143 join AFA so far

The Air Force Association's (AFA) annual memberhip drive at Reese has built up tremendously, with 143 new members signing up here so far in the drive, with many more expected to join before the end of the drive March 31.

Current indications are that this year's drive will be the most successful ever at Reese, and drive officials think the base has a good chance of winning the new Ryan Trophy for the best percentage of new members of Texas Air Force facilities.

In the people area, the Association has played a major role in supporting the incentives now being advanced as a realistic means of achieving an all-volunteer force and strongly support on-base medical and dental care for dependents of active duty personnel. More adequate housing programs and equalized PCS entitlements are among the Association's top support priorities, particularly as they relate to lower ranking airmen.

There is increased emphasis on AFA's Junior Officer Advisory Council, Airmen Council, and Civilian Personnel Council—each selected for particular expertise in people programs in their special areas of interest. Expanded membership in these groups will support the work of these important Councils Nationally, the Association has some 115,000 members and is recognized as the free world's leading spokesman for adequate aerospace power. Among the resolutions adopted by delegates to AFA's National Convention last Fall were continuing support for the development, production and deployment of the B-1 advanced bomber, the F-15 air superiority fighter aircraft, and the A-10 close air support aircraft.

Membership dues in the Association are normally $10 per year of $24 for a three-year membership. However, during the drive the Lubbock Chapter is offering to pay half of the first-year fee for new members, and is offering a five dollar discount on a three-year membership.

Dues include a monthly copy of the Association's publication, AIR FORCE Magazine, which has won more awards for editorial excellence, is more widely read and more widely reprinted and quoted than any other aerospace magazine in the world.

The dues also include an opportunity to become affiliated with the Lubbock Chapter, which provides year-round support to Reese. Local officials have stated that if members move from Reese, they may move their affiliation to their new base, if they so choose.

Applications are available from Tom Ireland in the Civilian Personnel Office, Bldg. T-1, or from unit repre-

Family Services names 1973's top volunteers

The Reese Family Services (FS) Advisory Council broke tradition recently when the members selected not one, but two FS Volunteers for the Year. They are Kathy Ross and Linda Nix.

The letter of recommendation on Mrs. Ross read, "... she deserves this award because of her untiring effort to recruit new volunteers, her willingness to work at the Family Services Center in place of others who could not, her efficiency in performing as assistant coordinator, and her ability to accept new ideas and put them into action."

"Mrs. Nix was selected," according to 1st Lt. George M. Protos, Personal Affairs officer, "because of her outstanding leadership qualities and the personal involvement as Coordinator of the Family Services board. She supervised the resupplying of the Lending Closet, she completely reorganized the Center's filing system, and arranged for the reupholstering of sofas and chairs in the Center. While coordinator, Mrs. Nix also served as publicity chairman.

Davis urges parents' vote

By A1C Buddy Lerch

"Reese people have never had much representation in the Frenship School District, and so I'm running to try to get that much-needed representation."

Dick Davis, assistant manager of the Reese Golf Course, showed concern on his face as he talked about the upcoming Frenship District School Board election. He is running for a position on that board to give Reese some voice in how their children are educated.

He stressed that Reese personnel who are registered to vote in the Frenship District, which takes in the Reese Elementary School, should get out and exercise that right in the upcoming election. Davis has two daughters attending school in the district.

"To the best of my knowledge, there has never been a board member in the Frenship School District who was connected with Reese in any way," Davis stated. "I am definitely connected, and I want to represent the wishes of Reese parents," he concluded.

Webb wife earns honor

Randolph AFB, Tex. (ATCPS)—Mrs. Suzanne Williams, wife of Capt. Hugh D. Williams, Webb AFB, Tex., has been named the Air Training Command Military Wife of the Year for 1974

As such, Mrs. Williams will be on the ATC representative in the Air Force-wide Military Wife of the Year competition.

Judges at ATC headquarters reported that the final selection was unusually difficult because of the superior qualifications of so many of the 66 entrants from all ATC bases.

Mrs. Williams was selected for efforts in voluntary service, fostering better human relationship through her involvement and participation in public service. Her accomplishments in the various people-to-people programs as a member or volunteer for more than 14 organizations on Webb and in the local community stand as a record of her outstanding loyalty for the betterment of mankind.

One of Mrs. Williams' achievements was founding the Volunteer Job Placement (VJPD) Directory Service in September of 1971. The VJPD operates like an employment agency except it is completely volunteer.

A major change to the 1974 competition is each branch of the military service will select a military wife of the year and she will remain as the representative of that branch. There will not be one military wife selected to reign over all five branches.

The five selected world-wide finalists and their husbands will attend the 1974 annual Awards Banquet held in Washington, D.C.

