Voting machines previewed

On Thursday, November 17, 2005 the Floyd County Commissioners Court heard a proposal from Roger Tinnin, from Hart Intercivic, concerning the new electronic voting machines to be used by Floyd County residents.

Due to Federal regulations requiring implementation of electronic voting devices Floyd County is in the process of purchasing equipment for 21 voting stations. The cost, which is provided for by a grant, will be between $125,000 and $135,000.

Attending the meeting were representatives from the other entities in the county. The county has agreed to allow the other entities to use the equipment for their elections at no cost. The county only request is that the entities pick up any cost incurred to that election.

A demonstration of how to use the equipment, by voters, was given to those in attendance and appeared to be very simple. "Anyone who can touch a button can use this equipment", said Tinnin.

In other matters the court approved three farm contracts: (1) by Delton Jack - SW of Lockney to build up a border for soil erosion purpose, (2) by Royce O'Neal - 1 mile east of McCoy to level dirt for soil conservation, (3) by Brett Marble - South Plains to level dirt for a sprinkler system.

NEW VOTING MACHINES--City and County officials listen to a presentation by Roger Tinnin, of Hart Intercivic, on the new voting machines which will be in place in Floyd County by the next election. The Commissioners Court has purchased the machines and will allow the different entities to use them during elections. The machines are reportedly simple to use. Staff Photo

Old Fashioned Christmas in Lockney December 5th

The Lockney Chamber and Lockney's Downtown Beautification Committee are joining forces to present an Old Fashioned Christmas in the City, December 5.

The festivities will begin in town at 6:00 p.m. and end at 9:00 p.m.

Stores will be open late for shopping and Santa will arrive around 6:00 p.m. He will meet with kids at City Bank on Main Street.

An Elementary program will start at 6:30 p.m. and the Christmas story will be read at 7:00 p.m. Lockney's High School Band will also be part of the Christmas celebration and hay rides will be offered for 25¢. Singers will also enjoy caroling rides through town. Coffee, hot chocolate, and cookies will be on sale.

Floydada to celebrate Dickens of a Christmas December 5th

The Floydada Chamber of Commerce will sponsor the City's first Dickens of a Christmas and needs the support of the community to make it a success.

Beginning at 5:30 p.m., December 5th, the Chamber will do it's best (with the help of participants) to transform downtown Floydada into Charles Dicken's "Christmas Carol".

There will be fire drums on the square to keep hands warm, carolers, parade, and food vendors.

A white carriage pulled by palomino horses will be on hand to give rides around the square.

"It would be helpful if people did not park their cars around the square," said Chamber Manager Rachael Castillo.

"Everyone is encouraged to dress as their favorite Christmas related character," said Castillo.

"We hope we may catch a glimpse of the Little Drummer Boy, the Kings and Wise Men, Little Tim, and Scrooge."

There will also be a live Nativity and a few arts and crafts booths under the pavilion, and Santa Claus will also be on hand to visit with youngsters and get their wish list.

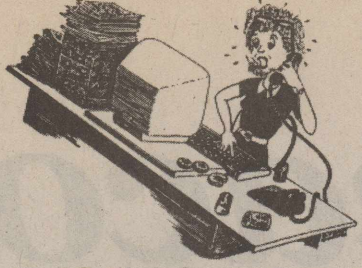

"Santa will bring up the rear of the parade," said Castillo. "Then he will greet children at Hale's Department Store."

"I want to encourage everyone to decorate their businesses with decorations and clear lights," said Castillo.

NEW LANDSCAPING AT COURTHOUSE--In a joint agreement the Floydada Chamber of Commerce, the City of Floydada, and Floyd County officials joined forces and cut down the large pine tree on the southwest corner of the Courthouse lawn. The Chamber of Commerce purchased this new 12 foot Eldarica Pine to replace the old tree, which was planted a few feet north of the old tree. Staff Photo

By The Way

By Alice Gilroy

email:floydada@amaonline.com

There may be a story in this week's paper concerning the flap over certain businesses taking references to Christmas out of their in store and out of store promotions and advertising.

It is no longer kosher to refer to Christ during our "winter holiday" season.

I heard about this several months ago when Wal Mart said they would be taking out Christmas references (Sam Walton is probably rolling over in his grave). I really didn't think it would go very far--but I was wrong.

Wal Mart has been joined by Target, K-Mart, Sears, Home Depot, Walgreens, J.C. Penny, Office Max, Staples, Dell, Best Buy, and Kroger.

I got all pumped up to boycott Wal-Mart and Target over the "holidays". I figured if they wanted to take Christ out of my Christmas, I would just take dollars out of their "winter holiday".

