Wider Fourth Street Road Expected To Open In Week

Fourth Street from a short distance west of the Texas Tech stadium to Reese is expected to be opened as a smooth, paved highway, almost four lanes in width, within the next week.

Reese officials for several years have been attempting to have the street widened and improved to eliminate dangers of additional personnel becoming killed or injured.

Work on improving the road was started early this year after Texas Highway Department officials found a necessity for the project. The improved roadway will be known in highway records as a wide two-lane, but in actuality it will be almost four lanes.

It will be asphalt all the way to the base and will permit easier and quicker access to and from the city of Lubbock for military and civilian workers at Reese who live in the city.

Until the improvement, Fourth Street was a narrow two-lane road with soft shoulders and at times quite dangerous when wet or snow covered. Numerous accidents occurred on the highway and government vehicles assigned to Reese were forbidden to use it.

Despite condition of the road, traffic between Lubbock and Reese has been heavy, especially since construction of major housing areas on the west end of the city which were more easily accessible through use of Fourth Street.

The widening was arranged by Oscar Crane, district engineer for the Texas Highway Department, after conferences with Reese officials and a study of statistics showing travel, accidents and other phases of Fourth Street use.

Dates for opening the paved road for use and a formal opening with ribbon cutting have not been set.

Driver Of VIP's Airmen Of Month

AIC Alvin E. Cregger, who has been driver for VIP's, Reese officers and airmen and others at Reese for almost ten years, was chosen driver of the month of the base motor pool for June.

The airman, assigned most of his service at Reese to drive from base operations, during June was driver for Maj. Gen. Henry K. Mooney, Air Training Command vice commander, and Col. O. K. Dessert, ATC advanced plans director, during visits to the Base.

"Airmen Cregger conducted himself in an outstanding manner, bringing credit to the base motor

ATC's Birthday Featuring Call

"A Decade of Space Training" is the theme of Commander's Calls in Air Training Command during July.

This is part of the observance of the 21st anniversary of ATC on July 7.

Commanders are reviewing Air Force missile development from the Matador surface-to-surface guided missile which became operational in March 1954, to today's solid-fuel Minuteman intercontinental ballistic missile. Emphasis is on how ATC has evolved with the missile.

Commanders are relating how in the past training men to operate weapon system began only after the system had become operational. In the 1950s, with the time element so important, the concept of concurrency was initiated. This concept meant that training requirements, textbooks, courses, and instructors had to be developed while the weapon system was being developed, so that men would be trained to operate the system by the time it became operational.

In addition, commanders are explaining ATC's search for more efficient and effective methods of instruction.

CAPTAIN ASSIGNED

Captain Donald Gwyn, recently returned from air division duty in Japan, has arrived at Reese as an instructor pilot. He has been in service 15 years.

pool section and to himself," said the letter nominating him.

"Airmen Cregger sets an outstanding example for lower grade airmen in the transportation career field. The motor pool has received many favorable comments on Airmen Cregger's willingness to work, willingness to help out when there is a heavy workload, plus performing his own duties."

Airman Cregger, from Gate City, Va., has been in service 12 years and came to Reese from Korea.

No Accidents Spoil July 4 Reese Holiday

Reese personnel came through the July 4 holiday without a reportable accident as the national death rate moved to a new record for deaths for the period.

Reports showed only two scratched fenders marred a perfect record for Reese as it added another holiday to its accident-free summer campaign.

A majority of families here remained at home over the weekend, but travel for visits with friends and relatives at distant points was recorded by others. Following counseling and safety thinking, drivers were able to avert accident.

Everyone at Reese was praised by Col. Dudley E. Faver, wing commander, for his part in the July 4 record.

"It is indeed a pleasure to announce that no reportable accidents occurred during the 4th of July weekend," the colonel said in a letter of appreciation to all units.

"Unfortunately, the traffic slaughter soared to new heights throughout the nation during the holiday. Consequently, each member of this command can take pride in our achievement, which could not have been attained without the cooperation and support of everyone.

