Lakeview School Building Burned Monday Night; School To Continue

Nearly Complete Eclipse Of Moon Tuesday Morning

Tuesday morning occurred an almost complete eclipse of the moon, late risers reading about it in the almanacs and hearing from their neighbors. Rev. G. W. Tubbs and his wife who get up at 5 o'clock, said it occurred about 6 o'clock and just a wee tip of the moon could be seen when the eclipse was in its major stage. The moon faded Monday night. "I haven't met anybody yet besides ourselves that saw the eclipse," Bro. Tubbs said early Wednesday morning.

Volleyball Girls Win Games From Crosbyton

Floydada High School's volleyball team of girls captured three straight games in a series played at Crosbyton with the Crosbyton High School team Wednesday afternoon. Led by the stellar playing of Johnnie Switzer and Audrey McLain, the F. H. S. players amassed a total of 15 points in every battle winning by the scores of 15 to 5, 15 to 9, and 15 to 7.

The same two teams are scheduled to meet again Monday afternoon in the Andrews Ward gymnasium. The tilt is scheduled to start at 4 o'clock, it was announced by Coach O. T. Williams, who has developed a winning aggregation this year that bids fair to repeat the fine work done last year by the team coached by O. K. Davis.

F. H. S. won the county championship title last year. It is planned to have a game between the Floydada outsiders and the Crosbyton outsiders following the high school games Monday. The games at Crosbyton were the first of the year for the local players. Mr. Byrd of Crosbyton refereed. Accompanying the players from F. H. S. were Coach Williams and J. C. Wester.

The line-ups were as follows: Crosbyton—Ruby Carson, Fraline Mize, Christine Edwards, Bessie Smith, Aylene McKinney, Eloise Driver, and Miss Blackwood; Floydada—Minnie Lee Carathers, Johnnie Switzer, Ruby Grubbs, Audrey McLain, Ruth Tyler, Pauline Williams, Exlie Pierce, and Vera Dunn.

LANDLORD WAIVER, WHEAT MORTGAGE STILL IN WAY OF FINANCE CORP. LOANS

The landlord's waiver and demand that growing wheat on a farm be mortgaged as additional security to secure funds for the planting of a row crop are still in the way of Reconstruction Finance Corporation loans in Floyd County. Only one loan had been made to Wednesday noon, it was stated by W. Edd Brown, chairman of the central committee for this county.

Down-state, where few or no loans were made last year, a tremendous volume of loans is being handled by the county committees, it was said. And in that section, not only are the landlord's waiving their rights in crops to be planted, but also the Federal Land Bank of Houston and the receivers of closed national banks. Judge M. H. Gossett, president of the Federal Land Bank, in a telegram to Owen W. Sherrill, chairman of the Reconstruction Finance Corporation in this state, said on March 18, "In order to co-operate with government advances to farmers the Federal Land Bank of Houston agrees to waive for 1932 priority of crop mortgages to the extent of first lien to secure funds advanced by government," and out of Washington the supervisor of national bank receivers wired "relative to advances to debtors of closed national banks in Texas to enable them to make 1932 crops, we are authorizing all national bank receivers in Texas by wire to execute subordination or waiver agreements in favor of your agency in all necessary cases for purposes stated."

Repeated efforts of West Texas agencies, including the West Texas Chamber of Commerce and central committee heads, have been unavailing to date in getting the landlord waiver and the wheat mortgage clause out of the applications. F. H. Simpson, field inspector for the corporation for Floyd, Hale, Lamb, Bailey, Briscoe and Swisher Counties, in Floydada yesterday, said that many loan applications are coming in from the west part of this district.

'WINDY WILLOWS,' PLAY AT MUNCY FRI NIGHT

Loss Includes Text Books And Furniture

School Re-Opened This Morning To Finish Out The Year.

The Lakeview School Building, a two-story brick structure built in 1915, burned to the ground together with all its contents Monday night of this week, with a loss estimated at $8,500 to $10,000. Insurance totalling $9,500 was in force when the fire occurred.

Discovered After Midnight So intense was the heat of the fire that even those who first arrived on the scene, could not effect an entrance into the building, and everything in it, including text books, supplies, equipment and furniture were consumed in the flames.

The fire occurred after midnight. It was first discovered by Mrs. Cella Ross, who resides in the teacherage adjacent to the school ground, where C. A. Cass and family also live. She awakened the principal and his family, but practically the entire upper portion of the building was in flames at the time, and stopping the fire was out of the question. The building was nothing but smoldering flames and bare, crumbling walls before 2 o'clock.

The last persons in the building before the fire were C. A. Cass, superintendent, and Henry Horton, principal, who left the building at 10:15 Monday evening after attending the practice for a play by students of the high school. A fire had been made in the auditorium heater but drafts and doors were carefully closed and inspected by them. Mr. Cass, who remained up for probably an hour after reaching his home, grading papers, said the building was okay after 11 o'clock, when he retired.

Re-Opened This Morning

Classes in the school were re-opened this morning in the Baptist Church and in a portion of the teacherage in which room was made for one class. Two classes will be taught in the Baptist Church basement and two in the church auditorium. Two of the trustees, John Lloyd and R. C. Smith, members of the faculty and patrons of the school, gathered Tuesday morning to check up on the loss and make plans for the school year. B. L. Bread, the third member of the board, was in Fort Worth when the fire occurred.

Members of the faculty of the school are Mrs. Cella Ross, Miss Jewel Woolsey, Miss Carrie Dixon, Henry Horton and C. A. Cass.

Built in 1915 The school building was the second brick structure for school purposes constructed by a rural school district of Floyd County, Sand Hill having been first. The building was put up under contract with Sam Dane in the summer of 1915. Bonded indebtedness outstanding at this time totals $3,000, not including $200 which is to be retired on April 10. Chas. Trowbridge, now deceased, and J. W. Wright and F. P. Donathan, both now residents of Floydada, were trustees of the district at the time the building was put up. Bonds are dated September 10, 1915.

Insurance carried on the building was $7,100, on the furniture and fixtures $2,000 and on the textbooks $400. Tuesday and Wednesday were busy days with trustees and faculty, who assembled textbooks, seating and equipment for the re-opening of the school this morning.

MISSES GLADYS, THELMA RITTER ATTEND FUNERAL OF FRIEND AT HAMLIN

Misses Gladys and Thelma Ritter went to Hamlin Friday of last week to attend the funeral of Ray Holt, 25, who died Thursday morning of last week at 11:30 o'clock from an attack of intestinal flu and paralysis. He was ill only a short time. He died at Midland and the remains were taken to Hamlin for burial in the East Cemetery. Services were held at 3 o'clock Friday afternoon.

Deceased was a friend of Miss Gladys Ritter. The girls were accompanied to Hamlin by Everett Price and Jess Lanier and they were accompanied home by Mr. Lanier and Hall Ferguson, the latter of Lockney. They returned home Sunday night.

COUNCIL TO HEAR REPORTS ON MEMBERSHIP CONTESTS

Reports on membership contests, and discussion of entries for the cheese and butter exhibit at the Plainview Dairy Show April 11-14 will be matters to come before the County Council of Home Demonstration Clubs at the meeting Saturday.

The Council will convene at 2 o'clock at the district court room.

Scott Urges Careful Study By Voters Of Men To Be Trustees

That careful consideration be given in the selection of school trustees by the voters this year more than at any time in history is the plea issued this week by Price Scott, county superintendent. "In our judgement the citizens of the communities should give very careful consideration for those they elect April 2 of this year to run their schools," Mr. Scott said.

"The safest, sanest, most dependable citizens of the community are needed on the school boards at this time. "This is no time to be doing anything radically unwise and the voters should use utmost care in selecting men whom they think will do everything for the best interest of a system we have taken years here to build up," Mr. Scott declared.

Big Crowd At Legion 'Colored' Mock Trial

Real 'Culluds' Get Biggest Kick As 'Chicken Thief' Acquitted By Jury.

It was a big crowd that came out to see and hear the mock trial, staged in "color" by a cast presented by McDermott Post, American Legion, at the Palace Theatre Tuesday night, and the Legion boys were all smiles, because their portion of the net proceeds, $49.60, was sorely needed to meet immediate demands on the organization.

The climax, came too, at the very close of the trial, as it should, when after the defendant's witness had sworn "a-plenty" to get an acquittal out of the jury, the defendant demanded of the judge to know what to do with the "them chickens I got." The judge was flabbergasted. All the incriminating evidence had shown the defendant to have fed chickens to a colored lady the day after the visit to the hen house.

The colored defendant was impersonated by John H. Reagan, the judge who sat on the bench by Judge L. G. Mathews. Parts as attorneys for the defendant were taken by attorneys Robt. A. Sone and H. D. Payne, the "state" being represented by attorneys A. J. Foley and Tony B. Maxey. The "indictment" read in open court, was returned by a grand jury headed by Scarface Al Capone.

The jury, composed of W. H. Henderson, T. P. Collins, J. D. Colville, Jess Covington, J. C. Wester and H. A. Copeland, also all colored for the occasion, returned their verdict without leaving the jury box and before the attorneys could present their arguments or the judge his charge, because "you can't believe any of them niggers anyhow," them "niggers" being impersonated by Garland Glover, C. Austin Smith, Roy L. Snodgrass, Calvin Steen, Jno. W. Maxwell, W. L. Fry, and the defendant, who took the stand in his own behalf.

