Leases open by dove season

Public Hunting comes to County

Thanks to the hard work of Game Warden Mark Collins, and the Texas Parks and Wildlife public hunting program, you need to have a lot of money to enjoy a good place to hunt in Floyd County. For a $40 purchase of a public hunting permit you will be able to choose from 4,400 acres locally or any other public hunting spot in the State.

Public hunting leases have always been available and appreciated in other part of Texas, but practically unheard of in this area.

"In March the director of Parks and Wildlife started a renewed focus on acquiring public recreational property for Texas," said Collins. "He announced we (game wardens) were directed to this."

"Prior to this announcement I had already been checking on several prospective properties in hopes of somehow getting my foot in the door."

Collins had to move quickly because completed contracts and applications for approval had to be submitted to the State by the first of June.

"There was a lot of leg work," said Collins. "Landowners had to be identified, contacted, contracts had to be developed and signed, and detailed maps of each parcel of land had to be made. Then the real work started with the boundary and regulation posting of each unit."

All of this work was in addition to Collins' normal game warden duties.

The preliminary work is now done and approximately 4,400 acres, or 12 units, have been signed up to participate in the Public Hunting program, which kicks off September 1, 2002, just in time for the start of dove season.

"Eleven of the units are in Floyd

More West Nile cases confirmed

Possibly four more cases of the West Nile virus have been confirmed in Floyd County.

Three cases were confirmed today, Tuesday, August 20. According to Dr. Paul Glasson, DVM, two of the horses were pastured separately approximately two miles north of Floydada. "Both of the horses close to Floydada

LISD to try drug testing again

Supreme Court ruling used as guideline

In wake of the recent Supreme Court decision that ruled in favor of drug testing in the Tecumseh Oklahoma ISD, Lockney ISD trustees unanimously agreed to once again pursue random drug testing at the Junior High and High School campuses.

In a school board meeting, Tuesday, August 13, Superintendent Raymond Lusk told the trustees, "The Tecumseh policy is very similar to the amended drug testing policy we had. In some ways it is even stricter."

"The Tecumseh policy says if you refuse to take the drug test you can't participate in any extra curricular activities."

Trustee Jim Bob Martin asked, "If we just insert our name (LISD) into the Tecumseh policy, would that be O.K.?"

"Yes," said Lusk. "All courts are bound by the Supreme Court ruling."

"Let's just make our policy word for word as Tecumseh and change the names," said Trustee Mike Mathis.

Trustee John Quebe expressed his desire to pursue the drug testing as quickly as possible, and Lusk explained that it would be impossible to have implemented by the beginning of the school year.

"We want to give everyone a grace period after we announce the date it will become effective," said Lusk.

School board members all agreed to pursue the policy and gave Lusk the go-ahead to present an LISD policy to lawyers for review. After attorney approval the policy will be presented to the school board at the next meeting.

"Maybe we can have it implemented by October or November," said Lusk.

Lockney first began random drug testing in February 2000. The original policy called for drug testing of all students 6th-12th grade one time and then randomly after that.

The policy was amended in July 2000 and called for testing of 7th-12th grades. Refusal to sign would subject the student to being banned from extracurricular activities.

A parent, Larry Tannahill, represented by the ACLU, challenged the policy. In March 2001, U.S. District Judge Sam Cummings ruled in favor of Tannahill.

Lockney ISD did not pursue the case to a higher court because of the fear the school's insurance company would not continue to cover the costs.

However, the Tecumseh, Oklahoma school district did pursue their own similar case. The Supreme Court ruled in favor of Tecumseh on June 27, 2002.

Brief Review of Tecumseh Policy:

*"In addition to the drug tests required...any Activity Student may be required at any time to submit to a test for illegal or performance-enhancing drugs, or the metabolites thereof when an administrator, coach, or sponsor has reasonable suspicion of illegal or performance-enhancing drug use by that particular student."

*Consequences for the First Offense: The parent/guardian will be contacted immediately. In order to continue participation in the activity the student and parent/guardian must, within five (5) days of the joint meeting, show proof that student has received drug counseling from a qualified drug treatment program or counseling entity. Additionally, the student must voluntarily submit to a second drug test to be administered within two (2) weeks in accordance with the testing provisions of this policy.

If the parent/guardian and student agree to these provisions, the student will continue to participate in the activity. Should the parent/student not agree to these provisions the consequences for the second offense will be imposed.

*Second Offense: Suspension from participation in all extra curricular activities for 14 calendar days, and successful completion of 4 hours of substance abuse education/counseling provided by the school. The student will be randomly tested monthly for the remainder of the school year...A student who on his own volition informs (self refers) of usage before being notified to submit to a drug test will be allowed to remain active in activities. He will be considered to have committed his first offense and will be required to retest as would a student who has tested positive.

*Third Offense: Complete suspension in all extra curricular activities for the remainder of the school year or one semester (whichever is longer).

*A student refusing to submit will not be eligible to participate in any extra curricular activities for the remainder of the school year. The student shall not be considered for any interscholastic activity honors or awards given by the school.

Commissioners cut deputy position and approve budget

Floyd County Commissioners approved a tax rate of .37391 in the regular meeting, August 19. This rate will generate approximately the same revenue as last year. With the declining land values this tax rate will bring in $8,000 less in county revenue.

The County budget of $1,221,046.47 was also approved on a 3-1 vote. The dissenting vote came from Commissioner Lennie Gilroy because of his desire to reevaluate the court's decision to cut a deputy's salary from the budget.

The Commissioner's Court had told the Sheriff there would be no money in the budget for a 3rd deputy. Instead the Court approved hiring a full time jailer/dispatcher combination in the hope this would cut out the overtime expenditures in the jail administration.

During discussion of the motion to adopt, Gilroy said, "I would like to reconsider the Sheriff's deputy. I think we are cutting the department too short."

Commissioner Ray Nell Bearden said, "We have thought about this for weeks."

"We have hashed this out already," said Commissioner Jon Jones. "Cutting out the deputy could make it where the department could have a new car every year."

