

Reese begins spring clean-up campaign

Brooms, mops, lawn mowers and many other tools will get a real work out beginning Monday as the annual Spring Clean-Up Week will be held through April 26.

Reese will join with Air Force installations around the world in the yearly beautification process that will bring out the old paint brushes and fatigues once again.

Although all divisions at Reese are responsible for the maintenance of their own areas, this yearly campaign is a concentrated effort at cleaning up the little things that usually go unnoticed, in addition to regular cleaning duties.

"Clean Up 'Eyesores' "

Capt. Gary M. Sanford, project officer for the clean-up, recently remarked, "This is a good chance for everyone to get into the act. There has to be at least one

'eyesore' in every work area that people have been meaning to fix or clean up for quite some time. The special emphasis this week will accomplish several projects like this."

The Spring Clean-Up plan Air Force wide is designed primarily as a fire prevention plan. Col. Walter H. Baxter III, wing commander, stated, "The appearance of our base occasionally falls below standards. Shortages of funds and personnel have contributed to this condition. Extraordinary measures are required to improve the appearance of our base and maintain the standard once it is achieved."

Improvement Plan

The plan at Reese is designed to assist base personnel in improving their own areas, removing safety and fire hazards and maintaining their areas throughout the year. Individual units will have the responsibility for minor repairs in their working areas, painting and gardening (to include fertilizing and seeding surrounding areas).

The programs branch is spearheading a drive to see that all materials are available for units to use during the week. Commanders and chiefs placed orders several weeks ago in preparation for the clean-up activity. Captain Sanford informs those units that have not yet been notified of the arrival of materials that they will be contacted as soon as the materials arrive.

In Reese Village, residents will be expected to make the same minor repairs, and to care for their immediate areas. During the week, civil engineering personnel will be seeding areas, applying fertilizer and planting trees. Residents in the village who have identified areas in their homes that need special attention are encouraged to contact CE for appropriate corrective action.

Bachelor Requirement

Residents in bachelor housing areas will be expected to clean their areas and identify needed repairs that are beyond their capabilities and to contact CE for the corrective measures.

Colonel Baxter went on to add, "Junior Officers, NCOs, Airman Councils, Wives and Teen Clubs, Boy Scouts and Girl Scouts are encouraged to participate in the Spring Clean-Up Campaign." They may do this by taking special efforts to clean up the areas where they have their meetings.

