nov. 4.

Couple's Day Care Schedule Doesn't Work for Wife at Night

by Abigail Van Buren

© 1994 Universal Press Syndicate

DEAR ABBY: My husband works as a security guard full time on the midnight shift. He makes $5.50 an hour. I also work full time, on an afternoon shift, making almost three times as much as he does. We are working these shifts so we don't need outside day care for our children. We have a baby together, and he has a son by a previous marriage who lives with us. My problem is that he has been on the midnight shift for more than two years, and I have been getting very depressed as time goes by. I would like him to find a daytime job, and I will continue working afternoons. That way we still won't need day care, but we could at least sleep together at night. He knows how miserable I am, but he doesn't even look for a job.

Abby, we are newlyweds of just over a year. This is putting a strain on our relationship because I feel he doesn't care enough to do something about it. On the weekends, he needs to catch up on his sleep and spend more time with the kids, and I feel like a third wheel. We have to be quiet around the house during the day so he can sleep.

I miss my husband so much, but I guess he just doesn't feel the same. He reads Dear Abby, so I hope he sees this. Please tell me what is wrong with him — or me.

DEAR MOTHER: In some families, not all children deserve to be treated equally, but in order to keep peace in the family, they should be.

If you want to be absolutely fair, subtract the amount of money your daughter owes you from her inheritance.

DEAR ABBY: In a recent column about the dangers of being locked in the trunk of a car, you made an appeal for Detroit and Japan to install a safety latch in the trunk.

Abby, I own a 1991 Honda Accord, which came with a latch that will release the locked back-seat.

I don't know when they started putting them in, but I'm sure glad they did.

Pentagon disputes base closures' data

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Defense Department disputes a thrust of report that claims military bases ordered closed are staying open by taking on new names or missions.

The report issued Monday by the Business Executives for National Security says 26 out of 67 major bases ordered closed since 1988 remain open in one form or another — either as bases for reserve units or housing different federal agencies.

"It's full of errors," said Defense Department spokesman Glenn Flood. "Things are working out — we're closing bases. Nobody said it was going to be easy and quick, but it's going to continue to happen."

Flood said seven of the 26 "reopened" bases cited in the report were never slated to close but were to be given new, sometimes reduced missions.

The report notes that in 13 instances, bases slated for closure are receiving branch offices of the Defense Finance and Accounting Service. It fails to mention, Flood said, that the relocation of DFAS offices was part of a dramatic reduction of that money-managing wing of the Pentagon from some 300 offices scattered around the country to about two dozen.

Based in Washington, the Business Executives for National Security, is a nonpartisan organization that says it is "dedicated to improving U.S. national security" by promoting efficient defense spending.

The group argues that the best solution for closed military bases is to turn the property over to private developers, who will eventually create more jobs.

Pentagon officials acknowledge that it takes five to six years to close down a military base. In many cases, local National Guard and reserve units occupy some of the space vacated by the departed active-duty force. And federal regulations allow other government agencies first crack at surplus military property when it becomes available.

'Watershare' to provide assistance

Snyder City Council has authorized the establishment of a fund to assist people needing help in an emergency situation, on a once in a 12-month period basis.

The target date for distribution of these funds is January 1995. In the meantime, any funds collected will be accumulating to meet the target date for distribution.

Scurry County Services will determine the eligibility of all applicants and will disburse the funds. Referrals will be made by utility department personnel. Assistance will be given to local customers only for city water, sewer and sanitation services.

All city utility customers' bills will have a place to indicate the amount of contribution they are sending in for Project Watershare. Any contributions made may be sent in additionally with the utility payment.

the fact that the closed Presidio Army base in San Francisco is now a national park.

Flood pointed out that the area's new role as a national park was prescribed by federal law. In addition, he said a law passed last year gives the Pentagon greater authority to allow local communities to propose uses for closed bases without wading through years of red tape.

"If a community comes in with a reuse plan that's going to create jobs, (the base) can be almost given away," Flood said. He cited as an example Norton Air Force Base near San Bernardino, Calif., which is now a community-run commercial airport.

Delphiniums, premium plant

By FLORAL & NATURE CRAFTS

For AP Special Features
When it comes to bold, beautiful blossoms, it's hard to beat eye-catching delphiniums, says Floral & Nature Crafts magazine. They grow in vibrant shades of blue, purple, lavender, white, pink, and yellow, and consist of spikes with individual stems of single flowers. Because varieties of delphinium plants can grow anywhere from 1 1/2 to 6 feet tall, they often provide a vertical accent to flower gardens. Their spikes also make beautiful additions to both fresh and dried flower arrangements. Sometimes confused with larkspur (an annual), delphiniums grow as perennials.

Delphiniums grow best in areas washed with lots of water and sun, but have difficulty thriving through hot, dry summers. Plant delphiniums in well-drained, loamy soil about 12 inches apart for smaller varieties and 20 inches apart for larger ones. Allowing space between the plants lets the air circulate better, helping prevent mold, mildew, and other diseases. Like many other perennials, delphiniums may have trouble surviving severe winters.