"Cutting the deputy was the least appealing," said Commissioner Craig Gilly. "But the Sheriff has shown that his $372,000 budget is not enough. I've asked him (the Sheriff) to help me figure out a way to make this work and he has no suggestions."

"The Sheriff has gone to $380,000 this year and we haven't bought him a car. We would have to go to a $400,000 Sheriff's budget to add a car."

"I'm not raising taxes because he can't administrate that office and operate under the budget that everyone else has to do," said Gilly.

"I agree with all of that," said Gilroy, "but I'm still concerned. I've heard from other law enforcement people that the deputies and Sheriff are working hard and they are spread too thin."

Also during the meeting the Commissioners voted 2-2 to adopt a 5% pay raise for all county employees, including the commissioners.

The tie vote was broken by County Judge Bill Hardin who voted in favor of the pay increase.

Also voting in favor were Commissioners Craig Gilly and Ray Nell Bearden. Opposed were Jones and Gilroy.

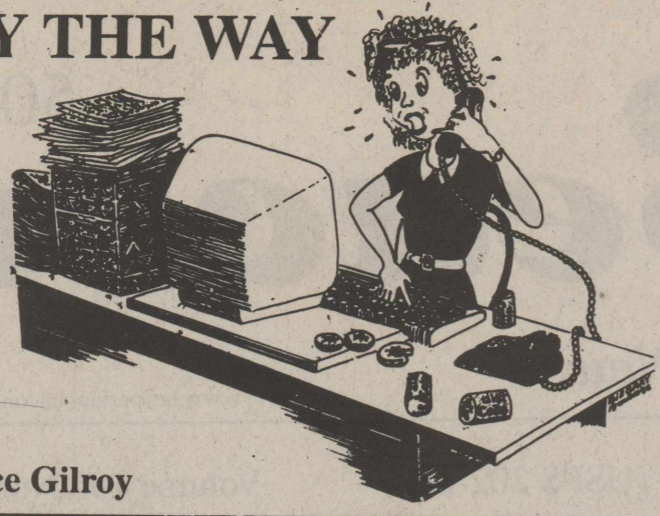

Jones and Gilroy both stated they were in favor of giving the county employees a pay increase but they did not feel the commissioners should get a raise.

"I was against giving the commissioners a raise," said Gilroy. "In the 8 years I've been in this office we've always excluded commissioners and I thought we should do the same this year."

BY THE WAY

By Alice Gilroy

A friend of mine called me at work last Thursday morning.

The first words out of her mouth after I answered the phone was, "Three".

I said, "Three what?"

She said, "Oh, you're not having one of those contests where you call in and tell you how many mistakes there were in the paper?"

Very funny.

I wish there had only been three.

I got my first clue Wednesday afternoon when Randy Miller called me and asked me if I had a chance to look at page 3 yet. I started crying before I even opened the paper.

On the top of the page in 40 pt. headline was: "Searsy and McLain wed".

The problem was, Searsy and McLain were already at the bottom of the page in an engagement picture. The headline should have said, "Keaton and Golden Wed".

I asked Randy if he wanted to come and be our proofreader. He said, "Oh no, I couldn't do that. The only reason I noticed this was because it was SO BIG!"

Groan.

I started to feel a little better later on in the day. As part of the Texas Press Association I am on a type of "chat room" with publishers all over the state who share problems and try and help each other with answers.

This week someone else wrote in about a "wedding mistake" and everyone joined in with their classic stories.

I thought I would share a few.

One editor wrote in about a couple who married in a sailplane. The Justice of the Peace radioed the vows from the ground.

JP: Burt, do you take Kathy to be your wife? Over.

Burt: I do. Over.

JP: And Kathy, do you take Burt to be your husband. Over.

Etc.

Another editor wrote in about a halftime six-man football game. The bride and groom (who was the big star the previous year) stood on the field with their attendants. The local Church of Christ minister (who also is the regular announcer for the games), switched hats and performed the ceremony over the loudspeaker from the press box.

One editor told of an engagement picture in which the couple was pictured under water in full scuba diving regalia--masks, snorkels, and all.

Another told of a "bride to be" dressed in black leather and wearing a metal studded leather choker and wrist bands.

But my favorite and the one that really made me feel better about my day was the story about the editor that switched the cutlines under an engagement picture and the picture of the "Grand Champion Hog" at the county livestock show!

I sure enjoyed Old Fashioned Saturday in Lockney. It was hot hot hot, but the games, booths, food, and talent shows were great.

Thanks Chamber of Commerce for all your hard work!

A boss always scheduled the weekly staff meeting for 4:30 p.m on Fridays. When one of the employees finally got up the nerve to ask why, she explained: "I'll tell you why--I've learned that's the only time when none of you seem to want to argue with me."

The Lamplighter

By Ken Towery

Somebody is lying, again.

President Bush's good buddy, Ariel Sharon, told Israeli media folks last week that he was leaning on the American President to overthrow Iraq's Saddam Hussein. The story was prominently displayed in Tel Aviv's Ha'aretz, a daily paper known for its honesty and independence. Mr. Sharon was quoted as saying he had sent two messages to Mr. Bush recently, urging full speed ahead on the project of dumping Saddam.

Then, all of a sudden, and all over Sunday talk shows, the message was that Israel has not communicated its opinion relative to Saddam. The Israelis are supposedly taking a "hands off" approach to American policy regarding the Iraq matter. Obviously, that is what Sharon wants Americans to believe, while he wants Israelis to believe something quite different, that he is using his clout to influence America on Israel's behalf.

Clearly, Americans are not getting the "whole truth". Someone, or a group of some ones, is not telling the whole story. Gazing back in history, and using that history as our guide, we have our opinion, just as our readers may have their own opinion, as to who that someone is. It is inconceivable, to us, that a major operation involving American forces in the Middle East could be taken, or even considered, without Israeli input. So, maybe that's the real reason the President appears undecided about Iraq. Maybe the Israeli's are having second thoughts, and are indeed assuming a "hands off" policy. We doubt it, but it could be true.

