174 Articles Exhibited At Girls' Achievement Event

Style Revue is Feature of Program Held At Court House Saturday by H. D. Clubs.

Saturday brought an impressive and instructive event for the Girls' Home Demonstration Clubs of Floyd County when they held their annual Clothing Achievement Day under the direction of Miss Martha Faulkner, county home demonstration agent, a total of 174 articles being brought in for credit and display.

The style revue of dresses and pajamas held at 1:30 o'clock at the court house was the outstanding feature. "The girls showed excellent taste in selection of materials and colors," Miss Faulkner said.

There were approximately thirty women and girls present as guests for the show in addition to the participants. The visitors were especially complimentary of the girls in the first year club group. The tiny 10-year-old girls wore the dresses and pajamas they had made themselves and they "did a cute job of it," those present declared. This is the first year that the first year club girls' work has been given in the county.

A total of 158 articles were brought in Saturday and with 16 in the office brought the total entered to 174 articles. In the style show 31 dresses and 16 pajamas were modeled.

Baker and Antelope reported 100 per cent on their articles completed and these two clubs with Starkey had 100 per cent of their membership present.

Remarkable progress has been shown in the local church during Rev. O'Brien's ministry. Since he became pastor, over five hundred people have joined the Floydada church, showing a net gain in the four-year period of some two hundred and fifty.

The Sunday school has grown from an average attendance of 140 to a four-year average of 375 and the B. Y. P. U. has gone from two organizations to twelve. Both Sunday School and Training Service work has been standardized, the Sunday School reaching the standard every year for the four years.

Additional Credit In Vocational Ag. Work Is Granted Floydada

Total Affiliation of High School Is Now 30 Units With State Department.

Credit of one additional unit to Floydada High School in vocational agriculture was granted last week by J. B. Rutland, assistant state supervisor of vocational agriculture, who was here Thursday of last week checking over the work with O. T. Williams, instructor.

The total credit in the work at the high school is now four units, the maximum recognized for any one subject. The total number of affiliated credits with the State Department of Education at Austin for Floydada High School is now 30, according to Superintendent W. E. Patty.

Mr. Williams and the supervisor worked out a plan whereby the boys will get a maximum of four credits in vocational agriculture and one half credit in commercial bookkeeping for the three years' work done in vocational agriculture.

The second and third year work is alternated and the third year work will not be given again until 1933-34.

Mr. Rutland commended very highly a new method of teaching adopted by Mr. Williams in his classes similar to the plan being used at Iowa State. Mr. Rutland took samples of the work done here by Mr. Williams' classes. There were 36 boys enrolled in the work this year at F. H. S.

Mr. Rutland recommended to Mr. Williams that his new method of teaching be continued.

his brethren; and the lad was with the sons of Bilhah, and with the sons of Zilpah, his father's wives; and Joseph brought unto his father their evil report.

3 Now Israel loved Joseph more than all his children, because he was the son of his old age; and he made him a coat of many colours.

4 And when his brethren saw that their father loved him more than all his brethren, they hated him, and could not speak peaceably unto him.

5 And Joseph dreamed a dream, and he told it his brethren; and they hated him yet the more.

6 And he said unto them, Hear, I pray you, this dream which I have dreamed:

7 For, behold, we were binding sheaves in the field, and lo, my sheaf arose, and also stood upright; and, behold, your sheaves stood around about, and made obeisance to my sheaf.

8 And his brethren said to him, Shalt thou indeed reign over us? or shalt thou indeed have dominion over us? And they hated him yet the more for his dreams, and for his words.

9 And he dreamed yet another dream, and told it his brethren, and said, Behold, I have dreamed a dream more; and, behold, the sun and the moon and the eleven stars made obeisance to me.

10 And he told it to his father, and to his brethren; and his father rebuked him, and said unto him, What is this dream that thou hast dreamed? Shall I and thy mother and thy brethren indeed come to bow down ourselves to thee to the earth?

11 And his brethren envied him; but his father observed the saying.

The Lesson Comments

If you will notice carefully you will find that many of the lessons of this quarter point to the fact that envy and jealousy cause untold trouble and sorrow.

At the time of this lesson Jacob was 109 years of age. He had been back in the land of Canaan some years, and Joseph, son of the beloved Rachel, was now 17 years old. Jacob, like his father and mother, had his favorite child. Rachel was his favorite wife, and her son, Joseph, was his favorite son. There were eleven other sons and one daughter. Jacob loved them all, but there was no place in his heart so warm, quite so sacred, as the place held by this splendid boy, Joseph. And truly Joseph was a wonderful character, and even in his youth gave evidence of becoming the fine man he afterward proved to be.

Joseph must have had the best of training. His mother, the gentle Rachel, had prayed for his coming; he was the answer to her prayer, and being her only child (she died at the birth of Benjamin), she had both time and opportunity to lavish all her care upon the boy. His father, not so active as he had been in his younger life, had more time to give to Joseph, and who can estimate the good planted in the heart of Joseph by his blind grandfather, Isaac.

The brothers of Joseph, sons of the three other wives of Jacob, were extremely jealous and envious of the loved Joseph. They, as becoming shepherds, wore coarse clothing, and were exposed to rough weather and many dangers. Joseph wore a coat of many colors, such as was worn by royalty, and was sheltered in the home. This was favoritism on display. Moreover, Jacob had sent Joseph to the fields to bring to him a report of the older boys, and he had at one time brought news of their wrong doing. All of this caused very bitter envy in the shepherd brothers. Socrates said: "Envy is the daughter of pride, the author of murder it wrought in the heart of the brothers of Joseph, who seemed to have trusted his brothers so completely that he had no thought of their bitter feeling toward himself.

Joseph twice had dreams indicating that he was to be superior to his brothers, even that they with his father, should bow down to him and do him reverence. When Joseph told these dreams to his family, his father reproved him and his brothers hated him yet the more. But Jacob did not forget these dreams and their indications; but like Mary, the mother of our Lord, he kept them in his heart and thought over them and could but wonder. Joseph was far down the line of sons and could never hope to be the tribal leader; but what miracle would God exalt Joseph and cause the entire family to be subject to him? William Cowper said:

RESTFUL SLEEP for FRETFUL, FEVERISH CHILD

—With Castoria's regulation

When your child tosses and cries out in his sleep, it means he is not comfortable. Very often the trouble is that poisonous waste matter is not being carried off as it should be. Bowels need help—mild, gentle help—but effective. Just the kind Castoria gives. Castoria is a pure vegetable preparation made specially for children's ailments. It contains no harsh, harmful drugs, no narcotics. Don't let your child's rest—and your own—be interrupted. A prompt dose of Castoria will urge stubborn little bowels to act. Then relaxed comfort and restful sleep! Genuine Castoria always has the name:

We asked the McCarthy's

"What's the best reason for having a telephone?" we inquired.
Said Mr. McCarthy: "You never know when you'll get a business call at home. And during the day, it's a fine thing to know the Missis can call you, if thing's go wrong."
Said Mrs. McCarthy: "Well, I'll admit I enjoy 'visiting' on the telephone. And it does save a world of trips to the grocery, the drug store, the cleaners and the like. What if we should need the doctor, or the police, or the fire department?"

