Reese SPs observe National Police Week

The Reese Security Police Division undertook several projects to recognize National Police Week, May 11-17.

One of the more visible projects was a refreshment stand set up in front of the Base Exchange during the observance. With "Officer Friendly," a mannequin dressed in Security Police clothing, looking over the stand, volunteer SPs and wives of members of the Division handed out "Crime Stop Cookies" and lemonade to passersby. The cookies were also baked by wives of the Division.

The Division also had placemats printed up for use at the NCO and Officers' Open Messes to remind Reese people that the Security Police are always ready to enforce the law on base.

A special tour was also given Reese Boy Scout Troop 548 of the Security Police Headquarters, Bldg. 411. The mission of the Division and an explanation of how the SPs work was given the Scouts during the tour.

All of these projects were done without any government money. A car wash was held May 10, with members of the Division volunteering the labor force. The effort raised $90 in support of the projects.

President seeks G.I. bill end, will affect only new members

WASHINGTON (AFNS) - President Ford has declared May 7 as the end of "the Vietnam era." He asked Congress to enact legislation to end the G.I. bill, including educational benefits, by July 1, 1975.

The proposed legislation would only affect new enlistees, not those already serving on active duty. It does not end the guaranteed Veterans Administration home loan program.

If the legislation is passed, it would affect only those persons entering active duty after the date set by the bill.

Department of Defense and Air Force officials have reviewed the current use of inservice veteran's benefits. They agree an increase in tuition assistance funding will be necessary to maintain viable educational service programs.

Air Force officials are now planning for the necessary increase in tuition assistance should the legislation ending educational benefits under the GI bill be

Reese E-7s selected for next stripes

Nine Reese master sergeants have been selected for promotion to senior master sergeant.

Three of the new seven-stripers are from the 64th Organizational Maintenance Squadron. They are Wilmer E. Millward, John D. Rogers and Raymond A. Witbrodt.

64th Supply Squadron selectees were Raymond Z. Cox and Melvyn B. Dotson. In the 64th Air Base Group, Herbert D. Cummins and Melvyn C. Wright were selected.

William D. Trodel, 64th Civil Engineering Squadron, and Roger W. Drapeau, 64th Field Maintenance Squadron round out the list of E-8 selectees.

Group holds May Town Hall Meeting

The May Town Hall meeting was held at 7 p.m. Monday May 12th in the Mathis Recreation Center.

Items of general interest were brought up for discussion by military members and their dependents attending the meeting.

A number of questions about the overseas freeze list and assignments were directed to Lt. Col. Carrol W. McCoy of Personnel Division. Colonel McCoy asked that anyone with assignments should contact Personnel at Ext. 2643 and set up an appointment for personal discussion on the individual's situation.

When questioned about the gates on the 4th Street exits to Reese Village, Col. Richard C. Ingram explained that the gates are needed to help safeguard the property of the Village residents and to preclude through traffic in the Village during rush hours when children are going to school. Colonel Ingram stated that $8,000 vandal damage was done to Village property in the summer of 1973. That was before the gates were installed. The gates are an aid to the Security Police in controlling vandels in the Village.

The Special Services Division will submit a work order to have a drinking fountain put by the tennis courts. They will also look into the possibility of having a water hose near the barracks area for barracks residents to wash their cars.

The next Town Hall Meeting will be held at 7 p.m. June 9 at the Mathis Recreation Center. The purpose of the meeting is to allow the members and dependents of the Wing to ask questions and bring up their problems to the 64th Air Base Group staff. Everyone is invited, dress is informal and you may leave anytime.

PLEASE, KEEP IT CLEAN — Thoughtless acts like the one staged above really do hurt Reese's Spring Cleanup efforts. It is because people do things like dump their car ashtrays in Reese parking lots that cleanup details are sent out on weekends. The base must maintain a neat appearance, and dumping trash on base is a "dirty trick." (U.S. Air Force Photo by TSgt. Rich Godfrey)

FROM THE # TRAIL BOSS ...

"Our DO, Col. William J. Crooke, passes on some compliments and cautions to you in the accompany message. Let me echo both to everyone on the Reese team. In the safety area, remember to take special care over this long weekend. Drive carefully and enjoy the time off without injury to your or your loved ones."

- Colonel Mendel

Col. William J. Crooke

Deputy Commander for Operations

In recent weeks several Reese units received awards for safety and outstanding performance.

All members of the Reese team deserve a pat on the back for the enviable record achieved thus far. I am particularly impressed with the way our flying squadrons have persevered the winter's inherent problems of ice, darkness and a large student load. The 35th and the 54th deserve much credit for safely accomplishing the mission despite these obstacles.

