

Happy Thanksgiving! National Holiday Thursday

Oh, the words. . . "thank you"
How often we forget,
Forgetting their use!
Forgetting their meaning!
So we take for granted,
What others say and do.
Can't we respond to the goodness shown?

Yet, words are not the only response.
Easy to speak thanks . . . little cost,
We must act!
We must serve!
This is the test of true thanksgiving.
God knows we have received.
Have we thanked Him for everything?
Yes, Lord, teach us to say, "Thank you"
Thanks for life and time.
For beauty and seeing it!
For love and living it!
Realizing these blessings from above
Here below we find meaning.
Is there anything we have not received?

Bullen named ATC senior airman advisor

CMSgt. Brian Bullen
New ATC Senior Airman
Advisor

Randolph AFB, Tex. (ATCPS) — CMSgt. Brian Bullen, former senior enlisted advisor for the 12th Flying Training Wing, has been selected to be the new senior enlisted advisor for Air Training Command (ATC).

The selection of Sergeant Bullen was made Nov. 7 by Lt. Gen. John W. Roberts, ATC commander. Sergeant Bullen was selected from four finalists from within the command.

Sergeant Bullen said of his new job, "This is the greatest opportunity I have ever had in my military career to make a contribution to the military community of this command and the Air Force."

Almost 25 years ago to the day, the senior NCO started his Air Force career. While still a first term airman, he served as a training instructor at Lackland AFB, Tex. Following his Lackland AFB tour he was selected as part of the initial cadre of the first Air Force rehabilitation center, the 3320th Retraining Group, Amarillo AFB, Tex.

Following this and various other assignments, Sergeant Bullen returned to ATC in 1969 as NCOIC of the Student Group at the Technical Training Center, Chanute AFB, Ill.

Headquarters ATC Technical Training Standardization and Evaluation Team was his next assignment in early 1972. Since that time he has observed and evaluated technical and military training throughout the Air Force.

The enlisted advisor's off-duty interests center around raising Appaloosa horses at his homestead in Cibola, Tex., where he resides with his wife, Betty, and daughter, Robin. The sergeant's son, Stephen, is an airman first class stationed at Zweibrucken AB, Germany, working as a life support systems specialist.

Officials recommend change in E-4 structure

WASHINGTON (AFNS) — Personnel officials have announced several proposed changes in the enlisted force structure. Among these is a two-level E-4 grade: the E-4 apprentice, and E-4 noncommissioned officer (NCO).

It goes like this: all E-4s, upon assuming that grade, would be designated E-4 "apprentices." They would retain all existing E-4 entitlements and continue to be addressed as "sergeant." Upon selection to E-4, they would receive a 15-hour leadership/management orientation course. This would be part of a two-phased supervisory training program that would be mandatory before achieving "NCO" designation.

New Insignia

To visually differentiate the E-4 apprentice from the E-4 NCO, Air Force is developing a new insignia for the E-4 "apprentice" (and for grades E-2 and E-3). Essentially, it will be the insignia now in use, but without the star.

Upon meeting the following criteria, E-4 "apprentices" would be designated E-4 "NCOs":

- 12 months in grade as an E-4;
- 36 months in service;
- completion of Phase II supervisory training program;
- Recommendation by the unit commander.

Additionally, officials say they are looking at a written examination as a fifth criterion.

After meeting the criteria, an E-4 would attend a formal NCO designation ceremony.

At that time, officials say Air Force would give the new NCO a certificate of appointment to NCO rank and authorize him to wear NCO insignia.

Officials say this program reduces the shortcomings of the present system that designates all E-4s as NCOs without regard to experience, training, or ability to serve as an NCO. Now, added experience is needed before becoming an NCO.

Incentive

The program also gives those first-term airmen with leadership and supervisory ability the incentive to progress to NCO status. It provides unit commander involvement in the designation process, a more systematic approach to NCO orientation and supervisory training, and formal transition to NCO ranks. Finally, officials emphasize, it makes the NCO grade of E-4 an earned achievement rather than an automatic designation.

The changes will apply only to those airmen promoted to grade E-4 after the announced implementation date. Those already in grade E-4 at that time will remain NCOs.

In a separate but related action, the Air Force announced plans to provide "below-the-zone" (BTZ) promotion for E-4. It is designed to provide competition and incentive. Key features of the program include: nomination by units to a central base selection board that meets quarterly; using the whole person concept; personal appearance before the board by the nominee; and promotion of selectees up to six months early.

Initial implementation is planned for January 1976, with the first BTZ promotions occurring March 1, 1976. Officials say more details on these programs will be provided by Air Force Military Personnel Center in early December 1975.

Freedom not free, it is very expensive, Gray tells AFA

At the Air Force Association (AFA) regular quarterly meeting this past week, Brig. Gen. John O. Gray (USAF retired), executive president of the AFA, was the featured speaker.

After talking about his early experiences at the old Lubbock Army Air Field, General Gray spoke on one of the most important pieces of proposed legislation that goes to the Congress each year, the budget.

Concerning the budget were the prospects of severely limiting the Air Warning and Control System program, cancellation of the Fairchild Industries A-10A close support aircraft program, and the cutback in many other aircraft programs, including the General Dynamics F-16.

Other items up for discussion being considered by the Congress are the retirement plan, military health care, temporary duty and permanent change of station per diem rates, women as pilots in the Air Force, commissary sales tax, and airman commissioning.

While Congress is seeking revisions and limitations on these programs, the AFA is giving fighting support to keep them all.

General Gray closed his speech with these comments. "I submit that we can fulfill the American destiny in the next 200 years if we remain true to the creed that peace is crucial, but that freedom must come first. And to maintain this freedom, we must remain militarily strong. Freedom indeed is not free. In fact, it's very expensive, but it's worth ever penny of it."

Larger UPT classes forecast; How will it affect Reese people?

On Nov. 28, Reese will welcome undergraduate Pilot Training Class 77-01, beginning a new era.

Whereas the last six classes of fiscal year 76 have averaged close to 25 students, Class 77-01 and succeeding classes are planned to be in the range of 40 to 50.

What does this mean to Reese? Perhaps the most immediate effect will be increased Student Squadron and T-37 flight line activity.

Reese has enough classroom instructors, aircraft and instructor pilots to handle the extra students. However, some organizations have had their manning cut as class size reduced and flying training activity hit a low ebb. These units will find work activity increasing for the Cessna T-37 Tweet as the New Year begins and in mid-May for the Northrop T-38 Talon.

We are all familiar with having fewer manpower authorizations within our units. We have also found that people are not always immediately available to fill vacancies after departures. Both cases are, in part, products of the restricted budgets our national leaders have allocated to the Air Force.