Delphiniums provide an attractive background for smaller plants, although you can incorporate some of the smaller varieties in the middle of your flower garden. For best results, stake larger delphinium varieties while they're still young and before the wind has had a chance to bend them over. A single bamboo or wire stake for each plant should provide plenty of support.

Delphiniums typically bloom in early summer. Cut each spike when most of the flowers have developed but before the bottom blossoms start to fall off. If you cut the bloom stalks down to ground level after the spikes have finished blooming and before they seed, most delphinium varieties will bloom again in late summer or early fall.

Although fragile, delphiniums hold color well. You can successfully preserve them by air-drying, using desiccants, or pressing. If you air-dry delphiniums, hang individual spikes upside down, and then group them into bunches after they've dried. (If you try to dry delphiniums in bunches, you'll probably crush the fragile blossoms). To preserve delphiniums in silica gel, lay the spikes horizontally in crystals, and then gently cover them with more crystals.

The large delphinium blossoms make perfect additions to oversize arrangements and crafts projects or to add height to smaller ones. What's more, their deep colors provide focal points for groupings of pale flowers or dried grasses. You can best work delphiniums into small arrangements by using individual flowers rather than a whole spike.

best to last: counting. Today's deal from his article is easy for some, impossible for others.

North uses a limit raise, showing a maximum pass with at least four trumps. In North America, North might respond two clubs, the Drury convention, giving the same message, except that he may hold only three trumps. Drury has the advantage of keeping the auction lower, permitting extra investigation.

West cashed two top hearts before switching to the club jack. Declarer won with dummy's ace and ran the spade jack, losing to West's king. Back came another club. South drew the remaining trumps, cashed the diamond ace and finessed dummy's jack. But East produced the queen: one down.

Ask Anne & Nan

By Anne B. Adams and Nancy Nash-Cummings

A soap bar solution to dirty laundry

DEAR ANNE AND NAN: After years of washing my husband's socks in a soap product (Ivory Snow), the company has changed and it is now a mild detergent. Because my husband has an allergy, I must find another mild SOAP. Do you know of any laundry product that is a soap and not a detergent? There must be many people who can't tolerate the latter. — NANCY CLIMMIN, Marengo, Ill.

DEAR NANCY: We wonder how companies make their marketing decisions. We have received so many letters asking for a substitute for the "old" Ivory Snow. We haven't been able to find one.

However, we recently received a letter from Laura Showalter of Baton Rouge, La., who writes: "After searching every grocery store in our area for leftover Ivory Snow, my engineer husband decided we would have to make our own by grating the stiff produced Ivory Snow bars. We found the best way is to cut the bars of soap into 1/2-inch cubes, then place in a shallow pan to dry out. (This may take up to three weeks depending on the humidity.) After the cubes have dried, we use our food processor and grate on high speed until the cubes resemble 'snow.'"

We haven't tried the "Showalter Method" but wonder if laying the cubes out on a cookie tray and putting them into an oven set on the very lowest temperature for 12 to 14 hours (leaving the oven door slightly ajar) might not dry the cubes out a lot faster.

HINT OF THE WEEK: Paula Pintauro of North Stonington, Conn., says that white vinegar is not only a good deodorizer for cat urine but will discourage cats from using the area again.

STUMPED: We have been able to find replacement parts for many types of cookware, and often the addresses for cookware replacement parts we couldn't find were sent us by our ever resourceful readers. Well, we've now got a big list that we're asking your help on as we can't find the following companies anywhere!

They are: EMDEKO, Aristcraft, Homemakers Guild, Golden West and finally Flex-Seal (they made pressure cookers). Most of the above had lifetime guarantees and were sold as home demonstration products in various parts of the country. HELP!

FEEDBACK: A while ago we published an entire Feedback column on how to re-cycle old blue jeans and wish we had had this letter to include. We feel it is the best Feedback answer of all.

Pat Ramsey of Phoenix, Ariz., wrote: "In an issue of 'Guideposts' there was a story of a lady who makes patchwork blue jean sleeping bags for the homeless, and there is an address you can write to so you can do the same. They will send instructions. Send a self-addressed, stamped envelope to: My Brother's Keeper Quilt Group, c/o Flo Wheatley, Strawberry Hill Farm, RR 1, Box 1049, Hop Bottom, PA 18824."

Write to "Ask Anne & Nan" at P.O. Box 240, Hartland, VT 05048. Questions of general interest will appear in the column. Due to the volume of mail, personal replies cannot be provided.

Vikings topple Giants 27-10

Lawrence Taylor's jersey retired at halftime

EAST RUTHERFORD, N.J. (AP) — Anthony Parker and Warren Moon showed New York Giants' prize prospect Dave Brown that he still has a lot to learn about life in the NFL.

Parker picked off a pass by Brown and returned it 44 yards for a touchdown on the fourth play of the third quarter Monday night to break a tie and lead the Minnesota Vikings to 27-10 win over the Giants.

Moon, with 154 NFL starts to Brown's five, was 23-of-34 for 299 yards and touchdown pass and demonstrated the rhythm that Brown has yet to learn.