"We have completed the first two major holidays of the '101 Deathless Days' campaign without a mishap. Now we can look forward to the Labor Day weekend with confidence that every effort will be made to continue the reduction of ground accidents. Please convey my sincere appreciation to all personnel for concluding the 4th of July weekend without a reportable accident."

Officer Volunteers For Viet Nam Tour

Langley AFB, Va. (AFNS)—Lt. Col. Andrew P. Chapman, a staff member at Tactical Air Command headquarters here, is returning to Viet Nam for a second tour at his own request.

He left July 4. Colonel Chapman, a member of the TAC inspector general staff, says he believes he can contribute more to the U.S. effort this time, since he is already familiar with the area, its people and their problems.

Reese To Host UPT Leaders In Conference

Commanders of the light undergraduate pilot training bases and some of their key officers will attend the Air Training Command Wing Commanders conference at Reese Monday and Tuesday, with a variety of subjects scheduled for discussion. Also attending will be officials of ATC.

The wing commanders are scheduled to arrive late Monday, accompanied by base operations officers, deputy commanders for training or other key officers. Commanders will come from Laughlin AFB, Tex.; Craig AFB, Ala.; Williams AFB, Ariz.; Laredo AFB, Tex.; Moody AFB, Ga.; Webb AFB, Tex.; and Vance AFB, Okla.

Monday evening will be devoted to social activities and a dinner and Tuesday is to be devoted to discussions, following a demonstration by a NASA Para-sail team which is expected to show innovations in parachuting from low-levels. The demonstration will be on the Reese flight line.

Colonel C. A. Martin, ATC assistant chief of staff for flying training, will serve as conference chairman and Maj. Gen. Neil D. Van Sickle, deputy chief of staff for flying training, is to outline conference objectives in opening remarks.

The ATC inspector general, Col. J. W. Bradford, will speak on accident trends, with a discussion on a variety of items to follow.

A highlight of the program will be a discussion of the scheduled new program for undergraduate pilot training at Reese and the other bases in which students will begin training in new conventional aircraft in a 30 hour course, followed by 90 hours of primary pilot training in T-37 jets and 120 hours of basic pilot training in the supersonic T-38 prior to awarding of pilot wings. Presently students spend 132 hours in the T-37 and 130 hours in T-38's.

A forum of wing commanders to include instructor pilot training, handling of newly assigned instructors and supervisor qualifications will precede lunch.

The forum will be continued during Tuesday afternoon with cross country planning, proposed syllabus changes, student discipline and training of allied students listed for discussion.

The accelerated training program underway at Laughlin AFB, in which students train 210 flying hours instead of 262 hours as at Reese and other bases, also will be discussed. The program may be adopted at all eight UPT bases.

Exchange of information on flying and ground safety problems will conclude the conference.

The UPT bases, including Reese, are graduating slightly more than 30 new pilots each six weeks, but future plans call for more students and shorter training periods. The Commanders Conference will be aimed at taking up plans and operation under the proposed new program.

Airmen Required For ROTC Duty

MAXWELL AFB, Ala. (AFNS)—Assignments with Air Force Reserve Officers Training Corps detachments, considered by many as choice jobs in the Air Force, are wanting for qualified applicants.

Lt. Col. H. M. Steifman, director, airman personnel, Air University, said that staff sergeants and airmen first class possessing AFSC 73250B or 70250 are the most needed to fill ROTC vacancies through July, 1965.

The billets are particularly advantageous to airmen wishing to earn their college degrees on off-duty time, Colonel Steifman pointed out.

ATC Commander Lauds Hospitals

Recognizing the 15th anniversary of the USAF Medical Service on July 1, Lt. Gen. Robert W. Burns, commander, Air Training Command, sent a congratulatory message to all Medical Service personnel in ATC.

The ATC Commander said, "On the occasion of the 15th anniversary of the Air Force Medical Service I wish to express my deep appreciation for the medical care provided personnel of this command.

