Youth honor veterans

By Alice Gilroy

Local veterans were honored. in emotional and heartfelt ceremonies in Floyd County schools November 11.

Veterans at the Floydada High School special assembly were moved to tears during the program's songs and special video presentations.

Boy Scout Troop 357 presented the Colors to start the High School's, "Salute to Freedom", and Adriana DeLa Fuente led the Greer's beautiful song, "American Soldier", echoed throughout the Whirlwind Gymnasium.

David Vasquez presented a red, white, and blue wreath, made by the FHS Art Class, which was later placed in front of the Veteran's Memorial.

The FHS Whirlwind Band

once again honored the Veterans with an "Armed Forces Medley". Veterans were asked to stand when the theme song for the military branch in which they served was played. The band also brought tears to the eyes of veterans with the song, "One Nation Under God". The song was accompanied by a video presenta-after 911. A video presentation produced by the FHS Video Technology National Anthem and Tate Class, called "A Salute to Freedom", was a moving tribute from FHS students to veterans. The movie honored veterans by showing various activities of FHS students which would not have been possible without the sacrifices of the veterans. The show ended with individual students turning to the camera and saying simply, tion depicting events before and

"Thank-you"

Jarrett Kirk closed the program with "Taps".

After the program the veterans enjoyed a reception and then were either seen at Lockney Elementary School for a complimentary lunch, or at the Wreath Laying Ceremony at the Veteran's Memorial.

In Lockney 5th grade students at Lockney Elementary paid for the lunch of veterans, and were honored to sit and share lunch with the veterans.

The cafeteria was brightly decorated in red, white, and blue and Principal Phil Cotham sang Lee Greenwood's "Proud to Be An American"

According to Cotham, "This turned out so well we may do this every year.'

Council discusses ways to attract commerce

During the regular scheduled meeting of the Lockney City Council November 11, the council discussed increasing the utility rates. After a short discussion it was determined that a workshop would be appropriate before considering a utility rate increase. The workshop will be held at City Hall, November 16th at 6:00 p.m.

Brenda Johnson and Phillip Glasson, Directors with the Lockney Economic Development Committee, gave a financial report and requested approval to replace a vacant position on the committee with Pat O'Connell. The council unanimously approved the financial report and gave approval for the appointment of O'Connell. When asked about any progress of the E.D.C. bringing a dairy into the area Philip Glasson reported they were still hopeful concerning dairies but there was nothing in the plans at this time. Floyd County Commissioners canvassed and approved election returns Monday morning, November 15

Although the results for the Commissioner Pct. #1 race are still in question by write-in candidate Mike Anderson, the canvassing of the votes is a formality by the Commissioners Court to approve the tally sheet that has been presented to the court.

Anderson has 30 days, from the date of the election, to contest the ballot count, and he has informed the newspaper that he intends to investigate what he perceives to be irregularities and that he may contest the election after the investigation is over.

We see by the papers, and everywhere else, that President Bush will, as his second term begins, start working on some sort of solution to the horrible immigration problems with our southern neighbors, and as well will begin thinking about trying to arrive at some sort of peace between Muslims and Jews in what is called "The Holy Land."

We can understand, from a purely political sense, why the President has waited so long. The election was pending. Anything that irritated those three gentlemen or any of their followers would have, or could have, negatively influenced the outcome of the election. So the wise thing to lives and too much money in the do was nothing. In the meantime, inaction could always be explained away to the faithful.

> The same could be said of the immigration mess. Bush is not stupid. He's got to know how current immigration practices are skewing the society his ancestors helped create. He's got to know what is happening as a result of the tremendous influx of illegal foreigners into this country. By virtue of purely anecdotal information alone, without the government statistics that back it up, he must know what that influx is doing to our hospitals and schools. Still, he chose to wait until the election was over before moving to correct the situation.

Now the election is past. Not only that, Yasser Arafat is dead. A new group has taken the place of the Palestine leader, and President Bush now indicates to British Prime Minister Tony Blair that he will try to do something, providing, of course, everybody is agreeable.