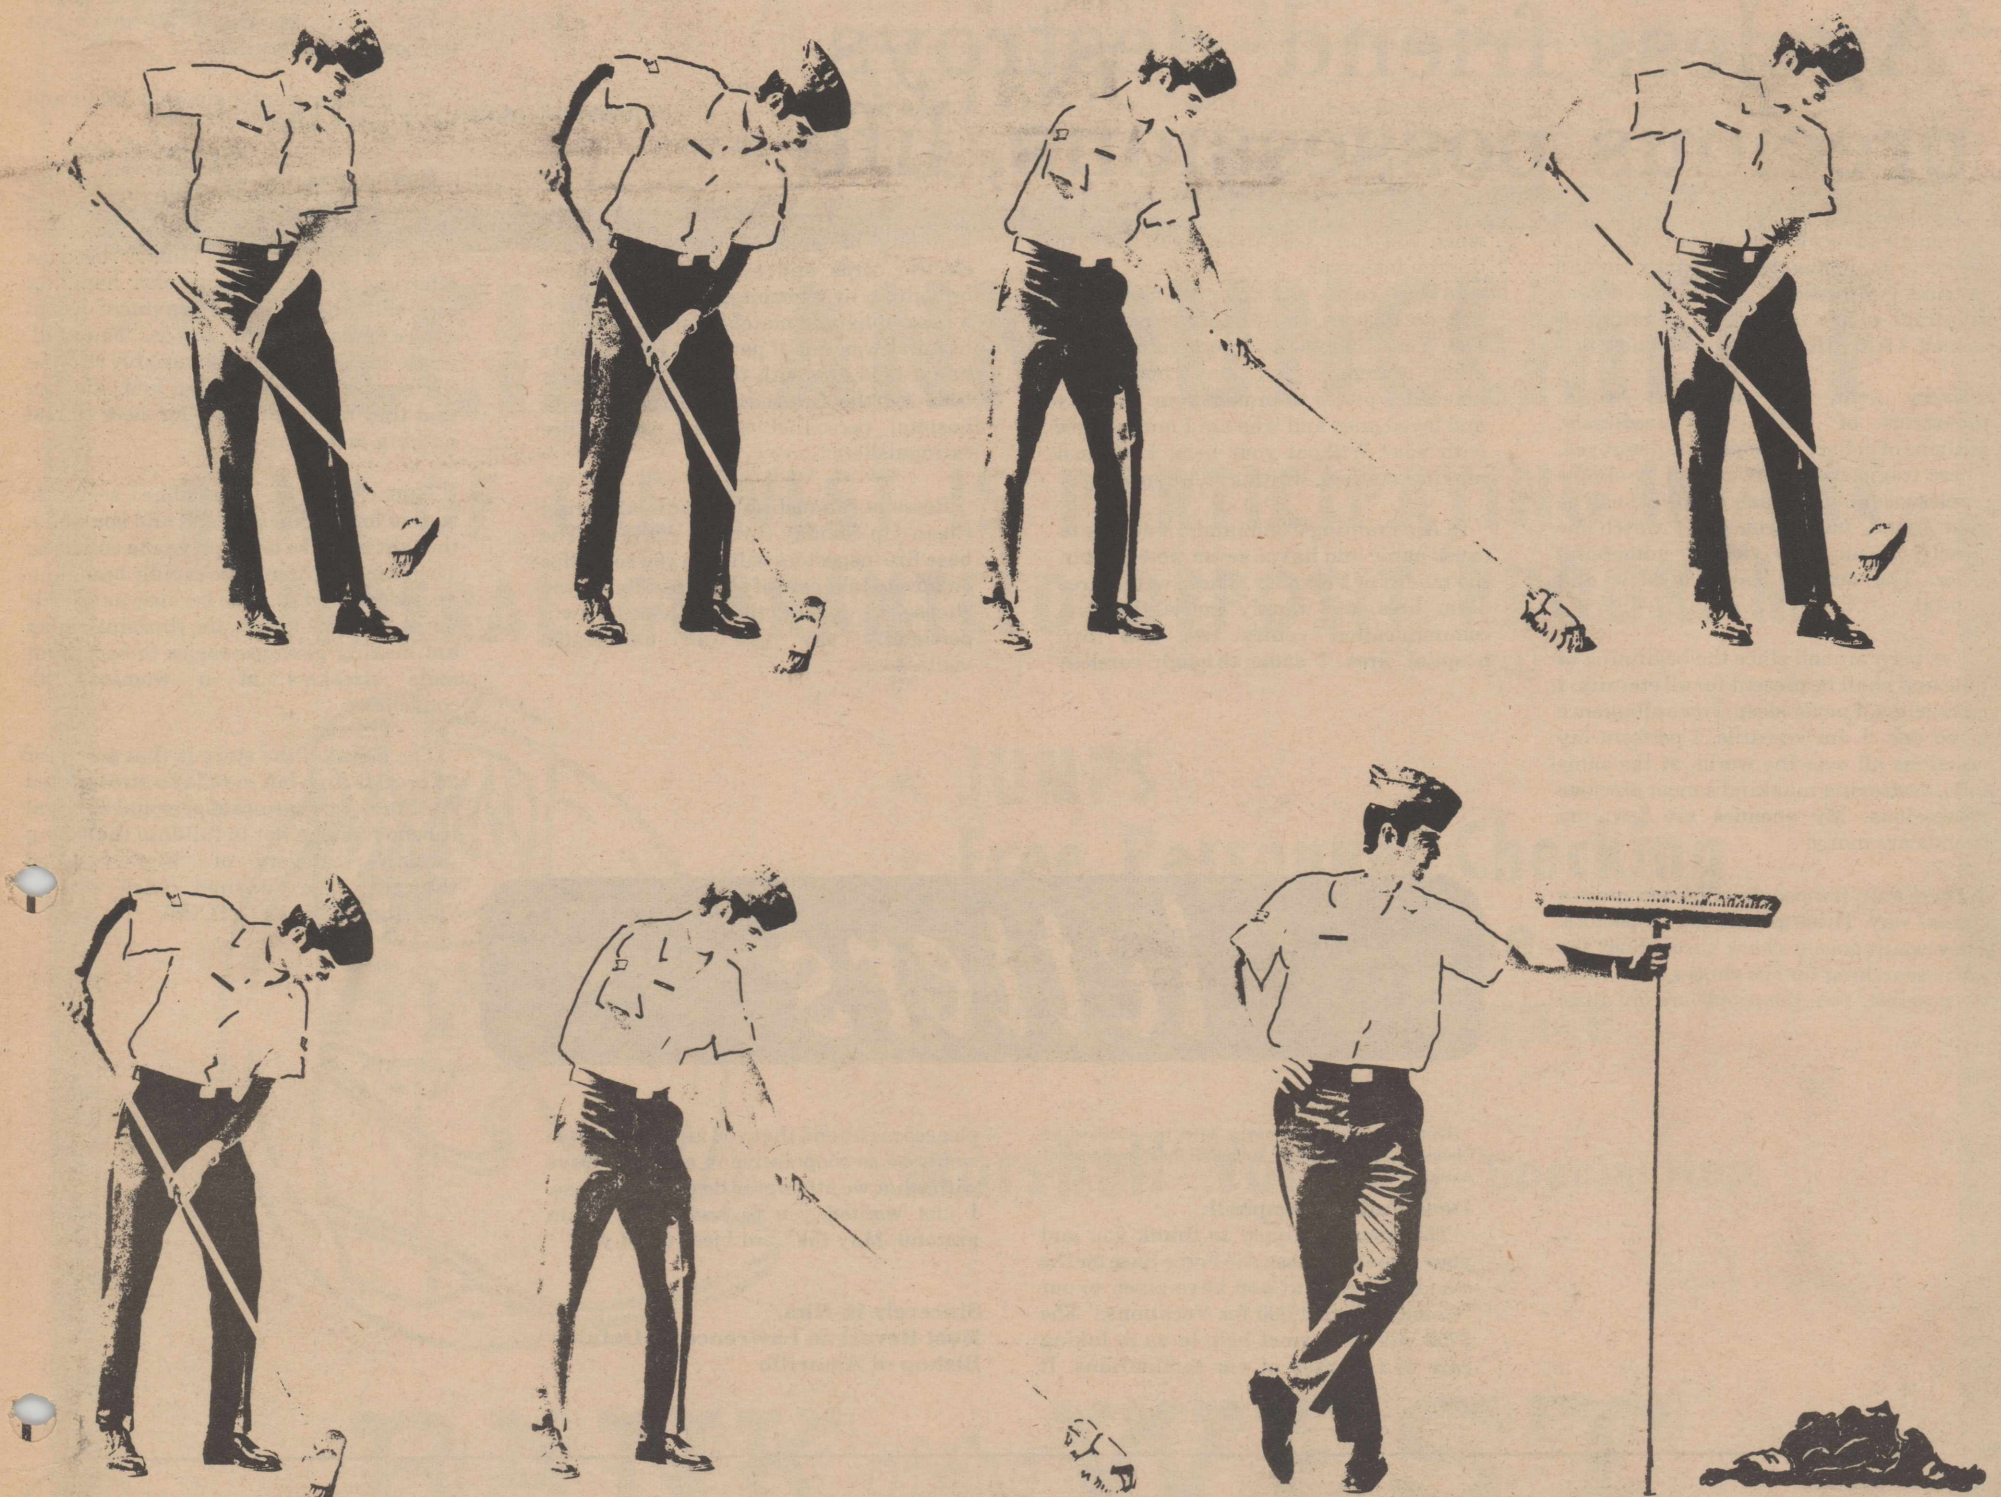

Captain Sanford commented, "This is basically a self help program. Every unit should take full advantage of this opportunity to really make their area shine. Then, it won't be a back breaking effort once each year. Instead, just regular maintenance will keep things in proper order. We in CE will be doing everything that we can to improve the base appearance and we hope every section at Reese will be doing the same."

Requests for materials and maintenance on base and in the housing area should be directed to the Programs Branch of CE at Ext. 2442 or 2784.

"... anyone can avoid injury if they are willing to prevent accidents."

By Milo M. Johonnet
Ground Safety Officer

Between Jan. 1 and March 31 this year, an average of two people per day presented their bruised and battered selves at the Reese USAF Hospital for necessary repairs. On a cash and carry basis, that cost each of us a little less than two bucks apiece—not even counting the time lost from work, extra paper work and the hundreds of other "hidden costs" of any accident.

Nor has any dollar basis been set for pain and suffering of the injured parties or the anguish experienced by loved ones and friends. We can be thankful that no loss of life or permanent injury resulted from any of these senseless mishaps.

After reducing the the assorted cuts, burns, bruises, fractures, strains, and other pains to impersonal statistical data, the Safety Staff found the following information:

- Injuries were up 51 per cent over the same period in 1973.
- More than half of the permanent party personnel involved in on and off duty accidents were airmen in grades E-3 and below.

- All permanent party personnel injured in vehicle accidents were in grade E-3.
- On duty accidents nearly doubled compared to the first quarter of 1973.
- Injuries in private quarters almost doubled, while most other off duty classifications showed only small increases.
- Most accidents could have been prevented had the injured person simply paid attention to the task at hand.
- The use of seatbelts and motorcycle helmets probably kept the operators of private motor vehicles from receiving greater injuries.

To keep from being included in future tabulations, the Safety Office urges that everyone be aware of the hazards inherent to any activity in which a person may choose to participate. Once the hazards are known, anyone can avoid injury—if they WANT to. And if they are willing to do whatever is necessary to prevent accidents.

'Ageless friend' destroys precious possessions, life

I am an advocate of equal opportunity. I make no distinction between man, woman or child. I am afraid of no one but everyone is afraid of me. Allow me to introduce myself, I AM FIRE! Yes, you all know me.

Every year, all over the world, thousands of people die needlessly. Millions of dollars in property is destroyed. These tragic events are caused by simple carelessness upon which I thrive. I can be your friend, but if you don't watch me closely, I can be a vicious, unmerciful killer. The death I cause is slow and painful.

I've been around since the beginning of time and shall be present for all eternity. I am ageless. I never sleep, I owe allegiance to no one. I am versatile, I perform my functions all over the world, at the same time, destroying mankind's most precious possessions. My enemies are few, my friends are many.

There are a few people who know me in a special way. These are the fire inspectors. They continuously check throughout the areas searching for the causes that make me possible. You, the people are my allies when you don't take the time to listen to the fire inspector.

In most cases, you know me more than they do. Besides, I only happen to someone else. Your time is "... more valuable for other things." You pay outrageous insurance prices to protect your property and loved ones and who am I not to agree with you? Without your help, I am just another statistic waiting to happen.

In Air Training Command, I was able to cause panic and havoc seven times just in the month of February. These were: three dorm fires, one family house fire, one communication center fire and two hospital fires. I came through careless handling of smoking materials, faulty electric cords and even when specially brought in by a hospital patient throwing a book of lighted matches onto a bed. The hospital was full of patients. I could have had a field day with this one if it hadn't been for the fire inspector's training of hospital personnel in the use of fire extinguishers.

Reese is conducting the annual Spring Clean Up Sunday through April 27. The base fire inspectors will give you some tips on how to take care of your area. But, if you choose to ignore their advice, I will personally pay you an unexpected visit—soon.

letters

(Editor's note: The following letter was received by Chaplain (Col.) William W. Campbell from the diocese of Amarillo)

Dear Father Campbell:

This note is simply to thank you and your people at Reese Air Force Base for the wonderful support you have given to our "Committee of 1,000 for Vocations." The $750 will be a great help to us in taking care of expenses of our seminarians. It pleases me no end that you and your people would be so cooperative in so many ways with what we attempt to do in this diocese. I just wanted you to know that I am grateful. May the Lord bless all of you.

Sincerely in Him,
Most Reverend Lawrence M. Defalco
Bishop of Amarillo

Remember when streak meant stripe?

By Bob Reed

Funny how the meanings of words change with the generations.

"Prestigious," used today to denote importance based on recognition of the subject's power, authority and standing, once had a far different definition, one resting on its Latin root-word, meaning deception. Respected dictionaries still define it as "of, or pertaining to, sleight of hand; hence, deceptive."

Or take "lifer." Over the years a member of the over-30 geriatric set had heard it used many ways—referring to a careerist (not necessarily disparagingly), banded about humorously between Air Force friends, or a bit sarcastically when, for instance, a crew chief had ordered a coup of his men to do a rush job they felt could have been scheduled during a just-completed slack time—"Isn't that just like a 'lifer?'"