Now, as we look forward to the summer months of good flying weather and reduced class loads, it is time to reexamine our safety management programs to insure that we do not become complacent. We must remind ourselves of the problems associated with thunderstorms such as first-gust winds, hail, severe turbulence and rapidly changing weather conditions. Just as dangerous are the effects of wake turbulence which can be more insideous in the summer light wind conditions.

These environmental hazards combined with a large turnover in our instructor force present a definite challenge to our flying supervisors. We must insure that all of our pilots are aware of the associated hazards of summer flying. We must also insure that each supervisor, instructor and student does not become complacent with the safety record that we have worked so hard to establish. I feel certain that through proper management and communication we can enjoy a productive and save summer.

Dear Editor,

We would like to take this opportunity to correct Captain Hudak's attempt (May 9) to discredit our letter of May 2 concerning the ERA (Equal Rights Amendment).

Captain Hudak needs to go back to the books, for it is obvious to us that he did not do thorough research. He was unable to find any cases that have held that sex discrimination was unlawful under the 14 amendment. To name just a few that have upheld the legal equality of women, we submit: 1) Schultz vs. Wheaton Glass Co. (1970), 2) Sprogis vs. United Airlines, Inc. (1971), 3) Commonwealth vs. Daniel (1968), and 4) Reed vs. Reed (1971).

It is appalling that Captain Hudak could not interpret the results of Reed vs. Reed correctly (Who is deceiving whom?). In this landmark case the Supreme Court 'nullified an Idaho probate law which said that in the administration of certain estates "males must be preferred to females." Without a dissenting vote the court held the law void: "The arbitrary preference cannot stand in the face of the 14th Amendment's command that no state deny the equal protection of the laws to any person within its jurisdiction. . . . To give a mandatory preference to members of either sex over members of the other . . . is to make the very kind of arbitrary legislative choice forbidden by the Equal Protection Clause." (Nation's Business, Jan. 1975, p. 9-10.)

In Commonwealth vs. Daniel the court held that statutes which provided longer terms for women than for men committing the same crime violated the 14th Amendment. This was sex discrimination and thereby void.

The point is that by legislative enactment and by court decision, unwarranted discrimination against women can be corrected. The precedent of these decisions will most likely be followed in other cases, thus we do not need ERA.

As James Kilpatrick said, "It is a soundproposition that constitutional amendment should be viewed as a political act of last resort. Ordinary statutes come and go; Supreme Court decisions can be modified or reversed; but the pending Equal Rights Amendment, once ratified, is there to stay. If time should demonstrate the unwisdom or undesirability of ERA, only a monumental effort could achieve its repeal . . . surely the alternatives ought first to be tried." (Nation's Business, Jan. 1975, p. 9)

letters

Proponents of ERA, like Captain Hudak, never seem to be able to offer any good reasons why we need ERA or just what ERA will do to benefit women (You probably noticed that Capt. Hudak was long on questions but short on answers.). We contend that reasons given for the necessity of the ERA are aleady covered by legislation—and—we—simply—need enforcement—and not more legislation. This amendment is then 1) unnecessary, 2) uncertain, and 3) undesirable.

Men and women were created for different purposes and roles. They are not merely "playing roles" learned from society as the libbers believe. Men cannot have babies! Such biological differences between the sexes cannot be legislated out of existence.

Mr. & Mrs. Dan Wennerlind

Dear Editor.

I would like to point out the misconceptions Captain Hudak expressed in his May 9 letter concerning ERA (Equal Rights Amendment).

Captain Hudak is frustrated that the authorities behind his position have made so many fatal admissions. Like so many protagonists of ERA, he yells "foul" when a factual statement is used by the opposition in a way not originally intended by the loyalists. If ordinary rules of logical discussion are used, however, one cannot object to a statement taken "out of context" in this manner.

In trial cross-examination, for example, the skillful attorney deliberately looks for fatal admissions in the testimony of witnesses. The outcome of many a case, in fact, is due to showing that a statement of the witness defending his guilt, actually proves his guilt.

Such is the case when proponents of ERA analyze the effects of ERA, coming to the conclusion that "Women will serve in all kinds of units, and they will be eligible for combat duty." (Yale Law Journal, April 1971, p. 978). Pro-ERA people want this battlefront equality, but anti-ERA people, realizing this is an admission of how unreasonable ERA is, use pro-ERA material to point out this detrimental effect of ERA.

Opponents of ERA are mainly women themselves. Captain Hudak's hastily thought-out analogy with the blacks, therefore, is obviously besides the point. Using his tactic of raising many questions and answering none, we ask: How many blacks do you know who opposed civil rights legislation? Where were the black anti-civil rights groups (e.g., We Want To Be Blacks)?