We will believe it when we see it. Colin Powell, not one of our favorite politicians but one of the few people in this Administration who concerned himself with issues of war and peace in the Middle East, has resigned, along with a host of other Cabinet officials. Donald Rumsfeld, the Secretary of Defense who is most comfortable with the situation in the Middle East, remains securely in his position. It requires no bureaucratic genius to observe who stays and who leaves.

By: Ken Towery email: chowdipper@austin.rr.com

> Long ago we set forth our own views on the probability of peace in that part of the world, and the probability is not good as we see things. As long as American politicians pant after Jewish campaign money, and Israel pants after American tax money and American weaponry, there will be no peace in that unhappy region. Peace, in our view, would appear overnight if the billions in American money now flowing annually to Israel was suddenly cut off, a situation not likely to occur given the forces working to maintain the status quo.

Still, hope springs eternal. We can now hope that with the election past, with a new slate in the Middle East, with the President holding the winning cards, a new day may be dawning on several fronts. Mr. Bush may wise up somewhat in his dealing with Ariel Sharon. He may even begin to think the border situation might lend itself to security problems, which he ought to, even if corporate friends might think, and say, otherwise.

Scout seeking donations for Eagle Project

BY ZANE MONTANDON My name is Zane Montandon. After many years of scouting I have achieved the level of Life Scout. I attend Lockney High School where I am classified as a senior. I am working on achieving Eagle Rank in Scouts.

The project I have chosen is basically to improve the physical conditions of the special education department. CSSA consists of students from 3 communities, Floydada ISD, Lockney ISD, and Petersburg ISD. Their classroom is based out of Floydada ISD.

I chose my project because it will make people feel good about themselves -- a group that too many may look down upon. I enjoy working with them and for many years I planned on organizing a Special Olympics in Floyd County. But, this was not possible. I have to have everything completed by December 18, 2004. It is a big undertaking but I feel qualified to do it.

The largest portion of my project consists of replacing the carpet. If time and money allow, I would also like to see the TV and stereo are be better organized with an entertainment center. The kitchen could use a cabinet to enclose all the supplies. They have also been without a banner to carry for their competitions.

I know that I only have to do the carpet to complete the requirements on my project. However, making someone's day brighter makes my day brighter. Any donations will be accepted.

Kirk and Sons has donated the carpet almost at cost. One man has already donated padding for the carpet. Others have donated items to be sold. Strangers have volunteered their time to help. The main concern at this time is the money for the carpet and installation which is $1,000. Estimated cost needed to complete everything is around $2,000.

ZANE MONTANDON

If you would like to make a donation (it is tax deductible), you can make it payable to Boy Scouts Troop 357, memo Zane Montandon Eagle Project. Mail to Zane Montandon, HCR 4, Box 57, Lockney, TX., 79241.

Also you may contact my Scout Master, Bobby Gilliland at 983-5131. My prayer is that God will be glorified through many people in this project.

Board Member Rachael Castillo then read a pre-written motion. "I move we authorize the superintendent to draft and file a complaint on the district's behalf, upon approval of the board, against the Floyd County Tax Appraisal Office." Board Member Amado Morales seconded the motion. Board Members Bill Dean, President Mitch Probasco, Morales and Castillo voted unanimously for the motion. Board Members Kerry Pratt, Mark McCormick and Bart Greer were absent from the board meeting.

In last month's board meeting (October 12), Vaughn told the board members, "We have requested information, in writing, for procedures on how to file a complaint, get some information about what business dealings we have with the Tax Appraisal Office and information about other things. We don't feel they were above board and right (concerning the Bond Election), nor cooperative with our business office here.'

Also, last month, the FISD requested five inquiries from the Tax Appraisal Office. They were office records of individuals who worked at the Appraisal office from August 1 through September 13, 2004, a list of all taxing authorities, how much was collected from these authorities from 2002 through 2004, what percentage was collected by each authority, and a copy of the current year's contracts of these authorities and how much they each paid during those years.