Parker's interception came after Brown, who also threw an interception that led to Minnesota's first touchdown, had tied it with a 3-yard run. The quarterback draw came at the end of a remarkable 94-yard touchdown drive that began on the Giants' 6-yard-line with 1:27 left in the first half.

It alone demonstrated why the Giants decided to give him their starting job and release veteran Phil Simms. Brown was 6-of-8 for 91 yards in the drive.

But on New York's first series of the second half, he demonstrated his inexperience, raising up and passing into the flat and hitting Parker perfectly in stride. The Minnesota cornerback took it untouched down the left sideline for the score, the second straight game that Brown has had an interception returned for a score.

Moon hit Cris Carter with a 20-yard TD pass late in the period to make it 24-10 and putting Brown, who finished 18-for-36 for 226 yards and three interceptions, into a hurryup mode. Foad Revez, who opened the scoring with a 44-yard field goal in the first quarter, tackled on a 24-yarder that made it 27-10.

Minnesota improved to 4-2, tied for first in the NFC Central with Chicago. The Giants' loss, on the night Lawrence Taylor's "56" jersey was retired by the team, was their second straight after they opened the season with three straight wins.

It was also the first Minnesota win over New York since 1976. The Giants had won four straight during that period, one of them a playoff game last January.

It was largely the product of a defense that has now scored 13 defensive touchdowns in its last 18 games.

Rodney Hampton, who returned to the Giants after missing two games with a back injury, was limited to 27 yards in 13 carries after rushing for 161 yards in the Giants' playoff win over Minnesota last season.

Terry Allen, who went in from a yard out for Minnesota's first TD, carried 21 times for 75 yards.

After Minnesota fumbled the ball away at the Giants' 1-yard line on its first possession, Revez and New York's David Treadwell traded field goals to make it 3-3.

Vencie Glenn's interception at his own 47 on a ball tipped by Jack Del Rio set up Allen's TD.

The Giants then pulled off their long drive, 94 yards in nine plays in 1:20, Brown left the field to a standing ovation.

Two minutes into the second half, Parker put the fans back in their seats.

"56" — New York Giants great Lawrence Taylor had his number retired Monday night in front of a sold out crowd at The Meadowlands. It was the eighth time in Giants history that a player's number has been retired, the first since the mid-1960s. Despite the celebration, the Giants lost to the Vikings 27-10.

Rangers hire new GM

Kennedy appears unlikely to keep manager job

ARLINGTON (AP) — It's a good thing Kevin Kennedy didn't buy a house in Arlington.

The Texas Rangers manager appeared on the chopping block Monday after Doug Melvin was hired as general manager.

Melvin didn't give Kennedy, who has a year left on his contract, a ringing endorsement after the Baltimore assistant general manager was hired as general manager of the Rangers.

Pressed whether Kennedy still had a job, Melvin, who was familiar with Kennedy's work in the American League, said "I'm not prepared to answer that question today."

"I haven't talked to Kevin. He's one of the personnel I want to sit down and talk to. That decision is not going to come today."

Then he wouldn't say what he thought of Kennedy.

"The manager has to be hired by the general manager," said club president Tom Schieffer. "Kennedy did a good job, but under final analysis it's Doug who has to decide. Ownership can't intervene. We have to support him (Melvin) in what he does."

Melvin bolstered Baltimore's pitching and defense while assistant general manager.

"Right now, I feel like the luckiest man in baseball," he said. "I want to bring a World Series here to Texas, and I feel like we can do it fairly quickly."

Melvin, 42, becomes the sixth GM in club history. He was given a three-year contract. Financial terms were not disclosed.

The Rangers have long revolved around power hitting. The lack of solid pitching and defense were cited last month when Tom Grieve was fired after the team failed to win a division title during his 10 seasons as general manager.

The Rangers led the AL West when the season ended, but they were 52-62 and Schieffer said change was needed.

"We're really excited about having Doug here," Schieffer said. "He knows the game from scouting and developing areas, and we feel he can be the person who can bring a world championship here."

Melvin has been in pro baseball since his playing days began in 1972. He's been an executive since the New York Yankees made him scouting director in 1985.

He joined the Orioles in 1986 as a special assistant to the president. Two years later, when Baltimore lost 107 games, he became director of player personnel.

Under Melvin, the Orioles have returned to near the top of the AL East, playing a more balanced game and relying less on the long ball.

A key has been the development of Melvin's first-round draft picks: pitchers Gregg Olson, Ben McDonald, Mike Mussina and outfielder Jeffrey Hammonds. The last top pick by Texas to pan out was pitcher Kevin Brown in 1986.

"Defense and pitching and staying free of injuries are the three areas I think need to improve with this ballclub," Melvin said. "Good defense will make pitching better and if you can stay healthy and keep them on the field, they'll all play better."

Melvin was considered for last year's GM opening in Boston and he was considered a candidate for a similar position currently open in St. Louis.

Other candidates for the Texas job included Colorado assistant GM Walt Jocketty, Rangers assistant GM Sandy Johnson, former Houston GM Bill Wood, Atlanta assistant GM Chuck LaMar and Florida assistant GM Frank Wren. Jocketty and Melvin were the only ones interviewed twice.