But then the list grew and grew. Where are we supposed to do our shopping?

I have an idea---shop at home! Shop with your local merchants that were here before Wal Mart moved to town. If you can't get it at a local merchant in Floydada or Lockney--try a smaller clothing store or electronics store in Plainview or Lubbock. There are other businesses around besides Wal-Mart, Target and K-Mart.

You may still not be able to find what you need--but at least try. Make the large retailer the last stop--not the first. It just might make a difference in their attitude.

It will most certainly make a difference in your local merchants attitude!

Now that the horse is gone, America's Pentagon intelligence has decided to lock the barn door. Or, in the alternative, at least look to see how the horse might have gotten out.

One of the least kept secrets of this column is the fact that we believe America has had, over the years, a woefully inadequate intelligence apparatus. That includes not only the CIA, but Defense Intelligence as well. The number of words we have devoted to complaining about our intelligence apparatus would rank up there with the number of words we have wasted complaining about taxes and the changing nature of certain Republicans.

At any rate, we were pleased to see a very small item by the Associated Press inside one of the daily newspapers, indicating the Pentagon will undertake a study to determine "whether personnel assigned to the Office of Special Plans from September 2002 through June 2003 conducted unauthorized, unlawful or inappropriate intelligence activities." The Office of Special Plans, gentle reader, was very active, and very instrumental, in planning for the Iraq war. According to all we have read, the Office of Special Plans had the ear of the Secretary of Defense, who had the ear of the President.

Senator Carl Levin, a Democrat of Michigan, who happens to be one of our least favorite Senators, must be given credit for getting the ball rolling on this, if anyone is to get credit...and we think he should. Secretary of Defense Donald Rumsfeld certainly wouldn't authorize the inquiry unless browbeaten into action by the Senate. Levin would have to share credit with the Senate Intelligence Committee's Chairman, Sen. Pat Roberts of Kansas in insisting that the Pentagon look into the matter.

We will reserve judgment on the matter until it gets a little further along. But it should be remembered by our readers that the Office of Special Plans was the one headed up by one Douglas Feith, now a "former" head of the operation. Feith was head of the office that produced the "analyst" who worked closely with the American-Israeli Political Action Committee, and passed intelligence along through them to the Israeli government. He got wracked up recently by the FBI and pled guilty to whatever. Rumsfeld was exceedingly quiet about the whole matter.

But you know a funny thing, gentle reader? Senator Levin is Jewish, as are the people who ran the Office of Special Plans, and as are many others who now call themselves "neo-cons," in today's political jargon. The fact that Levin may occasionally be hard on his fellow religious zealots only gives him medals for good behavior, as far as I am concerned. May Levin's tribe increase. We don't know what kind of Jew he claims to be...whether it is the "Reformed" kind, or the Orthodox kind, or the Conservative kind, or whatever...but we appreciate his persistence on this matter.

For about as long as we were involved with that business, one never knew where the intelligence services of one country ended and the other began. During the days of the Cold War it was a sort of symbiotic relationship. We say "sort of" because that is exactly what it was. We could trust the Israelis to give us straight stuff...as long as it was in their self-interest. They, after all, had a world wide intelligence network that we did not have, made up, for the most part, of innumerable little gnomes running shops in various countries around the globe, nearly all with one thing in mind...the greater glory of Israel.

One of the problems was that there were many people in the U.S. Government and the Israeli government who saw no distinction. To them, what was good for Israel was good for the United States, and the other way around. The "self-interest" thing was usually a one-way street. The Secretary of State in those days was Henry Kissinger, employed by Richard Nixon, then the President of the United States.

Kissinger had a thing, which was not an altogether bad thing, that Soviet arms should never defeat American arms on the field of battle. Disaster, as he saw it, would surely follow. Accordingly, Israel became the testing ground for all sorts of new Soviet weapons assigned to the Arabs and American weapons assigned to the Israelis. Our military saw that as a good thing, since it allowed us to test weapons that had never been tested before in battle. It also allowed the Pentagon to go to Congress for upgrades when the Soviet's showed advances in weaponry.

At any rate, we appreciate the proposed look into just what went on in the run-up to the Iraq war. A lot of good American youngsters have lost their lives in that situation. We are not saying, now, whether we, as a nation, should have done what we did. The Congress voted overwhelmingly to go into Iraq, and has just voted even more overwhelmingly to stay the course. All we are saying is, it never hurts to know the reasons, and quite frankly, we believe the American people have never been told the real reasons. Perhaps now we will find out why our intelligence has been so flawed.

