Museum best place to research oil and gas history in county

For those of you interested in the history of oil and gas exploration in Floyd County, the local Museum is in possession of the most in-depth book that can be found in the area.

Thomas Musser, a Lubbock geologist, is responsible for the exhaustive research now available at the Floyd County Museum.

The research, which is updated yearly, includes the history of all wells in the county, the chronology of the wells drilled, and the production of the wells broken down by fields.

According to the research in 1970, Floyd County wells produced 2,913 barrels. In 2000, the County's wells produced 1,485 barrels.

There have been 74 wellbores drilled in Floyd County for oil and gas. Two wells are currently producing, two wells are currently shut-in, and four additional wells have been produced in the past.

"The earliest known wells drilled for oil in the county were three wells drilled in 1927 and 1928," writes Musser. These wells were quickly abandoned and plugged.

The first successful oil well drilled, completed and produced was the Robert Donnell and General American Oil Company E.M. Carmickle Lease Well #1, Arick Field, 2.5 miles west of Allmon. "This well," writes Musser, "was completed on July 21, 1948 and is still producing today."

The Stanley Gray (Canyon) Field, operated by Exco Resources Inc., is also still producing.

According to Musser, "There are six recognized oil fields in Floyd County; the Arick Field (Floyd/Hale) which is actively producing; the Arick (Wolfcamp) Field (Floyd/Hale) discovered in 1948 and currently shut-in with no current Floyd County wells; the Floydada Field discovered in 1952 which produced from 1952-1957; the NRM (Miss) Field, discovered in 1976, which produced during 1977 and 1978, then reentered in 1982 and produced in 1983; and the Stanley Gray (Canyon) Field, discovered in 1984 and actively producing; and the Wildcat Field which has never produced.

"There is one recognized gas field in Floyd County--the Arick (Yates) Field which was completed in 1987 and has never produced.

"Sixty-six wellbores were drilled and abandoned in Floyd County.

"The majority of the 74 wellbores drilled in Floyd County (43) were drilled along the flanks of the Mator Arch Structure in the areas of the Arick Field, the Floydada and Stanley Gray Fields, and the NRM Field. Thirteen wellbores and one re-entry were drilled in the area of the Arick Field (northwest of Allmon).

"Twenty-three wellbores were drilled in the area of the Floydada and Stanley Gray Fields (around Lakeview). Seven wellbores and one re-entry were drilled in the area of the NRM Field (southwest of Dougherty).

"Other areas of interest have been shown in the Block T Survey (north of Floydada) and the Cedar Hill Area.

"The other 17 wellbores were drilled in what would be considered Rank Wildcat Areas throughout the County."

For more extensive information from Musser's research, contact the Floyd County Museum.

Identity theft wreaks havoc on life of Lockney woman

The "identity theft" crime has received a lot of publicity recently and much information has been released which advises the public how to keep from being a victim. However, Julie Ellison, of Lockney, can tell you that no matter how cautious you are, your identity can still be stolen.

"I am always careful with my credit cards and checkbook," said Ellison. "I know where everything is and I keep very good records." But that didn't stop another woman from using Ellison's drivers license and social security numbers to make purchases.

Ellison was alerted to the theft by a phone call from a Harris County Deputy. "I thought it was a salesman asking me a lot of questions at first," said Ellison. "He asked me if my name was Julie Ellison. I said 'yes'. Then he told me my address and asked me if that was right, and I said 'yes'. Then he told me my license number, date of birth, and social security number and that really got my attention because that was right too.

"He asked me if I had lost my driver's license and I said 'No'--and that I had it at home. He said, 'Are you sure?'"

Ellison retrieved her license immediately from her purse and assured the officer that she had it in her hand.

"The officer told me that a woman had come into a computer store in Houston where he works an off duty job. She was establishing credit to buy $8,500 worth of computers, using my driver's license and social security numbers. The application had already been processed and the loan application had been approved. While the thief was checking out the merchandise at the cash register, something made the clerk feel uneasy. The clerk took the driver's license to the off-duty policeman and asked him if he could check it out. The officer took the license and called in a check. Everything came back O.K. except for one thing--it came back to a white woman and the thief was a black woman.

"The picture on the driver's license was a perfect picture of the thief," says Ellison.

"The officer started walking to the cash register and the thief saw him coming and took off. She ran out of the store and jumped in a car being driven by another woman."

Ellison said the thief got away but left the license "with her fingerprints on it" in the hands of the deputy.

They have a picture of her from the store security and a picture of her accomplice and the license plate number," said Ellison. "I don't understand why it is taking so long to make an arrest."

Ellison says she was told the driver's license was expertly forged. It had the thief's picture, weight and eye color on it. It had the strip on the back of the license and Texas' in gold across the front. The only difference was it had my street address on the license and I have my box office number on mine. She also had a 'Class C restriction' and I have a Class B."

Ellison says it has been a very frustrating experience. "I really wanted to see a picture of the woman and see if it was someone I knew. I couldn't imagine this being done by a complete stranger. The police won't give me any information on the case until an arrest warrant has been issued and that hasn't been done yet."

The incident put Ellison in overdrive and she began immediately to contact credit companies to protect herself. "I spent hours and hours on the phone calling agencies and telling them my story. I got a list of the 3 major credit bureaus and called them. They put a 'consumer statement' on my credit to alert everyone that I had been a victim of Identity theft. I called the Social Security office, the Federal Trade Commission, the Driver's License Office, my bank, and all my credit card companies. I was told to keep detailed records of everyone I've talked to and anything concerning this case.

