Interested and qualified airmen may secure complete information in the wing personnel section.

Since the U. S. Savings Bonds program began in May, 1941, more than 2.3 billion individual Series E. Bonds have been issued.

Recreational Area Opened To Reeseites

Aqua Villa, the Reese AFB recreation area at Buffalo Lake, was officially opened Wednesday afternoon by wing commander Col. James A. Gunn III.

Col. Gunn snipped a large white ribbon with a pair of gilded scissors handed him by 2nd Lt. James F. Wortman, assistant personnel service officer and project officer for the Aqua Villa project. Col. Richard A. Steele, air base group commander, was also present for the ceremonies, as was Mrs. Gunn wife of the wing commander.

Skiing Demonstrated
Following the ribbon cutting refreshments were served by volunteers from Mathis Service Club. Besides Mrs. Betty Jane Wright club director, Terry Rypkena daughter of MSgt. and Mrs. Howard Rypkena, M&S Group and Barbara Reese, daughter of Lt. Col. and Mrs. William H. Reese, commander of the 3500th Pilot Training Squadron, assisted in the serving line.

Col. Gunn and Mrs. Anne Blanchard, wife of 1st Lt. Robert B. Blanchard, 3501st Student Squadron, gave a water skiing demonstration. Col. Gunn operated one of the boats belonging to Aqua Villa and towed Mrs. Blanchard, an accomplished skier, several times around the lake.

All equipment and facilities were in operating condition for the opening. The new boat launching ramp, which had held up the opening for over two weeks, was completed last week.

Hours of operation for the facility are 1 p.m. to 8 p.m. Monday through Friday and 8 a.m. to 8 p.m. Saturday, Sunday and holidays.

Length Of Tours Overseas Stable

WASHINGTON (AFNS) — The Air Force will not reshuffle overseas tour lengths despite Department of Defense authorization to do so.

Air Force officials said this week that overseas tour lengths currently in effect were established after carefully evaluating factors bearing on the manning situation, the available standards of living, and the general desirability of the area.

Therefore, it will not act to extend some tours and shorten others as the Defense Department authorized in early April.

During calendar year 1962 there were 200 babies born at the 3500 USAF Hospital.

Seventeen To Make Space Test

Seventeen Reese Air Force Base students have been selected to make simulated space capsule tests for the Air Force, each to spend 17 days in a simulated space vehicle at Marietta, Ga., soon after graduation from undergraduate pilot training.

Selected to enter the capsule on July 9 and to remain until July 26 are Capt. Robert R. Wisenauer of Bay Shore, N. Y., and 2nd Lts. Robert B. Blanchard, Wallace, N. C.; Robert J. Lafler, Bangor, Maine; John C. Naftanel, Cleveland, Ohio; and Lon D. Richards, Columbia, Mo.

The five will be graduated in Class 63-H from Reese training on June 25 and will devote the time in the space vehicle enroute to permanent assignments elsewhere.

In the vehicle they will perform a variety of duties intended to show how a team will function, working together in close quarters. The volunteers will work four hours and rest two hours around the clock while making the tests. They will prepare their own food, operate several types of equipment and serve medical men in testing how they function.

Six members of Class 64-A, to be graduated Aug. 2, will enter the simulated aerospace vehicle on Aug. 6 and remain until Aug. 22, performing in the same manner as their five Reese predecessors.

Six members of Class 64-B, to be graduated Sept. 11, will enter the capsule Sept. 17 to remain until Oct. 3.

Selected for August tests are 2nd Lts. John N. Brothers, Pueblo, Colo.; Robert M. Carn Jr., Fort Monmouth, N. J.; Darryl David Dixon, Claremore, Okla.; Earl M. Knighton Jr., Wichita, Kan.; John E. Polk, Muncie, Ind.; Robert H. Lightsey, Columbia, S. C. Should for any reason any of the six be unable to make the tests, alternates selected from Class 64-A are 2nd Lts. John W. Clark, Columbia, Mo.; Tandy Key Bozeman, Montgomery, Ala.; Walter R. Connally, Wray, Colo.; Russell J. Reaver, St. Louis, Mo.; and Lanny T. G. Lancaster, Granbury, Tex.