The "high sheriff," Geo. B. McCord, was the busiest man in the courtroom, what with the confiscation of razors, dirks, guns and other fighting paraphernalia.

Before the presentation of the mock trial, L. G. Mathews briefly expressed the appreciation of the Legionnaires for the crowded house. The trial was presented impromptu, with little or no coaching, but got over good with the audience, and got over good with the audience.

Proceeding the stage feature, Nancy Carroll was featured in a cinema attraction, "Wayward."

Beauty Contest Tuesday Evening At Palace To Name Prettiest Miss

Who is the most beautiful girl in Floyd County? There are hundreds of answers but the most beautiful according to the belief of three out-of-town judges will be given in Floydada Tuesday night of next week, when fifty to sixty of the prettiest misses in the county will be assembled on the stage of the Palace Theatre and from their number one selected to be honored with the plaudits of those who attend and the formal presentation of a loving cup. Second and third honors will also be awarded. The two young ladies so chosen will be maids of honor to Miss Floydada.

Announcement of the plan to have the bevy of beauties appear at the Palace was made this week by Jack Deakins, manager of the show, who is staging the feature. Fifty or more local firms and organizations are sponsoring the event, each firm or organization being represented by an entry chosen by them.

Not a Style Show The event will not be a style show or a revue in any sense, Mr. Deakins declared this week. The young ladies entered will not be judged by the frocks they wear but by features and personality, he said. Individual contestants entered will be asked to wear the clothes which they feel best suit them.

Miss Oleta Jackson returned Monday from a two week's vacation trip spent at Clovis, Lubbock, Stratford, and Amarillo. She resumed her stenographic at the First Bank this morning.

Floyd Entries Win 6 Places Lubbock Show

Floyd County entries in the canned products division, totaling 48, took six places in the second annual Meat Show being held at Lubbock this mid-week, according to a long distance telephone report this Thursday morning from the Avalanche-Journal.

The Floyd County products took two firsts, one third place, one fourth place, and two fifth places. Boned chicken prepared by Mrs. W. E. Miller, of Sand Hill Home Demonstration Club, won first place.

No. 2 Can of speak prepared by Mrs. M. H. Taylor of Cedar Hill, took first place. Mrs. John Seay, Cedar Hill, took third and fifth, making it three places in this division.

Mince Meat made by Mrs. M. F. Taylor, Cedar Hill, was given fourth place. No. 2 Can sausage made by Mrs. W. E. Grimes, Center, was awarded fifth place.

The exhibit was taken over by Miss Martha Faulkner, county home demonstration agent, and S. W. Ross, secretary of the Chamber of Commerce, Wednesday morning.

Two hams and two bacon were also entered and the judging in this division will take place today. The show proper opens today and the cattle sale will be held Friday. Attendance during the judging was larger than any day last year, it was reported.

About 150 cattle and 140 hogs are entered in the livestock show. In the canned products cash prizes were given to the first, second, and third places, with ribbons to fourth and fifth places.

Judging was done by Miss Zetha McMinis, home industry expert, of the extension service, assisted by Miss Sybil Thomas, supervisor of home economics under the Smith-Hughes act, and Miss Johnnie Hemphill McCrery, professor of foods of the school of home economics at Texas Technological college.

F. H. S. Judging Teams Will Compete At A. & M.

Coach O. T. Williams and three teams with an alternate will go to A. & M. April 18 to participate in the state vocational agriculture contests, if present plans mature. Mr. Williams, teacher of vocational agriculture in Floydada High School, and four teams of his boys will go to Lubbock Monday to compete in the annual practice judging meet at Tech College.

Members of the teams are as follows: Layton Dorrell, Milton Sims, J. D. Nelson, and Silas Duncan alternate, dairy judging; Otho Johnson, Carrick Snodgrass, and John Edward Smith, plant production; Leo Jackson, Vernon Norman, and Raymond King, poultry judging; J. B. Jordan, Gordon Lightfoot, and Joe Marshall, farm shop.

The contests will begin at 8 o'clock Monday morning at Tech. Mr. Williams and his teams also plan to go to Plainview for the Dairy Show April 11-14 to participate in the judging events there.

Rev. and Mrs. F. O. Garner and children and Mrs. F. O. Conner of Lakeview returned home Tuesday from a two weeks visit at Waco, Commerce and Sulphur Springs. Mrs. J. S. McNeill accompanied them from Denton where she had been visiting a son since January.

Dubois Has New Variety Of Rats; Brings In Proof

Go get the Pied Piper of Hamelin, or whatever his name may be, and tell him that Edell Dubois has something new for him in the category of rats. Mr. Dubois was displaying three big rats in town Wednesday that he had killed on his farm five and one half miles northwest of Floydada.

Now there's nothing unusual about rats as a rule but Edell's broke the rule—they were black and white spotted. A rat terrier dog killed five out of about 20 of the big pests as they scattered to the four winds when their home under a maize pile was destroyed.

"I've seen grey rats and white rats but these black and white ones look to me like they are mixed with pole cats," Edell said.

Small Grain In Need Of Rain, Reports Say

Evidences of the need for an inch of rain for wheat, oats and barley growing in Floyd County fields, is given in reports this week from over the county. The heavy freezes and cold that lasted for ten days during the earlier part of the month cut back the oats and barley heavily and they needed a good rain to make them put out again, these reports say.

The heavy atmospheric disturbance of Sunday and Monday, when the barometric pressure was the lowest in many years in this area, injured many fields of growing grain, and blew the row crop ground badly where it had not been stirred recently. Rural delivery men out of Floydada post office said Monday was one of the worst days in a number of years. Sunday wind blew from the southwest and returned with intensity Monday from the northeast. The disturbance resulted in intense cyclones east of the Mississippi. Upward of 300 lives were lost in Alabama, Tennessee and Kentucky communities with property damage amounting into the millions. Relief was being hurried as best it could to the stricken communities by the Red Cross this mid-week, news dispatches said.

Two mornings this week the county has experienced freezing weather. On Monday morning the temperature dropped to 31 degrees and on Tuesday to 24 degrees, records of the West Texas Gas Company here show. The high for the week was recorded Sunday afternoon when the thermometer registered 86 degrees.

LOM M. DAVIS ROTARY DELEGATE TO CONVENTION

Lon M. Davis was elected delegate to the annual convention of the Forty-First District, Rotary International from the Floydada Club at the club meeting Wednesday. The convention will be held in Mineral Wells in June. S. W. Ross was chosen as alternate.

Ways service clubs may co-operate with rural communities was discussed by Ed Holmes, of Sand Hill, who told something of the problems of the rural communities and said the best way town people may approach their rural neighbors is to show an interest in them, send speakers out to them when asked to do so, and attend their public gatherings. One principal need of the farms at this time, he said, is better live stock.

Virgil Williams, speaking to the subject of Rotary civic problems, pointed out the necessity of the individual Rotarian as a citizen accounting the responsibilities of community's civic problems along with his neighbors and helping to meet the demands of the community's welfare.

Change Announced For Local Office April 1

One Carrier Will Cover All Territory Of Two Former Routes.

Discontinuance of the services of one of the two city mail carriers and the combination of the two delivery periods into a single daily service, effective April 1, was announced this week by local post office officials.

Order Received Monday

Orders for the change were received Monday from Arch Coleman, first assistant postmaster general, it was stated by N. W. Williams, assistant postmaster.

It is thought that the plan for a single delivery is one adopted in post offices by the government in the interest of economy, bringing into effect thorough ration.

Lorin Leibfried will be the city free delivery carrier announced. He will start rounds each morning and the entire routes former between Mr. Leibfried and Suite.

Possibly some residents been receiving their mail mornings will get their sirv in the afternoon, it was out.

Effect Uncertain

The exact schedule has been announced for the new ment by Postmaster J. D. and likely the effect of the on local affairs will not be definitely until after the has been put into operation.

Eight hours will be required by the carrier to cover his territory. Two carriers have been on the city free delivery since September 1, 1929.

Garrett Makes Appeal On Legion Membership

Urging that ex-service men unite with the Legion and thereby help carry on the present employment campaign and other moves to help thousands of their comrades and all other citizens, Robt. A. Garrett, county chairman of the American Legion issued a formal appeal on membership.

He said in part, "The unselfish service of our veterans in the United States in the present employment campaign deserves the support of all veterans through their membership.

"We need the united help of veterans, and especially the one in the past have become familiar with membership work. At least we can expect their support through their membership. Every member signed up at this time will be a direct endorsement of the unselfish service the Legion is performing for the thousands of our comrades and all other citizens."

Matters pertaining to the membership will come before the local post at the next meeting. Commander Garrett said.

At the meeting held Monday night the members discussed plans for staging the kangaroo court trial for Tuesday night at the Palace Theatre.

Following the meeting, the legionnaires were guests of the Ladies Auxiliary at an informal entertainment. Various games and refreshments furnished diversion. Refreshments were served.

Tennis Preliminaries For Co. Meet Saturday

The county preliminaries in tennis, doubles and singles, as has been decided previously by the committee will be held Saturday of this week March 26—at Lockney, according to an announcement given out by C. Stephen, director. All schools in the county, which are to participate in the interscholastic league competition in tennis this year, should have their teams in Lockney on that day, he states.