"Because of your devotion to duty, untiring efforts and professional knowledge and skill, a true community medical service for all members of the Air Force family has been developed and sustained,

More Cadets Given Flight Program Here

Ranks of Air Force Academy students assigned to Reese for summer training doubled this week as five cadets underwent flight indoctrination under direction of Capt. Robert L. Jenkins.

The cadets, Stephen A. Caldwell, Thomas T. Maxwell, Donald J. Shinafelt, Robert D. Davenport and Vincent L. Bristow, all Academy seniors this fall, during the week make five flights in T-37 jet training aircraft to motivated them toward a flying career. They also had daily physical training and academic work to acquaint them with other phases of undergraduate pilot training as conducted at Reese.

Records were kept on each of the cadets and will be forwarded to the Academy for inclusion in permanent records. The records will include judging of attitudes, capabilities and other phases of activities.

Meantime, five other cadets who will be juniors at the Academy this fall were completing their second of three weeks in on-the-job training to see how junior officers perform on an active Air Force installation. Two were assigned to flying safety, two to aircraft maintenance and one to aircraft maintenance standardization and analysis.

The five OJT cadets are assigned under "Operation Third Lieutenant" under direction of Capt. Neil Graff.

Commander Asks Utilities Saving

Complete cooperation of all individuals at Reese in conserving utilities was stressed this week by Col. Dudley E. Faver, wing commander.

"Millions of dollars spent annually on utilities throughout the Air Force," he said in a letter to all units and staff agencies.

"The costs of heat, electricity and water at Reese AFB will total approximately $255,785 for the fiscal year ending this month. If we are able to realize the worth of the dollar spent, we must stop the dribble of dollar loss caused by lax management of utilities and lackadaisical conservation practices."

Every means available should be used, it has been pointed out, in saving, particularly when dealing with heat, electricity and water. Lights should be turned off when not needed, heat should be regulated to proper levels and water should be conserved.

WASHINGTON (AFNS)—The Air Force will convene a central board here Sept. 28 to select and recommend Reserve of the Air Force officers for permanent promotion to the grade of captain.

and all ATC missions have received invaluable direct, close support.

"In a relatively few years," General Burns concluded, "the Air Force Medical Services has become a national asset with an international reputation."

The Air Force Medical Service was organized in 1949 to meet the specialized need of the Air Force. It was developed as an organization that could serve the routine peacetime requirements for the Air Force and at the same time be flexible enough to support the combat readiness of a striking force unlimited by geographical considerations.

Happy Marriages Give Purposeful Meaning To Life

By The USAF Chaplain Board
The institution of marriage dates back to Adam and Eve. While you and I may not have the time or the inclination to study exhaustively the development of marriage in our civilization, we have a practical stake in understanding the intricacies of modern marriage. To understand modern marriage, we must know something about marriage in its historical perspective. Bible scholars, anthropologists, and sociologists agree that many of the earlier sources of marital conflicts persist today. Also, with the development of a more complex society, others sources of conflict are at work, making successful marriage increasingly difficult.

There is an evident need for more adequate information and for frank discussion. Successful marriages do not just happen. Marriage is a skill, an art, a profound relationship requiring maturity, experience, wisdom, and incessant care. Sincere differences of opinion on the meaning of marriage need to be examined so that they can be better understood.

Happy marriages have a direct bearing on personal effectiveness. Healthy attitudes, high morals, and purposeful living are closely related to happy marriages.

There are more than 400 objects in orbit around the earth.

Commander's Comments . . .

By COL. DUDLEY E. FAVER
Wing Commander

Voting rights and privileges have been the subject of editorials, Commander's Calls and individual discussions in ever increasing amounts. It is high time that we think in terms of voting as a duty.

"Rights and Privileges" usually bring to mind a certain amount of latitude on the part of individuals as to whether or not he personally does anything at all.

"DUTY" implies an obligation regardless of convenience, feeling or hardship on the part of the individual concerned.