But in recent months he had become increasingly aware that nowadays all young airmen apparently use the term solely in a derogatory sense. His curiosity finally prevailing, the next time he heard a young enlistee snort "lifer" contemptuously, he asked the young man why he resented someone choosing the Air Force as his life's work.

The airman looked at the questioner as if he were bananas. "What are you talkin' 'bout, man?" he asked. "I don't put anybody down for that."

My first sergeant's got over 22 in and he's a great dude."

Now it was the old gaffer's turn for bewilderment. So the airman explained slowly and patiently, as to a backward child: When he said "lifer," he was referring to an incompetent, bungling goof-ball whom he was convinced would starve to death on "the outside." That's all. While his "lifera" had invariably been in the service longer than he had, the fact that they might be going for 20 or 30 had nothing to do with it.

That cleared up the muddled semantic waters for the ancient one, and sparked a thought he'd like to lay on young enlistees: Their kind of "lifera" are rapidly becoming an endangered species; because as the Air Force becomes leaner, the thinning ranks are making goof-ups easier to spot than male streakers at a women's lib convention.

The moral of the story is that going for 20 or 30 is fine; but in today's streamlined Air Force, for reasons of personal survival it behooves one not to fall into the young airman's category of "lifer." (Added thought: For darned sure not "prestigious" one.) (ATCPS)

Management team solves man problems

By MSgt. Carlos G. Gonzalez

The Air Force Management Engineering Program's objective is to determine requirements, systematically improve distribution and utilization of manpower resources by developing and maintaining manpower standards. It also provides management engineering services in the form of Management Advisory Studies which furnish solutions to manpower problems.

The description is an excerpt from Air Force Manual 25-5, the charter under which the Management Engineering Detachment (MED) operates.

Local Detachment

The local MED or "MOM," as some people call us, is a detachment of the 3314th Management Engineering Squadron, operating under the direction of the Deputy Chief of Staff, Plans, Headquarters Air Training Command (ATC).

The Reese MED is your link with ATC in all manpower problems concerning manpower allocation and distribution.

The MED is organized into two separate branches, the Manpower and Organization Branch and the Management Engineering Team. The detachment commander, Capt. Harold W. Bonham, although directly responsible to the ATC

Director of Manpower and Organization, supports the wing commander at Reese and provides services to all base agencies in manpower matters.

In the Manpower and Organization Branch, Jeanne Yarbrough processes all Manpower Change requests and Unit Detail Listing changes. The conduct of day to day business in the Manpower Branch requires Mrs. Yarbrough to come in contact with almost every supervisor on Reese. The delicate business of applying congressional directed manpower reductions requires a great deal of diplomacy and patience.

Workload Evaluation

How do you let someone know that he is going to lose some personnel and keep him from blowing his stack . . . or crying? Fortunately it is not usually like that. In addition to her other duties, Mrs. Yarbrough also processes the requests for valid workloads which result in increased authorizations.

The Management Engineering Team, under the direction of 1st Lt. Leslie W. Barnett Jr., performs Standards Setting Studies and Management Advisory Studies. These are commonly referred to as the "leg work" of the program. These are the interviews, observations, timings and samplings. This is the facet of the Management Engineering Program that most people come in contact with.

This data gathering is of extreme importance because it reflects the manpower expenditure required to accomplish the mission at a certain workload level.

Team Members

Lieutenant Barnett's team consists of MSgt. Carlos G. Gonzales, TSgt. Sam Tribble, SSgt. Terry Dill, SSgt. Perry Ellison and Sgt. Randy Rowan. All Management Engineering Technicians attend a 10-week course at Keesler AFB, Miss., Technical Training Center prior to assuming his duties in the field.

Back in the early days of the Management Engineering Program, 1958, when Headquarters USAF was faced with what seemed at that time to be insurmountable problems, the Manpower Validation Program was created. The goal was to create a system whereby all major air commanders could "accurately and authentically validate their manpower requirements."

System Improvement

Although we have continued to make great advances in improving the system, the standards have never changed. The data needed to create a valid standard must come from the people in each organization.

For this reason, it is necessary to fully cooperate with the Management Engineering people when they come to your shop to conduct a management study. They are there for one reason and that is to help you, the wing and the Air Force.

Good neighbor barbeque set

Lambda Sigma Delta Social Fraternity in Lubbock is offering a chance for Reese people to meet with their civilian neighbors. The event is a barbeque at the base picnic grounds April 28, 5 to 7 p.m.

The picnic is only one of the events being sponsored that day. A rodeo, at 4th Street and Quaker Avenue, will begin at 1 p.m., and a dance will be held at the Cow Palace, 5203 34th Street, from 9 p.m. until 2 a.m.

All of these activities may be attended for $5 per person, or $2 per person for each event. The all encompassing ticket may be purchased at the rodeo or tickets may be purchased at any one of the occasions.

All proceeds will be presented to the Texas Boys' Ranch by the fraternity, so no discount tickets will be offered. Food and drink for the picnic is being donated by community merchants.

Everyone at Reese should take this opportunity to at least go to the picnic Friday. It is rare when the citizens of Lubbock come to the base for an informal get-together . . . plus it is a way to help a very worthwhile institution.

VETERANS ASK . . .

Q—I received a general discharge from the Army. Am I eligible for GI Bill benefits from the Veterans Administration?

A—Yes. A general discharge entitles a veteran to the same benefits as an honorable discharge. Suggest you apply at your nearest VA regional office.

LIBRARIES MAKE IT HAPPEN—This is the theme for National Library Week to be held tomorrow through April 28. There are more than 15,000 books in the Reese Library of which most may be checked out for up to four weeks. The facility also has on hand 90 periodicals. Coming soon, 500 books will be provided by South Plains College for Reese students attending college classes. Come by and let the library "make it happen" for you. The hours are from 9:30 a.m. to 9:30 p.m., Monday through Thursday; 9:30 a.m. to 5:30 p.m., Friday and 1 to 5 p.m., Saturdays. (Courtesy Artwork)

AFA campaign exceeds yearly membership goal

Reese would appear to be a runaway winner in the competition for the first Annual Ryan Trophy to be presented to the Texas Air Force facility signing up the most new members to the Air Force Association.

Reese also fared very well in Air

Training Command. The only bases that signed up more numbers than Reese were Lowry, Randolph, Landland and Mather AFBs. Details on the upcoming banquet to be held at Sheppard AFB, Tex., will be released next week. The winner will be announced at the banquet.

Wives host 'hello, goodbye' ceremony

The wives of members of Class 75-02 will serve as hostesses for the Officers' Wives Club (OWC) hail and farewell coffee set for 9:30 a.m., Thursday in the Officers Open Mess.

The wives of Class 74-06 will be bid farewell to some and a welcome will be extended to the newly arriving wives of Class 75-06. Class President, Mrs. Michael Walker, will serve as senior hostess and coffee chairwoman is Mrs. Charles Felton.

Also highlighting the agenda will be the presentation of contributions to representatives of 17 local charitable organizations. The largest donation will be the Chaplains' Fund. A total of $325 will be presented to that group.

Named to receive $200 will be the base nursery. The Speech and Hearing Clinic from Texas Tech University in Lubbock will receive $150 and $100 will be presented to the Texas Boys' Ranch.

Donations of $100 will also be presented to the following organizations at the event Thursday: New Life Incorporated, Great Plains Boys' Ranch, Lubbock Opportunities Industrialization Center, Big Brothers and Sisters, Alcoholic Recovery Center, Drug Crisis Center, Ballenger School, Air Force Historical Foundation and the POW-MIA Scholarship Fund.

A special request was made by Lt. Col. Clare M. O'Brien of the base hospital, and $75 be donated to a special concern in that facility. A $50 gift will go to the Humane Society. Two other $100 donations will also be made. These will go to the Presbyterian Center and the Catholic Welfare Bureau.

In all, the OWC is presenting $2,000 to these local charities. The money has been collected by the club through several functions over recent months including car washes and bake sales.

Annual 'Law Day' planned for May 1

Randolph AFB, Tex. (ATCPS) - May 1, 1974, will mark our country's 17th annual observance of "Law Day, U.S.A.," with a theme directed toward youth - "Young America, Lead The Way."

In support of this year's theme, Lt. Gen. William V. McBride, commander, Air Training Command (ATC), has asked that all Law Day observances on ATC bases include tributes to their Security Police organizations.