Representatives for each school are requested to be in Room 104 of the Lockney High School Building for the drawing at 9 o'clock day morning. Eliminations in playground are also scheduled to be held day at Lockney. G. D. Lockney, is directing the ground ball division to meet this year. Tennis and other sports are being conducted in Lockney during the week.

Miss Archer Honors Guests With Slumber Party.

Misses Alyce Stewart and Rexine Sams of Lockney were honor guests at a slumber party given at the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Archer last Saturday night, by their daughter, Robbye.

Sandwiches and tea were served as a mid-night lunch to the following: Winona Felton, Mildred Strickland, Hazel Probasco, the honorees Alyce Stewart and Rexine Sams, and the hostess Robbye Archer.

FUR JACKETS APPEAR IN NEW VERSIONS FOR SPRING

Fur jackets are in for another run this spring. Following the general trend of the mode, waist-length jackets, of bolero or slightly fitted type, are the dominating styles. Simple effects are accented but with sufficient variety of detail to give the jackets individuality.

Flat caracul, kid, and baronduki comprise the emphasized furs. Caracul and kid jackets show an effective variety of color. Beige tones, such as fawn and maple, also soft blue-grays, are considered important especially in view of the popularity of blue tones in spring costumes. Black is strongly accented and white is also highly regarded for both day and evening wear.

Necklines are diversified and give much of the fashion interest to these jackets. Collarless, scarf-collared, and narrow tuxedo lines prevail, with neat sleeves having discreet detail in harmony with the neckline treatment.

Jackets of fitted silhouette, extending to the top of the hips are approved for more formal daytime wear, proving especially effective in black caracul finished with a narrow tie self-fur belt.

Fur scarfs of various types are exceptionally good for spring due to the new vogue for collarless coats and suits. The silver fox comes in for its usual popularity. Detachable ascot scarfs of inexpensive fur come with many of the new spring suits, and are also featured separately. Lapin is the fur you see most frequently.

Mr. and Mrs. Jack Broxson, of Fairmont, were shopping in Floydada Tuesday. While here they were guests of her brother, Jack Burlington.

Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Glass and daughter, Joyce Leonard, were in Lubbock last Friday. Joyce appeared on the program of the Annual Spring Festival of Music.

Joe Breed returned home the first of the week from San Angelo and Abilene where he visited a short time after taking his sister, Mrs. S. D. Thornton, to Sanatorium, Texas, for treatment.

Fitted 'Gigolo' Style Is Popular Suit Trend

Suits and spring are practically synonymous! Those of you who swear by this most versatile and useful of all fashions will be delighted to find your "pet" in the many exciting versions for 1932. And, it's a safe bet that a lot of women who've been merely luke-warm on the suit question up 'til now, are going to break down and become suit enthusiasts too!

Superb tailoring is the most characteristic feature of the new suit styles. The new "gigolo" silhouette with its wide shoulders, straight and narrow skirt, and pinched-in waist is used as a basis. The military theme, closely related to it, is prominent too.

In all suits perfect fit is the essential element—molded to the natural curves of the body, drawn in snugly at the waist and brought down smoothly over the hips, leaving only as much "give" as is necessary to insure freedom of movement. The severe effect is frequently toned down by soft neckline treatments, or by a soft effect in the blouse, such as a jabot that juts out of the front opening of the jacket.

Jackets in Snug Styles
Jackets are generally snug and brief—terminating just at the top of the hips. However, a good many of them extend below, and these are snugly fitted too, and usually drawn in at the waist with a belt.

The high neckline is a prominent feature of new suits... quite often it is a type that can be either buttoned all the way up or left open to form wide revers. This gives symmetry of line when closed.

Spring suits are accented by much intricate detailed trimming. However, these trimmings are all in keeping with the general line of the silhouette, and in no way do they suggest elaborateness.

Variety in Yoke Effects
There are yoke effects in great number. In general, these continue to heighten the appearance of width at the shoulder. Many are worked in one with the back and the shoulder and cut in diamond V or rounded pieces in front.

Unusual scarf and draped collars give a new feeling to necklines. They are rarely large and a good deal of variety of manipulation in arrangement is possible. As on so many spring coats, many collars are detachable—both scarf and cape types in either fabric or fur.

Sleeves are restrained as to novelty, width from the elbow to wrist being the most widely favored treatment. Slot seaming has almost completely replaced stitching. Tucking is also an important factor of design. Pockets of both slot and patch type are shown, and both capelet and epaulette effects are conspicuous.

Buttons, particularly shiny metal ones, are the most significant of all decorative features.

Blues in Numerous Tones
Colors that loom important are blues, including the entire gamut from navy to aqua-tones, beiges, rusts and greens; some browns are to be considered, but not primarily.

Fabrics are similar to the coat fabrics—soft diagonal woolsens, rough and novelty weave woolsens, and in the dressier types, a lightweight woolen with a smooth, flat weave.

SUNLIGHT SUBSTITUTES AID EGG PRODUCTION

Irradiation with ultra-violet rays, as well as feeding cod-liver oil, improves the general condition of hens deprived of sunlight and green feed and promotes egg production. Exposure to sunlight is equally beneficial and is easier and much cheaper throughout most of the year. All three treatments supply vitamin D, the antirachitic vitamin that facilitates the assimilation of calcium and phosphorus in the hen's body, thus developing bone and shell.

Tests with 90 Rhode Island Red pullets at the United States Department of Agriculture experiment farm, Beltsville, Md., showed that both irradiation with ultra-violet rays and administration of cod-liver oil as supplements to an ordinary diet for birds confined without access to sunlight or green feed increased egg production and thickness of egg shells. Each of these vitamin supplements also tended to give heavier eggs and to improve the hatchability of the eggs. The cod-liver oil had a marked effect on the live weight of the birds, but the irradiation did not.

HOG-CHOLERA OUTBREAKS

Swine growers in many of the hog-producing States experienced serious losses from outbreaks of hog cholera in September, October, and November, 1931. An estimate made by veterinarians of the United States Department of Agriculture indicates that recent losses were about equal to those experienced in some sections during the severe outbreak of 1926, when the disease caused losses at the rate of 70 hogs in each 1,000.

The outbreaks this year, however, diminished rapidly with the liberal use of antihog-cholera serum and the advent of winter. December showed a marked reduction in the prevalence of the disease, in some States the number of outbreaks receding almost 50 per cent. This 1931 experience is a reminder that the disease is by no means conquered, says the department, and that constant efforts should be made to prevent these destructive waves of hog cholera.

LOOPERS'

RECIPES AND MENUS

Fried Chicken

Cut up as follows: Remove the legs from the body at the hip joint, separate second joint from the drum stick by cutting through the flesh and bend to snap joint.

Remove wings from the body. Locate the end of the shoulder blades which run just over the ribs and parallel with the back bone. Slip knife under and cup up to point where wings were removed. Pull back and breast apart. Cut the back into three pieces, cutting first just below the ribs, then cut down center of lower back.

Remove the portion of the breast containing the wishbone. Remove shoulder blades by disjoining where they join the keel or breast bone. Divide remaining portion of breast into two pieces by cutting down center by breast bone.

Sear in hot fat, pack into No. 1 cans for market, add 1/2 tsp. salt, and two tablespoons of fat. Seal while hot and process No. 1 cans 40 minutes at 15 lbs. pressure, No. 2 cans 45-50 minutes at 15 lbs. pressure.

Older fowls can be canned as cubed, boned, or ground chicken, prepare as follows: Cut skin between legs and body. Bend leg to snap the joint. Locate the ends of shoulder blades as for cutting fryers. Separate the breast and back. This leaves the breast and wings in one piece and the legs and back as another. Place in pressure cooker which has the rack in the bottom. For each 20 lbs. of dressed fowls add 6 tablespoons of salt and 3/4 cup of water. Steam 20-30 minutes at 15 pounds pressure, depending upon the age of the bird. Remove from cooker and bone, separating all skin, blood veins and darn organs, as those in the back.

Boned Chicken

After the meat has been steamed, remove the bones and pack with the grain of the meat running parallel with the length of the can. Cover with broth to make 11 oz. net. Seal while hot and process at 15 lbs. pressure and No. 3 cans 55-60 minutes.

Ground Chicken

Small pieces of meat such as those which come from the back, wings and neck and skin should be ground in a food chopper, moistened with broth, packed hot into cans until they weigh 11 oz. net. Process at 15 lbs. pressure, No. 1 cans 40 minutes, No. 2 cans 45-50 minutes.

Cubed Chicken

If a special product is desired, the white meat may be removed from the bones and cut into 1/2 inch cubes, packed and covered with broth until the cans weigh 11 oz. net, and process at 15 lbs. pressure; No. 1 cans 40 minutes, No. 2 cans 45-50 minutes.

Chicken Broth

Any broth left over may be strained. Fill cans and seal while hot. Rice and whole wheat may be added. Wash cereal, fill can 3/4 full and finish filling with broth. Process at 15 lbs. pressure; No. 1 cans 35 minutes and No. 2 cans 40 minutes.

Crests give evening dresses new width in the shoulders and a new look to the décolletage. Sometimes the crest is in the form of a pleated rather wide ruche... again, in a definite puff poised at the shoulder edge.

