

Reese honors fallen pilot

A dedication ceremony was held Saturday, naming one of the Reese bachelor officer quarters in honor of Capt. Dennis L. Graham. Captain Graham was graduated from Reese in Class 65-G in May of 1965.

A graduate of Texas A&M University, Captain Graham was commissioned as an Air Force second lieutenant in February, 1964. After his graduation from Reese, Captain Graham was assigned to Davis-Monthan AFB, Ariz., for schooling in the McDonnell F-4C Phantom jet fighter. Upon completion of his training in the F-4C, he was assigned as a Pilot Systems Operator for the Tactical Air Command's 16th Tactical Fighter Squadron at Eglin AFB, Fla.

Decorated

Before completing that tour of duty he was upgraded to Aircraft Commander and spent three months in support of combat operations in Southeast Asia while based at Ubon Royal Thai Air Force Base in Thailand. During his assignment, Captain Graham was awarded the Silver Star, The nation's third highest combat decoration, the Distinguished Flying Cross and the Air Medal for three separate incidents occurring in a 13-day time span in September, 1966.

In June 1967, Captain Graham was chosen to become a member of the highly competitive and selective 428th Tactical Fighter Squadron (TFS) based at Nellis AFB, Nev. as a pilot of the then new General Dynamics F-111A aircraft.

In early 1968 the 428th TFS was deployed overseas to the Royal Thai Air Force Base at Takhli, Thailand. On March 28, 1968, while on the third mission of his tour, Captain Graham was listed as missing in action. On January 22, 1974, Captain Graham was declared as killed in action.

During the memorial services in the chapel, Lt. Col. Rodney E. Franklin, 64th Student Squadron commander, said, "I am reminded of a large painting in a stairwell of the Pentagon. It is a picture of an Air Force family kneeling at an altar in a church, very much like this one, and its caption from Isaiah says 'Who shall I send, who will go? Here am I Lord, send me.' When the call for duty came, Dennis said, 'Send me.'"

Following the memorial services in the chapel, those present went to Bldg. 1030, where the placque naming the quarters in Captain Graham's honor was unveiled. After the naming of the building, the procession proceeded to the Resthaven Memorial Park where a cenotaph memorializing Captain Graham was unveiled in the Resthaven Mausoleum.

Suggestion Program saves, gives rewards

Eleven Reese personnel shared $745 for their suggestions in the Suggestion Program.

The Reese Suggestion Awards Committee granted this money plus five suggestion certificates in recognition of the suggestions, which collectively saved the Air Force over $3,000 annually.

The highest award given by the Committee, $200, was granted to TSgt. William E. Christopher, formerly assigned to the Military Personnel Division, Air Force Military Personnel Center (AFMPC) approved his suggestion concerning record edits and updating personnel records. The sum was for "intangible benefits that are substantial and broad."

Manual Addition

Mrs. Retha G. Gladden, also of that division, was awarded $25 each for two suggestions concerning referral reports. Both were approved by Air Training Command (ATC) and will be added to the forthcoming revision of Air Force Manual 39-62. No savings were derived.

A1C James E. Cox, also of Military

Personnel Division, earned $120 while saving the Air Force $1,394 annually. His suggestion to combine assignment briefings saved manhours for both him and the personnel to be briefed.

A new procedure to process AF Form 899 was the basis for a $25 cash award to Sgt. Hassie L. Tyson, again of the Military Personnel Division. There were no savings reported from the suggestion.

$1,000 Saving

A1C Karen A. Jemiole, 64th Supply Squadron, was granted $105 for her idea concerning a system for filing supply documents. The Air Force will realize over $1,000 per year in manhours and material as a result of the suggestion.

An idea creating a new procedure on one-time defueling earned an award of $95 to Amn. Cecil W. Sweigart, 64th Supply Squadron. The base will realize a savings of $685 in manhours and material as a result of his idea.

Capt. Gary R. Stein, 54th Flying Training Squadron, earned $50 for his suggestion about the dissemination of useful maintenance information. ATC approved the procedure for optional use command-wide, with benefits termed "moderate and limited."

Additional $25 awards were earned by Kenneth R. Hyde, Special Services Division; A1C Richard R. Hamman, and Sgt. Robert Webb, both of 64th Field Maintenance Squadron; Capt. Alan Taylor, 54th FTS and A1C James Parker, 64th Civil Engineering Squadron, for their ideas which improved methods.

AFA drive here lures 343 total with benefits

By Sgt. Buddy Lerch

Well, we're still waiting for tabulations from other Texas Air Force bases, but Reese looks like it's on top of the mountain, as 343 new Air Force Association (AFA) members joined the Lubbock Chapter during the annual drive in March.

That's the word from Col. William E. Brown Jr., drive chairman. The number of new members this year is more than twice last year's figure of 166.

Of this year's figure, 233 were officers, 77 were enlisted men and 33 were civilians. These 343 new members total over 10 per cent of Reese's working force. This puts Reese way ahead of most other Texas bases as far as present figures show.

The goal for this year's drive was 150 new members. Reese more than doubled this goal.

All bases in Texas are competing for the Ryan Trophy, a new award to be presented to the Texas base which signs the biggest percentage of its population as new members during the annual drive. Our chances are good—really good.

Tom Ireland, president of the Lubbock Chapter, was reportedly "overjoyed" at the support Reese showed during the drive. He was responsible for the half-off amount which new members received on their first-year memberships here this year.

Colonel Brown and his assistant, Capt. George Harvey, wish to convey their thanks to all personnel here who supported this year's drive, especially the unit AFA representatives and all those who joined.

The officials wanted to stress the fact that they wanted all AFA memberships to be satisfactorily serviced. Captain Harvey said, "We're going to make a check in a couple of months to make sure everyone is receiving their AIR FORCE Magazine and all other AFA benefits. If there are any problems, take them to your unit AFA representatives or me and we'll get them cleared up."

Promotions go to 25

Laverne J. Nelson, Field Training Detachment 429, and Valton J. Willis, 64th Air Base Group (ABGp), were promoted to master sergeant Monday to head up the March enlisted promotion list.

Robert C. Lacy, Detachment 11, 24th Weather Squadron, Curtis W. Pierce, 64th Field Maintenance Squadron (FMS) and Charles W. Buck, 64th Flying Training Wing (FTW) were all promoted to technical sergeant on that date.

New Staff Sergeants

Promotions to staff sergeant included Alliene G. Hairston, Reese USAF Hospital, William T.J. Garbee, 2053rd Communications Squadron and Rex L. Bordwell and Leslie K. Watkins of 64th Field Maintenance Squadron.

