SNOWY ELECTION DAY WEATHER created slushy and slippery conditions on Hwy. 70, causing this pickup and trailer to slide off the highway and sink deep into soggy ground in the median. Snow continued throughout the day on Tuesday with weather forecasts calling for an accumulation of 5 feet or more by Wednesday morning. Although the weather was wet and cold the voting booths were busy in Floyd County.

Bush wins--maybe Gore's concession withdrawn

Floyd County voters gave the Bush/Cheney ticket a solid victory Tuesday night--unlike other states in the Union. Congressman Mac Thornberry (R) was also easily re-elected.

As of Wednesday morning the presidential see-saw count was still up in the air. The state of Florida, which at first was called as a Gore win and then retracted, was leaning slightly to Bush.

The count in Florida, with its 25 electoral votes, was crucial to Bush and Gore. Both candidates needed the state for a solid win and both candidates were denied a clear victory.

Early Wednesday morning Vice President Al Gore had called the Bush camp and conceded the election, only to call back and rescind his concession. The vote was still to close to call.

As of Wednesday morning some news reports showed Bush only 1,700 votes ahead in Florida. Overseas military absentee votes (which did not have to be postmarked until Nov. 7) were still out. It could be days before the name of the President is announced.

In Floyd County Bush received 1,830 votes to Gore's 580. Thornberry earned 1,767 votes compared to Clinesmith's 561.

Although the weather was bitter cold with blowing snow the voter turnout was high in Floyd County. Fifty three percent (or 2,434) of the 4,623 registered voters in the county made it to the polls. Early voting was also high in the county. Of those who made it to the polls, 579 voted early.

Box 18, or the West Lockney precinct, had the highest number of voters make it to the polls on election day. Six hundred and two cast their ballots despite the ice and snow.

The next highest was Southwest Floydada, Box 1, with 551 ballots cast.

The lowest box was the Goodnight precinct, Box 17, with 22 ballots cast.

Other precincts were: East Lockney, 146 votes cast; Providence, 45; South Plains, 48; Cedar Hill, 15; Harmony, 39; Dougherty, 57; Southeast Floydada, 23; and Northeast Floydada, 24.

According to Tax Collector and Voter Registrar Penny Golightly, "There were a lot of people who thought they were registered but weren't. They had not filled out their registration card and returned it to this office. They need to get registered 30 days before they vote."

Flag Ceremony

Boy Scout Troop 357 will have a special flag ceremony for veterans at 8:30 a.m. at the Floydada Cemetery on Saturday, Nov. 11.

Veterans Day brings back memories to Arvie Newton

Lockney man part of D-Day Invasion on the beaches of Normandy

It has been 56 years since Arvie Newton landed on the beaches of Normandy. He apologizes for not being able to remember more, even though the things he does recall, quickly brings tears to his eyes. Although he says he has forgotten much, many of the memories are obviously still very fresh.

Born in Bridgeport, Texas in 1919, Arvie moved to Lockney with his family in 1933.

"My parents were farmers," said Arvie. "Although I attended Lockney High School for two years I had to quit to help my father with the farm. Things were very dry and very hard then."

When the call went out for young men to enlist, Arvie volunteered. "I enlisted Sept. 26, 1940," said Arvie. "I attained the rank of Tech Sergeant in 1945. When I left in Nov. 1945 I was a 1st Lt. Anti-Tank Unit Commander."

After Arvie enlisted he trained at Ft. Sam Houston and then moved to Camp McCoy in Wisconsin. In Oct. 1942 he was shipped to Belfast, Ireland, and then to Swansea, Wales in April 1943.

"We stayed on the ship in Swansea," said Arvie. "When we took off they gave us some French money on the ship. We knew then we were headed for France."

As part of the 9th Infantry Regiment of the 2nd Infantry Division, Arvie was lucky enough to land on Omaha Beach on D-Day Plus 1 (June 7th--the 2nd day of the Invasion of France). Much of the bombardment of the beaches was over--but the devastation was as if it had happened only moments before.

"The ships got as close as they could," said Arvie. "Then we had to climb down a rope ladder from the side onto LST's (landing ships). Once the LST was full it would start to shore and would go as far as it could before it hit the ground.

"The front of the LST would lay down and then we would wade waist deep in water to land. Once we got onto the beach we crawled uphill about 10 feet to see over the beach. Most of the German 'pill boxes' (concrete bunkers with slits) were empty. We moved on in about 100-200 yards and took cover behind a fence. We got organized until it got dark and then we advanced 1/2 mile. We stayed there until morning. We didn't know where we were or what was going on."

It didn't take long for the 2nd Division to group and advance. Campaign after campaign the division fought, won, and advanced. Almost one year after landing at Normandy the Division ended up in Plzen, Czechoslovakia, having marched and fought through 1600 miles. The men had traveled through France, Belgium, and the heart of Germany.

In 11 months the 9th Infantry engaged in the Normandy campaign, battle for Brest, battle of the Ardennes, and fought through Germany and into Czechoslovakia.

"I've been asked if I was scared while I was there," said Arvie. "I tell people I was scared once--when I got on the ship to go to Normandy. Then I'm asked how long it took me to get over the fear. I tell them I got over it when I got on the ship to come home."

Emotion fills his voice as Arvie describes the scene on the beach as the front end of the LST opened up.

"It was horrible and the saddest thing I have ever seen. I'll never forget climbing down the rope to get on the LST. There were two dead boys still in the LST. They never made it out and nobody had taken their bodies out yet. I can't tell you how that made me feel seeing them there."

In Arvie's 3rd Platoon were 32 men. Because he was in charge of the Platoon and the anti-tank gun, Arvie rode in a truck that followed the gun. We had one vehicle and one truck that pulled the gun. Everybody walked except for those with the gun."

Of course the problem with being the man with the gun is that you are the first target Germans want to hit.

"In France I remember hearing a plane come in," said Arvie. "I hollered for everyone to take cover, but there was nowhere to go. That plane flew in and strafed the road-but he missed everything. It sure made your hair stand on end."

Unlike many veterans who stayed away from the movie, Arvie says he has seen "Saving Private Ryan". "It was a great movie. They did a good job making it. Many of the places they showed that were bombed--I was there. There were only a few exaggerations in the movie. I got through the movie alright."

Everywhere the division went the men were either mopping up after devastation or right in the middle of the battle. As they advanced and everywhere they looked, lay the dead in the gardens and doorways of the Normandy villages and fields.

front of tanks to rip through the hedgerows. The hedge rippers also managed to create confusion among the Germans. "These tanks were life savers," said Arvie.

Arvie says the battle started to get easier after the "bulge". "The 82nd Airborne Division was surrounded by the Germans during the Battle of the Bulge," said Arvie. "The Germans were making their last big push and we were trying to get the 82nd out," said Arvie as he wiped tears from his eyes. "We did it. We got them out. The tide turned after that battle. It broke their back."

"It was a miracle that battle turned out like it did. The German tanks just ran out of gas. The tanks were left everywhere. If they had had the gas they would have gone all the way to the coast of France. It would have been a different story. What a terrible war--all because of one crazy man."

After the Battle of the Bulge, while in Belgium, Arvie received his Battlefield Commission.