These are the days where it is the individual's irrefutable obligation to exercise his voting franchise. Leaders for Communistic dogma have often said that the easiest way to take over the United States is for the American to become so lulled and complacent about his responsibilities of citizenship that the erosion of democracy will proceed on its own accord, peacefully and quietly through Socialism to Communism.

The only guard that stands between the fulfillment of this Communistic dream and an awakened America is YOU. Are you exercising your citizen's voting responsibility?

Family Services Center Providing Aid To Hundreds Of Reese Families

Eighty-five families were assisted in locating adequate housing and 185 families learned about bases to which they were being assigned through cooperation of the Reese Family Services Center during the first six months of 1964, a progress report discloses.

The center had 30 volunteer workers who spent 741 hours on duty during the period. Nine volunteers earned Family Services uniforms for assisting the center.

The center also loaned 885 items to newly arrived and departing families for use while their household goods were in transit and 10 baby sitters on the roles were used by Reese families.

The center also has laid plans for selecting a volunteer of the quarter and for a campaign to secure more volunteer workers.

Mrs. Millie Cowart has been installed as coordinator for the last six months of 1964, with Mrs. Lounse Lucas as assistant coordinator.

Karen Belvin is new officer chairman, with Judy MacDonald and Margueritt Wiseman as assistants. Heading the casualty committee is Francis White. Lois Halpern is publicity chairman, assisted by Pat Deshaies, and Jean Rasmussen is housing committee leader, with Willene Corder as assistant. Astrid Feronny is in charge of personal services and Marilyn Neal of the welcome committee, aided by Ida Roller.

At the services semi-annual meeting July 1 awards were given. Pat Deshaies, Louise Lucas, Mable Ann Wright and Millie Cowart received 100-hour pins. Receiving 250-hour pins were Lois Halpern and Ann Kight. Year stripes went to Mmes. Cowart MacDonald, Halpern and Kight and to Billie Like, Linda Dalkin, Ruby Grice, Edna Leong and Freida Prindle. Receiving uniforms were Louise Lucas, Marilyn Neal, Sherri Zimmer, Faye Chills, Dotty Watson and Margueritt Wiseman.

A map of all Air Force bases in the United States was given the center by Lt. Col. David T. Mold.

First Termers May Pick Base

First term airmen may apply for base of preference now, Lt. Col. David Mold, chief, personnel division, has been advised.

Airmen selected for reenlistment under provisions of the program for first term airmen also may apply for reenlistment and completion of 12 months at their present base for base of preference. Although a member may apply at 12 months he cannot be reassigned until completion of 18 months at his present base.

Requirement for applying provide more than six months retainability upon arrival at a new station, grade and AFSC not listed on the overseas date selection date and freeze date list, no deferment from PCS for any administrative or military reason, no selection for formal training in TDY status and no application for discharge, separation or retirement.

Airmen may submit written application indicating one or more bases he requests for reassignment. Completion information is available at the personnel division.

Reese Represented In ATC Competition

Additional points toward the 1964 Air Training Command participation trophy, won by Reese for 1963, were added by a team of five airmen from here entered in the ATC model airplane competition recently.

Competing were A2C John D. Beasley, A2C George Docken, A3C Steven T. Gruchacz, A3C Vernon Whitaker and AB Joseph McCloud.

VEHICLE DELIVERED

Denver, Colo. (AFNS) — The nation has received a brand-new standard space launch vehicle—The first of the Air Force Titan III series of rockets. Scheduled for flight later this year, the first Titan III was "bought" at the Denver plant of the Martin Co. by Air Force Space Systems Division officials.

Ideas Win Cash Awards For Airmen

Six Air Training Command airmen collected $3,500 recently in the annual ATC Military Suggestions Award Program.

Cash awards have been forwarded to TSgt. Stanley E. Roland Jr. and TSgt. Carl W. Yoder, both of Williams AFB, Ariz.; MSgt. Carl D. Christopherson and TSgt. Anthony G. San Miguel Jr. of Randolph AFB, Tex.; SSgt. Ernesto G. Podagrosi, Chanute AFB, Ill., and A1C Edward B. Butler Jr., Webb AFB, Tex.