Selection of outstanding ATC Security Police wing, center units and noncommissioned officers for 1973 was announced.

The 3345th Security Police Squadron, Chanute AFB, Ill., captured the training center honors while Craig AFB, Ala., topped the training wing competition.

MSgt. John J. Scott Jr., Lowry AFB, Colo., and TSgt. Ronald P. Coffelt, Chanute, were named as the Security Police Outstanding Senior NCO and NCO of the Year, respectively.

Other individual honors included the selection of Capt. William J. Martin, Craig, as the outstanding Security Police Junior Officer of the year, and SSgt. Michael H. McLaughlin, Department of Security Police, Lackland AFB, Tex., as outstanding ATC Security Police First Term Airman of the Year.

Law Day has been celebrated by Presidential Proclamation since May 1, 1958. It was set aside by Congress in 1961 in a Joint Resolution as an annual day of celebration.

News Briefs

The student time line "How Goes It" board will no longer be posted. A recent change in Air Training Command procedures for monitoring student class progression deleted student time line standings.

The monthly preventive dentistry program for children will be held at the Reese Elementary School in the Cafeteria/Auditorium April 25 at 5:30 p.m. The appointments will be made at this time for children, age five and over, whose sponsor's birth month is May. The program consists of a presentation on the Prevention of Dental Disease and the completion of the necessary forms, as well as making the appointments. Attendance by at least one parent or guardian is mandatory. Attendance by children is strongly recommended, since this is primarily a family program. Questions concerning this program should be directed to the Base Dental Clinic at Ext. 2711.

The Department of Defense has directed that military and government installations conduct a records clean-out campaign in each organization between Jan. 1 and June 30. The purpose of this campaign is to dispose of, either by retirement or destruction, those records and publications not required for normal operations. Each commander at Reese, including all supervisors, will be responsible for conducting the program. It can only be successful if we have the cooperation of personnel at all levels. The Documentation Branch, Central Base Administration, is the action agency for this campaign and they should be contacted for direction and information.

A requirement exists for a captain to serve as Commander, USAF Honor Guard, Bolling AFB, Wash., D.C. The Honor Guard represents the Air Force at official functions including the arrival/departure of the president, and visiting heads of state. Due to the immediacy of the requirement, only CONUS based officers will be considered with two years time on station a mandatory requirement. Rated officers must meet all rated supplement eligibility criteria. Officers must have a superior record and outstanding military bearing. Experience in education and training (SMSO, SMSA) is desirable. Interested officers in the grade of captain only may obtain additional information by calling Autovan 487-4941/2668 and ask for Captains Mike Trodden or Herb Treger.

The recent Air Training Command Publications Bulletin has given the Reese Central Base Administration personnel and organizations a "well done" for their outstanding results in the recent ATC base inspection. The bulletin congratulated all personnel involved in the inspection areas and encouraged them to continue their fine performance.

Rec center sets design competition

The Mathis Recreation Center is conducting an interior design contest to be held April 19 through 26.

The purpose of the contest is to encourage airmen who use the center, to show what changes they would like to see in the facility. Air Training Command has recently allocated some money for the renovation of the center and in order to use the money for improvements desired by all, the center has decided to solicit ideas through the contest.

Any and all types of sketches, pictures and layout designs are welcome. The entries will be judged on originality and ingenuity, composition and design, and execution and technical ability.

Entries must reach the center by noon, April 26 to be considered in the contest. For further information about the contest, persons should contact Ken Hyde at Ext. 2787.

Air Force aids tornado disaster victims

Air Force Helps—More than 400 people from nearby Wright-Patterson AFB, Ohio, volunteered to help the town of Xenia, a suburb of Dayton, clean up after a tornado ripped through the town on April 3. (U.S. Air Force Photo)

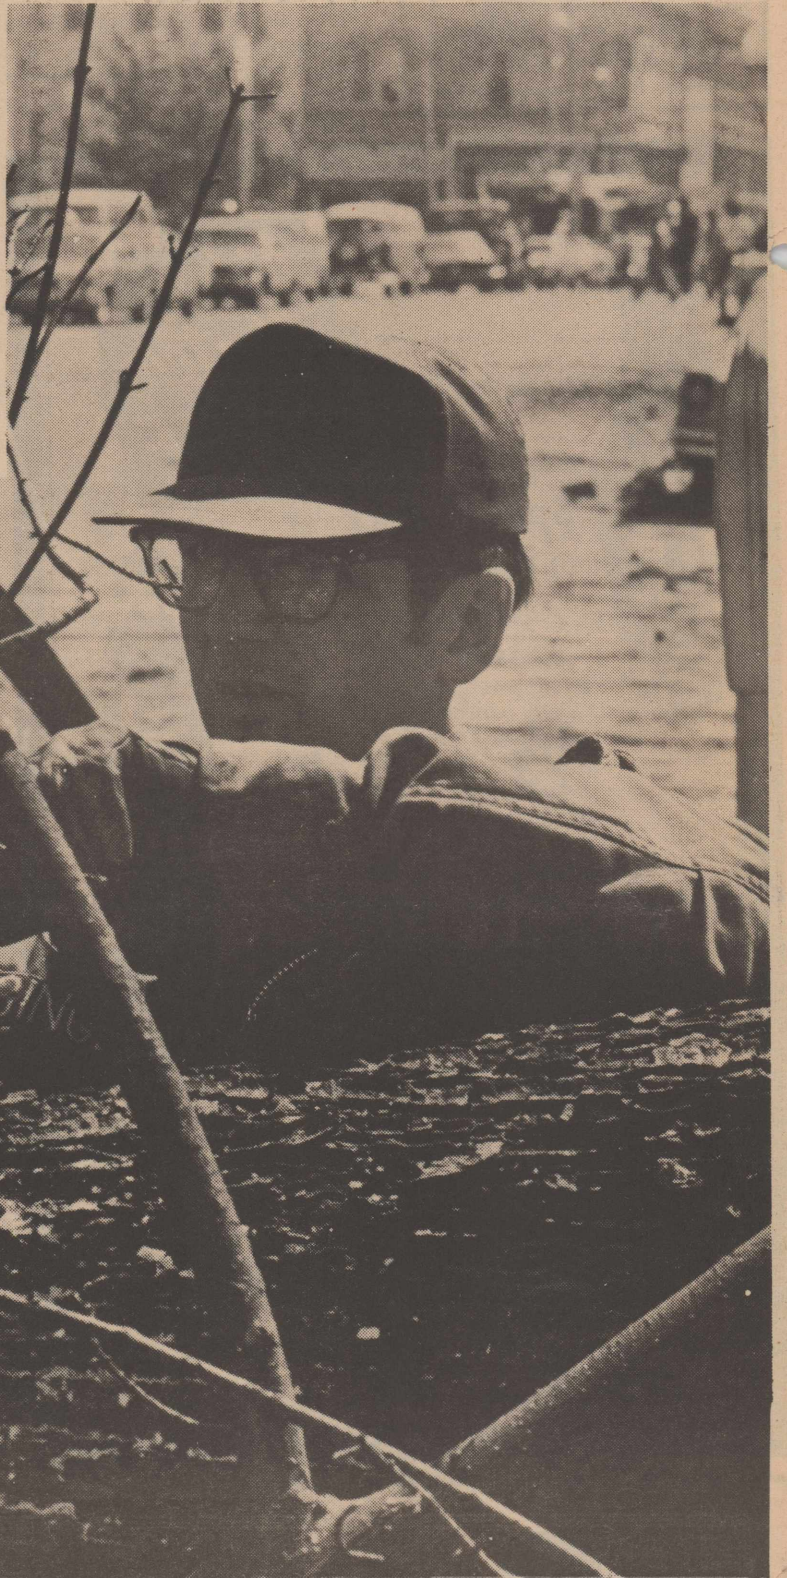

WASHINGTON (AFNS) - Air Force members joined with the other services, Reserve and National Guard forces to provide rescue and recovery aid to victims of a nine-state tornado disaster east of the Mississippi River April 3.

At Xenia, Ohio, 365 military personnel and 35 civilian employees from Wright-Patterson AFB, Ohio, provided immediate assistance to the community. The base also provided 6 light sets, 69 vehicles and 10 generators to the community, as well as opening the base hospital to 52 injured citizens and providing the services of the base blood bank to local medical authorities.

A photo reconnaissance mission was flown over the town at the request of local officials.

At Monticello, Ind., 40 Airmen from Grissom AFB, including members of a medical unit, assisted local authorities.

