Farmers Put Thousands of Acres Row Crop Seed In Ground This Week

Portions Of County Get More Moisture

Cool Weather Good For Wheat But Row Crops Come Through Ground Slowly.

With several sections of the county reporting best rains of the year Thursday night of last week and all sections enjoying a good planting season, row crop planting has been going forward this week at a fast clip, although cool weather has kept the ground from warming up and slow germination is expected.

But what has been bad for the row crops has been good for the wheat, and the small grain crop continues to develop normally with indications of fair yield.

Rains last Thursday night, range in estimate from a quarter of an inch around Dougherty, Lakeview, and other points in the south part of the county, to two inches in the area immediately north of Floydada.

At Henry Martin's place six miles southwest about an inch of rain fell; at H. W. Belden's place north of Center about one inch; at Lee Trice's place two miles west 1.25 inches. W. C. Cates reported five-eighths of an inch at his place in Blanco, and estimated about three-eighths at the Ham Smith place.

At Sand Hill a half inch or more fell and the south part of the Callahan lands had considerable fall. Little or no rain fell on the north part of the Stringer holdings in west Floyd County. Roaring Springs had three-quarters of an inch and Matador one-third of an inch of rainfall.

Tahoka, Pastor, Prominent West Texas Churchman, Brother Of Floydada Residents

Funeral services for Rev. O. J. Hull, pastor of the First Baptist Church at Tahoka, whose sudden death from a heart ailment occurred late Friday afternoon of last week, were held in Tahoka Sunday morning and in Snyder Sunday afternoon in order to give a host of friends in that area an opportunity to pay last tribute to him. Interment was made in the Snyder Cemetery late Sunday afternoon with Masonic rites.

Rev. Hull was found dead in his automobile about a mile and a half north of Tahoka at 5 o'clock Friday. The automobile had rolled off the highway and stopped against a fence post, undamaged, and Rev. Hull's body was slumped at the steering wheel when he was found. He suffered from a heart ailment and death was attributed to heart trouble. He had started from Tahoka, it was stated, to a school near where a daughter was teaching. With her he had planned to make a trip to Abilene where another daughter was in school, to return the following day for Mother's Day at the family home.

Rev. Hull was a brother of Mrs. J. D. McBrien and of A. T. Hull of this city. He is also survived by two sons, Truett and Bryan, of Amarillo. The two daughters are Misses Clarice and Doris. The latter is a student at Simmons University. Other surviving relatives include his wife, his father, Rev. I. D. Hull of Snyder, and three other brothers and three other sisters, resident in various cities of West Texas.

A. T. Hull and Mr. and Mrs. McBrien of this city left immediately for Tahoka, after learning of the death of their brother. They attended the service at Tahoka held in the Baptist Church, where Rev. M. C. Bishop of Post, preached the funeral, assisted by several other pastors from that and neighboring associations. Rev. Ed Cole, of Lamesa, made the funeral oration at the service held in Snyder, where a large number of fellow ministerial workers also joined in the last rites for the deceased.

DO NOT WORRY

Eat three square meals a day, say your prayers, be courteous to your creditors, keep your digestion good, exercise, go slow and go easy, maybe there are some other things that make you happy, but, my friend, these I reckon will give you a good lift. A. Lincoln.

GOOD NAME HARD WON

Somebody wrote recently that a good credit rating is won by many acts over a number of years, while a bad name is gained by only one act.

It suggests the thought that right now is a trying time for a good many people, some of whom can do very little about their obligations and many of whom can do nothing, except that anyone can be courteous to his creditors and meet his fair weather promises squarely in parlous times. The temptation is to do the little thing. If you owe more than you can pay, square yourself from every angle by the golden rule, giving yourself no benefits from any doubts. The golden rule is about the only one left that has stood the test. It is made for bad times as well as for good.

GARNER STOCK GOES UP

Stock of John N. Garner as a presidential possibility has gone up a lot in the last week. His position has been changed from that of a favorite son, as he has been dubbed by those who would minimize his chances, to that of a full-blown candidate who must be reckoned with. Not that he is active in any sense, as a candidate, but that in him are recognized some very desirable qualities which are needed in a man who is to serve the next four years as president.

THE PLEDGE UNNECESSARY

The Hesperian is not impressed with the need or desirability of the pledge as prescribed for democratic primary conventions, county conventions or, for that matter, on the part of a state like Texas where, to have any say as to the affairs of the county and precinct a person must enter the

A NEW DISEASE

What is referred to as a "new disease" by health publicists, is "sittitis" which is gradually attacking the average American. It is caused from sitting around too much and taking no exercise. The disease is neither constitutional nor parasitic, but it is a menace from which the average American should shake himself free.

People sit at the radio, in the theatre, in the automobile, we are reminded, and the very ones who need exercise most sit at games and cheer those who need it least. Having become a nation of spectators, adult America is dying between the neck and the waistline from disease that come from within, and attack the four vital organs, the heart, the lungs, the kidneys and liver. The term for the disease is "sittitis."

DAIRY PRODUCTION UP?

Is dairy production going up all over the United States? The Department of Agriculture says that the number of dairy cattle is increasing, the corollary of which would be that the production is also increasing.

While it is true that if one good producing cow takes the place of three scrubs in production, if the three are disposed of that are poor producers and their places are taken by three that are heavy producers the production figures are going to go up on the farm where this takes place. If it takes place all over the country the figures for the whole country will go up.

Overproduction of butterfat, if there is such, is much more to be desired than overproduction of wheat or cotton, in other words a lesser evil by odds. The likelihood is that, under present conditions in the industrial centers, it is not so much a matter of overproduction as one of under-consumption and inability to pay the higher prices that we need to have prevail.

Clipped Paragraphs

In Texas we have 254 counties, many of which are not self-supporting. The agitator to consolidate some of these counties is gaining ground.

The futility of recent diplomatic notes rather refutes the idea that the pen is mightier than the sword.

Few traffic jams are caused by people rushing to buy things they have heard advertised over the radio.

Hanging Pictures Under Difficulties

The Round-up By The Cowhand Scribe

Ye olde springtime urge to go fishing is among me. I saw three cars yesterday with poles stretched across the fenders and it made me long for a chance to drown some minners and worms.

Perhaps it is a little too early for the real summer vacation travel to start but it is a very noticeable fact that the highways are more or less vacant when it comes to big herds of motorists like we used to see rushing somewhere or other.

Just isn't much travel on the highways these days and no wonder with the price of gasoline so high.

But while we're staying at home and kicking our legs and waving our arms out of joint over these sky scraper charges for the precious fluid it might be soothing to stop and consider a suggestion made by a man on the other side of the proposition, so to speak.