As the pace of Reese pilot training activity increases, these shortages may become even more evident. Temporary adjustments will have to be made by Air Force people, both military and civilian, to increase each person's output.

The Reese Management Engineering Detachment (MET) is assigned directly to Headquarters Air Training Command Manpower and Organizational Directorate. MET often does work assigned from higher headquarters, but we also look forward to our role as management consultants to Reese units.

Willing to Help

At the request of any supervisor, we are willing to help solve problems encountered in either daily or special circumstances on a confidential basis. Some of the help we have already provided to Reese units has been in the areas of layout analysis, work flow and assignment, methods and procedure analysis, and scheduling.

When a supervisor requests our advice, he gets experienced third party judgment and little or no disruption of daily operations, all at no cost to his unit's own manpower.

Supervisors should give the Reese MET a call if assistance is desired, because the MET is eager to give top-notch service to every Reese organization. Our telephone numbers are Ext. 2149 or 2261.

Commander's CARE Line

(Editor's Note: THE ROUNDUP will publish Commander's CARE Line calls which are of base-wide interest. Names of callers will not be published, but they should leave their name and duty extension in case their problem needs clarification. All calls are reviewed by Wing Commander Col. Edward Mendel. Reese people are urged to use their chain of command or the office of primary responsibility to air complaints or comments, if possible. If not, call the CARE Line by dialing C-A-R-E (Ext. 2273). Please provide your name and duty section when calling.)

Parking Space Lines

I was wondering if the lines could be repainted around the base for parking. Over at Barracks 220, especially, we have a problem with parking and I just wanted to know what if anything could be done about. Thank you.

Lack of parking lines has been a problem for all of us, but now that the street sealing project is finished, we are starting to repaint the lines. The base civil engineer tells me that restriping of the base parking areas will be done as soon as restriping of the streets is finished. Sorry for the temporary inconvenience, but the sealing was needed to prevent weather damage to the pavement.

Retreat Courtesy

During a retreat ceremony, I noticed that one lieutenant came out of the Student Squadron, put down his bag and saluted. Then I noticed six others who came out and were laughing and just walked on by. I thought since they were second lieutenants it should be explained to them what they are supposed to do during retreat ceremony.

Thank you for bringing the incident to my attention. Although we are a flying training unit, we also maintain a responsibility for military training. Some aspects of the latter obviously need more attention. All student officers will be reminded of their responsibilities as members of a military organization, and will be briefed on courtesies which apply to retreat.

Grounds Inspections

As a resident of Reese Village, I would like to know why a circular was sent out, earlier this summer, saying that grounds inspections would be made each Monday and then inspections are made on any day of the week? Today I received a notice saying my yard needed to have leaves raked. If the inspector had been here on Monday, as he was supposed to have been, my yard would have passed inspection. I spent several hours cleaning it Sunday. At this time of the year, leaves fall off the trees continually. I see no reason to spend an hour each day raking when 30 minutes later it looks as though nothing has been done. I agree that yard inspections are necessary to keep all of us aware of our community appearance. However, I think that certain allowances should be made at this time of the year.

Although residents of Reese Village were informed earlier this summer that grounds inspections would be made on Monday, a later announcement (Reese Bulletin, Sept 25) changed the inspections to Tuesdays, with follow-ups on Fridays. The grounds inspections are not intended to be a nuisance or discomfort to anyone but are necessary, as you mentioned, to maintain a good community appearance. Allowances must be made for special occasions, such as visiting dignitaries, when changes to the current inspection policy are needed. I appreciate what you have said and assume you were not one of those I noticed who were obviously hoping that seasonal high winds would take care of their "leaves" for them.

Wing Airman of the Month A1C Allen E. Kurth

Airman Kurth wins honor as Wing Airman of Month

A1C Allen E. Kurth has been honored by being named the 64th Flying Training Wing Airman of the Month for October.

"Since arriving at Reese in July of this year, Airman Kurth has been working hard and learning all facets in his work center, the Consolidated Duplication Center," commented Capt. Gary R. Taylor, chief of Central Base Administration. "His knowledge of the operations and management of a print shop, as an airman first class with less than two years experience, rivals that of a staff sergeant with several years on the job," Captain Taylor praised.

"During the past month, printing requirements have reached a record high. Without the skill and efficiency of Airman Kurth, the vast number of special projects such as the Air Training Command inspector general replies and an exceptionally large number of publications could not have been printed with such high quality and in such a timely manner," noted Captain Taylor.

"His professionalism is apparent in everything he does. His dedication to the Air Force is an example of the high calibre of young airmen which Airman Kurth represents. He displays maturity, good judgement and dependability well above many of his contemporaries."

Captain Taylor continued, "Airman Kurth is a very mild-mannered, soft-spoken person, yet he has the unique ability to converse intelligently and knowledgeably with his co-workers, supervisors and all patrons of the Duplicating Center. This ability to communicate without seeming overbearing or offensive is a much-valued asset in performing his assigned tasks."

"Off duty, Airman Kurth pursues his profession as a free lance photographer. He and his wife devote much of their time to this most rewarding and challenging experience. In this profession, as well, he is highly skilled and innovative," Captain Taylor concluded.

FMS workers earn recognition

Maj. James E. Cason, 64th Field Maintenance Squadron (FMS) commander, has announced several squadron award winners for the months of September and October.

A1C Richard A. Gibson was selected as Squadron Airman of the Month for September. "Airman Gibson is a brilliant electronics repairman. His outstanding job performance and superior knowledge of the communications and navigation systems have made him an invaluable asset to the Avionics Branch," Major Cason said.

A1C Trinidad Medel III was chosen as Squadron Airman of the Month for October. He received the honor because of his ability to adjust rapidly to a new environment and apply himself far beyond the requirements of his job.

TSgt. Edward G. Bolkosky Jr. was named 64th FMS Squadron NCO of the Quarter for October. "Sergeant Bolkosky's performance as an aircraft quality control inspector has been clearly superior. He has proven to be a highly capable, efficient and dedicated NCO, extremely competent in all phases of his job. He demands the highest quality maintenance," said Major Cason.

In addition, Sergeant Bolkosky was cited for the performance of his duties as assistant NCO in charge of the Inspection Section of Quality Control and assistant aircraft weight and balance monitor for the Reese Weight and Balance Program.

AF members unaware of their responsibility to pay state taxes

Randolph AFB, Tex. (ATCPS) — Air Force officials are concerned that some members may be unaware of their responsibility to pay state income taxes.

The matter came to light in the Nov. 5 issue of the Air Force Times, which published the results of a survey in which several military members said they understood they did not have to pay state income taxes.

The Air Force Chief of Staff is concerned that while the Times survey was small and may not have been conducted scientifically, there may be many more Air Force members unaware of their liability for state taxes.