The two issues are different for many reasons. First, the wording of the ERA is undefined and unspecific. What does "equal" mean?

Second, Captain Hudak says Judiciary Committee Reports are used to interpret the intent of legislative laws, but in the light of recent judicial interpretations of the First and Fourteenth Amendments, does he really expect us to trust the powerless non-judicial opinions of the Legislative Judiciary Committee? Let's face it, many women (women, notice, not men) just do not trust the court system with carte-blanche vaguely-worded legislation any longer.

Third, Christian churches following the orthodox, traditional interpretation of St. Paul's writing must "discriminate" against women in certain positions. Which right has precedence here — "equality" or "the separation of church and state"? Try that one on for size! Pulpits, not toilets, are the issue. Proponents of ERA have shown little awareness of this sensitive issue, or when they do, insist that Caesar has priority over God.

Sincerely, Charles A. Clough

Many changes issue since the old days

By Bob Reed

Back in the 40's in New York City, a young man was inducted into the Army of the United States.

Nothing startling about that. He was just another of the 12,124,418 American citizens who would make up our armed forces in World War II. Some volunteered; most were drafted.

My term of enlistment, determined by the Army of course, was remarkably flexible. It could be for a few months, or for the rest of my life. The magic phrase was "for the duration."

I hadn't been promised that following basic training I would end up initially at a base of my choice, living in semi-private quarters in an environment free of minor irritations. And no one had suggested that while serving I could further my academic education, helped out financially by the government, or if I preferred, by taughtrade that could earn my a good living when I was discharged.

In those days, under those conditions, we didn't expect any of that. We all knew that we were "in" for To do whatever had to be done — including fighting — for as long as necessary to see the war through to a successful conclusion.

It's different today. And most of the changes are decidedly on the positive side.

That's fine. But as one who in familiar with both the old and the new, and has written extensively about the latter, I have sort of an uneasy feeling that maybe we tend to forget why we have a military establishment in the first place.

It's in the contract, the part that says, "I solemnly swear . . . to support and defend the Constitution of the United States against all enemies, foreign and domestic.

That "defend" could mean "fight" sometime. True, most of the actual combat in the Air Force falls to our air crews. But there's no guarantee that circumstances couldn't arise in which any member could be called on. After all, that is the reason for the maintenance of armed forces.

There's another important part to the oath that all military people take "...I will obey the orders of the President of the United States and the orders of the officers appointed over me, according to regulations, and the Uniform Code of Military Justice...."

That means obey rules governing military work, conduct and dress. And no blue-suiter should lose sight of the fact that if an occasion warrants, he or she can be called on to work 12-hour days, sevendays-a-week for as long as necessary. No "overtime." Just a "well-done" when the emergency is over.

All of that is part of the two-way deal that service people make. Don't misunderstand. Life in the Air Force can be extremely pleasant and infinitely rewarding. Enjoy it and take advantage of the many opportunities it offers, while serving proudly.

Just a reminder.

According to Air Force officials, an officer applying for early release on or before June 15, 1975, would be released on or before June 30, if otherwise eligible.

Applications submitted by ineligible officers will be returned without action.

However, officials caution that once an officer applies for early release, the application may not be

Excluding certain groups that will be covered later, officers eligible for an early separation are:

* Nonrated line officers with a total active Federal commissioned service date (TAFCSD) of June 30, 1974, or earlier. This includes chaplains and rated officers who are premanently suspended from flying * Pilots and navigators having an established date of separation (DOS) or who will complete their active duty commitment (ADSC) on, or before, June 30, 1978.

Officers ineligible under the program are:

Medical Service officers, including physicians, dentists, medical service corps personnel, nurses, biomedical scientists and all other categories of medical personnel, including medical officers participating in student programs;

* Judge Advocates and other legal officers, including officers attending law school under provisions of AFR 36-7, or officers accepted for 90-day Judge Advocate

Officers early outs open,

* Officers selected for overseas movement from the Continental United States (CONUS) who have an overseas reporting date of Sept. 1, 1975, or earlier;

* Officers whose separation under other directives is appropriate, such as AFRs 36-2, 36-3, AFM 35-4, or officers covered by appropriate sections of AFR 36-12;

* Nonrated officers who have an ADSC of July 1, 1979, or later, or who are in training status;

* Service academy graduates who have not served five years prior to their desired DOS;

Officers enrolled in Air Force Institute of Technology (AFIT) or professional military education programs, excluding Squadron Officer School.

Additional limitations apply to officers serving in short-tour areas of 17 months or less. These individuals can apply for a DOS coinciding with their normal DEROS, or for a DOS effective June 30, 1975, if at least 12 months of the tour has been served as of that date.