"The credit card companies have been very helpful--but I'm still scared that all these safeguards won't protect me. I changed my passwords and had an 'alert' put on my credit card number so that anyone, including me, would have to go through several safety checks before the card could be used. After I had done this I took my Master Card and made a purchase with it. I just wanted to see if all those safeguards worked. The clerk swiped the card and never asked me a thing. It went right through. It was creepy."

Ellison said she has no idea how the thief got her information--especially her social security number. "I had my driver's license number printed on my checks--which I won't do anymore--but I don't know how my social security got out there. I've been told you can get almost any kind of information over the internet."

Although there is no lack of advice given out to citizens to protect themselves, Officer Darlene Johnson, of the Houston Police Department forgery division, says it is virtually impossible to stop it.

"There is no way to stop it and the crooks know it," said Johnson. "The first thing that happens when you write a check at the store is the clerk turns it over and writes down your driver's license number and your date of birth. That is all it takes. Your information is out there. Someone looking over your shoulder could get the information, or someone working in the store could sell it to the crooks. It is a big business. There are people working in banks and all kinds of retail stores who buy and sell this information. We've had cases of people in Canada using American identities and vice versa.

"The only way you could prevent it is to use cash for all your purchases."

Officer Johnson also confirmed what Ellison already knows. "This could haunt the victim for years. It could take 10 years to clear her name."

Although Ellison had tried to stay optimistic that the thief would not want to use her information after this close call, she learned this week that the thief is still traveling through Texas with Ellison's driver's license and using the information to charge thousands of dollars.

"I just found out this week that the woman had used my name, address, and driver's license number on pre-printed checks at Dillard's," said Ellison. "The account number on the checks wasn't mine--the account number was stolen from a 77 year old woman. The thief had made $2,000 worth of purchases.

"I finally got to talk to the Houston forgery officer who was 'handling the case' my original case and basically I found out that nothing had been done and probably nothing would be done. It was very frustrating. I want to see this woman behind bars.

"I was told by the Houston detective that his caseload was tremendous and they only focused their attention on 'workable' cases. I believe this case would be workable with all the evidence they have. I've gotten lots of help here locally. Our District Attorney, Becky McPherson, said she would talk to the Harris County District Attorney and she has also asked a Texas Ranger to try and follow the leads through."

Ellison says that checking her credit report has been helpful. "There is a number you can call to check your credit and it will list everything that has been purchased on credit in your name. You compare it to your records and see if you can account for everything on that list. I think everyone should do this a couple of times a year. I've done that and there were no charges on there that I haven't made. That made me feel better."

To check your credit report call: TransUnion 1-800-888-4213, or Experian 1-888-397-3742, or Equifax, 1-800-685-1111.

Ellison says she feels much like someone would feel who had been attacked or had their home burglarized. "I feel invaded," said Ellison, "and my son worried that the woman would come to our home."

Ellison knows that being cautious with her records and I.D. won't keep her from being a victim. However she does believe that safeguards will make it harder on a criminal to take advantage of you.

Destroying papers with your credit card information, tax records, checks, and deposit slips is helpful. "I've found out that thieves go through your trash," said Ellison.

"Don't give out your Social Security information and get your mail at a post office box--thieves are taking information from people's mailboxes."

Ellison also recommends a web site at KCBD.com which has information on how to protect yourself. "Scroll down to 'consumer' and click on that. There are pages and pages of information," said Ellison.

Ladies earn pageant titles

Young ladies were chosen to represent Floyd County during pageant ceremonies at the Floyd County Fair, Saturday, September 1.

This year, winning categories were added to the contest making each age group have more than one top winner. From each age group there will be two young ladies representing the County as winners of their group.

From each age group was chosen a "Talent Queen", and a "Modeling Queen", and a "Most Photogenic".

Age groups for the pageant consisted of Tiny Miss, 2-3 years old; Petite Miss, 4-6 years old; Junior Miss, 7-9 years old; Young Miss, 10-12 years old; Teen Miss, 13-15 years; and Elegant Miss Floyd County, 16-18 years.

Each of the young ladies were interviewed by the judges, and also performed a talent before the audience before being judged for modeling in "dressy wear" on the runway.

The oldest category of Elegant Miss Floyd County was won by Lindsey Nutt, of Floydada, as the Elegant Miss Talent Queen, and Maggie Hilburn, of Floydada, as Elegant Miss Model Queen.

Runners up in the talent category were Claudia Rosales, 1st; and Courtney Campbell, 2nd.

Runners up in the modeling category were Kayla Stovall, 1st; and Courtney Campbell, 2nd.

Miss Photogenic in the Elegant Miss category was Kayla Stovall.

In the Teen Miss pageant, Brittany Barnett won the Talent, Modeling and Photogenic division.

ALPHA TEX KENNELS was just one of the businesses who advertised their products at a Floyd County Fair Booth. This booth was very popular with young and old alike--because when you stopped to visit, the merchandise on the shelf visited right back.

THE FUN RUN AT THE FLOYD COUNTY FAIR was the first event to kick off a very busy Fair Saturday.

Harris, Ford, and Tye win weekly football contest

Franklin Harris, Mark Ford, and Beth Tye were winners in the first week of the newspaper's football contest.

Franklin Harris of Floydada claimed the first place check of $25 by missing only 5 games.

Three entries missed 6 games, so the second place winner was decided by the first tie breaker between Floydada and Tahoka.

Mark Ford of Lockney was the only entry out of the three to pick Floydada to win, so he claims the second place check of $15.

Beth Tye of Floydada and W.L. Carthel of Lockney picked Tahoka to win, so the tie-breaker went to the game between Lockney and Slaton. Both picked Lockney to win, but Tye was only 5 points off the final total score of 35, while Carthel was 9 points off the final total score.

Beth Tye will receive the third place check of $10.