This year's winner of the Air Force competition will succeed Mrs. Martha Pennington, 1973 Military Wife of the Year, from Mather AFB, California.

in memorium

Reese Fire Chief James Benton Moten passed away from a cardiac arrest March 14 while on duty on base.

Chief Moten was born on March 21, 1930 and grew up in Ozark, Ark. He served his country in the United States Army from December 3, 1946 until December 2, 1949, and in the United States Air Force from August 1950 until May 1968 when he retired as a master sergeant. He came to Reese on February 18, 1969 and served as the Fire Protection Inspector until he took over as the base Fire Chief on September 6, 1970.

His devotion to God and man has been highly praised and exemplified in his outstanding service to the base and its personnel. He will be long remembered by his comrades and friends. Chief Moten is survived by his wife, Phyllis; son, Mark; his daughter, Carrie and his father and three sisters.

ATC/IG report we earned last week, and I sincerely appreciate your hard work.

The good news was that we did very well in many areas, and we did not have a single "unsatisfactory" area.

The bad news was that we still have a few areas which require additional emphasis in order for use to realize our full potential.

The news is that ahead his a real challege and the apportunity to do our important mission were more efficiently. Starting new, little get an with it!

Car pool monitor urges cooperation

By Lt. Col. James E. Page Jr. Reese Car Pool Monitor

There have been many reports of dissatisfaction with the Car Pool Program which the Department of Defense directed be implemented on March 7, a program which affects all federal agencies.

But then, there are very few programs of any nature that don't have detractors—some more than others. Because the Car Pool Program affects individuals daily and in a personal manner, it's bound to have its full share of detractors. But, before you and I join in the hue and cry, let's look at the problems which generated the program, what the program asks us to do and how it will affect us.

National "Pinch"

We're told that we have a national energy "pinch." We had been heading for one for some time, but the Middle East petroleum producing nations' embargo on petroleum shipments to the United States advanced the time table to "now."

There are those who say our petroleum storage facilities are full, but others tell us that this amount would accommodate our national requirements for only five or six days. At this writing, a conference is underway in the Middle East and we are given to understand that the petroleum embargo on the United States may be lifted on a two-month trial basis. I don't know exactly what this means.

Make It Alone

Our country must develop enough energy resources to meet our current and long range needs and laws have been enacted to get this job done. In the meantime, we must conserve what we have so it will meet all of our real needs—on farms, in factories and transportation of goods and people. This is the way I see the problem—you may see it in the same or a different light.

Our national leadership has asked us to do something about this problem—not much—just to share rides to and from work. It could be done a different and more difficult way—through rationing of gasoline. We took that route during World War II and, although I wouldn't want to do it again, I would gladly do so if it assisted in the defense of our country—so would you.

Crux of the Situation

That's really the crux of our present situation: we want to be in the position of deciding our own foreign policy—not having it dictated to us by a foreign power through blackmail. When you get right down to it, isn't it worth sharing rides to help maintain our country's independence? Many of our countrymen have given half their lives for this reason in the past.

Supporting the Car Pool Program will affect us every working day. We'll have the responsibility of being ready when transportation arrives at our door and at our pick-up point at the end of the duty day. We must be tiemly in picking up others on our driving days. It also means that we are expected to arrive at and depart work on schedule. That's important to car pooling and all supervisors are required to recognize the need. Members of the car pool can work-out schedules for stopping at the commissary and other places enroute home.

In forming a car pool, ma up with others who are punctual and with whom you will enjoy conversing. If you do, car pooling can be a pleasure.

Financial Side

Then there is the financial side. If there are two people in the car pool and both of their cars get 13 miles per gallon of gas, it's the same as one person driving alone getting 26 m.p.g. or, in a three person pool, getting 39 m.p.g. Operating your car only one-half or one-third of the time will reduce your cost of work transportation in about the same ratio.

Too, you can sit back (with seat belt on) and relax while one of the other members drive. I be you can get rid of your second car and ride with others all the time, or leave your only car at home for other family members' use.

Check Your Insurance

But, if you have "strictly riders" in your car pool, don't charge them more than their equal share of car expenses. That could put in a commerical classification, possibly voiding your present insurance or raising your premiums. You should discuss this with your insurance agent prior to a problem occurring.

When you really think about it, car pooling is a practical and less expensive way of commuting to work. For some, it provides enough margin in the budget to make life a little more enjoyable. For all, it is a savings.

Finalizing Details

At this writing, we are finalizing the identification of each parking area on Reese, including the number of spaces available. We'll contact unit commanders this week and work out specific parking areas for customer-type parking and official-use-only parking. This, ultimately, will lead to almost every parking space on Reese being numbered and employee parking spaces being reserved, except in a few lots/areas.