Applicants serving in long-tour areas must have served 12 months in the long-tour areas as of the requested DOS.

Also, officers who have completed questions.

Air Force Reserve Officer Training Corps (ROTC) scholarship recipients are eligible to apply. However, manning considerations and length of the scholarship will be major factors influencing the final decision.

Officers who have submitted routine requests for separation under AFR 36-12 before the application period are also eligible to apply, even though the original application may not have been finalized. If the application under the new program is approved, other pending applications will be cancelled.

These programs, which were announced last week, prompted by recent projections which showed that voluntary losses have slowed drastically in the last quarter of fiscal year 1975. Officials believe the early-release programs will assist in offsetting reduced attrition on other areas.

Air Force studies quality of life

WASHINGTON (AFNS) - On March 24, 1975, Maj. Gen. Kenneth L. Tallman was tasked to organize a special group of people called the Air Force Management Improvement Group (AFMIG). They are currently looking at the way the Air Force manages people to get its job done.

The group is made up of representatives from throughout the Air Force. There are men, women, civilian, active, and reserve members in the group. Members are from a variety of career fields in the grades of E-3 up to the director, a major general.

General Tallman explained, "The group was established not because of any large perceived problems in the Air Force, but rather to set up another way to look at our management and leadership for improvements. To put it another way, we are trying to make an already good Service even better."

HAW HAW HAW

will be looking at many Air Force activities. Primary emphasis will be on how the Air Force handles people at the local level to get the job done.

'We are examining the whole field of interpersonal relations to see if we can enhance the overall quality of the Air Force," he explained.

'This is a broad charter," said General Tallman. "It cuts across all functional areas of the Air Force and involves all commands.'

The AFMIG is organized into six functional areas. The six areas cover all "people related" activities of the Air Force. The areas include human resources development, personnel policy and programs, and professional development and leadership training. Also included are base-level management, benefits, and communication.

"There are now 71 persons assigned to AFMIG," said General

General Tallman said the AFMIG Tallman. "Members are assigned to one of the six functional areas.'

The six groups identify ideas that may offer some improvement in people management programs. Their ideas are weighed for value, cost, effort, feasibility and their effect on mission accomplishment. AFMIG recommendations will be forwarded directly to the Air Force Chief of Staff for further consideration.

"To date we have identified 13 tasks," said General Tallman. "We are looking at professional military education and leadership training for our noncommissioned officers. We are examining newcomer orientation and sponsor programs, human relations training, and Air Force recruiting methods. We also are looking at the possibilities of establishing maximum tour lengths in certain isolated continental U.S.

'Other areas under study include how we choose our unit and base commanders, and a study of coordination and planning at base

General Tallman said they are looking at the military training given in basic and technical training courses. He continued, "We are also examining the concept of human resources development and how the Air Force builds interpersonal and intercultural relationships with its people."

"Looking ahead, I do not see us coming up standardized programs that will be thrust upon the commands. I appreciate the need for a commander's flexibility to adapt programs to local needs." He explained, "The improvement I am searching for will be in the form of suggested guidelines that, if applied locally, could give improvement over existing programs.

General Tallman said the group is looking at areas other than personnel. He explained, "We are examining all things that effect Air Force people. We must examine leadership in view of today's society and today's Air Force and adapt our leadership to them, while still keeping in focus our mission requirements.'

General Tallman emphasized,

"The Air Force Management Improvement Group is not an agency to solve all Air Force problems. Nor is it a complaint processing agency. We are not soliciting thousands of ideas from the field. We already have enough ideas to keep the group busy for some time.'

"The Group is an action oriented project," said General Tallmen. "We do not plan to publish a big report on our recommendations. We prefer to individual on recommendations on specific areas for improvement as they are completed."

The general expects the group to last no longer than six months at the most. He feels that it would lose its effectiveness and momentun beyond that time.

In closing, General Tallman reemphasized, "The Management Improvement Group is not in being to solve any specific great problem in the Air Force. It is just good management to take a close look at yourself and see what you can do "Anything that comes out of the group will have to enhance the mission of the Air Force, along with whatever other benefits it offers. The Air Force mission must come first. We think we can do this and at the same time improve the quality of life in the Air Force.'

I would like to ask why all of the weekend flying is scheduled for Sunday and Saturdays are always blank? There are several people in this section who want to know the answer to this same question.

Sergeant Wiseman

Sergeant Wiseman: The day chosen for weekend flying is the result of close coordination between operations and maintenance schedulers. Recently, Sundays were chosen because this option provided the best training schedule with the least manhours expended by maintenance people. Plans for weekend flying are reviewed by the DO. LG. and AB and are personally approved by the wing commander. Any weekend flying will be scheduled as far in advance as possible and done at least cost and inconvenience to our people. Everyone will be notified promptly to preclude unnecessary interference with weekend plans.

