

All County, Precinct Candidates Pay Primary Ballot Fees Assessed

Seventeen County and Twenty Precinct Candidates Constitute "Crop" This Year.

Although the crop of candidates in Floyd County is light this year, with only one to the hill in many instances, every one of those who had previously announced decided to go on through the remainder of the race. Accordingly seventeen names appear on the official ballot in this county for county offices and twenty for precinct offices. The thirtyseven men and women will pay out approximately $1,000 for the two primaries.

Members of the county democratic executive committee which met Monday morning of this week checked over the list to be sure all state, district and county names had been included and turned a copy of the ballot over to the printer in preparation for the battle of the ballots which begins next week for absentees and the first heat of which will be run on July 23. In instances there are no contesting parties for county office, the county attorney, the district clerk, the tax assessor, county treasurer, and county surveyor having no opponents. Their names will be certified as the party's nominees in the course of events, if long-established precedent is followed.

For county judge there are three aspirants. These are C. J. (Joe) McCollum, E. H. Rankin and J. W. Howard, the latter present incumbent. The county clerk's race is also a three-cornered affair with A. B. (Byron) Clark, L. L. (Roy) Muncy and Tom W. Deen, present incumbent, in the struggle for places on the second primary ballot. The only county race in which four aspirants are seeking the honors is that of the sheriff. In this race are J. M. Wright, present incumbent, W. A. (Bill) Brewster, E. S. Randerson and T. B. (Barlow) Hill. The other county contest is between C. M. Meredith and Frank L. Moore for the office of county collector. Meredith is present incumbent.

In the precinct races A. E. Shelton and G. Scott King are in the contest for public weigher at Floyd-

There are no weaker candidates at Lockney. For commissioner of Precinct One there are five aspirants. They are A. S. Cummings, B. Maxey, Armand R. Cardinal, R. May and W. A. Gates. In precinct Two two are offering for commissioner, T. Z. Reed, present incumbent, being opposed by E. R. Harris.

In Precinct Three, a three-member race is being run, with Walter Wood, J. S. Lackey and M. H. Taylor in the candidates. Taylor is present in the office. Precinct Four also has three candidates for commissioner. They are Henry Goodworth, G. L. Fawver and W. W. Wynne. Fawver now holds the office.

Justice J. S. Solomon of Bydada and Justice D. C. Lowe of Okney are unopposed for their respective places. There are no candidates for constable in Precinct One, Floydada. W. B. Dooley is present constable, his name having been petitioned on the ticket two years ago. His name does not appear on the ticket this year. There are three candidates for constable at Lockney. C. L. Anderson, present incumbent, is opposed by M. M. Day and W. V. Smith.

Ticket Is Longer

Although as indicated above, with only seventeen county candidates and twenty precinct candidates, the number of local aspirants for office is light, the ticket is a longer one than in the last general primary. A list of thirty-nine persons who are candidates for congressman-at-large at the state increased the length of the ballot considerably. The name of Judge Henry S. Bishop, of Amarillo, appears on the Floyd County ballot for congressman of the eighteenth district opposed to Marvin Jones, present incumbent, although newspaper reports the first of the week, said he had decided not to take the campaign. The same is true of the name of Cullen F. Thomas, of Dallas, who the latter part of last week gave out an interview in which he said he would not seek the honor of serving as congressman-at-large. The local committee had no official notice that these were not candidates, they said Monday.

There are five candidates for senator of the thirtieth senatorial district, three of whom hail from Lubbock, one from Littlefield, and one from Big Spring. Three candidates seek the office of representative of the 120th representative district. They are M. R. Avery, present county judge of Castro County, A. B. Tarwater of Hale County, present incumbent in the office of representative, and J. N. Johnston is the first Floydada man ever to offer for a place in the state legislature.

Terrell Not In List

K. Terrell, Floyd County farmer, who announced for the office of Commissioner of Agriculture of the state, is not on the ballot in this county, his name having not been certified by the state committee. Terrell's home is in Allmon community in southwest Floyd County.

McCoy, Liberty Plan Political Gatherings

Home Demonstration Clubs Sponsoring Plans for Meetings in Latter Part of Campaign

Two dates before the close of the first primary campaign for public gatherings at which refreshments will be served and to which the public in general and the candidates in particular are invited, were announced last week-end in Floydada.