Perhaps you do not have a telephone at home. If not, we really believe you're missing something. If you're interested, call the business office.

East Ward Pupils End Year's Work With Program Friday

Advantages of Closing School Next Year Mentioned in Paper Read by Pupil.

Pupils of East Ward School bid farewell to their teachers and classrooms Friday afternoon of last week following a short program rendered in chapel.

Principal J. H. Myers presided at the assembly of students and patrons of the school. Regrets for the closing of the school for next year were expressed in a paper read by Clorene Young, pupil, and in short talks by D. I. Bolding and Principal Myers.

A feature of the program was the presentation to Mrs. Hazel Hughes a beautiful hand-made quilt given by the pupils of her class. Upon returning to their rooms, Miss Emma Lou McKinney and Miss Vera Hamilton found on their respective desks a lovely friendship quilt with the pupils' names worked into the blocks.

"America" was sung as the opening number of the program, with Mrs. T. W. Whigham at the piano. A piano solo was given by Sapho Ward, a reading by Lucile Turner, a piano solo by Evelyn Withers, a reading by H. B. Sams, Jr., and a song by the First Grade. A paper on "Our School" was read by Miss Young and then certificates to pupils who have been neither absent nor tardy during the entire school year were given out by Principal Myers. Those receiving awards were as follows: Ted Bell, Willie Mae White, W. C. Boren, Evelyn Withers, Eugene Boren, Bobby James Eubank, Wayne Collins, Carmen Moore, Joe Chenoweth, Alton Glenn, Kenneth Joe Burgett, Herschell Hinson, Norma Denson, and Louise Mince.

"We have greatly enjoyed this year's work and we are proud of the fine record these pupils have made," Mr. Myers said at the close of the program.

Following is the paper read by Clorene Young at the closing exercises:

Our School

From every quarter of our fair little city we hear people expressing their regret of the fact that conditions have made it such that our school board has closed the East Ward school for next year. The closing of this school is regrettable for many reasons. One reason is that it is a result of a financial depression that none of us, especially we boys and girls that attend school, can help. The fact that this school has to be closed helps to emphasize some of the bad effects of the depression. We only hope that the bad effects of the depression will not go deeper into our homes and churches. People are, as a rule, content to be deprived of the so-called luxuries of life, but not of those things that underlie our vital institutions, such as the schools, the churches, and the homes.

Another reason why we hate to see this school closed is that it will be an inconvenience to the people of this part of town. During cold and rainy days it will be hard for small children to get to Andrew's Ward school. Many times their parents will have to take time from their work to carry them to school. And, too, if a few more families move to Floydada it will not be long until some of the rooms of that school will be overcrowded and the teachers cannot give the pupils as much individual attention as the pupils should have.

Then another reason why we hate to see this school closed is because it has meant so much to Floydada in the past. For a long time this has been the principal school of this town. Many people of Floydada received all their high school education here and a large number of the people here have attended school here a part of the time. It will be hard to re-open the school again after it has been closed. I am sure the people of this part of the city will be glad when the financial depression is over and the people who have moved away from Floydada will come back and our schools are all running as they once were.

Although we pupils of East Ward are all young, we surely appreciate our teachers for what they have done for us this year. Our school has run smoothly all this year. We have always found our teachers kind to us and ready to help us in any way they could. We have gone all the year with very few students being punished for misconduct. We appreciate what the school board and our parents have done for us. We would not forget to say that we appreciate what Mr. Bolding has done for us. Every day we have had warm, clean rooms to work in. We wish for every one a profitable and happy year next year.

Mr. and Mrs. H. M. McDonald spent Friday of last week in Oton on business. Mrs. W. H. Sharp and daughter, Lajuana Jo, accompanied them and remained over the week end to visit with her parents. Mr. and Mrs. A. S. Erb. Mr. Sharp went out Sunday for them.

Ballard Wilkinson, of Clarendon, spent Sunday visiting friends and relatives here.

Club Woman Has Fresh Peas From Garden May 11

Home grown English peas served fresh from the garden on Wednesday, May 11! And fresh Irish potatoes to go with the meal! That's what Mrs. R. L. Powell, president of Campbell Home Demonstration Club, accomplished this year.

It's simple, she says, and is just a matter of early planting. But early planters in Floyd County have found many a garden "nipped in the bud" by late freezes and the question is asked immediately, "How about the late freeze we had this year? And how did you save the garden?"

Mrs. Powell says that her beans were barely peeping out of the ground when the last hard freeze came this winter and the potatoes were up but she went out the morning after the freeze and soaked the ground good. Just gave it a good irrigating from the ground tank, which is the source of supply. The beans were not hurt and the spuds were only slightly frost bitten but "came right out again."

And perhaps the early garden was not a matter of luck after all but just the application of some good gardening.

Of interest, perhaps, comes first the list of vegetables she has in her garden now. The list looks like an array of catalogue items from a seed house. Here they are: English peas, yellow bell and Newstone tomatoes, spinach, mustard, radishes, beets, cucumbers, okra, beans, cabbage (now heading), turnips, yellow squash, curshaws, onions, potatoes, asparagus, musk melons, cantaloupes, watermelons, two rows white grapes, blackberries, pop corn, sweet corn in a near-by patch, lettuce (some headed from last fall), sweet and hot pepper, black-eye peas, cream peas, and carrots.

And next in interest comes the planting dates for some of the early vegetables. "Just when did you plant the peas and potatoes, Mrs. Powell?" is the question that occurs to the interested gardener.

Here's some of the data: the English peas were planted February 16. The Irish potatoes were put in the ground February 19. Yes, in the dark of the moon. The onion sets were put out February 16 and they are heading now and practically mature.

Mrs. Powell always plants her beans on Good Friday, March 25, this year. All the remainder of her garden was planted the second week in April—and that's how she did it!

PORK GOES 8,000 MILES IN BRITISH DEMAND STUDY

Hogs raised in Montana, slaugh-tered and cured in Wisconsin, shipped to England, and then back to Maryland, a distance of more than 8,000 miles, all in order to study the tastes of the British market for Wiltshire sides, illustrate the thor-oughness with which the United States Department of Agriculture studies foreign demand for Ameri-can farm products.
In a study of the pork buying of the English trade, the department shipped 70 Wiltshire sides to Eng-land in 1930. The sides were from hogs raised on the department's sta-tion at Miles City, Mont. They were cured in Milwaukee, then ship-ped to Liverpool and sold on the market. Later, an English broker selected four of the American Wilt-shire sides, as well as four each from Ireland, Denmark, Poland, and Sweden, and shipped them to Amer-ica.
The Wiltshire sides were taken to the United States Animal Husband-ry Experiment Farm at Beltsville, Md., and subjected to several tests. They were examined for soundness, photographed, measured, cut, and the percentage of each cut com-puted. The meat was then chemi-cally analyzed, the amounts of cur-ing ingredients present in the meat were determined. The meat was roasted in the laboratories of the Bureau of Home Economics and its palatability ascertained by an ex-perienced cooked-meat judging com-mittee.
The study indicated, among oth-er things, that Americans have got types which can produce acceptable Wiltshire sides for the British mar-ket and that satisfactory feeds and feeding methods are available for this purpose. It also indicated that heavy curing probably is not essen-tial to insure the American product reaching the foreign market with-put deterioration.