Arvie is now very proud of a book in his possession that chronicles the combat history of the 2nd Infantry

Payne and LaFuernte are cross country state-bound

Both Jenna Payne and Jeremy LaFuernte came from behind in the Regional Cross Country Meet in Lubbock last Saturday, November 4, to qualify for the State Cross Country Meet in Round Rock Saturday, November 11, at 1 p.m.

The regional meet was held at Mae Simmons Park and the track conditions were very muddy. It was drizzling rain, but the temperature was mild and the meet was well attended.

In the girls race with about 120 runners, Jenna ran about 50 yards behind the leader, Allison Atcheley, from Panhandle, the entire race. In the last 300 yards, she began to make up the difference at the finish line and both girls leaned into the wire. Atcheley won with a time of 12:34.50, while Jenna's time was at 12:35.20 (2nd Place).

The boys race had about the same number of runners as the girls. Jeremy and Rocky Reyes both were way back in the pack throughout the race. With about half a mile to go, both Jeremy and Rocky began to move up toward the front.

Jeremy came across the finish line in 4th Place with a time of 16:49.20, while Rocky came in 15th Place.

Bits and Pieces:

Have you heard the latest from the animal rights activists?

It seems PETA (People for the Ethical Treatment of Animals) are now urging teenagers to quit drinking milk and to drink more beer.

PETA believes dairy cows are mistreated by farmers, and that milk is "loaded with fat and cholesterol", and dairy products are "contaminated with pesticides and drugs". Because of this, and because beer has no fat or cholesterol, or pesticides, or antibiotics--then you should replace milk with beer.

PETA is now giving away bottle openers shaped like beer bottles printed with: "Drink responsibly. Don't drink milk!"

A funny from the internet:

Tips for men on how they can keep from becoming a "hormone hostage" to their wives.

It is Dangerous during some times of the month to come home and ask the simple question: What's for dinner?

It is safer to ask: Can I help you with dinner?

And safest to ask: Where would you like to go for dinner?

Dangerous: Are you wearing THAT?

Safer: Gee, you look good in brown.

Safest: Wow! Look at you!

Dangerous: What are you so worked up about?

Safer: Could we be overreacting?

Safest: Here's fifty dollars.

Dangerous: Should you be eating that?

Safest: Can I get you a glass of wine with that?

Dangerous: What did you DO all day?

Safer: I hope you didn't over do it today.

Safest: I've always loved you in that robe.

Texas Inabox.com announces winners in promotional contest

Today TexasInaBox.Com announced the winners of over $500 in prizes in its postcard contest to promote TexasInaBox.Com outside of Texas. Contestants entered the drawing for prizes by addressing a postcard to someone living outside the state of Texas. The message, "Hungry for Texas?" and the TexasInaBox.Com logo were on the front of the postcard.

When asked about how effective the promotion has been, David Carr, president of TexasInaBox.Com said, "We had great response from Floyd County residents. We just started mailing out postcards two weeks ago, and we've already received a large number of web site hits and several orders based on the promotion."

Contestants were given one entry for every valid postcard they returned to a contest location. A drawing was held at TexasInaBox.Com headquarters to choose the winners. Winners are:

*$250 cash prize, Beverly Collins of Floydada.

*Pair of boots from Hale's Department Store, Virginia Taylor of Lockney.

*TexasInaBox.Com polo shirt from Kaleidoscope, Fud Robertson of Petersburg.

*Haircut from Vicki's Kustom Kuts, Elayne Reid of Floydada.

*Hesperian-Beacon subscription, Lou Bureson of Floydada.

*$25 TexasInaBox.Com gift certificate Carol Reese and Darlenda Marquis both of Floydada.

Winners may stop by the TexasInaBox.Com headquarters at 124 W. California in Floydada to claim their prize.

In summary, Carr stated, "We want to thank all the residents of Floyd County and the South Plains who sent a postcard on our behalf. We also want to thank the local merchants who donated counter space and merchandise for the contest. This type of community support is why I located this business in Floyd County."

TexasInaBox.Com sells tasty Texas foods, including mesquite-smoked beef brisket, pork ribs, and German sausage, as well as complete meals and Texas theme gift baskets, to customers across the United States. Division. Although he has no personal pictures, his book is full of pictures of the Infantry campaigns. In the back are the names of the 2,999 men killed in action out of the 2nd Division.

The book gives the statistics for the 5 campaigns, stating the Division was in combat for 337 days--320 days in contact with the enemy. The longest period the men were continuously in combat was 209 days.

They traveled 1,750 miles in combat and captured 70,307 prisoners. Battle casualties were 15,066 which included: 2,999 killed in action, 109 Missing In Action, 10,924 wounded, and 1,034 taken prisoner.

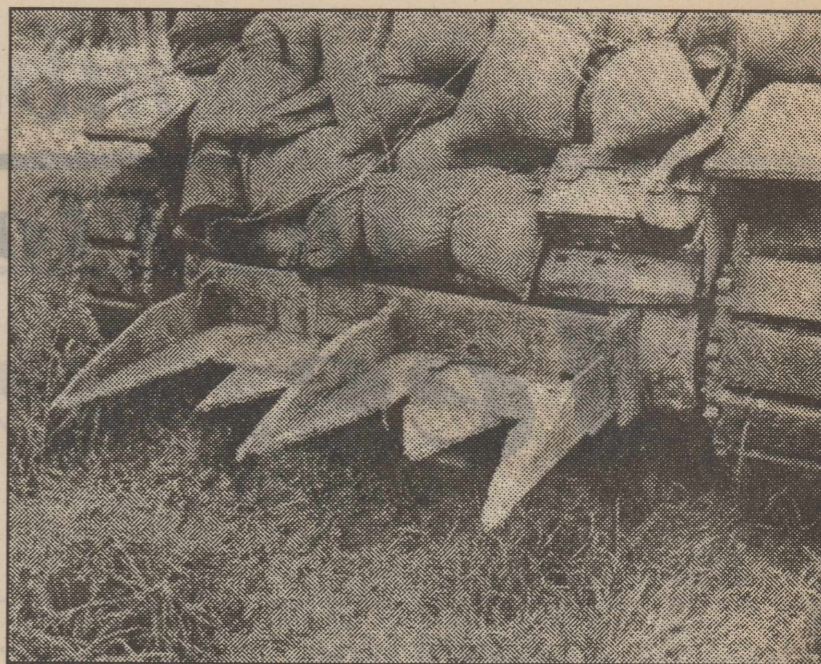

Arvie came back to Lockney in 1945, having served 24 months and earning: the Bronze Star Medal, the Combat Infantry Badge, the European African Middle Eastern Theater Ribbon with 5 campaign stars, the American Defense Ribbon, The Good Conduct Medal, and a Certificate of Merit. When he came home Arvie went to work for D.L. Handley, driving trucks and setting irrigation pumps. "The farming scene had changed when I came back," laughed Arvie. "We had water coming out of the ground!"

He married his wife, Gene, in 1962 and the couple still reside in Lockney.

Arvie says he plans on attending a special Veterans Day ceremony being planned by the Lockney High School on Thursday. It is his hope that people will not be allowed to forget the price that was paid for the life they now lead.