The first of these is at McCoy school house, where the McCoy Home Demonstration Club will sponsor the meeting on Friday night July 15. Mrs. John R. Gray, publicity director for the club, announced the date and said complete plans for the event would be made at an early date. All candidates will be given an opportunity to make talks.

The second date is at Liberty on Thursday night, July 21, at the school house. Cake and cream will be served, Mrs. S. M. Lester, president of the club, said. The McCoy date is a week and a day ahead of the primary election day and the Liberty date two days ahead of it.

'As You Like It' Is Program For Frolics July 4

That July Fourth bids fair to be one of those famous "safe sane and quiet" affairs in Floydada Monday is the rather strong indication of preliminary plans and specifications.

Entertainments in neighboring towns and swimming pools will draw crowds from over the territory but as far as arrangements for local celebration of the event are concerned the folks will have a quiet time.

A number of stores will be closed all day Monday, the hardware and implement men indicating that they would be open to accommodate their customers engaged in harvesting.

From a check-up made this week, it was indicated that the dry goods stores were planning to give their clerks a holiday and that a majority of the stores will be closed all day.

Some of the local residents will themselves off for a brief vacation and others have indicated they plan to celebrate the day behind a hoe handle in their gardens or giving their lawns a first-class whack.

It all seems to be a matter here on the Fourth of "doing just as you like" with the one binding provision that it's not too much, financially speaking.

THIEVES BREAK SKYLIGHT IN BORUM STORE FRIDAY; MAKE EFFECTIVE ESCAPE

Attempt to enter the J. U. Borum Variety Store on the south side of the square through the skylight at 9:45 o'clock Friday night of last week was frustrated by officers.

Mr. Borum was in his store working when the skylight glass was broken by a heavy bar. He immediately notified officers but the robbers made their escape.

Lee Howard, nightwatchman, Sheriff J. M. Wright and City Marshal Bob Smith were at the scene in a very few minutes after the skylight was broken but the thieves had made their get away down a ladder at the rear of a building.

Mr. Borum said he heard the would-be thieves conversing and that he knew there were at least two but he could not understand what was said nor identify the voices of the individuals.

Snappy new costumes will be used in the revue which is the third presented here by Miss Childers. Previous performances which she has directed have proven popular.

A style show of the latest wearing apparel from Martin Dry Goods Company has been announced as a part of the special entertainment.

CLUB WOMEN TO SELL CHICKENS TO OBTAIN A. & M. TRIP FUNDS

Proceeds from the sale of fryers and hens will be used to defray the expenses of Mrs. C. A. Caffee, County Council chairman, to the annual A. and M. Short Course July 25-30, according to a plan outlined and accepted at the council meeting at the court house Saturday, it was announced by Miss Martha Faulkner, county home demonstration agent.

Each of the 18 clubs in the county will sell not less than five fryers or hens and give the proceeds to the council fund, it was explained.

The council also voted to help send Miss Alta Lloyd of Lakeview, selected as the first place in the district Bedroom Contest to A. and M. College where the state winner will be announced.

A special program on "Know Your County" was rendered at the meeting Saturday which was attended by 31 members.

A. J. Brown, Former M. E. Circuit Rider Here, Ends Own Life

A. J. Brown, 43, a temporarily retired Methodist Episcopal minister, who shot and killed himself at his residence garage in Lubbock Thursday morning of last week, at one time served as pastor of the West Floydada M. E. Circuit in 1925 and 1926.

Funeral services were held at 3 o'clock Friday afternoon at Seymour, his former home, where interment was made last week.

Justice of the Peace W. S. Clark, of Lubbock, returned a verdict of suicide. Brown shot himself in the right temple with a .38 calibre pistol.

Brown was a graduate of Southwestern University at Georgetown. He had been a pastor at Roaring Springs and had gone from there to the west circuit at Spur. He went to Lubbock last November.

Brown left a note telling of his intentions and warned his family that they were to lose their home because he could not pay for it. He also asked in the note that A. N. Gamble, of Lubbock, former resident of this city, who had helped Brown financially, be called.

Surviving are his mother, who resides at Seymour, his wife and four daughters, Dorothy, Martha Elizabeth, Mary Ann, and Ruth.

Shurbet's total flying time now is 6 hours and 15 minutes and Sunday with Sims he took the physical examination and both were given government permits to fly federal government licensed planes.