Meanwhile, back at the ranch, different people have differing ideas. Indiana's Senator Lugar, who was Chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee before Sen. Jeffords flaked off, giving control of the Senate to the Democrats and control of the Foreign Relations Committee to Joseph Biden, voiced a good bit of unease toward the idea of an Iraqi invasion at this time. In doing so, Lugar joined the ranks of several other Republican and Democratic leaders who have voiced similar reservations. Even House Majority leader Dick Armey, usually a decided hawk on military matters, has urged caution, as has Brent Scowcroft, head of the National Security Council under former President George Bush.

Still, the "go, no-go" decision would have to be considered up in the air. On one side are those mentioned above, while on the other are folks like Daniel Pipes and Richard Pearle, both in the Israeli camp, and, of course, the usual group of camp followers.

Our own view is that there should be no doubt that the United States could and would prevail, and prevail quickly. But is it worth the effort? More than a few lives are likely to be lost in the endeavor, none of which will be among those most loudly demanding an immediate "preemptive" war. Pipes will be safe at home, as will Pearle. But others not so safely situated will go. And will die.

It is one thing to roll back an invasion of Kuwait with the rest of the world with us. It will be quite another to bring down a regime, alone, especially when the leaders of that regime know the gallows are waiting. Indeed, a word of caution is advisable.

LISD board approves budget and sets tax rate

Lockney School Board trustees met in regular session, August 13, and unanimously adopted a budget, set the tax rate, and agreed to once again pursue random drug testing.

The 2002-2003 budget was approved by the trustees with expenditures of $5,219,428, and expected revenue of $5,059,626.

This is a difference of $256,283 more in expenditures from last year's budget and an increase of $269,944 in revenue from last year's budget.

The 2002-2003 amounts include an additional $189,900 for state mandated health insurance.

The trustees also voted unanimously to set the tax rate at 1.45, an increase of .18 over last year's tax rate.

"The drop in our enrollment is obviously what hurts the most," said

Superintendent Raymond Lusk. "The budget is up because of mandated health insurance."

Lusk presented a chart to the trustees showing a drop of 169 students at LISD in the past 6 years.

In the 1997-98 school year the school had 121 full time staff employed. Full time employees at this time is 105.

Salaries were frozen in 1999 and allowed only for state mandated step increases. The salary freeze is still in effect.

Beginning in 2000, according to Lusk, departmental budgets were cut by 20-50%. Last year a coaching position was eliminated, as well as one elementary teacher position.

The new budget shows total salaries and benefits at: $4,069,756.

FISD Trustees set tax rate at $1.44

Floydada ISD Trustees voted 5-1, August 15, to set the 2002-2003 tax rate at $1.44344.

Amado Morales made the motion for the $1.44 tax rate. Trustee Bill Dean seconded and voting in favor were: Rachael Castillo, Mark McCormick, and Jill Warren.

Kerry Pratt was opposed.

Pratt had made the motion to adopt a tax rate of $1.38344, but it failed for a lack of a second.

The 2002-2003 budget was unanimously adopted. Total revenue and expenditures is $7,399,055.00.

Sharon Rainwater presented the tax report and said the current roll is $2,206,393.32. Net collections are $1,959,639.02. The percent of the tax roll collected is 96.60% compared to 97.14% one year ago.

Kerry Pratt made the motion to approve the contract with Allied Compliance for random drug testing for the bus drivers. All were in favor.

Amado Morales made a motion to purchase a portable classroom facility for Floydada High School for $39,000 from Resun. All were in favor.

Trustees once again approved Kerry Pratt to represent FISD on the Appraisal District Board.

The directors also approved $663.15 in indigent health care claims.

Lion's Club Broom Sale in Lockney August 24th

The Lockney Lions Club will conduct an all-out drive on August 24, 2002 to sell quality Blind Made Merchandise to residents and local businesses. Items are manufactured by blind and visually - impaired workers. In addition the Lions Club's earnings from the sale will be used for Club approved public donations.

The entire membership of the Lions Club has been organized to supply friends and neighbors with these quality items. The Broom and Mop Sale will be on Main Street in Lockney where citizens may purchase directly from the caravan truck.

Sales of Blind Made Merchandise in previous years have been very successful and Lion Terry Jones expressed his confidence in reaching a new all-time goal this year. "Every home and business can use some of this cleaning aids, and every item purchased helps to provide dignity and the security of regular employment for Blind citizens." So extend a helping hand to the blind and our community by making a donation on August 24th. Thank you for your support.

have died from the virus," said Glasson. "One of them was dead when I got there and the other died later."

Another confirmed case is on a horse kept 1 1/2 miles south of Lockney. Dr. Glasson says that tests on a 4th horse (also pastured 1 1/2 miles south of Lockney) are pending. "I feel pretty sure that we will have another confirmed case on a 4th horse," said Glasson.

The Lockney area horses are still alive.

This will bring the total to 5 horses infected in Floyd County. A horse, pastured at the Floyd County Fairgrounds in Lockney, was euthanized last week and confirmed to have the virus.

Dr. Glasson says he has vaccinated approximately 150-200 horses in a week's time. He still has the vaccination available.

Public hunting opening soon in County with a minimum to travel time. All sites are within a mile of pavement or on pavement. They range in size from 137 acres to 960 acres.

According to Collins this program has never been seriously pursued in this area. "This is a first. If it goes well and there is good participation, I'll try and get more land signed up next year."

Collins said he is particular when choosing his sites. "First I look for proper habitat with a sustainable game population and good reproduction potential. Then I look for ease of access."

Anyone wishing to hunt the public hunting property must be in possession of a $40 public hunting permit, and a valid hunting license. If you are under the age of 17 you do not need a permit to hunt but you must be in the company of a licensed permitted adult.

"An adult with a permit may take children age 16 and below with them to hunt," said Collins.

When a permit is purchased the hunter will be given a book with detailed locations of all public hunting property in the State of Texas.

The book also details the legal game and dates for hunting of each site. Each site has different regulations.

"Without the book you won't know the rules," said Collins. "Make sure they give you a book when you get your permit. Some spots are for dove only and others are for a wide variety of species."

Collins says ignorance of the rules and regulations will be no excuse if a person is found to be in violation of any of them. "There will be enhanced law enforcement presence on these units. I urge people who will be taking advantage of this new outdoor recreation opportunity to please study the rules before accessing the units."