Frederick W. Moore and Donald C. Pfeil of 64th ABGp, John A. Tourdot, 64th

Organizational Maintenance Squadron (OMS) and Garry L. Dixon of 64th Supply Squadron were also authorized to sew on their fourth stripe Monday.

Buck Sergeants

Eugene A. Filkins, 2053rd Communications Squadron, Robert L. Bower and Gregory D. Bullock of 64th FMS were promoted to the rank of sergeant this month.

Calvin L. Anweiler, Archer L. Lerch III, Horace Anderson Jr., Kevin J. Begley, Stephen A. Matiox, Ricky B. Odell and Charles D. Roe were promoted to sergeant from 64th ABGp.

Also promoted to sergeant were Michael C. Brusenhan and Richard M. Shoemaker of 64th OMS, Thomas J. Rider of 64th Civil Engineering Squadron and Rufus H. Daniel of 64th Supply Squadron.

Station gets gassed up

The Reese AFB Service Station will receive 85,100 gallons of gasoline during April from the Shell Oil Company.

This amount will fill the quota set for the station of 90 per cent of the April, 1972, amount of gas. 1972 was the period set by the Federal Energy Commission as the standard period for supply percentages.

A little background:

The energy "crisis" began to manifest itself nationwide in late July, 1973. The Reese Exchange Service Station received 100 per cent of their gasoline quota until about December, when the shortage of fuel actually affected Reese.

The Federal Energy Commission was formed to get the most "mileage" out of all the petroleum resources available to the United States. To do this, the Commission assigned quotas for each month, which were percentages of the amount provided stations during the same month in 1972.

The base service station in 1972 was a two-pump, four-hose facility with no self-service facilities. The new station, with its present three-island, 18-hose set-up, is getting much more use.

Therefore, the 1972 fuel amount was lower than the quota received by the present station after it was built.

The Shell Oil Company returns this month as Reese's supplier and Shell credit cards will again be honored. The present hours of the station will remain in effect during April.

You may have read or heard through the local news media of the recent establishment of a local Base/Community Council. Although we already have excellent relations with the city of Lubbock, I feel even more can be done through a formalized organization.

The purpose of the council is to identify mutual problems and hopefully solve them. It can also be a useful tool for mutual involvement in sports and youth activities, clean-up campaigns, and humanitarian projects.

It is important that each of you realize that you have a channel of communication with the city of Lubbock. Let me know of your ideas through the NCO/Airman Advisory Council, Human Relations Council, Care Line, Box 64, or through the Wing Information Office. The city of Lubbock has promised their full support, and on behalf of Reese, I have done the same.

No Heart of Stone

No matter what you may have heard to the contrary, a security policeman does not have ice water in his veins, a heart of stone, eyes in the back of his head or a grudge against his fellow man.

He is hated, abused, ignored and misunderstood. A security policeman can be found anywhere on base, at any time—especially when you don't want one. They drive cars, trucks and motor pool rejects from World War II. When they aren't riding around, they are walking. They walk in snow, sleet, hail, rain, and scorching weather; on concrete, grass, mud, water, ice and aching feet.

When they aren't riding or walking, they are standing. They stand honor guards, parades, inspections, retreat, sentry duty and at attention. When they aren't riding, walking or standing, they are saluting. They salute the flag, officers, VIPs and sometimes enlisted ranks, just to make sure they haven't missed anyone.

A security policeman is required to have the wisdom of Solomon, the patience of Job, the tact of a diplomat, the manners of Emily Post, the integrity of J. Edgar Hoover and the appearance of a West Point cadet. . . while chasing a stray dog. When he does his job nobody pays attention to him, but if he goofs, everybody knows it.

If he gives you a ticket he is a brute but if he gives it to someone else he is only doing his job. If he delays you while he checks your ID he is a nuisance but when he stops someone else he is really on the ball.

If he picks up your child in the housing area for being out late at night he is a bully picking on an innocent child but if he picks up the neighbor's child, he should have caught him long ago. One of the first lessons a security policeman learns is that you cannot please all of the people any of the time.

There are days when he wonders if he ought to go AWOL, change to another career field or maybe even jump in front of a moving bus. But then he gets a little better assignment or it quits raining or he hears the promotion field is getting better and someone says "Thanks" for a job well done, and he feels that things are really not so bad and that he just might be able to make it until it's time for him to leave for good. Biking tips should halt dangerous riding faults

By SSgt. Clifford Givens
Safety Technician
Chanute AFB, Ill.

You know how much fun you can have on a bike, however, it's not fun to have an accident. So learn how to ride safely.

Here are 14 ways to have "safe" fun on your bike . . .

- Obey traffic laws . . . traffic lights and signs are for bikes too. Don't take short cuts and ride your bike the wrong way up a one-way street.

- Stay on the right . . . ride with the traffic. Always ride at the right hand edge of the road unless you are making a left turn.

- Ride single file . . . never ride side-by-side and never zigzag.

- Bike safety check . . . ensure that your bike is in good working order.

- Walk it across . . . when traffic is heavy at a corner get off and push it across.

- Light up at night . . . do all your riding in the daytime if you can. If you must be out at night, be sure you have your white light in front and your red reflector and tail light on the rear.

- Use a carrier . . . both hands should be used to keep good balance. Use a carrier or basket for books and packages. If you have no basket or carrier tie your packages or books to the frame.

- One to a bike . . . never give anyone a ride on your bike. It was made for only one person.

- Never hitch a ride . . . never take hold of a moving vehicle for the purpose of being towed. This is against the law and may lead to the hospital.

- Showoffs aren't smart . . . playing games or racing on bikes should be done in empty lots or yards and not where people are walking or driving. Don't try hard stunts or you may hurt yourself.

- Give signals . . . before you turn or stop, use the correct hand signal.

- Stop for cross traffic . . . stop and look before riding out of alleys, driveways, or from behind parked cars.

- Park your bike right . . . it will stay nice longer if you park it in a rack or on its own stand. Lock your bike when you leave it. Never leave your bike in a driveway or behind parked cars.

- Never ride your bike on sidewalks. Sidewalks are for pedestrians.

Dear Colonel Baxter:

It was so good of you to participate in such a big way in connection with George and Helen Mahon Day in Lubbock. I wish we could have had a chance for a better visit. Helen and I are so grateful to you for helping make the occasion just about the greatest occasion in our lives.