"Marvin did a pretty good job of taking off and landing Sunday. He did it twice," Sims said.

RAINS AND DEWS SLOW UP WHEAT HARVEST IN COUNTY DURING WEEK

Recent rains and heavy dews each morning have slowed up the wheat harvest over the county and the movement to date of the 1932 crop has been unusually slow, elevator men report. Damage from moisture is running heavy.

Estimates place the total number of carloads of wheat to go out of Floydada this year from 100 to 125 or from 150,000 to 200,000 bushels.

Yields in fields not damaged by hails are averaging from 7 to 10 bushels, farmers report.

A four-cent premium for high protein that has held up the local market is the brightest factor in the entire harvest scene.

Local Golfer Joins Hole-In-One Club

Frank J. Boerner, of the Floydada Country Club, is now a full-fledged member of the Hole-in-One Club, sponsored by John McCleskey, who witnessed Boerner's stroke on Number 8 of the Floydada Country Club course Friday afternoon of last week.

Number 8 hole is a 160-yard shot across a water course, with trees, brush and other natural and made hazards, including club boundary lines just past the green. If you shoot straight and not too hard and not too easy your lie is perfect either on or near the green—or possibly in the cup. This last rare experience is the one Mr. Boerner had. Three is par on the hole.

DALLAS BANK CASHIER VISITOR IN FLOYDADA

Geo. M. Bailey, Jr., assistant cashier of the Republic National Bank of Dallas, has been a visitor in Floydada since yesterday afternoon, his bank being holder of paving scrip on several pieces of property in Floydada, done by the L. H. Lacey Company in 1928.

"My visit here is simply one to look the situation over. We acquired the paving scrip of your city recently, and this is the first time we have had time to see first hand the kind of security behind it."

Mr. Bailey is spending today in interviews with property holders here.

Floyd County Entry in State Contest Is Judged Friday; Cost Only $12.99.

First place in District 2 has been awarded Miss Alta Lloyd, of the Lakeview Girls' Home Demonstration Club, on her bedroom entered in the statewide contest, according to telegraphic advices received Wednesday by Miss Martha Faulkner, county home demonstration agent, from the Extension Service judge.

Miss Lloyd, who is bedroom demonstrator for her club, will be given a trip to A. and M. College, part of her expenses being paid by the County Council. The state winner will be announced at College Station during the Short Course the latter part of July.

Bernice Claytor, Extension Home Improvement Specialist and state judge in the bedroom contest, wired Miss Faulkner Wednesday that she would be here today to score the bedroom this afternoon or Friday morning in the state event.

Pictures of the bedroom before and after improvement were made by Miss Faulkner.

Nine district winners will compete for the honor of first place in the state.

Miss Sallie Hill, District 3 agent with the A. and M. Extension Service, who judged the bedroom in the district contest, was high in her praise of the accomplishment by the Floyd County entry that had been prepared under the direction and co-operation of Miss Faulkner.

Miss Hill judged the bedroom Friday morning of last week and left Friday for Childers.

Entitled "The Nightmare Versus the Bedroom of Pleasant Dreams" Miss Lloyd prepared a report or narrative on her work in which she told how she had made a cheerful, bright bedroom and completely furnished it by spending only $12.99.

Miss Lloyd is one of the ten bedroom demonstrators in Floyd County who entered the bedroom contest in March.

She was the only Floyd County entry in the state contest.

Using a pink color scheme she repaired the entire room after first building and equipping a clothes closet. The closet was equipped with a shoe rack, hat racks, padded clothes hangers, and shelves for linens and folded wearing apparel.

Trades for Dresser

Alta traded her old style dresser for a princess style dresser without extra cost. Light fixtures were renovated and installed. The floor was refinished with a preparation suggested in her club work, baseboards were added, the woodwork and screens painted.

A floral design of pastel colors, pink predominating, was used for the walls, and white paper for the ceiling.

A unique chair and footstool were made from old stove legs and scrap lumber at a cost of 50 cents. The stove legs were obtained from a discarded old stove found in a junk pile. The 50 cent expenditure was for concrete to cover the stool and chair.

For $1 in trade for canned goods Alta obtained a second hand table for her room. In making a wall shelf for books and writing material she used lumber obtained from an old glass crate. Attractive book ends were made from another portion of the crate.

Old window shades were taken down, turned and re-hemmed. Curtains were made of cream-colored marquisette with dainty flower tiebacks made of pastel-colored materials taken from her scrap bag.

