Health Agencies Campaign Gathers Momentum On Base

The National Health Agencies and Federal Joint Service Crusade gathered momentum at Reese this week as unit project officers and key workers began solicitation of funds with a goal of 100 per cent contribution.

"I assure you I am behind you 100 per cent, so try to get 100 per cent of every man, woman and child at Reese as a contributor," Col. James A. Gunn III, Reese commander, told unit project workers. "We should shoot for everyone to give something and there is no reason why anyone should fail to donate."

The Health Agencies drive will "help a myriad of causes," said Maj. Donald McCaffrey, Reese project officer, while CARE, Radio Free Europe and the Korean Foundation will benefit from the Joint Crusade.

Each individual of Reese will be asked to contribute and is urged to designate where his donation will be used.

He will place his contribution in a sealed envelope and no one except himself need know how much he gives. He will be asked to sign a card stating where he wants his money used—by which health agencies and by an of the three organizations in the crusade.

The campaign will run through March, with opportunity given on each payday to give.

"Your contribution gives strength and impetus to productive programs of research, community services and public and professional education," said President Kennedy. "I am hopeful that the traditional American spirit of voluntary giving will result in a generous gift from everyone."

SERVICE CELEBRATES

WASHINGTON (AFNS) — The Civil Service Act, signed on Jan. 16, 1883, sounded the death knell of the spoils system and established the framework for a personnel system under which more than two million federal workers are now employed.

Base To Host ATC General

Reese will host Maj. Gen. Henry K. Mooney, vice-commander of Air Training Command, on Feb. 27 as he visits the base for a brief survey of activities.

The general is scheduled to arrive here shortly before noon and to be a guest at a luncheon with staff officers in the Officers Open Mess. Following the meal he will be briefed on the overall program here and then will visit other areas. Colonel James A. Gun III, Reese commander, will brief on the mission.

At the Pilot Training Group headquarters the general will be briefed on undergraduate pilot training activities and he then will tour the PTG area. Later he will receive a briefing on Maintenance and Supply work and will visit M&S areas for a view of work. If time permits before General Mooney's late afternoon departure, he also will take a look at other areas.

The general's visit here is one of many he is making to ATC bases.

IP's In 3500th Have Experience In Varied Planes

Instructor pilots of the 3500th Pilot Training Squadron have flown 60 different types of aircraft and average 424 hours, 37 minutes of instructor time a year, a check of the records discloses.

The 86 IP's have 175,292 hours of instructor time and have made 93,457 landings, in addition to riding through more than 450,000 landings made by their students. The 3500th instructors at the moment average 4.8 years experience on rated duty.

Records show that 30 of the IP's are highly experienced in T-33 jets, that 21 are experienced T-37 pilots, 30 flew T-28's and 18 have flown T-6's. Remaining aircraft which have been piloted by instructor pilots of the 3500th PTS include transports, fighters, helicopters, bombers and planes of the German Air Force, Air National Guard and Navy.

Home Occupants' Ownership Responsibilities Stressed

A significant budget limitation placed on military family housing has brought an austerity program which effects all Reese personnel and families who live in government quarters. Families at all Air Training Command bases also are effected.

The budget for this fiscal year authorized $7,166,000 against a requirement of $12,135,000 for the ATC military family housing program. It was reduced in December when $83,000 was withdrawn from money ATC can use to operate and maintain family housing units. Reductions were made Air Force-wide in military family housing budgets due to rising expenses in the Air Force operational program.

In addition, a significant change in the program established a Military Family Housing account and set forth that only funds in this account could be used in operation and maintenance of government quarters. Previously, a consolidated fund was available for a wide range of operation and maintenance programs, making it possible for the commander to direct money where it was considered most needed.

The fund cut-back has given fresh impetus to responsibilities of quarters occupants, and reduced services which can be given them.

Personnel living in government quarters are urged to maintain the unit as though they were the owners, taking responsibility for such routine maintenance and servicing of the living unit and immediate grounds, and such care for government owned equipment, furniture and furnishings as would be expected of a prudent home owner.

Responsibility of the occupants includes the repair of damage caused by negligence, such as broken windows, marked or otherwise damaged walls, woodwork, cabinets, floors and appliances, and other such damages that can be avoided by reasonable care.

Occupants are required to periodically clean installed appliances, remove leaves and debris from gutters and down-spouts on one-story houses, replace air duct filters, light bulbs and electrical fuses as necessary, maintain control of ants and other household pests, and perform other special maintenance tasks that are determined appropriate by the commander.