Letters to the Editor

Dear Editor,

I am writing in reference to the recent articles about the city's efforts to control vicious dogs within the city limits. I have seen several articles lately, all with titles pertaining to vicious dogs; however I have yet to read a title about controlling the owners of these vicious dogs. How can we fix this if we don't address the root of the problem?

I drive around town and see dogs of all breeds chained to poles, trees, stakes and who knows what else. Most of the dogs I see have chains on them that I could use to pull my truck out of the mud. If you as a human had to live in a five foot circle your whole life and fight to get a meal how would you feel?

It's amazing to me the amount of animal cruelty you see around, and the lack of punishment for it. Matter of fact, the only punishment you hear about is toward the animal, when all along it wasn't the animal's fault. In all fairness, I must say that any dog beaten, neglected or trained to attack may bite a person. Any dog can be turned into a dangerous dog. The owner most often is responsible, not the breed, and not the dog.

An irresponsible owner can create a situation that places another person in danger by a dog, without the dog itself being dangerous. Any individual dog may be a good, loving pet, even though its breed is considered to be likely to bite. A responsible owner can win the love and respect of a dog, no matter its breed. One cannot look at an individual dog, recognize its breed, and then state whether or not it is going to attack. Why does a dog bite someone? Well, whether provoked, neglected or beaten...what other defense do they have?

Alyssa Bennett

Dear Editor:

Oh me, Oh me! Now they've gone and cut down the tree. It stood there for many a year, was tall and green, a lot of stories could be told of what it has seen. It was a little bent and bowed from all the years that it had grown but that is to be expected from a tree that old. It provided some shade for the court house squirrels and a nesting place for some of the birds and each Christmas held up the lights for the kids delight. Where it goes from here I do not know. Maybe it will provide some fireplace heat during winters' cold. In its' place now is a much, much smaller tree. It is young and better shaped, but will it stand when the wind really blows? What took so many years to grow was taken down by a big back hoe and what is left to fill the hole.....Well its' got a lot of years to grow!

"Reflections of Love" Christmas Basket drive is full speed ahead

Christmas is the time for charity and Floyd County organizations are once again busy with gathering donated gifts for those less fortunate.

In Floydada, it's full speed ahead for "Reflections of Love".

Empty laundry baskets are already being delivered to businesses or individuals, who wish to fill them up to help the elderly during the holidays.

"We are asking that you not put food in the basket," Sudy Cochran, a board member with "Reflections of Love",

"People need household items, toiletries, and maybe over-the-counter pharmaceutical items," said Cochran.

Seventy-six baskets are needed. They will be delivered the first part of December.

"Reflections" are also concentrating on children with their Christmas Toy Drive.

"We are doing the toy drive a little different this year," said Cochran. "It is going to be much easier for everyone."

Anyone business or individual who would like to donate to the toy drive should call a "Reflections" worker. You will be given a "family identity number" and the ages and sex of the children in the family.

Bring the wrapped presents with the attached label (identifying the family number and child). Deliver the package to Fred Thayer's office in Floydada.

If you are interested in any of these "Reflection" projects call: Sudy Cochran, 983-5165; Sally Bradley, 983-6390; Fred Thayer, 983-3121; Rita Green, 983-3449; or Mary Morales, 983-3171.

Lockney Salvation Army putting together Christmas Baskets now

In Lockney the Salvation Army is putting together baskets for families and seniors.

"Families can sign up from now until December 13th for a Christmas basket," said Alicia Luna, the local Director of the Salvation Army and the Manager for Lockney's Community Storehouse.

"If anyone has good toys for Santa to distribute please bring them to the Community Storehouse, at 203 W. Locust, between the hours of 1:00 p.m. and 3:30 p.m.," said Luna.

Sign-up for the elderly's Christmas baskets should also be done at the Community Storehouse.

Distribution of the toys will be on the 17th. Senior baskets will be delivered to homes by volunteers.

Lowe's changes "Holiday Trees" to "Christmas Trees"

According to the American Family Association (AFA) thousands of their supporters were successful in persuading Lowe's to change their "Holiday Trees" to "Christmas Trees".

Lowe's Companies Inc. is a FORTUNE 50 company that serves approximately 11 million customers a week at more than 1,150 home improvement stores in 49 states. Based in Mooresville, N.C. the 59 year old company is the second largest home improvement retailer in the world. The fiscal 2004 sales was $36.5 billion.

"After thousands of American Family Association (AFA) supporters contacted Lowe's to express their displeasure over the company's selling of 'Holiday Trees,' Lowe's has decided to refer to all its trees as 'Christmas Trees,'" said AFA President Tim Wildmon.

"Companies who choose to abandon the national observance of Christmas are finding that Americans are not afraid to speak out with their pocketbooks," said Wildmon.