Another type of permit is also available to people wanting to use the public hunting areas. For $10.00 a person can purchase an "entry" permit only. "This is for hikers and birdwatchers," said Collins. "There is no hunting allowed with this permit."

"If a person age 17 or over is on any of the public hunting property, they must possess one type permit or the other," said Collins. "You can't just go and 'check out' the area to see if it is a place you would like to hunt. You must have a permit to access the land in any way at any time." Preseason scouting for most species is allowed if a person possesses a permit.

Collins says it will not be difficult for hunters to "be legal". "The book is full of information. It is basic rules, and common sense."

Regulations include: "No alcohol on premises. No loaded firearms in vehicles or parking areas. No smoking, and No Littering. Vehicles are only allowed on designated roads and in posted parking areas. ATV's (all-terrain vehicles) are not allowed."

"This is a privilege to be able to access these private properties," said Collins. "Treat the land with respect, and make it an enjoyable experience for all who use it."

Collins says he appreciates all the landowners who have been willing to work with him on this project. "I also appreciate Kyle Smith at Goen and Goen," said Collins. "They were extremely generous in providing me with excellent maps of the properties."

Collins is excited at the opportunity being provided to local hunters. "Currently in this area, the cost per hunter, per day, for pheasant, ranges between $100 and $150."

"This public hunting is making hunting available at bargain prices, while it financially benefits the private landowners that participate in the program," said Collins. "The $40 hunting permit allows a person to hunt all of these units, usually for the entirety of each listed games species season."

"Another plus is the more hunters that are attracted to this area, the more money they are likely to spend in our communities."

Collins believes the public hunting program will work if hunters extend a little courtesy to each other, and use common sense. "Treat these properties like you would want someone to treat your land," said Collins. "Be safe, and enjoy."

GAME WARDEN MARK COLLINS covers more ground on horseback as he works to post boundary signs on future public hunting lands in Floyd County.

Floydada City Council discusses future tax rate

The Floydada city council met in a special meeting to discuss the proposed 2002-2003 budget, August 13th.

City Manager Gary Brown led the discussion on the proposed budget. Brown pointed out changes to income and expenses that he felt were of an interest. The income side is to leave the tax rate at .36 cents per $100.00 valuation on taxable property, raise water rates .50 cents per 1,000 gallons on any amount used above the minimum and to increase sewer rates $1.25 for residential plus comparable raise for commercial sewer.

On the expenditure side, Brown talked about the need to put in a new sewer lift station on 12th street, replace a couple of pickups that are beginning to be in the shop regularly and to reserve funds for computer upgrades and replacement of the big electric bucket truck in the future. The upcoming budget is near what the current budget is if grants are removed.

After being questioned by different council members on different parts of the budget, Mayor Gilliland closed the budget workshop. Gilliland set the next meeting for Tuesday, August 27th at 7:30 p.m. This will also be the time for the public hearings on the budget and tax rate.

Those in attendance were Mayor Bobby Gilliland, Council members King, Nielson, Sue, Schacht, Barrientoz, City Attorney Houchin and City Manager Brown. Jack Alaniz, water and sewer superintendent, Oscar Garza, Jr. and Oscar Garza III were also in attendance. There being no further business to discuss, the meeting was adjourned at 8:05 p.m.

Lockney Council worries over possible future water shortages

By Judy Macha

During the Lockney City Council meeting, August 15, the council brainstormed options for meeting the City's future water needs.

Considering the variables involved, such as the amount of money the City has set aside to meet the costs of being on the Mackenzie Water Line, the drought that has left Lake McKenzie with 7' of pumping water, and decisions made by other cities on the water line, all agreed it best to have a plan of action in place before it is needed.

One step already taken is the purchase of private well(s). Digging on the Aiken to Lockney water line began this week. Water meters have also been installed at the ball fields through a mutual agreement by the City of Lockney and LISD.

"The City is in good shape now," said Mayor Stapp. "However, to be caught unprepared with a city wide water shortage would assuredly lead to necessary if undesirable steps, such as water rationing."

Mayor Stapp recommended keeping the city tax at the current rate for the upcoming year of 2003. A motion was made and seconded, followed by a unanimous vote in favor.

Chief of Police, Jerry Edwards fielded questions about the City's responsibility regarding the West Nile Virus and Old Fashion Saturday's Activities. After checking with the Department of Health, he ascertained Lockney as a risk factor 2 (enhanced response). That is, (1) to alert the public by newspaper, radio and TV and (2) to take steps to control the mosquitoes. Mayor Stapp verified the City would be sprayed Friday night prior to the festivities.

Chief Edwards reiterated the process that must take place before a human infection occurs. (1) A member of the Sentinel species (crow, blue jay, raven, eagle or hawk) must be infected with the virus. (2) An Asian Tiger mosquito bites one of these birds, then (3) in turn bites a human or animal.

Councilwoman Tina Graves reported good progress in the City's property code violation cases. The City is actively pursuing the enforcement of these codes.

Justice of the Peace, Michelle Araujo reported she will be attending a mandatory school in Abilene on Ethics and Domestic Violence.

Councilwoman Ginger Mathis said the Fire Department is updating their needed equipment list, reviewing a possible increase in personnel and sending out grant applications to help defray the costs involved.

Keaton and Golden wed

Charissa Rhea Keaton and Cory Joseph Golden were married Saturday, August 10 at 6:00 p.m. in the Third and College Church of Christ in Lockney. The ceremony was officiated by W. M. McFarland, long time friend of the bride's family.

The bride is the daughter of Charles and Donna Keaton of Lockney. Grandparents of the bride are Don and Sue Chesshir of Floydada and Claude and Mildred Keaton of Ransom Canyon.

The groom is the son of Joyce Golden of Wellman and the late Joe Roy Golden. Grandparents of the groom are A. A. and Oneta Sedgwick of Kress.

Maid of Honor was Beverly Brown of Lubbock, friend of the bride. Bridal attendants included Cathie Cunningham of Lubbock, Tobi (Carthel) Rosencranz of Arlington and Kami Keaton, sister of the bride, of Lockney.