Golf team currently in 12th place

DENISON — On a course that Western Texas College head golf coach Milton Ham described as "very tough," players from all participating schools have seen their scores soar above par.

After the first round of play at the Grayson County Invitational in Denison, WTC is currently in 12th place.

Leading the way for the West-erners is Jason Ball, a freshman from San Angelo. Ball, shot a two over par 72 for fourth place in medalist standings.

Matt Clements, also a freshman at WTC, finished with a score of 80. Ron Glennie shot an 83 and both Stan Scarborough and Mitch McCallib ended the day by shooting 88s.

New Mexico Junior College leads the tournament with a 289. Paris Junior College is second with a 307 and Midland College is two shots back at 309.

Play is scheduled to continue today with 18 holes on tap.

Next week, the men's golf team travels to Midland to play in the Midland College Invitational.

Magic's Grant promises championships

JACKSONVILLE, Fla. (AP) — Horace Grant has three NBA championship rings and designs on at least two more.

The Orlando Magic's prized offseason acquisition says his new team is capable of contending for the Eastern Conference title this season and will reign over the entire league soon.

"I don't know if it'll happen this year or next year, but I guarantee we will win a couple of championships here before I retire," said Grant, who was part of three title teams with the Chicago Bulls.

Grant's signing last month heightened expectations that were already high for a franchise fortunate enough to obtain Shaquille O'Neal and Anfernee Hardaway in consecutive drafts.

The Magic won a club-record 50 games last season, but lost to Indiana in the opening round of the playoffs. Grant, a 29-year-old power forward, is viewed as the tough defender and rebounder needed to complement O'Neal and help the team move to the next level.

"I played against him for five years and hated it," the Magic's Nick Anderson said. "I welcome him with open arms. He's going to take a lot of pressure off Shaq."

The 6-foot-10, 235-pound Grant cautioned, however, about expecting too much too soon.

Smith hopes to play at full speed Sunday

IRVING (AP) — Emmitt Smith is hoping his injured hamstring will let him play all the way against the Philadelphia Eagles.

Smith got plenty of rest last Sunday against the Arizona Cardinals, playing only a half in the 38-33 thriller.

"My hamstring was getting tight, and I'm not sure how much longer I could have played," Smith said. "It was good to get a huge lead so I could get treatment at halftime and not have to play anymore."

Smith said he hopes to practice on Wednesday.

"I'm still sore but I feel it getting better," he said. "I'll be fine. I've still got some time to let it heal completely. It doesn't feel as tight as it did last week."

The Cowboys gave Buddy Ryan his worst loss as an NFL coach in the rout during which Smith carried the ball nine times and scored two touchdowns. He gained 22 yards as the Cowboys took a 28-0 halftime lead.

"We didn't need him against the Cardinals, but we will against the Philadelphia Eagles on Sunday," said offensive lineman Nate Newton. "And we'll have to have him all day in that game."

Smith pulled his right hamstring in the first half of a 34-7 victory Oct. 2 over the Washington Redskins.

HEY REF!

Beware of the buffer

HEY REF!: In the Snyder junior varsity game last week, on a punt return a player signaled for a fair catch, caught the ball, and seconds later received a shove from one of the other team's players. Should there have been a flag thrown on the play?
—TUMULTUOUS TIGERS FAN

HEY FAN: Yes, a flag should have been thrown. Under rule 6 (Kicks), in section 5 (Fair Catch), article 5 (No Tackling), it states that no player of the kicking team shall tackle or block an opponent who has completed a fair catch. Only the player making a fair catch signal has this protection.

PENALTY: Dead-ball foul. Receiving team's ball 15 yards from the succeeding spot.

Editors note: Because of a lack of questions to "HEY REF!" this could be the last edition. However, if more questions come in this week it will continue. The reason "HEY REF!" was started, in the first place, was to bring you the correct answers to those puzzling calls that fans witness from week-to-week. If you have a question concerning a call please write "HEY REF!" to Snyder Daily News, P.O. Box 949, Snyder, Texas, 79550, or bring a written copy of your question to the SDN office. Nobel prize winner laments power of dollar in research

WASHINGTON (AP) — "The world ain't the same," says Nobel Prize winner Dr. Martin Rodbell, since he became a scientist. And neither is science.

"Now everything is bottom line, everything is how to make a buck," Rodbell told a news conference Monday after being notified he was co-winner of the Nobel Prize in medicine.

Rodbell said that at the National Institutes of Health he had "the privilege of being able to think for myself, to be against, to be for, but always to be myself."

But the scientist said he retired in June from the National Institute of Environmental Health Sciences, one of the NIH agencies, because there was no more money for his work.

"The budgets at NIH, particularly where I was working, were finally cut down to the point that I didn't have money to continue," he said. "That is not NIH's fault. That's the way things have been going for a long time."

Spending on science, said Rodbell, is controlled by goal-oriented research instead of the basic search for knowledge that drove his work.