In other matters, the board unanimously approved a Public Hearing to be held December 9, 2004, 6:30 p.m., at the board's next scheduled meeting, to discuss the donation of the South Plains School property and gymnasium to the newly organized nonprofit South Plains Community Center, Inc. The 2.6 acres of property and the gymnasium are to be utilized as a Community Center.

The board unanimously approved a $27,959.00 selling bid by City Auto for the school's purchase of a 2005 GMC Yukon XL suburban. The motion was made by Morales and seconded by board, "This tractor comes with a front end loader. We need that to move gravel and we need the forklift to move skids of paper. It will be very usable, as compared to the older tractor."

Upon the recommendation by Superintendent Vaughn, the board approved advertisement to comply with a 60 day deadline for the application of a change in the 2005-2006 school year's start date. Vaughn said, "We want to apply for August 17, 2005 start date, instead of the later August 22 date. Otherwise, we will not be able to finish the first semester before the Christmas holidays.

FISD Business Manager Sharon Rainwater gave an October, 2004 tax statement update to the board. The current Tax Roll is $2,088,173.01. Net Collections showed $756,203.56, which is 36.35 percent collected to date, as compared to last year's collection of 43.83 percent.

A Special Meeting, January 13, 2005, 6:30 p.m., for the District AEIS Report and the 2005-2006 Textbook Committee for textbook adoption were both adopted unanimously by the board.

In the Superintendent's Report, Vaughn informed the board that FISD enrollment was down from last year's numbers. "This year's enrollment, as of last Friday, was at 1,029, compared to last year's enrollment at 1058. November is usually our school's peak month. I am very concerned that our numbers are down. This will effect our receiving less state money. We have had several families move out of the county."

Concerning Board Member Castillo's question about transfers in and out of the county, Vaughn said, "We have had 18 transfers out because of their parent's work situations, not because they were disgruntled. We have had about 13 transfers into our school system. So the transfers just about average out the same."

The board approved the employment of Brenda Greer, FLC, at R.C. Andrews Elementary.

Students of the Month recognized by the board were: Anthony Bolton, Kindergarten, A.B. Duncan Elementar : Elizabeth Suarez, Grade, R.C. Andrews Elementary; Christopher Trevino, Grade 8, FJ, IS; and David Vasquez, Grade 12, FHS. Employee of the Month was Mary Molinar, Prekindergarten, A.B. Duncan Elementary. Save lives give blood

By Connie Hollinshead

It's that time of year again! Trips to the mall; gift lists for friends and family; co-workers and teachers and holiday meal planning. It seems to occur earlier and earlier each year. All these wonderful plans keep people busy-too busy, sometimes, to donate blood.

Busy shoppers can take a load off and start holiday planning while donating blood at the Lockney Health Fair Blood Drive on Saturday, December 4th from 9:00am to 2:00pm at the elementary school. The blood drive will replenish the local blood supply and stock hospitals' shelves for the upcoming holiday season.

United Blood Services encourages people to donate once more before the end of the year, when people are so busy with holiday plans. Traditionally, the nation's blood supply is very tight during the holidays; area residents can help assure that a blood shortage does not occur this year.

The blood drive comes at a critical time. Blood can be stored for only 42 days and the blood that is donated now will save the lives of patients who are in the hospital or receiving medical treatments during the holiday season. What better a gift to give?

Make a commitment to stop by the Lockney Holiday Health Fair to donate blood. Volunteer blood donors must be at least 17, weigh at least 110 pounds and be in good health. All donors must have a picture ID and a list of their medications. All donors will have their choice of a T-shirt, cap, and an insulated mug.

"The cotton harvest in Floyd and we will have 12 participants miles east of Floydada owned by County is in full swing. About 40 percent of the cotton has been harvested in the county so far. The wet weather slowed us down. The snow was the wettest snow I have ever seen. It was bad for the cotton, but good for the wheat.'