Glad Snodgrass, gent's furnishings dealer is the probable delegate from Floydada Rotary Club to the International Convention of Ro-tary to be held in Seattle late in June. The necessity for selecting a delegate from the club arose with the impending early departure from Floydada of Rev. P. D. O'Brien, who had been named as the delegate. It is possible that other members may also attend, it was indicated at the meeting of the club Wednesday.
A fifteen-minute valedictory from Rev. P. D. O'Brien to the club was the feature of the days' program. "The Ideal Rotarian" was his sub-ject. The first and only perfect Ro-tarian he said, lived and walked among men nineteen hundred years ago. In every phase of his life this Rotarian put service above self.
Judge M. R. Avery, of Dimmitt, spoke briefly in appreciation of the service clubs of the country, par-ticularly dwelling on the greater understanding which they bring about among men and nations. Ozro Stephens of Dimmitt and P. E. Snyder, of this city, were two oth-er guests.
In the spirit of the approaching Memorial Day, Mrs. Robt. A. Sone, gave two readings, "Soldier's Son," and "In Flanders Field," both ap-preciatively received.

CANDIDATES VISIT HERE

Among the district candidates in Floydada Wednesday were Jess C. Levens and G. E. Lockhart, both of Lubbock, and aspirants for the of-fice of senator for the 30th District.
Judge M. R. Avery, who has been convalescing from an appendicitis operation, is out on the hustings again and spent part of Tuesday here.

LABELS ON SIRUP CANS TELL IMPORTANT FACTS

What should the housewife expect for her money when she goes to the store for a can of sirup to flavor the morning pancakes? If she wants a pure maple sirup or cane sirup, should she unknowingly pay for an imitation? J. W. Sale, of the Federal Food and Drug Administration, thinks she should not, and he answers the question this way:

"There are three main kinds of sirups on the market—the pure sirups, the mixed sirups, and third, the imitation sirups, which are artificially flavored and colored. Imitation honeys are in this latter class.

"The natural pure food law," says Sale, "requires that honey flavor be made from honey, and maple flavor from maple sap, sirup, or sugar. The cheap sirups are wholesome and valuable in their way, but they must be sold for what they are and not as pure sirups.

"The careful buyer may profit by remembering that the terms 'cane sirup' and 'sugarcane sirup' mean the same thing—that is, that the sirup was made from the juice of sugarcane, evaporated down to a sirup consistency.

"A 'cane-sugar sirup,' however, is not a genuine cane sirup. A can labeled 'cane-sugar sirup' contains ordinary refined cane sugar and water, with coloring and flavoring added, if the label indicates the presence of these latter ingredients."

The law goes one step further for the buyer's protection. It holds that descriptive terms, such as "open kettle," "country made," or "homemade" must not be used on labels of sugarcane or maple sirups unless the sirups actually are made in the way the terms indicate.

"Housewives have told us that liquid measure is more explanatory to them than weights in expressing the contents of a can of cyrup," says Sale. "The Food and Drug Administration recently suggested to manufacturers that they express the contents of sirup containers in terms of liquid measure so that the buyer will be sure just how much sirup she is actually getting. While many manufacturers have acted upon this suggestion, there are some who have not."

TUNA FISH VARIETIES VARY IN SALES PRICE

Only the hardest can catch those scrappy fish that go into the making of the tuna salads and sandwiches. The big tuna, called the Yellowfin, runs to 200 pounds of fighting meat. These fish are frequently savage and voracious—fishermen have seen them bite at tin cans, bare hooks, even pieces of cloth.

There are four species of tuna packed in this country, according to Dr. A. C. Hunter, of the Federal Food and Drug Administration. The Albacore, known as the Longfin, brings the best price. Canned Albacore is almost universally labeled and known as "white meat tuna." The Bluefin, known as the leaping tuna, and the Yellowfin have meat slightly darker in appearance than the Albacore and sell at a somewhat lower price. Striped tuna costs least. Ordinarily the meat of Striped tuna has a gamy flavor and is the darkest variety.

Canned tuna may or may not bear on the label the species or variety designation, but if it does the designation must be correct. Doctor Hunter says that much of the "Striped" or "Skipjack" tuna goes into what is known as the "tonno-style" pack. Buyers will occasionally find "tonno-style" pack labeled as "funny fish." Imported tonno, Italian style, is caught in the Mediterranean and canned with oil and brine.

Bonita and Yellowtail are not tuna, but are canned by processes similar to those employed in the canning of the latter. These fish are sometimes labeled with the words "white-meat fish of the Bonita" (or "Yellowtail") as the case may be. Genuine canned tuna will carry the word "tuna" somewhere on the label.

Cans of tuna fish are generally marked to contain 13, 7, and 3 1/2 ounces of fish, respectively. The pure food law requires that cans be reasonably full of fish, with only enough oil and salt added to make a suitably flavored article. The law further requires that quantity-of-contents statements be printed on the label and that these statements be accurate.

MANY HAWKS BENEFICIAL

The saying, "the only good hawk is a dead hawk," has been proven false by modern biological studies. Some hawks, of course, prey at times on poultry and valuable game birds. Many, however, live mainly on rodents, insects, and other destructive forms of wild life.

It is not easy to distinguish between the harmful and harmless species of hawks, that in itself being good reason for erring, if at all, on the side of protection. In general, say biologists of the United States Department of Agriculture, harmless hawks have broad wings and wide, fan-shaped tails, and the harmful ones have relatively long tails and rounded wings. Study of the appearance and habits of the hawks in any section should enable farmers and sportsmen to tell which are likely to visit the chicken yard and which will confine themselves largely to feeding on injurious animals.

Wanton destruction of all hawks because a few members of the family have earned a bad reputation removes a valuable natural check on injurious pests.

EROSION TOLL 21 TIMES THAT OF ANNUAL CROPS

The plant food removed from the fields and pastures of America every year by erosion is at least twenty-one times more than that removed by the crops harvested, says the United States Department of Agriculture.

The plant food taken by crops can be restored in the form of fertilizer, but that taken by erosion can not be restored, because this ruinous process takes the whole body of the soil, plant food and all. Land impoverished strictly by plant food depletion, as sometimes results from continuous growing of the clean-tilled crops, is not worn-out land; the only worn-out land is that which has been so badly washed by erosion that it would be entirely futile to undertake its reclamation.

BLUNT NAILS SPLIT LESS

Blunt-pointed nails cause less splitting in nailing handles than do sharp-pointed ones, the Forest Products Laboratories of the United States Department of Agriculture has found.