Honorable Mention goes to 4 entries that missed only 7 games. They were Amber Arney and Sheree Cannon of Floydada, and Guadalupe Huerta and Kelly Dunbar of Lockney.

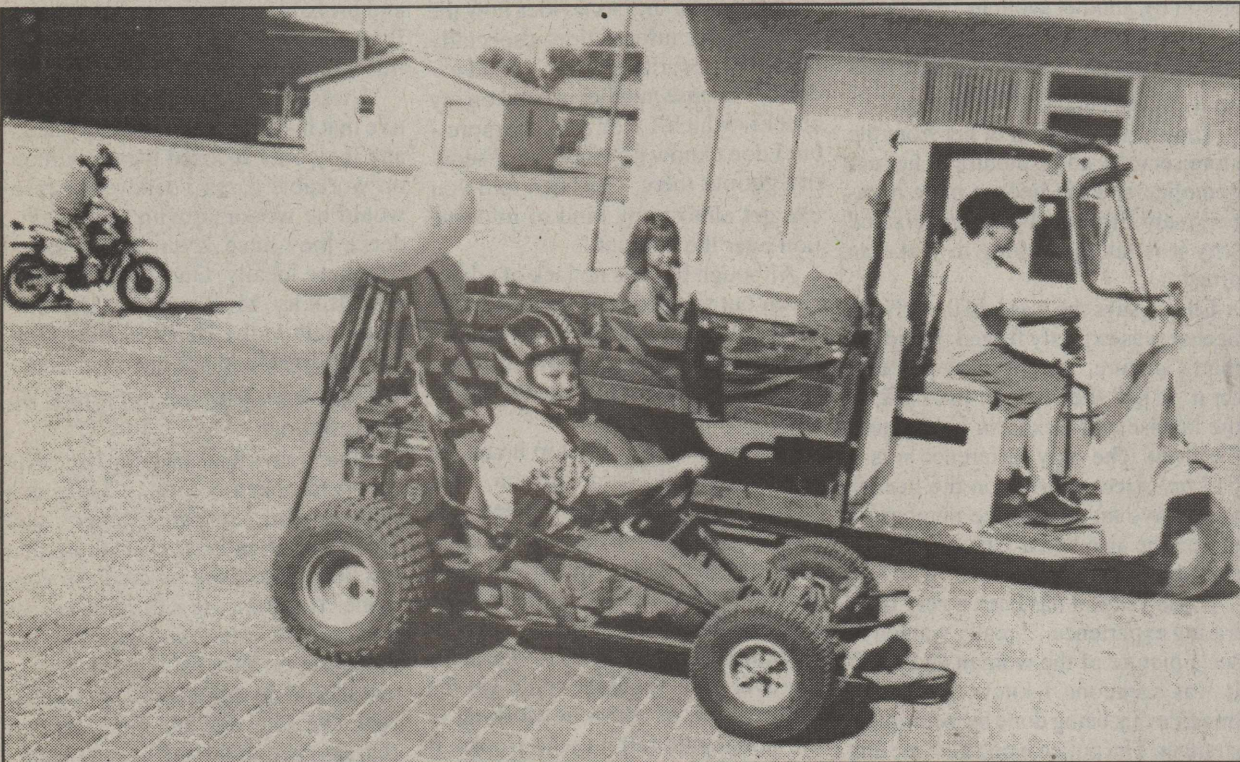

Missing 8 games was Tanner Morris of Lockney.

Missing 9 games were Gene

According to news reports, Senator Phil Gramm has decided to leave the Senate at the end of his current term, in January of 2003.

That is not good news for Texas, in our humble opinion. Phil Gramm has been one of the few rocks in the Senate, consistently bringing intelligence and courage to debate in that august body. We had heard the rumor that he would leave the Senate and return to Texas A&M, as head of the school where he was once a professor of economics. We didn't believe the rumor, but at least part of it is turning out right.

We have had few, very few, differences with Gramm during his time in the Senate. And even when we did disagree with him, he was probably right. He has consistently stood for fiscal responsibility on the part of the government, a stand we have applauded. His arguments in the Senate, it seems to us, have been based on logic and respect for the Constitution, a position not generally appreciated by many in that body.

We have more than a passing interest in the makeup of the Senate, and a consuming interest in who represents our state there. We spent some 14 years in that milieu, six years on the staff of Senator Tower, and the rest in the Administrations of Nixon and Ford. We know a good senator is hard to come by, and a good senator who is also a leader with conviction is even harder to come by. We have known every Senator since Tom Connally, and have been more or less involved with all of them, starting with Price Daniel in the 1950's. Some have been show horses. Others, like Gramm, have been work horses. We have no hesitancy in saying that Phil Gramm, in many ways, is the best of the lot.

We suspect Gramm's decision to retire from the Senate will set off a huge scramble among those who want to succeed him. A U.S. Senate seat does not open up very often, and when it does there is usually a lot of prospects in the wings. When Gramm bows out, in 2003, the Texas political scene is likely to be somewhat scrambled. Several of those now seeking other state offices may very well be in the running. Still, it is not likely we will get back into the situation Texans faced in 1961, when something like 70 aspirants put their name on the ballot, seeking to replace Lyndon Johnson, who, being a modest sort, had been elected to both the Vice Presidency and the Senate.

Not all the news is bad, however. Texas is now wetter than it has been in quite a while.

Cancer Society to Meet

On Monday, September 10, the Floyd County Unit of the American Cancer Society will begin regular meetings for the 2001-2002 year. Although meetings are not held in the summer months, the fight against this disease has been continual, and planning for the year ahead has been ongoing.

This year is anticipated as another year of dedicated effort toward cancer research, education, and prevention; another year of trying to help those locally who need assistance! Through emphasis on the Great American Smokeout, the annual Christmas Brunch, the Health Fair, promotion in our schools against tobacco use and abuse, an effort is made to educate and raise funds to promote research, prevention, and aid to recovery.