First prize of $1,200 was split by Williams' Sergeants Roland and Yoder for their joint suggestion which involved the deletion of parts from Quick Engine Change Kits for J-85 engines. Adoption of their suggestion relieves bases from the necessity of accepting large expensive kits for the few parts frequently used. The suggestion has been adopted Air Force wide with a first year savings of $354,420.

Randolph's Sergeant Christopherson collected $900 as second prize in the annual program for his suggestion to obtain instructors for field-moble training detachments directly from the host units being serviced by the detachments. The suggestion has been adopted for mandatory use Air Force wide and the estimated first year savings to result from this practice has been set at $239,000 in PCS and administration costs.

Third prize of $750 went to Randolph's Sergeant San Miguel. His suggestion concerns an engine sling, devised and manufactured by the base, which greatly reduces the man-hours required to manipulate J-85-5 engines from a prone to vertical position during repair.

The new $75 Series E Bond bears these words of the late President John F. Kennedy: "Ask not what your country can do for you — ask what you can do for your country."

It was estimated that $99,435 would be saved during the first year this suggestion is placed into effect.

Airman Butler, Webb, received $400 in fourth prize money for his safety shield for mower and sweeper equipped tractors. His suggestion calls for a screen cage to envelop the rear and sides of the driver's seat of tractors which tow mowers and sweepers. The screen is designed to prevent drivers from being injured by rocks and other foreign objects hurled by the mechanism being towed. This suggestion has been adopted for Air Force-wide use.

Fifth prize of $250 went to Chanute's Sergeant Podagrosi, who devised a special filter for oxygen-nitrogen generating plants. The device eliminates the need for the Air Force to purchase carbon dioxide-free nitrogen gas used in liquid oxygen plants. The suggestion has been implemented at Chanute and was adopted by the Strategic Air Command for a first year savings of $39,732.

RECOGNIZED — A special award from USAF for its project in bettering Imhof Lake and setting up a bird refuge is studied by members of the base conservation committee, shortly after the certificate was presented. Left to right, front row, are Herman Guinn, representing civil engineers; MSgt. William Foster, president of the Rod and Gun club; Lt. Col. David T. Mold, chief, personnel division; and 2nd Lt. Charles Gourley, chief security and law enforcement. Back row: Capt. Richard W. Kimball, chief, information division; Capt. Donald Huff, staff judge advocate's office; Joe Lopez, ground safety director; and Capt. L. W. Majors, base operations.

Base Conservation Program Gains National Recognition

In existence just a little over a year, the Base Conservation Committee already has been instrumental in winning a national award for Reese.
 A Reese supplement published in April, 1963, set up the committee and work done has brought a special award in competition for the Gen. Thomas D. White Fish and Wildlife Conservation Award, presented annually to installations with outstanding programs to preserve fish and game.
 Reese personnel with cooperation of the Texas Game and Wildlife Commission, eliminated waterdogs from Lake Imhof. They stocked the lake with catfish and other varieties of fish. They installed special air lines in the water to aerate the lake. The air lines assisted plant life to grow so the fish could have enough to eat.
 The national award committee noted that Reese has limited resources for conservation and initiative and imagination permitted the lake project. The award was presented recently to the committee.