Air Force members must pay income taxes to the state of their legal residence unless state laws exempt them from payment. State income tax is not withheld automatically from the member's Air Force pay, as is Federal income tax. It is the member's responsibility to file state income tax returns.

The state of legal residence is established on DD Form 214 at the time the member enlists in the Air Force. Normally it is the state in which the person enlists, but this is not always the case.

A statement of earnings is sent by the Air Force to the state indicated by the member (on a W-4 Form) as the state of legal residence. If there is no indication of legal residence in the member's record, the statement of earnings is required to be sent to the state in which the wages are earned.

Air Training Command (ATC) Judge Advocate officials suggest the best way for command personnel to get information about state income tax liability is to visit the base legal office.

Base legal assistance officials have available an All States Income Tax Guide which contains information specifically written to assist service personnel with state income taxes.

October leave and earning statements from the Air Force

Finance Center, Denver, list the state of legal residence as it is recorded at the Center for every Air Force member. Take it along to the base legal office.

In recent years states have become pressed for funds and have become more aggressive in efforts to collect taxes owed. Collections of accumulated taxes could cause a hardship. Prompt payment of state taxes can avoid this.

Health benefits continue for retiring Federal employees

As a Federal employee enrolled in one of the plans available under the Federal Employees Health Benefits Program, you should know that benefits of the plan can continue for you and/or your eligible family members after retirement, while on employees compensation or leave without pay, or in case of your death.

Continuation of protection against the cost of illness or accident is governed by certain conditions.

After retirement, your enrollment in a health benefits plan will continue with the same benefits and at the same cost as if you were still a Federal employee providing that:

- you retired under a retirement system (not social security) for civilian employees of the Government after 12 or more years of creditable service or under the disability provisions of the applicable retirement law and immediately started receiving retired pay; and

- you are enrolled in a health benefits plan (eligible family members must have been covered under your plan for continuation of benefits) during one of the following periods: (1) the five years immediately preceding your retirement; (2) all employment since your first opportunity to enroll; (3) all employment since your enrollment which must have become effective not later than Dec. 31, 1964.

While on employees' compensation, your enrollment in a health benefits plan can continue with the same benefits without cost if the Secretary of Labor determines that you are unable to return to work; and you receive compensation under the Federal Employees Compensation Law.

You must have been enrolled in a health benefits plan (eligible family members must have been covered under your plan) during one of the following periods: (1) for the five years of employment immediately preceding start of compensation; or periods (2) and (3) as listed under "after retirement" section above.

In case of your death while enrolled in a health benefits plan for self and family, your eligible survivor family members who have the right to receive an annuity will be able to continue the enrollment with the same benefits and at the same cost as for employees. Deductions will be made from annuity checks to cover their share of the cost of plan.

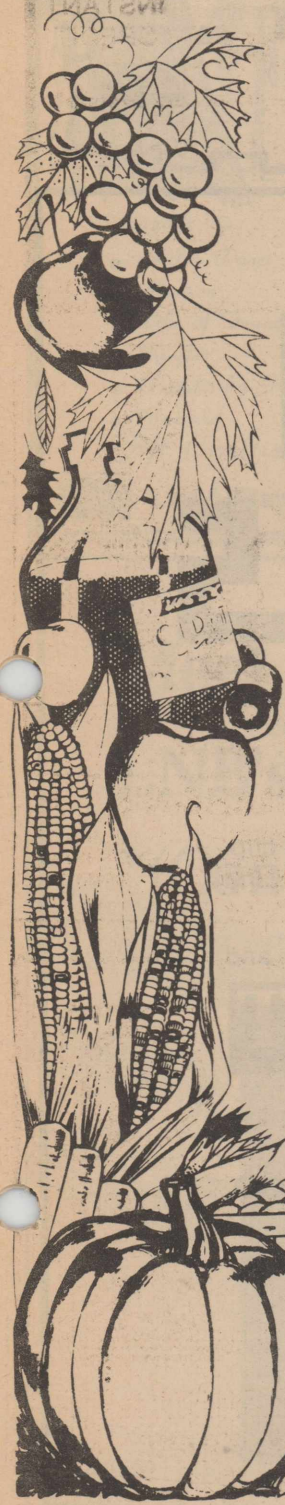

If there is only one survivor receiving annuity payments, and he is the only family member eligible for health benefits, his enrollment will be automatically changed from self and family to self only, with corresponding reduction in cost.

If you go on leave without pay your enrollment will continue without cost for up to 365 days, providing that you are in a nonpay status because of illness or other reason, except reduction-in-force furlough.

Tips to prevent food poisoning

By Dr. (Capt) G. M. Stay
Base Veterinarian

Food poisoning tends to occur more often during the Thanksgiving, Christmas and New Year's holidays. Most of these outbreaks result from improper cooking or refrigeration of turkey and ham.

Several factors contribute to the increase of food poisoning at this time of year. Often the average housewife is cooking for a larger group of people than normal with a more varied menu and her refrigerator may be overloaded. Since buffets are popular fare, foods may be left out of the refrigerator longer than usual. In addition, the holiday menus feature more of the foods which, if mishandled, are most apt to cause food poisoning. These include dressings, gravies, egg and meat salads, poultry, ham, shellfish, cream-filled pastries and dairy products.

Here are some precautions to keep in mind to prevent a spoiled holiday:

- Frozen turkey should be moved to the chill compartment of the refrigerator about three days before the holiday to defrost. A little longer may be necessary for large birds. Do NOT defrost at room temperature.
 - Frozen foods should be cooked within 24 hours of defrosting.
 - Cooked or uncooked food should never remain in the 45-140 degrees Fahrenheit range for more than four hours during stages of preparation, cooking, holding and serving combined. These are temperatures in which food-poisoning bacteria can grow.
 - In the event birds are stuffed before roasting, turkey should be cooked so the center of the stuffing reaches 165° regardless of the size of the turkey. The use of a meat thermometer, inserted between the first and second rib of the turkey, is recommended.
 - If high temperatures are used as a criteria of whether the turkey is cooked, the temperature should be 200 degrees to insure the bird is fully done.
 - Leftover cooked bread stuffings should be removed from the turkey and refrigerated as soon as possible after serving. The practice of partially cooking turkeys and stuffings together or separately and subsequently chilling and re-cooking in any manner is not safe.
 - When preparing of giblet gravy, cooked giblets should remain at room temperature for a minimum time before being added to the gravy. The gravy should then be boiled.
 - Leftover turkey should be boned, placed in covered containers and refrigerated. If it is to be used for salad, creamed turkey or similar dishes, the four-hour limit between 45-140 degrees Fahrenheit still applies.
- This article was originally published by Dr. (Maj) J. Davis, Randolph AFB, Tex. Accidents have resulted from vehicle operators experiencing a food-borne illness while driving. Don't let this happen to us.