"We hope that we will have a good representation at the meeting Monday," said Jo Lynn Dean, president of the local unit. "We will hear a report from the Relay for Life held in June, and also talk about the Smokeout and the Christmas Brunch." The Relay for Life was a success again under the leadership of Sarah Kalina and Christy Frizzell.

The local board welcomes new members as a new year is begun. Jimmy Castillo, representative from the Lubbock office, will be present on Monday, September 10 at 5:15 p.m. in the community room of the First National Bank of Floydada. Join us! We need you!

The center was closed last Monday because of the Labor Day holiday. The center is open for those 60 years or older. If you plan on eating lunch, please call 983-2032 by 10:00 a.m. This helps us to know how much food we will be serving that day. We also want to prepare enough food for everyone.

Congratulations to Mamie Anderson who celebrated her 90th birthday on August 25.

Wednesday afternoon, August 29, Lorene Newberry and I met Joe and Jean Appling at the Lakeview Cemetery so that the lettering which Joe and Jean had purchased could be placed on the sign at the cemetery. Many people have had a problem in locating the cemetery where their loved ones are buried. Now with the new sign, it will be easily found.

While we were there, I roamed the grave sites and recognized members of families I know. I was also looking for the oldest grave site. I found one marked 1904. More than likely there are older ones, but I did not find them. Before we left, Rex Harrison drove up on his big farm equipment. Not being a farmer, I don't know what it was except it was very large. Rex was so pleased the sign was up. He told us his wife Beverly is the treasurer and that funds are very low for the upkeep of the cemetery. If you would like to contribute to the upkeep of the Lakeview Cemetery you may take your check or money and deposit it in the fund at First National Bank of Floydada or call Beverly Harrison at 983-2043.

My son, Gregory Bond, his wife Mona and their children, Bethany and Michael, were here over the past weekend heading for a few days of vacation. I'm baby-sitting their dog, Lady Bug.

Ardis and Bill Daniel's daughter, Lori and her husband Johnnie Reed, of Kress spent Labor Day weekend with the Daniels family.

The Batthey family reunion took place this past Saturday at Pizza Gold and at the home of Bob and Charlene Allredge. There were 52 members attending.

Floydada Whirlwinds edge out 2001 opener against Tahoka Bulldogs 12-7

By Bill Gray

The Floydada Whirlwinds opened their 2001 football campaign with a victory by edging the Tahoka Bulldogs 12-7. It was the Whirlwinds' first win on opening night in three years and avenged a 42-7 loss to the Bulldogs at Wester Field a year ago. Floydada's defense appeared in almost mid-season shape as they dominated the line of scrimmage, holding Tahoka to less than 50 yards on the ground.

In fact, it was the Whirlwind defense that put the first points on the board in the final moments of an otherwise uneventful first quarter. Floydada's defenders crashed through to throw Tahoka's Stephen Solorzano for a big loss deep in Bulldog territory. The ball was stripped, linebacker Tye Wood scooped it up at the 9-yard line and cruised into the end zone for the score. Tyler Helms' kick attempt for the point-after was wide-right, but the 'Winds were up 6-0.

Following the Whirlwind touchdown, the Bulldogs mounted a 10-play, 51-yard drive in the final minute of the opening period into the first four minutes of the second quarter. Tahoka moved from its own 24-yard line down to Floydada's 25, but the Whirlwind defense stiffened. T.J. Fuller and Gerald Henderson combined to throw QB Brandon McCord for a 7-yard loss. A pair of penalties helped thwart Tahoka's drive. Following an exchange of punts, the Bulldogs finally found the ticket to Floydada's end zone.

A 31-yard pass from back-up quarterback Shannon Cowley to Jeremy Barrientos ignited a 4-play, 51-yard scoring drive. Stephen Solorzano carried the final 18 yards and Odilon Granados kicked the extra point to give the Bulldogs a short-lived 7-6 lead.

Floydada responded quickly with its own 66-yard scoring strike. On first down from his own 34, Helms connected with Brady Rainwater on a fade route for a 32-yard gainer. Two plays later, a 31-yard, half-back pass from Dustin Covington found Rainwater all alone, and the junior receiver raced the final few yards unmolested into the Tahoka endzone. The try-for-two failed, but Floydada was back up 12-7, which would be the final winning margin.

The second half was virtually a stand-off, cat-and-mouse game to see which team would make the fewest costly mistakes. Four minutes into the final period saw Floydada coming up with yet another defensive gem. On a second-down play from the Floydada 37-yard line, Whirlwind defender Brady Rainwater stripped the Tahoka ball carrier, and was credited with the turnover. Gerald Henderson rushed 21 yards in three plays to help the 'Winds hang onto the ball. Helms carried on a QB keeper for a key first down to maintain control. By the time Tahoka was able to take possession, following a missed 39-yard field goal attempt by Helms, less than two minutes remained in the contest.

Cowley, operating from a shotgun formation for the Bulldogs, fired three consecutive blanks, including a fourth-down attempt, and the Whirlwinds took their final possession deep in Tahoka territory. Tyler Helms took two snaps, dropping to his knees, as the time ran out on the Bulldogs and the Whirlwinds had won their first opening game since 1998.

Following his first opening-night victory, Whirlwind coach Lee Hurt commented, "The team that makes the least amount of mistakes usually wins that first ball game. We've got a lot of things to correct, but we're going to come out Monday and work hard for Ralls (which won its first game in two years last Friday against Lorenzo). We'll give Tahoka's defense a lot of credit... they played real well and made some plays we hadn't prepared for. You just have to make those adjustments during the game. We finally made those adjustments and were able to use the clock there at the critical time. Brady's play on stripping the ball was the big play and the momentum changer... it was a great play." The coach added, "A win is a win and we're going to take it!"