Too, we're working on punch cards for each person at Reese, identifying where he lives, what his duty hours are, etc., in order or make it easy for neighbors to contact one another in establishing car pools. Reserved parking spaces will be identified for car pools (as we're now doing) and for approximately 10 percent of those exempt from car pooling because of duty requirements of similar hardships. T neither exempted nor in car pous will be provided parking in more remote and less convenient areas.

Least Inconvenience
It's a complex program, and we're striving to put it all together with the least inconvenience to our fellow workers at Reese.
In a recent memoradum to us, the Wing Commander stated, in part, "I fully support the car pool program and expect this same support from all levels at Reese.
I want us to make every effort to encourage car pooling while being sensitive to the factors of morale . . . and efficiency."

Together, we can get it done! We need, and I feel we have, your personal support.

Commander's CARE Line

to publish Commander's CARE Line inquiries as long as they are of base-wide interest. All inquiries will be reviewed by Col. Walter H. Baxter III, wing commander. If these methods do not work, call CARE Line by dialing C-A-R-E. Personnel are encouraged to give their name, rank and organization when calling.)

Reference check cashing privileges on base in the NCO Club. I understand that you can only cash a check there if you are a member of the club. I have just come back from the Reesette, and this is Saturday. What I would like to know, Colonel Baxter, is in case of emergency, can you tell me how on this crazy base you can get a check cashed for $10 if you have an emergency situation? They informed me at the Reesette during the weekends they do not have sufficient funds to cash large amounts of checks. All I asked for was a check for $6 more than the purchase to cover some unknown expense on Friday that I had over the weekend and since the NCO Club will not honor my check because I am not a member, it seems quite stupid to have an NCO Club that doesn't honor checks except by NCOs. Thank

> SSgt. Stokes 2053rd Communications Squadron

Sergeant Stokes:

Let me first say that, as an NCO, you have the opportunity of becoming a member of the NCO Open Mess and one of the many privileges offered you as a member is the opportunity to cash a check in an amount up to $50 when the need arises. Secondly, if any enlisted military member on this installation, regardless of rank, has a Red Cross emergency, the management of the NCO Open Mess will cash a check, regardless of the amount, if funds are available, provided there are no other check cashing sources available. I do not believe it is stupid to have an NCO Club which cashes checks for members only. If you do not choose to support a club established especially for Noncommissioned Officers, then you should plan ahead for possible financial emergencies.

According to Texas law I do not need insurance on my car, but according to Reese, in order to register my car, I need insurance. I am now financially unable to afford insurance and I live in Lubbock where I need my car to come to work and I also need it to go shopping for me and my wife, but yet I can't afford insurance as of this date and I can't register my car. I would like to get an answer if possible sir. Thank you very much for your time. Sgt. Rankin

Sergeant Rankin:

The requirements for registration of private motor vehicles on military installations are clearly specified in para 3-3, AFR 125-14, Aug. 1, 1973, as supplemented. Articles I through VI of the Texas laws require "proof of financial responsibility" in case of a motor vehicle accident. While Texas does not require private motor vehicles to be insured in order to be registered, you must satisfy this 'financial responsibility" for the minimum of $10,000 for each person per accident, $20,000 personal liability for each accident, and property liability of $5,000 for each accident. Therefore, to satisfy this requirement, liability insurance may either be procured or you may be bonded for $25,000. So it adds up to the same requirement on or off base. I can't control what you do with respect to the Texas law, but I will insist that you comply with Air Force regulations and if I were you, I would never consider owning or operating a vehicle without in-

I work over in the Veterinary office and I just thought I would bring out that I was out jogging this evening up 4th Street and there seemed to be a few dogs that are loose in the evening. I am not sure if this is standard procedure or what, but would there be a possibility of making some type of penalty for having a dog loose during the evening hours? When I let my dog out, he has to be tied up and I think it is only fair that everybody else in the housing area must, too. This is a hazard and there have been dog bites on Reese due to dogs being loose at night. Thank you.

SSgt. Thomas

Sergeant Thomas:

We are very concerned about the complaint you have reported because it is a recurring problem that has been brought out several times recently. The Security Police delivered Wing Regulation 125-6, Feb. 11, 74, to all family housing units on base on March 8. It defines the responsibility of pet owners to control their pets. Paragraph 5a clearly spells out the control that must be taken to preclude a pet from becoming a "stray" All animals not penned or on a leash at all times are considered strays. The owner of strays will be charged with "Failure to Control Pet" on a Complaint/Incident Report and it will be forwarded to the individual's commander for corrective action. Violations of proper pet control should be reported to the Security Police, Ext.