AIR FORCE NEWS SUMMARY

Dr. McLucas Honored at Ceremony

Secretary of the Air Force Dr. John L. McLucas received the Silver Palm to the Department of Defense Medal for Distinguished Public Service. Former Secretary of Defense Dr. James R. Schlesinger presented the medal to Dr. McLucas for outstanding leadership as secretary of the Air Force from July 1973 to November 1975. Air Force Chief of Staff Gen. David C. Jones presented Dr. McLucas the Department of the Air Force decoration for exceptional civilian service. President Ford has nominated Dr. McLucas to head the Federal Aviation Administration. Dr. McLucas has been confirmed by the Congress to head the Federal Aviation Administration with a date to be announced for the official swearing-in ceremony.

Overseas Voluntary Extensions Available

Officers (lieutenant colonels and below) and airmen now stationed overseas may volunteer to extend their tours if they have a date of return from Jan. 1 to Sept. 30, 1976. Officials say even if the individual has received a stateside assignment, the extension will be approved when possible. They say the changes are due to a severe shortage of permanent-change-of-station (PCS) funds and the overall emphasis on delaying PCS moves.

Schlesinger Leaves DOD

Officials announced that Dr. James R. Schlesinger ended his appointment as secretary of defense Nov. 10. Acting Secretary William P. Clements Jr. will hold down the key Defense Department post until a replacement has been confirmed by the Senate. President Ford has nominated Donald H. Rumsfeld, assistant to the President, to serve as Schlesinger's successor.

Junior AFROTC Contest Announced

The Aerospace Education Foundation has announced its fourth annual contest for all high school students enrolled in the Air Force Junior Reserve Officer Training Corps (AFJROTC) program. AFJROTC units wishing to enter must apply by Dec. 1, 1975, to AFJROTC Headquarters, Air University, Maxwell AFB, Ala., 36112. This year's contest theme relates to the upcoming Bicentennial celebration. It is "The Role of Aerospace in American History." The winning unit, chosen from the best five entries, will receive a $4,000 scholarship which can be awarded to one person or divided among a maximum of four participants selected by the winning unit.

Weather Squadron to Assist Santa Claus

Children around the world will again this year receive letters from Santa Claus — postmarked "North Pole, Alaska." Personnel of Detachment 2, 11th Weather Squadron, will pose as Santa's helpers to postmark the letters and mail them. This is the 21st year that the squadron has assisted Santa. Squadron officials advise parents to write a reply to the child's letter and sign it "Santa Claus." Seal the letter in an envelope addressed to the child and attach an airmail stamp to it. Place the sealed letter in a stamped outer envelope addressed to: Santa's Mailbag, Det. 2, 11th Weather Squadron, APO Seattle 98737. Letters should be sent before the Dec. 10 deadline to insure delivery before Christmas Day.

SEASONAL DRIVING HAZARD — Slow-moving and often unlighted at night, cotton trailers like this one are a real hazard during the West Texas cotton harvest season which recently began. Take care, especially at night, when driving on Reese area highways. (U.S. Air Force Photo)

Physical condition important for women entering academy

U.S. AIR FORCE ACADEMY, Colo. (AFNS) — Young women applying for entrance to the Air Force Academy need to be in good physical condition, as well as academically prepared, says Capt. Micki King, Olympic gold medal diver and academy diving coach.

"Women who have been active in athletics should have no trouble with the PAE (physical aptitude examination) portion of the application process," Captain King said.

The PAE is given to all applicants for the academy to test their strength, endurance, agility, and coordination. The women's test items are similar to the PAE given men. They must complete a 600-yard shuttle run, a basketball throw from a kneeling position, broad jump, and the flexed arm hang from a chinning bar.

Women cadet applicants will begin taking the PAE for the first time Dec. 7. Testing locations will be as near as possible to their homes.

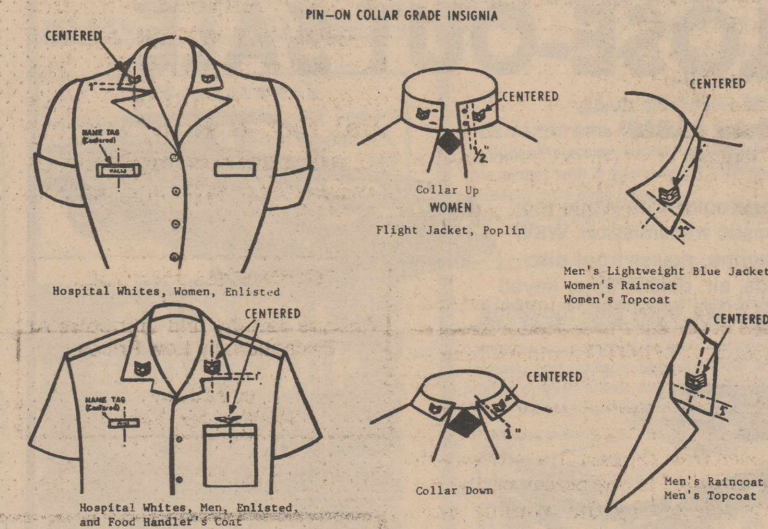

Captain King is one of the academy officials who helped devise programs for women cadets. Currently she is administering the PAE to women officers who volunteer to serve as air training officers (ATOs) for women cadets. There will be 15 ATOs in the grades of first and second lieutenant acting as upperclasswomen until women cadets have reached upperclass status.

Academy seeks many volunteers

WASHINGTON (AFNS) - Air Force Academy officials are seeking enlisted volunteers in the grades of airman first class to chief master sergeant for assignments to the academy in nearly every Air Force specialty.

An assignment to the academy is normally a four-year controlled tour. To be selected, airmen must have an overall rating of eight or nine on their last three airman performance reports; not have a record of Uniform Code of Military Justice convictions or civil offenses other than minor traffic violations; have high moral standards and excellent military bearing; be a high school graduate or general educational development test equivalent; no history of psychiatric disorders; 24 months service retainability; be financially solvent and they and their immediate family must be U.S. citizens.

People who are interested in applying for an academy assignment should contact their local consolidated base personnel office for assistance or refer to AFR 39-11.

AF officials approve wear of collar chevrons

WASHINGTON (AFNS) — The wearing of metal collar chevrons by enlisted personnel on the raincoat, men's optional topcoat, lightweight blue jacket, medical/dental whites, and the food handler's coat has been approved by Air Force officials.

It was stated that the use of traditional sleeve chevrons on other garments will continue. The optional wear period is effective immediately, with no time limit set to allow phase-in of the collar chevrons.

Collar chevrons may be purchased now through local base exchanges. Officials expect them to be available in clothing sales stores around Oct. 1, 1976.