Lowe's released position stated, "To ensure consistency of our message and to avoid confusion among our customers, we are now referring to the trees only as 'Christmas Trees.' We have also removed a banner that read 'Holiday Trees' from the front of our stores."

According to AFA, several retailers have joined in the push to ban the use of "Christmas" in their in-store promotions and retail advertising. So far, the list includes Kmart, Sears, Home Depot, Target, JC Penney, Best Buy, Wal-Mart, Kroger, Office Max, Walgreens, Staples, Dell and Best Buy.

"It's good to know Lowe's is a company that listens to their customers, a rarity in today's politically correct retail marketplace," Wildmon said.

"Since they can't take Christ out of Christmas, many national retailers are trying to simply do away with Christmas," Wildmon added. "This anti-Christian bias is not boding well with consumers."

At press time 425,512 people had signed AFA's petition to stop the ban on the use of "Christmas" that is being sent to retailers. Wildmon acknowledged it is basically too late to change their policies this year, but it can change for next year.

"Last year we called for a boycott of Federated Stores because they banned 'Merry Christmas,' and this year they are using 'Merry Christmas,'" Wildmon noted.

People can sign the online petition to major retailers at www.afa.net.

American Family Association is a pro-family advocacy organization with over two million online supporters.

Lockney Senior Citizen News

By Vera Jo Bybee

So sorry I missed getting the article to the paper before the deadline last week. I did so want to wish all of you a Happy Thanksgiving. I really forgot about a deadline if I ever knew about it. Ha!!

There is quite a bit of news this week about everyone having visitors or going somewhere for Thanksgiving.

I talked with Joe Nance this afternoon when he called Donnie about the pheasant day lunch at the farm at Providence. These guys work real hard cooking and getting every thing ready for the hunters. Pheasant season is a week early this year so Donnie has to get busy trying to get everything out to the farm.

Joe told me he has two new grand daughters. Joe and Peggy spent a month in Crestview, Fla., with their daughter Amy and husband Mike Handy and baby girl Sabrina who was born Oct. 25.

Joe and Peggy also spend Thanksgiving in Midland with daughter Jody and husband Rick Stamp and new baby girl Lindee Jo.

Retha Wofford spent Thanksgiving day with her daughter Jeanne Curtsinger and family in Lubbock. Then Retha came home to Lockney. Over the weekend her company was her son James Ray and wife Janie Wofford and their son Brad and wife Becky, all of Carrollton. While they were here they put up all the Christmas decorations for Retha. She was real happy about that.

Jody Baccus and Meda Ruth Watts returned Sunday afternoon after spending Thanksgiving at Horseshoe Bay with Bruce and Brad and families. Meda Ruth went on over to be with her son Danny and family. Danny is a doctor in Austin. They have a new home between Austin and Horseshoe Bay that Meda Ruth had never seen. They all had a real nice visit.

Gene Newton and Gladys Bobbitt spent Thanksgiving in Amarillo with Gladys's daughter Donna and husband Jimmy Mitchell.

Guest for Thanksgiving dinner with Dennis and Mary Carter were Jerry, Linda and Wilma Edwards.

Mary and Bill McCarter's guests for Thanksgiving were their children, Barney Bill, Kay, Kim, Karen, Kathy and all their families. Also Bill and Mary Quattlebaum and Beth Kropp.

Debbie and Dickie McCarty's daughter DeeDee and husband Butch Ray and daughter Cheyenne of Amarillo, grand daughter Shelby Vick of Lubbock and parents, W.L. and Clementine Carthel, all ate Thanksgiving dinner with the McCartys.

Next day the Carthels had their daughters Priscilla, Debbie, Sue and their families, and Kathy Allison at their home for another Thanksgiving dinner.

Debbie told me that Dickie's dad, Truett McCarty, was now recuperating in the Prairie house in Plainview from two hip surgeries and pneumonia.

He hopes to be home by Christmas. Our thoughts and prayers are with you Truett.

Thanksgiving guests in the home of Robin and Martin Stoerner, of Providence, were their sons Heath, of San Angelo, and Justin, of Stephenville, Sarah Kendall, of Amarillo, and her son Coleman, and her daughter Becky, and their families, all of Amarillo, and son, Cliff, of Austin. Cynthia and Louie Bybee and son Bryan, of Providence, and son Tyler, of San Angelo.

Donnie and I had Thanksgiving dinner with our daughter Becky and husband Steve McPherson and sons, J.W. and Matt. Other guests were Gay and Gale McPherson, David and DarLee Foster and son Will and friend Asa, of Lockney, and daughter Addy, of Waco. We had a great dinner and got home by 2:00 in time for a nap.