In addition to Regular and Reserve forces, 5,485 National Guardsmen are on state active duty in six states to provide disaster and cleanup assistance. States in which guardsmen are providing assistance include: Kentucky (1,253), Ohio (2,200), Indiana (912), Alabama (850), Tennessee (200) and West Virginia (70).

Commander discusses flying experiences

By 1st Lt. "Pete" Peterson

Last Week, Lt. Col. Richard Ingram was the guest speaker for the students of Class 75-02 in "Chopper" Flight.

Colonel Ingram took two afternoons from his schedule to discuss some of his Southeast Asia experiences in the Douglas A-1 Skyraider. He also spoke about some of the newer aircraft being put into production by the Air Force, including the B-1 and the A-10. Colonel Ingram's briefings were quite interesting and informative. Captain Griffith, C Flight commander, invites any and all interested people to sit in on these briefings.

Check Section strengthened its forces by four this week. Capt. Rick Barnett will be moving to Check Section from Bravo Flight where Capt. Tom Kindall will replace him as assistant flight commander. Capt. Steve Dunn, squadron executive officer, will also work for the "Lazy 8."

First Lt. John Swanson of "Dawg" Flight and 1st Lt. John Davis of the "Foxes" will also make the move.

New members of the 54th include Capt. Jeff Britton, assigned to D Flight. Captain Britton comes to Reese from C-141s at McGuire AFB, N.J. Capt. Paul Rowcliffe has arrived from an EB-66 assignment in Southeast Asia and Cessna T-37s at Columbus AFB, Miss. He will be assigned to C Flight. Capt. Ken Yeckley is going to A Flight. He has been flying Douglas EC-47s.

More New Faces

Instructor training at Randolph

AFB, Tex., has also presented several new instructors to the 54th. Second Lieutenants Bill Toft and Ken Feretta have arrived from Randolph after training at Laredo AFB, Tex. We would also like to welcome some old faces back from pilot training. These are Second Lieutenants Rick Morgenstern, Steve Alderman, Terry Branson and Guy Davis.

The squadron racquetball competition ended with Capt. Jeff Britton and 1st Lt. Joost VanBastalaar in the number one positions. The champs stifled the efforts of teammates Lt. Col. James Gibler and Capt. Kurt Anderson. The winners will now represent the 54th in the base tournament.

AFROTC deadline nears

The deadline for applications for the Air Force Reserve Officer Training Corps Scholarship and Commissioning Program for Airmen has been set for May 1.

The applications, which must be forwarded to the Air University for competition, offer airmen a great opportunity to not only expand their educational horizons but also to become commissioned officers in the Air Force.

Three additional fields of study, Aerospace Engineering, Astronautical Engineering and Meteorology have been combined with the other study programs to make a total of twelve fields open for three year scholarships as well as two year scholarships. Four year scholarships remain limited to cadets and candidates who qualify and volunteer for flying duty.

Assistance and information concerning the program and its requirements may be obtained by calling the Base Education Office at Ext. 2634 or 2768.

Payments go up for PCS-TDY

WASHINGTON (AFNS)
Beginning July 1, members traveling by privately owned vehicles (POV) on either a permanent change of station (PCS) or temporary duty status (TDY) will receive an increased mileage allowance as a result of a Department of Defense decision.

The increase, first in more than 20 years, will pay members eight cents per mile instead of six for a PCS move. In addition, a sponsor will receive seven cents a mile for dependents over 12 years of age on a PCS move. The present rate is six.
The present rate for dependents 2-11 years old is three cents per mile. The new rate will increase that payment by one-half cent.

There will be no limit as to the total amount of payment a member can receive for his dependents on a PCS move under the new policy, as opposed to the present 18 cents a mile limit.

Members traveling by POV on TDY status after July 1 will receive seven cents per mile, compared to the present five cents per mile standard. The current statutory seven cents per mile rate for TDY travel by POV, when it is more advantageous to the government, will remain in effect.

The new rates are contained in a change to Volume I of the Joint Travel Regulations, distributed in April.

The wing dining hall has announced the menu for this week.
The menu is subject to change without notice.

Today-Lunch will feature a seafood platter and Salisbury steak.
For supper, baked chicken and braised steaks will be served.

Tomorrow-The combination lunch-supper meal will feature meat loaf, El Rancho stew and pork loin.

Sunday-The combination lunch-supper meal will be roast beef, roast turkey and ham steaks.

Monday-Swiss steak will be served for lunch along with pork adobo. On the supper menu, baked ham and southern fried chicken will be served.

Tuesday-The lunch menu is highlighted with a roast beef and breaded pork slices while supper will feature meat loaf and barbecued beef cubes.

Wednesday-Swedish meat balls will be highlighting the serving line along with pork roast. Supper will consist of grilled ham steaks and barbecued chicken.

Thursday-Yankee pot roast is just one delicious main course available. It will be accompanied by steamship round and grilled ham steaks. Supper will feature baked polish sausage and spaghetti.

Film cassette explains promotion opportunities

Officers interested in learning more about promotion opportunity and how the Total Objective Plan for Line Officers (TOPLINE) and the proposed Defense Officer Procurement Management System (DOPMS) will affect promotions can get the latest information at the Consolidated base personnel office (CBPO) in Bldg. 815. Personnel officials encourage officers to see the latest Palace Flicks film report No.
99, "TOPLINE—Officer Force Structure."

No. 99 explains how TOPLINE is designed to stabilize and improve officer promotion and assignment opportunities. It also tells how DOPMS will affect career progression in three primary areas:
promotions, career reserve status,
and tenure for field grade officers.

In addition to the TOPLINE film, there are 74 other films in the series,
all available at the CBPO, to explain personnel programs and policies dependents.

Karting combines safety, speed in racing

By Sgt. Cal Anweiler

If you were to go up to someone and ask them to describe their image of a go-kart, you would probably end up with a description of a lawn mower engine mounted on a homemade frame with a freckled 10 year-old at the wheel putt-putting around a circular track on a Saturday afternoon.

Not too long ago, that would have been a pretty accurate description. Today, however, the image of a kart (no longer called a go-kart) has radically changed. Frame modifications, spoilers, exotic carburetors and fuel mixtures have turned the putt-putt set into a group of 100-mile per hour plus racers.

New Image

The kart is now an open-wheeled platform with front bumpers, padded (often custom made to fit the driver) seats, side fuel tanks which are capable of carrying up to 14 gallons of fuel, and an engine, or engines, mounted next to the rear wheels. They can have no longer than a 50-inch wheelbase, a 42-inch overall axle width and be no higher than 26 inches from the ground. Maximum ground clearance is 2 inches, which means that their center of gravity is extremely low. This is a big safety plus since the low center of gravity makes them almost impossible to flip over.

The modern kart is generally fitted with four wheel disc brakes and the driver is required to wear a full coverage helmet, gloves, heavy leather or vinyl jacket and full length trousers. Personal safety is not the only factor in kart racing. In order to make sure that all contestants are driving safe karts, special licensing requirements are imposed on the drivers to insure that they are experienced enough to race in a particular class.

Before they can be licensed, their karts undergo a rigorous inspection which check brakes, engines, frame and height and width specifications.

Carefully Observed

If the driver and the kart can meet the rugged specifications, they are then allowed to go into carefully regulated practice sessions, individual qualification practice sessions and a drivers meeting.

Here at Reese, Amn. David G. Sarsycki, of the 64th Organizational Maintenance Squadron, is an avid kart racer who has been in racing for the past six years. Just to show that he takes his racing seriously, Airman Sarsycki sports a shelf full of trophies he has won in kart competition. Although racing a kart is serious in nature, Airman Sarsycki says that kart racing is a lot of fun.

"Challenge!"

"Karting is a challenge to ones ability to think straight, react fast and do everything right in just a short time. When you're doing over a hundred miles an hour," says Airman Sarsycki, "you have to be aware of everything that's going on around you, the position of the other racers, your speed and the condition of the road ahead of you. When you are in something as small as a kart, even a little rock on the track can cause you to spin or lose control. I'm not worried about flipping over, but when something like that happens, you lose a lot of time and that is what a race is all about."

Compared to some other hobbies, karting is fairly economical. A beginner can get a good used kart and engine for about $250. If you just want to drive around the local track and leave the racing to the pros, you can get a kart for even less than that. But for the more adventurous, a good kart can be modified, rebuilt and readied for track competition.