Named to enter the vehicle in September are 2nd Lts. Frederick M. Banks, Southport, N. C.; Joseph W. Dryden, Corpus Christi, Tex.; Ronald W. Duval, Carthage, Mo.; Richard E. Hale Jr., Roanoke, Ala.; Jerry L. Smith, Eva, Okla.; and Frederick H. Tilton, Falls Church, Va. Alternates in the class are 2nd Lts. Louis W. Miles, Blue Point, N. Y.; Dennis A. Kepner, Berwick, Pa.; David A. Fields, Payallup, Wash.; Russell L. Murphy, Tampa, Fla.; and Paul G. Guisti, Babylon, N.Y.

The men were selected from 45 volunteers in the three classes at Reese.

Bond Drive Successful

The recently concluded U. S. Savings Bond campaign at Reese was considered quite successful, Lt. Col. John W. Christian, project officer, has reported to Col. James A. Gunn III, wing commander.

At Reese the goal was to increase by 25 per cent regular purchases of bonds by non-participants in payroll deductions. The goal was 77 per cent reached to give the base total participation of 46 per cent, the report showed.

Pilot Training Group became eligible for the Minuteman Award during the May drive through increasing purchases of non-participants by 40.7 per cent. The award will be made later.

Key workers in each Reese unit assisted in the campaign, giving opportunity to all personnel to make regular payroll deductions for bonds on to increase purchases.

ATC Has Twentieth Birthday On July 7

The Air Training Command will mark its 20th anniversary on July 7. The day will be observed throughout the Command with programs and activities designed to review past accomplishments, present missions and future plans and programs. No open house programs are planned to mark the anniversary, it was announced. Base officials have been encouraged instead to cooperate with civic, military and social groups in arranging informal observances of the birthday.

IT'S OPEN! — Aqua Villa, Reese recreation area at Buffalo Lakes, is officially opened as Col. James A. Gunn III, wing commander, cuts the ribbon opening the lounge on the lake shore. Col. Richard Steele, Air Base Group commander left, and a large group of others look on.

Commander's Comments...

By COL. JAMES A. GUNN III
Wing Commander

With warm weather already upon us, it is apparent that our base recreational areas will be receiving extremely heavy use for the remainder of the summer. This, of course, is good; since these facilities do much toward making our community a more enjoyable place in which to live.

Commensurate with our opportunity to enjoy these areas lies some amount of responsibility, which we readily realize. One such responsibility is thoughtfulness: the courtesy of allowing others to enjoy the facility as much as we do. The primary way to accomplish this is to assure that each person does his or her part in keeping these recreational areas neat and clean. Swimming pools, parking areas, picnic grounds, tennis courts, softball complexes — these and others are dependent for their appearance upon those people who use them.

Swimming pools, especially, should be kept free of debris, from both appearance and safety standpoints. There is nothing new in cleaning up papers, cans and other materials after using them. We do this in our homes certainly should while driving (by not throwing debris out the windows) and just as certainly should in recreation areas. Furthermore, each of us should be alert to correct others so that we can all pull together in this respect.

Proper military dress, courtesy, lawn care, and elimination of any potential litter situation all go together. They are things which must be second nature to us. It could very well be called good citizenship.

Air Force Chief Seeks Emphasis On Legislation To Retain Airmen

WASHINGTON (AFNS) — Hitting out at the inadequacies which hamper retention of trained personnel in the Air Force, Chief of Staff Gen. Curtis E. LeMay urged increased emphasis on remedial legislation which would alleviate these deficiencies.

Speaking before members of the 9999th Reserve Squadron, which is made up of members of Congress and other top-level government personnel, General LeMay pointed out that an urgent need exists for betterment in several areas.

The chief of staff was especially emphatic on the subject of military pay as he told the squadron that a liberal pay increase for the military is long overdue.

"The last pay raise (1958) while it corrected a big problem to some degree, failed to achieve what the military hoped that it would," the Chief of Staff said.

"That raise was too little to effectively curb what was in 1957 a serious retention problem and what today is even more serious," he said.

The general said that he would make no effort to obtain a raise "comparable to that of civilian industry" but he said that the Air Force was unequivocally in favor of a pay increase for all the services which would be commensurate with the duty that our military people have to perform.

"I don't think there is any industry in this country that has the work week of the military. It is an almost common practice in the Air Force to work a 70-hour week.

"This long week started with the Strategic Air Command when personnel from SAC first went into alert status. Since that time, other commands notably Air Defense Command and Tactical Air Command have been working similar work weeks," he told the group.