These responsibilities are listed in detailed pamphlets published at each base.

Quarters occupants are expected to conserve utilities as though they were paying the bills themselves. Utility services to family housing areas are metered, and periodic surveys and "spot checks" will be conducted to insure compliance with reasonable utilities conservation measures.

In view of the limited funds for family housing operations and maintenance, failure to comply with reasonable utilities conservation measures could lead to enforced rationing programs, or necessitate the occupants being required to pay part of the bills themselves, said Lt. Col. Alvin Collins, base civil engineer.

The extent of service and maintenance that can be provided by base housing officers is limited.

In most cases new appliances or furniture cannot be supplied as replacements for those that have been damaged beyond repair through wear or neglect. In no case can new appliances or furniture be provided where like items are not presently in place. If washers and driers, stoves, refrigerators, etc., are not now provided by the base military family housing section, they cannot be purchased to fill new individual needs.

Fire Losses In ATC Show Carelessness

Renewed action to halt unnecessary cause of fires on all bases has been directed by Air Training Command, following a review of fire losses for the first half of Fiscal Year 1963.

Records show that 178 fires occurred in the command during the six-month period, bringing losses of $28,922 to Air Force property and $6,285 to non-Air Force property.

Reese had three fire incidents, with loss occurring in two fires. The value of property risked was $89,144.

Throughout ATC careless smoking habits caused 37 per cent of total fires, 12 per cent of monetary loss, 30 per cent of injuries and the one fatality. Matches and burning cigarettes discarded into trash cans caused 18 per cent of fire and smoking in bed 18 per cent, an increase over the previous six months.

ATC officials expressed concern over false alarms which took fire-fighting equipment away when they might be subject to call for actual fires.

Records also show that Amarillo AFB was the only base during the July-December period which had no fire calls.

Major Given Regular Status

Major Joseph V. Sullivan Jr., Reese procurement officer, has been selected for promotion to permanent grade in the regular Air Force. He is one of 2,906 temporary majors being given the promotion. The effective date will be set later.

The selection board met two months ago and considered 3,025 persons for permanent promotion, passing over 87 for the first time and 32 for the second time.

Each major to advance will have 14 years of promotion list service at the time he becomes a "regular."

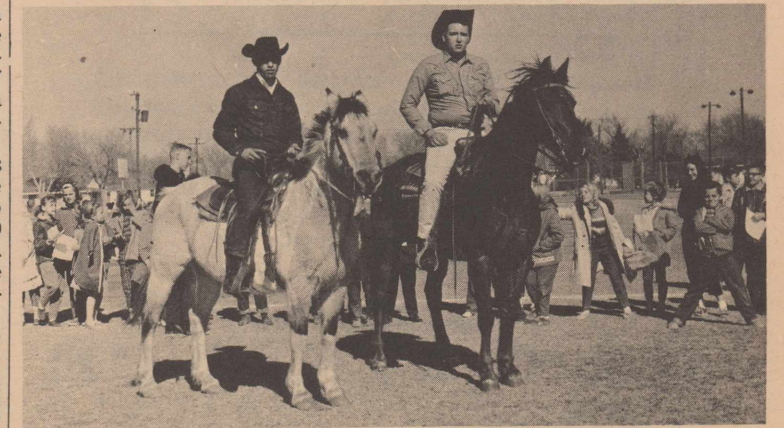

Dependent Travel By Jet Authorized

WASHINGTON (AFNS) — Air Force personnel and their families departing and returning to the United States in connection with overseas tours will be provided jet transportation beginning July 1, it has been announced. Also announced were policies to be followed in the procurement of international and overseas commercial airlift in support of MATS beginning with fiscal 1964.

The announcement said that turbine-powered equipment will be used exclusively for MATS movements, except in those areas where it may not be economically or operationally feasible.

Leisure Is A Trust

Employers of the 18th and 19th centuries did not believe that workers, whether children or adults, could be trusted with too much leisure time. They demanded a 12-hour working day for older people (to keep them from drinking) and a 10-hour day for children (to keep them out of mischief).

In the United States, we have come a long way from this situation. The 8-hour day and the 5-day work week are fairly standard. Child labor laws forbid the employment of youngsters in industry or commerce. Hence adult workers have abundant leisure hours to do with as they see fit, and children have even greater freedom.

There are still a few calamity-howlers around who do not believe that Americans can be trusted with much leisure. They feel that we will fritter away our free time; that we will stagnate mentally and deteriorate physically. While it is admitted that this could happen, we don't believe that it will happen.