I would like to make a complaint about the Caprock Cafeteria. The place is filthy dirty, the prices are too high and the service is miserable and it isn't clean besides that. I would like to have a check done by the Hospital staff on it. I filled out several of their suggestion forms over there and I requested in each case that they tell me what they are going to do about it and in no case have they ever done so, in which case it exhausts all my methods of going through the BX itself. Thank you.

TSgt. McKee 2053 Communications Squadron

Sergeant McKee:

Let's set the record straight the BX has heard from you only once and that was via a crumpled note they found on the floor. You should go directly to Mr. Vaughn Mongan, the BX Manager. He is expecting you.

Amn. Steven M. McDermott, 64th Field Maintenance Squadron, has been selected as the 64th Flying Training Wing Airman of the Month for February.

Airman McDermott was assigned to Reese after being graduated from the Management Specialist School at Lowry AFB, Colo. There he was named an honor graduate after achieving a 95 per cent course average. Upon his arrival at Reese, he was assigned to the Production Control Section in the squadron and began his On-the-Job Training (OJT) for his five level in August 1973. In January he was awarded his five level and managed to earn a 99 per cent average on the five volume tests while doing

In nominating Airman McDermott for the honor, Lt. Col. Don L. Morris, the 64th FMS commander, said "in a very short time after he was assigned, he mastered his duties as local manufactured parts selector and due-in for maintenance (DIFM) monitor with a minimum of instruction. He carries out these duties with practically no supervision," the colonel continued.

Colonel Morris further stated, "What really makes him stand out among his peers and those of considerably more seniority is the way he has learned the duties of the others in the section—duties unrelated to his AFSC. The section has been severely undermanned and Airman McDermott has always pitched in to help without being asked. His job knowledge, understanding of the wing mission and duty performance puts him in a select group of outstanding airmen."

Airman McDermott is presently studying for a college degree at South Plains college by attending classes four nights a week, and his goal is to be commissioned through the Airman Education and Commissioning Program (AECP).

Capt. John W. Brumfield 54th FTS IP of Month

Capt. John W. Brumfield has been named the 54th Flying Training Squadron Instructor Pilot of the Month for February.

In nominating Captain Brumfield for the honor, Lt. Col. Richard A. Ingram, 54th FTS commander said," Captain Brumfield has been designated as Instructor Pilot of the Month for his outstanding contribution to the art of instructing military aviation. His thoroughly professional attitude encompasses the entire spectrum, both ground and flight and insures maximum training on every mission. He possesses a superior ability to convey, in logical and concise terms, even the most complex aspects of in-flight training which is always accompanied by a flawless demonstration of each maneuver."

A graduate of Louisiana State University, Captain Brumfield received his degree in personnel management and entered the Air Force in 1970 under the Reserve Officer Training Corps commissioning program.

Capt. Donald E. Seese 35th FTS IP of Month

Capt. Donald E. Seese, an instructor pilot in the 35th Flying Training Squadron, has been selected as the squadron's Instructor Pilot of the Month for February.

A graduate of the Air Force Academy, Captain Seese also holds a masters degree in international affairs from the Fletcher School of Law & Diplomacy at Medford, Mass.

In addition to his duties as an IP, Captain Seese is also the flight emergency procedures officer, and the flight associate standardization evaluations officer.

Lt. Col. John D. Herbert, 35th Flying Training Squadron commander, said in nominating Captain Seese for the honor, "His contributions to the flight and the squadron are numerous and noteworthy. As the flight Emergency Procedures officer, he has imparted his thorough knowledge of systems and situation emergencies to build a solid foundation for students to utilize in their training."

Colonel Herbert further stated, "Captain Seese tirelessly gives of himself to assist less experienced IPs in the flight. Captain Seese's unselfish attitude and ingenuity are assets highly sought after by other organizations in the wing. His competence and dedication to duty have contributed significantly to the Air Training Command mission.'

News Briefs

The Reese Human Relations Council will meet on March 28 at 10 a.m. in the Wing Conference Room. Attendance by all council members of their designated representatives is mandatory.

Responding to numerous complaints from dissatisfied users, Air Force has cancelled its plans to make the perma-press shade 1577 trousers the standard replacement for its tan shade 1505s. The 1577s are the was-and-wear pants which have been available commercially for several months. Although they won't replace the 1505s, they will be authorized for wear until June 30, 1977, according to Air Force officials. Research for a suitable perma-press trouser will continue and a final date for 1505 wear will be established after current stocks are depleted.

Attention all parents whose children are eligible to enter the Cub Scout program: the next meeting of Reese Cub Scout Pack 548 will take place on March 24 at 6:45 p.m. at the Reese Elementary School. Parents and their children are encouraged to attend.

