"One of the principal things which aerospace defenses can do is to keep down the tonnage of weapons delivered on this Nation. They can do this by destruction of the attacking bomber force . . . In keeping down the tonnage of delivered weapons . . . defenses make a significant contribution to victory. By thus limiting damage they may well spell the difference between a nation which is hurt and a nation which is killed."—Gen. Robert M. Lee, former commander of ADC.

Former NATO Commander 65-E Graduation Speaker

General Lauris Norstad, Supreme Allied Commander in Europe nearly six years, will be speaker at graduation of Class 64-E at Reese Air Force Base on Feb. 5, Col. Dudley E. Faver, wing commander, has announced.

The general, who retired a year ago after 32 years in service, was a general nearly 20 years. Early in World War II he held key staff and operations posts in the European area and in 1944 went to the Pentagon in Washington in the dual role of deputy chief of the Air Staff at Army headquarters and chief of staff of the 20th Air Force. In the latter post he helped shape the plans for B-29 operations against Japan.

When the United States Air Force became a separate service in 1947, General Norstad became its first deputy chief of staff for operations, with additional duty

Voting Campaign Underway; Unit Directors Named

The campaign to have as high a percentage of voters in 1964 elections as possible is underway at Reese, with voting officers selected for all units.

At a meeting of the voting officers Friday, emphasis was placed on the fact that the additional duty "probably is the most important one these men have."

The chief of the personnel division, Lt. Col. David T. Mold, declared that Air Force personnel and their wives should have a major interest in voting, stating that absentee ballots in past elections have proven very effective and elections of the future may depend on absentee votes.

"If everyone thought their one vote wouldn't have much bearing on an election, no one would vote," the colonel commented.

Each unit voting officer is charged with responsibility for assisting everyone in the unit to be properly registered and eligible for voting and to give assistance in seeing that ballots are cast.

Poll Tax Payments Can Be Made Friday

Reese people who wish to vote in Texas elections this year may pay their poll tax in the BX, when members of the Lubbock Women's Voters will sell them at a booth beginning at 10 a.m.

An amendment eliminating poll taxes as a requisite for voting in national elections has been approved, but no vote may be cast in Texas in state or local elections without a poll tax or exemption.

The poll tax must be paid by Jan. 31, the date on which sales will be made at the BX.

Cost reduction has always been a priority Air Force management objective.

as acting vice chief of staff.

His unbroken stretch of continuous assignments in Europe prior to his retirement began in October, 1950, when he took command of the United States Air Force in Europe. In late 1956 he assumed duty as Supreme Allied Commander, Europe, SHAPE.

The general is rated as an airman-statesman. He was ranking officer on the permanent promotion list of permanent Air Force officers on retirement. He was graduated from the U.S. Military Academy at West Point in 1930.

Commander's Comments . . .

By COL. DUDLEY E. FAVER
Wing Commander

When discussing the Air Force with our civilian neighbors, it is not unusual for us to find, quite often, that their frame of reference regarding the Air Force differs somewhat from ours. For example, it is the opinion of many that the Air Force is a powerful deterrent force comprised solely of bombers, missiles, tactical aircraft and complicated electronic apparatus.

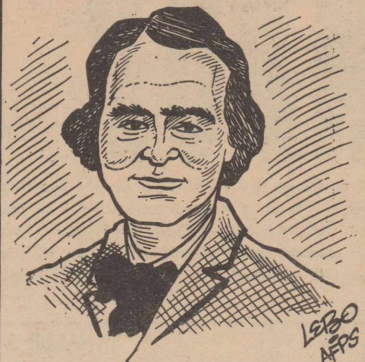

We, of course, agree with this—to an extent. However, we find quite often that one primary ingredient is sometimes either forgotten or taken for granted. That ingredient is "man." Without "man" and his genius, the most sophisticated piece of weaponry in the Air Force inventory is nothing more than a useless piece of hardware standing mute and unproductive. In Air Training Command, where our business is supplying the Air Force with qualified people to plan, build, operate and maintain this hardware, we find the ATC slogan "Prepare The Man" most descriptive of our efforts.

As with any type of organization, the life's blood of our dynamic, ever-changing, ever-progressing Air Force is in its people. The same is true of the 3500th Pilot Training Wing, where each of us is engaged in contributing to the accomplishment of a specific goal—training qualified pilots for the Air Force. To do this job well requires imagination, unselfishness, cooperation, professionalism, dedication, and preparation.