"I think the attitudes of Congress and the executive branch has always been ... toward the end goal. Build a better mouse trap. Have someone go to the moon," he said. "Underlying all of that is that they are not willing to take a chance on people like myself, exploring the unknown, really looking at things that we never considered."

Rodbell shares the Nobel Prize with Dr. Alfred G. Gilman of the University of Texas Southwest Medical Center at Dallas. They were chosen for the discovery of G proteins, a family of proteins that the body uses to communicate to cells. These proteins play a key role in how a cell reacts to the environment, responds to medicine or deals with disease.

The discovery, he said, is just a faint glimmer of one of the secrets that nature has created over billions of years of change.

"We humans are just feathers in the wind," said Rodbell. "We don't really know or understand what nature is doing."

Humans, he said, must understand how important it is to think and to seek out an understanding of the complex patterns created by nature.

"We have to be much more probing, we have to use our intuition," he said. "I think we should all recognize in today's world how important it is to capture knowledge."

Rodbell said the award came as a complete surprise.

The 69-year-old scientist and his wife, Barbara, live in Chapel Hill, N.C., but they had spent the weekend at their daughter's house in Bethesda, Md.

Routine day for officers

Snyder area peace officers had a routine day, making several arrests and working cases of theft, burglary and criminal mischief.

Officers arrested a 25-year-old woman in the 1200 block of 29th Street at 9:23 a.m. Monday on a warrant for failure to appear. The subject was transported to Municipal Court, given time payments and was later released.

At 9:28 a.m., Gary Landes contacted police in reference to some damage at What Not Storage. A report for Class C criminal mischief was filed.

Police were requested at the junior high at 9:30 a.m. Monday in reference to two male juveniles fighting. The youths were transported to the police department. One was later taken back to the junior high and the other was released to a parent.

At 3:49 p.m. officers were sent back to the junior high where a 13-year-old male and a 14-year-old male were arrested for disorderly conduct/fighting. The youths were later released to their parents.

Steve Rose contacted police at 9:57 p.m. Monday in reference to someone breaking into his residence. A report for burglary was filed.

Police arrested an 18-year-old man at 38th Street and College Avenue at 3:07 a.m. today for Class B theft.

Officers also investigated three traffic accidents Monday. Police worked an accident at 3:05 p.m. in Don's Value King parking lot. Involved were a 1984 Cadillac driven by Ralph Eugene Evans of 2802 Ave. E and a parked, unoccupied 1984 Chevrolet Silverado owned by Pedro Gonzales of 805 28th St.

Officers investigated an accident in the 2500 block of College Avenue at 3:55 p.m. Involved were a 1991 Chevrolet driven by Lois Cade Garrison of Mesquite and a 1991 Ford pickup driven by Freddy Frank Castillo of 501 29th St.

At 6:15 p.m. Monday, officers worked an accident in the 4600 block of College Avenue. Involved were a 1988 Oldsmobile driven by Vergie William Howard of 208 35th Street and a 1985 Chevrolet Silverado driven by Stacey Allen Browning of 2501 28th St. The Chevrolet was towing a 1988 shopmade trailer owned by Morris Allen Browning of 4408 FM 1611.

DONATION FOR YOUTH — T.J. Medart, senior warden at the Price Daniel Unit, made a presentation of $700 to the local Boys and Girls Club. The funds were generated by the Price Daniel Photo Fund. The unit makes and sells pictures on visitation days. Medart feels the money should be spent to help young people as their future is being formed. (Staff Photo by JoAnn Nunley)

RECYCLING — City of Snyder personnel recently presented programs and information to Melinda Owens' biology I classes at Snyder High School, who said, "The class was currently studying ecology and felt they needed to learn about recycling and the effects on the environment." Anyone interested should contact Carolyn House at 573-4960. (Contributed Photo)

Descent toward Venus begins

Magellan nears end of journey

PASADENA, Calif. (AP) — The spacecraft Magellan headed toward its death in the atmosphere of Venus after a four-year mapping mission that revealed towering volcanoes and crisp-edged craters on the surface of Earth's nearest neighbor.

Scientists fired the spacecraft's thrusters today at 7:21 a.m., sending it down through miles of Venus' carbon dioxide and sulfuric acid clouds, said Magellan project manager Douglas G. Griffith.

The fall is a last experiment to explore the spacecraft's aerodynamics as it plows through the atmosphere.

"That data will be used to help program the Mars Global Surveyor, when it tries to use aerobraking on Mars," which also has a carbon dioxide atmosphere, said Griffith. Aerobraking uses a planet's atmosphere to adjust a craft's orbit. The Mars-mapping Global Surveyor is to be launched in 1996.

Over a period of hours, scientists were slowly lowering Magellan to within 90 miles of Venus' surface by firing the craft's thrusters four times, once after each of four 93-minute orbits. Each firing sends the spacecraft down 8 kilometers (about 5 miles), said Mike Stewart, the mission director.

"In the fourth orbit, we're coming to the upper reaches of the Venus atmosphere, and the drag in the atmosphere slows the craft even more and draws it into the planet," he said. Stewart said a fifth firing might be necessary.