We all have so many blessings to be thankful for, our health, the bountiful crop and the wonderful weather for the harvest. I could take up all the rest of my allotted space naming all our blessings but I'm gonna let you do your own "Thanking".

Annual Christmas Brunch scheduled

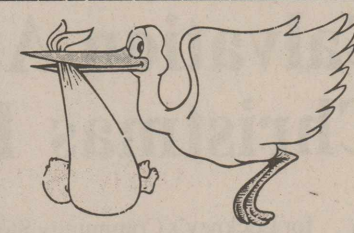

By Martha Farris

A holiday event which always emphasizes the Christmas season is the annual Christmas Brunch sponsored by the Floyd County Unit of the American Cancer Society. This year, the social gathering will be the first event to raise funds for the Relay for Life. "This colorful holiday occasion is given in the spirit of sharing with friends and also reaching out to help a very worthy cause," said Linda Matsler, coordinator of the Brunch.

On Saturday, December 10, from 9:30 until 11:00 a.m., the beautifully decorated home of Melvin and Janet Lloyd at 522 W. Kentucky Street in Floydada will be open to friends and guests wishing to share a morning of festive food and fellowship. There will be a bountiful buffet of breakfast casseroles, fruit breads and muffins, cheese balls and crackers, veggie tray and dip, candies and Christmas cookies--all served with coffee and fruit drinks.

During the morning, door prizes will be awarded and your ticket with your name on the back will be your chance for a prize. Tickets for a donation of $10.00 are available now from any board member, First National Bank of Floydada, Fred Thayer's CPA office--or you may get a ticket at the door for the $10.00 donation.

Muse News

By Carolyn Hardy

The Family File section at the Floyd County Historical Museum continues to grow daily. Families researched in the last two weeks are the W.A. and Ruth Johnson family that lived in the Muncy Community, the Fitzgerald/Rogers family and the Samuel Box family of Lockney.

Recent visitors were from Floydada, Lockney and several surrounding area towns. On Wednesday, November 13, we had a young lady visiting from Colorado and a young man from Switzerland.

It is beginning to look like Christmas at the Museum. Everyone is invited to come in to see the Christmas Village on display. It is on loan to the Museum from Donette Marble. We appreciate Donette letting us use it during the Holiday Season. The tree is decorated and the green garland and red bows are beautiful.

The Museum has Charles Dicken's "A Christmas Carol" coloring book for sale. It is a story book with pictures to color. This is perfect to go with Floydada's Dickens of a Christmas to be on Monday night, December 05.

We also have the 2004 and 2005 Keep Texas Beautiful Christmas Ornaments for sale. Nelda Laney designed these beautiful ornaments. We still have copies of the Floyd County History Book and the four books by Richard and Shirley Flint for sale. These make nice gifts.

Recent memorials received by the Museum were made in memory of: Effie Foster, Leonard Matsler and Bessie Glover.

Ladyhorns beat Idalou

By Coach Schumacher
The Ladyhorns traveled to Idalou on November 15 to defeat the Ladycats 47-35.

I felt like this was the first game the Ladyhorns jelled due to previous illnesses. The girls played up to their potential most of the game. Leah Ford went down with a season ending knee injury in the second half. She will definitely be missed.

Rebekah Thornton led scorers with 15 points, Amber Dorman 12 points, Trinity Ford 8 points, Leah Ford 4 points, Heather Brock and Jamie Butler with 3 points each.

Congratulations Ladyhorns on a good win! The Ladyhorns record stands at 2-3.

Claude rolls past the Ladyhorns

By Coach Schumacher
The Lockney Ladyhorns opened their season hosting Claude on November 8; they lost the battle 48-39.

The team was battling 4 members with mono, therefore looked a little rusty due to limited practice time.

Several Ladyhorns contributed to the scoring column: Rebekah Thornton had 11 points, Amber 8 points, Leah Ford 7 points, Heather Brock 5 points, Audrie Arjona and Senee' Foster 3 points each and Trinity Ford 2 points.

Ladyhorns win over Midland Greenwood

By Coach Schumacher
The last game of the tourney the Ladyhorns played 4A Midland Greenwood and came out on top with a score of 51-35.

I was proud of the girls for this victory. Even though the Ladyhorn's outcome was 1-2, I felt that the stiff competition with the 4A schools was very valuable.

Rebekah Thornton led scorers with 22 points, Trinity Ford 7 points, Amber Dorman 6 points, Heather Brock 6 points, Audrie Arjona and Leah Ford 4 points and Krista Rasco 2 points.