The advantage of the blunt nails was pointed out when a manufacturer of implement handles sought to prevent the large amount of splitting which occurred in nailing the handles. After adopting the blunt-pointed nail developed by the laboratory, the splitting of handles was reduced to less than one-half of 1 per cent.

JAMES RIDDLE, 44, KILLS SELF AND ONE OTHER IN AMARILLO SUNDAY MORNING

James Riddle, 44, of Amarillo, killed himself and Mrs. Velma Spain, 18, in Mrs. Spain's room at the Coronado Hotel there Sunday morning within a few minutes after he had left a recreation hall which he had operated for the past six years. No explanation of the murder and suicide was given.

Leaving the recreation hall with an employe, the husband of the slain woman, he went immediately to the hotel, Spain declining to accompany him, however, saying he was going to a dance.

Riddle's body was sent to Chico for burial, where he spent his boyhood days. Several Floydada people, who are former Wise County residents, had known Riddle from childhood. Among these were Drs. G. V. and L. V. Smith and N. W. Williams. The latter attended school with Riddle. The slain man also at one time lived in Floydada for about a year and worked with his father, who was a building contractor.

LABELS ON CANNED SHRIMP ARE SAFEGUARD TO PUBLIC

All day long, during the season, the men who man the shrimp boats cast their nets into the warm waters of the Gulf of Mexico, the bayous and lakes of the Mississippi Delta, and off the Georgia seaboard, to catch shrimp enough to satisfy the appetites of Americans.

With the holds full of the appetizing crustacean carefully packed on ice, the boats speed to the packing plants. Upon arrival, the shrimp are cleaned, culled, boiled in salt water, and by the time they are ready to go into the can, are curled in neat three-quarter circles, and are ping or rosy red.

There are two packing seasons, one running from the latter part of August to about the middle of December, and the other covering the months from January until May. Louisiana furnishes about one-fourth of all shrimp packed in the United States; Mississippi, Georgia, Alabama, and the Carolinas supply the bulk of the rest.

There are two styles of domestic pack on the market, the wet and the dry, says Dr. A. C. Hunter of the Federal Food and Drug Administration. After the can is filled and sealed it is sterilized. In the wet pack enough brine solution is added to the can to cover the shrimp and fill the spaces between them. Some shrimp are put up in glass containers, but the bulk goes into tins.

The usual pack is composed of whole shrimp, although the buyer is also able to get cans containing broken pieces. The trade practice is to label the latter as "salad shrimp," or to give it some other designation which will enable the buyer to know that the article is not whole shrimp. The pure food law does not require that added brine solution be declared on the label, but shrimp to which such solution has been added are labeled, "wet pack."

The housewife can know how much shrimp she is getting for her money by reading the quantity-of-contents statement required by law to be printed upon the can. Doctor Hunter states. A No. 1 can of wet-pack shrimp holds about 5 1/2 ounces of meat, while there are about 5 ounces of meat in the No. 1 can of dry-pack shrimp. The No. 1 1/2 can contains about 3 1/2 ounces of dry-pack shrimp, while the same can will hold approximately 3 1/2 ounces of meat if the food is of the wet-pack style.

APPLES CAN BE USED TO REPLACE VEGETABLES

Apples may be used occasionally in place of green vegetables served with meat, food specialists of the United States Department of Agriculture suggest. Many of the usual spring vegetables are late and scarce because of the spring freeze in the Southern States. While waiting for a later crop, the housewife may very well turn to apples to give variety and to keep the diet balanced.

There are plenty of apples of good quality in storage now to supply everybody for the rest of the season, according to Wells A. Sherman, of the Bureau of Agricultural Economics. His information is supplied by the Bureau of Home Economics, which explains how to use the apples appropriately with the meat course.

"Hot baked apples, slightly sweetened, go well with almost any kind of meat," says the bureau. "Scalloped apples served hot in a baking dish are also delicious and easy to prepare. Pare and slice the apples as for pie, arrange them in alternate layers with buttered crumbs in a deep dish, sprinkle the apples lightly with sugar, and bake until the apples are tender and the crumbs on top are brown and crisp. Slices or halves of apples simmered in thin sirup until tender and clear are also attractive in the main course of a meal. Slices of apples and cooked sweetpotatoes are excellent baked together with a little butter and sugar or sirup for seasoning, and tart raw apples may well take the place of a vegetable in many salad combinations."

Rubber Stamps, stamp pads, all kinds. Hesperian.

Winning Essay

Following is the winning essay written by Miss Mary Ann Kimble in the Washington Bi-Centennial essay and spelling contest conducted recently by County Chairman J. N. Johnston and assisted by Price Scott county school superintendent.

'The Declaration of Independence'
It is generally considered that the most important single event in the history of this western world is the adopting of the Declaration of Independence, at Philadelphia by the Continental Congress, on July 4, 1776. This event was the result of the colonists' decision for independence, even at the cost of a long and bloody war. The Declaration of Independence was the crowning act of the American Revolution, without it there would have been no revolutionary war. Without the Revolutionary War, we would still be saluting the British Jack and singing "Long Live the King" as our national anthem. In short, the Declaration of Independence is the birth certificate of the American nation.

The Declaration of Independence consists of three parts: (1) The first containing the moral ground upon which the Revolutionists rested their cause, takes the form of "self-evident truths"; (2) it submitted to a candid world a list of twenty-seven arbitrary and tyrannical acts of George III, aimed against the liberty of his American subjects, as proof that he was unfit to be the ruler of a free people; (3) It said that the Americans were free and independent and had the right to absolve completely from the British.

The twenty-seven grievances made against George III were, in reality, the causes for the English colonists to declare their independence from the British rule. All these injuries and usurpations named against the King were first and even though the colonists did feel a deep filial love for the King and his people, they could not ignore them. These grievances gradually, but firmly, aroused the colonists' resentment and hatred until it broke out in the cause of the great Revolutionary War.

Let us now consider some of the cruel acts of George III which constitute the chief causes for the Declaration of Independence:

"He has dissolved representative houses repeatedly for opposing, with manly firmness, his invasion on the rights of the people." For example in the Boston Port Bill the King dismissed the Massachusetts assembly and forbade them to meet again until he gave his permission. The New York assembly was also dissolved because it refused to quarter the King's troops.

"He has erected a multitude of new officers, and sent hither swarms of officers to harass our people and eat out their substance." The King sent many men to America to be stamp distributors and revenue collectors and to enforce his hated stamp Act and revenue acts.

"He has given them all privileges and rights. For instance he issued Writs of assistance to all officials desiring them on any pretext. The Writs were objectionable to the colonists because a man's home was considered his palace. He has kept among us in time of peace standing armies, without the consent of our legislatures." Although the colonists condemned the Grenville program, the ten thousand British soldiers provided in it were sent to America and the colonists were to provide one-third of their expenses.

"He has given his assent to acts for cutting off our trade with all parts of the world." Boston's harbor was closed to all trade in the Boston Port Bill. Before this trade legislation was passed, all American trade had been forbidden with the Dutch and the French India Islands.