Airman Sarsycki usually races in the "Enduro Class." Enduro Class racing is like a miniature version of the Monte Carlo Grand Prix, complete with winding tracks between 2 and 8 miles long, curve speeds as low as 10 mph and straightaway speeds over 100 mph.

Sunday Airman Sarsycki will once again take to the track in competition at Buffalo Springs Lake. The winding lake road and room for thousands of spectators, make the lake an ideal site for competition. Airman Sarsycki hopes that a lot of Reese residents will come out to the track this weekend to watch the race. If enough people get interested in karting, both for family recreation and racing, he might be able to set up a karting chapter.

"Its safe, economical, thrilling and above all," said Airman Sarsycki smiling, "It's just plain fun."

JET CAR?—Not quite, but it goes almost as fast. Amn. David G. Sarsycki straps into his streamlined kart as he prepares for a practice run before the karting action to be held Sunday at Buffalo Springs Lake. See story above. (U.S. Air Force Photo by Sgt. Cal Anweiler)

Dust, wind turn city into 'Pigpen'

By 1st Lt. Edward B. Hayden

After last weeks bombardment of dust, you shouldn't be surprised to hear that the City Fathers have voted to rename Lubbock after a popular "Peanuts" comic strip character. So be advised that you now live in Pigpen, Tex.

As a resident of Pigpen, you should be aware of the following precautions:

(1) Don't breathe! The Surgeon General has determined that breathing in West Texas is dangerous to your health.

(2) Don't swallow seeds. According to horticulturists, all that dirt in your stomach provides ideal conditions for growing a vegetable garden.

(3) Occupants of Reese Village beware. Your own private, indoor dust storm is waiting for you when you turn on that swamp cooler.

(4) Land buyers. . . buying land around Pigpen is risky. You can never be sure of its day to day location.

(5) Geography students - back to the books. New Mexico no longer exists and Louisiana's western border is now a 10,000 foot embankment of dust.

(6) Pilots! Before you fly, ask yourself - Am I dust qualified?

In spite of all this filth upon us and in our homes, someone is doing something about it.

Capt. Bob Chambers and his wife Patty are even losing sleep to keep their house clean. Bob and Patty's secret is to pour a lot of concentrated liquid soap in their dishwasher. They say the overflow will bubble your house clean.

New program gives good look at SAC

Randolph AFB, Tex. (ATCPS) - A new joint Air Training Command (ATC) and Strategic Air Command (SAC) program to allow ATC student and instructor pilots to view SAC in operation is being implemented.

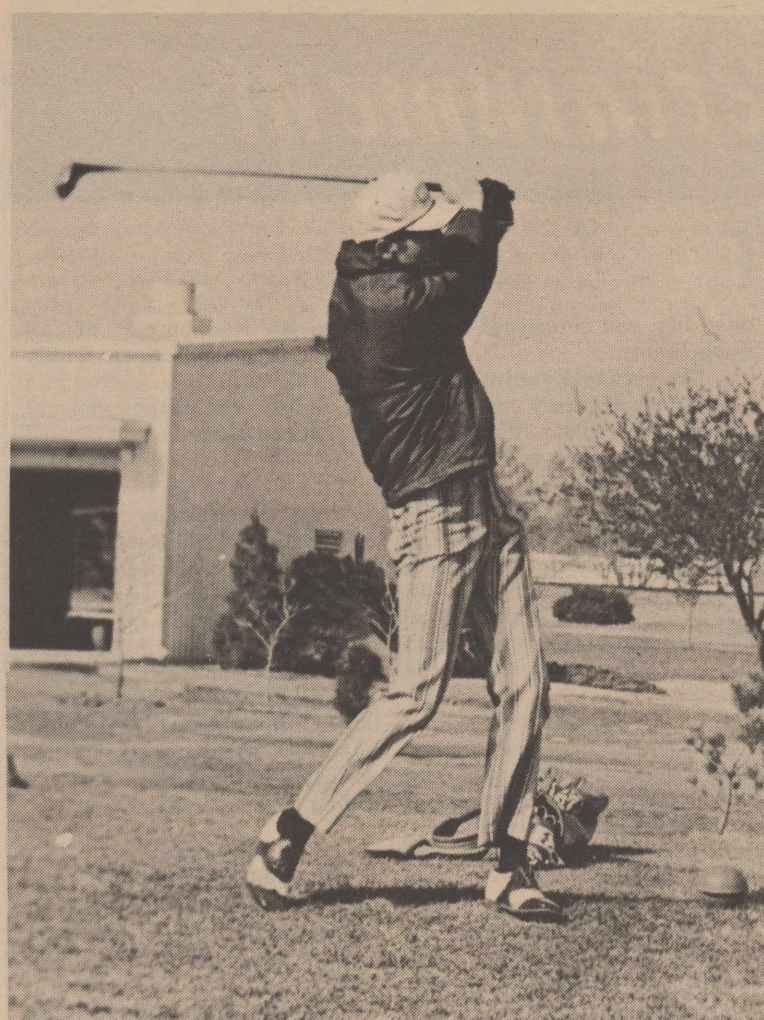

The SAC visitation program will be scheduled in conjunction with normal cross-country training flights. During these periods the instructor and student pilots will spend a weekend visiting one of the eight SAC bases around the country.

During the visit, ATC pilots will tour a SAC flightline, the Boeing B-52 Stratofortress, the Boeing KC-135 Stratotanker and a SAC alert facility.

They will be briefed on the Command's mission, the local wing's overall mission, alert activities, satellite operation, flying duties, family life and the local communities.

Included in their stay will be a tour of the base, family housing and recreational facilities. Time will also be set aside to visit any facility of special interest to the student or instructor pilot.

At least twenty-five per cent of each undergraduate pilot training class will be afforded the opportunity to participate in the intercommand visitation program.

LOOK OUT Jack Niclaus! Here comes James Nickel. Nickel was just one linksman of a group of 52 brave souls who contested the wind and dust as well as each other in the "Beat the Masters" tournament held Saturday at the base Golf Course. See story at right. (U.S. Air Force Photo by Sgt. Terry Crooks)

Golf contest slowed by wind, dust

A three-way tie for first place was the final result of the wind blown, dust hampered "Beat the Masters" tournament held Saturday at the Reese Golf Course.

Tieing for first place with equal rounds of 67 were the teams of James Tabor and Jerry Boudreau, Orville Wray and Lerry Jernigan and Tommy Pryjomski and Bill Bendele.

A two way tie captured second place in the tourney. That went to the teams of Bob Meadows and Chuck Cordon and Earl Riley and Carl Wrench. These teams shared identical scores of 69.

In all, 52 people entered the tournament and battled the elements to enjoy a round on the links. Gift certificates were awarded to the winning teams.

Artificial respiration saves lives

By Capt. David J. Donan

Some day you might have a chance to help a dead person return to life. How could this happen?

A person who has stopped breathing may not be dead. Mouth-to-mouth breathing, or artificial respiration, has saved many lives. The mouth-to-mouth technique, as well as heart massage, is easy to learn and should be known by everyone.

Although a person who has stopped breathing, or whose heart has stopped beating may not be dead, he will die if breathing and circulation stop for more than about three minutes, thus starving the brain of the oxygen it needs.

If you panic, you may make mistakes. Start respiration immediately. Here is how to apply mouth-to-mouth rebreathing:

- Turn the person on his back.
- Quickly remove any foreign matter from the mouth. Turn the head to the side and remove all obstructions with the fingers.
- Put one of your hands under the neck and the other under the chin. Pull the chin upward until the head is tilted back as far as it will go. This assures that air passages will remain open throughout the process.
- Place your mouth tightly over a small child's nose and mouth. In the case of an older child or an adult, put your mouth tightly over the victim's mouth and pinch the nostrils to prevent the leakage of air.
- Breathe into the mouth and/or nose until you see the chest expand.
- Remove your mouth and listen for the sound of returning air. If you don't hear this, recheck the victim's position of head. Again, check for any obstructions in the mouth.
- Repeat breathing. Remove your mouth from the victim's mouth and nose each time to let the air escape. For a small child take relatively small breaths and repeat about 20 times per minute. For an adult, breathe about 12 times vigorously per minute.
- Continue mouth-to-mouth breathing until the breathing begins, or for at least four hours, or until the patient is pronounced dead by a doctor.

If the victim begins to breathe on his own again, you may congratulate yourself. But do not become overconfident. Always be ready to start aiding in the breathing process again.

flick flack

More martial arts, a cartoon fantasy, policy drama and a nature documentary all help to round out the film fare this week at Simler Theater.