The craft will eventually lose power and contact with Earth, possibly by Wednesday, ending the $900 million mission.

"Sure, it seems kind of sad to us to do it, but we're ending the mission on a very positive note," said Stewart.

Region enters into aquifer plan

CASTROVILLE (AP) — The Edwards, Medina and Uvalde water districts have signed a landmark agreement establishing a regional management plan for the Edwards Aquifer.

The 21-page agreement signed Monday caps a regional negotiation process that started in May. Represented in the agreement are Bexar, Comal, Hays, Medina and Uvalde counties.

"This region has to be able to tell Austin and Washington: 'We can solve our own problems,'" said Jo Ann De Hoyos, chairwoman of the Edwards Underground Water District board.

The Edwards Aquifer Liaison as a coordinating committee among the districts. Each district will appoint at least one representative per county.

The aquifer, a natural underground water reservoir, has been the subject of regional battles for years and of a federal court lawsuit filed to protect endangered species living in aquifer-fed springs.

New women's role

VATICAN CITY (AP) — Women should help select the pope and participate in the highest levels of the Vatican, even though they remain barred from the priesthood, an African bishop is proposing.

Monsignor Ernest Kombo of Owando, Congo, made the proposal Monday before Pope John Paul II and hundreds of clergymen from around the world. His appeal capped a series of increasingly direct demands for a greater role in church affairs for nuns and women religious workers.

The future of women in the Roman Catholic Church has emerged as one of the principal debates at a monthlong bishops' synod, called to discuss possible changes in the structure and outlook of religious orders and lay groups.

Hundreds of statements from clergy members began the gathering, which ends Oct. 29.

Kombo's comments have so far proved the most radical.

2 Americans, German win Nobel Prize for game theory

STOCKHOLM, Sweden (AP) — Two Americans and a German won the Nobel Prize in economics today for their groundbreaking study of theories used in such games as chess and poker to help explain economic interactions.

The winners named by the Swedish Academy were Hungarian-born John C. Harsanyi of the University of California at Berkeley; John F. Nash of Princeton University; and Reinhard Selten of the University of Bonn.

The researchers will share the $930,000 prize. They were honored for their pioneering analysis of equilibria, using games to advance the theory of economic behavior, the Royal Swedish Academy said.

Their work used strategies applied in such common games as chess and poker to make predictions about the interaction between companies and how the market reacts.

"Everyone knows that in these games, players have to think ahead — devise a strategy based on expected countermeasures from the other player(s)," the academy said in a statement.

"Such strategic interaction also characterizes many economic situations, and game theory has therefore proved to be very useful in economic analysis," it said.

The researchers focused on the concept of equilibrium, a formula in which players in games — or executives in companies — are given optimal information about each other's positions to form their own strategies.

It was borrowed in part from the biological concept of natural selection. Their research has been applied to everything from the study of environment to analysis of foreign trade and information, the statement said.

"It applies to a chess or poker player as well as to a finance minister," said Assar Lindbeck of the Swedish Academy. "Originally the theory has its basis in chess or poker. Nash used poker as example in (his) thesis."

Nash was singled out for refining the "Nash Equilibrium," a formula in which players are given optimal information about each other's positions to form their own strategies.

"The Nash Equilibrium has become a standard tool in almost all areas of economic theory in order to improve our understanding of complex strategic interaction," the academy said.

Harsanyi, a naturalized American who has taught at Berkeley since 1964, was lauded for showing how games of incomplete information can be analyzed. The academy praised him as well for "significant contributions to the foundations of welfare economics."

Selten, who co-wrote a book with Harsanyi on equilibrium selection in games, was the first to refine the Nash Equilibrium concept and applied these to analyses of competition with only a few sellers, the academy said.

Selten, 64, said today: "Game theory is concerned with conflict cooperation. A game is a model of such a situation, a mathematical model. It has some similarity with parlor games, which are used in models."

Model analyses provide "insight into the nature of such game situations. You understand much better why people do some things in certain situations. It makes it easier for you to understand a lot of strategic interaction."

As the only Nobel award not created by the industrialist Alfred Nobel, the Nobel Memorial Prize in Economic Science was first awarded by Sweden's Central Bank in 1969 in recognition of the field's growing importance in the world.

Americans have dominated the winners' circle, and the University of Chicago has stood at the center. Of the 34 people honored since the prize was instituted, 21 have been from the United States, and one-third of those worked at the university.

Fugitive suspected in Mexican party leader killing arrested

MEXICO CITY (AP) — Police have arrested one of two fugitives sought on charges of masterminding the killing of the governing party's No. 2 leader, the official Mexican news agency said Tuesday.

Fernando Rodriguez Gonzalez, an aide to congressman Manuel Munoz Rocha, was captured by judicial police in the central city of Zacatecas, said Notimex, quoting sources in the Attorney General's office.

The Attorney General's office said later Tuesday it would have no immediate comment on the reports that the congressional aide was picked up in the mining city 315 miles northwest of the capital.