 The Reese Rod and Gun Club has led the way in two programs working here. Its members did virtually all the work at Lake Imhof, with the civil engineering and Texas Officials giving a helping hand. Its members also were responsible for the bird refuge on the west rim of the base.
 The Base Conservation committee is a coordinating unit for the cooperative efforts of various organizations here in the fish and wildlife area. It is responsible for seeing that conservation is extended, that laws are enforced, that hunting and fishing are properly controlled, and to generally coordinate activities.
 Committee chairman is Maj. Thomas Batey, wing operations officer, the senior officer.
 Members, because of their assigned positions, are: Herman Guinn, civil engineer superintendent of maintenance and repair; 2nd Lt. Charles Gourley, chief, security and law enforcement; Capt. Joseph Spencer, staff judge advocate; 1st Lt. Paul Iszler, personnel services officer; Capt. Richard W. Kimball, information officer; MSgt. William Foster, president, rod and gun club; Joe Lopez, ground safety officer; and SSgt. Max Bolinger, NCOIC, small arms training section.
 Principal programs of the committee to date have improved the lake for fish and duck hunting.
 Fishing is permitted and duck hunting, in proper season. Blinds for hunters have been set up and while ducks are flying south as winter approaches hundreds of the fowls have landed on the lake.
 The bird refuge is serving quail and other fowl well. In the refuge, not far from a runway, grass and weeds are permitted to grow as tall as they can. Seeds and feed as well as protection are offered the birds. Six pairs of quail have been planted in the area and recently at least 75 eggs were noted.
 Plans call for moving the refuge away from the runway to a spot elsewhere, but no definite plans have been finalized.
 The Air Force, wherever possible, by regulation carries on a wide conservation program, with base committees instructed to do all possible. A principal aim is to preserve natural resources and to give all possible cooperation to federal, state and local officials. Hunting, fishing and trapping on installations must be in strict compliance with existing civil law. State licenses to fish and hunt must be obtained by all military participating.
 The Reese committee seeks to see that all directives are carried out. Fishing and hunting equipment have been made available for designated seasons and laws are enforced.
 The Thomas D. White Fish and Wildlife Conservation Award committee noted in making a special award to Reese that its resources in the field were limited.

Golf Champion Named By Women

Winners of the women's base golf championship were honored on Tuesday at a luncheon meeting of the Reese Women's Golf Association in the golf club house.

Mrs. Gloria Robertson was crowned base champion by virtue of her win in the championship flight. She was followed by Sandra Wicksham, runnerup, and Maralene Pollock, consolation bracket winner.

First Flight winners were: Marcelle Gasting, first place winner, Thelma Merritt, runnerup, and Francis Roper, consolation winner.

Second Flight winners were: Kathy Trachta, winner, Millie Cowart, runnerup, and Mary Goldfein, consolation winner.

In the Cry Baby Flight which only had one winner, honors went to Janet Warwick.

In a ringer tournament held last week Gloria Robertson walked off with low gross honors with a 44. She was followed by Janet Warwick, who was tops in the low net scramble with a 41. Mary Goldfein grabbed the most improved golfer title by improving her score 29 strokes.

Reese Boy Scouts Enrolled In Camp

A dozen members of Reese Boy Scout Troop 548 have returned from summer camp at Camp Post, near Post, Tex., with wider knowledge of scout activities.

Attending the camp were Roger LeClerc, Kenny Curry, Teddy Guy, Tres Longwell, Bob Kosco, Jay Willis, Robert McBride, Dave Gerdt, Lucian Ferguson, Rob Shanks, Perry Hamilton and Bill O'Rourke. A2C Dale Waterhouse, scoutmaster, assisted by Garland Jennings, patrol leader, was in charge of the boys.

During the camp the boys studied astronomy with the use of an 8-inch telescope, swam, fished and canoed, did track and signal work, practiced outdoor cooking and qualified for a nature award through learning to identify local species of wildlife and birds.

All tenderfoot scouts qualified for second class and higher ranks moved toward more important badges. Scoutmaster Waterhouse was "tapped out" for the Order of the Arrow, one of the highest recognitions given in senior scouting.

ADC Lauds ATC For Performance

Plaudits to Air Training Command on performance during its 21 years of existence are given by Air Defense Command in a message from its commander, Lt. Gen. Herbert B. Thatcher.

"The Air Defense Command is pleased to extend congratulations to the Air Training Command on its 21st anniversary on July 7," the message stated.

"We realize that as the vehicles and support equipment for aerospace defense and other Air Force missions have increased in complexity, your task of training people to operate and maintain them has become more difficult in proportion. The fact that you have met and continue to meet this challenge of advancing technology is a tribute to the skill and dedication of the men and women of your command.

"Please accept our appreciation and our sincere best wishes for continued success."