Squadron gets first taste of winter foul weather

By 1st Lt. Cliff Napolitano

The 35th Flying Training Squadron was greeted this week with the first round of foul weather in quite a long time. Early morning crews got reacquainted with de-icing fluid and low clouds. But overall, you've got to admit the weather has really been great until now.

The Squadron welcomes two new members this week. They are Capt. Jeffrey Fine and 2nd Lt. Steve Higgs. Captain Fine comes to us from Lockheed C-141 Starlifters at McCord AFB, Wash. Lieutenant Higgs is a recent undergraduate pilot training graduate of Class 75-08 and will be going to "D" Flight. We want to welcome both of our new members of the Squadron.

First Lt. Mike Nevins will be returning to "D" Flight this week following a month's rest at Academic Instructor's School at Randolph AFB, Tex. "D" Flight instructors tell us a "charming" slot as observer at "Fizz" is eminent!

There's going to be some new "rank" around the Squadron next week. First Lt. Stefan Jankiewicz of "B" Flight is being promoted to captain and 2nd Lt. Dennis Royer of "F" Flight will be a first lieutenant.

While on the subject of promotions, Lt. Col. Robert Bradshaw announced last week that Majors Jerry Thies and Tom Fryer had been promoted to permanent major. Congratulations are in order to all these men.

We lost two of our members this past week, but in this case we are sure to see them around a lot. First Lt. Ron Cone of "C" Flight and First Lt. Wayne Hodges of "D" Flight move to the newly-reactivated Student Branch to become class commanders. We sure hate to see them go.

Revised CBPO Organization

Effective Nov. 1, a major reorganization occurred within all active duty consolidated base personnel offices (CBPOs). The approval for the new concept in CBPO structuring was directed because of the successful testing of the new structure at 26 continental United States and overseas CBPOs. The Reese CBPO is a class III structure and is comprised of the customer assistance section, personnel utilization section, and quality force section. The revised office symbols and phone numbers will be published in the Reese Bulletin. It is anticipated that the transition here at Reese will be made with a minimum of inconvenience to CBPO customers. However, your cooperation and patience is solicited during the transition period.

NCO Club Membership Meeting

There will be an NCO Open Mess membership meeting at the NCO club at 7 p.m. Dec. 4. The purpose of this meeting is to elect new committee members to the advisory committee. At the close of the meeting there will be a smorgasbord dinner and free beer for all NCO club members.

Rodriguez Wins Honor

TSgt. Joe Rodriguez, of the 64th Supply Squadron's Equipment Branch, was recognized Tuesday as Resources' Facility Manager of the Month for October. In a brief ceremony at the Commander's Call for Resources, Col. Richard A. Ingram, base commander, presented Sergeant Rodriguez a certificate of recognition for the performance of his building custodian duties. In describing Sergeant Rodriguez' building, Bldg. 536, Capt. Jerry Chung, Fuels Management officer and a facilities management monitor, said, "The interior of the building is exceptionally cleaned, waxed and orderly. The exterior of the building shines in comparison to neighboring facilities. It is evident that Sergeant Rodriguez takes pride in fulfilling his responsibilities."

Bad check writers lose privileges

DALLAS Repeat abusers of the free check-cashing service offered by the Army and Air Force Exchange Service (AAFES) are to be faced with a new restriction: suspension of the personal check-cashing privilege.

That disclosure came from Maj. Gen. C.W. Hospelhorn, AAFES commander, who announced that "those who pass two bad checks within a six-month period at any AAFES activity will be denied the privilege for six months. The issuance of more than two dishonored checks in that period will mean permanent loss of the AAFES check-cashing privilege."

Wing Dining Hall invites all to feast

All Reese enlisted, officers, dependents and their guests are invited to come out Thanksgiving Day, Thursday and eat a very special lunch at the Wing Dining Hall, according to SSgt. Michael J. Snyder, superintendent of the Food Service Branch.

The special Thanksgiving meal will be served from 11 a.m. to 3 p.m. The menu will include a number of traditional holiday favorites. Diners will feast on roast turkey with cornbread dressing, giblet gravy and cranberry sauce, roast beef with brown gravy and baked ham with pineapple sauce. Also offered will be glazed sweet potatoes, mashed potatoes, buttered corn, buttered peas, glazed carrots, and assorted relish tray, hot rolls and butter. Dessert items will include apple pie, pumpkin pie, chocolate cake, fruitcake, assorted fresh fruit and assorted candies and nuts. Beverages will include coffee, tea, milk and assorted soft drinks.

Cost of the feast is $1.50 for enlisted members who receive separate rations, $2.40 for officers, dependents and guests, with children less than 12 years of age eating for $1.25.

The Wing Dining Hall will be open for breakfast on Thanksgiving Day from 7 to 8:30 a.m. Supper will be served from 4 to 6 p.m.