"We won't ever have another war like WWII," said Arvie. "Another world war like that would be our last. People have to remember."

The Story of Taps

According to the Veterans Affairs Web site, the 24-note melancholy bugle call known as "taps" is thought to be a revision of a French bugle signal, called "tattoo," that notified soldiers to cease an evening's drinking and return to their garrisons. It was sounded an hour before the final bugle call to end the day by extinguishing fires and lights. The last five measures of the tattoo resemble taps.

The word "taps" is a alteration of the obsolete word "taptoe," derived from the Dutch "taptoe." Taptoe was the command - "Tap toe!" - to shut ("toe to") the "tap" of a keg.

The revision that gave us present-day taps was made during American Civil War by Union Gen. Daniel Adams Butterfield, heading a brigade camped at Harrison Landing, Va., near Richmond. Up to that time, the U.S. Army's infantry call to end the day was the French final call, "L'Extinction des feux." Gen. Butterfield decided the "lights out" music was too formal to signal the day's end. One day in July 1862 he recalled the tattoo music and hummed a version of it to an aide, who wrote it down in music. Butterfield then asked the brigade bugler, Oliver W. Norton, to play the notes and, after listening, lengthened and shortened them while keeping his original melody.

He ordered Norton to play this new call at the end of each day thereafter, instead of the regulation call. The music was heard and appreciated by other brigades, who asked for copies and adopted this bugle call. It was even adopted by Confederate buglers.

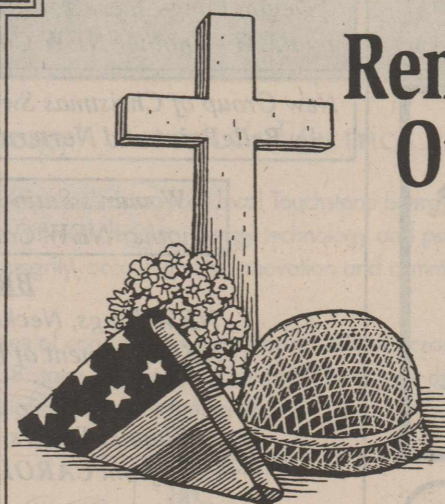

This music was made the official Army bugle call after the war, but not given the names "taps" until 1874.

The first time taps was played at a military funeral may also have been in Virginia soon after Butterfield composed it. Union Capt. John Tidball, head of an artillery battery, ordered it played for the burial of a cannoner killed in action. Not wanting to reveal the battery's position in the woods to the enemy nearby, Tidball substituted taps for the traditional three rifle volleys fired over the grave. Taps was played at the funeral of Confederate Gen. Stonewall Jackson 10 months after it was composed. Army infantry regulations by 1891 required taps to be played at military funeral ceremonies.

Taps now is played by the military at burial and memorial services, to accompany the lowering of the flag and to signal the "lights out" command at day's end.

Words To Taps

*Day is done
Gone the sun
From the lakes
From the hills
From the sky
All is well,
Safely rest.
God is nigh.
Fading light
Dims the sight
And a star
Gems the sky,
Gleaming bright
From afar,
Drawing nigh,
Falls the night.
Thanks and praise,
For our days,
Neath the sun,
Neath the stars,
Neath the sky,
As we go,
This we know,
God is nigh.*

Remembering Our Fallen Heroes

Veterans Day
November 11th

We remember those who served with honor and courage, and remember those who gave their lives to defend our freedom. May we never take for granted the important contribution these brave men and women have made to this great nation.

We have had a wonderful week at the center. We had a good turn out for "Pot Luck" Thursday night. Thersa and Jimmy Stennett are getting older as they are grandparents again. Their son Mike and wife have had their second child, another girl. Thersa Stennett, Gail Scott and Gene Newton went to visit Lois Duncan last Wednesday and were able to play a little 42. All enjoyed visiting.

They say old man winter is going to move in, so bundle up when going out. Our sympathy goes out to the Leonard Strickland and Les Ferguson family on their loss of loved ones. MEMORIALS FOR OCTOBER

Perfect turkey just in time for Thanksgiving

By Jennifer Piazza
Tired of the same old baked turkey at Thanksgiving every year? With this holiday right around the corner, Dr. Sarah Birkhold, poultry specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, said deep-frying your turkey may be one alternative. First, she said, choose your bird. A high quality 8- to 11-pound turkey is ideal for deep-frying, or chickens or quail can also be cooked. "You can deep fry just about anything," she said. The most important point to remember is to remove the giblets - located under the flap of skin at the front of the turkey - from the body cavity before cooking, she said. Trim the skin flap to allow good oil flow through the bird. Equipment needed is a propane burner and a cooking pot large enough to hold the turkey and oil. The amount of cooking oil depends on the size of the pot. A wire basket for the fryer, or a wire wrapped around the legs and a dowel, will help with the removal of the bird after cooking. "As far as seasonings, you can use whatever you like. Anything from making your own to buying the seasons is fine," Birkhold said. A heavy rub can be applied to the bird, both inside and outside.

Marinades also can be injected into the muscle before cooking. When cooking, oil should be heated to 375-390 degrees F before lowering the bird into it. Once the bird is immersed, the oil temperature should drop to 350 degrees. "You can use a thermometer to get the temperature right," she said. Also, using a timer will help ensure the turkey is done. A turkey should fry 3.5 minutes per pound. For example, a 10-pound bird will need to be cooked for 35 minutes at 358 degrees F. If the oil gets to 375 degrees F, cooking time may be reduced to 2.5 to 3 minutes per pound, she added. "If you cook this right, it won't be greasy," Birkhold said. Birkhold had a few words of caution going out to anyone using the frying method of cooking. "When preparing food in hot oil, particular attention should be paid," she said. Adults should be careful to avoid spilling or spashing the oil onto themselves or others. Children and pets should not be allowed near the hot oil. When cooking is complete, carefully remove the bird from the oil and drain on a clean platter. When carving meat, make certain it is completely cooked. All juices should run clear, with no blood.

Girl Scouts name Women of Distinction

LOCAL MUSICIAN PERFORMS WITH RAY PRICE--Lucy Dean Record, of Lockney, has a reputation for being able to pick up and improvise in any situation. It was her reputation as an excellent pianist that earned her a telephone call, Oct. 21st., to fill in for Ray Price's piano player Blondie Calderon. Calderon suffered a heart attack before Price and his band were scheduled to play for the Turkey Heritage Foundation. Record received only 2 hours notice and had only a short practice session with the band. "They were very gracious to me," said Record. "I was very humbled to have the privilege to play with the Ray Price Band, but under the circumstances I would have rather been in the audience listening. The members of the band were very worried about their friend, Blondie, and so was I." Calderon died Monday night, Oct. 23rd at Methodist Hospital.