I had hoped to talk to the representatives of the Sheppard Air Force Band. I want to write the appropriate person a letter of thanks and I will ask Rose Jean Griffith of my Lubbock staff to get in touch with you about the name and address of the appropriate person.

I am so sorry I didn't have a chance to shake hands with the fellows and express my appreciation, but you know how difficult it was for us to try to visit with all those wonderful people.

Thanks, thanks, thanks! Best wishes to you and Reese Air Force Base.

Sincerely,

George Mahon

Reese, Lubbock establish council

A charter, signed by Lubbock Mayor Morris W. Turner and Col. Walter H. Baxter III, established a Base/Community Council recently during a luncheon meeting at Reese.

The 20-member Council included both military and civic leaders. The objectives of the Council are: to identify the common interests of the civilian and military populations, recognize problem areas, and support community efforts of mutual concern; to obtain full participation by base and community leaders in solving problems of mutual interest and to insure maximum use of community facilities.

Additional Goals

Further goals are: to increase civilian understanding of the long-range objective of the Air Force; to establish an effective organization which assists the commander and community leaders in carrying out their mutual relations responsibilities and to provide continuity in the community relations program, in spite of frequent changes of military personnel.

Colonel Baxter said that there is nothing new in these objectives. "The only new aspect is that now it's written down." The colonel reemphasized the concern that the Air Force has for its people. Jack Alderson, vice president of the Lubbock Chamber of Commerce, said, "I'm pleased to hear Colonel Baxter mention his concern for people. That's one of the reasons we at the Chamber of Commerce are so proud of Reese." He went on to say that the new Council was a good idea and should bring the people of Reese and Lubbock closer together.

Committees Formed

The Council Coordinator, Dr. O.W. English, will establish the following committees: Police-Health-Safety, Housing-Commercial, Recreation-Education-Religious-Welfare, and Public Relations-Citizenship. The committees will be made up of both civilian and military members.

There will be two sub-committees. Armed Services and Civil Defense Committee and the Defense Community Services Council.

The Council will be co-chaired by the 64th Flying Training Wing Commander and the Lubbock Mayor. It will meet twice each year as a minimum and be alternately sponsored by the city and base. Prior to any meeting, squadrons and divisions will be given an opportunity to submit agenda items.

College credit prerequisite for management study program

Randolph AFB, Tex. (ATCPS) — The Community College of the Air Force (CCAF) has announced a forthcoming change in its Work Center Management program.

Noncommissioned officers registering in Work Center Management will be required to have completed a minimum of 12 semester hours at a regionally accredited college or university before they can expect CCAF credit based on work experience.

Of the 80-plus CCAF study programs, Work Center Management is the only one where credit is awarded for work experience.

The program was designed specifically for NCOs for whom specialized CCAF majors related to Air Force Specialties (AFS) may not be available, and for some airmen completing technical schools prior to January 1968.

Up to 16 semester hours may be awarded registrants depending on their Air Force skill level and total years experience.

After publication of the new catalog NCOs applying for registration in Work Center Management, will still be registered, but a transcript reflecting those hours for work experience and physical education, will not be provided, or created on the master file.

These credits will be held in escrow until the individual has completed the required 12 hours. Courses taken to satisfy this requirement must apply directly to the Work Center Management study program.

Criteria set for BAS policy

RANDOLPH AFB, Tex. (AFNS) — Air Force Military Personnel Center officials here have explained the policy on the basic allowance for subsistence (BAS) and what's being looked at for changes.

The BAS is authorized by law, with policy prescribed by the Department of Defense and the Air Force. In essence, a member receives the BAS when meals are not provided by the government. There are three conditions under which the BAS is authorized. By far the most common is when permission to mess separately is granted (even though a mess is available).

The other two come into play when there is no mess available. Permission to mess separately entitles a member to the BAS (commonly called "separate rations pay") which currently is at the rate of $2.28 per day or $68.40 for a 30-day month.

By policy, members living with dependents at a permanent duty station receive a BAS in keeping with the Department of Defense and Air Force family integrity goal. For others, certain criteria must be met and no single factor (such as grade per se) can be used to grant permission to mess separately. Factors that must be considered by commanders include marital status, dependency, location of residence, specialized duties, pay grade, working hours, distance to a government dining facility, and dining facility capacity.

An application for permission to mess separately can be submitted to an individual's commander at any time. Department of Defense policy stipulates that applications must be considered on their own merits.

The Air Force recognizes that everyone would like to eat when and where they desire. It is toward this end that the problem is being worked. A test at Shaw AFB, S.C., is underway to see if Air Force can provide all enlisted members BAS and still operate existing dining halls efficiently and economically.

At Shaw, all enlisted personnel receive the BAS unless they choose not to and have the option of eating in the dining hall which is operating cafeteria style with food-sales-by-item (rather than a complete meal) or of buying their meals from other sources. Results from the test may provide the data necessary to pursue a phased approach to BAS for all members at all times. The Department of Defense is also interested in this approach and has requested the other services to test the "Shaw concept" during fiscal year 1975.

Predictions given for yearly awards

By Lighthouse

By the time you read this, the Academy Awards will already be a thing of the past and reputations will have been made or broken in the space of a three-hour television night.

This is the once-a-year event that I like to make predictions on because I know if I'm wrong, I won't be the only one.

A Fixation?

The Academy Awards sometimes give me the feeling that they are, well, . . . surprising in their selections. I didn't want to say fixed because that's being unfair. But think about it, would you have given John Wayne an Oscar for "True Grit?" At any rate, for that reason, I'm not afraid to go out on a limb and make a few predictions about the award selections.

I have no doubt that "The Exorcist" will come out Oscar heavy. The film caused so much commotion before its release and had so many people fainting in the aisles during the initial viewings that it can't be overlooked. So I give at least three Oscars to this film: one for cinematography and two for best supporting actors. Of course, it would be foolish to disregard the best picture chance, but the winds of change could take that away and give it to "The Sting". Although they weren't as dynamic as they were in "Butch Cassidy and the Sundance Kid," Newman and Redford should be able to cop at least one award between them for best supporting actor, depending on who the judges think was the star and who was the supporter.

My favorite film of the year, "American Graffiti," has been sadly neglected in the considerations for awards this year because of the late appearance of "The Exorcist," which pushed it to the background. To the others of you who enjoyed this exceptional film, I have to apologize, but I don't think that it will get more than one Oscar, if any, and that will be in the supporting actor or actress area. There you have it, folks. If I'm too far off, just remember your own predictions and be kind.