He's just an ordinary human, too, like all of us, but he's got some real logic for us that should tend to quiet our nerves.

"The oil business has been shot to ... for the past year and a financial report of most of the major companies looks like a compilation of the national debt," he said.

"But a higher scale of retail prices put into effect along with better prices on crude have been bringing about a rapid change. More men have been put to work and some needed things for the kiddies have been purchased."

There's a real story in just two paragraphs. Study them. And while the price setters are out getting things done I herewith and now demand that they set a few items for some other folks that I know are worthy and deserving.

They can set the price on oil and make us like it why can't they raise the prices on farm products and make the big boys like it?

Everybody hollers "restore the buying power of the farmer and your troubles are over." Yeah, that's what I thought, too, but I hadn't noticed anybody up the line laid up from over-exertion doing things about it.

Politie-ing

(An editorial by Jay A. Routh)

Candidates galore!

In the office, on the streets, over the fields, in the homes, at all public occasions—everywhere one goes, he comes into contact with these fellows. They are of all sorts—a dozen for each office—each enumerating his various qualifications. Some are appealing to us for our votes because they are penniless. Some claim to be wise, and to know a cure for all of our present ills; being otherwise, they appeal to the ignorant. In fact, there are so many, and with so many different qualifications, and so shrewd are their claims, that we hardly know for whom to take our stand.

When we think of politics we think of candidates, and not the part which we ourselves should play. It is a commonly accepted idea that politics have become rotten, and that there are no true statesmen in this age as there proved to be in the age of our forefathers.

We believe that our parties need "to clean their slates." Some writer has said, "All political parties die at last of swallowing their own lies." There now appear to be many corrupt practices in our parties, but one reason for so many is that the candidates have done all the 'politicking' We, the citizens, have failed to do our parts. What this editorial would appeal for is an awakening of the voters. Study the issues, and know how you stand on them, as well as how the candidate stands. Then study your candidates to know them. Know their preparedness, know their attitudes, and know their characters.

We believe that the times and circumstances have much to do with producing great men and statesmen. Would Lincoln have been noted for his ability and administration had it not come at the critical time it did? Would Washington be remembered—could he be cherished as the beloved founder of our nation, but for his timely birth? Was it not the critical condition of world affairs which displayed Wilson's genius? Just as these men were ushered forward at the critical time in the nation's history, so we feel that this is a critical time in local and national affairs; that now is a time conducive to genius; that now is the time when sensible men should be given control of our administrative affairs.

Luxury and ease have never been conducive to liberty, but we feel that the times are now such that we deserve true democracy in both our local and national affairs, under just and capable leadership.

Set some higher prices on the basic farm products—produce, wheat, and cotton and make the world like it.

It's not impossible and when the powers that be get tired of their game, if they ever do, mebbe the army of unemployed can go back to work and we can all be happy once more.

I get so doggone hot under the collar I nearly pop when I think about farm prices I nearly melt and I'm gonna change the subject before I explode.

A friend of mine handed me a dissertation on "cotton" that comes mighty near the truth and I'm giving it to you without any additional worry on the subject.

Cotton Cotton is the overcoat of a seed that is planted and grown in the Southern states to keep the producer broke and the buyer crazy. The fibre varies in color and was doing. "She's helping father," he snapped. "Well, what's your poppa doing," I continued the enquiry. "Poppa is helping mother," was his next remark. And in response to my query on her occupation, he concluded with, "Mommer is helping me." And there you are.

Gotta idee, gotta idee. Gotta go and have it put on record before I forget it. Whoa, Adolphus. Giddap, gallowop, gallowop, gallowop—so long until next week.

Contemporary Thought

POSTPONEMENT REGRETTABLE

Turkey Enterprise: It is about time for the people of Turkey to realize that community co-operation costs nothing!

The tendency to postpone all efforts for civic improvement until "times are better" is regrettable. It will do much to hurt the admirable spirit of progress that has been visible in so many ways during recent years.

There are any number of activities, which would greatly add to the adding much to its financial burden. The systematic beautification of gardens and yards, the careful improvement of buildings and a general clean-up campaign will cost little enough and yet, will add much to appearances.

THE PAYROLL 'RACKET'

Amarillo News: Revelation that senators and representatives of the United States, with few exceptions, are padding their official payrolls with their wives, sweethearts, and relatives at the expense of the taxpayers has aroused a storm of protest all over the nation. It means that the political sun of many a favorite son will set beneath the clouds of the voters' disapproval.

Former Congressman U. S. Stone of Oklahoma, in an interview, states that he was ostracized by his colleagues, while in Washington, because he introduced a bill to stop the practice of nepotism in the national law-making body. He called it "the payroll racket." Mr. Stone also said that congressional franking privileges cost the people in excess of 18 million dollars annually, and free telegraph privileges from $3,000 to $20,000 a day.

It is past the hour when the spotlight of publicity is due to be focused on the abuses that have mushroomed overnight in the national capitol.

POPULAR TOWN NAMES

Wellington Leader: If someone were to ask you what is the popular name for towns in the United States, what would you guess? Unless you had checked up the names in the United States Postal Guide, it is safe to say that you would not hit upon the right name in a dozen guesses.

Of course, Washington would suggest itself, also Springfield, possibly Paris. But neither of them is the leader, although Washington stands in the second rank.

The most popular town name in the United States is Clinton, of which there are 30 having post-offices.

Next comes Chester, Florence, and Washington with 28 towns of each name; then Clayton, Madison, Marion and Troy, 27; Glenwood, Kingsport, Newport, and Salem, 26; Ashland and Centerville, 25.

There are 24 Clevelands and the same number of Springfields, several of them being important cities. Other names range from this number downward. There is only one New York, but two Chicagos, 6 Philadelphias and 8 Detroits.

The outstanding popularity of the name Clinton is somewhat difficult to understand, although two statesmen of that name were prominent in the early days of the republic.

George Clinton was the first Governor of the state of New York and was vice-president of the United States at the time of his death in 1812. His nephew, DeWitt Clinton was also governor of New York and an unsuccessful candidate for the presidency being defeated by Madison.

Whether it be through the fame of statesmen or the euphony of the name itself, Clinton is the favorite name for towns in the United States.

Poet's Corner

DON'T QUIT

When things go wrong, as they sometimes will, When the road you're trudging seems all up-hill,

When funds are low and the debts are high, And you want to smile but you have to sigh,

When care is pressing you down a bit, Rest if you must, but don't you quit; Life is queer with its twists and turns,

As everyone of us sometimes learns, And many a failure turns about, When he might have won had he stuck it out,

Don't give up, though the pace seems slow— You may succeed with another blow. Often the goal is nearer than It seems to a faint and faltering man.