Sir:

A man just came into the TV room and said that he didn't get chow today because they turned him away because he said they said he was wearing a tee-shirt and what he had on was a yellow polo shirt. It's not a teeshirt or an undergarment. I have seen it many times when I eat in the chow hall that WAFs get in wearing tee-shirts and yet the men can't. I think this man should be able to eat any time he is hungry and shouldn't be turned away because he is wearing a polo shirt. It's an item that should be looked into, and I will wait for your reply.

Sergeant Naples Duty Sergeant Barracks 220

Sergeant Naples:

Your concern for a seemingly ambigious policy regarding civilian dress for the Wing Dining Hall is appreciated. A proposed wing supplement to AFR 30-16. "Standards of Civilian Dress and Appearance," is being coordinated through various staff offices to avoid this type of situation. The supplement will clearly define the proper civilian attire which will be acceptable in the Wing Dining Hall and is due to be published in early June. Please note that, as members of the Air Force, we are all expected to conform to reasonably high standards of dress when we are seen in public. The lowest common denominator is not acceptable where dress, appearance and conduct standards are involved.

We have a good rifle range on base and a lot of us like to go shooting and therefore we have to drive a long ways downtown when we have one on base. We would like to know why can't we use the rifle range here on base for shooting, target practice and things like that. Thank you.

Sergeant Crittenden

Sergeant Crittenden:

For the past several years, Reese Small Arms personnel have conducted a sighting-in and hunting safety clinic before the fall hunting season. Participation in this clinic has been very limited. The Small Arms Range is now closed. pending a safety evaluation. The decision will then rest on cost and the availability of money. If the range is reopened, a hunters' clinic will be scheduled this fall. If enough interest is shown more supervised range sessions can be scheduled by the Small Arms personnel. You may contact them at Ext. 2848.

3532 - 34th Street, is pleased to announce

I have just recently been placed on PMV (List) for accumulation of nine points. It is my understanding that this is supposed to benefit both us and the Air Force, but isn't it another sense of double jeopardy, especially since Course V is on off-duty time? It seems to me that this is extra duty for traffic points, which the Air Force states we are not supposed to get. I have already paid my fine downtown, so why am I getting burned all over again? Isn't once enough? Thank you.

No Name

The number of points you have accrued is a measure of your difficulty in operating motor vehicles in a safe manner. We do not want to lose your talents and abilities as a result of a traffic accident. These training programs are intended to help you adjust your driving habits accordingly. Course V is scheduled from 4 to 6 p.m. and represent an investment of Air Force resources towards preventing further such occurences and possible injury to you.

Center sets activities for youth

The end-of-school dance, previously scheduled for tomorrow night, will highlight the Youth Center's activities from 8 p.m. to midnight tonight. The activities previously scheduled for tonight will be held tomorrow night.

Members of the Youth Center will get into the dance tonight for 50 cents, while nonmenbers will pay $1 at the door.

Corecreational activities will be featured Sunday. Special Memorial Day events are planned for the holiday from 1 to 10 p.m. Monday. A Box Supper Auction will be included.

On Wednesday the tap and ballet classes will be followed by the Teens' monthly ping pong tournament playoffs and the Preteens' pool tournament playoffs. Thursday the competition will reverse, with the Teens competing in monthly pool and Preteens in monthly ping pong playoffs.

The ancient art of kung-fu highlights three of the movie features at the Simler Theater this week.

The base theater features shows at 8 p.m. Tuesday through Sunday. The Saturday matinee begins weekly at 2 p.m. The theater's ticket sales office opens 30 minutes before each showtime.

Tonight

Burt Reynolds stars in "W.W. and the Dixie Dancekings." W.W. is a con man of the Fifties who, after robbing gas stations, divides the loot with the underpaid attendants in return for their giving phony descriptions to the police chasing him. In one of his flights from the law, W.W. finds himself in a gym where a dance is in progress. He passes himself off as a big Nashville promoter to "Dixie and the Dancekings," a country and western band. Together, W.W. and the band head for Nashville to seek fortune and fame in the PG-rated comedy.

Special Saturday Matinee

Based on the celebrated novel by E. Nesbit, "The Railway Children" is a movie the whole family will enjoy. In 1904, Dinah Sheridan moves her three children from their London home to the country when her husband is falsely accused of spying and is imprisoned. Keeping the secret of their father's imprisonment from the children, she supports them by writing. The cottage they live in is near a railway line and as a result, the children have a number of adventures.