A Good Guy

The airman deserving of recognition this week is A1C Charles W. Gary, who works in the Document Control Section of the 64th Supply Squadron. Mrs. Fredna Roberts, the supervisor of the Document Control Section called and had this to say about Airman Gary: "He shows an unusual aptitude and knowledge of document control. He assumes a workload generated by the absence of other personnel on his own initiative. He is fast, accurate and reliable and shows an interest in all work of the section." This column is happy to give you the recognition that you deserve, Airman Gary.

Commander's CARE Line

(Editor's Note: The Roundup will continue to publish Commander's CARE Line inquiries as long as they are of base-wide interest. All inquiries will be reviewed by Col. Walter H. Baxter III, wing commander. All personnel are encouraged to first use their chain of command or the office of primary responsibility to air their comments, if possible. If these methods do not work, call the CARE Line by dialing C-A-R-E. Personnel are urged to give their name, rank and unit when calling.)

Sir:
I am just getting ready to depart the base. I came here about a year ago from Germany and I was just reading the paper and it seems that so many times people don't appreciate what Reese really has to offer. Too many times they sit around and criticize what we don't have but never appreciate what we do have here in the way of facilities. I also want to say an awful lot for the civilian staff that we have here in Supply. I think they deserve an awful lot of credit. I have never worked with anybody or any civilians who I liked any better than those we have here. I just want to say that Reese is a darned good place that we have going and if more people would take this attitude it could be a lot better. I enjoyed my PCS here and maybe I can come back later on. I thoroughly enjoyed it. Thank you for everything you have done, sir, in building up the theater and the new NCO barracks they are constructing now and building up the club. It's growing and I think people should take the attitude to grow with the base. Thank you again, and goodbye, sir.

SSgt. Benson
64th Supply Squadron

Sergeant Benson:
Adios! We appreciate your kind words, your good work and the attitude you fostered. Have a safe trip and let us hear from you. We'll miss you.

Sir:
My problem is I can't get BAQ. Everytime I try they keep giving me a different story. There are buck sergeants and airmen downtown with less time in grade than me and now I can't get any results with the First Sergeant or the Commander and I would like to know why this is so.

Sgt. McCann
D Flight
T-37 Section

Sergeant McCann:
Your squadron commander gave me his reasons for asking you to live on base. They make sense to me and I agreed with him.

Sir:
With the paper conservation drive going on, I would like to ask why the hospital received 25 copies of a letter from LGS dated March 8, 1974, which dealt with a request for customer authorizations and identaplates. The activity within the hospital complex only has three different sections, Medical Supply, Physiological Training and Birth Accounts, yet we received 25 copies of this form letter. This, to me, seems to be an extreme waste of publications forms. Thank you.

Sgt. Freeman

SSgt. Freeman:

You are right, the hospital should not have received 25 copies of the letter and I appreciate you pointing the incident out. It is difficult to determine exactly why this happened; however, all personnel in Central Base Administration associated with reproducing and distributing correspondence have been reminded to produce and distribute the very minimum number of copies required.

Sir:
I would like to know why a person who is on OJT has to be committed to the Honor Guard. Being on the Honor Guard takes time from my training. Last week I had to attend five funerals. Also it has an effect on my CDC courses in relation to my job, so I think that a person should at least have a 5-level to be on the Honor Guard. When I say in relation to my job, I mean that a person with only a 3-level, who is new on base and to his job, still has to attend Guard formations and this takes away from his time on the job. What ever you decide to do on this, I would appreciate it. I would be more than happy to be on the Honor Guard after I get my 5-level, but until that time, I think it is unfair to have be on the detail while I'm still on OJT. Thank you.

No name

To my knowledge, no one is assigned to the Honor Guard who does not desire to be there. On January 18, I sent a letter to all commanders stating that I desired the Honor Guard to be staffed by volunteers. At numerous subsequent meetings of the Honor Guard, the Honor Guard Commander has personally stated that he wanted only volunteers and that if anyone did not desire to be on the Honor Guard or was having a problem, to see him. I am sure that as soon as you contact someone in a responsible position on the Honor Guard or your First Sergeant, he will be more than happy in relieving you of this duty or work out some sort of equitable arrangement with you.

Sir:

I would like to commend the base Photo Lab for a job well done. Recently I needed some photo work for legal purposes and had one day to get the pictures to a circuit advisor from San Antonio who would not be back to Lubbock for six months. Having difficulty finding a civilian studio downtown that could complete the required work on time, I went to the base photo lab and they were gracious enough to do the work for me in one day. I would just like to say 'congratulations and thank you for a job well done.' You are one of Reese's finest.

SSgt. Stanton
2053rd Comm. Squadron

Sergeant Stanton:
What a pleasure to have one of our fine shops appropriately recognized. Thanks for CAREing.

Course completion adds to APR, OER

A recent change to an Air Force regulation is designed to aid people who voluntarily complete courses through the Extension Course Institute (ECI).

The regulation, AFR 50-12, has been modified to permit the ECI Certificate of Course Completion (ECI Form 8) to be attached to the individual's Airman Performance Report or Officer Effectiveness Report shell for consideration by his supervisor when a rating is being prepared. Additionally, officers may now have course completions entered on their AF Form 11, Officer Military Record.

To insure that the actions are completed, the student at Reese should take his duplicate certificate of course completion, provided by ECI, to the Reese Education Office. That agency will forward the certificate to the Consolidated Base Personnel Office, where the appropriate actions will be taken.

Nearly 400 courses are presently available through ECI and all are free of charge. They are open to people on active duty, members of the National Guard, Reservists, civil service employees and members of the Civil Air Patrol.

First impressions enhance AF image

By Lt. Col. Lyle D. Kaapke
Commander, Occupational Measurement Sq.
Lackland AFB, Tex.

We are all used to the concept of ambassadors or representatives in "blue." It connotes the idea that any member of the Air Force observed in the civilian community is viewed as an example of what Air Force people are like, in general. The behavior, bearing, and dress of our members is translated rapidly into an opinion of how 'sharp' the Air Force is.

Someone observed without a hat or perhaps with an ill-fitting uniform (giving those extra few pounds that have been allowed to creep on), or acting in an abrupt or irritated manner can make a significantly poor impression and consequently do the Air Force and its people a real disservice.

We all want to be accepted as sharp, knowledgeable, and capable people — not as someone who couldn't make it on the outside.