Often the struggler has given up, When he might have captured the victor's cup, And he leaned too late, when the night slipped down,

How close he was to the golden crown. Success is failure turned inside out The silver tint of the clouds of doubt,

And you can never tell how close you are, It may be near when it seems far. So stick to the fight when you're hardest hit— It's when things seem worst you mustn't quit.

GEORGE WASHINGTON'S TRAVELS

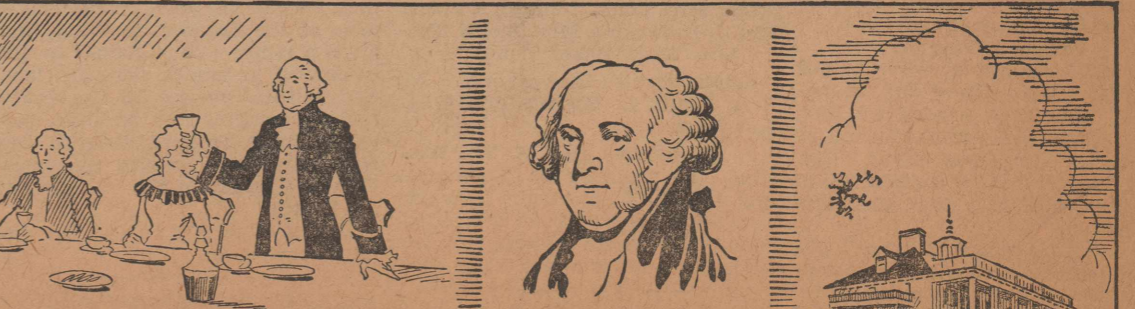

By James W. Brooks

Historically Correct Sketches By CALVIN FADER

WASHINGTON'S PRESIDENTIAL HOME IN PHILADELPHIA WAS THE ROBERT MORRIS HOUSE ON HIGH STREET. THE CAPITAL HAD BEEN CHANGED FROM NEW YORK TO THAT CITY. WASHINGTON WAS INAUGURATED FOR HIS SECOND TERM IN INDEPENDENCE HALL. HIS RESPONSIBILITIES AS PRESIDENT REQUIRED THE SAME CALM JUDGEMENT HE DEMONSTRATED IN WAR. WHEN CITIZEN GENET OF FRANCE CAME TO THIS COUNTRY IN BEHALF OF THE FRENCH REPUBLIC, THE PRESIDENT DID NOT THINK IT WISE TO RECEIVE HIM, BUT WAS INDUCED TO DO SO. GENET SUCCEEDED IN AROUSING THE AMERICAN PEOPLE AND IN PHILADELPHIA A MOB THREATENED TO OVERTURN THE GOVERNMENT. DURING ALL THIS EX-CITEMENT WASHINGTON MAINTAINED THE QUIET AND DIGNITY OF HIS OFFICE.

WHEN SUGGESTED FOR A THIRD TERM AS PRESIDENT WASHINGTON FIRMLY REFUSED TO BE CONSIDERED. HIS 'FAREWELL ADDRESS' TO THE NATION IS REMARKABLE FOR ITS SAGACITY. IN A LAST OFFICIAL DINNER, OFFERING A TOAST TO THE HAPPINESS OF THE PEOPLE, HE SAID: 'I COULD SCARCELY CONCEAL THEIR EMOTION. THE PRESIDENT WAS TO BE JOHN ADAMS OF MASSACHUSETTS. A REST, MOUNT VERNON AND THE SATISFACTION DONE.

Dougherty News

(By Mrs. W. D. Newell)

Dougherty and the surrounding communities received another rain last Thursday night. One-fourth inch fell here but was reported some heavier northwest. The rain was accompanied by a severe display of electricity, but fell slow which was of great benefit to the gardens and small feed as well as the wheat.

The busy season seems to have started for the farmers since the rains as everywhere you can hear the hum of tractors. Weeds are coming fast and farmers are trying to get ahead of them.

A community meeting is being planned by citizens of the town at which time the civic needs of the town will be discussed with a general good time "get-together" of the citizens.

A FEW OF THE CHEF'S SECRETS WITH STEAK

The housewife often wishes she could penetrate the secrets of the chef when she encounters a steak or a chop which has a subtle flavor that defies detection. Some of the chef's secrets are too deep to be penetrated by the layman and some are too complicated to be worked out satisfactorily, but others are adapted to home use. The National Live Stock and Meat Board gives these recipes for preparing beef steaks. They have been collected here and there, and the homemaker may enjoy using them now and then to impart that "different" flavor.

Broiled Steak with Marrow Cubes
Broil steak as usual. Plunge beef marrow cubes into boiling water for 1 minute and drain. Fry fresh mushrooms and serve with marrow cubes around the steak.

Steak with Cheese
Just as a broiled steak is ready to remove from the broiler spread with thin slices of American cheese and slip back under the flame to melt the cheese.

Anchovy Butter with Steak
Spread steak with anchovy butter and broil. The anchovy butter is made by removing the bones from 6 small anchovies and rubbing them to a paste; then creaming with 4 tablespoons butter, 2 tablespoons lemon juice and a dash of cayenne.

CHEMISTS TESTING WEEDS FOR NEW INSECT POWDERS

Two weeds, one a native and one a Russian plant which may develop into a profitable crop for some areas of this country, are regarded by chemists as possible sources of insect poisons which may in time take the place of some of the pyrethrum flowers of which we now import about 10,000,000 pounds a year.

The native weed is Cracca viginiana, commonly called the devil's-shoestring. This plant grows wild in Texas and elsewhere, and has been observed to be practically as poisonous, to some insects, as derris and pyrethrum. Federal and State chemists and entomologists are studying the plant and are trying to devise methods for extracting its poisonous content in usable forms.

The scientific name of the Russian weed is Anabasis aphylla. Chemists of the United States Department of Agriculture have confirmed the presence in it of two very effective insect poisons, neonicotine and methyl neonicotine, the former being the "anabasine" reported by the Russian investigators. The department is undertaking the introduction of this plant as a possible source of supply for insecticides which would help to make this country independent of foreign growers.

HYMN OF THE CROSS

It has been aptly said that this song contends with "Jesus Lover of My Soul," for being the most popular hymn in the English language: Rock of ages, cleft for me; Let me hide myself in thee; Let the water and the blood; From thy wounded side which flowed; Be of sin the double cure. Save from wrath and make me pure.

The authorship of "Rock of Ages" is accredited to August Toplady. It first appeared in the Gospel Magazine for March, 1776, of which Toplady was then editor. As late as 1832, in the Wesleyan Magazine, Richard Watson (erroneously, it is said) attributed the authorship to Charles Wesley.