Saturday

"The Green Hornet" stars Bruce Lee as Kato and Van Williams in the title role. The movie is an adventure drama consisting of three stories. The first involves the plot by a famous group of explorers who use jungle methods in trapping animals and whose game is now Kato and the Green Hornet. The second story is a tale of invasion from outer space. An atomic bomb is to be exploded if space visitors are not given safe passage from earth. Story number three in the PG-rated feature takes place in Chinatown, where the Tong extorts profit from decent merchants and Kato and the Green Hornet exhibit their mastery of the martial arts in a kung-fu showdown

Sunday

"TNT Jackson," played by Jeanne Bell, goes to Hong Kong in search of her missing brother. Stan Shaw, involved in a heroin ring and also in a touchy love affair with the unwitting Bell, has murdered the brother. Shaw's boss suspects Bell of supplying information to the police, and sends several hoods to dispose of her. Taking advantage of her kung-fu skill, Bell fights them off. The film ends with a spinetingling martial arts duel

Tuesday and Wednesday

Bruce Lee explodes on the screen in "The Chinese Connection." Playing the role of Chen Chen, Lee uses his kung-fu skills to solve the mystery of the untimely death of his beloved teacher. Ultimately, Lee avenges that death and preserves the ancient honor of his school. The feature is rated R.

Thursday

Michael Sarrazin and Jennifer O'Neill star in "The Reincarnation of Peter Proud." Sarrazin, a college professor, is obsessed with repetitive dreams of people and places from the past he has apparently never seen. Tracing scenes from his dreams he ventures to a small Massachusetts town to seek out his past

35th FTS Crosswinds

Blood drive continues today down the road

The 35th Flying Training Squadron welcomes two new members to the squadron this week. They are Capt. James O. Wortham and Capt. Michael E. Jackson.

Capt. Wortham comes to the Cessna T-37 Tweety Bird from flying duty in Boeing EC-135s and KC-135 Stratotankers. Captain Jackson previously flew Boeing B-52 Strato Fortresses and Cessna O-

There is also a new face in the Squadron dispatch section. She is A1C Demarice L. Howze. Airman Howze is transfering to the 35th from maintenance duties she held previously here at Reese.

You may have also noticed the absence of a couple of familiar faces during the last two weeks, namely those of Capt. Dave Smith and 1st Lt. Mike Nelson. They were representing the 35th in a truly and Lieutenant Nelson flew two Cessna T-37 Tweety Birds down to Howard Air Base, Panama Canal Zone. Due to bad weather they were "forced" to spend some extra time in Mexico City and Tampico on the way down. It sounds like some pretty rough duty!?!

Members of the 35th, as well as others on base are being asked to donate blood today. Even if you did not previously sign up, it is not too late. Blood Services of Lubbock will be accepting donations today from 2 to 10 p.m. in "G" and "H" Flights in the 54th Flying Training Squadron. Blood Services supplies blood to 38 hospitals in a 23-county area as well as the base. Wives, husbands and students, as well as permanent party personnel, are asked to give blood. Due to the three-day weekend upcoming, the 72-hour no-fly restriction should not affect the normal flying operation. In addition, those contributing and six months' free blood services if needed. For more information see 1st Lt. John Rostberg in "D" Flight.

The unusual T-37 gyrations many folks have noticed above the base and Reese Village this week have not been due to aircraft malfunctions. Maintenance is doing a great job. It's just that the left-seat manual control stick applicators have changed....the new class, 76-07, started flying this week. (The Personal Equipment shop tells us that "burp-bags" are still in good

According to a recent rumor, there has been a serious "rank turnaround" in the squadron up the street. At the graduation reception of Class 75-07 last week, one '38 driver found a new and somewhat distinctive way to wear his shoulderboards . . . . backwards! This innovative method was soon rejected.

Notley disqualified in Reese 'Chief Chip Chunker' contest

By Capt. Tully Q. Baskum

The 1975 Reese AFB Chief Chip Chunker was named this past Sunday, following stiff competition in the cow chip tossing contest.

Section 1 Commander Maj. "Wild Joe" Hickox (no relation to Buffalo Ben Cosley), won the title with a fling of "some great distance."

Honorable mention went to Sgt. Ray Bennett for a fling of (minus) 29' 6". The favorite to win the event, 1st Lt. Mike Notley, was disqualified when his meadow muffin dinintegrated prior to reaching the impact area.

Mrs. Terry Whisenhunt won the women's event when she chunked her chip 63' 434" — a record heave for the Reese event!

We welcome Class 76-04 to the Squadron. They are not famous for anything particular but give them six months and I am sure they will come through with something.

Capt. Jeff Britton has taken the head slot at Gorilla Flight. Capt. Vic Vasquez is the new assistant. Capt. Jim Thompson has replaced Capt. Ralph Anderson as "Head Hawg." Ralph is now TDY to Sheppard AFB, Tex., preparing for his new assignment at Pope AFB, N.C. Capt. Steve Acuff will be the assistant flight commander.