Whirlwind defensive coordinator David Kennedy said, "I couldn't be prouder of a bunch of kids. Our defense did a remarkable job out there against Tahoka, and we made some big plays when we had to. Tye Wood's early touchdown really spurred us on, and Brady's (Rainwater) play, stripping the ball, was a mighty big play. He gets possession of the ball, enabling us to run about seven minutes of clock there at the end. It was a big play!"

The Whirlwinds travel to Ralls tomorrow night, and Floydada knows it cannot take the Jackrabbits lightly. They won their first game in a couple of years last week against Lorenzo and will be "sky-high" at Jackrabbit field this week. Floydada should, nevertheless, roll...by about 17 points. Tahoka once again is at home tomorrow night as the Bulldogs host the Kress Kangaroos, who lost 13-12 to Whiteface on opening night.

Bill's Notes: It was a good opening night effort for everyone... especially the defense. Time and again they kept Tahoka's ground game controlled. They gave somewhat on pass defense, but never gave up a long TD play through the air. Tye Wood's early TD was the catalyst for the defense, but most agree with me in naming Brady's stripping the ball late in the game as the play of the game. Offensive play of the game was Covington's half-back pass to Rainwater for a 6-pointer, although the play that set it up (the 32-yard aerial from Helms to Rainwater) was a real beaut. The Whirlwinds should roll over the Ralls Jackrabbits by at least 17. Bill's other picks: Lockney 14, Sundown 6; Morton 20, Hart 12; Abernathy 21, Plains 6; Friona 19, Tulia 13.

Lockney Longhorns tame the Slaton Tigers in first game 21-14

By Russell Harris

This year's edition of the Lockney Longhorn football team is marked by a number of differences from last year's. The Longhorns have a new head coach in Joe Robertson. They have a new backfield. They have a new offense. Even some of the "old" faces are in new places. However, some things are the same, including the determination to win. They seem to feel they can be victorious even if they have to come from behind.

In Lockney's game against Slaton Friday evening, they faced a quality running back in Edward Roberts. Roberts moved from his tailback position from last year to the fullback position. On Slaton's first play of the ballgame, Roberts was stuffed for a two-yard loss. On second down however, Edward Roberts found a hole and ran for 75-yards and a touchdown. The Longhorns blocked the extra point attempt, making the score 6-0 with 11:04 left in the opening quarter.

It looked like the wheels would simply fall off for Lockney when the ensuing kickoff was fumbled by the Longhorns and recovered by the Tigers. The Longhorn defense answered the call at their own 20-yardline. On four downs, the Tigers could only manage six yards. Lockney took over on downs.

Lockney began their second drive on their own 36-yardline. Ulisis Martinez ran for nine yards on first down. Jesus Rios ran for two yards and a first down on the next play. On first and ten yards to go on their own 47-yardline, Ben Sherman shook loose for 53-yard touchdown run. The extra-point attempt by Jesus Rios was good. With 4:47 left in the first quarter, the score was 7-6, with Lockney on top.

Lockney moved the ball on its next two possessions but was unable to score. Lockney's defense frustrated the Slaton offense until Edward Roberts got loose again. Roberts ran for 31 yards before reaching the endzone. Slaton completed a two-point conversion, making their advantage 14-7.

Lockney received the second half kickoff. On first and five, Ulisis Martinez rumbled for 24 yards and into Slaton territory. The Longhorns moved the ball to the Tigers' 30-yardline and then lost steam with a penalty and a quarterback sack/fumble.

The Longhorn defense was stingy with the yards it allowed Slaton during the third quarter. At the same time, fumbles and penalties plagued the Longhorn offense.

The Longhorns tied the game with 2:14 left on the game clock. The touchdown came in the form of a beautiful 32-yard pass and catch from Ben Sherman to Jarred Lambert. This came after apparent touchdown from Ben Sherman to Frankie Gonzales which was called back on an illegal motion penalty. Jose Rios' kick was good and the game was tied at fourteen all.

Neither team could score in the remaining 2:14 of regulation play and the game went into overtime. In the alternating possession overtime, Lockney had the first possession. The Longhorns scored a touchdown on four plays covering the 25 yards between the original line of scrimmage and the endzone. The drive included a one-yard run by Mark Ford and three runs by Ulisis Martinez, including two five yard gains and the fourteen-yard touchdown run. The extra-point kick by Rios was good. Lockney led 21-14.

With Lockney scoring on their drive, Slaton had to score to stay alive. The Lockney defense, that had shut down the Tigers' offense most of the game, never let them off of the 25-yard line. Lockney's last defensive series held Edward Roberts to no gain and forced three consecutive incomplete passes.

The Lockney Longhorns may look a little different this year. The win looked familiar.

Floyd County FARM NEWS

Applicants denied 1998 crop loss assistance may now be eligible

Producers who previously did not qualify for benefits under the 1998 Crop Loss Disaster Assistance Program (CLDAP) may now be eligible, according to Trent Johnson, Floyd County Executive Director. Eligibility for CLDAP benefits under the multi-year option required crop losses by producer identification number in at least three of five years from 1994 through 1998.

"The revised legislation gives individuals previously ineligible for multi-year program payments the opportunity to submit their application and potentially receive CLDAP benefits," said Johnson.