The base theater schedules features at 8 p.m. Tuesday through Sunday, unless otherwise noted. The special Saturday matinee begins at 2 p.m. Tickets may be obtained at the theater one half-hour before showtime.

Tonight

Jim Kelly stars as "Black Belt Jones" the instructor of a self-defense school that is threatened by the Mafia. The school, located in the heart of the Watts district in Los Angeles, comes under attack by the underworld and must be defended by Jones, his girl friend and the students of the school. It is rated R.

Saturday Matinee

"The Savage Wild" is a film documentary about man and his efforts to fit in the kingdom of nature at her unbridled best. There are breathtaking scenes of artic wolf packs, battles between the big horn sheep, giant Grizzly bears and great rainbow trout. This Grated film will be enjoyed by the whole family.

Saturday Evening

An extraordinary animated feature, "Fantastic Planet" is about a group of giants who are trying to do away with a race of tiny people who are living on the outskirts of their civilization. The cartooned nudity and violence in this PG-rated fantasy is artistically handled so as not to be offensive. Parents Magazine chose this as their "picture of the month."

Sunday

When a Los Angeles high school is rocked by a bombing, "The Police Connection" sets out to find the criminal even while the man is setting off other bombs in the city. Chuck Connors stars as the deranged bomber and Vince Edwards as the police investigator. Violence and language may offend some on this R-rated police drama.

Tuesday

Brother battles brother in this kung-fu epic, "The Sacred Knives of Vengeance." One brother is a custom's investigator and the other is a member of an underworld gang. They are finally forced to confront each other in a duel to the death. Graphic violence may offend some in this R-rated flick.

Wednesday

Roddy McDowall stars in "The Battle of the Planet of the Apes," the last film in the series of the "Planet of the Apes" saga. Finally in control of the earth after man has destroyed himself in a nuclear holocaust, the apes must do final battle with a group of mutant humans who survived the devastation. There is a surprise ending in this G-rated movie.

Thursday

"The Golden Voyage of Sinbad" returns to the screen with even more special effects than ever before. Sinbad pits his skills and talents against the mythical monsters of the past, fighting for his life and the life of a slave-girl. This movie of unique quality in special effects and excitement will entertain the entire family. It is rated G.

at Mathis

The Mathis Recreation Center has planned a full week of activities which include weekly tournaments, films and musical entertainment.

Tonight—An evening of vocal entertainment and dancing beginning at 7:30 p.m. featuring the Texas Southern Singers from the University of Texas at Austin.

Tomorrow—A pre-talent rehearsal for the forthcoming Base Talent Show will begin at 2 p.m. followed by the weekly pool tournament at 5:30 p.m.

Sunday—Get your cards out on the table for the pinochle tournament at 1 p.m. and the center table tennis tournament at 2 p.m.

Monday—This is your chance once again to get rid of those unwanted pounds with the Take Off Pounds Sensibly (TOPS) Club meeting at 6 p.m.

Tuesday—Two center activities kick off at the same time this evening. At 7 p.m. the Chinese Cooking class will start for those interested in learning the culinary ways of the east. Informational films will also be shown beginning at 7 p.m.

Wednesday—Bachelors and bachelorettes night will begin at 7 p.m. with the added attraction of free cake for the center celebration of birthday night.

Thursday—For those who aspire to the stage, the Free Theater Guild will commence their organizational meeting at 7:30

at Open Messes

The Foundation will be providing the music tonight at the NCO Open Mess to kick off this week's slate of activities.

Playing music tomorrow evening at the mess will be the Nivicos. Discotheque entertainment with Nathaniel Stowe will be featured Sunday and Thursday evenings.

The mess dining room is open from 10:30 a.m. until 1:30 p.m. and from 5 until 9 p.m., Monday through Friday. Saturdays it is open from 9 a.m. until 9 p.m. and it is closed Sundays.

Dancing to the music of "Tribe" will kick off this evenings activities at the Officer's Open Mess.

Also tonight, Undergraduate Pilot Training class 75-01 will present a floor show which promises to be one of the years highlights. Tonight is also prime rib beef night when you can get a beef dinner and a free glass of wine for just $4.95. Tomorrow night will feature the music of the Sam Baker Band beginning at 9 p.m.

Wednesday night is again steak night with a dinner of New York strip steak and a free glass of wine for only $3.95. On Thursday, the Officers Wives Club will hold a Hail and Farewell coffee in the mess at 9:30 a.m.

Balsillie earns month's top award

First Lt. David C. Balsillie has been selected as the 35th Flying Training Squadron (FTS) Instructor Pilot of the Month for March.

A graduate of Eastern Michigan University, Lieutenant Balsillie entered the Air Force in 1970 and was commissioned a second lieutenant after completion of the Officer Training School at Lackland AFB, Tex.

In nominating Lieutenant Balsillie for the honor, Lt. Col. John D. Herbert, commander of the 35th FTS said, "Lieutenant Balsillie is an outstanding officer in every respect. His skill and professional attitude as an instructor pilot, together with his compassion for others, enables him to specialize in teaching students with problems. Lieutenant Balsillie achieves an excellent rapport with his students and through patience and understanding is able to inspire them to greater effort, resulting in a better undergraduate pilot training product."

Colonel Herbert further stated, "Lieutenant Balsillie actively seeks additional responsibility. His infectious enthusiasm for every aspect of the mission, his relentless pursuit for a better way to do things and his sincere regard for all members of the flight contribute greatly to the morale of the flight.

"He has performed all major functions in the flight in a superb manner, to include the Flight Safety Officer, Publications Officer, Grade Book and Computer Officer and Flight Scheduler. Lieutenant Balsillie is also a Senior Runway Supervisory Unit Controller."

Lieutenant Balsillie has been stationed at Reese since his graduation from pilot instructors training at Randolph AFB, Tex.

Music festival big hit at Texas Tech

By Lighthouse

This past weekend, I went over to the Texas Tech campus to get in on some of the good music that was going on at the Music Festival. It started Saturday afternoon, lasted through Saturday evening with the appearance of Michael Murphy and then began again on Sunday afternoon.

Although Saturday was a little windy and chilly, Sunday more than made up for it. The weather was clear and warm and the music was some of the best boogie that I have heard for quite a while. The people were friendly, the "Kampus Kops" kept things orderly even though keeping out of sight most of the time.

If you didn't get a chance to get down there, you missed one of the finest events that's taken place in Lubbock for quite a while. This is the kind of weekend activity that the airmen of Reese should get into. It not only gives you a chance to meet new people, but also a chance to spend a weekend in the sun and getting to know our university neighbors a little better.

Speaking of music, Chicago will be coming to Lubbock for a concert on April 30, in the Lubbock Municipal Auditorium. There isn't much doubt that the tickets will go fast, so I would suggest getting hold of some pretty quick. I have seen them in concert once before and it was quite an experience. Good times should be had by all.

Last week I was talking with Sgt. Tom Sellers from the Transportation Division and he expressed a desire to be immortalized in print. I asked him if he had won any awards or been recognized for any achievement lately. He told me no. So I asked him if he had any unusual hobbies that might draw him some attention.

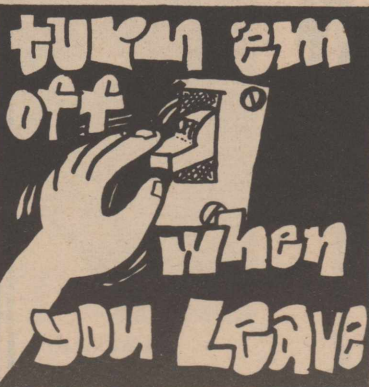

Then I asked him if there was anything unusual about his lifestyle, outside activities or aspirations that would set him apart from other people. Once again, no. Well, obviously there isn't anything unusual or newsworthy about Tom, so unfortunately I won't be able to mention you in the column. Sorry about that, Tom.

Reese to play host for annual South Plains Scout Camporee

Reese Air Force Base will be hosting the Longhorn District, South Plains Council during their Spring Scout Camporee on May 3, 4, and 5.

three bases in the United States holding a camporee this year. The other two bases hosting scouting camporees are Hanscom Field, Mass., and Griffith AFB, Ind.

Scouts, representing 15-25 troops in the South Plains area, will be present at the three day camporee. More than 300 scouts will call Reese their temporary home during the activities.