Lt. Col. Dick James, bless his heart, went to great pains to get out of a check ride. No heroics were involved. His foot fell in a hole and the rest of him didn't, thus the ol' sprained ankle trick

This will be the last in a series of Talon Talk by Baskum. The next series will be authored by one we all know and admire, the very capable 1st Lt. Ajxqlmdp R. Mzmnookb. I leave you with these final words from the poet Burl W. Bragg. "... A shovel full of dirt will not a wheelbarrow fill."—T.Q.B.

Congress has agreed to let the Department of Defense reprogram $75 million to continue funding of civilian health and medical program of the uniformed service (CHAMPUS). The money will permit CHAMPUS to operate for the rest of the fiscal year. Without these funds, CHAMPUS would have been out of money before the end of Fiscal Year 1975.

The meeting will be held at the Chapter located on Fourth Street. For more information on the NCOA, Lloyd Edwards, area counselor, may be contacted at 799-1252 or Kenneth Charles at 886-4414.

The last meeting of the current season for the Library Lunch Bunch will be held at 12:15 p.m., Tuesday in the George and Helen Mahon Library at 1306 Ninth Street in Lubbock. # NCO Wives staying busy with activities

The NCO Wives Club has managed to keep busy over the past months and would like to inform you of some of our recent activities and upcoming events.

At recent business meetings, we have welcomed as new members to our group Mary Capps, wife of Jack Capps; and Shirley Ellena, wife of Armando Ellena. We wish to extend a great big welcome to these women and promise to use their talents to the fullest.

Regretfully, we issued fond farewells to Trudy Vanderbrink, Monica Perez, Ursula Cooper and Mary Gatzert. They have left us for other bases, or will soon be leaving. We wish you all the best of everything and want you to know that you will be missed by us all.

Recently nominated to the honors of Member of the Month have been Monika Bednarcyk, our treasurer; Marge Bain, a very willing worker, and Diane Seward, our parliamentarian. Congratulations, girls, you all deserve the recognition for the work you have done for us. Thanks to members like you, we are a going club!

At our last meeting, we were presented with door prizes furnished by Katy Gardner and Amanda Kawnak. They are representatives of Max Factor, for whom they had given a make-up demonstration, using Kathy Belanger for a model. The lucky women winning prizes were Monica Perez, Monika Bednarcyk, Sharon Helm, Nancy Schulz. Winning two prizes were Joeretta Gilkey and Kathy Belanger. Such nice gifts were received! Monica Perez also won the Black Horse prize this month.

We are proud to announce that we will be furnishing free nursery once again to members for our business meetings on the second Tuesday of each month. Reservations must be made in advance, but the base Child Care Center will be open for those making them.

1943 pilot grad makes Reese visit

By Bill Tynan

"How about that, I believe I recognize most of this instrumentation in here!" exclaimed Frederick D. Mitchell, owner of a Beaufort, S.C., construction firm, while examining the cockpit of a Northrop T-38 Talon.

Mitchell and his wife visited Reese Monday "just to see how much things have changed since we were stationed here." The couple lived in Lubbock for nearly a year while he was undergoing pilot training here. Reese was then known as Lubbock Army Air Field and trained cadets, enlisted men and officers to become commissioned pilots in the Army Air Corps. He graduated in 1943.

Members of the base Information Division escorted them on a tour that included base operations, the control tower, T-38 maintenance areas and the instrument trainers.

Mitchell showed an old brown War Department "indentification card" (sic) that he had been issued. When they had distributed eightand-a-half million of these, they finally discovered their spelling mistake," he said referring to the organization that later became the Defense Department.

But we still managed to win the

Better Half jumps ahead in women's softball play

By Barbara Reiland

For a while Sunday it looked like the Blue Diamonds just might take down the Better Half, but it was short lived.

The Blue Diamonds took the field in the top of the fourth with a fiverun lead. When the dust cleared and the game ended, the score was in favor of the Better Half, 18-10.

The Better Half were hitting, running and taking advantage of every error. They started off with Denise LaFaver hitting a triple in the first inning to bring in two runs. In the top of the third, Betty Pusser hit a triple for one RBI. In the fourth, Shirley Felty knocked three runs in one a double and Ann Flores and Betty Pusser each hit solo home runs in the sixth and seventh innings.

Terry Whisenhunt was pitching and fielding like a pro for Godron Deering's Blue Diamonds. She struck out five batters, caught a bunch of pop-ups over the mound and took runners out at first base like it was child's play. Her hitting was in gear as well with a big triple in the bottom of the second for two runs betted in.