Toplady was the son of an officer in the British Army. He was born at Farnham, Surrey, England, in 1740. He was converted in 1756 through the preaching of an unlettered layman, whom Toplady found discoursing in a "barn" in which he took refuge in a rainstorm. This was at Coddyman, in Ireland, whither the mother (now a widow) and her son had gone to look after her claims to an estate there. He soon after entered Trinity College, Dublin, as a student for the ministry. In 1758, through the influence of Dr. Manton's sermons on the seventeenth chapter of John, he became a confirmed and extreme Calvinist in his theology. This later brought him into conflict with Mr. Wesley and the Methodists. He received orders in the Church of England in 1762, and filled various pastoral charges. While at Broad Hembury, he composed most of his hymns. His work attracted the attention of Lady Huntingdon, in whose chapels he often preached. In 1776 he moved to London, where he preached, in delicate and declining health, until his death in 1788, in his thirty-eighth year of age.

Toplady died only two years after writing his "Rock of Ages." Gladstone thought enough of this hymn to translate it into both Latin and Greek.

The late Prince Consort, Albert the Good, quoted this hymn just before his death in Windsor Castle. But in cottage no less than castle has it given comfort in trouble, in life, in death.—News.

It was an arduous task for the teacher to drum into her youthful pupils the principles of arithmetic.

"Now listen," she said, "in order to subtract, things have to be in the same denomination. This is what I mean: Now, you couldn't take three apples from four peaches, nor eight marbles from four buttons. It must be three apples from four apples, and so on. Do you understand?"

The majority seemed to grasp the idea. One perky little youngster in the rear, however, raised a timid hand.

"Please, ma'am," he inquired "couldn't you take three quarts of milk from two cows?"—Ingot Iron Shop News.

The play "Lookin' Lovely" given at the Pleasant Hill school house Friday night was one worthy of commendation from more than one view point. It was a good play with a good lesson and well staged. Considering the youth of the characters and the difficulties encountered in practicing it it was well presented.

Last but not least it spoke highly of the co-directors Mrs. Henry Horton and Miss Carrie Dixon. Judging from the number of nice compliments heard it was one of the best if not the best put on by Lakeview folks this school year.

Mrs. Ross had charge of our chapel exercises Monday morning. It consisted chiefly of a health program, which was well presented by the little folks. The following program was rendered: Song, student body; piano solo "Always Ready" and "Tinkling Stars," Mary Lois Conway; Health parody on Little Boy Blue, J. R. Conway; Story, Vera Faye Batten; reading, Nadine Raley; "Substitute for Sambo," J. R. Conway; Health drill, second grade.

The visitors were Mrs. John Conway, Mrs. Kiker and Mrs. Kent. We are always glad to have them and extend an invitation to others.

The tenth grade enjoyed a class picnic at Silver Falls last Saturday. They spread their lunch and the remainder of the day was spent skating. Those enjoying the day were Ethel Warren, Nita Merle Sparks, Angelen Patterson, Alta Lloyd, Orville Newberry, Earl Sparks Lloyd, Leonard Alexander, G. W. Smith, Herman Nelson, Dean Nelson, Mr. and Mrs. R. C. Smith, Mr. and Mrs. Nelson, Mr. and Mrs. Cass and son and Foye Smith.

Last Saturday afternoon Miss Dixon entertained her pupils with a theatre party. Those attending were Ruby Harrison, Lena Mae Nelson, Dorothy Hodge, Florrie Conway, Muriilo Gilbreath, Iris Marie Roy, Marie Smith, Mary Lois Conway, Ona Ruth Wright, J. W. McCravy, S. L. West, James Roy, Douglas and Truman Dunn and the hostess.

PLAN TO HOLD TRADES DAY HERE EVERY MONTH

Following a vote by the crowd attending the second Monday Trades Day this week, the event will be continued each month, it was announced by J. W. McDonald, auctioneer and director.

"We had about seventy-five present at the sale and the idea seems to be appreciated by the people," Mr. McDonald stated.

"Many people who had planned to come were busy in the fields planting following the recent rains and the attendance was lighter than it might have been under different circumstances," he pointed out.

W. C. Grigsby visited in Plainview Tuesday with his sister, Mrs. R. E. Hill, who has been seriously ill at her home there for the past several weeks.

C. D. Gibbs and G. V. McCaskell spent the week-end in Fort Worth.

Mrs. Cella Ross visited in Lubbock Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Nelson, Alma Ruth and Lena Mae attended the Mother's day program at Cedar Hill.

THREE NEW RURAL TEACHERS END YEAR'S

Mrs. Chas. L. Robbins will next year at Antelope, according to County Superintendent Price.

Mr. and Mrs. Mason will teach Harmony, making a total of added to the teaching staff list week.

Other schools having vacancies have not reported their teaching staffs for the year.

Reports are yet to be received from Fairmount, Lone Star, Crest, and Roseland.

Rural schools closing next week include Hillcrest and Sand Hill. Exercises will be held Friday of next week, it was stated.

FROZEN PEACHES

Comparison of a number of varieties of peaches grown in the Pacific Northwest and quick-frozen in small containers indicates that the Elberta, Slappey, and Crawford are all reasonably well adapted for frozen pack, and that the J. H. Hale and Gold Medal seem to be particularly well suited for this purpose.

Horticulturists of the United States Department of Agriculture, who conducted the tests, report that Carman and Rochester were deficient in color, texture, and flavor.

Qualities of the raw material are a fairly firm texture, a tolerance of ice formation without decided tissue changes, relative freedom from darkening due to oxidation, an attractive color in the product, and a pleasing characteristic flavor.

Dick O'Brien, Pastor
I am happy to report that I am to be away for only one other service. I am sure I have been missed very little, but it seems to me that I have been away a long time. I was never quite so homesick. We have had, and are having a wonderful meeting at Plainview. Great crowds and many conversions and additions to the church. I am enjoying the fellowship of the folks here very much, but am exceedingly anxious to get home.
I am happy to announce the coming of Ray H. Knoohulzen, to supply the pulpit next Sunday morning. He will also speak to the Bible class at the Palace theatre. Mr. Knoohulzen was recently selected to give the principal address at the Amarillo annual Chamber of Commerce banquet. There were several hundred guests at this banquet. All of his addresses are characterized by deep spirituality. You will hear him with pleasure and profit.
I expect to be at home for the Baccalaureate service Sunday night, for prayer-meeting the following Wednesday night and all services the following Sunday.