Whirlwind Sams

By Darlynn Hambright
The Whirlwind Sam's business meeting was called to order by president, Don Chessir, November 6th at Lighthouse Electric Community Room. Invocation was led by Boone Adams. Celebrating a birthday this month is Dr. Harold Temple, Jerry Livingston, Dahlia Russell, Fred Thaxton and Glenda Livingston. Fred and Yvonne Thaxton will celebrate their 55th wedding anniversary. "Happy Birthday" and "Happy Anniversary" was sung and led by Jo Payne.

and Nancy Mayo, Jerry and Glenda Livingston, John and Christene Lyles, Jack and Dianne Mayfield, Mac and Marge McElyea, Harold and Charlene Norrell, Dr. Keith and June Patzer, Herb and Esther Wallace, Hollis and Jo Payne, Louis and Virginia Pyle, and Dr. Harold Reese. "Happy Trails" was sung and led by Jo Payne to adjourn the meeting.

Carol Huggins, of Lockney, and Glenda Wilson, of Floydada will be honored as the Women of Distinction by the Girl Scouts at an awards dinner, Dec. 7th.

The Girl Scouts of Caprock Council and University Medical Center will host the 8th annual Women of Distinction Awards Dinner, at 6:30 p.m. in the University Medical Center's McInturff Conference Center in Lubbock.

Born and raised in Lockney, Carol Huggins graduated from Lockney High School in 1970. She then attended Lubbock Christian College where she earned an Associate of Science degree in Medical Assisting. In addition to positions with MHMR in Plainview and Mangold Memorial Hospital in Lockney, Carol has served as a teacher's assistant in Special Education at Lockney Elementary School for a total of ten years.

Carol is a lifelong member of Main Street Church of Christ in Lockney, where she has taught Bible classes and worked with vacation Bible school during the summer as well as a member of Lockney Band Boosters for five years, currently serving as president. Carol was a member of Girl Scouts as a youth, participating in the program with her mother who served as her troop leader. Following her mother's example, Carol has been a Girl Scout leader for 11 years with her daughter's troop. Two girls in her troop earned their Silver Awards and both also traveled to Europe during the summer of 1999 on a Wider-Opportunity experience. Currently, Carol has three girls in her troop who are working on Gold Awards and are also co-leaders of younger Girl Scout troops.

Carol has been married to Jim Huggins for 22 years and the couple have two children: Danny, a freshman at Angelo State University and Melanie, a junior at Lockney High School. Her parents are Annabel Bramlet and the late Wayne Bramlet of Lockney.

Originally from Plainview, Glenda Wilson first joined Girl Scouts as a Brownie along with her twin sister. Glenda carried her service to the Girl Scout program into her adult years, providing leadership to her daughter's troop in various capacities. Her devotion to the program continued even though her daughters were grown as Glenda provided administrative and management skills as well as years of experience in Girl Scouting to the

GLENDA WILSON

Caprock Council executive board for three years.

Described as "low-key" and a "team player", Glenda is active in community, church and civic activities. She has worked for the American Cancer Society for many years, currently serving as board treasurer and playing an instrumental role in the annual Christmas Brunch and fundraiser. In addition, Glenda has served as a member of the City of Floydada's Planning and Zoning Commission since 1996 as well as the Floydada Chamber of Commerce board of directors. Glenda was also active with Floydada Band Boosters serving with her husband as president. A member of the First Baptist Church of Floydada, Glenda is known as someone who is "quick to volunteer" whenever needed.

Ms. Wilson is Vice President and Cashier with First National Bank of Floydada beginning her career in 1973. She has taken advantage of numerous educational opportunities related to her career including graduation from Bank Operations Program early in her career in addition to Compliance Management School in 1994, Texas Tech University Banking School in 1996-1997 and Internal Audit School in 1998.

Glenda and her husband Dwayne have been married for 37 years and have two grown daughters, Christine and Diana. The couple are also proud grandparents of a grandson and granddaughter.

Each honoree will receive a special award designed exclusively for Women of Distinction by artist and sculptor Kenneth Wyatt. Keynote speaker for the event will be Jackie Barnes, retired Navy Admiral and Deputy National Executive Director of GSUSA.

Ms. Barnes retired after a 29-year career in the United States Navy, attaining the rank of Rear Admiral. As one of the first women assigned to serve aboard ships early in her career, Jackie helped implement the program designed to smooth the transition of women serving at sea. She most recently served as the senior U.S. military representative to the Northern Atlantic Treaty Organization (NATO) for the Committee on Women in the Military. In her most recent assignment, as Director of On Site Inspection for the Defense Threat Reduction Agency in Dulles, VA, she led a team of over 650 people charged with implementing all U.S. Arms Control Treaties and Agreements in over 50 nations throughout the world.

Girl Scouts of Caprock Council have presented this prestigious award since 1993. Proceeds benefit Girl Scout programs such as the Women of Distinction Scholarship Fund with two $1000 and two $500 scholarships presented in 2000. The Women of Distinction award identifies and recognizes women throughout the eighteen-county area served by Girl Scouts of Caprock Council. Nominations were sent to area civic, religious and community organizations across the South Plains and recipients were chosen following a difficult and lengthy review process. Honorees exemplify the Girl Scout Promise and Law and are outstanding role models for young women.

It's not too late to play a pivotal role in supporting the Women of Distinction Awards Dinner with sponsorship levels beginning at $50 and ticket prices set at $30 each until November 20th. For further information on opportunities to provide financial support for the event or to purchase tickets for the evenings festivities contact the Girl Scouts of Caprock Council at 745 2855.

Hale Center rallies to edge Whirlwinds in overtime

By Bill Gray
In one of the most exciting games of this, or any other year, Hale Center scored on its final play in the first overtime period to defeat Floydada 19-16 at Wester Field last week.

It was the third time this season that the Owls had faced an overtime situation, and their experience paid off - to the disappointment of the Whirlwind faithful in a dismal and damp final home game of the year.

The Whirlwinds travel to Olton this week for a battle to see who stays out of the District 5-2A cellar. Hale Center completed its season with an overall record of 5-5 (3-3 and a fourth-place finish in District 5-2A).

The visiting Owls wasted little time in getting on the board. A 55-yard run on the first play from scrimmage by Willie Joe Johnson was followed by Joe Solis' 1-yard blast into the Whirlwind end zone. Solis added the conversion and the Owls appeared to be solidly in command. However, Floydada, with a revamped offense (featuring Brandon Marler at quarterback and Dustin Covington at fullback) fought back.

The Whirlwinds mounted a 67-yard drive, which took almost 8 minutes off the 2nd-quarter clock, to score on a 1-yard keep by Marler. Tyler Helms added the point to deadlock the score at 7-all going into the halftime intermission. Dustin Covington, who led both teams with tackles with 10, recovered a Hale Center fumble late in the second period, but the Whirlwinds were unable to capitalize on the miscue.

Edward Porter's 27-yard return of the 2nd-half kickoff gave the Whirlwinds excellent field position at their own 46-yard line. A holding penalty against Floydada was offset by Covington's 11-yard run, which was made possible by a devastating block by Jacob Morales. A 15-yard face mask penalty was called against Hale Center, helping keep the scoring thrust alive. When the drive bogged down at the Hale Center 7-yard line, Helms was called on to attempt the first field goal of his varsity career. Not only was his 25-yard attempt good, but it had plenty of room to spare and put the Whirlwinds back on top 10-7.