The deadline for applicants to submit a completed CCC-540MY, Crop Loss Disaster Assistance Program Application form for multi-year benefits is September 14, 2001. No applications for benefits will be accepted after this date. Completed forms should be submitted to: USDA/Farm Service Agency, Room 3643-S, STOP 0517, 1400 Independence Avenue, SW Washington, DC 20250-0517. Envelopes with applications enclosed should have "Multi-year Revised Eligibility Determination Request" legibly and boldly marked on the front. As the program deadline nears, applications can be faxed to (202)720-4941 and must have "Multi-year Revised Eligibility Determination Request," written on the fax cover sheet.

Applications will be accepted from individual producers only. Joint operations or entities are not eligible. The revised eligibility requirements provide that producers that otherwise would have qualified for the 1998 CLDAP multi-year benefit in the absence of restructuring of their farming operation, or may have operated under multiple entities in the years 1994 through 1998, may qualify for program benefits. Eligible producers include those that either previously filed an application and did not meet eligibility requirements; or producers who received a payment for single-year losses, but did not initially qualify for multi-year benefits. Additionally, producers who restructured their business or changed their farming operations from an individual to an entity, changed identification (ID) numbers, or had crop losses, but operated under different ID numbers in the years 1994 through 1998, and did not meet the minimum crop loss history requirement necessary to receive a multi-year benefit might qualify for CLDAP benefits as well.

According to Johnson, "Recalculation of payments to producers who received multi-year payments under the prior CLDAP allocation is not an option under these new program provisions."

Applicants will be required to provide proof of crop insurance indemnities received for each farming operation identified in the qualification process. The applicant must also provide evidence of ad hoc disaster payments and Noninsured Disaster Assistance Program (NAP) benefits received during the 1994 through 1998 timeframe. Payments issued under the 1998 CLDAP are not to exceed $80,000 per "person" and are subject to a national payment factor of .849.

"FSA recommends that any producer who suspects that he or she might qualify for CLDAP program benefits contact the office immediately to confirm their eligibility, considering the window of opportunity for application is very short," said Johnson.

For more information regarding Crop Loss Disaster Assistance Program eligibility, contact the Floyd County office at 983-3763 or visit FSA on the World Wide Web at <http://www.fsa.usda.gov>.

Cotton Market Weekly

A service Provided by Plains Cotton Cooperative Association

Cotton trading activity this week was dominated by light positioning ahead of the Labor Day weekend amid a general lack of fresh market-moving news. Barring heavy rains in the next several weeks, the U.S. crop could increase and keep the focus on export sales amid a continuing trough in domestic usage.

During July, U.S. textile mills used cotton at an annual rate of 7.72 million bales; the lowest rate since it fell to 7.71 million in December 1990. July usage dropped from a downward revised June figure of 7.76 million, the National Cotton Council said August 23. However, August usage could increase with the Step 2 payments to domestic mills that buy U.S. cotton.

However, USDA is likely to raise the new-crop U.S. carryover forecast based on a smaller domestic usage in the old crop marketing year and concerns about global consumption trends in 2002 with the world economy still slowing.

In addition, traders are looking at the prospect for higher global production and world carryover estimates in the September 12 USDA supply/demand report because of stronger crop potential in China, India and Pakistan.

Traders still are expecting a bumper crop despite the U.S. crop condition's small decline in USDA's weekly crop progress report. Although the crop condition percentages fell, they remained well above the levels recorded one year ago and prompted no action by the market. As of August 26, 29 percent of the U.S. crop was opening bolls, compared with 18 percent a week earlier and the five-year average of 28 percent.

Some analysts estimate USDA's weekly crop ratings would translate into U.S. production of 19.5 million bales, still a huge crop but down from 20.0 million projected by USDA on the basis of conditions on August 1. The weekly crop ratings are derived from county agricultural agent's reports, unlike the monthly production estimates which are based on a combination of information gathered from crop counters and USDA producer surveys.

Moderate rains, analysts concluded, still would be beneficial on the bulk of the U.S. crop to aid in the boll-filling process. However, some producers would not welcome any precipitation. Scattered rainfall is forecast over the weekend for most of the Delta, Texas and Louisiana which could cause damage to open bolls in those states.

"But a projected U.S. crop of over 20.0 million bales and a current USDA forecast for an 8.1 million bale carryover, or 46 percent of usage, can afford to lose a few bales of cotton," one trader commented.

Meanwhile, USDA reported net export sales of U.S. cotton in the week ended August 23 totaled 141,200 bales, 53 percent below the prior week's total. Additionally, export shipments fell two percent below the prior week but remained 48 percent above the four-week average. Major buyers of U.S. cotton included India, Turkey and Mexico.

China bought 2,200 bales of U.S. cotton last week, but traders expect Chinese buying to remain subdued with a new-crop harvest on the horizon that should drive domestic prices below import values. Cotton import quotas have been issued to cover 227,500 bales of high-quality cotton, but importers are reluctant to increase forward purchases. Some traders worry that China will not significantly increase import quotas before next spring, if at all next year. "It's going to be a long wait for anyone hoping for China to prop up this market," added one broker.

On the spot cotton scene, sales for the week ended August 30 were higher than the previous week's figure. Onlife trading of Texas/Oklahoma/Kansas cotton totaled 9,295 bales, compared to the previous week's sales of 7,124 bales. Spot cotton prices for the week were also higher as online trading occurred within a range of 31.12 to 32.75 cents per pound compared to 29.24 to 31.97 cents per pound the prior week.

Western rolling plains cow/calf clinic planned

By: Tim Weldon
CEA-Ag Kent County

Jayton...Here area livestock producers and private applicators! It's time again for the Annual Western Rolling Plains Cow/Calf Clinic, slated for September 11, 2001 at the community center in Jayton, Texas. Past clinics have proven to be very informative and beneficial, and this year's program promises to be every bit the same. This year we'll add a new twist, and offer up to 3 C.E.U.'s for those of you who have a private applicator's license.