As automation makes jobs easier and leisure hours longer, we will devise new ways to keep ourselves free from boredom. If we "kill time" by endlessly staring at a TV set, or by nursing a half-empty glass from the eminence of a barstool, we may find ourselves suffering from what the troops in World War II called "the thousand yard stare". Life will be drab, uninteresting — something to be borne, to be lived through. It need not be that way.

Leisure can make life a wonderful experience if something productive or creative results from its proper use. We Americans can be trusted to add new dimensions to our lives through the constructive use of our leisure time.

"Eventually I see the development of a manned vehicle that can take off from existing runways, go into orbit, maneuver into a parking orbit, de-orbit, maneuver while re-entering the Earth's atmosphere and land at an air base in the conventional manner. A manned vehicle of this type could have many important military applications in space. Since space systems are extremely expensive, one of the first tasks of a manned space vehicle would be to repair equipment operating in our unmanned satellites. The first nation to develop a manned space vehicle with complete mission flexibility could possibly dominate the space above the atmosphere . . ."—Air Force Chief of Staff Gen. Curtis E. LeMay

Square Dancing Clubs Will Form

Square dance clubs for single and married people of Reese — military and civilian — are being started at Mathis Service Club.

In charge of classes will be TSgt. and Mrs. W. C. Scott, experienced teachers who have just been assigned to the base. The sergeant has taught and called square dances in Japan and other overseas spots throughout the United States and ranks high among callers. He is scheduled to call the Texas Square Dance Federation annual meeting in Dallas soon.

Details of the clubs will be explained at a meeting at 8 p.m. Saturday in the Service Club and organization will be discussed. Any Reese person of any age may participate in the square dance activities.

Commander's Comments . . .

By COL. JAMES A. GUNN III
Wing Commander

As indicated by the lead story on page one of this issue, funds necessary to provide for ATC military family housing have been severely curtailed. This same situation, of course, is true throughout the Air Force as the military continually attempts to extract every penny's worth of value from the scarce budgetary dollars.

The measures which those of us residing in Government quarters are asked to take in maintaining our houses in the best possible conditions are not overly harsh. In fact, they are simple procedures which any home owner or renter would follow while living in a clean, well-kept house.

While we all realize that although our quarters allowance is taken away in payment for living in Government housing, this does not give us free license to intentionally waste utilities and equipment. Common sense tells us that the best way to conduct any of our affairs is with consideration and discretion. This is equally true for our home life, both within and without Government quarters.

We at Reese have been lauded time and again for our professional and sound management. Fortunately, we do not divest ourselves of these virtues when leaving the job at the end of each workday. This is why it is easy for us to fulfill the request of our Government "landlord" in assuring that those who reside in our houses after we leave will also enjoy the best living conditions possible under existing circumstances.

Titan II Launched With Good Success

WASHINGTON (AFNS)—The Air Force announced that a Titan II ICBM was successfully launched by an all-Air Force crew last week and that the missile carried the largest re-entry vehicle to its target area some 6,500 miles down the Atlantic Missile Range.

In addition to the standard operational equipment, the vehicle carried special instrumentation designed to study the missile's performance in flight.

Reese Boxing Team Places Fourth In ATC Tournament

The Reese boxing team took fourth place in the annual Air Training Command boxing championships last weekend, with 20 teams entered. It was the first time in many years Reese competed and lack of experience this year took its toll.

Two Reese fighters, Raymond Reed of Civil Engineers and Martin Sevedra of M&S, engaged in two of the meet's finest fights in the finals in their divisions and came away with second place trophies.

Reed, the long-armed and eager welterweight, stood toe-to-toe with Tommy Beauford of Lackland, for three slugging rounds in the finals and had the crowd cheering all the way. It was Beauford's 15th battle this year, Reed's first.

Sevedra, unable to make the 118 pounds necessary for the flyweight division, battled Lionel Morgan of Lackland in the finals of the featherweight division to lose a close final match. Boos greeted the judge's decision. Morgan also was in his 15th fight of the season.

"I've been around boxing for 30 years and never have seen such competition in service matches as we met in the ATC tournament," said Coach Pat Blankenship.

Brian Avenel of M&S fought one fight, but the bout was ended early in the third round when he suffered a cut eye. Howard Lee of M&S met a tough opponent and lost, also, in his first bout.

"Our boys did well; next year they'll do better," commented Coach Blankenship.