The Air Force is adding a new dimension to its selective reenlistment program in fiscal year 1975. Coinced "CAREERS", the career airman reenlistment reservation system will provide the opportunity for reenlistment to first termers if they either possess, or are willing to retrain into, skills needed by the Air Force. More information concerning the new program may be obtained from the Reese Consolidated Base Personnel Office.

Lt. Col. Jessee J. Johnson, (USA Ret.) is writing a book on black women in the Armed Forces. He has asked for information and photos of black women-officer and enlisted-in the Air Force. Reese people desiring to contact Colonel Johnson may do so directly. The address is: Lt. Col. Jessee J. Johnson, (USA Ret.), Hampton Institute, Hampton, Va. 23368

The Northrop Corporation has sent invitations to attend the YF-17 Lightweight Fighter Rollout, April 4, 1974, to several hundred Air Force personnel. Considering the current program to conserve fuel and energy, those personnel at Reese who have received an invitation and who feel their presence is required to make the event successful should not use military air transportation unless it can be justified as the most economical means

The Extension Course Institute officials at Gunter Air Force Station, Ala., have said that the Squadron Officer School extension program gives officers an excellent opportunity to broaden their career opportunities without waiting for selection to the resident school. Credit for completion of the extension course is the same as received for the resident course. The Reese Education Office may be contacted for additional information at Ext. 2469.

Two restrictions have been lifted for personnel applying for Recruiting duty in some states. The overseas duty selection date and short tour return date restrictions previously imposed have been waived until Sept. 30 for personnel applying for Recruiting duty in Maine, New Hampshire, Vermont, Massachusetts, Rhode Island, New York, Connecticut, New Jersey, Delaware, Virginia, West Virginia, Kentucky, Illinois, Indiana, Michigan, Ohio, Pennsylvania, Maryland, Kansas, Iowa, Wisconsin, North Dakota, Wymoing, Missouri and Montana. Career-minded airmen in grades sergeant and above with more than three years total time-in-service, regardless of AFSC (except 81XXX) are eligible to apply. For further information call Sgt. Sample or A1C Hagerty

The Base Library has released three more books into circulation. "Chulo" by Gilbert is for the people who care about wild creatures and for all who respond to the excitement and adventure of wilderness living. "In This Corner" by Joseph Heller ("Catch-22") has 40 world champions who tell their exciting personal stories, with an introduction by Muhammad Ali. The popular misconception of underworld glamor is stripped away in "The Killing of Joey Gallo" by Aronson. The book demonstrates the brutality and corruption and the utter contempt for human values the Mafia uses to scar our society.

Police action, super agents, man against nature, and two wild west adventures highlight the film fare at the Simler Theater this week.

The base theater schedules features at 8 p.m. Tuesday thru Sunday, unless otherwise noted. The special Saturday matinee begins at 2 p.m. Tickets may be obtained at the theater one halfhour before showtime.

Tonight

When four businessmen try to conquer the rapids of Cahulawassee River in "Deliverance" they run into more trouble than they had expected, not only from the river, but the local townspeople as well. Burt Reynolds stars as the rugged individualist who is out to prove his superiority over nature. Violence and sexual overtones may offend some in this R-rated thriller.

Saturday Matinee

"The Littlest Hobo" wanders around with his companions London the dog and Fleecie the lamb, creating their own unforgettable adventures. This is a movie for all ages, rated G.

Saturday Evening The Trinity boys are back for vengeance and try to put all of their enemies on "Boot Hill." Their target is Victor Bruno and his ruthless mining gang, who are responsible for the death of one of the Trinity boy's son. The graphic violence in this western thriller is not recommended for young audiences. Rated PG.

Sunday

Another western adventure comes to the screen as "Camper John" gets in trouble with some townspeople when he is accused of rape. While being shipped to the territorial prison, John is freed by his Indian friends and after his escape, John tries to stay one step ahead of the local authorities. Violence and sexual overtones may offend some in this R-rated

Tuesday

"The Naked Ape," the international best-seller by Desmond Morris, comes to the screen in an anthology of man's progress from the prehistoric times to the present over a span of ten million years. The film integrates live action with animation in adopting this best seller to the screen. Sexual overtones and off-beat humor is not suitable for pre-teens. Rated PG.

Wednesday

Tamara Dodson plays the super-female super-agent "Cleopatra Jones," who is assigned by an international organization to track down and eliminate a dope distribution operation. Shelly Winters plays the violent and deadly head of the organization who tries to eliminate the secret agent. The violence, language, drug use and sexual overtones in this thriller is not for pre-teenagers. Rated

Thursday

Clint Eastwood is back as the dirtiest cop on the force in "Magnum Force." This followup movie to "Dirty Harry" pits the tough cop against the most vicious threat he has ever had to face-other police who have turned to killing. The thrills keep going a mile-a-minute and the final shoot-out on the deck of a deserted aircraft carrier captures Eastwood at his best. Rated

Credit cards may hide hazards

By Capt. Carll J. Kretsinger Staff Judge Advocate

(Editor's note: This article is part of a continuing series intended to inform Reese personnel of their legal rights and obligations under the Uniform Code of Military Justice, Texas State Law and local regulations.)