The program will begin at 5:15 p.m. at the community center with a registration and welcome, and introduction of speakers. Following this, we will make a short trip to a selected range site where Bill Pinchak, Range and Nutrition Specialist, at the Texas A&M University Research Center in Vernon will provide us with hands on information for managing drought recovery. Following Mr. Pinchak, we will travel back to Jayton for a steak dinner courtesy of Pied Piper Feeds of Hamlin; Merial Pharmaceutical Company, Kent County State Bank and Robert Hall Chevrolet of Jayton. Following supper, Emory P. Boring, Associate Professor and Extension Entomologist in Vernon, will present a program covering the current insect problems and their control in relation to the drought conditions, and parasite pressure and control in livestock.

This program promises to be very informative for all producers in the area and hope that you will make plans to attend this year. Please R.S.V.P. by September 5th to these county agents: Tim Weldon 806/237-3751, Rebel Royal 940/989-3510, Gary Antille 806/596-4451, Toby Oliver 806/623-5552.

Destruction of unharvested cotton is vital to eradication success

Cultural controls are an important part of the boll weevil eradication effort, Texas Boll Weevil Eradication Foundation officials said. Following sound cultural practices will speed eradication and reduce the cost. Growers need to take special caution to destroy cotton plants that will not be brought to harvest and to prevent growth of plants in fields that will be planted to another crop.

Producers who fail cotton acres for any reason should destroy the remaining cotton plants in fields thoroughly and as soon as possible. Weevils will find the cotton left in these fields and use it for feeding and reproduction. The Foundation will need to maintain traps around these fields, check the traps regularly, and treat these fields weekly if cotton remains when diapause spraying begins. This unnecessarily increases the expense of the program, most of which is borne by the grower.

If producers intend to plant acreage to another crop but have not done so, Foundation officials encourage them to do what they can to prevent new cotton growth or regrowth in these fields. If producers have already planted another crop, they are encouraged to do whatever they can to eliminate volunteer cotton growth in these fields.

Weevils will find, feed and reproduce on cotton plants growing in milo, sunflower or peanut fields as well as those growing in cotton fields. In all cases, the presence of hostable material in fields allows for increases in weevil populations that may overwinter. This slows the eradication effort the next season, again creating unnecessary expense producers will have to bear.

The cooperation of all producers will be greatly appreciated by Foundation personnel, but more importantly, growers will benefit themselves by eliminating a threat to their crops and saving their hard-earned money.

WHEN: Tuesday, September 11, 2001 4:00 to 6:30 p.m.

WHERE: High Plains Water District Office 2930 Ave. Q, Lubbock, Tx. (Corner of 30th St. and Ave. Q - Across from O.L. Slaton Junior High)

WHY: This open house celebrates the 50th anniversary of the High Plains Underground Water Conservation District No. 1. Created in September 1951, the High Plains Water District is the oldest and one of the largest ground water conservation districts in the United States. District staff have worked with agricultural producers and urban residents for the past 50 years to help conserve, preserve, and protect the ground water resources of the Ogallala Aquifer within the District's 15 county service area.

INTERVIEW OPPORTUNITIES: Manager Jim Conkwright, Information/Education Director Carmon McCain, Past and present members of the Water Board of Directors, colleagues and friends who have worked with the District since its inception.

SPECIAL ACTIVITIES: This is a "come and go" open house. At 5 p.m., there will be a special recognition of former High Plains Water District manager A. Wayne Wyatt (1935-2000) for his many contributions to the High Plains Water District and water conservation on the Texas Plains.

Obituaries

GRACE JARRETT

Services for Grace Jarrett, 83, of Floydada were at 10:00 a.m. Wednesday, September 5, 2001 at New Salem Primitive Baptist Church in Floydada with Elder Ronnie Hedges, pastor, officiating and Don Martin assisting. Burial was in Floyd County Memorial Park under the direction of Moore-Rose-White Funeral Home of Floydada.

Mrs. Jarrett died Monday, September 3, 2001 at IHS of Canyon.

She was born on May 19, 1918 in Spur to the late Mr. Oscar Sims and Mrs. Ida Havens Sims. She graduated from high school in Wellington. She married Carl Jarrett on August 3, 1935 in Wellington. He preceded her in death on September 11, 1990. She had resided in Canyon since 2000 was a homemaker.

She was also preceded in death by a son, Jack Jarrett, on November 16, 1998; a daughter, Freida Hall, on October 23, 1995; one brother and three sisters.

She is survived by one daughter, Nedra Pruett of Canyon; a son-in-law, Gerald Hall; one brother, Charlie Sims, of Brentwood, Tennessee; one sister, Doris Garrett, of West Memphis, Arkansas; 12 grandchildren; 21 great-grandchildren and a special friend, Frances Gunter.

The family suggests memorials to New Salem Primitive Baptist Church in Floydada or to Floydada Sr. Citizens Center at 301 E. Georgia, Floydada, TX 79235.

LILLIAN NICHOLS

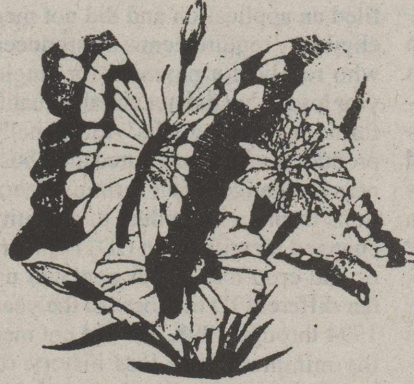

Graveside services for Lillian Patricia Nichols, 73, of Childress were at 2 p.m. Thursday, August 30, 2001 in Childress Cemetery with the Rev. Kerry Wood officiating.

Arrangements were under the direction of Johnson Funeral Home of Childress.

She died Tuesday, August 28, 2001.