Gen. George S. Brown, Air Force chief of staff, recently reaffirmed the role we should all play in promoting good community relations. In a policy letter to commanders, General Brown stated, "I would like every Air Force commander, every staff officer and supervisor and every other Air Force member, military and civilian, in the active force and the Air National Guard and Air Force Reserve, to understand clearly his responsibilities as an Air Force representative in the eyes of the public."

If anyone has been left out — please raise your right hand.

Seriously, General Brown is setting the requirement for every one of us — you and I included — to accept and satisfy the responsibilities we have to represent the Air Force in the best manner we can.

In order to reduce career irritants and provide greater convenience to those who wear fatigues to work, AFM 35-10 has been changed to permit essential stops enroute to and from work.

Thus, civilians in communities close to Air Force bases will not be seeing men and women in green and white as well as blue uniforms.

Remember as you perform that essential stop at the corner grocery store, service station, or department store, that you are as much a representative of the Air Force as any other individual in uniform whether you're in fatigues or not — be sharp and create the impression that makes you feel proud to be in the Air Force.

PEOPLE POWERED—SSgt. Robert J. Bieber, driving, and Sgt. Robert Sherrick have found a way to beat the fuel crisis and still enjoy the feeling of driving a car. Sergeant Bieber is driving a new People Powered Vehicle (PPV) that has a three-speed transmission and two sets of pedals, one for the driver and one for the passenger. The two men are very aware of the fuel saving program since both of them work in the Fuels Management Branch of the 64th Supply Squadron. (U.S. Air Force Photo by Amn. Dave McGill)

THE BEHIND MAN THE MISSION

Amn. Paul White attends to one of his many duties as a Bulk Storage Attendent in the Fuels Management Branch of the 64th Supply Squadron. As a part of his job, the 21-year-old airman issues and receives all fuels that come into Reese for aircraft and military vehicles. Chapel to hold Easter observance Pastor Morris Sheats from the Trinity Church in Lubbock will be the guest speaker at the Easter Sunrise Service scheduled for 6:45 a.m. April 14.

Pastor Sheats is a graduate of Monterey High School, Texas Tech University and Southwestern Baptist Seminary. He has become well known throughout the South Plains through his weekly television series called "RAP" and his congregation is one of the fastest growing in the city of Lubbock, according to base Chapel officials.

All Reese personnel are invited to attend the Sunrise Service which will be held on the football field north of the chapel. In the event of inclement weather, the service will be held in the chapel. Nursery service will be provided and a Continental Breakfast will be served in the chapel Social Hall following the service. The Chapel Choir will be singing at the service.

Meeting set for wives

The NCO Wives Club will hold their monthly business meeting at 7:30 p.m. Tuesday at the NCO Open Mess.

Entertainment for the evening will be a demonstration by Mrs. Linda Nix on how to decorate blown-out eggshells for Easter.

The club reminds Reese personnel that all wives of NCO Club members are eligible to join the NCO Wives Club and all are invited to attend the meeting.

GIRL FRIDAY

Mrs. Helen Jensen has been working in the Records Section of the Consolidated Base Personnel Office for the past four years. Although born in Colorado, Mrs. Jensen was raised in New Mexico where she attended the University of New Mexico as a journalism major. Even though her job keeps her pretty busy, she has still had time to be the area chairman for the Lubbock Heart Fund for the past several years and enjoys bridge, tennis and needlepoint in her spare time. (U.S. Air Force Photo by Sgt. Terry Rivera)

Drivers still ignore new speed limits

Colonel Wilson E. Speir, director of the Texas Department of Public Safety, said today he is disturbed by many complaints by Texas motorists about drivers refusing to obey the 55-mile-per-hour speed limit, and has directed DPS troopers to intensify their enforcement efforts.

"When the new law went into effect Jan. 20 of this year," he said, "our surveys indicated a high degree of voluntary compliance on the part of Texas drivers."

"But since that time, we have noticed that motorists, or at least many of them, have been gradually 'inching' up their speeds on Texas highways. Consequently, our troopers have been increasing their volume of speeding citations, and will have to continue to intensify their efforts until a more reasonable degree of voluntary compliance is achieved."

Speir said he has received numerous reports by motorists complying with the new law who are frightened and angered by others who pass them at speeds dangerously above the legal limit, and still others who "tailgate" them when they can't pass for one reason or another.

"We commend those drivers who are cooperating in the state and national effort to reduce accidents, save lives, and at the same time conserve fuel by driving within the legal limits," Speir said.

"And we solicit the cooperation of those who would forget or ignore the dangers posed to themselves and others by dangerous and illegal speeds on the highways of our state."

"We would remind everyone that consistently through the years, excessive speed is involved in more fatal accidents than any other single factor."

AF looks for media men

Air Force has announced the need for qualified airmen to serve with the American Forces Radio and Television stations overseas, with limited assignments in the continental United States.

Selected AFSC 79131 volunteers will be required to attend the Broadcast Specialist Course at Ft. Benjamin Harrison, Ind., prior to assignment.

Prerequisites for application may be obtained from the Reese personnel Division. Applicants must sign a statement that says he or she is a volunteer for worldwide assignment.

Nominees must also complete a voice audition tape. This may be done by contacting the Information Division at Ext. 2410 or 2236.

Exchange to now accept coupons

Dallas (AFNS) - Army and Air Force Exchange Service (AAFES) patrons who save cents-off merchandise coupons are reminded that exchanges everywhere will honor those coupons.

According to AAFES, any merchandise coupon of the type offered through direct-mail advertising, newspapers, magazines or in merchandise packages will be honored if that merchandise is stocked by the exchange.

That policy has been in effect since 1972, when the coupon-saving rage swept across America. It has not really caught on at AAFES because the military shopper seems to equate coupon redemption with outlets or special promotions in the commercial sector.

Open mess meeting set

The Reese Officers' Open Mess will hold a general membership meeting at 4 p.m. April 17 at Simler Theater.

Questions or comments which are pertinent to the entire Mess membership will be brought forward at that meeting. Members are advised that they must submit their comments in writing to the Mess by 3 p.m. Monday to be considered for the meeting agenda.

flick flack

The film action this week runs the full spectrum from police drama to paradise and then to the uncertainties of the future. For the secret agent fans, 007 is back again bringing even more fanciful weaponry and adventure to the screen this week at the Simler Theater.

The base theater schedules features at 8 p.m. Tuesday through Sunday, unless otherwise noted. The special Saturday matinee begins at 2 p.m. Tickets may be obtained at the theater one half-hour before showtime.