Hale Center responded with a 9-play, 54-yard scoring drive to end the third quarter. Quarterback Jacob Rieff carried over from one yard out to cap the drive and put the Owls back into the lead 13-10 at the end of the period. Ed Porter's nifty 34-yard return of the ensuing kickoff again gave the 'Winds good position near midfield to start the final period in regulation.

Marler opened the fourth quarter with a 3rd-down-conversion pass of 25 yards to Helms for a key first down at the Hale Center 31-yard line. Following an 18-yard scamper by Porter, the 'Winds were flagged for illegal procedure. That penalty and an 8-yard sack of Marler once again thwarted Floydada's scoring drive. Helms was called upon for a field goal attempt, and again his 25-yarder was true, knotting the score at 13-all with less than 7 minutes remaining.

The Owls had one last opportunity to pull out the victory in regulation as they mounted a 66-yard drive in the game's waning moments. Willie Joe Johnson's running accounted for 44 yards and a key 4th-down pass completion by Rieff to Nathan Morales positioned the visitors for a last second victory. However, Tyler Helms displayed his versatility with a hard hit, in the end zone, to break up a certain game-winning TD pass to Morales. As time expired with the score tied at 13-all, Joe Solis' 28-yard field goal attempt was short and wide left, sending the game into overtime.

The Whirlwinds won the coin flip, and started their possession in the overtime period at the 25-yard line. Runs by Covington, Marler and Porter failed to gain a first down, and Helms was brought on to attempt his third field goal of the night. He hit the 35-yarder with plenty of room to spare to give Floydada a 16-13 lead. Then it was the Owls' opportunity to attempt to pull out their second overtime win of the year.

Johnson's 11-yard scamper on the first play gained a first down to the 14-yard line, but the Owls were flagged for a holding infraction on their next play. Additional runs by Johnson set up the game-clincher on fourth down from the 11-yard line. Floydada double-covered Jamallh Clark as a push to the back of defender Brandon Marler went undetected by the game officials. With Clark well-covered, Qwl quarterback Jacob Rieff lobbed the game-winning pass to Joseph Bernal, who had managed to get open in the east corner of the south end zone.

Floydada Coach Lee Hurt commented, "We had exactly the defense we wanted on that last play. There was a 'pic' on Marler that kind of set things up for them, but they made the play happen...you can't take that away from them. We were disappointed with the outcome, but were very pleased with our overall effort. After their opening drive for a quick score, we settled down and played well - both offensively and defensively. We kept our offense on the field for a couple of long drives that kept the ball away from them and helped us control the clock. "The coach added, "Our kicking game gave us the chance to win in regulation as well as the overtime... we are sure proud of their efforts and their improvements."

The Whirlwinds travel to Olton tomorrow night to close out the 2000 grid campaign. According to Coach Hurt, "Olton lost to Hale Center in overtime with almost the same play and circumstances, so we better be ready to play. "Olton's overall record is better than Floydada's at 3-6. It will be a battle to see who is able to escape District 5-2A's cellar. Floydada doesn't have many seniors making their final appearances at Olton, but the four who will be playing (Tyrel Fuller, Jermaine Wickware, Sam Holmes and Marcus Riojas) have contributed much during their careers as Whirlwinds. One senior, Austin Campbell, hasn't been able to play for most of the season due to a knee injury.

It would be a fitting tribute to Floydada's seniors to go out on a winning note against the Mustangs, but a victory over there will not be easy. Olton's record is somewhat misleading as the Mustangs returned 21 lettermen this season, with 12 seniors and 9 juniors on the roster. Due to so many underclassmen, the Whirlwinds are an off-season and next year's two-days away from getting back into playoff contention. Tomorrow should be the start of the Whirlwinds' turnaround. A good following of Floydada faithful will be a big boost.

BILL'S NOTES: The loss to Hale Center was hard to take because the 'Winds played one of their best and most complete games of the year. They need to take this momentum of solid play into the last game against Olton and close the season on a positive note.

CODY STOVALL

Stovall honored at WTA&M

West Texas A&M University honored approximately 75 student athletes on Sunday October 1, 2000, at the Alumni Breakfast of Champions, held at the Alumni Banquet Hall on the WT campus.

Cody Stovall of Floydada was one of fifteen WT football players honored at the breakfast for their academic and athletic achievements.

Cody is a sophomore majoring in Business marketing. He went to WT last year after graduating from Floydada High School to pursue his degree in business and to play football. Cody received a football scholarship this year after redshirting in football last year. He is starting on special teams for the Buffaloes and is also getting some action as a defensive cornerback.

Floydada Breezers close out season with wins over Hale Center's teams

By Bill Gray

Floydada's 7th and 8th Grade Breezers closed out their 2000 football season in grand fashion by winning both games against Hale Center's junior high squads. The 7th Breezers opened their game with an impressive 61-yard scoring drive, which was set up by Chris Briones' 28-yard return of the opening kickoff.

Floydada's opening drive started at the visitors' 39-yard line and was highlighted by runs of 6, 16, 4 and 2 yards, respectively. Quarterback Trey Helms (who would complete 7 of 11 passes for 52 yards) lofted a pass to Oscar Garza for a 30-yard, catch-and-run touchdown to cap the scoring drive. Helms then picked up a bad snap on the ground during the conversion-kick attempt and tossed it to a wide-open Justin Duran for the conversion. The two-point conversion was the difference in the 8-6 Floydada victory.

Newcomer Michael Fortenberry made his presence known on defense during Hale Center's ensuing series following Floydada's score. Fortenberry, who has recently transferred to Floydada from Plainview, joined the Breezers last week and quickly picked up the Breezers' defensive schemes. Other good defensive plays were turned in by Tyler Chesshir, Jacob Reddy and Helms in the second quarter. The Breezers were denied a touchdown in the final seconds before halftime when an apparent Hale Center offside was a "no call" by the game officials. Time ran out on the Breezers before they could score from within the visitor's 2-yard line in the final ticks of the second quarter. Due to the closeness of the game, this snafu could have cost the Breezers the victory.

Summing up the win, Coach Blake Eddleman said, "I felt like this was our best overall performance on offense, defense and special teams. I am really proud of the team's efforts this year. I definitely think that progress was made toward a solid foundation for the 2001 season. "Named by the coaches as outstanding offensive players of the game were Trey Helms, Chris Briones, Jacob Reddy and Oscar Garza. The outstanding defensive players were Tyler Chesshir, T. J. Collins, and Michael Fortenberry.

The 8th Grade Breezers successfully closed the season with a 13-6 victory over Hale Center's 8th Graders. It was a defensive struggle from start to finish. Quarterback Luke Miller broke a 6-6 tie in the final six minutes of the fourth quarter by hitting Isidro Segura with a 16-yard TD toss. Segura then added the kicked conversion for the final winning margin. The coaches were very pleased with the progress made by the team, collectively, throughout the year, and were very encouraged by the improvements made by several players individually. The coaches feel that the quality of play by the end of the season will be a large factor in the success of a ninth grade team for next year. According to Head Coach Lee Hurt, Floydada hopes to field a ninth grade team next year - apart from the junior varsity. The number of players out for 8th grade football was up this year as over 40 players were on the roster.