Ladyhorns win one and lose two in Frenship Tourney

By Coach Schumacher
Lockney Ladyhorns played in the Frenship Invitational Tournament November 10, 11 and 12.

They opened play with 4A Pampa and were unable to stop Pampa's Britteni Rice who had 24 points. Rebekah Thornton led the scoring column with 15 points, Leah Ford 7 points, Heather Brock 5 points, Amber Dorman 5 points, Audrie Arjona 3 points, Trinity Ford 2 points. Lockney Ladyhorns lost to Pampa 53-37.

The second game of the tourney Lockney played 4A El Paso Chapin. The Ladyhorns lost the battle to a very quick El Paso team. Leading the scoring was Trinity Ford with 12 points, Amber Dorman 8 points, Rebekah Thornton 8 points, Leah Ford 8 points, Krista Rasco and Heather Brock with 3 points a piece.

Military News

AIRMAN JOSHUA P. HAMMONS

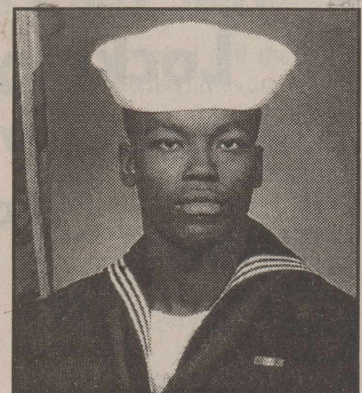

Air Force Airman Joshua P. Hammons has graduated from basic military training at Lackland Air Force Base, San Antonio, Texas.

During the six weeks of training, the airman studied the Air Force mission, organization, and military customs and courtesies; performed drill and ceremony marches, and received physical training, rifle marksmanship, field training exercises, and special training in human relations.

In addition, airmen who complete basic training earn credits toward an associate degree through the Community College of the Air Force.

He is the son of Eddie Hammons of W. Jackson, Floydada, Texas, and Thearesa Hammons of Max Ave., Spur, Texas.

Hammons is a 2004 graduate of Floydada High School.

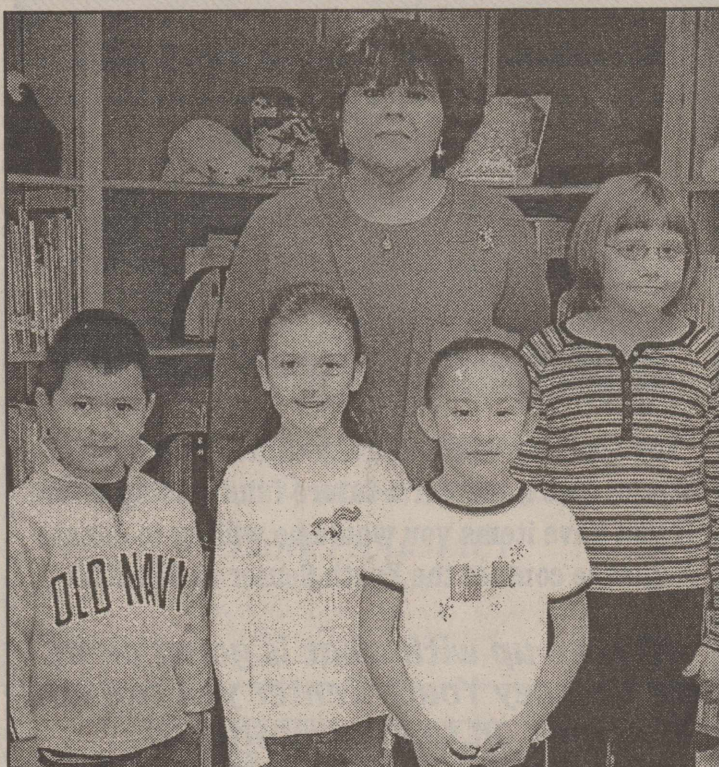

WEEKS

Navy Seaman Recruit Andrew C. Weeks, son of Jimmie R. Weeks of Floydada, recently completed U.S. Navy basic training at Recruit Training Command, Great Lakes, Ill.

During the eight-week program, Weeks completed a variety of training which included classroom study and practical instruction on naval customs, first aid, firefighting, water safety and survival, and shipboard and aircraft safety. An emphasis was also placed on physical fitness.

The capstone event of boot camp is "Battle Stations". This exercise gives recruits the skills and confidence they need to succeed in the fleet. "Battle Stations" is designed to galvanize the basic warrior attributes of sacrifice, dedication, teamwork and endurance in each recruit through the practical application of basic Navy skills and the core values of Honor, Courage and Commitment. Its distinctly "Navy" flavor was designed to take into account what it means to be a Sailor.