Terry also gave birth to an outstanding double play in the seventh when she threw to Sharon VanBastelaar at first to take out the batter. Then Sahron passed the ball on to Ginger Keyes at the plate to clean up on the lead runner.

The Blue Daimonds were hitting doubles left and right with Karen Lewis, Bobbie Lewis, Marj Dye, JoAnn Lafleur and Chris Rosberg doing the swinging. In a last minute rally in the bottom of the seventh, Karen Lewis trotted to third base on a line drive to left field and Terry Whisenhunt brought her in one a single for a combined total of three runs. It just was not enough to catch the Better Half.

Later on Sunday the Reese Credit Union Red Hots took on the Dusty Devils and walked away with a 13-2

The first inning started off with a bang when Betty Creager slammed a triple for the Red Hots to bring in a pair of runs. Terran Harrison hit a little triple in the fourth for one score and in the top of the sixth Terry West socked another triple to bring Pat Williams sliding into home in a tight play.

With the bases loaded in the top of the sixth and the score 10-2, yours truly, Barb Reiland, came up to bat and slammed a big one clear to the right field fence to bring in all three runners.

Defensively speaking, Vicki Compton was a star. She ordinarily pitches for the Red Hots but in Sunday's game she played second base and played it outstandingly. Not one ball got by her and she made successful plays in every inning. Her hitting was not bad either. In the first inning Donna Shirley, playing shortstop, caught a pop fly that had popped out of the pitcher's glove to take the batter out. Donna's hitting was as good as her fielding, batting 4-for-4. In the bottom of the fourth inning Bobbie Powlett of the Dusty Devils hit a beautiful long fly to center field, the longest hit of the game, but it was caught handily by, guess who, Barb Reiland.

In spite of a double by Kathy Foy and a triple by Toni Sutherland in the first inning to score the only two runs, the Dusty Devils could not seem to build up the steam for a rally. As mentioned earlier, Bobbie Powlett was hitting good and her fielding was even better playing shortstop. Jay McGrath, catcher, made a nice play at home plate to cut off a potential grand slam. The game ended after the sixth inning because the Red more than a 10-run lead.

There will be no games played by the Women's Softball League Sunday, due to the Memorial Day Holiday. The next scheduled games will be the following Sunday, June 1, when the Better Half plays the Dusty Devils in the 3 p.m. game and the Blue Diamonds take on the Red Hots in the 5 p.m. game. # OMS takes bowling crown as Intramural Champions

By Sonny Serutan

Congratulations to 64th Organizational Maintenance Squadron; winning the intramural is a great accomplishment.

You all should be very proud you came to the league with a solid team and worked hard to win. It takes both of these ingredients to make a champion!

A special doff of the Serutan bonnet to Supply team #2. The number "2" says they were their squadron's second team. These guys bowled harder, had more fun and generally turned the league upside down. They finished some 14 places higher in the standings than anyone (including yours truly) thought they would.

Once again it is new league and new league constitution time. Again we suggest you, read the proposed constitution and come to the meeting prepared to make suggestions and/or vote the thing as proposed. Pay attention to your substitution rules and your handicap rules. They are the two areas that can hurt you.

The Tuesday League is ready to run and the Ball and Chain has already started. All good reports from the bowlers Thursday night sounded like everybody had a good

We are still looking for people for our beginner's league. This league will be bowled on Friday night and is aimed at the new bowler.

Mobile Home spaces in Lubbock's most exclusive Mobile Home Park. Established yards, Large Community Center & Swimming pool, large underground storm shelter, several playground areas. Children welcome. $57.00 per month

Coaches and helpers for the American Junior Bowling Congress leagues are needed now. The leagues are not formed as yet but will begin when the school year ends.

The Summer Tournament schedule is being developed. Your ideas for new tournaments or new ideas for old tournaments are needed. Come talk to us.

Entertainment is still a problem.

Our old entertainment director,

Marty Harbison, is back. You remember all the great acts he could not get for us. Well, he really got a smash act. Listen to this — he found a guy that wrestles a shark. Unfortunately, last week the shark won so we cancelled the act. No one wants to sit around and watch a shark pick its teeth.

Sonny Says - "Did you ever wonder why there are more horses tails than there are horses?"

Back during the late 1800's, a lot of the little ranchers signed on as drovers, along with regular hands from the big outfits, just to get enough "cash money" to make it through the year. They were paid about $100 at trails end and that represented from 3½ to 4 months of hard, dusty work. Western banks appreciated those little accounts then, because they knew how important these dollars were to the depositors — And Bank of the West is dedicated to carrying on the same tradition. That's why we "put the ax to bank check tax" and leave those extra dollars in your account where they belong.