Named as outstanding offensive players in the season finale against Hale Center were Andrew Cavazos, Ty HeJ7in, Isidro Segura and Danial Houchin. The coaches named Mateo Delgado, B. J. Chappell, Faustino Chairez and Luke Miller as having outstanding defensive performances.

Lockney Longhorns fall to Friona

By Russell Harris

Trouble for the Longhorns began even before the game. The game began with a dark score board. It wasn't until around midway through the first quarter that school officials and others worked out the kinks. The weather conditions that caused problems with the score board later created havoc for the ball carriers for Lockney and Friona.

Friona won the toss and elected to defer to the second half. Lockney returned the opening kickoff to their fifteen-yard line. They weren't able to move the ball on their first three downs and were forced to punt the ball from their own endzone. Ben Sherman, punting for the injured punter Mo Collins, took the deep snap but was unable to hold on to the wet ball. He recovered the ball and ran it out to the three-yard line.

Friona had the ball first and goal on the Lockney three-yard line. On first down, the Longhorn defense stuffed Nathan Hale for a one-yard loss. They weren't able to contain him on second down however. Hale scored on a four-yard carry. Jose Pina made it a 7-0 lead with his extra point kick.

Lockney's field position was a little better on their second possession. They began their second drive from their twenty-one-yard line. They could only move the ball four yards in three downs and were forced to punt once more.

Following Kelsey Hooten's twenty-five-yard punt, Friona took up shop forty-five-yards from Lockney's endzone. Adam Bandy and Cason White had big runs for Friona on their way to their second touchdown of the first quarter. The extra point kick was good. The Chieftains led 14-0 with 51 seconds remaining in the first quarter.

Lockney again was forced to punt on their third possession on a drive that began at their sixteen-yard line. An illegal procedure penalty moved the horns back to their own ten. Kelsey Hooten got off a good punt. The ball rolled to the Friona thirty-five-yard line. The fifty-five-yard punt moved the ball into Friona territory for the first time in the game, coming at the 11:14 mark of the second quarter.

The Lockney defense stopped Friona on their third possession, forcing them to punt. However, Friona found the endzone once more in the first half. On the Chieftain's fourth possession of the game, Matthew Mata scored on a twenty-yard run. The extra point attempt was blocked by the Horns, making their lead 20-0 at the half.

Lockney kicked the ball off to Friona to start the second half. They needed a stop. It was not to come. Nathan Hale got loose and ran for forty-two yards for the score. Again, the Longhorns blocked the extra point attempt. The Chieftains stretched their lead to 26-0 at the 9:51 mark of the third quarter.

Lockney returned the ensuing kickoff to the thirty-one-yard line, giving them their best starting field position of the evening. They took advantage of the opportunity. Chase Graves, Chas Westbrook, Tyler Bybee and Chad Johnson all lent a hand on a sixty-nine-yard drive for the score. Chase Graves carried the ball for the eleven-yard touchdown run. The extra point attempt failed. Lockney cut the lead to twenty. The score was 26-6.

Jeremy Butler teed up the ball and booted it deep into Friona's end of the field. Nathan Hale returned the ball from his sixteen to his thirty-yard line.

There, he met Chad Johnson. Chad's bone jarring tackle jarred the ball loose as well. Lockney then had the ball on Friona's thirty-yard line.

Chas Westbrook, Ullis Martinez and Kelsey Hooten took turns carrying the ball for a collective eight yards. On fourth and two, Chase Graves found a lane and scampered for the twenty-two yard score. Friona's lead shrank in half in a one-minute and twelve-second period.

Lockney wasn't able to close the gap any closer. Three of their next four possessions ended with a fumble. The Chieftains scored once more to make the final score 34-13.

Lockney has a chance to secure the second place spot in the district with a win in Abernathy Friday night. They have already secured a playoff spot and will play either Spearman or Canadian in the first round of the playoffs.

Lockney Jr. High boys Cross Country team win 4 in a row - 4th at district

By Coach Schumacher

The Lockney Jr. High boys Cross Country Team finished off a great season Tuesday, October 17, 2000, with the District Cross Country Meet at Abernathy.

The team consisting of members Hagan Johnson, Trey Graves, Mark Ford, Cagan Cummings, Lee Fortenberry, Monte Lass, J.W. McPherson and Rance Schumacher had one of the best seasons in the history of Jr. High Cross Country.

The team won 4 out of 5 regular meets that they attended throughout the season. Those meets include Olton, Abernathy, Petersburg, and Floydada.

Tuesday the Shorthorns slipped to let Morton take the number 1 spot in District 5AA while Lockney pulled in second. Abernathy finished 3rd in the team scoring.

In individual scoring Hagan Johnson captured the 5th place ribbon with a time of 12:02. Trey Graves placed 7th with a time of 12:05. Monte Lass came in 12th with a time of 12:58, Lee Fortenberry 13th with a time of 12:38, Mark Ford 14th in 12:48, Cagan Cummings 15th in 12:52 and J.W. McPherson ran a 14:43. Rance Schumacher wasn't able to participate due to a separated shoulder that he encountered in football practice the day before the meet.

Longhorns and Lady Horns compete in Cross Country competition

By Coach Schumacher

The Lockney Longhorn Boys Cross Country team missed advancing to Regional competition by 4 points on October 24th.

The District 5AA meet was held in Lubbock at Mae Simons Park. The varsity boys team consisting of members Cody Lass, Manuel Ramirez, Paul Amador, Jacob Ortegón, Kevin Hernandez, Abel Rodriguez, and Will O'Connell placed 5 behind 1st place Olton (63 points), 2nd place Friona (63 point), 3rd place Floydada (102 points) and 4th place Hale Center (105 points)

Facing much adversity throughout the season two returning letterman Wade Miller and Brandon Alvis were unable to compete due to ankle and foot injuries. Heading into District competition the Longhorns finished 3rd at the Floydada meet a week and a half prior to October 24th but was unable to come up with the 4 extra points needed to advance the team to Regional competition.

The Lady Horns Varsity Cross Country team finished 7th.

Team members included Cammy Lass, Mary Cruz Ramirez, Laci Schumacher, Britta McDonald, and Jalee Dietrich.

The young team consisting of Freshmen and Sophomores worked hard throughout the season.

The JV Boys Cross Country team did very well this year.

This team consisted of 4 boys, Chano Naranjo, Kirk Wilson, Ullis Martinez, and Will O'Connell. In order to enter a meet as a team you must have 5 runners so they were entered in each meet as individual runners.

In the District Meet out 10 entered Chano Naranjo placed 1st with a time of 20:14, Kirk Wilson placed 5th with a time of 21:50, Ullis Martinez placed 6th with a time of 22:16 and Will O'Connell placed 9th with a time of 25:21.

Hayes, Bayley, and Durrett win football contest

In this week's football contest we had three entries that missed 6 games each. They were Alvin Hayes and Cody Bayley, both of Lockney, and Mike Durrett of Lubbock.

The first tie breaker was used to determine first place. Hayes chose Hale Center to win by a combined score of 48, just 16 points off the actual score of 32. He takes home the $25 first place prize.