DEVELOPMENT IMPORTANT NEW USES SWEETPOTATOES

A method for manufacturing sweetpotato starch, which for textile purposes is equal in value to imported high-quality white-potato starch, has been developed in the Bureau of Chemistry and Soils, United States Department of Agriculture.

Sweetpotatoes constitute the second largest vegetable crop grown in the United States. Owing to the rigid requirements for market potatoes it is estimated that from 10 to 30 per cent of the entire crop is graded as culls. These culls are now wasted or inadequately utilized. The sweetpotato is primarily a starch producer, and the new process offers the possibility of utilizing the cull and excess crop as a source of commercial starch, says H. S. Paine, of the department's carbohydrate division, under whose direction this method was developed.

By utilizing sulphur dioxide in the water used in grinding the potatoes and treating the extracted starch with a dilute alkaline solution the objectionable color can be eliminated largely from the starch, regardless of the color of the potato flesh. The other operations are essentially the same as for production of white-potato starch.

The department is also studying the utilization as a stock feed of the starch factory by-products, consisting of the pulp, which contains a substantial percentage of starch, and the effluents, which contain valuable sugars and proteins. Further studies of starch extraction, the physical properties of sweetpotato starch, the nature of the pigments present in the sweetpotato, and the utilization of the by-products are now in progress.

E. L. Carraway and Bob Wheeler of Spur, visited in Floydada Sunday.

Mrs. G. W. Gilley, of Abilene, arrived Sunday to spend a month here visiting her sister, Mrs. J. E. Appling. She was accompanied by Mr. and Mrs. Marvin Gilley and children, who visited here Sunday.

LABELS ON CANNED CORN INFORMATIVE TO BUYERS

Some States are known for distinctive packs of canned sweet corn, says V. B. Bonney, of the Federal Food and Drug Administration. "Maine style" sweet corn is prepared by crushing the grains to a creamy consistency. Such corn, packed outside Maine, is called "cream-style corn." "Maryland style" corn is prepared by cutting the kernels from the cob so as to leave them substantially whole. Such corn packed outside Maryland is called "whole grain" or "whole kernel."

Certain varieties of sweet corn make such excellent packs that canners use the varietal name on the label. Some of the most popular of these varieties are Country Gentleman, Golden Bantam, Golden Giant, Improved Golden Bantam, Bantam Evergreen, and Charlevioz.

Some packers print on their labels the official grades established by the United States Department of Agriculture. Grade A (popularly known as Fancy) is the best quality, very young, tender corn, of bright color, with superior flavor, and practically free from defects. Grade B (frequently called Extra Standard) possesses the desirable characteristics of color, tenderness, flavor, and freedom from defects to a lesser, but reasonable degree. Grade C (Standard, so called) is corn in which the color may be dull, the flavor only fair, the kernels rather "doughy" and the presence of husk, cob, or silk distinctly noticeable. Off-grade (or Substantial) of course is still lower in desirability.

"Field or horse" corn is sometimes canned," says Bonney. "Since field corn does not have the superior eating qualities of sweet corn, the pure food law requires that the label plainly declare the product to be field corn when such is the case. If starch is added to cream-style corn, it must be declared. Starch is never used in large quantities, however."

Mr. and Mrs. J. U. Borum spent last week-end and the first of this week in Dallas and Fort Worth on business.

HISTORIC TREES

Examination and certification for shipment to other parts of the country of descendants of famous New England trees, with assurance that the specimen are free from destructive insect pests, is an interesting part of the duties of plant quarantine inspectors of the United States Department of Agriculture, who are engaged in the enforcement of the regulations concerning the gipsy moth.

Many of the young trees which have been distributed under this protection were descended from the historic elm at Cambridge, Mass., beneath which General Washington took command of the Continental Army on July 3, 1775. Before the Washington elm died a branch was grafted and it has grown into a beautiful tree, on the public library grounds at Wellesley.

WEST PLAINS WORKERS' MEETING AT LITTLEFIELD

Tuesday of next week, March 29, at a workers' meeting of the West Plains Baptist Association, several visiting pastors and laymen will be on the program. Among these will be Prof. M. H. Duncan, of the Lubbock Schools, Rev. J. C. Sismore of Amarillo, and Rev. Gilbert Wilson of Decatur. Rev. P. D. O'Brien, of this city, will preach a sermon at 9:40 on the resurrection. The meeting will be held at the Tabernacle Baptist Church in Littlefield, the announcement states.

Dean of Texas Cowboys—He's 84 But Still Rounds 'Em Up On

Upper right—Massey, who was selected as the oldest active cowboy in Texas in a state-wide contest conducted by the Fort Worth Star-Telegram and the Southwestern Exposition and Fat Stock Show, is shown as he was given an official welcome as the guest of honor at the show by Van Zandt Jarvis, president of the Exposition. Insert is a close-up of Uncle Bash examining a quilt presented by John Davis, of Weatherford.

Lower left—"Ride 'em cowboy!" was the cry that went up from the streets of Fort Worth as the Floyd County range veteran rode astride the hood of a new Cadillac automobile to wave his greetings to the thousands of residents and visitors of Fort Worth recently.

Mr. Massey, known throughout this section as "Uncle Bash," operates the TM Bar Ranch in southeast Floyd County for Col. Thos. Montgomery in whose employ he has spent 26 years. He is still active and takes part in the round-ups and routine duties connected with ranch life. Uncle Bash was made honorary vice-president of the Fat Stock Show and Exposition this year.

Womanless Style Show Furnishes Hearty Fun

After borrowing all the feminine attire they could find available in town, the models for the womanless style show did a rather questionable job of "presenting the newest of the season in attire for ladies" but they furnished plenty of pronounced fun for an audience that filled all available seats in the Andrews Ward gymnasium Monday night.

Those who came to be entertained spent a large portion of the evening figuring out the true identity of the models and enjoying the unusually large variety of attempted dainty poses.

Cleverly employing a radio speaker as a mike and using the stage as the broadcasting studios of Station STYLE, Mrs. Robert Some served as announcer and asked her "listeners" to get out their "televisions and hear and see the new style's for spring."

Seasonal attire was presented by the "dainty gals" as they managed somehow to get on the stage and get off again. Some of the models were unusually well "done" and showed evidences of considerable aid from their wives or sweethearts but their wives and sweethearts were not there to coach their movements and that's where the fun originated so far as the style reviewers out in front were concerned.

The entertainment was sponsored by the Wesley Girls' Sunday School Class of the First Methodist Church and was arranged by a committee with Mrs. G. R. May as chairman, Mrs. Geo. Smith, Mrs. Bob Smith, Mrs. Homer McDonald, Mrs. J. G. Wood, and Mrs. Nora Cox. Proceeds of the performance will be sent to Miss Nina Tackett, ward of the class who is in the orphan's home at Waco. Miss Tackett will graduate from the school there this year. The money will be used in buying new clothes for her.

Presented as "Miss Carpenter," Fimis Pendleton modeled afternoon frocks, rendered a piano solo and then played during the presentation of the models.

Other afternoon frocks were shown by O. M. Waston, N. W. Williams, and Lorin Leibfried.

Impersonating "Miss Beasley, the radio star," G. C. Tubbs sang "The Widow Brown," and Roy Holmes as "Helen Willis Moody," the California tennis star, modeled a sport frock and as an aftermath sang a solo.

Dainty sub-debs, so the announcer maintained, were let loose next and they included Joe Dolph Montgomery, Vernon Dorsey, and John Wilson Kimble.

Bathing styles were presented by Jno. Smith and J. R. deCordova. The Lotta Style Quartet included in addition to a well-rendered song. G. C. Tubbs, E. E. Hinson, Jeff Welborn, and Jess Wood.

Glad Spodgrass and Claude Martin in their evening gowns drew hearty applause.

Pajamas were displayed by Audice Norman and Walton Henderson.

Jess Wood, as Miss F. Sharp, gave a piano solo of several varieties and then came house frocks a la W. M. Dorsey and Dr. Geo. Smith.

Grandma Gerty in black and green was figured out to be H. M. McDonald.

Included among the noted celebrities who came for the special program was one alleged to be Nancy Carroll but it was rumored that "she" was none other than A. D. Cummings.

At the conclusion of the revue, all the models gathered and otherwise assembled more or less promiscuously but never-the-less got on the stage again and the curtain dropped to the tune of "Goodnight Ladies."

Mrs. W. H. Sharp and little daughter, Lajuana Jo, are spending this week with Mrs. Sharp's parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. S. Erb at Oilton. Mrs. Sharp is convalescing from a tonsil operation she underwent at the Lubbock sanitarium last Saturday. Mr. Sharp returned home Sunday afternoon.

Milk From Cow With Rabies Not Infected, Says Health Official

Rabies are not transmitted through the milk of a cow suffering from the malady and the disease is contracted only from the saliva, according to information received by Dr. V. Andrews, county health officer, this week in response to letters of inquiry to the Pasture Institute at Austin.

Cows at the home of T. J. Britton, of Pleasant Hill, where a mad cat bit their little daughter Josephine, 7, March 7, were thought to have licked the head of the animal after it was killed.

The letter from Dr. S. W. Bohls at Austin read as follows:

Replying to your letter we beg to advise that saliva is the only mode for the transmission of rabies. We do not think it possible that the cows would be inoculated with rabies by licking the head of the corpse of the mad dog. Milk from cows infected with rabies is perfectly safe for drinking purposes.