Date set for mandatory flu shots

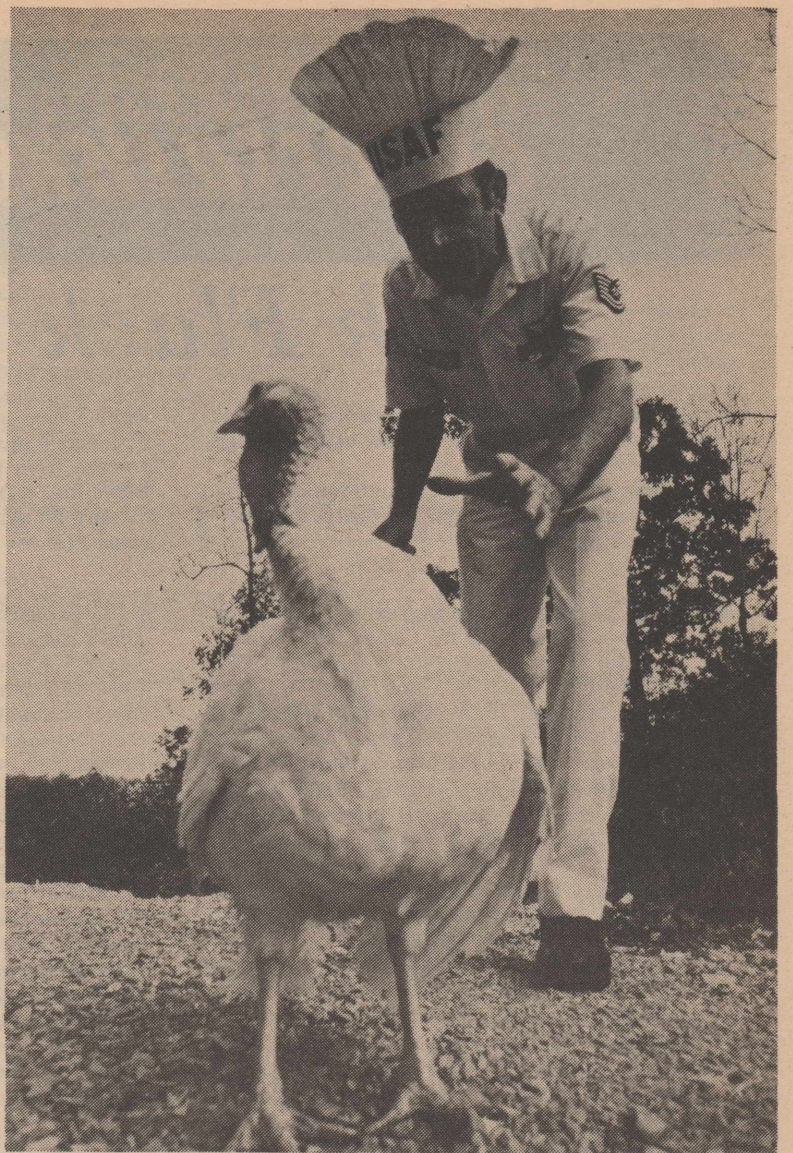

Influenza immunizations will be given to military, civil service and dependents in the base Gymnasium Dec. 3-5 from 6 a.m. to 4 p.m. and in the Emergency Room from 4:30 to 8:30 p.m.

Personnel should bring their shot records to have the flu shot entered. This shot is mandatory for all military members.

After Dec. 8, retired military and dependents may get the shot in the Immunization Clinic during normal duty hours.

The flu vaccine has been refined by the manufacturer during the past few years to reduce reactions. Any person feeling that they will react adversely to the serum must call Ext. 2519 or 2297 (Allergy Clinic) to be properly screened before Nov. 28.

Members of the 35th Flying Training Squadron (FTS), 54th FTS and the 64th Student Squadron should contact their administrative sections for specific times and dates.

CATCH ME IF YOU CAN — That seems to be what the turkey is saying to TSgt. Basil L. Riccomini, dining hall supervisor at Scott AFB, Ill. To see if our dining hall supervisor caught his turkey, read the menu on this page. (U.S. Air Force Photo)

The Lost Gonzo Band

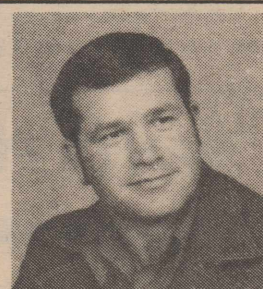

Austin, Texas, has been touted as a major music capital, mostly on the basis of a very vital live music scene, but the reality of the situation is a little different. Most of the bands play drinkin'-and-dancin' music of the sort that doesn't easily transfer its excitement to vinyl.

The Lost Gonzo Band, on the other hand, is very professional, and don't let the name of this band fool you. The Lost Gonzo Band is not steeped in hard rock, heavy metal or any other form of power chording. What they do pride themselves in is the ability to churn out some mighty tasty music that smacks of all the popular influences and yet does not pigeonhole itself in one particular form. The Lost Gonzo Band is free-flowing; something you don't get too often.

Jerry Jeff Walker's former back-up band (all of whom are Texas studio musicians) have a set and sound of their own, suitable for pop, progressive and country airwaves. Having the Gonzos with him gave Walker a backup band worthy of his music and the band refined its chops working behind him. These are the guys who did such a crackerjack job on the single version of Jerry Jeff's "Sangria Wine."

The Lost Gonzos have more than an image to sell. They're musicians, country boys with the fine touch of craftsmen — and they are very good! Hear them this weekend (fri. and Sat.) at West Texas Paradise Ballroom.

Flick Flack

Racing cars, giant killer bugs, beautiful women and action-packed romance will be shown at the Simler Theater this week.

The theater is open Tuesday through Sunday. The shows begin at 8 p.m. with the Saturday Matinee beginning at 2 p.m.

Tonight

Buddies Nick Nolte, a racing driver, and Don Johnson, a mechanic, head for California and the Grand National Drag Races in the summer of 1958. After an incident in a roadside diner, they pick up ex-waitress Robin Mattson. In Georgia's Macon County, Johnson meets hot-shot Eugene Daniels. Outrunning Daniels in a race with his souped-up yellow Chevy, Johnson is set upon by Daniels and his friends. That's when the action really begins in "Return to Macon County." This film is rated PG, parental guidance suggested.

Saturday Matinee and Evening

"The Golden Voyage of Sinbad," brings to the screen the action packed adventures of ancient heroes. This film is rated G, all ages admitted.

Sunday

William Castle, who has scared the devil out of the world with such horror classics as "Rosemary's Baby," now brings to the screen "Bug," a science fiction tale of terror. Giant fire-hurling cockroaches emerge from the ground following an earthquake, becoming a source of fascination and grotesque dismay for scientist Bradford Dillman. This film is rated PG.

Tuesday and Wednesday

"Cleopatra Jones and the Casino of Gold," again stars the stunning Tamara Dobson in the title role. When two of her colleagues (Albert Popwell and Caro Kenyatta) disappear while trying to infiltrate a heroin-smuggling ring, Dobson is summoned by G-man Norman Fell to crack the case. The film is rated R, under 17 requires accompanying parent or adult guardian.

Thursday

"The Wind and the Lion," stars Sean Connery, bearded and majestically robed in black, as Raisuli, the Berber leader who kidnaps Candice Bergen and her two children with the intention of ransoming them back to the U.S. government for arms and gold. The spectacular action scenes have scope and element of violence which may offend some. The film is rated PG.

Law protects veterans

WASHINGTON (AFNS) — Veterans Administration (VA) officials have issued a reminder to veterans and dependents enrolled in or considering a correspondence course under the GI Bill. They say special legislation gives them added protection from possible fraud or abuse by some operators of such schools.

The law protects veterans from costly payments when they cancel a course before reaching the halfway mark. It also provides a 10-day "cooling-off" period from the time the veteran signs an application for a correspondence course, officials said.

Under this provision, after the 10 days, the veteran must affirm in writing to the VA that he is going to take the course. Should he decide not to pursue the course before completing the notice to the VA, he must advise the school of his decision and it must make a prompt refund of the total amount paid by the veteran or eligible dependent.

In these circumstances, the school would be entitled to the return of any course material already provided. Students failing to complete nonaccredited courses may be charged the registration fees (not to exceed $10) and the cost of that portion of the course actually completed.

The VA advises any veteran or dependent having questions concerning correspondence courses under the GI Bill to contact the nearest Veterans Administration office.

Ambitions must be equated with ability

Approximately 120 people were on hand at the NCO club Tuesday to hear Dr. Louise Luchsinger speak on "Leadership for Women."