Claiming the $15 second place prize is Cody Bayley. He also chose Hale Center to win by 58 points, which is 26 points off the actual score.

Taking home the $10 third place prize is Mike Durrett. He chose Hale Center to win by a total combined score of 66, 34 points off actual score of 32.

Honorable mention goes to these entries missing seven games: Moses Reyes and Gail Hale, both of Floydada.

Honorable mention also goes to the entries that missed only 8 games. They are: Steve Caballero and Franklin Harris, both of Floydada; and Robin Sherman and Javier Bernal, both of Lockney.

We also had: 6 entries missing 9 games, 14 missing 10 games, 4 missing 11 games, 2 missing 12, 3 missing 13, 1 missing 14, 1 missing 15, and 2 missing 17 games.

DON'T PLAY WITH FIRE--Fire in the Bible is used as a judgment upon man in the past and in the future.

Fire is good if used properly. But fire is bad if touched or if it gets out of control. We all have our "fire stories" and we as adults have learned to respect fire.

When I was about eight years of age on the farm, my big brother (five years older) was going to show me how we could have a light in our secret dug-out cave.

We borrowed a tin can full of kerosene from the barrel outside our house that we used for heating.

My brother lit the can of kerosene immediately (first mistake). Now we had to carry the hot burning can about 50 yards to our cave (second mistake). My brother broke a forked branch off a nearby tree to wrap around the burning can to carry it (third mistake).

About half way to the cave, the branch twisted from heat or pressure and spilled the hot, burning kerosene all over the lower half of my brother's body and one leg in particular. He was on fire and screaming for help. I did not know what to do.

He finally began rolling in the sand trying to put out the fire. I headed to the house to get mother. When I ran in the back door and told mother, we looked out on the porch and there stood my brother with his pants burned off. He was smoldering and smoking from the flames.

My mother poured a bucket of water on him and put him to bed. She then ran to the other side of the farm to get my dad who was driving the tractor. They took him to the hospital in Lubbock and he recovered after many weeks. He still bears those burn scars today.

While in Tampico, Mexico in the 70's, the flame in our outside hot water heater was blown out by the wind. It was night and I could not see up under the heater. I could hear a hissing sound.

Without thinking (dah), I lit a match to see better. You guessed it! The hissing was gas. The explosion was heard round the world (well maybe). My eyebrows were gone and my eyelashes were fused together.

We made a quick trip to the doctor. There was no damage to my eyes, but my stupidity was all over my face for several weeks.

MORAL OF THE STORY: "Fire and danger go together!"

CHILDREN WITH BEHAVIORAL PROBLEMS

by Ron Trusler

Some children have uncontrolled anger that leads them to rebel and be hard to discipline. Some even go so far as to violate the laws of society and the rights of others:

How can you know if your child has a problem? Some things to look for are:

- *Breaking the rules;
- *Losing temper frequently;
- *Gets into trouble at school;
- *Breaks or throws things when angry;
- *Steals and lies; gets into fights;
- *Running away;
- *Torturing animals;
- *Setting fires;
- *Show no guilt for action;
- *Behaves in a way that frightens you; etc.

If you are alarmed now because the above sounds a lot like your child, remember he/she can be treated with professional care. The earlier you get help the better. I have listed some things that you can do to help your child.

1. Avoid physical discipline. It will make things worse for this child. You might try "time out's." These can last about 3-6 minutes at a time. They can sit on mat or a throw rug in the middle of the room. Ask the child to sit down, regain control and calm down after an outburst.

2. After each time out spend several minutes discussing the episode with the child. Talk about why he/she lost control and find out how the outburst occurred. Then work with the child to discover strategies like counting to ten, walking, running, etc. rather than being aggressive.

3. Have the child offer restitution if they hurt someone or their property. It could be in the form of work or chores that benefit the one affected by the misbehavior. Restitution should take no more than 15 minutes and should not be required for more than 3 days in a row.

4. Provide praise and attention when the child exhibits good behavior. Increase the amount of one-on-one with him/her and recruit family members to serve as positive role models.

Sounds like a piece of cake, doesn't it? It isn't. How effective the above things are depends on the child's age, how long they have behaved this way, brain disorders, etc. If you have tried the above and still feel like you have a "holy-terror" on your hands, get some help. Don't worry about how it makes you look as a parent. It isn't a bad reflection on you if you get the help needed. It could save your sanity and well-being.

Disaster program slowly taking shape

By Shawn Wade

Yeoman's work by Plains Cotton Growers, the National Cotton Council and other regional and statewide cotton organizations is beginning to yield results. The United States Department of Agriculture is preparing rules and developing plans for implementation of the most recent round of disaster assistance approved by Congress.

PCG, in close consultation with the NCC, has been working diligently to encourage the development of the widest reaching set of assistance programs possible.

They note that with the Congressional mandate to cover 100 percent of eligible losses the industry has been working hard to devise program plans that will provide some level of benefit to as many growers as possible.

Many hours of work have been invested by PCG and NCC staff to encourage the development of new program rules to be implemented under the "severe economic loss" category.

Programs enacted under this section have the best chance of reaching growers who produced just enough yield to prevent them from qualifying individually under either the quantity loss section, the quality loss section or both.

These "notch" growers, who have produced significantly less than their expected yield but more than the 65 percent quantity loss trigger, have been unable to receive assistance under the 1998 and 1999 programs. They are also the operations having the toughest time dealing with the combination of problems that arise from less than projected production and low prices.

A recent meeting with individual growers and bankers from across the High Plains, hosted by PCG and the PCG Officers, reiterated the devastating effects this "one-two" punch is having on growers. Representatives from the National Cotton Council and Congressman Larry Combest's office were also on-hand to discuss the issues and ideas for addressing current problems.

Through no fault of their own many growers are expected to be turned away by lenders in 2001. This is expected in spite of the fact that many will cover their 2000 operating loans.

The problem is that currently projected price levels and normal yields will not provide enough income to cover operating expenses that are expected to rise significantly next year as a result of significantly higher energy costs.

PCG and the NCC are encouraging the development of a program designed specifically to address the increased energy costs incurred in 2000.

Other possible avenues of assistance under the "severe economic loss" section of the package is some form of crop insurance discount to offset a portion of the 2001 expense for growers and hopefully allow them to purchase higher coverage levels as well.

Future issues that will have to be addressed will likely be focused on getting producers back on the farm in 2001 and overcoming the problems that may be associated with financing next year.

PCG remains very involved in the process from beginning to end and is strongly supporting the implementation of provisions that will target help to every grower that needs assistance.

The other part of this process is the adoption of beneficial eligibility and implementation regulations for both the quantity and quality portions of the package.

At this time it appears the quantity loss portion of the program will be administered in a manner very similar to the 1998 and 1999 disaster assistance programs. Quality, however, will be handled differently because of changes intended to improve the overall quality assistance provision.

At this time PCG and the NCC are pushing for a quality provision that allows growers to qualify either on an individual bale basis or by converting subthreshold quality losses to pounds that would be subtracted from actual production levels to offset declines in value from reduced quality.

Sign-up dates and final details will be reported as they become available.