Tonight
Only the "Seven-Ups" are dirty enough and mean enough to fight the underworld syndicate operations on their own terms. Roy Scheider stars as the head of the unusual New York police squad designed especially for fighting Mafia crimes. Language may offend some in the PG-rated police thriller.

Saturday Matinee
A "War Between the Planets" starts when the earth is threatened by a wandering planet that actually turns out to be destructive mechanism from space. Jack Stuart stars as the space fleet commander assigned to destroy the machine before it collides with earth. Rated G.

Saturday Evening
When a plane crashes high in the mountains, the last thing the survivors expected to find was paradise in Shangri-La. "The Lost Horizon" is the new screen version of a 1937 classic that finds modern day man in a society where disease and poverty are virtually unknown, where the people live to be hundreds of years old and where there is true peace. Songs by Burt Bacharach and Hal David highlight this G-rated movie for the whole family.

Sunday
"Soylent Green" will keep you alive, but are you sure you want to live in New York in the year 2022 with pollution, overpopulation and a constant heat wave engulfing you every day? Charlton Heston, Chuck Connors and Edward G. Robinson star in this futuristic drama about survival in a quickly deteriorating society. Rated PG.

Tuesday
"Ulzana's Raid" is about a band of Apaches who escape the reservation and go on a murdering spree against the settlers. Burt Lancaster plays a veteran Indian scout who is assigned to find the Apaches and then lead an Army unit to their hideout. Violence and language might offend some in this R-rated western adventure.

Wednesday
"Man of the Year" is a tongue-in-cheek satire about a man who finds out he is irresistible to women and more than takes advantage of it. Lando Buzzanca stars as the man who has "that something extra." Sexual overtones and language may offend some. Rated R.

Thursday
James Bond is back! Roger Moore stars as the super 007 secret agent in "Live and Let Die." Sent to New York to investigate the murders of three British agents and bring back the killer, Bond gets into more trouble than he bargained for but is still able to find the elusive killer and bring him to justice. A great movie for James Bond fans. Scenes of violence and sex makes this unsuitable for pre-teens. Rated PG.

from 5 until 9 p.m. Monday through Friday. Tomorrow the dining room will be open from 9 a.m. until 9 p.m. and will be closed on Sunday.

A new group from Texas Tech. "Tribe," will be providing the music at the Officers' Open Mess tonight following the dinner special which features a 10-ounce Rib Eye steak and glass of wine for $4.50.

Tomorrow evening the Mess will be hosting the Texas Tech ROTC Military Ball.

The 64th Student Squadron officers Commander's Call will be held in the Mess Eagle Room at noon on Monday.

Next Wednesday will be Steak Night with a New York Strip steak and a glass of wine for $3.95.

'SOS' means help in officer education

For all officers at Reese and throughout the Air Force, the first major professional military education step comes through Squadron Officer School (SOS).

But the resident SOS course is not always available to every officer who wants to attend. The Extension Course Institute can solve that problem with the SOS Extension Program.

The extension program, composed of two courses, is credited in the personnel records of students completing it, a fact which could enhance their future assignments and advancement in the Air Force.

The program covers an extensive range of subjects, emphasizing both the principles and techniques of effective management. The first course, 2C, uses the standard test format and some programmed instruction. It covers such subjects as the art of communication, the principles of organization and the function of command, systematic problem solving and the techniques of leadership.

The second course deals with military environment and employment, providing comprehensive coverage of national power and international relations. Information concerning the employment of aerospace forces and ideologies in conflict is also provided.

The program is open to commissioned officers, regular or reserve, of all of the military services, in the grade of O-4 or below; to noncommissioned officers in grades E-7, E-8 and E-9; to commissioned members of the Civil Air Patrol; and to civil service employees in the grade of GS-8 or above.

Completion of the SOS program fulfills the requirements captains need to become eligible for the Air Command and Staff College Correspondence Program—the next step in officer professional military education.

Visit the Reese Education Office, Bldg. 62, to receive enrollment details.

MAZDA RX-2 WITH THE ROTARY ENGINE

The Mazda RX-2 is the most award-winning car we've ever made. A leading consumer testing magazine stated that it is the "Best Buy" of all the compact cars in the world. It has been "Import Car of the Year" in Road Test Magazine. Motor Trend readers picked it above every car made in the World as the most significant car of the 1970's.

The RX-2 is featured this month in a special sale at Plains Mazda. A Limited number of new RX-2's will be sold for as Low as $3,227⁹⁹ which includes freight and dealer preparation charges. Coupes and sedans are included in this sale, and many accessories will be offered at Low, sale prices.

The Mazda Rotary Engine is the most important innovation in Automobiles since their invention. Several Independent tests have been run on its reliability; all with the same conclusion. 100,000 to 150,000 miles with no overhaul; no problems.

The rotary's fuel economy is better than 75% of all the cars sold last year. It is smooth, quiet, powerful. It is almost Pollution free. Its 3 moving internal parts circulate efficiently; in perfect harmony.

No wonder Mazda has the only 36 month, 50,000 mile engine warranty in the automobile industry. Test one Today and enjoy a revolutionary experience.

Use caution in granting power of attorney

By Capt. Carll J. Kretsinger
Staff Judge Advocate

(Editor's note: This is part of a continuing series of articles designed to inform Reese personnel of their legal rights and obligations under the Uniform Code of Military Justice (UCMJ), Federal, Texas and local laws. This week the article concerns the power of attorney.)

A power of attorney is a legal instrument in which you (the grantor) give to another individual (attorney-in-fact) the power and authority to act for you, either for some particular purpose or for the transaction of your business in general.

The power of attorney is a very useful instrument, particularly while you are overseas. Within the limits specified, the holder of a power of attorney has full authority to deal with your property as though it were his own. Consequently, such authority should be given only to one whom you trust completely.

Variance in the Law

Because of the variance in state laws, you should contact your Legal Assistance Officer and find out whether you really need a power of attorney. You may find that you do not need one, or that you need only a limited or a special power of attorney, which grants authority to perform certain actions and no more during a specified period.

A general power of attorney gives your agent the right to conduct practically any transaction you could do personally. The agent could sell your property, purchase property for you and use your credit to run up bills for which you would be responsible.

A special power of attorney gives your agent the right to act in your behalf only with respect to a particular transaction, such as selling your automobile, selling a home or rental of housing. Never give your power of attorney, general or special, to someone who is not absolutely trustworthy, capable and efficient.