Munoz Rocha was still at large and being sought by authorities, who have put up wanted posters and more than $1 million in reward money for arrests in the Sept. 28 killing of Jose Francisco Ruiz Massieu.

Ruiz Massieu, the reform-minded secretary general of the Institutional Revolutionary Party, was slain outside a Mexico City hotel as horrified lawmakers looked on. The suspected gunman was seized when his automatic weapon jammed after firing one bullet.

At least 10 people have now been arrested in the case.

But the capture of Rodriguez Gonzalez was reported as one of the biggest breaks yet for investigators, who said the fugitive congressman and his aide were leading suspects in the murder plot.

Rodriguez Massieu had been slated to be the next majority leader in the House of Deputies and was one of the most prominent of the moderates in the 65-year ruling party known as the PRI.

Notimex did not give details of how or when Rodriguez Gonzalez was arrested, but suggested his capture had occurred a short time earlier.

Prosecutors said Ruiz Massieu's killing was apparently carried out by a ruling party faction disgruntled with political reforms and that hardliners even higher than the fugitive congressmand his aide could be implicated.

The killing has shaken a power structure already unsettled by the March 23 shooting of Luis Donaldo Colosio, slain ruling party candidate for president, and January's armed rebellion in southernmost Mexico.

The government also has not ruled out links between drug traffickers and the killing of Ruiz Massieu, a university friend and important ally of President Carlos Salinas de Gortari.

A tough politician, Ruiz Massieu nonetheless built a reputation as a moderate reformer while advancing up the party ranks, serving a stint as governor of the poor, violent state of Guerrero until 1992.

As Salinas hands over power to president-elect Ernesto Zedillo on Dec. 1, politicians find that the rules they had lived by for half a century have changed.

Social Security cutting work force; service said to suffer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Under orders from the White House, Social Security is planning deep cuts in its work force, and critics say that means more busy signals, longer waits and less attention to finding fraud.

The Social Security Administration, according to documents obtained by The Associated Press, intends to pare its payroll by nearly 5,000 employees over the next five years, with the deepest cuts occurring after the 1996 presidential elections.

Agency officials say they are under orders to cut the work force as part of President Clinton's drive to streamline government by eliminating 272,000 federal jobs.

But congressional officials say Social Security's plan undermines government because it won't have enough staff to find abuses and recover the millions of dollars being paid to people on disability who have recovered or obtained their benefits fraudulently.

According to the agency's blueprint, Social Security would lose 7 percent of its workers — from 65,231 to 60,472 — between now and 1999.

Commissioner Shirley Chater says the cuts will come from management and supervisory staff — not the field office employees who work with the public — and that automation and streamlining will allow the agency to do more with less.

"These initiatives will empower front-line employees by providing them with the tools required to maintain, and in many cases, improve SSA's customer service despite continually growing workloads for the agency," she said.

The agency's plan to speed up decisions on claims for disability benefits, the centerpiece of its streamlining, will take five years to implement. Court tests and the need for congressional approval could further delay reform.

The General Accounting Office, meanwhile, is skeptical about Social Security's automation effort. GAO, the congressional watchdog agency, said in a new report that the improvements hold no guarantee that employees will be able to process all future workloads and improve service to the public.

The agency's last round of cuts occurred in the 1980s, with disastrous results. The work force slipped from almost 80,000 workers to 62,703, telephone lines to local offices were disconnected, callers could not get through on its toll-free line and the ill and injured began waiting months for their first disability check.

Today, according to congressional testimony, many applicants for disability benefits must wait a year for a final decision on their cases, and some have died or gone on welfare. Callers to the agency still get frequent busy signals or no answer at all, and few cases are checked for fraud.

Rep. Andy Jacobs, D-Ind., said he does not believe Social Security can trim its staff again and still answer its phones, fight fraud, speed up decisions for disability benefits and impose new rules on drug addicts and alcoholics.

Johns Hopkins researchers develop new diagnostic test

BALTIMORE (AP) — A diagnostic test for cancer that could revolutionize screening for the deadly disease has been developed by researchers at Johns Hopkins School of Medicine.

The new test, reported in Tuesday's Proceedings of the National Academy of Science, identifies replication errors in DNA that occur frequently in cancer. The errors, known as clonal markers, are used as a fingerprint for cancer.

Researchers hope the breakthrough will bring a general cancer screening method to identify cases sooner than existing tests.

The researchers compare markers from several types of cancer with cells found in tissue, body fluids or secretions from a suspected cancer site. If the markers match, there is a strong indication that the patient has cancer.

"Clonal markers are a definitive indicator of cancer. If you see these markers, you know you've found disease," said Dr. David Sidransky of the Hopkins Oncology Center and principal investigator of the industry-funded study.

Use of the test on people at high risk for bladder and cervical cancers could begin within a year, Sidransky said. He said the test could also be used to detect other cancers, including cancers of the lung, breast, colon and prostate.

Sidransky said he believes the test, expected to cost about $50, may become part of routine medical care, providing an easy method of detecting cancer in its earliest and most treatable stages.

Alcohol abuse may lead to impotence

By Peter H. Gott, M.D.

