Playing in six no-trump, South apparently has 12 tricks: four spades, two hearts, two diamonds and four clubs. The only problem is unraveling those tricks after the club lead.

The guaranteed play is to win the first trick in hand, even though it temporarily blocks the clubs. South cashes the A-K of spades and leads the heart queen. After driving out the heart ace, South enters the dummy with a club to the queen, giving access to the majorsuit winners. And a diamond entry remains in hand to reach the other club

However, the declarer, perhaps remembering the adage of taking the honor from the short side first, called for dummy's club queen. She unblocked her spade honors before playing the heart queen, which Sharif correctly ducked. Thinking the dummy was dead, South played her second heart immediately. Sharif won with his ace and exited with a club, putting South into her hand: two down. Yet if South had cashed her club and diamond winners before leading a second heart, she would have been all right. WTC faces Midland tonight

Coach Ron Jones returns to Snyder with No. 23-ranked team

By TODD STANLEY SDN Sports Editor

Tonight, the Western Texas Lady Westerners will attempt to snap their six game losing skid against Midland, the No. 23-ranked team in the nation.

Midland (21-5, 6-2) comes into the contest with the sixth-ranked scoring offense in the nation, averaging over 89 points per game. In the teams' first meeting, Western Texas (9-17, 2-6) discovered first hand exactly how potent the Lady Chaparrals' offense can be, as Midland finished off the Lady Westerners 101-98.

The Lady Chaps started the game sky high, hitting 11 firsthalf 3-pointers as they built a commanding 62-44 lead into intermission.

Midland hit four straight 3s in the opening five minutes of the game to take a 20-8 lead.

Midland head coach Ron Jones, the former coach at Western Texas, said afterward he felt his team was lucky to escape the Lady Westerners' upset bid. He added that if Western Texas had played all 40 minutes like it did the final 20, the end result might have been different.

"We expect a different game from WTC when we travel down to their place," Jones said.

WTC head coach Brenda Welch-Nichols echoed Jones' post-game comments.

"If I could get this team to play a full 40 minutes, we would be unstoppable," she said after the game in Midland. "We have a great group of kids on this team. They play with a lot of heart and they showed that tonight."

Proposal paves way for possible 'Ruiz' challenge

AUSTIN (AP) — Texas Attorney General Dan Morales has criticized as "foolhardy" a proposal authorizing the Legislature to hire a private attorney to challenge the state's settlement of a decades-old. prison lawsuit.

Rep. John Culberson and Sen. J.E. "Buster" Brown said Wednesday the measure would allow them to file suit to terminate the Ruiz lawsuit settlement and eliminate prison population caps and housing restrictions it requires.

But Morales said the proposal is risky and unnecessary because the state now has enough capacity for its prisoners.

'It is nothing less than foolhardy to flirt with the possibility of renewed federal court control of the state's prison system," he said. "We have nothing to gain ' and everything to lose by going back into federal court." Sen. John Whitmire, D-

Houston, chairman of the Senate -Criminal Justice Committee, said the Ruiz settlement is not impeding prison operations or improvements to the system. "If someone could present me with a problem that it's presenting, we would probably need to consider that appeal, but right now I think it's probably just a political issue more than anything else," Whitmire said. "It sounds like someone's got too much time on their -hands.'

The lawsuit, filed in 1972 by inmate David Ruiz, claimed overcrowding in the state prison system resulted in unconstitutional living conditions.

Following a massive prisonconstruction program, which continues today, U.S. District Judge William Wayne Justice approved a settlement in 1992.

Culberson, R-Houston, said terminating the settlement would further increase prison capacity, and enable the state to pass ! tougher sentencing laws, such as one ending parole for violent offenders.

Lewis said Mrs. Thomas had two telephone conversations with Simpson the day of his arrest, including one during the Ford Bronco chase. She also said prosecutors are interested in an allegation of violence during Mrs. Thomas' marriage to Simpson.

Mrs. Thomas has told police that Simpson called her the day he was to surrender and said he had been framed and was going to commit suicide.

Mary Anne Gerchas, who says she saw four men leaving the area around the crime scene the night of the murders, was arrested on suspicion of failing to pay a $23,000 hotel bill.

District Attorney Gil Garcetti said prosecution team leader William Hodgman would return to the case today. Hodgman was hospitalized two weeks ago with chest pains, later diagnosed as anxietyrelated stress.

Ex-smoker may have vascular disease

By Peter H. Gott, M.D.

DEAR DR. GOTT: My wife quit smoking six years ago, after a 40-year habit. Her toes are red and sore all the time. Her doctor, who is a member of an HMO, will not send her to a specialist and indicates nothing can be done. Do you agree?

DEAR READER: Not necessarily. Circulatory problems go hand in hand with smoking. Your wife probably suffers from arterial blockage in her legs; this condition - called peripheral vascular disease - could be the reason why her toes are red and sore. The affliction did not improve when your wife stopped smoking, because the blockages are permanent.

However, depending on the location and extent of the arterial obstructions, she may be helped by balloon angioplasty or bypass surgery; both procedures re-establish blood flow to tissues deprived of oxygen. But first she'll need special testing, such as arteriography X-ray studies.

Even though you are a member of a

In my opinion, your wife needs the services of such a consultant. If there are no vascular specialists in your HMO, your wife's doctor has the right to refer her to one who is out of the organization - and, in my view, he should do so.