The only floor covering is a hooked rug that cost 35 cents for dye and was made from old silk hose and rayon underwear. The rug was dyed in colors to harmonize with the room.

Furniture Repainted

The furniture, consisting of bed, dresser, reading table, two chairs, and a foot stool, were refinished in cream color, just a shade darker than the woodwork. Old, enlarged photographs were removed from the walls and two small hand-painted pictures and one tinted print were added to enhance the general appearance of the room.

Transformed from a dark, semi-storage room, the bedroom is now a bright, pleasant, spot in the home. Gone are the unfinished floors, the old light sockets, a high dresser with a small mirror, two trunks, the old-time pictures, a baby bed, and the old clothes that once draped the walls.

The bed is the only piece of furniture that has been retained in the room. "I didn't know anything could be changed as much as my bedroom," Miss Lloyd said.

"I am truly proud of it," she declared.

And the home-brightening process didn't stop inside but overflowed into the yard and old oil barrels and rubbish were cleared away and a peep out the window discloses an orchard and a garden; spot.

$2,000 In 'Split Tax' Payments Due Tonight In Floydada District

Out of approximately $2,400 in "split tax" payments due Floydada Independent School District on the 1931 tax bill, about $2,000 remains unpaid this morning, the last day for payment. But, Secretary J. T. Dawson said, this does not necessarily mean that the whole amount will not be paid since the total is due from a relatively small number of taxpayers who took advantage of the "split tax" plan offered by the district.

About $400 has already been paid this month, and some of the $2,000 yet unpaid will be taken up by script of the school district, the board of trustees ruling that seventy per cent could be paid in this manner. Thirty per cent is required in cash to go into the district's interest and sinking fund to meet maturing bonded debt of the district.

Final transfer of a tract of 732.4 acres of land belonging to the estate of Judge Arthur B. Duncan, deceased, including the tract of land homesteaded by the judge when he moved to Floyd County in 1887, was completed Friday of last week. B. A. Daniel, of Canon City, Colorado, is the purchaser and he will take possession of the land as soon as present rental contracts are completed.

Mr. Daniel has been here for several weeks.

The contract for the sale was made early in May and formal approval of the application for the sale was given by Judge J. W. Howard acting as probate judge on June 2.

Consideration in the sale was set at $10,000, or slightly in excess of $13.65 per acre. A portion of the land is in Blanco canyon, and a part on the plains.

Silas E. and Mark W. Duncan, sons of the deceased judge, are administrators of the estate. D. P. Carter negotiated the trade between the administrators and the Colorado man.

RAIL TRANSPORTATION IS EFFICIENT AND ECONOMICAL

● THE RAILROAD is the most efficient and the most economical transportation agency the human mind has ever devised.

The ability of commercial trucks to operate with various charges for their services has been because they are not required to carry all kinds and classes of freight. The truck can choose its freight and is privileged to reject that which it cannot handle, either because it is not equipped for such heavy service or the rates are too low to be profitable. The railroad CANNOT DISCRIMINATE but must accept all freight offered it.

In 1930 the shippers of Texas paid the railroads $225,223,142 in freight charges. If the same volume and character of traffic had been carried by trucks it would have cost the shippers, according to the best available data on trucking costs, $900,000,000, or four times as much.

What will be the effect on the shippers of Texas if only the traffic which the trucks cannot handle is left to the railroads? If traffic paying the higher rate is taken from the railroads by the trucks, it will be necessary for the rail carriers to increase their rates on the low grade traffic or go out of business. The total transportation bill will be greatly increased.

The railroad rate structure is a composite designed for the purpose of enabling the free movement of ALL ARTICLES OF COMMERCE, making it possible to bring even the cheapest commodities into general use and distribution. Were it not for the low rates made available by the railroads on many low grade commodities and raw materials, their distribution and use would be impossible and all commerce and industry would be seriously affected.

OF WHOM, FOR WHOM?

"Instead of a government of the people, for the people and by the people, we have a government of the bureaus, for the bureaus and by the bureaus. This has been brought about by the demands we have made upon our government for service. We used to think the people should support the government. Now we think the government should support the people....—Judge Charles E. Coombs.