The maid of honor and the bridesmaids wore periwinkle organza gowns with a scoop neck, buttons down the back and tied with a sash at the empire waist.

Best Man was Chris Hamm of Brownfield, friend of the groom. The groom's attendants were Clint Forbes, brother-in-law of the groom, Brad Sekulich of North Carolina and Rusty Keaton, brother of the bride, from Lockney.

The groom's attendants all wore black tuxedos with black vests and ties and black patent shoes.

Serving as flower girl was Kaylee Forbes, niece of the groom. She wore a lavender organza dress with four lavender roses at the square neck line. She carried a white basket designed and constructed by the bride's maternal grandmother and dropped silk rose petals. Her hair was adorned with a matching lavender halo with ribbons trailing down her back.

The candles were lit by Dillon Chesshir, cousin of the bride and Shayleigh Forbes, niece of the groom. Dillon wore a tux matching those of the groomsmen and Shayleigh wore a light pink gingham dress of organza.

Carrying the rings for the couple was Tyler Rekieta, nephew of the groom. He also wore a tux matching the groomsmen. He carried a white pillow that was also designed and constructed by the bride's maternal grandmother.

Guests were registered by the groom's sister Robin Rekieta. Guests were seated by Zach Logan, Zane Logan and Tyler Chesshir all cousins of the bride and Zach Chester and Garrett Flowers cousins of the groom.

Musical selections for seating of the guests included Surround Me With Love, Always and Forever, Unchained Melody, Amazed, Shape of My Heart, The Rose, The Wedding Song, We've Only Just Begun and It's Your Love. Rusty Keaton and Joe Trent sang Keeper of The Stars before the candles were lit to Let It Be Me.

Grandparents were seated to You Never Walk Alone. Mothers were seated to The Twelfth of Never. Each mother lit a candle as they entered the auditorium to be used in lighting the unity candle. The groom's mother's candle featured a sunflower in memory of her late husband.

The attendants entered to Annie's Song. The bride entered the church to the traditional Processional. You Light

Up My Life was featured during the lighting of the Unity Candle and the couple left the church to a medley of the traditional Wedding March and the Texas Tech Fight Song.

The bride selected an elegant and traditional gown of malie satin from the designer of the Emme bridal collection. The gown featured sheer long sleeves scattered with beaded re-embroidery lace appliques, a mock two piece silhouette and full ball gown pleated skirt. The bodice was also adorned with re-embroidered lace appliques as well as the top of the pleats of the skirt. The neckline was square with rounded corners and was finished with a satin band. The skirt fell gracefully in the back into a semi-cathedral length train. She wore a fingertip veil of white tulle attached to a beaded come of white pearls and Australian crystals.

The bridesmaids each carried a bouquet of pink, salmon, yellow and white Gerber daisies. The bride carried a traditional bouquet of white roses and white daisies. The groom wore a white boutonniere while the groomsmen wore Gerber daisies.

The front of the church featured a heart shaped archway with English ivy and a lavender and white tulle bow set in front of a white lattice with matching greenery. Two white candelabra sat on each side of the archway with a floral basket beside each candelabra. The center aisle of the church was dressed with white daisies in miniature wash tubs draped over the pews by lavender tulle ribbon. The flowers were arranged by the bride's maternal grandmother and aunt.

The reception was held in the Friendship Hall of the church. The bride's table featured a five tier white cake with white roses and a cascade of lavender flowers. The groom's table featured a German Chocolate sheath cake with a Texas Tech centerpiece and Texas Tech golf balls. Both tables offered chocolate dipped strawberries.

Reception attendants were Tammie Shuping, who prepared both cakes, Jana Forbes, Christina Chesshir and Lydia Allen. Serving on the house party were Martha Sue Lusk, Virginia Stapp, Dorothy Stapp and Wanda Smith.

A bridesmaids luncheon was hosted earlier in the day by Melissa Long and Angela Ragland at Celebrations in Plainview. The bridal party and mothers, grandmothers and sisters of the bride and groom enjoyed a wonderful meal and spent time relaxing before the ceremony.

The groom is a graduate of Wellman High School. He is also a graduate of Texas Tech University and is currently pursuing a graduate degree. He will be employed by Goodpasture of Brownfield.

Following a honeymoon to Florida and a cruise to the Bahama's the couple will reside in Lubbock.

LEARNING CAN BE FUN--Terri Kirk, pre-school teacher for Kid's Korner Learning Center, plans to incorporate music, art, and drama into the program of pre-reading, math and basic skills. Classes will be taught Monday, Wednesday, and Friday, from 9:00 a.m. until 12:00 noon beginning September 4th. To enroll a child, call 983-2542.

Kid's Korner welcomes new teacher

Following a successful summer fun program, the Kid's Korner Learning Center board members and staff are now focusing on fall programming which will include preschool classes and the popular after-school study and playtime. "We are excited to have Terri Kirk on our staff to teach our preschool classes on Monday, Wednesday, and Friday each week beginning September 4th," said Laura Farris, Kid's Korner board president. "Terri plans to present a program designed to help children 3 1/2 and 4 years old develop educational, physical, and social skills to prepare them for public school."

A native of Weatherford, OK., Terri has lived in Texas since 1964. She graduated from Brownfield High School, and received her B.S. Degree in Elementary Education from McMurray University, Abilene. Married to Kenney Kirk, an ordained United Methodist Minister, they served churches in West Texas including Post and Matador. The Kirks have two sons: Aaron, married and living in Amarillo, and Matthew, who will attend South Plains College this year. The Kirks moved to Floydada in 1995, and are members of the First United Methodist Church.

Terri's work with children includes being a Sunday School teacher, a scout leader, summer camp counselor, youth sports director, children's music director, and public school teacher. "Teaching children is a joy and a challenge," said Kirk. "I have been involved with teaching children most of my adult life, and I am looking forward to an interesting and rewarding year at Kid's Korner Learning Center." Plans for the preschool classes will incorporate music, art, and drama into the program of pre-reading, math and basic skills. "Children learn more easily when they enjoy what they're doing," said Kirk. "I place emphasis on reading. Reading opens the door to unlimited opportunities, and is the foundation for everything else!"