She was born April 25, 1928, in Brooklyn, N.Y., and married Bobby Lee "Pete" Nichols on July 19, 1946, in Childress. He preceded her in death. She had worked as a cook at Childress Healthcare Center from 1982 until retiring in February 2001.

Survivors include four daughters, Lorry Collom of Earth, Peggy Hill of Floydada and Patty Martin and Barbara Nichols, both of Childress; a brother, Pete Quinette; two sisters, Dottie Buccafusco and Clair Laura; numerous nieces and nephews; six grandchildren; and one great-grandchild.

Thanks to everyone who called, came, sent flowers, cards, and brought cookies while we were in the hospital. To the friends, neighbors and relatives for lawn mowing and food when we returned home. Visits anytime are appreciated. May God bless each and everyone.

Arvie and Gene Newton

This years fair was truly a "Blast". I am amazed at how the fair always comes together so well. As president of the fair board this year I served with the best people. I want to thank the fair board and the junior fair board for all of its hard work. Many folks do not truly understand the commitment these board members make to bring the community a wonderful fair. The board begins meetings as early as January and coordinates every aspect of the fair. I am very proud of the board. They are hard workers and great friends.

I also want to thank the Floyd County Friends for all of their efforts. They too are a great bunch of people.

The fair happens because of many volunteers and many sponsors. These folks came from everywhere to help us with our auction, trap shoot, tractor pull, pageant, parade and exhibit judges. To these folks a Great Big Thank You goes out!

I would also like to thank the communities for coming out and showing your support for the fair. We had people from Floydada, Lockney, Petersburg, Plainview, Valley, Quitaque, Silvertown and Tulia just to mention a few.

I can only begin to imagine the future for the fair. With such support I'm sure that next years fair will be even bigger and even more fun.

Thanks again,

Rodney Hunt

Whirlwind Sams

The Whirlwind Sams meeting was called to order by President Henry Russell at Lighthouse Electric Community Room on Monday, September 3, 2001.

Bill Feuerbacher led the invocation. Robert McPherson was recognized for his birthday this month and Dr. Harold and Audrey Temple and J.W. and Betty Gilbreath were recognized for celebrating anniversaries in September. Esther Wallace led the group in singing "Happy Birthday/Happy Anniversary."

The refreshment committee consisted of Louis and Virginia Pyle, Bill and Norma Feuerbacher, and Harold and Vivian Snell. They served stew, cornbread, cobbler, cookies, ice cream and soft drinks.

The minutes of the August meeting were read by Don Chesshir in the absence of secretary, Sue Chesshir.

Treasurer, Carol Reese, gave a financial report.

Wagonmaster, George Miller, asked Dr. Keith Patzer for a report on the September campout to Lake Texoma and a report from Herb Wallace on the October campout to Wolf Creek Park.

Program chairman, Wayne Russell, introduced Bill and Dell Gray and their group of talented musicians who entertained the members. Dell accompanied them on the electric keyboard as well as introducing each participant. Megan Graham sang a Patsy Cline rendition of "I Fall to Pieces."

She also sang "It Is No Secret" and "His Eye is on the Sparrow," which Dell dedicated to her mother, Roberta.

Russell. Evan Johnson, granddaughter of Whirlwind Sams members, Boone and Ruth Adams, sang "Swinging on a Star", "Deep in the Heart of Texas", and her granddad's favorite, "There is a River." Madolyn McCormick sang "Rock Around the Clock". The was appropriately dressed for this with her poodle skirt and other 50's attire Madolyn opened the program with a cute song. Brady Rasco also accompanied the singers on the fiddle and also played other songs. He played "Orange Blossom Special", which was everyone's favorite.

Accompanying these musicians to the meeting as our special guests were Debra Graham, Roijon Johnson, and Kelly McCormick.

Eighteen rigs were represented at the ladies coffee at Pizza Gold on September 13 at 3:00 p.m. Those included: Boone and Ruth Adams, Don Chesshir, Bill and Norma Feuerbacher, Darlynn Hambright, Jerry and Glenda Livingston, John and Christine Lyles, Darrell and Nancy Mayo, Mac and Marge McElyea, George and Betty Miller, Harold and Charlene Norrell, Dr. Keith and June Patzer, Louis and Virginia Pyle, Carol Reese, Henry and Dahlia Russell, Wayne and Roberta Russell, Herb and Esther Wallace, Harold and Vivian Snell, and Paul and Dartha Westbrook. Two associate members represented were Fred and Yvonne Thaxton.

Esther Wallace led in the singing of "Happy Trails" to dismiss the meeting.

CONTEST RULES

Any subscriber or purchaser age 7 or older is eligible to enter this contest. Only one entry per week per person.

To play, circle on the official entry form, the numbers of the teams you believe will win this week's games. To indicate a tie, circle the numbers of both teams playing the game. Also write a guess of the combined total points to be scored by the two teams listed in each of the tie-breaker footballs.

Only entries on official entry forms brought to a Hesperian-Beacon office in Floydada or Lockney no later than 5:00 p.m. on Friday will be accepted. No photocopies will be accepted and no mail entries will be considered.

Three cash prizes are awarded each week. In the event of ties (the same number of correct games equal scores on tie-breakers) prizes will be combined and shared by those tied. The tie-breaker scores will be used only to break a tie on the number of games correct.

Print your name and address plainly on the official entry form and double check your choices before clipping out the entry form and depositing it at a Hesperian-Beacon office before 5:00 p.m. on Friday.

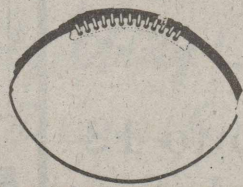

Entries limited to one per person per week. Weekly winners are limited to one household.