According to Ragland, the dryland cotton is averaging from quet will be held November 22, one to one and one-half bales per acre, while the irrigated cotton is averaging from two to three bales per acre. Much of the preparation for moving into the new building was done at this site as Janet, Glenda and Beth sorted through the books and put them into order again, discarding out-of-date materials and checking card catalog records.

About a year later, the books were repacked in the order in which they would go on the shelves in the new library. These well-traveled volumes finally were moved into the new library. It took more than a year, but all the books and videos are now

One of the disappointments she discovered in her research was that the newspapers of the area made a pact not to tell the worst of the severe crisis.

"The editors feared that more of the already declining population would pack up and move away," she said. Jameson also discovered that the farmers who kept records speak of daily details, but never of feelings about what was happening to them. Longhorns win bi-district championship over Idalou

By Bubba Edwards

For the second time in three years, the Lockney Longhorns have earned another bi-district championship and advanced to the area round of the Texas State High School playoffs. The Longhorns accomplished all of this by defeating the Idalou Wildcats 27-13 last Thursday night at Bulldog Stadium in Plainview.

Lockney will match-up with the Holliday Eagles for the area championship game at Memorial Stadium in Wichita Falls starting at 6:00 p.m. on Saturday. Holliday defeated Spearman 35-28 in double overtime.

"The bad thing about losing the coin flip is we have to travel almost to Oklahoma," Coach Robertson said. "But the good thing is we gain a few extra days to prepare for an excellent team and most importantly we gain a few days to heal some wounds."

Mark Ford and the massive offensive lineman pushed their way for four touchdowns on runs of 31, 65, 1 and 15 yards. Ford rushed for 301 yards on 38 carries to lead all rushers. The defense stole the show with their punishing tackles and four interceptions which caused the Wildcat offense to stall most of the night. Cagan Cummings, Brandon Hall, Matt Reay and Trey Graves each had one interception. Our defense set the tone early with their aggressiveness which I felt was the difference of the game," Coach Robertson said.

Lockney did not start the game very aggressive as the Wildcats ran the opening kickoff into Lockney territory. Four plays later, the Wildcats scored first on an 11 yard run by Jeremy Dewbre. Lockney answered quickly scoring two touchdowns in the first half giving them a 14-6 lead at the half.

The most important drive of the night was the first possession of the second half. Lockney went 75 yards on 15 plays eating up eight minutes of the clock. Ford one yard run and McCarter's third extra point of the night gave the Longhorns a 21-6 lead.

From that point on, the Longhorns dominated defensively. All except for the perfectly executed screen pass on third and long which was good for a 67 yard score by Weston Sales.

The touchdown closed the lead 21-13

A Lockney turnover gave the Wildcats some hope, but the hope quickly vanished on an interception by Brandon Hall. Lockney, wisely worked the clock to their advantage and put the game out of reach on a 15 yard touchdown run by Ford with under a minute left in the contest.

'We need to enjoy this victory as long as we can because we have to get ready for a really good football team," Robertson exclaimed. "Our boys are ready for the challenge and my coaches have worked long hours to put together a game winning strategy. We are pretty evenly matched and they are similar in the things that we do. To our advantage, I feel like we are more aggressive than they are which will be a huge asset to us just like the Idalou game. It will be fun."

22ND INDIVIDUAL

Perez runs 22nd at State

By Coach Prather

Tony Perez ran a great race this past Saturday, November 13, 2004, at the State Cross Country Meet at Round Rock.

Out of 105 runners, he placed 22nd!! His time was a sub 17:00 at 16:56. This is a longer course than the one at Regionals. Regionals is 3 miles and the one at state is 5K or 3.1 miles.

His first mile was 4:56, which is the first time he has ever run a sub 5 minute mile. He actually led part of the race and ran a very energized race. He has had another exceptional year and now looks forward to track in the spring.

Three teams from our region finished in the top four with Ozona taking 1st place, Boys Ranch - 2nd place, Krum-last year's 1st place team took 3rd and Wall finished 4th. Overall I believe our team would rank in the top 10 in Texas.