THERE IS NOTHING LIKE GOOD PIE FOR DESSERT

"What for dessert tonight? Pie? That's great!" says the man of the family.
Pie has been a part of the meal for so long, it seems that it was always there. But it wasn't.
Its source is interesting. Pie wasn't invented all of a sudden but, like Topsy, it just grew.
We find the word "pie" mentioned all through the scriptures from the Middle Ages down; but it almost always meant some meat pie, like the chicken or veal pie of today. The nearest approach to our pie in the early days was some sort of tart.
As a matter of fact, the first pies were probably mince, which in those days contained a large proportion of meat. As late as 1730, the only pies mentioned in cook books were meat pies. They did include a few recipes for mince pies, but these were the only ones approaching the modern meaning of the word. There were no fruit or custard pies what ever.

Starting with mince pie, however, the cooks seem gradually to have included other materials between the crusts, and in the second half of the eighteenth century we begin to find recipes for apple, cherry and other fruit pies, which show that the grand era of pies had begun.

BRAINERD IS PROMISING NEW BLACKBERRY VARIETY

The Brainerd, a new blackberry developed by the United States Department of Agriculture, gives promise of becoming an important commercial variety. It is the result of a cross of the Himalaya and an eastern erect-growing variety, thought to be the Georgia Mammoth. It has been tried successfully in Oregon, Washington, California, North Carolina, and Maryland.
The advantages of the Brainerd over other varieties are its extreme vigor, its productivity, hardness, large size, high dessert quality, and the fact that it is suitable for canning and frozen-pack preserving. Its weaknesses are its large prickles which are similar to those of the Himalaya, a peculiar condition of its leaves at certain seasons in which parts of the leaf are lighter in color, the fact that it lacks quality fully ripe and that it is slightly susceptible to orange-rust disease in the East and to the double-blossom disease in the Southeastern States.
The Brainerd has berries 30 to 60 per cent larger than the Himalaya and its seeds are smaller. The variety was named for Ezra Brainerd, former president of Middlebury College of Vermont.
The United States Department of Agriculture has no plants of the Brainerd blackberry for distribution, but they may be bought from cooperating nurseries in North Carolina, Ohio, and California.

FEEDS FOR BEEF CATTLE

Roughages and other home-grown feeds play an important part in the economical production of fat beef cattle. Many cattlemen find that it pays to grind or roll such grains as wheat, barley, and grain sorghums which are too small and hard to be thoroughly chewed. Coarse grinding is better than fine grinding for feeding purposes, says A. T. Semple, of the United States Department of Agriculture. Grinding or chopping roughage is not advisable unless the cattle will consume more roughage and make such profitable use of it as to pay for the cost of grinding.

QUEER WEATHER

On still, cold nights when the temperature is exceptionally calm temper may vary by as much as 10 degrees within short distances. In extreme cases the distance may be as far as 300 feet, though it is usually a mile or more. A killing frost damage vegetation on the ground on low land when a thermometer stationed high above it shows a temperature well above freezing. The United States Weather Bureau has found that the ideal place to record temperature is 5 or 6 feet above the ground.

Facing Depression

It is no new experience for a farmer to be without employment. Such a condition has always been temporary. It will be temporary. Surely the country will back to work, back to production and consumption.—Calvin Coolidge in the American Magazine.

Should Husbands And Wives Be Real Fifty-Fifty Partners?

Women's rights it seems, were not settled when political equal suffrage was adopted. Equal rights for women is still the most important question in American home life today, according to a questionnaire conducted among 6000 women by the editorial staff of the Country Home.

Fifty-one percent of all the women who answered the questionnaire selected this as the "gravest and most important question" of a long series submitted for their selection. Most of them narrowed their interest down to money matters—the right of a wife as a partner to share fifty-fifty in the family income.

The arguments brought to bear on the subject were many and varied. A Kansas answer carried the following endorsement: "When I was thirty, I would have stuck up for the old idea that man is the natural head of the family. But now, at sixty-two, I am convinced that an actual partnership with the wife would be the salvation of many homes that otherwise will be wretched or wrecked. Experience has demonstrated that, under our present system of equality in education and opportunity, woman is not only man's equal mentally but often his superior in business acumen; and she is entitled to full participation in everything pertaining to the welfare of the home."

An Indiana woman wrote: "I have traveled the whole road. This very question almost broke my heart. I let my husband get hold of all the money I got from my parents. He spent it all for his farm and his good. I have no modern conveniences, with an electric line right in front of our farm home. I have no water in the house. I draw cistern water. I had seven children for him and had to raise chickens to clothe myself and the children. And what good was it all? There are no pockets in a shroud."

Mr. and Mrs. R. C. Fuller and baby, of Farmersville, came Saturday to spend Mother's Day visiting with his mother and father Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Fuller and other relatives. They returned home Tuesday.

Mr. and Mrs. Claude Martin had as their guests over the week end Mr. and Mrs. D. C. Pollard and son of Lubbock. Mrs. Pollard and Mrs. Martin are sisters.

Lesson Comments

In Isaac's declining years at Beersheba, many of which were spent in blindness, a few but important things are recorded of him. One of the significant things revealed is the division in the home with reference to Esau and Jacob, the father favoring Esau, and the mother, Jacob, who through the scheming of himself and mother received his brother's birthright and the blessing from Isaac.

As we have mentioned, Rebekah, impatient for her best loved son to become the tribal leader, was pushing things along to that end in her own way.

Jacob, having obtained the birthright, Rebekah conceived a plan by which he might also obtain his father's first blessing, which by right belonged to Esau.

Isaac was 137 years of age at this time, and his sight was poor. It was an easy matter to deceive the unsuspecting old man. Jacob was not altogether in favor of it, but if his adoring mother said so, it must be done, and it was. (Read Genesis 27.)

When Esau found that Jacob had cheated him out of his father's blessing, he was naturally very angry. He made up his mind to slay Jacob and be rid of him. But Rebekah, the plotter, told Isaac that she wished Jacob to go to her brother in Haran and take a wife from her own people, for the heathen wives whom Esau had married were breaking her heart. Isaac, remembering how Abraham had sent back home for a wife for him, readily agreed to let Jacob go, and Rebekah made haste to get him out of the way of Esau.

One may only imagine how her heart ached at giving up her loved son. He had never been away from her, and now to send him out alone, walking weary miles to her brother to trust but not know, that all would be well there, that Laban would take her son and shelter him from harm, must have caused Rebekah bitter tears. She did not know it then, but Rebekah was never to see Jacob again; never to hear his voice or well-known step; never to have him with her in her tent—so early she began to reap that which she had sown.