"We must equate our ambitions with our abilities and never cease to learn. It is essential to have the proper tools to accomplish our mission. Before sealing a wall, you must assure that the ladder is long enough," said Dr. Luchsinger.

Dr. Luchsinger challenged both the military and civilian women present at the luncheon to try to achieve even greater responsibility and leadership roles in their Air Force assignments.

"To be a leader doesn't necessarily mean you're at the top," Dr. Luchsinger added.

Dr. Luchsinger is an associate business administration professor at Texas Tech University where her primary teaching assignment is in marketing. She has been associated with the University for 20 years.

The noon luncheon was held in recognition of the United Nations proclamation designating 1975 as International Women's Year.

Christine Reagan, base Federal Women's Program coordinator, arranged for the event.

Recent changes explain delay to entering officers

Randolph AFB, Tex. (ATCPS) — Air Force Reserve Officer Training Crops (ROTC) graduates who have experienced a delay in entering active duty will receive a five-day orientation training course.

The five-training-day course will inform the graduates of recent changes that have occurred in Air Force policies, force structure and mission.

Air Training Command (ATC) officials said more than 2,000 ROTC graduates are now waiting to enter extended active duty. Some flying training (pilot and navigator) candidates have been waiting up to 20 months and others have been delayed up to 12 months. The orientation course will be given ROTC graduates who have been on the waiting list more than six months.

After completing the course, which will be given at Officer Training School located at Lackland AFB (Annex), Tex., the ROTC graduates will proceed to flying training, technical training, or direct duty assignments. The program is scheduled to begin Dec. 1.

Some of the major topics covered in the course will be dress and appearance, customs and courtesies, human relations, Air Force doctrine, force structure, leadership responsibility, command structure, and National security.

Temptation jeopardizes privileges

DALLAS — Longtime PX (BX) patrons will remember the often-repeated message drilled into every soldier, airman and military dependent: Don't sell out!

Today, just as before, the Army and Air Force Exchange Service (AAFES) stands as a vital military benefit. But that benefit is placed in jeopardy each time an authorized customer buys in the exchange for patrons who do not have the exchange privilege.

The temptation to "earn a little extra money" or "do a friend a favor" should be overcome, not only for the individual shopper's sake, but also for the many who serve — or have served — the nation and earned the exchange privilege. Bragging about lower exchange prices also threatens this benefit. It also should be avoided.

In plain language, abuse of the exchange privilege threatens this benefit for everyone. Is it worth it?

Young bowlers impress all

By Sonny Serutan
Reese Lanes

Our young American Junior Bowling Congress (AJBC) people bowled in Lubbock this past weekend. The parents and fans who watched and cheered were very impressed with the bowling.

The coaches (and yours truly) would like to thank SSgt. Rod Wilson for donating his time to drive the bus to and from Lubbock and for keeping score for the kids.

Meanwhile, back at the ranch, the big guys were bowling pretty well, too.

Intramural League

The Intramural League bowlers had a good night. Dal Swope had a 245 game, 634 series. Dennis Persinger had 222/623, Howard Creek 205/593 and Lee Steverson 242/583. We had many 200 games:

Speedy Vodopich 210, Lee Black 215, Pete Hooser 209, Rod Wilson 201, Jim Mosely 211, Doc Spencer 210, Mark Downing 213, Mike Strong 211 and Earl Morris 205.

The women stayed right with the men. Karen Goad had 198/479 and Hassie Lormand 176/498.

Ball and Chain League

Nov. 13 the Ball and Chainers did some great shooting. Rod Wilson scored high with 227/605, Marty Harbison 207/570, Tex Peyton 537, Dewey Payne 532, Larry Wymer 533, Jim Turner 524, Jay Bell 522 and Bill Register 506.

Sharon Padgett led the league's women with 183/512, followed by Betty Payne's 176/510.

The Cotton Pickers Nov. 14 had Skip McGarrigle with a 212/583 (he sure bowls good for a guy with no talent), Speedy Vodopich, 194/505 and Bob Wocking rolled 202/502.

High game honors went for the women went to Johnnie Caskey with a 168. Sue Vodopich took high series with a 467.

Rod Wilson and Cindy Harbison are leading the Turkey Shoot with 1,304 points.

Don't forget Scotch Doubles tomorrow night and Rent-a-Lane Sunday.

Still no entertainment for Sonny's Place. S.S., our sorry entertainment director, thought he had a winner. He tried to get the Texas Christian University Glee Club to sing their victory march. Just our luck — it's been so long since the Horned Frogs have won, nobody could remember the word.

Sonny says: "Practice is the only road to better bowling."

Reese team competes in ATC battle

The 54th Flying Training Squadron flag football team, representing Reese, traveled to Lackland AFB, Tex. last week to play in the Air Training Command (ATC) Central Division Playoffs.

The three-day tournament got Air Force base teams playing for the chance to advance to the ATC Championship Tournament. Along with Reese, teams from Webb, Lackland, Laughlin and Randolph were represented.

Reese's first game of the tournament was against Lackland. The final score was Lackland 40, Reese 6. Lackland was to go ahead and win the Central Division Championship. Reese played Laughlin in their second game and lost by a score of 16-4, eliminating Reese from the finals.

The final standings in the tournament were Lackland - first, Webb - second, Laughlin - third, Randolph - fourth, and Reese - fifth.

Lackland will now advance to the ATC Championship Tournament this week and play against Williams AFB, Ariz. and Columbus AFB, Miss. to decide the ATC Champions.

ATC accident figures best Air Force average

Randolph AFB, Tex. (ATCPS) — The Air Training Command (ATC) major aircraft accident rate is well below the Air Force rate for the first nine months of 1975, according to statistics from the Flight Safety Division of the Inspector General's Safety Directorate.

Seventy-one major aircraft accidents had occurred throughout the Air Force as of Sept. 30; only one of those was attributed to ATC. The Air Force accident rate at the end of September was 2.7 and the command major aircraft accident rate was 0.2. Rates are figured per 100,000 flying hours. As of Sept. 30 only one ATC installation, Williams AFB, Ariz., had experienced a major aircraft accident.

The command minor aircraft accident rate, at 0.4, was also below the Air Force wide rate of 0.7.

The ATC major and minor aircraft accident rates are based on 558,467 flying hours through Sept. 30.

Nine major aircraft accidents occurred in the command in 1974 resulting in a rate of 1.1. The 1974 minor aircraft accident rate was 0.1; the command experienced only one minor accident.

The Air Force major aircraft accident rate in 1974 was 2.9 and the minor accident rate was 0.9.

Reese sponsors tournament for high school basketball teams

By Bill Tynam

During the Christmas holiday season, Reese will sponsor a basketball tournament for high school boys' teams.