General LeMay said that many corrections are needed to retain he highly qualified personnel needed to maintain the efficiency of the Air Force as well as that of sister services.

He said that a token increase "would not do the job. It would not retain the percentage of people we need to do the job efficiently."

It is customary for military members in civilian clothes to exchange salutes upon recognition.

SPEAKING OF FREEDOM...

"IF WE ACT NOW, WITH VIGOR AND UNDERSTANDING, WITH STEADINESS AND WITHOUT FEAR, WE CAN PEACEFULLY SAFEGUARD OUR FREEDOM!"
--- HENRY L. STIMSON

Parson-to-Person No One Can Fail Who Does Not Try To Attain Goals

By Chaplain James D. Taylor
Failure is challenging: A most misunderstood and misused word is "failure." Philologists tell us that, properly, there can be no failure without effort. And philosophers assure us there can be no failure as long as man does not cease to try.

In this light, it becomes clear that a man who stands idly at the foot of a mountain and looks wistfully at the peak does not fail to climb it; he simply does not climb it. Only after he starts to toil and scramble upward does he expose himself to failure which comes, not necessarily from a lack of success, but from a suspension of effort short of his goal.

The word "failure" thus loses much of its bitterness. Actually, it is a challenging word. Only those who try may qualify for it. Those who try ceaselessly, regardless of how far short of success their efforts may carry them, place themselves forever beyond its stigma.

What Is Democracy?

No dictionary, no encyclopedia, no history textbook, no volume of political science can give a definition of "Democracy" that will be acceptable to everyone. This does not mean, however, that those who enjoy democratic forms of government do not know and understand the blessings of freedom; that those who live under totalitarian forms of government do not yearn for freedom themselves.

As to a precise definition, a few years ago some 600 scholars connected with the United Nations were asked to define the word "Democracy." They came up with very nearly 600 answers. There were, for example, 20 meanings proposed for the expression "Of the people," 11 for "By the people," and 12 for "For the people."

Their unified conclusion, however, was voiced in these words: "For the first time in the history of the world, no doctrines are advocated as anti-democratic. Probably for the first time in history, democracy is claimed as the proper ideal description of all political and social organizations."

For a working definition of "Democracy" we must take a two-directional view. First, it is a philosophy that exalts the dignity and the worth of the individual. Secondly, it is a form of government based upon this philosophy.

A democratic form of government is built upon the right of the majority of the adult population to choose its leaders, while at the same time the minority may function legally and attempt to become the majority.

This pre-supposes free and honest elections and the freedom of individuals to think, speak, write and organize. The public participates in decision-making processes through their organizations and elected leaders.

ON DUTY — A3C Paul G. Ross Jr., Reese Air Policeman checks up on a driver's license at the main gate as one of his many regular duties.

An all-around athlete in high school, A3C Paul G. Ross Jr. is continuing to add to his accomplishments as an Air Policeman at Reese.

The airman was born and grew up in North Lewisburg, Ohio, where he lived with his grandmother, Mrs. Anna Ross, most of his life and attended Triad High School. Prior to graduation he lettered in basketball, baseball and track for four years and in football three years.

Airman Ross entered the Air Force in September, 1962, and two months later became an Air Policeman at Reese.

Performing duties on each of the shifts, the airman has been praised by several Reese officers for his appearance, courtesy, bearing and professional efficiency and attitude.

Man Base For All Weapon Systems, Secretary Zuckert Tells Reservists

MIAMI, Fla. (AFNS) — Air Force Secretary Eugene M. Zuckert told the national convention of the Reserve Officers Association that man is the primary element of any weapon system.

He said that people read every day of the glamour of missiles and of the technological advances that are being made.

These advances and performances tend to draw attention away from the energy supply and the vital command and control that makes them possible.

"That energy and control system is man. He is the one part of a weapon system for which you cannot substitute a mechanical gadget," he told the convention.

Comparing an Air Force weapon system to a pyramid, Secretary Zuckert stated: "In the Air Force, we view a weapon system as a kind of pyramid — with the weapon at the top and services and facilities that directly make it possible and operate it forming the base of the pyramid. When you get right down to it, there is no such thing as an 'unmanned system.' Involved essentially in the maintenance and control of any weapon system you will find a man — probably many men."