DEAR DR. GOTT: Some time ago you wrote about the effects of alcohol on the human system. One of these, in men, was the loss of an erection — impotence. For many years I drank myself into a state of unconsciousness just about every night. Boy, were you right. I've been sober for over seven months and wonder if the effects of alcohol will abate? Will I ever return to my pre-alcohol days?

DEAR READER: Potency depends on many factors that include both physical and mental aspects.

For example, as you noted, alcohol adversely affects a man's sexual abilities. Other physical considerations — such as severe illness, diabetes, many medications, and the normal aging process — also may cause erectile dysfunction.

Common mental conditions may also lead to impotence. These include stress, depression, fatigue, and boredom with one's partner.

Therefore, while I can assure you that your sexual interest and ability will improve once you have been sober for several months, you may need to address the other issues I mentioned if you are to return to your "pre-alcohol days."

See a urologist. Such a specialist will question and examine you to identify any treatable disorders and will work with your family doctor to diagnose unsuspected physical ailments (and detrimental activities) that contribute to your problem.

In addition, the urologist will offer techniques, ranging from injections into the penis to penile implants, which can restore your potency.

To give you more information, I am sending you a free copy of my Health Report "Impotence." Other readers who would like a copy should send $2 plus a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope to P.O. Box 2433, New York, NY 10163. Be sure to mention the title.

DEAR DR. GOTT: During the course of an examination by my ortho-pedist for a back problem, he mentioned the term "clonus" as he examined my feet. What is the significance of this term and can it be treated?

DEAR READER: Clonus, which is a difficulty controlling rapid tensing and relaxing of muscles, usually reflects an underlying nerve disorder, such as multiple sclerosis.

In my opinion, patients with this disorder should be examined by neurologists.

Your Birthday

Wednesday, Oct. 12, 1994

Those who are in a position to improve your lot in life may confide in you more in the year ahead than they have in the past. Confidential information you receive can be used profitably.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) Socializing and being around others could be fun today as long as you don't spend too much time with them. Your social graces might not last long. Libra, treat yourself to a birthday gift. Send for your Astro-Graph predictions for the year ahead by mailing $1.25 to Astro-Graph, c/o this newspaper, P.O. Box 4465, New York, N.Y. 10163. Be sure to state your zodiac sign.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) You might have a short fuse today. Woe unto those who anger you! The probabilities for misinterpreting intentions is very high.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) Have the courage of your convictions today where your ideas are concerned. Don't be intimidated by a know-it-all who might try to discount your perfectly valid ideas in front of others.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) Instead of using funds for new endeavors or merchandise, it might be wise at this time to use some of your money to pay off old obligations.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) It'll be easy to get along well with almost everyone today except for someone you've exchanged cross words with recently. If you sense storm signals, avoid this person like the plague.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) If you expect others to do things for you today that you can easily do for yourself, you could be disappointed. Your friends aren't going to be in the mood to be used.

ARIES (March 21-April 19) In conversations with friends today, be careful not to impose your views on them. You might win the debate in the opening round, but you could end up alienating your pals.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) From your vantage point today, you may see ways to help your family by making some changes. However, if you don't explain your reasons well enough, you may not win their support.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) Persons with whom you're involved might have better ideas than you do today. Convincing you of that, however, could prove an impossible task. Don't let your ego cloud your judgment.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) You will have very constructive advice on the ways someone else should manage his/her affairs today. Yet, in your own dealings, you might not draw upon your own wisdom.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) Beware of the inclination today to treat light situations solemnly. Try not to take yourself or the world too seriously. You don't need tummy trouble or headaches.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) Take care of tasks that require know-how and concentration early in the day. Time might not be on your side today, and as the clock ticks on, temperament and talents could become dulled.

In each advertisement on this page you will find the contestants in a prominent football game being played around the country this weekend. On the entry blank at the bottom of the page, fill in your selection of the WINNING TEAM only...opposite the name of the business firm on the entry blank. Then clip out the entry blank and send it to FOOTBALL CONTEST EDITOR, Snyder Daily News, Box 949, Snyder, TX 79550, or bring it by the news office at 3600 College Ave. Entries must be in the hands of the editor by 5:00 p.m. Friday. Games ending in a tie must be specified as a tie or else it will be considered a miss.

To avoid splitting the prize money a TIE-BREAKER slot will be provided on each entry blank. Pick the total points of the score for that game and in case of a tie the one who picks the winner and the nearest number of total points will receive the prize money. The same formula will apply to second and third place winners. In the case of a perfect score, the formula would apply for the $250 cash prize. To win the $1,000 cash prize, all twenty games must be picked correctly, plus the exact score must be predicted on the tie-breaker.

There will be fun for the entire family. Only one entry blank will be permitted for any one person. More than one will disqualify all that person's entries. Entries must be on the official entry blank (No Copies Please). Scores listed on the entry blank will have no bearing except in the case of the tie-breaker. Sign your entry blank and list your address and phone number and watch for the winner's story in next Tuesday's SDN. Employees of the SDN and their families are not eligible to enter.