To inquire about the preschool classes, and to enroll your child, call Beverly Collins at 983-2542. Classes begin on Wednesday, September 4th, and will be from 9:00 a.m. until 12:00 noon each class day.

Lockney Library News Letter

By: Neta Marble

A year has passed at the Lockney Library and a lot has been accomplished. With the gift of the building by Jim and Denise Doucette a new era has begun for the library.

Many volunteers spent hours sorting, cataloging and boxing books. Arlene Raissez and her family cleaned the new library once Marlon McDonald and Danny Bowman were finished with the carpenter work.

By December we were ready to move down the street to the new library. Heartfelt thanks goes to the many, many people who participated in the move, to the men of the community who volunteered to do the heavy work of loading and unloading the many boxes of books, and to those who put the books on the new shelves. Due to the diligence of the workers there were very few books that wound up in the wrong place.

During the first six months the use of the library has increased two-fold. Many have asked where all the books came from and the truth of the matter is that they were all in the old building. The space in the new building just makes it look like there are more books.

Part of the increase in usage of the library has been due to the computers that are available to the public. Two of these computers were donated by the Lockney Division of the Cargill Feedyards. One of the computers and a printer was donated by the Bill and Melinda Gates Foundation, and the others were added through grants from the Tocker Foundation and TIF. They are available to the public during library hours on a first come first serve basis. Access to the computers is open to adults 18 years of age and older; access to minors is available for students 12 to 17 years of age after the parent or guardian comes to the library and fills out a permission sheet; minors 12 years of age and younger must be accompanied by a parent or guardian in order to use the computers.

Computer sessions will be limited to one hour per individual. Access to all patrons is based on their agreement that they will not use the Internet for access to any site that is in violation of State Law. This agreement is in force with their signature on the sign-in book.

Students have used the computers for research assigned by the teachers.

Tours were given throughout the year to school groups in an effort to acquaint the students with what is available to them.

The Summer Reading Program has been a success. Programs have been scheduled each Wednesday in June and July both in the morning and the afternoon. Approximately 40 students have been in attendance each week.

Assisting with all the programs was junior library volunteer Caleb McLain. Tasha and Cheyann Powell did the programs in June and 4-H members leading programs in July were Segayle and Senee Foster, Cammy and Rusty Keaton, Ryker and Cancy Cabler and Jay Ragland. Adults reading were Annabel Bramlet, Aaron Bazan, Lee Ann Gallaway, D'Lee Powell, Charlotte Brock, and Neta Marble.

A special "Thanks" goes to the Lockney Rotary Club for their participation in the summer reading program. They received a gift of $1,000 from the state Rotary organization to be used for community service. The local group purchased books, prizes and craft articles for the summer program. Each child attending received a book and at the end of the session the top three readers will be given special prizes.

Volunteer workers are always appreciated at the library. Caleb McLain is a part time volunteer. He comes in several times a week and does whatever is needed. He empties the book drop, replaces cards in the books and then puts them back on the shelves. He is currently working on the card catalog for the nonfiction book section.

Members of the Lockney Library Associates are working on the fiction section of the card catalog. We can always use more help. We are working to have all of the information on the cards correct by the first of the year so that they will be ready when our library is automated.

Books and materials are given to the library as memorials and a book plate is placed in each book designating who the book is being given in memory of and who gave it. A card will acknowledge the gift to the family.

Recently the Library reprinted the Floyd County Cookbook that was first printed by the Il Penseroso Junior Study Club in 1990 for the Floyd County Centennial. This is an excellent cookbook with recipes from good cooks in the community. The cookbooks are $15.00 and available at the Library, Heart's Desire, and Clark Pharmacy and the Floyd County Museum in Floydada.

Kids and Poison Ivy

Poison ivy, poison oak and poison sumac are the causes of the most common allergic contact dermatitis in humans in the United States. During the spring, summer and fall seasons, these plants are a common cause of skin rash in children. All three of these plants belong to the Rhus species and grow throughout the U.S. The entire plant is poisonous to the touch, and even breathing smoke from burning plants may be harmful.

All three plants produce similar skin reactions. The rash produced by poison ivy is an allergic reaction to an oil called urushiol. The rash begins in the form of blisters which are accompanied by severe itching. Fluid from broken blisters does NOT spread the eruption - it is the oil remaining under fingernails or on clothing that causes new eruptions. The poisonous oil is found in all parts of the plant, and it can remain potent on clothing for up to two years. Skin irritation can also be obtained through contact with contaminated clothing, tools or pet hair. At this point, there is no acceptable method of immunization against this poison.

Prevention is the best treatment - keep children away from these plants if possible. If contact with poison ivy or its relatives occurs, wash the area of the skin that was exposed well with soap and COLD water (hot water causes the pores to open and let the oil in) for at least 10 minutes. The oil from poison ivy is soluble in water, so washing is an effective way of removing it. Cloths used in washing should be handled carefully and washed well with soap and water after use.

business. A large crowd attended this years event.

FARM NEWS

Cotton turn-row meeting set for Sat. August 30th

Dr. Randy Bowman, Area Cotton Specialist at Lubbock, will be holding an INFORMATIONAL TURN-ROW meeting at the APPLING FARM located on County Road 116 East of the intersection of County Road 215 (Mount Blanco Community) on Friday, August 30th at 2:00 p.m. Two CEU's will be awarded, one in I.P.M. and one General.

This is the second year that a total cotton systems trial has been conducted on Joe, Mark and David Appling's by Dr. Boman. Their participation led to an award presentation by Plains Cotton Growers in 2001. Studies have centered around variety trials but have included irrigation application, fertility, herbicides, seeding rates and plant mapping. The latter is utilized with the COTMAN computer program software to help forecast termination dates for application of irrigation water, insecticides for boll-penetrating insects and timely application of harvest-aid chemicals for easier and more efficient harvest.