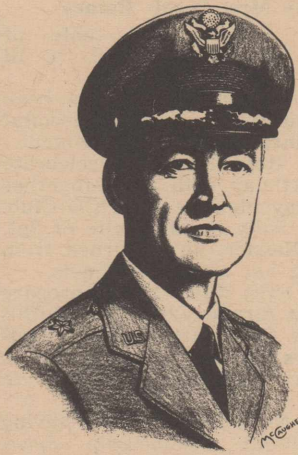

Sodality Schedules March 1 Gathering

The Sodality of Our Lady will meet March 1 for its monthly worship and business session. All members are asked to attend the noon Mass, to be followed by a luncheon at the NCO Open Mess.

COMMAND PROFILE

GENERAL WHITEHOUSE
Deputy Chief of Staff, ATC

Brig. Gen. Thomas Bernard Whitehouse's experience with air training concepts goes back to the early days of his career when he served as an instructor pilot.

Graduated from the U. S. Military Academy at West Point in June, 1939, General Whitehouse entered flying training with the Army Air Corps in September of the same year. He received his pilot's wings at Kelly Field in June, 1940.

Following graduation from flying school, General Whitehouse served as an instructor and in various supervisory capacities in the basic and primary flying training programs. This included a tour as Director of Flying Training at Steward Field, West Point.

The flying skill he used in training pilots was challenged by Nazi Germany's best in the Mediterranean Theater of Operations in World War II, when he served as deputy commander, and later as commander of the 14th Fighter Group. Flying P-38 Lightning fighters, General Whitehouse destroyed six enemy aircraft and logged 351 combat hours on 71 missions.

Since the war he has had a total of three tours in the Pentagon. In 1951 he was assigned to the Twelfth Air Force in Germany, serving both in Twelfth Air Force headquarters and later as commander of the 36th Fighter Wing. He returned to the U. S. in June 1954 as Commander of Perrin AFB, Tex., which was then the home base of an ATC interceptor combat crew training wing.

General Whitehouse went to Randolph AFB for his present assignment in June, 1961. In addition to his position as Deputy Chief of Staff, Plans, Programs and Operations Services, he serves as Assistant Chief of Staff, Training Development, a new ATC agency which was formed in October, 1962.

Housing . . .

(Continued from Page 1) only when necessary to maintain sanitary conditions, protect finished surfaces, and correct unsightly appearance. When washing is indicated, it will be done by the occupant himself. Interior painting cannot be provided solely or primarily for the purpose of decoration.

Exterior painting is authorized only when necessary to protect surfaces and weatherproof the building.

Wood floors cannot be completely sanded or refinished except when general deterioration is evident, and normally not more often than every six years.

Repairs must be planned well in advance, and the degree of urgency must be carefully considered to determine whether the repairs can reasonably be deferred until the next change of occupancy.

Preventive maintenance is limited to that which is necessary to prevent excessive future operating costs and avoid the need for major repairs to the structure, finish or equipment.

Judo Team Finishes Eighth In Tourney

The Reese judo team placed eighth among all ATC bases in the 1963 ATC Tournament. The coach, A2C Alfred Lackey said the inexperienced RAFB team made a very good showing against the keen competition in all weight divisions.

The judo team is looking for new members to compete in area tournaments at Webb and Amarillo. Anyone interested in joining the team may call A2C Alfred Lackey at Ext. 733 or SSGT. Eugene Dill at Ext. 379.

Air Force Opens Short Story Work

WASHINGTON (AFNS)—The Air Force has announced that the 1963 USAF Short Story Contest is underway.

The annual competition, the 12th such contest, is open to all military personnel on extended active duty or attached to the Air Force.

A total of $900 in prizes will be awarded to the top five winners in the USAF judging. Additional prizes may be earned by taking the top awards at base and command levels.

The top USAF prize is $350, with $250 for second place; $150, third; $100, fourth and $50, fifth.

Final judging at USAF level will be May 31, with base and command judging being completed by correspondingly earlier dates to enable submission of the entries to the USAF competition.

(AFNS)—In spite of increased production of missiles and spacecraft equipment, aircraft and aircraft parts still made up the major part of the output of the aerospace industry during 1962.

More Money Asked For Sports Activity

WASHINGTON (AFNS)—The Department of Defense has asked Congress to more than double the amount of money being spent to support military participation in international athletic events.

DOD asked that legislation be amended to allow the armed forces to spend $2 million during the four-year period which began July 1, 1962.