I ne Breezers traveled to Bobcat country last week to play their last junior high football game and came home with a 28-16 victory.

The Dimmitt Bobcats came out ready to play some tough bobcat football. Their coaching staff said after the game that this was the best their Bobcats had performed all year. All I know is that those Cats gave us a good game to finish our season.

Our defensive attack was great all night long. Titus Miller, Luis Foster and Chad Davis, our linebackers, directed our attack to stopping the Cats. Our defensive front made up of Tyler Derryberry, Chris Carasco, Dillion Chesshir and Chris Trevino did a great job putting pressure on the shotgun offensive attack of the Cats. The Bobcats managed to score two touchdowns late in the fourth quarter.

The Breezers offensive attack was good on the ground as well as in the air. Isom Bolton had some great runs around the left side of the line, picking up 13, 15 and 24 yard runs. These kind of plays set up two Aarrhon Flores counter plays; one 47yarder and one for a 38 yard score.

Titus Miller connected on the extra point to Colton Covington. Right before the end of the first half the defense stopped a good Bobcat drive on the 38 yard line with 7 seconds left on the clock. Titus Miller connected to Aarrhon Flores in the endzone for a touchdown score. Luis Ramos scored the two point conversion. The Breezes last score came on a Miller to Flores connection again from 34 yards out. The extra point was no good.

The game ended up with Breezers 28 and Bobcats 16. This also ends the 2004 season for the Breezers. It was a good year and a great time for our team. These boys played really hard all year long and gave their all at all time. I know I had fun and I am sure these young men did too.

I would like to thank all^s the parents for the support you gave these young men as well as the decorations for the Breezer team. things for the future of Floydada are yet to come.

By Coach Ayala 7th Breezers - 30 7th Bobcats - 16

The Breezers ended the 2004 football season with a victory over the Dimmitt Bobcats 30-16. The Breezers 7th grade team got better and better each week.

The defensive group play as a unit inside, outside and in coverage. You can't ask for very much more from a defense.

The Bobcats ran out of a shotgun offensive attack with little results. Our defense stopped their sweep, their dive and their pass. It was not until late in the fourth quarter that they got to score two touchdowns. Their quarterback was a really good player and he finally managed to escape on a little quarterback counter dive play. The extra point was good. They also scored on a little pass fate in the fourth quarter and the extra point was good.

The Breezer offensive scores were led by two scores from our fullback David Diaz. Both were from 3 yards out. Florencio Cuba scored on a 32 yard reverse play that left all the Bobcats on the opposite side of the field. The extra point was good. A Jordan Cornelius pass to Fred Williams stormed in the last score from 38 yards out over the right side. Williams' tough running has improved each week. Jordan keep the ball on a sweep keep for the extra point. Cornelius also completed a two point conversion pass to Flo Cuba earlier in the game. That ended the scoring drive for the Breezers, 30-16.

This game ended the 2004 football season for our 7th grade team. Again I would like to thank all the support you gave this team and all the other programs in this great school district. This group of players is going to be fun to watch in the years to come. Come be a part of the Breeze and a part of greater things to come in the future of Floydada ISD.

Also scoring in double digits for the game was Britny Rando with 11 points, Michelle Yannis with 10 points and Jennifer Leatherman with 10 points.

Marla Reeves ended the game with 6 points. Morgan Norrell added 3 points to the scoreboard while Morgan Marble, Stacy Griggs and Stephanie Carrasco each had 2 points.

come to those who wait. Unfortunately that adage won't hold true on the High Plains of Texas if producers are forced to hold up harvesting their 2004 cotton crop by another wave of winter weather.

Despite a less than appetizing short-term weather forecast for the weekend, prospects for the crop have not vet been adversely impacted by the recent weather events. The November 12 crop Production Report from USDA's National Agricultural Statistics Service increased the estimated size of the 2004 crop during the agency's recent round of field surveys.

The NASS survey process, carried out by enumerators from the Texas Agricultural Statistics Service, was conducted at the end of October, just before the arrival of winter on the Texas High Plains.