Your power of attorney is automatically revoked:

- (1) Upon your death
- (2) On the date specified in the document itself
- (3) When you destroy all copies of the document.

Otherwise Irrevocable

Otherwise it is practically impossible to revoke a power of attorney, especially from a remote site or location. For this reason, the Legal Office will not prepare a power of attorney without a reasonable expiration date. If you have a power of attorney now in effect and desire to revoke it, consult your legal assistance officer or civilian attorney concerning the legal steps you must take.

A general power of attorney is seldom necessary with a little advanced planning. If you are going overseas for an extended period of time, unforeseen situations requiring a power of attorney are rarely so urgent that the problem could not be taken care of by sending a power of attorney from your base overseas.

No Overseas Requirement

There is no military requirement for you to give anyone your power of attorney before going overseas. The need for one is entirely personal and should be tailored to your individual needs and desires. Remember to never give your general power of attorney until your legal assistance officer or civilian attorney counsels you on the consequences of executing such a document and makes sure whether a special power of attorney, or no power of attorney at all, would be better for you.

Newcomers need your helping hand

By Sgt. Buddy Lerch

Walking into a room full of cold, unfamiliar faces is a disquieting event which everyone has experienced at one time or another.

Worse yet is when an Air Force member, especially a first-termer, is assigned to a new base. When he arrives he doesn't know anybody; he doesn't know where to go or what to do. . . he is virtually lost.

There's a Good Cure

That's where the Sponsor Program comes in.

The program began unofficially when some Air Force buddies got together on their own to help out people who had been assigned to their base, as a friendly gesture. When they learned someone new was coming in, they would write letters to him to tell him what to expect when he arrived.

One of these originators thought the idea would be a good one to implement throughout the Air Force. He filled out a suggestion form and submitted it to Air Force. They liked the idea and it was adopted soon afterward.

Now, every first-term airman going to a new base must have a sponsor assigned him by regulation. Second-termers and career airmen have the option of choosing whether they want a sponsor or not.

Help Him Out

As a sponsor, your duties are simple—act like the assignee is an old friend of yours and help him out any way you possibly can. Write to him as soon as you get his mailing address and tell him as much about Reese as you can. Try to imagine yourself in his position. Ask him how he will be arriving at the South Plains, and meet him if possible when he does arrive.

When he writes you back, as he probably will, answer any additional questions he might ask you to the best of your ability. Make him feel like he has a friend at his new base.

Further questions about the Sponsor Program at Reese can be answered by Sgt. John Sample or Ann. Dwayne Jackson at Ext 2402.

Remember, the small amount of effort you put forth will make the new assignee feel a little more at home when he gets here. He'll appreciate it.

AF looking for lawyers

WASHINGTON (AFNS)—The Air Force has begun a new program to send 25 commissioned officers to law school each fiscal year in a pay status.

During the first calendar year of the program, funded by the Air Force Institute of Technology, two groups of 25 officers each will be selected for schooling.

The first group will begin school in June 1974. Eligible officers must make application no later than April 15 to qualify for the June starting date.

The second group of 25 officers will begin school in September 1974. Application deadline for this group is July 1, 1974.

Officers who apply for the law program meet eligibility requirements including:

- be a commissioned officer in grade O-3 or below.

- be a citizen of the United States.

- have served on active duty for a period of not less than two years nor more than six years as of the time the training is to begin.

- be a college graduate.

- sign an agreement to complete the legal training and thereafter serve as a judge advocate duty for two years for each year in law school.

Official transcripts of all undergraduate and graduate education, law school admission test scores, and an acceptance letter from an accredited law school must accompany the application.

Application instructions have been distributed to each base education office and consolidated base personnel office.

Photos can have negative result

By MSgt. Franklin R. Owens
 CBPO Processing Section
 How important is the official photograph maintained in officer master and command personnel records? Hopefully, this article will clarify that question.

The Air Force Military Personnel Center and major commands have applied increased emphasis on this program to insure an officer's photograph depicts a true image of professionalism and conformance with the standards set forth in Air Force Manual 35-10.

900 Photos Returned
 As an example, during December 1973, almost 900 photographs were returned for retake. Reasons varied from improper alignment of the "U.S." insignia and moustaches extending beyond the corners of the mouth to unkempt hair and the shirt showing above the tie.

The reason for the increased emphasis should be obvious. For instance, you indicate on your AF Form 90, Career Objective Statement, that you desire a special assignment as an instructor with the ROTC or U.S. Air Force Academy. The photograph is a significant aid to reviewing officials in determining whether or not you are selected.

Appointment Consideration
 Of greater importance, however, is the fact that the same photograph is viewed by high-ranking officials of promotion boards or boards of officers to consider and select officers for appointment to the Regular Air Force. You can feel assured that your appearance, as depicted by your photograph, will play a significant role in whether or not you are selected.

On the average, an officer is required to have an official photograph made about once every three years. When that occasion arises it is your personal responsibility to assure the photograph portrays you as an example of the truly professional officer.

Shipworthy vessels insure safe, sane boating activities

By Capt. David J. Donan
 2053rd Comm Squadron

Spring seems to be starting a bit early this year, and it's probably caught a lot of boat owners with their boats in the same shape they were in last fall.

If you and your boat had an active season, this might not be good!

There are a few things a boat owner should take care of before he sets out to sea. Starting with your boat, take the opportunity, while it's still on the trailer, to give the hull a good cleaning. On wooden boats, old paint should be stripped off and new paint applied. This is not only good for the hull; it's good for the boater's morale!

Check Caulking

While you're down there chipping away at that old paint, check the caulking. If it's cracked, replace it before you repaint.

Fiberglass hulls should be cleaned thoroughly and then given a heavy coat of wax. Wax helps the boat slip through the water and saves gas.

Then take a minute to see if your running lights and horn work. Replace bulbs which don't shine. If they all shine but seem dim, your battery probably needs charging. Consider yourself lucky you found this out before you drove all the way out to the lake!

Your fire extinguisher needs checking for cracked or broken hoses or obstructed nozzels. And check the pressure gauge, locking pins and sealing wires.

One of the most important jobs is still ahead of you—tuning the engine. It can spoil your day to have the thing cough and sputter out to the middle of the lake, and then quit completely.

Check Your Trailer

Boat checked out? Then you're ready to go, right? Not quite. You forgot your boat trailer. There's nothing like a burned-out trailer wheel bearing on a Sunday afternoon to cause a grown man to cry. Check the bearing for pits and rust, and if there's any doubt, replace it. Then lubricate all working parts of the couplers, winch, tilting mechanism, moving brackets, and oil rollers.