"He has given his assent to acts for transporting us beyond the seas, to be tried for pretended offenses;" for establishing therein an arbitrary government;" "for taking away our charters." These three grievances were based on the Boston Port Bill, which provided that all trials should be removed from Boston to England in the future. In fact it established an English military rule in Boston for it took away her charter and replaced her officials. Even in 1686 Andros had attempted to take away the charters of several colonies and had been successful in all the states but Rhode Island and Connecticut.

"Our repeated petitions have been answered only by repeated injury." In the summer of 1775, Congress agreed upon a petition which was to be sent to the King. The petition expressed the tenderest regard for the person of the King; it listed the wrongs that the colonists had endured; then it begged in respectful language that these wrongs be righted and that the old time harmony be restored, so that the Americans could live in the British rule. Richard Penn was sent with the petition to England. The King completely ignored the petition and its bearer by refusing to see either.

The colonists were astonished and angry when they heard Penn's news. "He has abdicated our government by declaring us out of his protection and waging war against us." Soon after the news of the petition was received, the King's Proclamation was placed before the American public. In this document, King George declared the colonists in a state of rebellion and no longer under his protection. The Battle of

The Weeds Grow Faster Than The Flowers

Bunker Hill soon occurred. The colonists were stunned and angered still more by this. Now independence was talked on all sides.

"He is at this time transporting large armies of foreign mercenaries to complete the works of death;" "he has excited domestic insurrection among us, and has endeavored to bring on the inhabitants of our frontier the merciless Indian savages;" "he has burned our towns, and destroyed the lives of our people." Next the King took the fatal step. He sent an army of hired, foreign mercenaries to fight against his own subjects. Also he stirred up the Tories and the Indians against the Americans. The results of the warfare which followed were horrible. Hundreds of innocent men, women and children were murdered. The town of Portland, Maine, was burned and many of her inhabitants died from burns and exposure. The colonists were now convinced that their sovereign did not love them. He wanted America only for selfish motives such as commercial interests. Could the Americans, as self-respecting people, continue their allegiance to such a man and his country? The answer was the Declaration of Independence.

A beautiful shrine of bronze and marble in the Library of Congress has become the resting place of America's most cherished and famous possession—the Declaration of Independence. From 1896 to 1921 this document could not be seen by visitors. But now visitors in thousands look upon the precious parchment with awe. Exalted patriotism is related to religion, and it is not sacrilegious to say that the shrine of the Declaration of Independence is the Nation's "holy of holies."

NEW CANCER STUDIES SHOW CONTROL NEAR
Among the items of good news for the American home is a report of real progress toward the control of cancer, published by the Woman's Home Companion.

"It has now been proved," says the report, "that as high as 90 percent of those attacked by this disease can be saved if diagnosis is made and treatment started soon enough. The problem has been to persuade people to go to the doctor or the clinic and get the truth. Cancer is peculiarly a disease about which victims do not seem to want the truth."

While researchers are striving to get at the basic cause of cancer, other devoted workers have been carrying on a wide campaign to educate the public that sores which do not heal and lumps, unusual discharges or persistent indigestion ought to be taken as warning signals.

Graduation Compared To Flight 'Take-Off' In Valedictory Talk

Graduation from High School compared to the "take-off" for a journey by air in the valedictory address delivered Friday night at the exercises for the class of '32 by Selma Linder.

The address in full follows: It is with a great deal of sadness that we say goodbye tonight to dear old Floydada High and our teachers and classmates. Each one of us has enjoyed these four years of work together as a class. As the time has come for us to step out and make room for others who will take our places, there are forgotten all the difficult problems we had to solve, but there linger in our thoughts the joys of the years and the echo of our laughter, the pleasure of learning something new. It is as if we were taking leave of something dear and always to be cherished. As we say goodbye to our dear teachers, we wish to express our appreciation of them as they have labored and worked with us; of the encouraging words they have given when we were faltering by the way. We have learned to love them. Especially do we appreciate the work done by our superintendent and principal. They have worked long and faithfully with us. We also want to thank our parents for cooperating and providing for us during such times as we have had. We wish to thank the school board also for we do appreciate very much all the efforts put forth by each member on our behalf during these years.

Farewell. A word that must be, and hath been, a sound which makes us linger; yet farewell. "The Take-Off"
Ever since Lindbergh flew across the vast Atlantic, it has been the desire and the dream of the youth to "take off" on some flight as did this idealized American, Lindbergh's flight was not the work of a moment but as he went on his regular flying rounds he was thinking, planning, hoping. Hope sold him a ticket in his childhood and he never lost his ticket. He, in mind, had crossed the Atlantic many times. The "Lone Eagle" did not cross the ocean merely by dreaming of it. He made ready for an epochal trip by planning every detail. Study, hard work, and the bravery to face peril without flinching helped him to achieve his aim and to place his name on the scroll of the great men of history. So we must "have dreams and build ideals about some task, making ready for some destination."

We, the graduating class of 1932, are ready for our "take-off" in life. Where shall we land? We must prepare ourselves for this trip and the first thing we must consider is our fuel for the journey. We have gone this far in our education and we can now either go forward or stand still. We should first plan to develop our power to think more thoroughly by going to college. Here we must fill our mind with knowledge so that we shall be able to provide plenty of fuel for our life-flight.

We should... up our character, for character is the only foundation for real success and it gives an open door to whatever advancement or qualification made possible. On this voyage that we plan to make, we must be able to think quickly and accurately and that we may be able to keep on flying high above all of the storms and temptations; we must be fit in mind, body, and soul.

In our journey, there are two altitudes we may travel: one is a low path near the earth and this is beset with danger of crashing; the other is a high altitude where one may ride above air-pockets and travel joyously. "To every youth there openeth a high way and a low; and every youth decideth the way his soul shall go."

In fitting our ship, we should guard carefully all sources of inspiration and especially intellectual and spiritual inspiration. Life is so big, loads so heavy, storms so fierce that one needs a great supply of courage giving influences constantly at hand so as not to run out of perseverance. Life will grow in power, if, mind, heart, and body are kept in tune. The success of our voyage depends upon how well and faithfully we build this inner self.

There will be a crew with us on this flight through life and how careful we should be in choosing it. There is no influence more powerful in youth and sometimes quite through life, than friendship; none more delightful or blessed, where it reaches an approach to its best. "Life is to be fortified by many friendships. To love and to be loved is the greatest happiness of existence. In choosing friends for this voyage through life, let us beware of frivolous people and the ones who seem to be our friends until they really need them and then they cannot be found."

We should not form sudden friendships but still we should be careful in breaking off tried ones. A companion is some one we copy; we choose him for a companion because there is something about him we admire.

Friendship—sincere, twice-tried and true,
That smiles in the hour of triumph
And laughs at its joys with you
Yet stands in the night of sorrow
Close by where the shadows fall.
Are our companion scuttling our ship or are they giving us a lift toward the high altitudes? Let us surround ourselves with strugglers for the heights.