At that time the region, like the rest of the U.S. continues to show that a record setting crop remains in the field. Total U.S. production for 2004 was raised in the November 12 survey to 21.8 million bales of Upland cotton and 22.54 million bales when Pima acreage is included.

Texas crop estimates led the advance this month as the State's already record 7.3 million bales October estimate increased to 7.7 million bales in November.

The 400,000 bales increase is attributed mostly (300,000 bales) to the High Plains region included in crop reporting districts 1-N and 1-S.

In October the area was projected to grow 4.33 million bales of cotton. As of November 12 that figure jumped to 4.63 million bales. Average yields projected for the two districts are 779 pounds per acre in 1-N and 624 pounds per acre in district 1-S.

Per acre yield forecasts that fueled the latest estimate were a modest 6 pound per acre increase in 1-N, and a significant 54 pound per acre increase for 1-S. With the area still estimated to be less than 20 percent harvested producers know there is a long road to travel before the latest estimates become reality. Persistent weather delays could still adversely affect the size and quality of the crop.

They say that good things are in the forecast for the area base in 2004. over the next few days could accelerate this process.

Cotton

Quality-wise the crop continues to hold its own in almost all categories. A total of 481,276 bales have been classed in the Lubbock and Lamesa USDA Cotton Classing offices through November, 11.

Both offices are averaging 1 Color, 3-4 Leaf, Strength of 29 g/tex, and 3.6 or better Micronaire readings. Staple lengths are averaging 34.95 at Lubbock and 35.23 at Lamesa.

The only thing that is certain for high Plains producers is that each day that can be spent in the field will be critical for the 2004 crop to meet the tremendous potential that it still retains. Big yields and weather worries creating crop insurance questions Big yields and less than desirable weather pattern are creating a stressful situation for cotton producers across the high Plains region.

A big part of their concern is how to get the crop that's in the field harvested in a timely manner. A side issue that some have questioned is how these high yields will be treated when they are fed into the Federal Crop Insurance Actual Production history database.

Rumors and misunderstandings have already begun to surface regarding how higher than normal yields are treated within the Federal Crop Insurance Program that yields are automatically capped for purposes of the APH database, regardless of the fact that the producer has verifiable evidence that a higher yield was produced.

Plains Cotton Growers has discussed this issue with USDA Risk Management officials to determine exactly what procedures come into play when reported yields are greater than what is considered normal by virtue of past production in an area.

The main purpose of the yield verification procedures used by RMA is to identify and correct data entry errors, and to identify potential instances of fraud. RMA personnel have been following the progress of the crop and have a good underlated instances. Additional epi- standing of the yield levels that sodes of wind, rain and snow that will be added to the APH data-

PCG was pleased to note that the agency is also willing to look at modifications within the data acceptance system to accommodate the higher yields. These changes, once enacted, will also keep the additional workload associated with verifying flagged yields to a reasonable level that assures accuracy and prevents abuse. Insurance companies are responsible for verifying the yield information reported by producers.

Under normal circumstances yields are automatically flagged for company follow-up and verification when they exceed two times the amount of the T-yield in the county in which the crop was produced. When this situation occurs the company is asked to verify the yield is correct and entered into the system correctly.

Should a reported yield exceed four times the County Tyield the file is also flagged for verification by the company with the additional requirement that the findings be reported to RMA for final approval before being included in the database.

With the additional yield prospects that exist on the High Plains RMA is evaluating how much these two trigger levels will need to be increased to better reflect the average production values that will be seen in 2004 but still provide adequate followup on yields that exceed the higher parameters.

To keep the verification pro-The biggest concern that ex- cess from becoming a bigger ists is the mistaken impression headache than it needs to be producers and insurance providers are encouraged to head off potential problems by keeping production and yield evidence up to date

> It is possible that some 2004 non-irrigated production could be 6-8 times the County T-yield and require some level of verification by the company.