Check the tires for proper pressure and wear, and make sure your car hitch is tight. Hook your trailer to the car and test the light. Each trailer is different, so it's up to the owner to deal with specific problems.

These precautions will take a little time, but it's more convenient to find problems while you're still in your own yard than to find them 100 miles from home and 50 miles from your destination.

AF officials are month's film subject

Air Force Now Film 54, the mandatory film for showing at all Commanders' Calls during April, features the daily routine of Air Force Secretary John McLucas and Chief of Staff General George S. Brown and their wives.

Reluctant to be the principal participants in a film for Air Force-wide showing when they were first approached with the idea, Secretary McLucas and General Brown finally agreed that Air Force people might become better acquainted with the philosophies of top management by observing their unstaged daily operations through the film medium.

Thus, the two Air Force leaders gave the film's producer the go-ahead, with the provision that all scenes would be unrehearsed and photographed as they occurred.

The single-theme film takes the viewer through their early morning arrival at the Pentagon, through staff meetings, briefings and official functions in which they are required to participate. Then they return to their homes in the evening, where their wives speak of their roles as leaders' wives.

The comments about the men's responsibilities and the significance of the relationship between the two offices are especially enlightening.

Wilson, Tyson share top honors

Rod Wilson downed a total of 7,181 pins to take the men's division and Hassie Tyson leveled

1,750 pins to take first in the women's division of the Reese

Bowling Roll-Off held March 23-24 and 30-31.

The women had a 12-game competition while the men had a 36-game roll-off.

Wilson ended up the tournament with a 199 average, while Tyson averaged 145 pins per game.

Ollie Franklin placed second in the men's competition with a 6,930 pin count and a 192 average. Fred Detmering averaged 187 pins per game after downing a total of 6,732 pins for third honors. Jay Wigg placed fourth with a 6,673 pin count and a 185 average.

A total of 6,631 downed pins and a 184 average garnered fifth place for Sam Mele, with Paul Crane knocking down 6,533 total pins, for an average of 181 pins per game for sixth place.

Following Tyson in first, Rebecca Aldridge dumped 1,734 pins to average 144 points per game for second place in the women's division. Deborah Persinger averaged 112 pins after downing a total of 1,352 pins for third women's honors.

The first two women's placers and top four men's division winners will represent Reese at the Air Training Command Bowling Tournament, scheduled for April 16-18 at Lackland AFB, Tex. The remainder of the finishers named above will serve as alternates in that competition.

talon talk

Schools, classes keep Talon jockeys coming and going

By 1st Lt. "Pete" Peterson

This week was homecoming for many Talon drivers.

Hal Hornburg, Standardization/Evaluation; and Dick Hall, G Flight, returned from Squadron Officers School (SOS) at Maxwell AFB, Ala. Capt. "Buzz" Patrick of G Flight has just returned from Sunny California. Buzz will be moving down the street as the Wing Flying Safety Officer.

Capt. John Brumfield has moved to the DO Complex to instruct in the new local Pilot Instructor Training program. Captain Brumfield was the Instructor Pilot of the Month for March and will be missed by the entire squadron.

Capt. Wayne Griffith has done it again down in C Flight. Last week's guest was the Wing Commander, Col. Walter H. Baxter. Colonel Baxter related some of his experiences in the F-4 during his tour in Southeast Asia. We wish to thank Colonel Baxter for his time, which proved most profitable for the students and instructors alike. Keep up the good work, Griff.

SOS is taking its toll for its next class. Captains Gary Stein, C Flight, Guy Sumpter, E Flight and Bill Rock of Stan/Eval will be leaving to attend this next class.

Capt. Dick Lord, once of the European "Red Pelicans," will be doing his local flying with E Flight. We welcome Captain Lord to the 54th.

Base forms new teams for softball

All permanent party active duty military personnel who are interested in playing fast pitch and slow pitch softball for the base team are urged to call Sgt. Rod Wilson or SSgt. "Marty" Martinez at Ext. 2207 or 2783 or come by the base gym and sign up.

The gym staff is also looking for coaches, preferably non-playing coaches.

Also announced was the fact that the gym is presently taking sign-ups for the Intramural Fast and Slow Pitch Softball League.

For further information on these programs, contact the base gym.

Rattlers strike out with last place tournament tie

The Reese Rattlers Volleyball Team tied for last place in a five-team tournament held at Laughlin AFB, Tex., last weekend.

The Reese base team won two of its 16 games during the tourney. The wins were against the Laughlin and Webb AFB, Tex., teams. The play was double round-robin.

Randolph captured first place in the tourney, followed by the Lackland AFB, Tex., squad in second. Laughlin came in third place with Reese and Webb tied for fourth.

The Rattlers only took six players to the contest. Six men compose a team, so they had to play with no substitutions. Base gym officials here encourage anyone with volleyball experience to come out and play for the Rattlers, as "the competition is real good for experienced players!"

Reese player Warren Knox garnered the tournament's Sportsmanship Award at the closing of the event.

'02, '04 lead leagues

Jerry Olin and Steve Savell led Undergraduate Pilot Training Class 75-02 to a 60-56 win over high-spirited Class 75-01 to capture the A League title in Student Intramural Basketball action.

Olin scored 20 points and grabbed 15 rebounds to lead '02's attack, while Savell scored 14 and pulled down seven rebounds.

In the first half of the game 75-01 shot poorly from the floor, with the result being 75-01 standing with a 16-point deficit at halftime. The outside shooting of Kieth Kreykes and Bob Grover brought 75-01 back in the game. The difference at game's end was partly due to a three-point play by Olin of '02 with 10 seconds remaining.

In the B League 75-04 downed 74-06 by a 30-24 margin to win their division title. The winners were led by high-scoring center Boomer Erickson who had 12 points and nine rebounds credited to him.

Intramural volleyball is the next sport on the student sports slate. Volleyball play will get under way Monday.

correction

"The Roundup" stated in a front-page picture outline last week that the Reese Education Office, in conjunction with South Plains College and the Jobs for Progress program, is offering a Secretarial Training Course. This could be misread to imply that the Education Office is paying for the course, which is not so. Service, Employment, Redevelopment (SER) Jobs for Progress is funding the course as part of a manpower training program sponsored by the Department of Labor and administered by SER Jobs for Progress. Further information about the program may be obtained from Dr. Charles Sylvester, 747-0576. "The Roundup" apologizes for any inconvenience caused by the misunderstanding.