Hoping that this answers your questions, we remain very truly

HOARDED MONEY MUST GO BACK INTO CIRCULATION!

It's SAFE
To Come Out
NOW!

IT took no less a power than Uncle Sam to break the vicious circle that was threatening America with serious harm. BUT THAT VICIOUS CIRCLE IS BROKEN AT LAST—IT'S SMASHED! And the whole country is drawing a deep, thankful breath.

When times grew tight we all got frightened—just plain scared! Trade was poor, jobs insecure. And so lots of us just tucked our savings away in an old sock and held on! It was the worst thing we could possibly have done. For buying fell off—banks grew more skittish about credit—jobs became even scarcer. But we kept on tramping around the circle like a blind horse—just tiring ourselves out.

Many fine local efforts were started to put things right. "Buy Now" movements—"Spend Normally" drives. Remember them? Of course they did little good. We thought the ship was sinking. We were going to play safe. We all agreed that the way to end depression was for EVERYONE to release hoarded cash at once—to take out of socks and safe deposit boxes—to invest them sensibly—to spend them for much needed things—TO GIVE WORK TO OUR PEOPLE! But who was to take the lead? That was another story.

So Uncle Sam finally had to take a hand. He agreed first to back the banks. And credit is easier already—for all of us. Best of all, he set a time for that long-awaited simultaneous country-wide spending and investing of hoarded money. THAT TIME IS HERE—IT'S TODAY! From Maine to California, folks are beginning to "loosen up." Common sense tells us, as the sensitive stock market barometer tells us, that the storm has passed. It's safe for your dollars to come out into the sunshine again. IT'S SAFE FOR YOU TO JOIN THE PARADE OF SENSIBLE SPENDERS WHO ARE AT LAST BUYING THE MANY, MANY THINGS THEY-HAVE BEEN NEEDING SO LONG.

BETTER STAPLE PAYS

Floyd County farmers last year profited greatly from their efforts to improve the staple of their cotton crop. From the previous year, when it is said that less than fifty per cent of the cotton was of tenderable length, farmers last year put eighty-five per cent or more of their cotton production into that class. In the kind of market they had to deal with, all down and no up, the 1930 crop simply would have been "out of luck."

Whether we would have it that way or not, Floyd County the past few years, has had to fight the general belief that the crop produced here was inferior. It had a bad name on the markets. And this has cost.

There can be no doubt that cotton raisers have come around to this way of thinking and are going to continue their efforts at improving the staple. Good cotton seed are going to be comparatively low, in fact, compared with the prices of former years, they are going to be half as high about. And so, getting good seed is not going to be so difficult. The continued effort at improving the staple can thus be carried on with less strain.

INVITATION FROM USSR

The Hesperian is in receipt of an invitation from Tiflis, Republic of Georgia, USSR, to have an exhibit of "some copies of all your papers, magazines, yearbooks, almanachs, calendars, etc., as well old, as new ones." The invitation says the "exhibition aims to show the historical development of your press."

The show will be held under the auspices of "Pressa," the all nations press exhibition, we are advised. Which would indicate that some of the Russians are thinking of something other than the "five year plan." Or is that a part of the plan? At any rate, we are interested in that portion of the invitation which points out that "the exponents have no charges."

ANTI-HOARDING CAMPAIGN

Remarkable results are being obtained in many sections of Texas by means of the anti-hoarding campaign, which has had as its purpose putting lazy dollars back to work, after their long sojourn in safe deposit boxes, tin cans, mattresses, sugar bowls, and old sacks. "In this campaign," declared A. P. Barrett, chairman of the campaign in this state, "we are attempting to marshal the fighting spirit of our people, to arouse their interest, to inspire their efforts to take advantage of the unrivalled opportunities, to better our economic conditions in this state."

In those sections where the campaign has been carried on intensively the results have been widespread. Every city has shown an increase in bank clearings and increased bank deposits.

There are hoarded dollars in Floyd County, of course. Some of these are coming out of their hiding places while others still are reluctant to think the storm is over. Many of these dollars will buy twice their value during the next few months, while others still will be hiding, and later regretting their sluggishness.

THE OX CART PLAN

Texas should wake up to the fact that their state government, in some respects at least, is operating on the plan of the good old oxcart days. Democrats will be especially interested in the charge made last week in the press by John F. Grant, republican candidate for governor that our state continues along the oxcart plan, while the national government and several of the states, notably New York, North Carolina, Virginia, Wisconsin, Pennsylvania have reorganized on a modern basis and have saved the taxpayers tremendous amounts of money.

Says this republican in specific charges: "We have a treasurer, comptroller and auditor, none of whom know what the other is doing. We have great departments spending many millions of dollars annually with no audit of their expenditures made. We have duplicating educational services and costs. We have idle prisoners for whom we must buy food and clothing, where other states succeed in having their prisoners produce food and clothing not only for themselves, but for inmates of the state asylums and eleemosynary institutions."

Democrats, who are interested in maintaining the democratic party as the dominant one in Texas' state affairs, should take these charges seriously, and not allow their candidates to go to Austin unchallenged on the vital matter of getting an efficient administration of affairs of the state. Too long have we permitted our representatives (from governor down) to go to Austin on hokum. Whether Mr. Grant is right in his specific charge of incompetence, he is at least right in his claim that "the time has come when common sense and efficiency should be installed at Austin." He maintains that before this can be accomplished there will have to be a radical change in personnel and principle.

If conditions are not what they should be in state government in Texas then democrats are responsible, and democrats can right matters if they will only do so, at the polls.

HALF CENTURY LOW

A marked increase in meat consumption during the year of 1931 over that of 1930 is attributed by the live stock and meat board, a marketing analysis organization of the meat distributors, to the fact that prices during the period have hit the half-century low mark. Consumers have taken advantage of the fact that the market has been a buyers' market. The per capita consumption of purchased meats increased four-tenths of a pound in the year, and it seems probable that the increase is even more pronounced at this time.

The remarkable thing about the situation from the point of view of the producer is the fact that the low prices have not put him completely out of business as yet. Another thought is that signs of recovery might be watched for closely and sometime from this time on might be considered the proper time to "get in" the meat producing business for a probable fair to good profit over a period of years. Extreme highs follow extreme lows and vice versa. The pendulum is certain to swing back the other way, the only question being when that will happen.

STATE TAX REDUCTION

While a reduction in county and city taxes, already amounting to rather huge sums, have been extremely valuable in helping the people keep their homes and maintain their businesses, the state tax bill has not been cut in the way it should be cut, it appears to this newspaper. For instance, Commissioners' Courts all over Texas will see to it that valuations for state taxes come down by the simple expedient of reducing valuations. But in the year of 1929-30 the total spent by the state for all purposes was over $113,000,000 and of this huge amount of money only about $25,000,000 was collected in ad valorem taxes. This statement is made on what is believed to be good authority, and means that $88,000,000 was collected and spent in that year out of the people's cost of living.

If a cut of only ten percent were made in the cost of the state government, it would be almost enough to eliminate the ad valorem altogether, except for school purposes, and everybody believes that at least ten per cent saving could be effected at Austin without any change whatever in the form of government, or re-organization of bureaus, commissions or things like that.

FLOYD COUNTY 14 YEARS AGO

News items taken from files of the Floyd County Hesperian published in Floydada fourteen years ago.

Cables for the ornamental street lights to be set at the center of the intersections on the four corners of the square and used as well for turning posts, are being laid this week in advance of the paving work.