Jacob had no high-powered car to take him to his uncle's home in a few short hours; he must toil slowly, walking every step of the way alone. Out on the road night overtook the wanderer and there was no place to sleep but on the ground and no pillow but a stone. But Jacob lay down and slept, and as he slept he dreamed, seeing a ladder reaching from earth to heaven, and on the ladder angels ascending and descending; and at the top of the ladder there was God!

One may run away from brother, but there is no way to get away from God. Jacob had sinned; he knew it and God knew it; no wonder we read that he was afraid and thought the place dreadful. But God had made a promise to Abraham and to Isaac; and despite the fact that Jacob had allowed his mother to lead him into sin, God was going to keep his promise, and he so informed Jacob. He did not care so tenderly for Jacob because he found him worthy; he cared for him because he was weak and helpless and his promise had been made. That is why he cares for us: he has given his word; and though we so often sin, and fail, and sin, he keeps his word.

On waking, Jacob erected a pillar of stones at that place and called it Bethel, which means house of God.

COMFORT
... THROUGH CASTORIA'S GENTLE REGULATION

The best way to prevent colic, doctors say, is to avoid gas in stomach and bowels by keeping the entire intestinal tract open, free from waste. But remember this: a tiny baby's tender little organs cannot stand harsh treatment. They must be gently urged. This is just the time Castoria can help most. Castoria, you know, is made specially for babies and children. It is a pure vegetable preparation, perfectly harmless. It contains no harsh drugs, no narcotics. For years it has helped mothers through trying times with colicky babies and children suffering with digestive upsets, colds and fever. Keep genuine Castoria on hand, with the name:

Sunday School Lesson

JACOB AT BETHEL

International Sunday School lesson for Sunday, May 15. Jacob at Bethel.

Golden text.—I am with thee, and will keep thee in all places whither thou goest. Genesis 28:15.

The lesson text is chapters 27, 28 of Genesis. Here printed are verses 10 to 17 inclusive of Genesis 28.

10 And Jacob went out from Beersheba, and went toward Haran.

11 And he lighted upon a certain place, and tarried there all night, because the sun was set; and he took of the stones of that place, and put them for his pillows, and lay down in that place to sleep.

12 And he dreamed, and behold a ladder set up on the earth, and the top of it reached to heaven: and behold the angels of God ascending and descending on it.

13 And, behold, the Lord stood above it, and said, I am the Lord God of Abraham thy father, and the God of Isaac: the land whereon thou liest, to thee will I give it, and to thy seed;

14 And thy seed shall be as the dust of the earth, and thou shalt spread abroad to the west, and to the east and to the north, and to the south: and in thee and in thy seed shall all the families of the earth be blessed.

15 And, behold, I am with thee, and will keep thee in all places whither thou goest, and will bring thee again into this land; for I will not leave thee, until I have done that which I have spoken to thee

16 And Jacob awoke out of his sleep, and he said, Surely the Lord is in this place; and I knew it not.

17 And he was afraid, and said, How dreadful is this place; this is none other but the house of God,

Preach Sermon For Silvertown Graduates

Smith was notified last week of the desire of the class that he should preach on the class' commencement program.

THE WINNING ESSAY OR GRAMMAR GRADERS ATTEN BY LOUISE CONDRA

The essay written by Louise Condaughter of Mr. and Mrs. Louis Ra of this city, made a high grade when judges passed on papers presented in the Bicentennial contest sponsored by the Sons of the American Revolution. Her use of spelled words were also deemed perfect.

The essay for which the author receives a medal, is given here:

Declaration of Independence

The Mexican government tried to force the people of the United States to settle Texas. They promised that they would have the same kind of government that they enjoyed in the United States. They promised to protect the lives, property and property of the people. Mexico failed in every way to fulfill its promise. Instead of protecting the lives, and liberty of the people, Santa Anna turned the government into a despotism.

The lives of the people were not protected. The Declaration says: "as, through its emissaries, in the merciless savage, with the hawk and scalping knife, to scour the inhabitants of our defenseless frontiers. For instance by Indians were in western Texas Mexico sent men to the Indians to get them to attack the people on the frontier.

Liberty was not given to the people. The Declaration of Independence says: "It is incarcerated in a prison, for a long time, one of our aims, for no other cause but a vain endeavor to procure the acceptance of our constitution and establish a state government." The men referred to was Stephen F. Austin, who took a petition to the government to ask them to separate as from Coahuila. They put him in a dungeon February 13, 1834. For he was placed in a larger one.

Another injustice to liberty is established thus: "It failed to establish a system of public education although possessed of almost boundless resources (the public domain) although it is an axiom in political science, that unless a people is educated and enlightened it is impossible to expect the continuance of liberty, or the capacity for self-government." So we see that when the people of the United States came to settle Texas they were denied a public system of education, a thing so necessary in the life of liberty loving people; but Mexico failed to keep her promise.

Another clause that shows infringement on our liberty reads: "It has demanded the surrender of a number of our citizens and ordered military detachments to seize and carry them into the interior for trial, in contempt of the civil authorities and in defiance of the laws and the constitution." For example in 1831 Captain Bradburn was working for the Mexican government. He arrested several colonists and put them in prison. Among these was Travis. Bradburn would not release them for many days.

Undenably the following clause shows a deprivation of an inalienable right: "It denies us the right of worshipping the Almighty according to the dictates of our own conscience; by the support of a national religion calculated to promote the temporal interests of its human functionaries rather than the glory of the true and living God." All of the Mexicans were Catholics. This was their national religion. They made the Texans go to their church to worship.

The property of the Texans was not protected as is stated in the following: "It has made piratical attacks upon our commerce, by commissioning foreign desperadoes and authorizing them to seize our vessels and convey the property of our citizens to far distant parts for confiscation." The Mexican government hired foreign desperadoes to capture our ships and take them to far off ports.

Another instance where their property was not protected is related in the following clause: "It has demanded us to deliver up our arms, which are essential to our defense, the rightful property of freemen, and formidable only to tyrannical governments." This clause, no doubt, refers to the time when in 1830, General Cos was ordered to disarm the people.

As a last measure, not content of depriving the Texans of life, liberty and property as they had done, Mexico waged war against us. The Declaration of Independence therefore has inserted in it this clause: "It has invaded our country by sea and by land, with intent to lay waste our territory and drive us from our homes, and has now a large mercenary army advancing to carry on against us a war of extermination." The first battle occurred at Velasco on June 27, 1832.

After having stated clearly and convincingly all of the injustices heaped upon the people, the Declaration in a concluding paragraph declares "eternal political separation." It finally commits the issue to the nations and to the "Supreme Arbitrator of the destinies of nations."

TO THE VOTERS OF PRECINCT NO. 1

After due consideration, I have decided to make the race for commissioner. I want to ask your earnest consideration of my candidacy. I stand for a sensible administration of the county's affairs; including tax reduction and economy in the county's business.