Let us develop ourselves to be alert and prepare ourselves for a long voyage. Let's not be lazy, for that will ruin our character, but we should put in engines of power and strength. Let us prepare ourselves so well that when we take off we will not be like the small airplane that flies by fits and starts, but like the mighty dirigible that goes on and on. Let us be powerful for a mighty leadership.

Let us not forget a compass for all good pilots have one as their guide. We may not all use the same compass but whether we do or not we should be sure that the guide will benefit our lives and not detract from it.

Some of us may have the Bible for a compass and certainly all of us should in some way let the Holy Book guide us through life, for it is a mine of wealth and paradise of glory, a river of pleasure and a garden of flowers. If the Bible is to be our compass on this voyage, we should study it well and feed on its truth every day.

But all voyages cannot be made during the day. We must do some night flying, and we shall need beacon-lights along the way. This may be some character whom we know and wish to have for our guide through this journey and certainly there are many great people that would make excellent beacons for us. Still others may wish to take as their inspiration through life some teacher who has meant much to us while in school. As we associate with our teachers so much, it would be only natural that we study their lives and some would use them as lights on this voyage. And still others may have as their most efficient and loving guide, their parents. How much they mean to every boy and girl and how we love to be able to say, "All that I am, I owe to my parents." Whatever our beacon-light may be tonight my classmates, let us study and use it as a guide through all the trails and temptations of our journey.

After making ourselves fit in every way for the "take-off", we must have a pilot in whom we can place our trust and there is one. A supreme friendship with the Great Pilot is the most important thing outside of having the Master Builder guide in unfolding the inner self. The Pilot deserves our utmost confidence for he is the master of every human problem.

As he is the builder of the Universe, he knows the Supreme Port and he alone can guide us to it; He is tenderly interested in our voyage, as He has planned each life out. We must strive to keep a fellowship in this wonderful friendship for it will be our unflinching assurance and greatness.

We can have perfect trust with Him at the wheel and it is for us to be obedient and he will pilot us on a glorious successful voyage. May we all be able to say "Jesus, Savior Pilot me over Life's tempestuous flight" With plenty of fuel, the right companions, a true compass, a safe pilot—

"O young aviator down to the port call your companions, launch you aeroplane, be sure of your "take-off" and ere it vanishes over the horizon follow it, follow it, follow the gleam."

Miss Lela Swain, who has been teaching at Quannah the past year is here on a visit with her sister, Mrs. Lee Wilkinson, having arrived last week-end. She came here with Mr. Wilkinson who flew to Quannah after her Friday afternoon, returning the same day. After her visit here Miss Swain will go to her home at Wichita Falls.

Mr. and Mrs. L. T. Bishop and sons, James Thurmond and Joe Dan, left last Friday morning for White-wright to visit with Mrs. Bishop's mother, Mrs. J. S. Badgett and other relatives.

Dougherty News

(By Mrs. W. D. Newell)

Dougherty will soon be a busy city again as the wheat prospects in this section are very good. Some report that volunteer wheat will be cut in ten days or two weeks but it is thought that it will be three or four weeks before the planted wheat will be ready to harvest.

A better yield is estimated over last year's crop. The crews are being assembled at the elevators and repair work is being done this week.

The following clipping from a newspaper sounds interesting: "Russia has begun buying wheat in the United States and the new customer is welcome."

A while ago Russia was selling wheat here and that filled us with a strange alarm although that Russians sold was a mere "piking" for any one of half a dozen operators on the Chicago wheat pit."

Church News

Rev. F. O. Garner will preach here next Sunday morning and evening.

League service starts at 8:15 p. m.

The following program has been arranged: Leader: Mrs. U. E. Cook. Subject: Beliefs that matter.

Scripture reading John 4:23-24; Mat. 16:26 by Jonnie Brownlow.

Business and benediction. Vert Readhimer acting vice-president.

Church services were well attend- ed Sunday. Rev. I. J. Lloyd was absent but Rev. Robinson from Plainview filled his appointment here. His Sunday morning lesson was based on the 10th chapter of Luke.

No definite time has been announced for the Baptist meeting. The date that was announced here tofore was cancelled.

Members of the Methodist church and others spent Monday and Tues- day of this week planting the "church crop" in cotton.

Local News

Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Blankenship and son returned Sunday from Lub- bock and Lorenzo where they visited relatives the past few days.

Mr. and Mrs. John Mayo returned Thursday from their home in Los Angeles. They plan to remain here for the wheat harvest. They were accompanied by Mr. and Mrs. L. L. Collins. He is here looking after his business interests.

Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Newton made a business trip to Lubbock Wednes- day and returned home Thursday.

Fishing Trip

Several local boys took a fishing fever last week that resulted in a trip to Lake Pauline. The party was composed of Milt Covington, Frank Bass, Bill Webb, Ruey Bass and J. E. Newton. They left Friday afternoon and returned home Sun- day afternoon and reported a catch of about thirty fish.

The boys were evidently very hungry though as they failed to bring back any evidence.

Ruey Bass from Austin, Texas, is here visiting his brother Frank Bass and family.

Several people from here attend- ed the graduating exercises of the high school at Floydada Friday evening.

Ball Game Sunday

A record crowd attended one of the best ball games Dougherty has had. The game was played between the Wake and Dougherty boys, and the score resulted six to nine in favor of Dougherty.

Rev. F. O. Garner from Floydada visited in several homes here Monday.

W. D. Newell who has been em- ployed in Motley County the past six months by G. A. Lider, county surveyor, returned home this week. Their work of re-classifying of Mot- ley County lands is about finished and only a few days of office work remains to be done which will be finished in the Floydada office.

42 Party

Last Friday evening Mr. and Mrs. Frank Bass entertained a number of friends with a 42 party.

Mrs. Lou Ella Terry and A. J. Fol- ley received high score for the even- ing.

'Turtle Back' On New H. S. Athletic Field Is Presented School

Class Day Program Held Thursday; Billie Joe Welch Makes Project Gift For Class.

Formal presentation of the "tur- tle back" on the new athletic field to Floydada High School was solemn- ized with appropriate class Day ceremonies Thursday afternoon of last week.

The gift was made to the school in behalf of the class by Billy Joe Welch, president, and the acceptance was made by Principal A. D. Cummings in the absence of Su- perintendent W. E. Patty.

Special Program Given
With the seniors in their caps and gowns seated on the stage, the first part of the program was con- ducted in the auditorium. A piano solo by Selma Lider was the open- ing number. The class history was read by Alice Mae Pyffe and a poem by Samuel Rutledge, class poet. A quartette with Lurlyne Clonts at the piano gave a number that drew hearty applause. Members of the quartette were Lola Mae Grundy, Pauline Rogers, Louise Conner, and Madge Dorsey, all seniors. Bruce McLaughlin read the class prophecy and Lola Mae Grundy presented the class will. Closing the indoor pro- gram was the singing of "Ameri- ca" with Selma Lider at the piano.

The program was continued on the athletic field after the processio- nal.

"We are glad to accept this 'turtle back and grass on the field for it marks a real accomplishment for this class and will be something for all of us to remember. We will be reminded of this class and its gift when we see the games played here," Principal Cummings said.