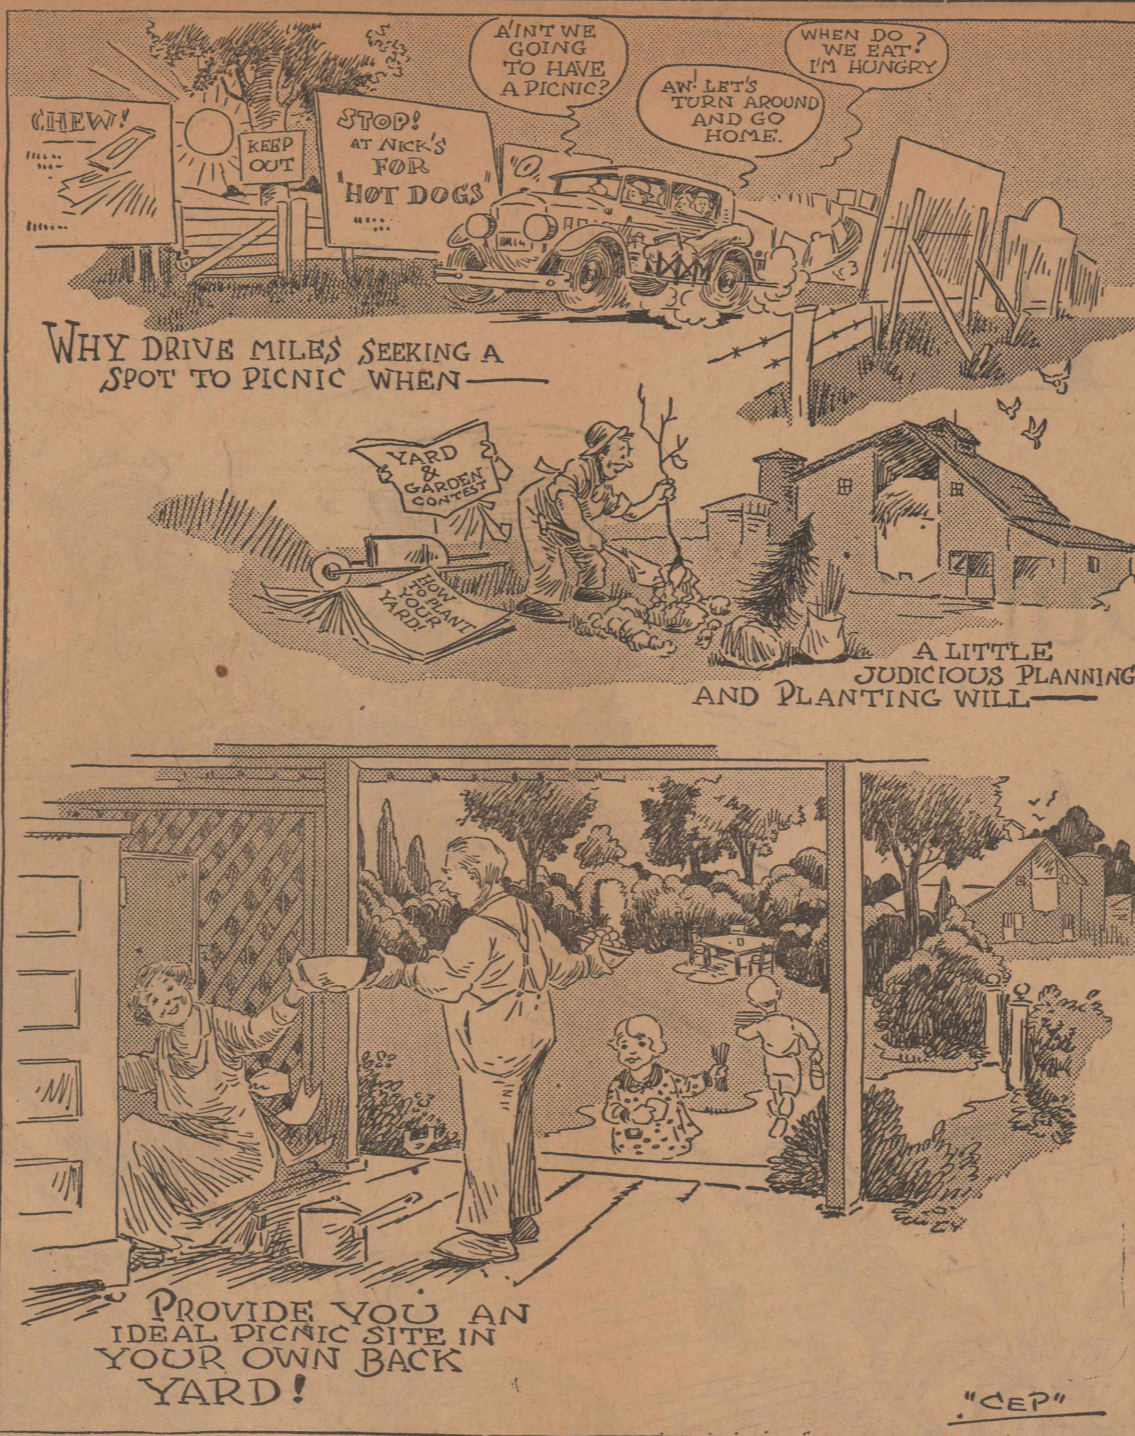

Grading and rolling for street paving has been under way the past ten days. Brick for the work has been on hand for a number of months.

The three Montgomery buildings on the south side of the square are nearing completion, most of the plastering and other inside work having been done.

Mrs. T. C. Russell left Tuesday morning for markets where she will spend sometime in the ready-to-wear department of the wholesale houses.

F. T. Emert and son unearthed the jaw bone of a mastodon on the cap rock east of Floydada last week, and Mr. Emert was showing the pre-historic relic at Brown Bros. Grocery Monday.

Just Another Tip On How To Live At Home

won't be such a terrible long time until we'll be reading about "shop early for Christmas."

Gee whillikens! and here I am still struggling on the bills for the stuff bought last Christmas. Oh me, oh my.

Sunday is Easter and all the gals can come out official in their new spring bonnets and dresses, but if the weather feels as chilly as it did Monday, the alleged first day of Spring, furs will be more appropriate.

If you missed the High School Follies you missed a real treat. The students in every play of the series did good work and they gave the folks some real entertainment.

Gotta get out and see if I can get things to humming, so I'll be seeing you next week again.

Contemporary Thought

LEAVE HIM ALONE

Randall County News: Speaker Garner is doing a fine job of keeping silent regarding the many questions being put at the various candidates for president. The Speaker is absolutely right in his attitude, and to run around yapping his sentiments to please all the inquisitive people would immediately destroy his usefulness as speaker. There is not one chance in ten thousand of Garner being the nominee through an active campaign. His only chance is to be selected as a compromise. He is not, therefore, a candidate, but has a tremendous responsibility in promoting the legislative program fostered by his party. If the Democratic party fails in its legislative program through the leadership of John Garner, then it has no grounds on which to ask the nation for return to power in November, either through Mr. Garner or anyone else. Leave Mr. Garner alone. He has his hands full.

BETTER AND LESS COTTON

Ft. Worth Star-Telegram: Co-operation of the Texas Certified Cotton Seed Breeders' Association with the Government's agricultural credit agencies has provided the ground work for a return to quality production of cotton in Texas the incentive for which is supplied by the present condition of oversupply of the cheaper grades of the cheaper grades of the staple. The carry over of cotton is now virtually equal to a whole year's production even at such high yields as recent crops have established. Most of this carry-over is of poorer grades. This suggests at once the advisability of growing less inferior cotton, and that of growing more high grade cotton, since the market for the latter is less affected by overproduction.

It should be apparent to every grower that ordinary cotton next year will bring no profit. Under pressure cotton growers have made extensive economies in operation to be sure. It is probable that last year's great crop was produced at less cost to the farmer than any previous crop. But economies can't solve the problem of 6 cent cotton. The difference in price between high grade staple and low will most likely make the difference between profit and loss next fall.

The co-operation of the agencies mentioned makes it possible for every cotton farmer to obtain the pure bred seed required for producing high grade cotton. At one time Texas produced cotton of average grade equal to that produced anywhere in the South. But the extraordinary demand led many farmers to grow an increasingly shorter staple. The market for that inferior production has now been virtually destroyed. Texas should get back on the cotton "gold standard."

OVERDOING A GOOD THING

Chillicothe Valley News: A good many state legislative officers seem to look on the gasoline tax as a godsend when it comes to raising revenue for any and all purposes.

The decline in revenue from other kinds of taxes has intensified this trend. Now it is advocated that gas taxes be used for unemployment relief, poor relief, general state purposes, and so on. All of these purposes are no doubt laudable, and some are necessary—but it is difficult to understand why the bill should be passed on to the motorist.

A reasonable gas tax—with stress on the word "reasonable"—all of whose receipts are used for road work, is sound and it is accepted as essential by the majority of motorists. But when the gas tax goes beyond certain levels, or when the revenue derived is applied in other directions, it becomes class taxation of the most onerous kind. Taxes of five and six and seven cents a gallon are becoming alarmingly prevalent.

The upshot of the matter will probably be a "motorist" revolt. The public must make itself felt, in no uncertain way, if it is to keep the marauding hands of the gas-taxers out of its pocketbook.

HOW TO PUNISH KIDNAPPERS

Lubbock County Herald: The Lindbergh kidnaping case leads to much discussion of the proper penalties for those guilty of such crimes. Immediately one hears demand for a death penalty. However, the wisdom of so severe a penalty as an absolute punishment is to be doubted.

No question exists about the justification of the death penalty. Instead, the only doubt is whether such a certain fate would protect the person kidnaped.

Naturally the safe return of a stolen child to its parents is more important than the severity of the punishment promised to convicted kidnapers. With the idea of protecting the one taken it is suggested that kidnaping be punished by a long term of years, or even life imprisonment, except where injury or death has been inflicted upon the person taken away, in which case the death penalty would be provided.

Such a penalty would have a tendency to provide some protection to children or adults made captives for ransom. If kidnapers know that death is their fate, regardless of how they treat their prisoner, the helpless victim of their crime is apt to be slaughtered whenever necessary to make good the escape of the abductors.

GEORGE WASHINGTON'S TRAVELS

ONE OF THE MOST UNFORTUNATE INCIDENTS OF THE REVOLUTION WAS THAT OF BENEDICT ARNOLD, HERO OF SARATOGA AND QUEBEC. AFTER BEING WOUNDED AT SARATOGA, HE WAS GIVEN THE COMMAND AT PHILADELPHIA, WHERE HE MADE THE ACQUAINTANCE OF PEOPLE HOSTILE TO THE AMERICAN CAUSE. WASHINGTON LATER PLACED ARNOLD IN COMMAND AT WEST POINT ON THE HUDSON, AND THERE IN AN EVIL HOUR, ARNOLD PLANNED TO TURN THIS IMPORTANT STRONGHOLD OVER TO THE BRITISH.