This week let's take a look at credit cards and co-signing loans.

Credit cards are quite useful and convenient. Most cards are issued with a contract which is usually printed on the back that you will be responsible for purchases made after its loss or theft, until you report its loss or theft to the office of the particular issuing company.

Recent federal legislation has limited an individual's liability on any single lost or stolen credit card up to $50, whether or not the credit firm is notified of that

Keep is Safe Place

Therefore, it is extremely important that you keep a list of all your credit cards and the notification address for each in a safe place so you can give the required notice before any illegal use is made of that card. You should treat your credit cards with the same care you would a large sum of cash, and in the event of loss, you should notify the company immediately to avoid any financial loss yourself. The best notice would be telephone call, followed by a telegram, to insure that both speedy and written notice is given to the com-

Due to the wide-spread usage of credit cards and the competitive market that we have now, many companies have in the past sent credit cards through the mail even though you may have never indicated that you wanted to have credit cards from that company. You should always be on the alert for such an unsolicited credit card. If a card is lost or stolen which is in your name and charges are made on the card in your name, you could be held responsible for the amount so charged, even though you have never used the card in the past.

Cut the Cards

Therefore, if you receive an unsolicited credit card which you do not want, cut that card into pieces and return it to the company immediately. It might be wise to return it Registered Return Receipt Requested.

Co-Signing Loans

Another area of credit which is dealt in many times by military personnel is in co-signing for a loan which is desired to be taken out by another member of the military.

Many times it is said that a true mark of friendship may be willingness to assist your friend financially, but, you should remember, friendships have been forever ruined by it. Concerning co-signing a loan, the best rule to follow is don't-not ever should you co-sign.

When you co-sign, your friend does not obtain a personal loan from you; instead, he borrows money from a third party, such as a bank, credit union or a loan company downtown. At the time, you are only required to place your signature on the face of a piece of paper entitled "Note," but the consequences but the consequences can be disastrous. It is easy to co-sign because you are not required to give up any of your valuable assets at the moment.

Results Unknown Many people have co-signed without knowing what might result. Some may have thought they were only acting as a witness; others may have suspected that they could be required to pay, but only under remote circumstances.

The true status of the cosigner is that of a co-maker. The note says, "We, jointly and severally, promise to pay . . . If your friend does not pay as set out in the note, you may be required to pay for him. And, by that time, he may be out of the service and thousands of miles away. If you are un-willing to pay if he doesn't, remember-don't sign that note as a co-signer.

Difficult Loss Recovery

You may have a legal right to recover losses from your friend, but this can be very difficult and impractical. If it were easy, you would not have been called on to pay in the first place. Don't be fooled by the innocent sound of the simple word "co-sign." By co-signing, you become a debtor on that note just as your friend is, and

I don't mean to say that everyone came through with flying colors, but as yet I haven't heard of any sudden demotions, although there have been a few mysterious transfers to Alaska.

Lots of Good Guys

There are a lot of people here on the base who are really doing a good job of their career fields but somehow in the monolithic structure, they get lost and a lot of credit that should be passed on gets overlooked. I'm not talking so much now about the senior NCO's who have been in long enough to get their jobs down pretty good, but about the first-term airmen who are doing jobs that are supposed to be filled by someone of a higher rank, or who are covering jobs not normally taken care of by airmen.

If you are a supervisor or a squadron or unit commander and you have a first-termer working for you who is doing a good job, give me a call at Ext. 2843 and we'll give him or her the recognition that they deserve. One little reminder: don't just pick the super outstanding people in your organization, we already know about them, try to give some credit to people who do a good job but keep a low profile. Carpool Emphasis

With the repeated emphasis on people forming carpools, I decided that in the interests of conserving energy (not to mention a preferred parking space) that I would form a carpool. I didn't know then, but carpooling does present a few problems. On our first day I drove in to the base with three other people and everything was fine. However, the phone in my office started to ring about 4:15 p.m. and everyone that I was riding seemed to ergency situations that had to be taken care of before they went home.

One rider said his wife needed "just a few things from the commissary" so we stopped by so he could get them. Forty-five minutes later he emerged with enough groceries to feed the entire population of Rhode Island. Another Stop

Another rider had to stop by the dry cleaners on the way home, but found out when we got there that he didn't have enough to pay for the bill. In the interest of friendship, I volunteered to help him pay the bill. Do you have any idea what it costs to clean three rooms of floor length curtains?