In order to meet the demands inherent in such a system, each individual is obligated to continually prepare himself for future responsibilities. For the supervisor, this means he must guide the actions and efforts of those under his care, as well as insuring his own self improvement.

Never for a moment must we allow ourselves to become so "systematized" that we lose sight of the human aspect of the Air Force. Proper human relations throughout the structure of command are vital to the success and welfare of this Wing and its members. By helping each other—and ourselves—in every way possible, we shall continue to realize the fruits of our efforts with the utmost satisfaction.

Parson-to-Person Christians Ought To Battle Evil, Chaplain Urges

(By Chaplain Robert M. White)

One of the most popular forms of entertainment is watching "Westerns" either on television or on movie screens. Even though we know the plot very well we continue to watch them avidly. The basic plot is "good men" versus "bad." At times it looks like the "bad" men will win out but in the end the "good" men triumph and all is well. We could almost call "Westerns" the Great American Fairy tale. In essence "Westerns" are simply old fashioned morality plays in which the villain was hissed and booed and the hero was applauded and cheered.

In the old morality plays the issues were clear cut. You could tell which were the villains and which were the heroes. Some of our modern psychological "Westerns" sometimes leaves the issue in doubt.

Westerns are popular because innately people believe in the triumph of good over evil, of love over hate, of truth over falsehood. But basically whose side are we on?

We chart in our churches every Sunday "Thy will be done on earth, as it is in heaven." And if we leave the church and do things contrary to the revealed will of God we are making our prayers a mockery. We are not deceiving God but we are deceiving ourselves. To know to do good and to not do good is a sin of omission. How many of us "good" people are really on the side of evil not by what we do, but by what we don't do.

We boycott our churches and thereby rob them of strength. We'd rather heckle than help our clergy who are trying to minister unto us. We complain about high taxes. Say that politics is rotten and to stay away from the poll in droves. We complain that Johnny can't read, but we won't pay teachers a decent wage so they can devote themselves to the job of teaching. Or we saddle them with a bunch of extra-curricular activities—baby-sitting—so we won't have our children on our hands.

There is a titanic battle going on in the world between "good" and "evil." To be on the side of "evil" we don't have to do anything "bad" as such. We can stand on the side line and do nothing and be on the side of "evil."

When Christ was crucified He was killed by the people He had helped as well as by those who were his enemies. Where were the people He had fed and healed? They did not come to His defense and overthrow the Sanhedrins and the Romans. They just stood back and watched.

Whose side are you on? Are you in the fight or are you on the sidelines?

OBJECTIVES SET

The Air Force Cost Reduction Program objectives are to buy only what is needed, to buy at the lowest sound price, and to reduce operating costs.

Secret: There's A Basketball Team!

One of the best-kept secrets here is the fact that Reese has a base basketball team—and a pretty good one. Although the local lads are still shaking their heads over the fact that they scored 94 points against Clinton-Sherman AFB Friday night and 93 against the same squad Saturday eve—only to lose—this proves that they do indeed pack a scoring punch.

With an improved defense, a smoother passing attack and a bit of polish, the local hoopsters will form a team the base can be proud of. Right now they would do honor to any sponsor.

Whether it be from lack of publicity for the club or just plain apathy on the part of Reese personnel is hard to tell. But a massive lack of attendance and support for the cagers representing our base was quite evident at both games. In fact, the few friends accompanying the Clinton Sherman team just about matched our Reese fans in representation and out-cheered the local supporters vociferously.

To be sure, the limited facilities in the base gym would not allow many people to witness any basketball encounter. But it appears that sad experience proved the wiser when personnel services attendants did not consider it necessary to set up all of the bleachers available before game-time. They were right. Those seats would only have gathered dust.

Club Activities

Youth Club

The "Reese Jets," youth basketball team, will sponsor a cake sale Saturday to help finance the team. Sales will be from 10 a.m. to 12:30 p.m. at the BX, from 1 to 2:15 p.m. in the commissary, and 1 to 3 p.m. service club and airman's lounge.

All Youth Club members will have a record hop at the Youth Center from 7 to 11 p.m. Saturday.

All Little League officials will meet at 4 p.m., Friday, Feb. 7, in the Youth Center, with Maj. Donald McCaffrey, president, presiding. Refreshments will be served.