By James W. Brooks

JOHN ANDRE

HOWEVER JOHN ANDRE WITH WHOM ARNOLD WAS DEALING WAS CAUGHT WITH NOTES BUT ARNOLD ESCAPED TO THE BRITISH. ANDRE WAS HUNG AND DIED LIKE A SOLDIER. ARNOLD'S TOY WIFE NO DOUBT HAD SOME INFLUENCE ON HIM. HE LIVED A MISERABLE LIFE IN ENGLAND LOOKED DOWN UPON BY ALL. WHEN FOUND DEAD HE WAS HALF CLOTHED IN HIS OLD CONTINENTAL UNIFORM.

Chas. Cross Is Owner Of Queer Animal—Ferret?
 Chas. Cross, who resides 12 miles west of Floydada, brought an animal to The Hesperian office Saturday afternoon that had all the resemblance in the world to an elongated German hound in miniature with his running gears so far on the rear that they almost missed out entirely.
 Eyes and ears like a rat, a stubby tail and an elongated body that would make a big roll of bologna ashamed of itself, the little animal proved a "stump" for his audience.
 It took Luther Dorrell, who was present to name the "critter" and he gave the queer number a ferret, famous for their rat-catching ability and more or less a rare number in this locality.
 Mr. Ferret or Mr. Weasel, whatever he was, made his visit on the end of a chain strapped around his neck. He was distinctly frightened but did not hesitate to make plenty of fuss when tormented. His voice made a sound similar to that of a badger.
 The animal was 18 inches in length from his nose to the end of his tail. His coating of soft brown fur would have made an ideal trimming for some lady's cloak. He was very much alert and turned his rat-like head quickly. His teeth were similar to those of a cat. His legs were a darker brown and almost black in color. He had sharp claws like those of a prairie dog.
 Mr. Cross caught the ferret in a spring trap in a prairie dog hole near his home. The little animal put up quite a scrap when he was taken from the trap. He was caught by his right forefoot, which was mangled by the jaws of the steel trap.
 "I wanted to catch a prairie dog and show it to my wife. She had never seen one up close so I put the trap in the mouth of a hole and when I went back to look I found this animal in it."
 "I brought it to town to see if somebody could name it. We looked in a dictionary at home and read a description of an animal that corresponded to this one and we decided that it was a weasel," Mr. Cross said.
 The Ferret, or weasel, or whatcha-callit, is fond of raw meat and drinks sweetmilk and water.
 "We have been kept busy setting traps for cotton tail rabbits to feed to the animal ever since we caught it," Mr. Cross laughingly commented.
 Mr. Cross took the animal back home Saturday.
MOTOR EXHAUST FUMES OVERCOME FIVE IN CAR ENROUTE TO FLOYDADA
 Five of the seven in a party of Floyd County people returning home from a trip to North Texas, were overcome by fumes from the exhaust of the car they were riding in Tuesday morning of this week and spent a couple of hours in a Bowie Hospital recovering from the effects of the sickness resulting.
 They were the three children of Rev. and Mrs. F. O. Garner, Mrs. Garner and Mrs. F. O. Conner, of Lakeview. Rev. Garner and Mrs. R. S. McNeill the other two members of the group, did not feel the ill effects of the poison.
 As the car approached Bowie, one of the little girls became very sick.

When the car was stopped and the doors of the car opened to give attention and fresh air to her the other two little girls also became unconscious and Mrs. Garner and Mrs. Conner were unable to stand up.
 "I took the whole bunch to the hospital and we had two doctors and three nurses busy for several minutes," Mr. Garner said. In about two hours the ill effects of the poison had disappeared and the party resumed the journey homeward. "If it had happened forty miles from a town, I don't know what I would have done," Rev. Garner said. "I guess I would have just fainted with the rest of them."
 None of the occupants of the car were after reaching Floydada.

OIL LINE Broken...
 He Drove His Loaded Truck 45 miles with a DRY CRANKCASE
 When Jack Edmondson halted his 2 1/2-ton Chevrolet truck in a Conoco station in Des Moines, New Mexico, the attendant discovered a broken oil line and an empty crankcase!
 But inspection of the motor revealed that no damage had been done!
 When Edmondson returned home, he discovered, from oil spilled on the road, that he had driven about 45 miles after the oil line broke on the "Hidden Quart" of Conoco Germ Processed Oil.
 You may never break your oil line and drive with an empty crankcase. But remember that if you use oils not Germ Processed, which drain away during idle periods, you are running your motor under "dry crankcase" conditions every time you start. Only Germ Processed Oil actually penetrates and combines with metal surfaces. And only Germ Processed Oil gives you the protection of a "Hidden Quart" that stays up in your motor and never drains away.
 The "Hidden Quart" cuts down starting wear, saves gas and gives your motor longer life, with fewer repair bills. It assures safe lubrication at all times.
 Change to Conoco Germ Processed Oil at the sign of Conoco Red Triangle.
 We neither encourage "dry crankcase" experiments nor guarantee success under all conditions. But unsolicited letters from motorists, now in our files, tell of this and hundreds of other runs with empty crankcases but without damage.

Form Of Plains Sport

Over in England they drink tea and take their dogs out for a fox chase but they don't have a thing on West Texans who are having a lot of sport themselves.

Out on the Plains they drink bean juice and take their dogs out for a jackrabbit hunt!

Real "tournament" hunts are being staged at various points over the county, a most successful affair having been held Sunday on the Stringer land in the McCoy community.

Oliver Allen, local dog fancier, had greyhounds in the chase which was attended by about seventy-five people.

"We caught about thirty rabbits all had a big time. It's real sport to see the chase," Mr. Allen said. "The spectators, many of them women, brought their lunches and made a day of it. Two dogs are permitted to run at a time."

The next hunt has been set for the same place Sunday, April 3, beginning at 8 o'clock in the morning, it was stated.

Dogs are expected to be entered from every surrounding town and community.

TEN NEIGHBORING TOWNS VISIBLE FROM PLANE AT 2,500 FEET, SAYS FLYER

While flying at an altitude of 2,500 feet Sunday morning, Floydada and nine other neighboring towns were clearly visible to Herbert "Yam" Sims who made a trip to Lubbock Sunday.

The towns of Floydada, Lockney, Ralls, Crosbyton, Hale Center, Pecosburg, Idalou, Lorenzo, and Lubbock could be seen from the plane, Sims said.

"Yam" flew over to Lubbock Sunday morning and returned early in the afternoon in Lee Wilkinson's plane. He was accompanied by Miss Vela Blessingame.

While at the Lubbock Airport, Sims flew one of their training planes for about an hour.

BRITTON'S HOME IN EARLY APRIL FROM AUSTIN WITH SEVEN-YEAR-OLD DAUGHTER

News that little Josephine Britton, seven-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Tom Britton, of Pleasant Hill, reached Austin in ample time for treatment to prevent rabies and that she is responding normally to the treatment, was received here this week by relatives and friends. She was bitten by a mad cat two weeks ago and her parents left with her immediately for Austin following receipt of advice from County Health Officer V. Andrews from Pasteur Institute that positive evidence of rabies was found in the cat's brain.

The treatment will be completed about April 1 and the family will leave Austin on their journey home, according to present plans, on April 2.

METHODIST CHURCH MEMBERS ATTEND PLAINVIEW SCHOOL

Members of the First Methodist Church of this city have been attending the Sunday School Institute being held this week at Plainview.

Choosing A Profession

To choose the wrong life work is a tragedy; in so doing you rob yourself of time, energy, opportunity and happiness.

You were created with one or more talents, and it is the wish of the creator that these be developed the best. These talents were given to you to be developed by you. Develop them or make some plan for their development.

The first step to take in starting out is to decide exactly what talent you have, and in what kind of work it can be used to the best advantage. So find out early in life just what you are fitted for. Fit your job and you'll get good pay. There are outward signs that reveal your inward talents. To read these signs is like turning a searchlight on yourself, revealing your true powers. This is easy to do, if you know how. One way is by testing yourself on your high school course or in your daily duties.

Just what does the future hold for you if you do not fit yourself to a profession? The answer is very little, modern society has become professionalized. It is essential for you to follow some profession before you can be content and enjoy life properly. Much of the present unrest and unemployment is due to the fact that many people failed to follow a profession. Thus they have made themselves victims of an "idle profession." Do you wish to follow a profession of idleness? If not, you should start early on some worth while profession, one that fits, one that will pay profits, and one that will make you happy.

Is your high school course getting you anywhere? Nature meant for you to succeed, but you will not if you do not fit yourself for a profession or job. Heed this vital problem now and begin early.

"Success in life depends on how you use what you have."

Home Economics Teachers Attend District Meet

Mrs. Stovall and Mrs. Stephens attended the District Home Economics meeting Saturday at Plainview. Home Economics teachers from all over the district were present. A lovely luncheon was served to those present after the program had been given.

Tennis Boys Singles and Doubles Win First Place

Mr. Stephens accompanied by his wife and Mr. and Mrs. Richard Stovall took the boys tennis teams to Plainview Saturday for a match game.

Marion Heald and Truett Smalley played doubles, winning first place, the score was 6-4; 6-1. Sam Rutledge, playing singles, won first place from Plainview singles score being 6-0; 2-6; and 6-3. We are proud of these teams and are sure of a good showing from them in the county meet.

Debate News

The girl debaters, Wanda Teeple and Lola Mae Grundy, debated the Roaring Springs debaters Thursday March 16. Both teams gave good arguments but it was only practice and there were no judges.