I thought that was all, but a tap on the shoulder from the back seat told me I was wrong. Would I, the final rider asked, mind stopping by the local veterinarian's office so he could pick up his puppy who was in to be spayed. Sure, why not. Anything to get home. His puppy turned out to be a slobbering St. Bernard who was still groggy and kep falling over my shoulder and into my lap from the back seat. Don't get me wrong, I'm for conservation as much as anybody, but next week I think I'll let someone else drive . . . and the week after that ... and the week after that ...

State forms military-vet committee

Retired Air Force Col. Joseph F. Sage, a delegate to the Texas Constitutional Convention presently being held in Austin, Tex., has asked that the people be advised of the formation the state Sub-Committee on Military and Veterans Affairs.

Delegate Sage, chairman of that sub-committee and a Texas State Representative, said, "I plan to activate this sub-committee in the interim between the Constitutional Convention and the 64th Session of the Legislature, in order that the views of the public may be taken into consideration es new legislation is drafted."

During the regular legislative session the public may contact the sub-committee by writing: Representative Joseph F. Sage, P.O. Box 2910, House of Representatives, Austin, Texas, 78767.

The Air Force and Reese AFB take no official position on the convention or the sub-committee. This article was presented as a public service to inform the people of the sub-committee.

Well done' given to squadron

By 1st Edward B. Hayden

Last week you may have noticed some unfamiliar faces scurrying about the squadron with pads and pencils dressed in Combination Sixes.

No, they weren't Casual students, as some believed, but actually the BIG EYE from Randolph AFB, Tex.-the Air Training Command IG Team.

Outstanding Rating

After their picking, probing and prying into the T-37 operation, the 35th Flying Training Squadron once again enjoys an overall "Outstanding." Lt. Col. John Herbert, squadron commander, extends the following mes-

'Congratulations to all the people associated with the T-37 for their fine performance durthe IG evaluation. This achievement is one of which you can be extremely proud. I consider this a typical indication of the professional abilities of the people in the 35th FTS. My sincere thanks to officers, airmen and civilians for a job well done!"

Although I was cross-country, I understand many enjoyed the outstanding food and fine sounds of "Foscar" at last Saturday's Squadron Party. Since it was a flight suit party for both the instructors and their wives, many were unexpectedly detained at the gate by the Security Police. They weren't sure whether to turn away, salute or arrest the wives for personating an of-

Medical Purposes?

D Flight members have restocked their medicine shelves after winning all the booze in celebration of an outstanding rating from the IG. The 35th FTS "brass" provided a free bar.

Speaking of the bar, Lt. Col. John Foster, squadron Operations officer, was overheard telling a fellow flyer the real reason we got an outstanding from the IG. It seems he agreed to play Santa at Randolph's next Christmas party.

Humanitarian Effort

Captains Bill Stealey and Ken Wise of A Flight and 1st Lt. Nick Nichols of D Flight represented the squadron in last week's "Hike or Bike for Tykes." With Bill and Nick pedalling and Ken hoofing it on foot, they totaled 60 miles to raise $275 for the Lubbock March of Dimes.

I apologize for calling Capt. Joe Fullencamp an "Academic weenie" in last week's column. Joe is actually a class commander. This was brought to my attention by Capt. Bill Croom, Chief Weenie of the Student

Several months ago the golf carts at the Reese Golf Course and the base gym's sauna bath were discontinued due to the energy heavily utilized, no known ill af- the Special Services Division. The sauna consumed approximately one-half per cent of the total electricity used on base, an amount which was termed "disproportionate for such a small room" by Special Services. Consequently the room was closed for an indefinite period.

The golf carts, on the other hand, while still using electricity to charge their batteries, were determined to be relatively low consumers of electricity. The division cited the example of a twohour night softball game. The lights used during such a game would consume enough energy to keep all of the golf carts fully charged for four years.

In addition to the carts' morale benefit, they provide extra dollars for the Central Base Fund, money which stays at Reese to support such activities as the Library, Wood, Photo and Ceramic Hobby Shops, the base gym and other recreational facilities where no fees are charged.

Consequently, Col. Frank B. McKenzie, 64th Air Base Group commander, has authorized the use of the carts, effective tomorrow.

Club to hold dance, sale

The Reese Latin American Club has announced they will sponsor a benefit rummage sale from 1 to 6 p.m. tomorrow and Sunday at Rogers Community Park, 3200 Amhurst, in Lubbock.

The sale is for the purpose of raising funds for the purchase of uniforms for 24 underprivileged Little League teams in the area, according to TSgt. Raul Sanchez of the club.