Trade agreement offers opportunities

By Blair Fannin

A landmark trade bill agreement between the United States and China will open new doors for trade opportunities among agricultural producers across the nation and in Texas to sell products and services to the world's largest emerging marketplace.

The passage of the Permanent Normal Trade Relations will allow several future developments to take place, said Parr Rosson, director of the Center for North American Studies at Texas A&M University.

He notes the agreement should increase the opportunity and probability that China will become a larger market for U.S. food and agricultural products.

"This eases the way for China to become a member of the World Trade Organization," Rosson said. "China must agree to abide by the same trade rules as other World Trade Organization signatories. While this alone won't open markets, it will force closer scrutiny of the mechanisms and policies used by China to support agricultural production, protect markets, employ state trading enterprises and ensure the integrity of human, animal, and plant health."

The U.S.-China trade agreement, as well as other topics relating to international agriculture, and Texas' role in exporting goods produced across the state will be discussed at the upcoming International Trade Summit scheduled for Nov. 14-15 at the Hyatt International in Houston.

The summit will allow producers and agribusinesses to receive a first-hand look at important issues affecting today's trade of foods and other agricultural goods.

The summit will cater to farmers, ranchers, agribusinesses, retailers, consumers, government and natural resource leaders who have a particular stake in the international trade of Texas agricultural products and commodities.

Agriculture in the United States and Texas has become increasingly dependent on trade during the last decade. Approximately $2.5 billion of Texas agricultural exports in 1999 generated 25 percent of farm cash receipts, with agricultural exports providing an additional $3.3 billion in economic activity and creating 39,000 jobs in the state.

U.S. exports to China reached $14 billion in 2000, while agricultural exports reached approximately $1.1 billion. The United States Department of Agriculture estimates that U.S. agricultural exports to China could reach nearly $3 billion by 2005 as a result of this new trade agreement.

The U.S.-China trade agreement will make the latter country eligible to use United States export credit guarantees to facilitate the purchase of United States foods and other agricultural products, Rosson said.

"For fiscal year 2000, $5.7 billion in credit guarantees have been authorized by Congress. U.S. export credits are used to stimulate sales to countries where credit is needed, but financing is limited or unavailable," Rosson said.

While the credit has been used in China, it has never been on a permanent basis, Rosson said, and it was subject to annual approval.

"Only about one-half of all U.S. export credit guarantees have been utilized in recent years," Rosson said. "Under an export credit guarantee, the Commodity Credit Corporation underwrites the extension of credit terms from a U.S. bank to a foreign bank or government. U.S. budget exposure is minimal since only defaults require any outlay of funds by the CCC."

Rosson said under the terms of the November 1999 pre-accession agreement between the United States and China, it was agreed that China would eliminate all import quotas and other nontariff barriers on agricultural products, replacing them with tariffs which would be reduced by January 2004.

"For all agricultural products, Chinese tariffs will be reduced from 22 percent to 17.5 percent," Rosson said. "For those products designated by the United States as priority for greater market access, tariff levels will fall from 31 percent to 14 percent."

He notes that animal products, fruits and dairy products are included in this priority category.

One other important factor is China faces challenges in meeting consumption needs in the future, and will not likely remain self-sufficient in meat production.

"Limitations on China's infrastructure development and the lack of an efficient distribution system may limit meat consumption and imports to some parts of the country," Rosson notes.

The Center for North American Studies has forecast China's net trade potential for beef, pork, poultry and fish from 2001 through 2010. Results show China will become a large net importer of beef, poultry and fish. Pork production, however, will still exceed consumption by about 9 million tons as China will remain a net pork exporter.

China's beef consumption is projected to exceed beef production by 59,000 tons in 2000, growing to 2,682,000 tons in year 2010. China's fish consumption will exceed production, increasing from 1,556,000 tons to 3,641,000 tons. Poultry consumption will exceed production by about 736,000 tons in 2000, expanding to about 2,142,000 tons in 2010.

These forecasts are contingent upon consistent government policy and continued economic stability in China.

crop this late. The optimum time for Central Texas is the first two weeks of November for wheat planting as far as grain production. We've just lost a lot of opportunity for grazing (because of dry conditions that continued into the fall months)," Miller said. Plus, since the soil profile is still short, timely rains must continue to provide the opportunity for improved wheat production next year. Rain is forecasted for parts of the state near the end of the weekend.

Drought conditions have hampered Texas agricultural production four out of the past five years. The 1996 drought resulted in $2 billion in producer losses, while the 1998 drought led to $2.1 billion in producer losses. The 1999 drought resulted in $223 million in producer losses.

Drought losses exceed $1 Billion

By Blair Fannin

Agricultural losses in Texas caused by drought have exceeded $1 billion, the Texas Agricultural Extension Service reported Oct. 18, after factoring in losses to the state's fall harvested crops of cotton, corn, sorghum and added expenses incurred by ranchers to early feed and water livestock.

For the year, direct drought losses have cost Texas agricultural producers $ 1.096 billion, Extension economists said, with cotton the hardest hit commodity. Estimated cotton losses have reached $485 million as extreme heat and dry conditions devastated dryland cotton and declined growing potential of irrigated cotton through August and September.

In mid-August, cotton losses were estimated at $285 million, but another $200 million was added Wednesday, according to Carl Anderson, Extension cotton marketing specialist.

Dryland cotton planted throughout the central and western areas of the state couldn't withstand another round of record-breaking temperatures and lack of rainfall through both August and September. The rainfall in the Rolling Plains region for the 90 days starting July 1 was only 9 percent of normal. The Lubbock area did not fare much better with just 27 percent of normal rainfall during July to September.

Dryland acreage that was harvested resulted in extremely low yields or yielded lowquality cotton, Extension officials said.

Other estimated agricultural losses so far this year include:

- Grain sorghum: $62 million
- Corn: $34 million
- Wheat: $153 million
- Added irrigation costs: $47 million
- Wheat grazing: $30 million
- Forage crops: $124 million
- Other crops: $56 million
- Added feed/water cost: $105 million

Travis Miller, an Extension agronomist, said rainfall this week is welcomed but is short of replenishing available stored moisture for crops and rangeland.

"We've got a ways to go as far as filling soil profiles," Miller said. According to NOAA's Climate Prediction Center, it would take 9-12 inches of rain to replenish soil profiles in the major central part of the state to end the drought.

Nevertheless, Miller said, recent rainfall throughout certain areas of Texas will help with planting of small grain and vegetable crops.

"The rains were timely as far as planting wheat," Miller said. "In most places, there's still plenty of time to plant a crop for grain, but I don't think we'll get much forage out of it. In the Northern Plains, between Oct. 1 and Oct. 10 is the optimum time to plant grain crops."

"But you can still make a good grain

IT WASN'T THE FIVE-ALARM CHILI. DAD MADE THE RIGHT CALL.

Acting fast may mean the difference between life and death. Recognize these signs of a heart attack:

Pain spreading to shoulders, neck and arms; uncomfortable pressure, fullness, squeezing or pain in the center of the chest that lasts more than a few minutes; and chest discomfort with lightheadedness, fainting, sweating, nausea or shortness of breath. New treatments can help reduce damage to the heart but only in the first few hours after symptoms begin. Every second counts.