In a direct reference to the reserve forces, the secretary stated: "Nowhere is the importance of man in his national defense role more evident than among Reservists. Here you can more readily see him as a local citizen, a part of a family unit, a producer of goods or services, as well as an on-call defender of freedom." Secretary Zuckert urged the convention to work for legislation which would benefit not only its own lot but that of the regular Air Force.

Airmen Assigned To 'Short Spurt' In 120-Day Duty

Twenty-two Reese airmen are presently assigned to European duty under "Operation Short Spurt," records of the wing personnel section disclose. Five others have completed "Short Spurt" duty and have returned to the base and their former jobs.

Under the operation, selected airmen in ranks of staff sergeant and below are sent to Europe for 120-day duty. They are not permitted to take dependents. The operation is an economy move intended to save moving families and cutting down on the amount of gold USAF people may spend abroad.

Presently on "Short Spurt" duty are A1C Stephen C. Wood, SSgt. Olen Grady, A1C Richard I. Cary, A2C Thomas J. Hughes, SSgt. Louis M. Wakefield, SSgt. Eugene A. Dill, SSgt. Clyde L. Hose, A1C John W. Warren, A1C James C. Crosby, A2C John W. Williams, A1C John E. Bishop and A1C Jerome H. Fox, all of M&S Group.

Serving in the operation from the Civil Engineering Group are A2C John M. Morrell, A1C John E. Kidd, A2C John W. Wallace and A1C Everett H. Baker, while from Air Base Group are SSgt. Robert C. Melvin, A1C Frank Diaz, SSgt. William H. Bone and A2C William H. Reed. Assigned from Pilot Training Group is SSgt. Jesse Salas.

Returned from the 120-day duty in Europe are SSgt. Lyn S. Tignor, A1C James R. Fix, A1C James McDermott, A2C Robert Stratford and SSgt. George Lomeyeva.

ECI Enrollments, Graduates Reach High Total Here

Fifty four Reese men received diplomas indicating completion of courses in the Extension Course Institute the first three months of this year and 164 students from here enrolled for other ECI courses, records show.

ECI is one of the largest correspondence schools in the nation and during the first quarter of 1963 had an average monthly enrollment of 357,251, with newly enrolled averaging 30,058. Total examinations given were 283,637 and pilomas awarded reached 50,515.

During the three months new courses added were firefighter supervisor and superintendent, supply services, aircraft control and warning radar equipment, warehousing, dial control office equipment specialist, basic supply, fundamental principles of electronic data processing machines, water, and squadron officer school correspondence course.

The last course has been revised to include five textbooks a staff study and two book reports. All officers are eligible to enroll.

Military and civilian personnel interested in taking ECI courses may report to their sections or to the Reese education office in Building T-821.

Sheppard Teacher Gets AFA Honor

"A mature, industrious non-commissioned officer of outstanding competence, who quickly grasps information and passes it on in a manner that even the immature individual might understand."

That's how associates describe MSgt. James D. Spedding, Sheppard AFB, who has this month become the first man in aerospace history to win the Air Force Outstanding Missile Instructor Award.

Sergeant Spedding was presented the award in ceremonies at the Texas Wing's annual convention held in San Antonio, Tex., early in May. The Texas Wing designed the honor to recognize the outstanding missile instructor serving in Texas.

The Sheppard instructor, who received a letter of commendation from Maj. Gen. H. K. Mooney, Air Training Command's Vice Commander, has a unique job in the Air Force: he develops course material to teach Air Force technicians how to maintain a weapon system that's not yet in production, the Titan III.

SETS MILESTONE

EDWARDS AFB, Calif. (AFNS) — The Air Force's Northrop X-21 established a new aeronautical milestone by achieving laminar flow control over its air-inhaling wing surfaces with measurable reduction in drag. The feat was achieved over sections of the wings during a flight test of the research plane here.

Capabilities Grow For Mobile Team

The Air Force physiological training team at Reese will have its capabilities increased to include an entirely new area of operation when SSgt. Roger W. Horton, physiological training specialist with the team, returns from the deep water survival school at Langley AFB, Va., this summer.

Attached to the USAF hospital at Reese, the team is commanded by Capt. Jesse R. Owen Jr., and is responsible for instructing pilots in the use of different kinds of survival equipment, delivering flying safety lectures and giving talks to alert crews.