A truck will be in Reese Village from 11 a.m. to 1 p.m. tomorrow to collect any usable clothing, toys or other items from Village residents for the charity sale.

The club has also announced that a benefit dance, featuring the music of "Los Caminates," will be sponsored by the club March 30 at the NCO Open Mess to raise money for the same cause. The dance will last from 9 p.m. to 1 a.m.

Sergeant Sanchez stated that approximately $2500 would be needed for the purchase of the Little League uniforms. He added that monetary contributions toward the cause would also be gladly accepted and greatly appreciated.

staffs nab check crooks

DALLAS (AFNS)-The continuing Army and Air Force Exchange Service (AAFES) effort to reduce bad-check losses is being assisted by the alertness and quick action of individual employees, exchange officials here said.

Examples follow:

Verne Lange, who handles no-good checks for the Lackland AFB, Tex., exchange, alerted four other area exchanges to be on the lookout for a man wanted by the Federal Bureau of Investigation (FBI) for passing worthless checks, possession of a fradulent identification card and several other charges. The man had cashed worthless checks in several exchanges as he traveled west from Florida.

New Racquet Club Set for City

A private tennis club in SW Lubbock will have 8 laykold, airconditioned indoor courts, heated swimming pool, pro-shop, boutique, lounge and health facilities.

Willaim Gribble III and H. Eugene Sandell head the group of investors from Houston. Gribble is a former Lubbock resident and Texas Tech student. Sandel is an investor and developer from Houston.

The club will feature a lounge with view of the courts, two proshops, sauna and health facilities for men and women meeting rooms, and large-heated swimming pool.

Membership in the club is by invitation only, under the direction of the Admissions Committee. Memberships include individual, family, and corporate memberships. Special military memberships are also available.

Facilities are scheduled to be opened in early May.

-ADVERTISEMENT-

The alert spread, and several days later a man fitting the FBI's description presented a check to Pat Browning, cashier at the Ft. Sam Houston main exchange. Mrs. Browning stalled the man while she alerted coworkers who notified the military police.

A scuffle broke out when the military policeman arrived, and several customers assisted in subduing the suspect. The man later was charged in Federal Vernon Beavers, manager of the Gunter AFB exchange in Alabama, became suspicious of a customer attempting to return two cameras and a watch purchased earlier in the day.

Revealed by Quick Check
A quick check with the Southeast Exchange Region Safety and Security Office revealed the wouldbe patron did not have an open bank account. A description of the man was sent to all local exchanges, and the next day he was apprehended at the Maxwell AFB, Ala., exchange while attempting to obtain a

More than $1,100 in AAFES cash and merchandise was recovered from the man.

'Unfortunately, such instances of individuals trying to cheat the exchange and its honest customers are a too-common currence," said Maj. Gen. C.W. Hospelhorn, AAFES commander, who is behind the all-out effort to eliminate bad-check losses. "With the assistance of employees and customers, the exchange service is making headway in combating this needless waste of the service family's money," he said.

The Reese Rattlers volleyball team went to the Sheppard AFB, Tex., Invitational Volleyball Tournament Saturday and after a long hard-fought battle, placed second in the tournament with a 6-6 win-loss re-

The Sheppard team took first place, with a 7-5 record and the Vance AFB, Okla., team came in third with a 5-7 tournament record. The play started at 9 a.m. and went straight through until 4 p.m.

Tomorrow the Rattlers will be playing host to teams from three other bases at the Reese Invitational Volleyball Tourna-though only three other bases will be represented in the tourin contention with Reese for the top spot because Cannon AFB will be sending two teams to the competition.

The tournament will be played on a round-robin basis with the winner decided on the best overall win-loss record.

Reese will be counting heavily on the three outstanding players named by playercoach Warren Knox as "the best spike men we have" who distinguished themselves in last week's tournament.

ment beginning at 9 a.m. Al- Three singled out by Knox were Bill Grigsby, Earl Boykin and Sabu Watkins. The other startnament, there will be four teams ers on the team besides Knox are Sandy Kerekes and Chuck Gordon.

> Anyone interested in trying out for the Reese Rattlers Volleyball Team is encouraged to come by the gymnasium on either the Monday or Wednesday practice sessions or call Warren Knox at Ext. 2335. Although all personnel will be given the opportunity to tryout for the team, people with volleyball experience will be given preference.

Season opener gets bad start

By Sgt. Tom Green

Reese's Intramural Volleyball season got off to a snail's Squadron, giving the win to Supply. pace Monday due to an inconsistency in the scheduled game times and dates.

Two of the three games scheduled for the evening were forfeited, with the USAF Hospital squad rambling past the 2053rd Communications Squadron crew in the only game played. "No-Shows"