Indoor track for all Junior Olympic entrants will be from 2 to 4 p.m. Saturday in the base gymnasium. Basketball practice is from 4 to 6 p.m. Junior basketball practice is from 3 to 6 p.m. Sunday.

Outdoor track practice for all Youth Club members is each Tuesday and Thursday on the field across from the Youth Center.

The "Reese Jets" will have a banquet the night of Feb. 24, with parents invited. Awards will be made to players.

NCO WIVES CLUB

By Diane Carlson

The farewell coffee for Mrs. James A. Gunn III on Jan. 23 was a success. Adeline Miller presented Mrs. Gunn a charm bracelet from the NCO Wives Club. Each charm symbolized an activity in which Mrs. Gunn participated.

With tear-filled eyes, she thanked all and remarked, "I love you all, but I'm going to spank you for giving me this lovely gift."

NCO Wives Club members are reminded of the installation dinner at 7:30 p.m., Jan. 31. The dinner and installation will follow a get-together hour.

OPONENTS OUTFOXED - High scoring Reese cager Mike Fox (8) taps one in against Clinton Sherman AFB despite the efforts of Ken Smith (15) of the visitors to block the shot. Unfortunately there weren't enough of these stellar moments over the week-end as the local five took it on the chin twice, bowing to the club from Oklahoma on Friday and Saturday, 97-94 and 99-93.

GUMSMOKE

(By 3500th USAF Hospital Preventive Dentistry Section)

Dental Fluorosis—a white spotting, pitting and eventual permanent brown staining caused by an excess of fluorine. The primary source of excess fluoride intake in this area is the water supply.

Practically all water in the High Plains area contains an excess of Fluorides.

The Reese water supply averages more than five parts per million (ppm) of fluoride; anything in excess of ppm is likely to cause mottled enamel in children.

Mottled enamel or permanent brown tooth stain can occur only if the child has an increased fluoride intake during the period the teeth are actually being formed. Formation of a child's teeth starts before it is born and by the time the child is 8 to ten years old all of the permanent teeth have formed except the "wisdom teeth."

Thus, until the child is 10 years of age its intake of fluoride should be guarded. And for the last few months, an expectant mother should restrict her intake of fluoride.

In many areas of the nation man adds controlled amounts of fluoride to the water, since fluorides in the proper concentration have been found to prevent tooth decay, particularly in children's teeth. But in this area of the U.S. the mineral composition of the ground gives water too much fluoride.

In this climate approximately .8 ppm would be a good level for drinking water, but a threat is posed when an excess (about 2 ppm) is present.

Thus, the question arises: What exactly can we as parents do to help prevent this staining of our children's teeth, since our water contains more than 5 ppm fluorine?

The answer is simple: Use a fluoride controlled drinking water until the child's permanent teeth have formed (from 8 to 10 years of age).

Use this "safe" water for cooking, ice cubes, homemade drinks or for any other forms of water ingested by the children.

Caution them against drinking ordinary tap water at home, at school or when eating out.

Avoid locally bottled soft beverages, as most of them are not made with fluoride controlled water.

Take the children to the dentist regularly (this is most important).

The old saying, "an ounce of prevention is worth a pound of cure," is true. However, there is no cure for dental fluorosis.

NOTICE: The 16th annual National Children's Dental Health Week is from Feb. 2 to 8, 1964.

- ✓ Open House at Base Dental Clinic, Saturday, 9 a.m. to noon, Feb. 8.
- ✓ Special promotion by BX on children's tooth brushes and tooth paste during Children's Dental Health Week.
- ✓ The Dick Van Dyke show at 8:30 p.m. Feb. 5 will be sponsored by the American Dental Association.

Basketeers Score Heavily, But Fail

The Reese basketball team poured in 187 points in two games Friday and Saturday nights in the base gymnasium but was unable to overcome the "hot" Clinton-Sherman team. The visitors won Friday, 97-94, and Saturday, 99-93.

In the first encounter Reese trailed by only one point, 39-38.

ATC Uniformity In Sports Sought

Uniformity throughout Air Training Command in operation of baseball and softball activities was stressed at a conference last week in ATC headquarters attended by representatives of all bases. Attending from Reese were SSgt. Curtis E. Blue and A1C Robert P. Stewart.

Discussions stressed rules interpretation, umpires and aids equipment for both sports.

Classes for officials for Reese are planned for the near future.