I have lived on the plains 24 years; thirteen years in Floyd County. It is my intention to see each voter in the precinct. I will certainly appreciate your vote and influence, and will do my best to make you a good commissioner, if I am elected.

Only the NEW NuGRAPE Has Their Delicious Flavor

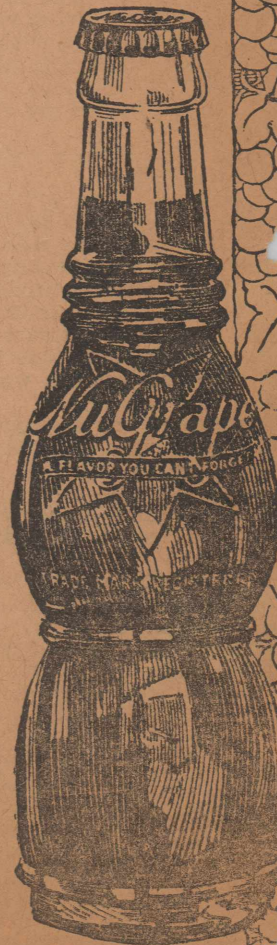

You'll admit there is a goodness in the flavor of grapes—and that's why the New NuGrape is different from all artificial flavors—different as gold and brass.

In a certain valley, made rich and productive by reason of the moisture, in season, from surrounding hills—a famous brand of grapes is raised. The vineyards are renowned for the rich, wine-like flavor of the great purple clusters of fruit. And it has been our obligation to YOU, to transport that natural delicacy of flavor—to your home—to places where soft drinks are sold.

The New NuGrape — made exclusively with Welch's Grape Juice — costs no more than any artificial grape substitute. It's now on sale everywhere for 5¢.

THEY SAY:

That the man from Arkansas is wondering where the fire goes when it goes out.
That frequently a woman chooses a husband not so much because of his worth as because of his worthlessness.
That it is only natural when a man reaches his second childhood he should want to marry a young woman.
That it is risky to let your thinking on a vacation as it might never come back.
That it doesn't require much for a young man to propose to a young lady when she is ready, and anxious for him to do so.
That it is always father who pays the noise of a loud wedding.
That it is better to look cheap in a suit than to look rich in a rags.
That we will never consider the man who is prosperous until we are prosperous ourselves.
That the best plan for a man to make a good wife is to be a good husband himself.
That a superiority complex means you are stuck on yourself.
That when husband and wife learn self-control and practice it they will have no trouble controlling each other.
That living in an apartment is a poor substitute for real living.
That we can't understand why it is always the wrong number when telephone rings at midnight.
That when you help a friend out at a tight place he will appreciate it, but he won't appreciate your owing he needed the help.
That a liar and a thief are twin companions.
That Boston is known for boots, shoes and booze.
That when Mr. Bell lost his voice once became a dumb bell.
That the average young man in the world makes his living by writing.
That the man from Arkansas thinks that if he was president of Mexico the shorter they made the term of office the better it would suit him.
That there is no way of controlling that which ought to be abolished.—Exchange.

Local Baptist Pastor Gets Call From Colorado City

Rev. P. D. O'Brien, pastor of the First Baptist Church of Floydada for the past three years, will give an answer to the call of the First Baptist Church at Colorado City, after the close Sunday of a meeting he is preaching for in Plainview.

The call was a unanimous one made at a stated meeting of the church Wednesday night of last week. Colorado City is given 4,500 in the last census and the church has a membership of 900.

Mr. O'Brien has had a number of calls to pastorate in west Texas during the past two years, but has never, so far as known, given serious consideration to a change. The fact that he is delaying definite decision at this time indicates he is giving the call serious thought.

ECONOMICAL DISHES MADE WITH WHOLE GRAIN WHEAT

To show some of the less-known uses for whole grain wheat, the Bureau of Home Economics of the United States Department of Agriculture has recently made several new combinations of palatable and inexpensive dishes. Most people think of wheat in the form of flour from which bread and pastries are made, or as prepared breakfast food. In addition to breakfast porridge, the bureau's food specialists have prepared wholegrain wheat in chowder, in meat loaf, with liver and with tomato and fish, in pilau, muffins, pudding, and cookies.

The whole wheat is first cooked in a pressure cooker, in boiling water, over steam, or in the fireless cooker. For convenience in use and for economy of fuel, since most of these methods require a long time, the wheat may be cooked in rather large quantities and stored in a cold place for several days, or it may be canned and kept for longer periods. The time of cooking and the consistency and appearance of the wheat will depend somewhat upon whether the wheat is hard or soft, as well as on the method of cooking.

To save time and fuel in cooking, the bureau also suggests cracking or crushing the whole wheat in a hand grinder. Some of the feed stores or mills sell cracked wheat, as well as the cleaned whole wheat. Cracked whole wheat is especially good in porridge, in meat loaf made with beef or pork, and in muffins and cookies.

From the standpoint of nutrition, whole-grain wheat is an economical source of energy and is important as a good source of vitamin B. The whole grain contains a moderate amount of protein which must be supplemented by proteins from milk, meat, or eggs. Wheat also contains phosphorus, iron, and other minerals.

PLAINVIEW ROTARY CLUB GIVES PROGRAM WEDNESDAY

The program for the regular Wednesday noon-day luncheon of Floydada Rotary Club was presented by the Plainview Club this week with Rev. W. G. Bailey in charge. Ten Plainview Rotarians journeyed here for the meeting and the most of them remained for golf at Floydada Country Club during the afternoon.

Mr. Bob Myers, of Plainview, was presented in a monologue, "Get Chicked," and responded to a hearty encore. She was followed by Charles Smith, presented as the orator of the Plainview club. Smith wisely-cracked and joked for twenty pleasurable minutes, his subject being announced as "The panhandle," so, he said, as to cover plenty of territory.

In the party from Plainview were E. Q. Perry, Elmer Winn, Frank Day, C. I. Wall, Lester James, Dave Bowman, Grady Shipp, Dr. C. D. Wofford, Charles Smith, Rev. and Mrs. W. G. Bailey, Fred Lowe and Mrs. Myers, F. H. Simpson, with the Reconstruction Finance Corporation, was also a guest at the meeting.

CONCRETE MULCH TRIED ON GOVERNMENT PLOTS

Back-yard gardens ultimately may be paved instead of plowed. The United States Department of Agriculture is now experimenting with permanent mulches of concrete, iron, cinders, zinc, aluminum, and other substances, which cover the surface of the ground, except for a small space where the plants grow.