As a mobile team, the unit delivers lectures and demonstrations in Texas, New Mexico, and Oklahoma, on aircraft ejection procedures, parachute control, high altitude survival and other related fields.

The team is one of only seven in the U. S. One more is stationed at Weisbaden, Germany.

Sergeant Horton's training will give the team the added capability of instructing students in survival methods should they be forced down at sea. The school at Langley is the same one attended by parascuba personnel used to retrieve space capsules from the ocean.

Air Force Highlights

WASHINGTON — The nation must employ a many faceted program in future weapon systems development if it is to continue to deter aggression as successfully as it has in the past, Maj. Gen. Joseph R. Holzapple, director of production, office of the deputy chief of staff for systems and logistics, said.

"When strategy and its weapons are frozen in design, the civilization that his committed itself to that strategy and those weapons may well be headed for the deep freeze itself, he said.

WASHINGTON — Long range educational objectives for the Air Force announced by Air University include raising officer educational levels to at least a baccalaureate degree and increasing the number of officers with advanced degrees in particular areas. It is a 10-year program.

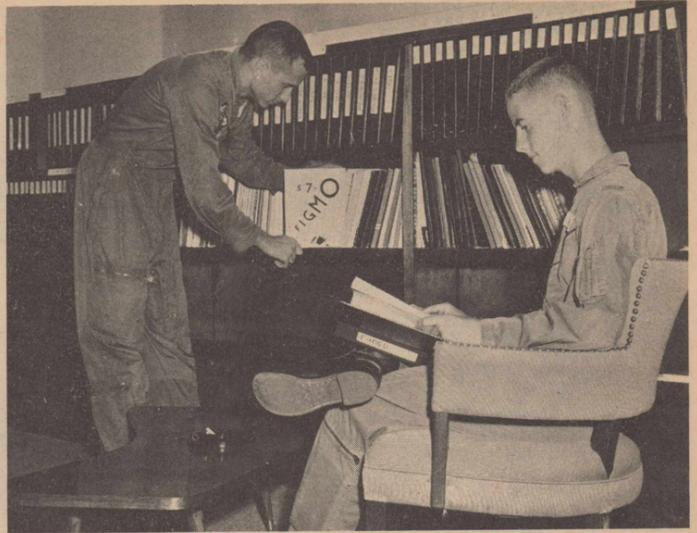

DENVER — The USAF has a manifold responsibility involving operations at any altitude where the security of the country may be threatened, Air Force Secretary Eugene M. Zuckert said. "One of the major tasks is to insure the national space program," he said.

The Air Force is studying the possibility of advanced intercontinental ballistic missiles which could be deployed unattended from remote areas for long periods of time and still be capable of responding swiftly and accurately to a launch command.

NORWICH, England — The American room of the Norwich Central Library was dedicated June 13 to the memory of the dead of the wartime United States Army Air Forces' Second Air Division.

Revision of 24 more skill level tests are in the mill in the Air Force. Tests being revised include 71XO, 273XO, 981XO, 982XO, 301XO, 432XO, 432X1 and 906XO.

Viet-Nam Air Force crews under the guidance of USAF advisers carried out more than 100 tactical air combat sorties during the first part of June.

Reese Baseballers Lose To Sheppard

Reese's baseball team ran into some stiff competition when it went away last weekend to play two games against Sheppard AFB, and had to swallow losses in both.

The Reese team, trying to repeat its earlier victory over its strong foe, had to console itself with the thought that it still is the only team in ATC to score a win over Sheppard.

The weekend's play left Reese with a season record of 10 wins and 11 losses, including games played in the Lubbock Industrial League and against other ATC bases.

Jerry Sargent, M&S Group, the team's coach, has hopes that it can round out its standing with a win against the Lubbock Jets at 7 p.m. tomorrow on the Mackenzie Park diamond.

In spite of its modest win-loss record, the team has a .321 batting average and expects to send four of its players to the all-star game between the Industrial League and the National Baseball Congress League, June 29, 8 p.m. at Lowry Field in Lubbock.

Nominations for the all-star team have already been made and final selections are expected early next week.

The Reese men nominated as all-stars are:

Hanzel Faulkner, base budget officer who has a .321 batting average and plays shortstop.

Sid Akron, M&S Group, playing first base with a .220 batting average.

Pitcher Wayne Dixon, M&S Group, batting .286.