This year's meeting will involve explanation of the COTMAN program, a run-down of insect-related problems experienced in the area and production characteristics of each of the varieties that were compared. Hopefully by this date, harvest-aid chemicals will have been applied at an adjacent field so that characteristics of those chemicals might be displayed and costs of application compared as each year tends to show subtle differences in each of those respects.

Starting time is 2:00 p.m. with completion scheduled for 3:30 p.m. refreshments will be served in the field.

OLD FASHIONED SATURDAY TRACTOR PULL PARTICIPANT.. Roy Ray, of Lockney, encourages a young man as he competes in the Petal Pull competition. Approximately 150 youth registered for this years competitions.

50th annual conference Aug. 28th

West Texas agriculture producers and agribusiness people can update their chemical use and application skills, and learn more about water conservation, the current farm bill, and pest control August 28 at the 50th annual West Texas Agricultural Chemicals Conference in the Lubbock Memorial Civic Center.

On-site registration over coffee and donuts begins at 7 a.m. and costs $70 per person.

The morning conference session runs from 8 a.m. to noon, and will include presentations on food safety, the future of Texas agriculture, plant stress and water conservation. Morning keynote speakers include: Jay Lehr, Potash Corporation; C.J. Sciffes, deputy director of the Texas Agricultural Experiment Station; and Dan Upchurch and John Burke, USDA Plant Stress Laboratory, Lubbock.

More than 500 producers, chemical dealers and agribusiness people are expected to attend.

Participants can earn up to five continuing education units (CEUs) required by the Texas Department of Agriculture for certification of commercial and noncommercial pesticide applicators, or as many as 6.75 CCA education units. Four of these CEU's are approved by the New Mexico Department of Agriculture, and two are approved by the Oklahoma Department of Agriculture.

The conference is sponsored by the West Texas Agricultural Chemicals Institute (WTACI), an organization of scientists, educators, industry representatives and agribusiness leaders. The institute has sponsored-conducted research and educational programs focusing on safe ag chemical use since 1953.

A morning awards ceremony will feature presentation of WTACI awards and college scholarships totaling more than $7,000.

The afternoon general session begins at 12:45 p.m. with presentations on the current farm bill, boll weevil eradication and textile quality issues.

Featured speakers include Tommy Sell, deputy staff director of the U.S. House of Representatives Agriculture Committee; Charles Allen, Texas Boll Weevil Eradication Foundation; and Darrell Lindsey, Plains Cotton Cooperative Association.

Concurrent educational sessions on precision agriculture; biotechnology; insect identification and control; crop diseases; and a weed workshop will be presented by Extension specialists, Texas Agricultural Experiment Station scientists and Texas Tech University and industry representatives following the afternoon general session.

The concurrent afternoon educational sessions will begin at 3:15 p.m. and wrap up around 4:45 p.m. Closing remarks, CEU-CCA certificates and session evaluations will be the order of business after these sessions conclude.

For more information on the WTACI conference, call Sheryl Smith at 806-746-6101.

Boll Weevil assessment notices in the mail

Boll weevil eradication assessment notices were recently mailed to cotton producers in the Northern High Plains eradication zone.

The assessments are based on information cotton producers provide the Farm Service Agency when they certify their crops. If growers find an error in the information on their billing, they will need to correct the information at their local FSA Office, which will forward the corrected information to the Foundation.

A 2 percent discount is available to growers who pay the full assessment by Sept. 10.

Growers who certified failed acres by the final certification date for their area are eligible to receive a credit for those acres as long as the fields are kept free of cotton capable of supporting boll weevil feeding and reproduction. Failure to keep the fields clean will result in the full assessment being due.

For more information contact your local district office or call the Assessments Department in Abilene at (866) 672-2800.

The Texas Boll Weevil Eradication Foundation is a nonprofit, grower-initiated and funded organization dedicated to eliminating the cotton boll weevil from the state in the most cost-effective and environmentally responsible manner possible.

Matador cowboy reunion Saturday

The 9th Annual Matador Cowboy Reunion will get underway at 11:00 a.m. on Old Settlers Saturday, the 24th of August, 2002, at Green's place in Roaring Springs.

This is a get-together of old-timers who worked for the Matador Land and Cattle Company and/or any of its successors, plus folks currently on the Matador Ranch payroll. Spouses and guests of eligible participants are welcome.

Moore Maker knives will be given away to a lucky few.

Jerry Slaton of Afton is fixing dinner. His wagon will be easy to spot, 200 long paces from the Southwest end of Dutchman Creek bridge. Chuck will be served at high noon.

Petition sign up ends Aug. 30

The U.S. Department of Agriculture is conducting a sign-up June 3 through August 30 to provide cotton producers and importers an opportunity to request a referendum on continuing two key features of their national research and promotion program.

The program, developed under the Cotton Research and Promotion Act, is a self-help marketing initiative, funded with assessments collected from cotton producers and importers. It is designed to strengthen cotton's competitive market position and to expand markets and uses for cotton.

In 1991, USDA instituted nonrefundable assessments on all U.S. Upland cotton and the authority to collect assessments on imported cotton and cotton imported textiles as amendments to the Cotton Research and Promotion Order. The order implements the 1966 Cotton Research and Promotion Act.

As required by the act, USDA reviewed the program to determine whether a referendum on continuing the two amendments was needed. USDA issued a decision that a referendum was unnecessary in the January 14, 2002, Federal Register. However, the act also requires such a decision be followed with an opportunity for producers and importers to request a referendum. USDA would offer that option if enough producers and importers are interested.

To move to a referendum, the numerical equivalent of 10 percent of those voting in the last referendum would have to request a referendum, and no more than 20 percent of all of the requests could come from one state or from importers. The USDA held the last referendum in 1991.

Producers desiring a referendum would register at their local Farm Service Agency offices.

Wanda Hickerson and Family

The family of Aaron Carthel would like to thank all of those who honored our family with food, flowers, and visits when Dad was in the hospital and after he passed away. We were overwhelmed at the way this community and the surrounding area responded to our tragedy. We especially want to thank the Floydada EMS, the Mangold Memorial Hospital, and the Floydada Rehabilitation and Care Center employees for the tender, loving care they have him during his illness. We would also like to thank the Moore-Rose-White Funeral Home for being so helpful and gracious. We will always be grateful. May God bless you.