Thursday, March 24 the girl debaters from Roaring Springs are to debate the Floydada girls at Roaring Springs and the boys team from Matador will try their luck with our boy debaters, Virgil Crawford, and Harold Bishop. These debates are to be judged.

Friday, March 25, Floydada High School's debating teams are to debate Wayland College, Plainview.

The Bright Spot of F. H. S.

The B. S. of F. H. S. met Friday March 18. The president, Maxine Fry, called the meeting to order. The minutes of the last meeting were read by secretary Edelle King.

The following program was given by members of the class: Alfalfa Bills drive for the white house—Maxine Fry.

Debate: Resolved that Bismarck did more for his country than Napoleon did for his. Affirmative speakers Florence Goodjohn and Gilbert Nichols; Negative speakers Effie Mae Shelton and Earl Hanks. Sam Rutledge, LeRoy Green and Selma Lider acted as judges. The negative side won.

History Club

The 2nd Period History Club met Friday, March 18. The following program was given: Each one in the class gave a current event. A debate "Resolved that Woodrow Wilson was the greatest president" was decided in favor of the negative by the judges. The program was enjoyed very much by everyone. The club then adjourned.

The next meeting will be held Friday, April 2.

Chapel News

The chapel exercises were held in the auditorium at activity. Mr. Williams led in song service accompanied by Selma Lider at the piano. Songs were sung.

The program was very interesting as Mr. Davis, principal of R. C. A. brought some story tellers and declaimers to entertain us. The following girls gave declamations: Elizabeth Hollingsworth, Mildred Clonts, Marie O'Brien, Mary Francis McRoberts, Dorothy Dell Stovall. The following boys gave declamations: Greer McCleskey, Paul Marshall, Buster Davidson, and Billie Stanforth.

Billie Joe Welch then announced the Follies. The Freshman and Sophomore, Junior and Senior were then introduced.

Chapel Monday, March 21. Students of the first grade in East Ward were the guests of Floydada High School. The following told stories which were enjoyed by all the pupils: Georgia Cothorn, Margie Davidson, Mary Francis Rinehart, Herschel Hinson, Mary Francis Jones, Genelle Patten.

After they finished Mr. Cummings announced that the Declaration tryouts were put off until Tuesday afternoon on account of the play to be given by the American Legion at the Palace Theatre Tuesday night.

Senior Play Wins In Follies; Will Enter In League Contests

For the fourth successive time during their high school career, the Senior class received first place in the popular vote contest conducted following the close of the High School Follies Friday night of last week. A play produced by the class won when they were freshmen, sophomores, and juniors.

The winning play received 135 votes, the Juniors coming second with 75 votes, the Sophomores and Freshmen tying for third place with 70 votes each.

Proceeds from the two nights of one-act plays netted $75 for Senior project fund, according to an announcement from Principal A. D. Cummings.

Mrs. Lon Smith and Odus Stephen directed the Senior play. Mrs. Stephen and J. M. Teague directed the Junior production. Miss Dennis the Sophomore play and Mrs. Joe Breed and Miss Sude Miller, the Freshman performance.

Superb work by a well-chosen cast brought the Senior Class the unanimous vote of three judges to place their play, "The Singapore Spider," in the Interscholastic League competition at Plainview this year.

Unusually fine was the dramatic performance turned in by Billie Joe Welch, as Jim Meggs, the drunkard. His make-up was good and his interpretation of the character was far above the average usually seen in any amateur performance.

He was ably supported in the tense drama by Lurlyne Clonts, Pauline Rogers, Bruce McLaughlin, and Marion Heald. The dramatic suspense periods were almost perfectly done and the players had members of audience literally hanging on the edge of their seats, indicative of unusually capable directing.

Details of stage settings were well taken into consideration and with a few minor defects in make-up and diction, the play was excellent and an appreciative audience gave approval of the unusually good performances.

The Senior play was the concluding production of a series of four plays, the Freshmen and Sophomores having given one-act numbers Thursday night and the Juniors preceding the Seniors Friday night.

Only a matter of a few points separated the Sophomore play and that of the Seniors, the judges reported. The Sophomore play, a comedy of the very opposite type of that given by the winners, was given high praise by all who saw it. Tom Edd Rogers and Hugh Ayres were fine and the audience liked their work. Edelle King and L. V. Assiter, the other two members of the cast, contributed in no small way in making the play one of the outstanding productions of the Follies.

Both the Junior and Freshman plays were good but they did not prove as popular as did the other two. Members of the Junior cast included Mary Anne Kimble, Adele McRoberts, Eva Glynn Mooney, Lattane Hale, Opal McNeil, Florine Jetter, Waldo Houghton, Floyd Murry, and Malcolm Bridges.

Members of the Freshman cast were Bert Ione Smith, Virginia Stovall, Nella Frances Faulk, Ruth Troutman, Vernon Dorsey, Melvin Blessingame, I. A. Smith, and John Kimble.

Attendance was fair on both nights, the auditorium being about three-fourths filled. Special music was furnished both nights by the High School Orchestra.

Leroy appeared in a police station and said: Oh, in regard to the watch which I reported was stolen yesterday, I have since found that it is not lost at all.

You are too late, replied the sergeant, the thief has been arrested.

Maxine (driving in car) Look! I wonder why that dog is tagging along after us.

Harold (also in car) Perfectly natural. It's a police dog.

Lurlyne: But dad, don't you believe that two can live as cheaply as one?

Dad: Yeah, your mother and I are living as cheaply as you.

Blanche: Is he a dreamer?

Genell: Is he? He eats cheese and pickles every night.

You want a job, don't you Rastus. Ah certainly do, boss.

Well, how about this offer from the Peacock Laundry?

That's fine, boss, but I ain't never washed a peacock.

Pauline: My ideal man must be calm, stocial, precise and primarily a man of actions, not bothered by trivial emotions.

Malcolm: You don't want a man you want a robot.

Mozelle: Do you guarantee these night gowns?

Young clerk: Yes, you can't wear them out.

If you see a boy waiting in front of the postoffice, he's a sophomore. He's waiting for some freshman to come along and push the revolving door for him.

Louise: I'm going to quit school. Lola Maye: If you do, you will have wasted three years. Louise: If I don't I'll waste four.

Andrews Ward News

Worth Shipley wrote the winning essay and will represent the school in the county meet. Her essay entitled "If Men Did the House Work" was given a grade of 95, and Augusta Faye Osburn will be alternate, her essay being graded 90.

Following is the winning essay: "If Men Did the House Work."

Mother had been sick all week and father and I had been trying to keep house. However I wasn't much help as I had to attend school daily.

One day at noon as I entered the house I thought I smelled smoke, and I was afraid the house was on fire. But when I reached the kitchen I found daddy with the kitchen full of smoke. He had put on some beans to cook, and he had sat down for awhile to enjoy the paper. The beans had scorched and the room was full of smoke.

We only laughed about this. But later it really got serious. One day daddy had turned on the hydrant in the kitchen. It so happened that one of his old friends was passing by. Upon seeing him father rushed out, leaving the water going full force. Daddy invited his friend in. After they had talked over old times the visitor said that he had to leave as he was going by ship to California. This brought back father's memory. He suddenly remembered about leaving the water on. When he reached the kitchen the floor was covered in water.

Finally after mopping up the floor we had to do some more mopping. But this was on the dishes. Father had left the dishes every day for the past week, until finally we didn't have a dish to eat out of, and there was a stack as high as a tower.

If there was anything father hated to do it was churning. However mother said that he must churn, because we were getting more milk than we could take care of. Now we had quite a laugh over daddy churning. Instead of churning butter milk he churned sweet milk. He also used the ice cream freezer instead of a churn.

By this time father was really mad. That afternoon I saw a girl cleaning the house. I went into mother's room and asked her who the girl was and why she had hired her. Mother told me that father decided he couldn't keep the house, so he hired a girl.

Father said that night "Town is the only place for a man." Mother laughed and told him that she believed he would have a nervous breakdown if he had to keep house regularly. And for once he agreed.

Church Leader

This is Miss Mary Louise Spinks of Fort Worth, who was elected president of the Texas division of the World Fellowship of Christian churches, at the third annual meeting held recently in Wichita Falls. Miss Spinks is a senior at Texas Christian university.

The meeting in progress at the First Christian Church since last week, will continue through this week and Sunday, closing with the services Sunday night. Rev. Claude Wingo, pastor of the church, is preaching for the series of services, being held at the church on West Missouri Street.

At the 11 o'clock hour Sunday morning the service will be the culmination of the week of self-denial practiced by members of the church. At this service the offering for foreign missions will be taken.

All regular services will be held at the church Sunday morning, with bible school at 9:45, preaching at 11, and the young people's meeting early in the evening.

An afternoon feature for the kiddies of the church will be an Easter Egg hunt on Blanco Canyon, promised them by the Sunday School.

FIRST CHRISTIAN CHURCH MEETING IS CONTINUED

Miss Dorothy Pullen, who has been in the Lubbock Sanitarium following serious illness from an attack of ptomaine poisoning, underwent an operation Friday morning of last week and her condition is reported improving.

Miss Pullen has been making her home in Lubbock. She is a daughter of Mrs. F. M. Kennedy of Providence community, who has been at her bedside.

A letter from Mrs. Kennedy stated that her daughter would be in the sanitarium for a week or more.