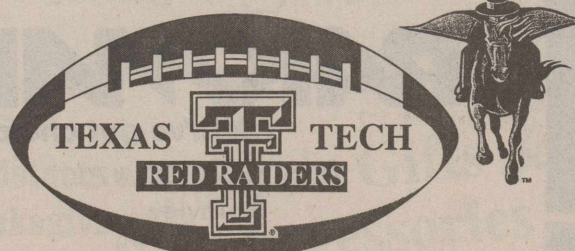

Weeks is a 2005 graduate of Floydada High School.

THE MOUNTAIN TOP

There's nothing quite like a mountain top,
To make you fell complete.
But you have to go down to the valley
To give your soul a drink.

We'd like to live out our lives,
Perched high in an eagles nest.
But it's down in the valley,
Where we have to pass the test.

God visits us on the mountain top,
And our hungry souls he feeds.
But it's down in the valley,
Where he meets our every need.

Texas crop and weather report

By: Megan Knight
Texas A&M University

Texas cotton producers are calling 2005 a banner year with one of the best quality and largest crops on record, said Texas Cooperative Extension experts.

"Currently, we have the best color and leaf grades in the U.S.," said Dr. Randal Boman, Extension cotton agronomist in Lubbock. "Our staple length is also coming in very good to excellent."

He said quality is expected to be much higher than in 2004 due to dry fall weather. This allowed the cotton color quality to remain high and should have greatly reduced bark contamination.

"It has been an outstanding yield and quality year for our producers," Boman said.

Dr. Billy Warrick, Extension agronomist in San Angelo, said, "We should have good fiber length in our region because we had a soil profile with good moisture at the time of fiber elongation."

He said high grades are anticipated due to ideal fall weather for harvesting, and fiber strength is good due to the varieties of cotton planted.

"For the most part, micronaire should be in the range of 3.5 to 4.9," Warrick said.

According to www.cottoninc.com, micronaire is the fineness of the fiber and is rated on a range from 2 to 6.

Dr. Robert Lemon, Extension cotton agronomist in College Station, said, "The Texas Agricultural Statistics Service is projecting another record cotton crop for Texas."

The record was set last year with a crop of 7.7 million bales. Lemon expects this year's crop to break the record at 7.8 million bales.

Boman said, "The Lubbock and Lamesa (classing) offices combined have classed about 1.5 million bales thus far. It is estimated the High Plains crop will substantially exceed last year's record crop of 4.8 million bales. Our estimated crop for 2005 in the High Plains is about 5.3 million bales."

Prior to 2004, the record amount of cotton harvested in the High Plains was 3.5 million bales, he said. This year, yields in the area are expected to exceed 2004's 4.8 million bale crop by over 400,000 bales.

The substantial increase in yield can be attributed to new varieties of cotton, timely rainfall, irrigation, lack of substantial insect pressure and outstanding fall temperatures, Boman said. Warrick said, "In our region, West Central and Far West Texas, the rain received in August was a key factor, and the warm September helped in crop development."

While High Plains producers are experiencing a boom, not all Texas producers have benefited from ideal weather.

Lemon said production will be down in the central and southern regions of the state due to lower rainfall this spring and summer.

Boman said the High Plains' anticipated yields should make up for decreases in areas that had dry summers and should still push the final number over the 2004 record.

There is still a chance the high quality crop could be damaged and downgraded. Boman said that only about 45 percent of the High Plains crop has been harvested, and Warrick said only 30 percent to 40 percent of the Far West and West Central crop was harvested.

"If rain occurs before harvest is complete, it can affect the grade," Warrick said. "With the large crop to harvest and the first freeze already occurring, the cotton still remaining to be harvested could have problem with bark (contamination)."

The following livestock, crop and weather conditions were reported by Extension districts:

PANHANDLE: Soil moisture is very short to short. Temperatures dropped when a strong cold front passed, but warm conditions soon returned. High winds caused some soil erosion. Cotton harvest was 65 percent complete; yields were good to excellent. Peanut harvest was almost complete. Soybean, sunflower and sorghum harvests continued. Wheat was rated fair to good; Wheat streak mosaic and High Plains virus were diagnosed in some crops. Rangeland conditions were poor. Dry conditions caused fire risk. Cattle were in good condition as supplemental feeding continued.

SOUTH PLAINS: Soil moisture is very short. A cold front and the first freeze of the season caused stress to area livestock and delayed harvests. Cotton harvest was 70 percent complete; yields and fiber qualities were above average. Winter wheat was in fair-to-good condition. Sorghum and peanut harvests were nearly complete. Soybean and sunflower harvests were complete. Rangelands and pastures were in fair-to-good condition. Livestock were in good condition; supplemental feeding continued.