"Last year's class started the field and the seniors of '32 have carried on with the work and they are to be commended."

Cornerstone Placed
A concrete cornerstone was placed in the northwest edge of the field by Waymon Finley and imprinted on the surface were the names of the class officials: Billie Joe Welch, president; J. R. deCordova, vice- president; Genell Stovall, secretary, and Selma Lider, treasurer. The "cornerstone" is two foot square and in addition to the names of the class officers has stamped the words "Turtle Back, grass, seniors, '31-32."

After the field was graded last week, bermuda grass was planted, a total of 55 pounds of seed being re- quired to cover the playing surface. The total expenditure by the class on their project this year repre- sented approximately $40, Welch said.

"We are especially indebted for the co-operation and services of Commissioner W. H. Henderson and to A. R. and Z. N. Cardinal, the City of Floydada and Mayor W. C. Hanna, V. H. Boteler, Tad Probasco, O. T. Williams and members of his vocational agriculture classes," Welch stated.

Following the exercises, the se- niors had a group photograph made by Roy Holmes, local photographer.

Native of Floydada Winner Scholastic Honors in Ariz.

Frank Menefee, Youngest Son of Rev. and Mrs. C. J. Menefee, Has $1,000 Scholarship.

The Phoenix, (Arizona) Republic in its issue of May 18 tells of a signal scholarship honor won in his school and county by Frank Menefee, a native of Floydada, and a son of Rev. and Mrs. C. J. Menefee, for many years resident of this city. Frank, the newspaper dispatch records, won a $1,000 scholarship from the University of Arizona from Maricopa county, a state award, there being a winner for each of the fourteen counties of the state each year.

The scholarship is distributed over a four-year period, paying the student $250 per year toward expenditures incurred in attending the state university. All candidates for the scholarships were given examination in the various counties. Announcement of the names of the winners were made last week by Dr. Homer LeRoy Shantz, president of the University at Tucson.

A copy of the dispatch was received last weekend by The Hesperian, together with an announcement from the Phoenix Union High School of their commencement exercises on June 3, at the high school stadium. Frank Menefee is a member of this class.

Also enclosed with the announcement was a personal letter from Mrs. C. J. Menefee, mother of Frank, which is an interesting, chaty epistle about the Menefee's in general since their departure from Floydada, and we take the liberty to give it publicity so that other friends of the Menefee family over the county may have the information, also. The letter is written from the family residence at 1626 Yale Street at Phoenix:

"Am enclosing the announcement of graduation of our youngest son, Frank, who you will remember was a native son of dear old Floydada. I am sure you will rejoice with us over this event, and even more so when I tell you of the record he has made. Owing to the accident his father had six years ago it has been necessary for him to pay his own school expenses during his finishing year in grammar school and all through high school. This he has done completing a four year course in three and one-half years. During his last year in grammar school his team never lost a game and he was counted one of the star players.

"Since entering high he has centered all his energies on his studies. Last year he won the state championship in geometry in a competitive examination at the state university among high school representatives. And today he received notice that he had won the $1,000 scholarship offered by the state university to the senior in each county that makes the highest grades in a competitive examination. Only seniors of an accredited high school being eligible. Out of a class of over 600 at Phoenix Union High he ranked seventh. And was one of the 20 outstanding boys whose names were inscribed on the Shield Club.

Frank is not the only one of the boys that has done well and been a credit to the family. While Paul did not get to finish school, yet he has done well. 4 years ago he stood the civil service examination and soon after received his appointment and is now employed in the Phoenix P. O. Has a wife a very fine boy over three years old. A nice five room home well improved and nicely furnished.

"Marvin also took the civil service examination last summer after his graduation. Made the highest grade that was even made on a civil service examination in the city of Prescott making 96 4/10. He got a call for temporary work the second day after he received notice of his grade and has been in the Prescott P. O. nearly ten months.

"Robert is happily married and he and his wife are living in Tucson.

"Sidney is secretary and bookkeeper for a wholesale drug company and Mae is stenographer and billing clerk for a wholesale hardware company. The two girls work just across the street from each other.

"So taking it all in all, we feel it was a good move for us when we came to Arizona.

"Well, I did not intend this to be a family history when I commenced to write, but there is quite a number of us so it takes quite a bit to go around."

J. W. Chapman and family, of Sand Hill, left last week for points down-state to visit with relatives for a few weeks. They will be guests at Sulphur Springs of relatives.

Filing supplies. Hesperian.

Pupils Get Certificates At Andrews Ward Graduation

Wingo Makes Inspirational Address on 'Challenge of Unfinished Task.'

Member of the seventh class, 49 pupils, was graduated from Andrews Ward School this morning. All were given their certificates Thursday night in exercises at the school auditorium. An unusually large crowd was present for the program.

As his text, "Where There is a Vision, the People Perish," from the eighteenth verse of the twenty-ninth chapter of Proverbs, Pev. Claude Wingo, pastor of First Christian Church of this city, made an inspirational address to the graduating class.

Every child has dreams for the future and if I had a telescope I could look into their hearts and see those dreams; although they may be materialized they are there the same," the speaker said in concluding his talk on the basis for hope.

The Challenge of the Unfinished Task was the subject which Rev. Wingo handled so interestingly.

He pointed out the many opportunities for completion of tasks in the financial world, in economics, in the social field, and in religion. Jesus spent 30 years in preparation for only three and one half years of work. At the age of twelve he said that He must be about His father's work and then He went through another 18 years of training," the speaker related.

Man Declared Legally Dead In Court Here

District Judge A. J. Fires Says R. S. Poage Deceased For All Purposes of the Law.

Rufus Sanders Poage, who witnesses established had been out of the State of Texas for more than nineteen years, was declared legally dead in District Court for Floyd County this week. Judge A. J. Fires presiding on order of Administrative Judge Reese Tatum, of Dalhart, heard testimony in which it was shown that in addition to an absence from the state of that long period, the man, when last heard of, was sick in a contractor's camp in Utah.

The judgment entered was that Rufus Sanders Poage was dead for all legal purposes. The hearing was on an ex parte application of Wm. C. Poage, a resident of the north-west part of the county.

Stevenson Case to Lamb

Several cases were disposed of by the 100th District Judge while he officiated here Monday and Tuesday. Among the actions taken was that of transferring the criminal suit against T. S. Stevenson from Floyd to Lamb County "on the court's own motion," for the reason set out that the court believed the defendant could not have a fair and impartial trial in Floyd County. Stevenson, an indictment brought by the January grand jury alleges, forged the name of Will Smith, Briscoe County resident and brother-in-law of defendant, to a note at the Floyd County National Bank. Bond of $1,500 was made by Stevenson for appearance at Oton. He was in court here Monday and pled not guilty to the charge.