The experiments, an outgrowth of the successful paper-mulch investigations of recent years, are as yet in their infancy, and the department makes no predictions as to their final value. In the tests beans, peas, strawberries, and various other small fruits have grown as well under the permanent mulch as with ordinary cultivation.

Blocks a few inches thick and 9 and 12 inches wide, cover the ground, with rows 1 1/2 inches wide between them. The permanent mulch conserves moisture and controls weeds. In addition it warms the soil earlier in the season and keeps it warm longer in the fall. Rainfall gets into the ground along the rows between the blocks. The cinder blocks are covered with asphalt to make them black and absorb more heat, and other materials are painted black.

Soil covered with the blocks since 1928 have continued productive. Government scientists believe it possible that no ill-effects will be found, because they know that trees grow successfully under city streets and sidewalks, which constitute a "permanent mulch."

The Japanese, in certain parts of their country, grow strawberries by using field stones and cement blocks on the ground between the plants, but these are on mountain sides and are placed on a slant. The chief purpose is to force the plants for the midwinter market, and the system has been in use for several years.

County Represented At Farm Bureau Meet

San Antonio was awarded the next regional meeting of the Texas Farm Bureau Federation at a session of the directors at the two-day meeting held in Lubbock Thursday and Friday of last week of the convention of 18th District representatives.

Floyd County was represented at the sessions held at the Uptown Dance Palace and attended by 800 farmers and bureau workers from 64 counties.

E. F. Creekmore, general manager of the American Cotton Cooperative Association, of New Orleans, Homer D. Wade, director of public relations for the Texas Cooperative Council, of Dallas, and Ralph Snyder, president of the Kansas Farm Bureau Federation, were among the prominent speakers on the program.

Hidalgo and Lamb counties won the Elwood farms and Robert J. Murray scholarships at Texas Tech on a basis of total mileage attendance.

Jno. L. West, president of the Floyd County Cotton Cooperative Association, Mrs. West, Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Lanier, W. T. Hopper, J. D. Christian, and others were in attendance during the convention from Floyd County.

A resolution was passed asking additional funds for the farm board's activities which was declared "a great service to organized agriculture." The resolutions were sent to Washington.

RABBIT MEAT GOOD SOURCE OF PROTEIN

Recent tests made in the United States Department of Agriculture shows that rabbit meat compares favorably with other meats as a source of protein. The moisture and protein content of rabbit meat are relatively high and the fat content is rather low.

In making the tests, department workers analyzed the flesh of four typical specimens of domestic rabbits, which included representatives of the American White, Chinchilla, and New Zealand breeds. The rabbits varied in age from 10 weeks to 18 months. The meat was stripped from the bones of the carcass and the heart, liver, and kidneys were removed.

The moisture and protein content of the specimens averaged 66 per cent and 20 per cent, respectively, whereas the fat content was rather low, slightly less than 12 per cent. The fuel value per pound was 1,011 calories in one experiment and 716 calories in another, with an average of 855 calories for all determinations. The proportion of dressed weight to live weight was 51 per cent, somewhat less than that of the larger meat animals.

High School Baseball Teams Tied One-All

Floydada and Lockney High School baseball teams with one game each tucked away this week, will play off the tie sometime during the next few days, it was planned late yesterday when the second game was completed.

The teams played Tuesday and Wednesday afternoons at Floydada Baseball Park to good crowds. Apparently well-matched, they are expected to put up a stiff fight for the third and deciding match.

Tuesday afternoon's score was 6 to 2 in favor of F. H. S., but the tables were turned Wednesday afternoon when the Lockney High School lads won 2 to 1.

ANDREWS WARD ENDS SPRING BASEBALL SEASON TUESDAY

Spring baseball, instituted for the first time this year at Andrews Ward School under the direction of Principal O. K. Davis and Coach Dick Stovall, was closed with a game Tuesday with Center won by the locals 9 to 7.

The Andrews Ward team engaged in four contests during the season, winning two and losing two. They defeated Center earlier in the season 9-7, and lost two to Floydada High School, 11-3 and 7-5.

To finance the team, 18 boys at the school brought 10 cents each and this money was used to purchase the balls.

Line-up for the team included the following: Clovis Johnston, catcher; Wilton Holt and Eugene Denison, pitchers; Johnnie Caruthers and Leo Coward, first base; Malcolm Linder, second base; John Henry Chapman, shortstop; J. R. Long and John Eudy, third base; Billy Stanforth, George Quirk, Alton Young, and Benard Borum, outfielders.

'EASY TERMS'

Europeans visiting this country often express astonishment at the American practice of buying homes, automobiles, clothing, house furnishings, etc., on the installment plan. This "astonishment" is a little inconsistent when we consider their methods of repaying U. S. loans. However, this is beside the question. We came across an article the other day concerning an "Easy Terms" Gentleman and his Diary which we believe worth repeating here:

"January 4. Bought an automobile today. Very easy terms. Very fine car, with cigar lighter on dash. Ought to finish payment on this in eighteen months.

"February 4. Paid installments due on car. Bought a radio set on easy terms. Fine set, and payments will be small and monthly.

"March 7. A little late with payment on the car this month, and will have to let the radio payment go over till April, as I bought a set of books and paid $11.00 down. Very fine books. Everybody should have this set of books.

"April 15. Borrowed $50.00 from the boss to meet payment on car. The radio man came to take away the set, but we put out the lights and weren't home. The chump hung around all evening, so I couldn't see to read the books.

"June 1. Borrowed $100 from Uncle George to pay the $50.00 I borrowed from the boss, and also to meet payment on the car. Got behind a little on the book payments, because I bought a piece of land in a new real estate development. This land ought to jump in value. Paid $50.00 down.

"August 15. Somehow I don't miss the radio set much. And you can get plenty of books from the public library. The thing that hurts is that Uncle George should be so mean. Of course I told him I'd pay back the $100 on August 1st; but you can't do the impossible, can you? Trying to arrange a character loan from the bank. If I can borrow $250.00, I can get square again and everything will go fine.

"August 16. Bank says I have no character. What a bunch of crooks! "September 30. The garage man is holding the car for that labor bill. What right have they to hold the car? It doesn't belong to me.

"October 1. It wasn't any use, I had to let the car go. Anyway, I'd rather have that piece of land. They've given me a month's grace on that. Real estate people have more heart, after all.

"November 15. Well, they can have their old land. Good riddance. If I knew where to get $30.00 to meet the payment on the piano, I'd be all right. Bought a new automobile today, on the 'pay out of come' basis.

"November 16. Income stopped. Got the sack at the office. Looking for a job you've got to have a suit of clothes, so I bought this afternoon. Five dollars do—Thrift.