ROLLING PLAINS: Soil moisture is short. Cool, dry conditions continued. The first freeze of the season came to a few counties. Cotton harvest continued; yield condition was good. Some ranchers were supplemental feeding livestock and hauling water to stock tanks. Livestock were in fair-to-good condition.

NORTH: Soil moisture is very short to short. Unusually warm weather was reported. Cotton, pecans, sweet potatoes, sorghum and soybeans were harvested. Oats and wheat were planted. Some early-planted ryegrass was lost due to dry conditions. Stock tanks and ponds were low or dry. Livestock producers were supplemental feeding livestock; cattle were in good condition.

EAST TEXAS: Soil moisture is very short. Dry conditions persisted. A cold front provided the first freeze of the season, light showers and low temperatures. Hay shortage was severe in many areas. Cattle conditions were good; many producers were culling herds.

FAR WEST: Soil moisture is short to adequate. Several counties reported the first frost of the season. Cotton harvest continued. Winter wheat emerged in good condition. Pecan harvest began. Rangelands were rated good; cattle had good body condition.

WEST CENTRAL: Soil moisture is very short. Cold, dry weather and the first frost of the season were reported. Cotton harvest continued; yields were rated good. Small grains were not emerging because of dry conditions. Oats and wheat were lost without moisture. Pecan harvest continued, but production was low due to early-season losses. Supplemental feeding of livestock continued; producers hauled water to stock tanks. Cattle were in fair condition.

CENTRAL: Soil moisture is very short. Dry conditions persisted. Many wheat stands did not emerge, and others struggled to survive. Some producers were selling cows and calves at low weights to avoid supplemental feeding through winter. Pasture grasses were short. Stock tanks were low or completely dry.

SOUTHEAST: Soil moisture is short. Cool temperatures arrived and dry conditions continued except for brief, isolated showers early in the week. Some pecans were harvested after freeze and high winds. Ratoon rice harvest continued. Ranchers fed hay to cattle.

SOUTHWEST: Soil moisture is very short, and dry conditions continue. Cabbage and recently-planted onions were progressing well under heavy irrigation. Spinach, cucumbers, peanuts and green beans were harvested. Ranchers thinned their cattle herds and provided heavy supplemental nutrition to remaining livestock.

SOUTH: Soil moisture is adequate. Average temperatures were reported. Citrus, sugarcane and cabbage was harvested. Fall vegetables progressed well; fertilizer was applied. Rangelands and pastures were in fair condition.

WENDALL TOOLEY (left) presented a gold watch to Juan Martinez for 25 years of employment with Blanco Offset Printing in Floydada. Next to Juan is head printer James Huggins, and Blanco Board Representative Alice Gilroy.

Martinez honored for 25 years

Juan Martinez of Floydada was recently recognized for 25 years of employment at Blanco Offset Printing in Floydada and an affiliated printing plant in Slaton, Brazos Offset Printers. Martinez started at Blanco Printing in 1980 and last year transferred to Brazos, where was recently promoted to press foreman for the larger plant in Slaton. He also worked at Blanco in 1974 as a DECA student at Floydada High School. He still lives in Floydada, where was born. He is the son of Augustina Martinez of Floydada and the late Felipe Martinez.

He and his wife Maria are parents of two daughters, Cassie, age 12, and Rita, 7. Mrs. Martinez, formerly of Garden City, Texas, is an elementary school teacher in Floydada. They attend Saint Mary Magdalene Catholic Church.

Martinez served 27 years in the military, four years of active duty in the Army and 23 years in the reserves. He enjoys hunting.

Blanco president Wendell Tooley recently presented Martinez with the traditional gold watch for his 25 years of service to Blanco/Brazos.

Blanco is one Floydada's long-time industries, originating in 1965 when Tooley, then editor of The Floyd County Hesperian, and three partners, Edgar Hayes of Lockney, O.G. "Speedy" Nieman of Slaton, and Hubert Curry of Crosbyton, formed the corporation and began operation in the "old" Hesperian building on Main Street in Floydada. Current Blanco stockholders in addition to Tooley are Jim Reynolds of Tulia, Ken Towery of Austin, Joe Harrison of Spur, Keith Tooley of Lago Vista, Wendelyn Bridenstine of Canyon, and Karla Hutchinson of Abilene. Current Blanco employees are George Garcia and manager Jim Huggins.

Blanco prints The Floyd County Hesperian-Beacon and weekly papers in Spur, Matador, Kress, Tulia, Silvertown, Hart, Paducah and Petersburg, and several other area publications.