The tournament has a dual purpose. First as a community relations project on behalf of the Air Force and Reese. Second, it is a chance to expose the participating high school students and their fans to various facets of Air Force life.

High school students are a prime target from the Air Force recruiting program, either as new recruits soon after graduating from school or as possible candidates for the Air Force Academy or Air Force Reserve Officer Training Program programs at the nation's colleges and universities.

For the sake of competition, the tournament has been divided into a large school and a small school division. Initially, it was expected that eight teams would compete in each division but, for this year only, the large school division will have to compete with only five teams.

For various reasons, Odessa, Odessa Permian and Wichita Falls High Schools had to withdraw from the tourney at a late date. That precluded the possibility of finding suitable replacements.

Large Schools

The large schools will play a "round-robin" competition, with one game against each opponent. On the final evening of the tournament, the two teams with the best won-lost records will playoff for the President's Trophy.

The five teams, Big Spring, El Paso Andress, Lamesa, Morton and Pecos, present a very impressive lineup. Just consider that Lamesa was 34-0 last season and are the defending Texas State Class AAA Champions.

Small Schools

In the small school division, Christ The King, Denver City, Frenship, Lubbock Christian, Muleshoe, Slaton, Tulia and the Lubbock High Junior Varsity will be fighting for the Commander's Trophy. With eight teams in the bracket, a traditional single elimination tournament will be played. The consolation brackets will guarantee that each team will play three games during the competition.

All the players on each team will receive a certificate of recognition for their participation in the tournament. In addition, a most valuable player and a five-man all-star team will be selected for each division. Games will be played Dec. 18, 19 and 20. First games each day will begin at 10 a.m., with the final game of each day scheduled for an 8:30 p.m. tip-off. Tickets will be available at the Morale, Welfare and Recreation Division in the near future.

Base team victorious over Webb

The Reese Varsity Basketball Team won two games against the Webb AFB, Tex. squad Saturday and Sunday.

Reese's Lee Sanders led scoring Saturday night with 22 points in the 86-75 tilt. Belvin Eddington pulled up second high scorer with 18.

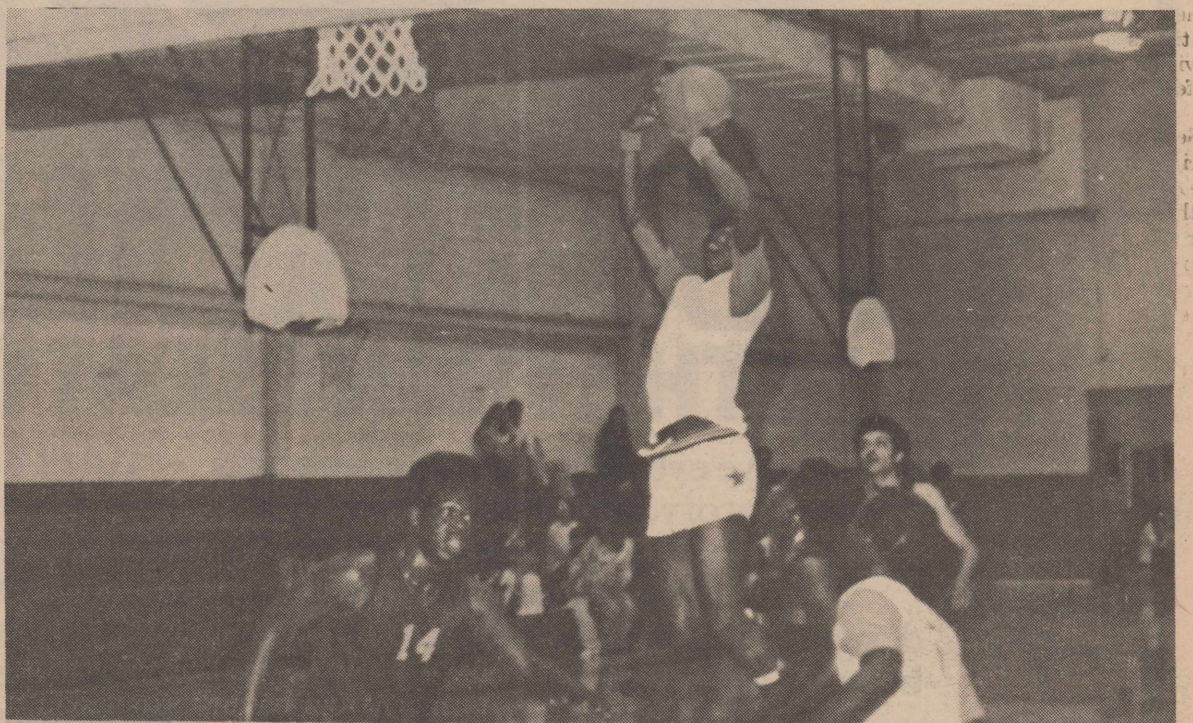

Sunday saw Eddington with a much better game, taking top score honors with 42 points in the 82-69 court battle. Barbanas Dixon was the night's second highest scorer for the Reese cagers with 15 points.

Gym Shorts

With the upcoming Reese Christmas High School Basketball Tournament, and the renovating of gym lockers, we are asking that all persons who are currently assigned a locker at the base Gym please note: (1) Clear all lockers by Dec. 11. (2) Lockers will be reassigned to the same people on Jan. 5. (3) Check with gym attendant when clearing your locker. (4) Failure to clear will result in loss of permanent locker.

Below, Air Base Group keeps the pressure on in the form of a layup by James Sullivan, which seemed to catch Supply flat-footed. INTRODUCING the 1976 Volvos

97% OF AMERICA'S ADULT POPULATION WILL FIT COMFORTABLY IN THE FRONT SEAT OF A VOLVO.

If you've ever had the feeling that the driver's seat of your car was designed to fit anyone but you, come and sit in a Volvo.

Volvo's front bucket seats were designed to fit almost every adult human being in America.

You can adjust them up, down, forward, backward to conform to your particular form. You can tilt the backrest forward if your arms are short, or backward if your arms are long. You can adjust the angle of the seat bottom to allow for the length and proportions of your legs. And to keep you comfortable even on long drives, there's a lumbar support at the small of your back that adjusts from soft to firm.

© 1975 VOLVO OF AMERICA CORPORATION. LEASING AVAILABLE

Adult human beings have also been known to sit in the backseats of cars.

So at Volvo, the backseat is not an afterthought. Swing the center armrest up, and there's room for three six-footers.

But even with all this room inside, Volvo doesn't take up much room outside. It's about two feet shorter than the average full-sized domestic sedan. And it can turn in a smaller circle than a Volkswagen Rabbit.

Which means we've not only built a car that can easily handle almost any person. We've built a car that almost any person can easily handle.