Give Thanks

By: Edward G. Marks
When the day is done
and the sun has gone to rest;

In the still of the evening when life is at its best.

Give thanks to God for the day that you have just lived.

For God's greatest gifts are the ones He has already given.

For the day was filled with treasure and God's glory did abound.

His goodness warmed us like the sun and His blessings were all around.

So be thankful for what you have and thankful for who you are.

For God knows each one of us just like He knows the stars.

Thanks to all the people in Floydada for their prayers, cards, phone calls, and donations during the recent death of our loved one, W.C. Patton.

It is our prayer that God will bless every one of you.

Dear Friends and Relatives,

Layne Mercer, our daughter, sister, and granddaughter, was a very unique, energetic young lady who lived her life to the fullest. She lived her faith in God and all who knew her, knew of it. She was so precious in her Golfing Outfit and her service was a tribute to her life and a testimony to the Lord. She touched a lot of people in her 16 years, 6 months, and 21 days as there were many people in attendance at her wonderful service. Some of our cousins and friends who didn't know her very well said that because of the service they felt that they got to know Layne.

Thank you so much for your prayers, words of encouragement, cards, food, visits, flowers, memorials and contributions to the Scholarship Fund in memory of Layne Mercer. Also a special thanks to those who were able to attend her service. You have helped make our grief a little easier.

Thanks again for everything.

Love,
Tim and Jackie Mercer

Chad and Christy Frizzell named as "Relay Community Ambassadors"

The American Cancer Society, the nation's leading voluntary health agency, has named Chad and Christy Frizzell as "Relay Community Ambassadors." As Relay Community Ambassadors, the Frizzells will act as key grass roots volunteers and spokespersons for the Society's advocacy efforts, representing the interests of those touched by cancer before Congress during a national event in Washington, D.C. on September 19th with other Relay Community Ambassadors from across the country.

"We want Congress to know cancer is a major concern to their constituents," said Jimmy Castillo, on staff at the Lubbock ACS office. "This year, an estimated 1.3 million Americans are going to be diagnosed with cancer and 550,000 will die. Christy and Chad both know first hand what this means and we are proud to have them carry our message to make cancer a national priority to Representative Mac Thornberry and Senators Hutchison and Graham."

More than 3,000 Ambassadors, cancer survivors and volunteers from each of the country's 435 Congressional districts will take part on September 18-19 in the event known as the American Cancer Society's "Relay for Life Celebration on the Hill." During the event, Chad and Christy along with the other Ambassadors will meet with their members of Congress and their Senators to let them know that fighting cancer is a priority to their constituents back home. Joined by thousands more survivors and volunteers from across the country, these Ambassadors will converge upon the Capitol Reflecting Pool.

Chad and Christy Frizzell know all too well the affects of cancer. Chad lost his grandfather to lung cancer in 1996 and then lost his mother to leukemia in 2000. Christy lost her grandfather to lung cancer in 1991, her grandmother to breast cancer in 1998 and her mother to small cell lung cancer in 2000. Christy became involved with the American Cancer Society when she was asked to co-chair the annual Floyd County Relay For Life for 2000-2001. Chad became involved the following year and is now the President of the Floyd County Unit of the American Cancer Society. If you were to ask either one of them why they are going to Washington to lobby our lawmakers they will be happy to tell you, "We are going for our daughter, Kylie."

Before the Frizzells head to Washington, D.C. you might find Christy about town with a camera and clipboard. She is collecting personal stories to take to Mac Thornberry with her. The program is called, "Picture A Cure For Cancer." This program has been done during the 2002 Relay For Life events around the country.

"Unfortunately we were unable to implement this program at our Relay in June, so I am going to go around Lockney and Floydada and collect as many stories as I can to take to Mac Thornberry's office this next month when I meet with him in Amarillo," says Christy. "Picture a Cure is simply a form that someone fills out that says, this is who I am, this is how cancer has affected me and this is what I want you as a lawmaker to do about it. Then I take a picture of you and attach it to the letter and give it to our Representative in hopes that by putting so many faces to the issue that it will become as important to him as it is to us. I have been told by the national grass roots coordinator that there are hundreds of thousands of these stories for the Ambassadors to take to our lawmakers. I want to make sure that Floyd County is represented in that number."

If you do not see Christy, but would like to tell your story, contact her at 652-2345 for more information.

"Picture A Cure" puts a face on the issue of cancer," said Christy. "While in Washington I will plead with lawmakers to double funding for the National Institute of Health. This will not only fund treatment and education, but also fund research for the eventual cure for cancer," says Christy. "I am taking a picture with me to give to my representative and my senator that shows a baby girl being held by two very beautiful women that she will never know. A picture of a little girl who had both of her grandmothers taken from her by cancer. I am going so that my daughter and my grandchildren can live in a world where cancer no longer has the power to take lives. I can envision a time when Kylie comes to me and asks why her Nana and Gammie died from cancer when there is medication available that can cure cancer like the common cold. I know that there is a cure out there, we just need the funds to be made available to the medical community so that the research can be done."

The event is being organized under the auspice of the Society's signature activity, Relay For Life.

Floyd County just held their third annual Relay this past June at the Lockney High School track. Funds raised at this event were over $16,000 with 14 teams participating.

If you would like to purchase a luminary to be lit around the Capitol reflecting pool in honor of a cancer survivor or in memory of one who did not win their battle, you can log on to the ACS web site www.cancer.org and purchase one there, just look for Celebration on the Hill. Or you can contact the Frizzells and they will make arrangements for the purchase.

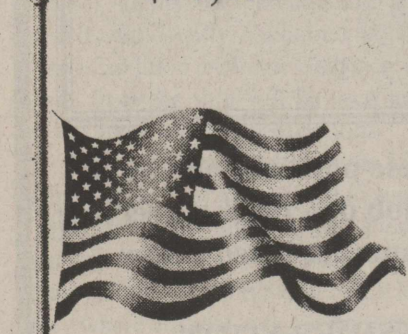

This will be the first national Relay For Life and there will be memorials from all over the United States.