The good news is that once they are verified they will go into the APH database "as-is" regardless of how much they exceed the County T-yield.

Weather patterns are creating "What-if" questions

When another wave of cold High Plains this week, and just a week after a good portion of the area received its' first significant snowfall and freeze, producers are becoming increasingly aware of the calendar.

about is the fact that its almost the middle of November and less than 20 percent of the area's three-plus million acres of harvestable cotton has been stripped, and run through the gin.

As it stands now there is a good chance that harvest activity could stretch into the new year, even with favorable weather from today forward.

That means that the normal end of the crop insurance period on January 31 could arrive with many producers either still having cotton in the field or, even more likely, cotton sitting in a module on the tun-row waiting to be hauled to the gin for processing.

In an effort to keep these dire scenarios from adversely impacting a producer's insurance coverage, PCG has encouraged the Risk Management Agency to remain flexible and consider the possibility that an extension to the insurance period might be necessary

Along the same lines, PCG encourages insurance providers to remain flexible and to work with producers who might be caught in this situation. Producers are advised to keep in close contact with their insurance provider and keep them up to date on the status of their harvest operations.

Traders called this week a 'nervous" time for the market with December options expiring on Friday and traders anxiously awaiting the release of USDA's monthly supply/demand report. Upon its release, traders realized a surge in U.S. cotton production was not the only figure in USDA's supply/demand report that was surprising.

Several market analysts predicted a slight rise in U.S. production, while others anticipated a lower crop figure after adverse weather hit U.S. cotton growing regions. However, all market estimates were surpassed. USDA raised its figure for U.S. cotton production by 1.0 million bales to a record 22.54 million bales in its November report.

"Some analysts had predicted a 22.0 million bale crop and we thought that might be a little high, but even those figures were on exports of 12.1 million bales.

U.S. domestic use was left unchanged from the October report at 6.1 million bales; however, ending stocks were boosted to 7.5 million bales, up 800,000 bales from last month's figure of 6.7 million bales.

Another record world crop figure of 111.72 million bales was projected by USDA in its November report, up from 109.67 million bales in October. Market analysts said the majority of the rise in world production came from a higher U.S. crop forecast. In fact, the department left a much anticipated rise in the Indian crop unchanged and made only a small increase in the Pakistani crop.

India's crop figure was left unchanged from last month at 14.2 million bales, while market observers anticipated a rise in that crop by at least 200,000 bales. USDA increased Pakistan's crop figure by 250,000 bales to 9.25 million in November.

An unchanged crop figure for China was another surprising feature of the report. The department left its projection for the Chinese crop at 29.5 million bales, but eraised its imports by 900,000 bales to 7.75 million bales and increased domestic use to 36.0 million bales from 34.75 million in its last report.

Meanwhile, USDA also released its weekly export sales report on Friday showing net U.S. export sales of 159,200 bales in the week ended November 4 were double the week earlier and 45 percent higher than the four-week average. The primary buyers were Turkey, China and South Korea. Sales of 7,800 bales for delivery in 2005-06 were for Guatemala and Estonia.

Export shipments of 123,300 bales were 37 percent higher than the previous week and 28 percent higher than the four-week average. Major destinations included Mexico, China, and Thailand.

Spot cotton sales also rose as more cotton became available for sale in the week ended November 11. Texas, Oklahoma and Kansas producers sold 25,775 bales online compared to the previous week when 14,200 bales were traded. Prices received by producers selling their cotton online ranged from 39.15 to 40.90 cents per pound versus the previous week's range of 39.15 to 40.21 cents per pound.

In other news, winter arrived on the Texas High and Rolling Plains this week. Daytime highs were predicted to hover around the 40 degree mark, and nighttime readings are expected near freezing. A chance of snow and rain showers was forecast for the weekend prompting producers to harvest as much cotton as possible before the inclement weather arrives.

Picking and ginning activities are progressing at a rapid pace in Arizona, while many producers in the Southeast, Memphis Territory and California are experiencing adverse weather conditions causing harvest delays.