Juan Espinet, M&S Group, playing second base, and boasting the team's highest batting average of .540.

Reese Jets of Lubbock Pony League Mark Up Seventh Consecutive Win

The Reese Jets continued undefeated in Lubbock Pony League play this week by virtue of a seventh consecutive win Monday night.

The Jets topped the Toppers, 8-3, as Julio Llanas, the league's top pitcher, went all the way for Reese to win his fifth game. Alfred McKelvy got the big hit for the Jets that cleared the bases for the first three Jet runs in the first.

Last Friday night the Jets defeated the Scappers, 7-4, as Llanas set a league record for strikeouts with 14. Eight men went down by strikeouts in a row. Mike Christian, McKelvy, Joe Hritz and Luis Alvarado got two hits each.

Earlier last week Reese scored its fifth win, a 13-7 victory over the Rockets as Alvarado allowed six hits in pitching his first game of the year. Junior Llanas, with a base loaded double and a single, and Jerry Penner, with two singles, led the Reese hitting attack.

The Jets fourth victory was a tough 12-11 win over the Longhorns.

Joe Hritz, making his first start of the season, pitched 4-1/3 inches to earn a victory. Julio Llanas came on the fifth to halt a Longhorn scoring threat, allowing but one run in the last 2-2/3 inches.

Alfred McKelvy with four hits and Paul Lara with three led Jet hitters.

The third Jet win came last Thursday when the Porkers fell, 11-10. The Jets trailed 7-0 to start the second inning but came slowly upward to win in the seventh inning as Mike Christian singled to right to score Luis Alvarado with the winning run. Paul Lara had three hits to lead the Jets, while Llanas was winning pitcher.

Student Competes With Top Discus Tossers In AAU

Eyes of Reese sports enthusiasts this weekend are on the National Amateur Athletic Union meet in St. Louis, where 2nd Lt. Glenn T. Passey, member of Class 64-D, is competing in the discus throw.

The lieutenant last weekend, weakened by illness, took only one toss of the discus to win the event in the Air Force world-wide competition at Sheppard AFB. He was ill in quarters during the Air Training Command track meet but represented the command at Sheppard because in college he had tossed the discus 196 feet, almost 50 feet further than anyone in the ATC meet. In the world-wide competition the one throw was for 170 feet, despite weakness from fever and intestinal disorder.

As a member of the Air Force team in the AAU meet, Lt. Passey is competing against the best discus men in the United States. Some of them have bettered 200 feet.

But one fact was certain — the Reese representative will demonstrate unusual form.

He's not a big man, as far as discus throwers go, standing about 5 feet, 11 inches, and weighing 175 pounds. He gets distance by terrific twirling and speed, on-lookers declare.

With big shoulders and arms for a man of his size, Lt. Passey puts unusual speed in his throws. His speed is such that he can make limited tosses in any meet. After about half a dozen throws his hands become cut from the force he puts into the throw, records show.

Because of his recent illness, the lieutenant also is not in top physical condition.

But competing in the AAU and a possible berth on the Olympic team has been an ambition.

"I'll give it the old college try," Lt. Passey said when he left Reese Wednesday to fly from Sheppard to St. Louis and the AAU.

The old college try while he was a student at Utah State won him the intercollegiate discus championship.

In the Air Force world-wide tourney last weekend another Reese man, SSgt. Arthur Long, won third place among fencers. He won his first three matches, but became tired, just one match away from the Air Force World Title.

Golf Notes ...

Last week's play in Reese Intramural golf brought the Oldtimers way out in front in league standings with a point total of 50, ahead of the Hospital team by 10 points and the 3501st Pilot Training Squadron by 17 points. Hospital ended the week with 40 points, the 3501st with 33.

Matches played during the week saw the league-leading Oldtimers tie with the Hackers, nine to nine.

Hospital beat the 3501st with a four point margin, 11 to 7.

In the only other game of the week, the Highshots won out over the Duffers, 11 1/2 to 6 1/2.

Group golf lessons for the children of base personnel began Wednesday at the course.

Limited to ages 12 through 17, the classes are still open for enrollment. Boys classes are held Wednesday morning at 10. Girls lessons are taught Thursday at the same time.

"We must increase our pilot training in order to replace the present aging force."—Gen Curtis LeMay, Air Force chief of staff.