Four civil suits, in which Stevenson was one of the defendants, were also disposed of by Judge Fires. One of these was that of Ed Kelley versus C. Surginer, T. S. Stevenson, Jas. K. Green and R. E. L. Muncy, in which a judgment for $12,062.65 was granted plaintiff against all defendants excepting C. Surginer whose estate is in the hands of a receiver named by the Federal Court recently at Lubbock. A judgment was also rendered in favor of J. W. Allen, Sr., against T. S. Stevenson and Jas. K. Green, jointly and severally, for $3,053.72, and an attachment lien against Lots 6 and 7, Block 18, in Spur, was given an official okay. The lots are estimated by the sheriff of Dickens County, the order recites, to be worth $600.

A third suit against Stevenson in which judgment for plaintiff was rendered was that of George T. Moore against him and also against Mrs. Ida Thomas and R. W. Cothern, who were in turn purchasers of Lots 6, 7 and 8 in Block 126 of Floydada. The amount of the judgment is $2,341.35.

McCarty Estate Settled

The seven sons and daughters who heired the estate of J. N. McCarty, deceased in 1931, and his wife Angeline McCarty, also deceased, had a partition suit in the courts this term which was adjudicated by Judge Fires. The McCarty home four miles northwest of Floydada on Federal Highway 70 and a half interest in 480 acres of land were involved in this county, together with 366 acres in Parker County and $4,806.73 in cash. The heirs were agreed on the disposition of the property and the suit entered for the purpose of making the partition legally binding. One son, Lonnie, has been missing since the year of 1902 and was long ago given up by the family as dead. The judge ruled that evidence submitted was insufficient, however, to establish his death legally.

Of the heirs Elza and Miss Mary are resident of Floydada, Rev. C. J. McCarty resides in Lubbock, and the other children are Mrs. D. B. Humphreys, Roy McCarty, E. B. and the missing brother Lonnie, G. C. Tubbs, D. P. Carter and Joe Breed were named commissioners to partition the property with instructions to report not later than June 18.

Foreclosure on a personal note given by T. S. Stevenson and Jas. K. Green was granted to John Wahl in a judgment rendered Tuesday. The amount of the judgment was $2,890.

Three cases disposed of last week-end included the suit of B. B. Hampton against National Union Fire Insurance Company, which was dismissed at cost of plaintiff. E. M. Carter was given a judgment placing title and possession in him for the southeast quarter of Survey 45 in Block D2. This was a suit for a foreclosure of a lien against the land in which Mrs. Estella Harrison and her minor children were defendants.

Judgment granting foreclosure of a lien against J. R. Thurston on thirty acres of land adjoining Floydada on the east was granted to Geo. T. Moore, of Kansas City. The foreclosure was on a deed of trust given on twenty acres out of Survey 66, Block 1, all of Block 14 in the Farris & Childers Addition to Floydada and a strip of land adjoining sixty by 660 feet.

Official cognizance of the fact that the North Texas Trust Company, plaintiff in several paving suits in Floydada, is in the hands of a receiver was taken by the court this week, when Judge Fires entered an order for the third time continuing the paving suits here. There are more than twenty of these suits still unsettled and pending.

Next week is set for the hearing of criminal cases, and the petit jury panel summoned is as follows:

W. F. Hinkle, V. L. Webster, C. C. Edwards, W. A. Boedecker, Harve Pennington, C. W. Burton, B. L. Breed, J. C. Weathers, Ernest Fowler, C. B. Pollan, W. W. Johnson, J. B. Stevenson, B. E. Harris, J. A. Mayhall, T. J. Jarboe, J. L. Lockney, M. C. Fuqua, H. B. Chastain,

With a child in the public schools of Floydada for the past twenty-six years, Mrs. L. H. Newell has made a record at which other parents may aim.

In 1906 Mrs. Newell's eldest child, W. D. Newell, now of Dougherty entered Floydada Public Schools and since that time continually she has had either a daughter or a son, or both in the schools here.

Successively the children in the local school system were Mabel (now Mrs. S. D. Scott), Earl, now of Tulla, Louis of Pleasant Hill, and Faye. The latter was a member of the graduating class of 1931-32, completing the high school work with the graduating class last week.

This building was razed and an eight-room structure built near the same site. The Newell family first lived one mile south-west of town and the name has been associated with the business and civic life of the county for more than a quarter of a century.

Defendants In Robbery Cases Are Brought Here

Two Men Charged with Road Hold Ups South of Floydada On Trial Monday

Two of three men, who are charged by indictment of a Floyd County grand jury with robbery with firearms in the latter part of January on the Ralls road south of Floydada, are scheduled to go on trial here Monday on the charges.

They are R. W. Davidson and James White and have been in jail in Lubbock since shortly after the last term of court here. They have been given sentences in that county of five years each on charges of robbing a filling station at Lubbock.

Sheriff J. M. Wright, accompanied by Deputy T. T. Hamilton and City Marshal Bob Smith went to Lubbock Thursday of last week after the men. It is alleged they held up three men stalled in a truck in Blanco Canyon some thirty minutes after having caught another on the road near E. C. King's place with his car in the ditch and taking his money and some personal effects. The indictments charge robbery with firearms in each instance.

Otho Jones, a Dallas County resident, was the victim of hi-jackers near the King place and has testified the defendants are the men who stopped when they found his car in the ditch. Instead of rendering assistance, Mr. Jones testified in a hearing here, the men held him up at the point of a gun. Similar testimony is given in the case of the canyon robbery by C. W. Toon and Troy Gregory of Tahoka, and Aaron Kingery of Meadow, who said they were stalled in Blanco with a truck, enroute to Meadow from southern Oklahoma, when they were accosted by armed men and their money taken. A third man, alleged to have been a member of the robbery party, has not been apprehended.

Samuel Rutledge spent last week-end in Amarillo attending the commencement exercises of the Amarillo school and visiting with Mr. and Mrs. R. J. Parsons.

Mr. and Mrs. Tom D. Davis and son Tom, are expected from Friday afternoon till Monday in Canyon as guests of Mrs. Davis' parents Mr. and Mrs. Henry Bradford.

Senior Class Poem Read On Class Day

During the Class Day program held at the Floydada High School Thursday afternoon of last week Samuel Rutledge, elected class poet, read the following poem:

The Ocean of Life

(Dedicated to the Seniors of 1932)

They say, life's a stormy ocean,
So broad and rocky and deep,
The harbors are few and perilous,
Too,
An dyou never have time to sleep.

They tell us to pick a steady boat,
A boat that is noble and strong,
That never is late when its cargo is great,
One that masters its journeys long

Sail on in your boat, and do not stop
Until your voyage is ended,
For many a gale will tear at your sail,
And many a leak you'll have mended.

For the tide goes up, and the tide goes down,
And sometimes a boat is left stranded,
But guide your ship on, with brain and with brawn,
Until at your isle you have landed.

Some boats and large and some boats are small,
But the large are not all that make port,
If your boat's steady and true, and it takes you right through
Stay with it, and be a good sport.

Sometimes at your side, a mate you will need,
So pick you a comrade true,
They make you and break you,
and if she will take you
Stick to her, and she'll stick to you.

And so fellow-seniors of Floydada High,
They say life's a sea, and they're right,
So stick to your oars, when the ocean roars,
And never give up in the fight!