The scouts will be given a base tour, a fire fighting demonstration and meals in the base dining hall. Within the scouting ranks, there will be a scouting skills competition and a traditional all-scouts campfire.

Reese will be the only Air Force base in the Southwest to host a scouting camporee and only one of

The project officer for the camporee is 1st Lt. Dennis D. Granquist and questions concerning the camporee should be directed to him at Ext. 2873.

Ten ways the Realtor takes the worry out of home buying.

THE REALTOR SAVES YOU TIME, EFFORT AND HEADACHES. He discovers your architectural interests, learns something of your personal tastes—and tries to show you only the types of homes you want to see, within your price range.

THE REALTOR ADVISES YOU ABOUT NEIGHBORHOODS. His professional experience is invaluable to you in analyzing future trends and the potential value of your home as a long-range investment.

THE REALTOR HELPS YOU SEE THROUGH INFLATED PRICES. Owners who try to sell personally, often tend to overprice a home. But homes listed with a Realtor benefit from his knowledge of current market values.

THE REALTOR ARRANGES FOR DEFINITE INSPECTIONS. He makes appointments for your convenience. He will also see that you have plenty of time for a thorough, unhurried inspection.

THE REALTOR HELPS YOU SHARPEN YOUR VISION. He inspects homes with you, calls your attention to improvements and advantages you could overlook. And points out any disadvantages his trained eye may spot.

THE REALTOR PROVIDES YOU WITH FULL INFORMATION. He will give you essential facts about taxes, maintenance costs, quality of construction, adequacy of public services, schools, churches—even introduce you to the neighbors.

THE REALTOR ACTS AS A NEGOTIATOR. Settling of the finer points of price and other differences can get pretty hectic. Your Realtor smoothes over the details and helps buyer and seller arrive at a mutually advantageous agreement.

8

THE REALTOR HELPS YOU STAY WITHIN YOUR BUDGET. He will help you analyze your financial situation, give you sound mortgage advice. Then, if you desire, he can recommend sources of mortgage funds so you can arrange financing.

THE REALTOR HELPS YOU KNOW FINAL FACTS AND FIGURES. At the closing of the transaction, you will need a complete financial statement, giving you an exact record for insurance, tax and other purposes.

10

THE REALTOR IS PLEDGED TO SERVE YOU WELL. Display of the NAREB seal is evidence of a pledge to uphold the ideals of the Association. The term Realtor is your assurance of competence, fair treatment and integrity.

A Home is The Best Investment you can make.
Buy A Home Right Now and Pay.
Buy A Home A Year From Now
And Pay Dearly!

Prices are not going down. It's like this. The price of lumber and other building materials is going up-up. The cost of getting these things to the building site is going up. The cost of putting them together to make a home is going up. So how in the world could the price of a place to live go DOWN anytime soon? NO WAY. NOW has to be the time to buy. Interest may fluctuate some, but the inflation factor we have will more than offset this. You might as well own a home—you pay for it whether you own it or not. We have some of the finest new homes in Lubbock, and they are priced from $31,500 up. Any of our Professional Salespeople will be happy to be of service to you. No Obligation—just give us a call.

A MEANINGFUL NAME SPELLS SERVICE

NINA TRAMEL
REALTOR

The Family Affair Company is a Realty firm whose name is most appropriate! Owned and operated by Nina Tramel, assistance is given by husband Bob Tramel, a homebuilder, and even the children, Pam, 11, and Penne, 7, are intensely interested in their mother's endeavors.

Handling residential real estate only, Nina Tramel also decorates and markets the residences built by her husband. She, of course, deals in other listings.

Family Affair Company specializes in the $30,000-$50,000 home price range, but welcome listings in other price brackets, too. For our clients we have knowledgeable sales associates available at all times; they are Jackie Fry and Frances Stephens.

Nina has been active in Lubbock real estate for a number of years. She is a member of the Lubbock Board of Realtors and the Multiple Listing Service (MLS) and has served on the Board of Education Committee, the United Fund, and the Homebuilder Relations Committee of the same Board. She also is a member of Women in Construction and Lubbock Chamber of Commerce.

The Tramels attend Trinity Church, and Pam and Penne attend St. Christopher's School.

Nina's real estate business is truly a family affair, with all interested and participating. It is a great team working together!

OUT IN THE REAL WORLD YOU NEED ALL THE VOLVO YOU CAN GET.

Roads under repair. Drivers under the weather. Gas stations that don't sell gas. If you want to buy protection, buy a Volvo.

A STRONG BODY CAN PROTECT YOU FROM WEAK DRIVERS.

Volvo surrounds you with a body so strong its roof pillars have supported over eight tons. But before it gets to that, a Volvo has impact-absorbing front and rear ends.

NOT TWO-WHEEL, BUT FOUR-WHEEL DISC BRAKES.

A Volvo has disc brakes all around because they resist fading better. A Volvo also has two separate braking systems designed so that if one should fail, the other still provides about 80% of normal braking power.

INSTEAD OF A BIGGER TANK, BETTER MILEAGE.

While giving you the ample legroom of bigger cars, a Volvo gives you the gas mileage of smaller cars. Latest government figures show the Volvo 144 gets better mileage than the Gremlin.*

YOU'RE CLOSE TO BUYING A NEW VOLVO.

Our Volvo showroom is in the neighborhood.

Art of rock polishing becomes new fad

By Sgt. Jeff King

There is a place at Reese which has given new meaning to the old theme of "Rock Around the Clock." That section is the Lapidary Hobby Shop in Bldg. 340.

The new meaning is that now, instead of bee-bopping from one-two-three-and-four and some more, cut rocks are tumbling in a drum to a polished beauty then mounted in settings to be cherished for a lifetime.

Lapidary is the art of cutting and polishing rocks. The Special Services Division here is now offering this popular hobby at no charge to people authorized to use the base hobby shops. In addition to complete facilities for the rock enthusiast, the shop also offers a highly qualified instructor to assist in the process of jewelry making.

J.C. Kulm is his name and he has 25 years of professional experience as his credential. The shop also offers a variety of raw materials for the beginner and expert as well as cutters, grinders and polishers to satisfy the hobbyist from start to finish.

Special Services is also offering mountings of all types for the polished stones. Mr. Kulm also has on display several of his creations made from rolling stones, pebbles and anything else that ordinary people would just pass by or rake out of their garden.

The Lapidary Shop is open from 5:30 to 9:30 p.m., Tuesday through Friday, and from 10 a.m. to 6 p.m., Saturdays. In addition, classes are held from 6:30 to 9 p.m., Wednesday evenings. The shop is closed Sundays and Mondays.

So, the next time you are at Buffalo Lake skipping rocks across the water, put some in your pocket instead of chucking them into the drink. Then take them to the Lapidary Shop and turn them into sparkling, beautiful works of art to treasure for a lifetime.

AAFES recalls some skillets

DALLAS (AFNS) - The Army and Air Force Exchange Service (AAFES) has instructed exchanges worldwide to be on the lookout for certain electric skillets that may be dangerous.

Officials advise that General Electric (GE) lot numbers 407 through 411 of skillets may contain defective parts and pose an electric hazard.

The lot numbers are stamped on the underside of the skillets and on the cartons. Possible defective skillets have been restricted to the following models:

- * Model SK-26, 12-inch aluminum cooking surface.
- * Model SK-26AVT, 12-inch nonstick cooking surface, avocado color.

- * Model SK-27AVT, buffet skillet, nonstick surface, avocado color.
- * Model SK-27HRT, buffet skillet, nonstick cooking surface, harvest gold color.

Patrons who recently purchased a GE electric skillet should check for the lot numbers 407 through 411. Any skillet with those lot numbers should be returned immediately for a refund.

Jobs open at Randolph, Reese

The Reese Civilian Personnel Office announces that a requirement exists for a Sports/Aero Club officer in the Recreation and Facilities Section at Randolph AFB, Tex.

The position calls for a NC-11. The salary is $14,671 per year. The duty of the officer will be to develop, manage, and supervise ATC sports and aero activities. Applications must be submitted to Betty Frump in the Civilian Personnel Office by Tuesday. She may also be contacted to find out about qualifications and requirements.

Two positions are also open at the Reese Officers Open Mess. One full time position and one part time position as Day Cooks. Employees will be eligible for sick and annual leave and health and life insurance. Salary will be based on experience. Applications must be submitted to Miss Frump for this non-appropriated fund position.

Details on these job openings may be obtained by calling Ext. 2801 or by going by the Civilian Personnel Office in Bldg. T-1.