GREAT MEN'S SONS

In the public press we read that Senator Joseph Weldon Bailey's son, J. W., Jr., is in the race for congressman-at-large in one of the "places." The state's rights stalwart, who campaigned in Texas twenty and thirty years ago, and for whom the voters "fit, bled and died," in some of the most thrilling campaigns in the state's history, has a son who would follow in his elder's footsteps. Whether or not Junior measures up we cannot know. He is too far away. Texas is so big that it needs to nominate its candidates for major offices by the old convention method or cut the state up into four or five states. At any rate, the son to west Texans is an unknown quantity and will likely so remain.

Which reminds us it rarely occurs that the son of a great man measures up to the standards which marked his progenitor. Men, measured by mentality, do not usually breed to form so truly as do animals, measured as animals. It is not unkind to Mr. Bailey to say this. It is merely a statement of what appears to be historical fact. Truly, young Mr. Bailey would not have to measure up to his father to be fit timber for congressman, for that matter. Shades of Joe Bailey, John Reagan, Tom Nugent, Dave Culbertson! If we only had them and others of their day back in a modern setting!

THE SUBMISSION BALLOT

Floyd County Democratic voters will not find the "submission referendum" on their ballots unless their county committee is mandamus-ed into putting it on and there appears no likelihood they will be. The gist of the proposed question seemed to be to vote on whether you wanted an opportunity to vote, sooner or later, on the question or repeal of retention of the Eighteenth Amendment. No telling, of course, what the popular reaction will be before the primary is over. The county committee may get to be a very unpopular set of men before it is over. Their reaction, according to statements made in the committee meeting, is evidently that while they are willing enough for anybody and everybody to vote at any time on any question that is before the people, the general primary is not the time nor the place for such a vote. The candidates are paying the bill for a campaign in which democrats at this time will choose the men and women whom they wish to present to the people in general for their suffrage at the general election this fall. To put other matters into the nomination ballot is wrong in principle, even if all expenses incident to it were paid by some agency other than that set up by the statutes.

NEW FEDERAL TAXES

About the only things exempted under the new tax law, by which Congress hopes to raise over a billion dollars a year and balance the national budget, are the things which actually enter into a bare existence. From every source there will be an insistent howl go up that the arrangement is unfair. Which, perhaps it will prove to be in many instances. No tax law was ever altogether fair and none was ever popular. But all hands always join in spending and suggesting new ways and means of spending. It is the time when it comes to pay that we fall out with each other. So, no one may anticipate the tax law proving popular or that anybody will be glad to pay the big bill cut out for us. But, after grumbling, we will pay.

NOT TO BE BOLSHEVIK

There will be plenty of talk this fall and winter of riots and violence, ultra-reds—tinging their remarks with suggestions of overturning the government and having a new type. And nobody will raise a serious hand so long as it is only talk. But there will be bloodshed when it gets down to the personal equation and someone says we shall have a new government and a new deal on property, with everybody belonging to the state and working for the government.

Ninety-five per cent of the American people are believers in property and property rights. A man might get hungry and do something he would not have done otherwise, but that great part of America which is America is going to have none of this "belongs to the state" business. There is a marked revolt against the very idea in progress right now. Witness the fight that has begun on the bureaus, commissions, and government-in-business generally.

GOVERNMENT IN BUSINESS

As long as nobody was being imposed on but some printers there was little complaint at the government in business. But envelopes at cost with transportation free, a sop to the business men who thought themselves entitled to something for nothing at somebody else's expense, was only an entering wedge and now Uncle Sam is subsidizing a lot of business at the expense of business. His volume is getting so big that it is making a sizeable hole in the net income of those with whom he is competing, especially in some lines. For instance, in transportation. And one of the latest on a wholesale scale is the building-owning business. Every federal building we see go up will make just that many more privately-owned buildings vacant.

Of course, if it is a federal building for Floydada, that would be different! But in Plainview, Memphis or somewhere, it is awful! The importance of the community has something to do with it.

THE HOME STRETCH

Having gotten their names on the ticket, the order determined by lot, and the other preliminaries and principal expenses behind them, candidates of Floyd County are started down the home stretch toward July 23, when the first heat will have been run for all and a finished race for some, for the democratic nomination.

Where a man's money is there is his heart also, and having put a "right smart chance of money" into their respective races, one can expect the candidates to put a lot of effort along with it. So be prepared to entertain them for the next thirty days. And, of course, you'll complain about the candidates being thick as files and worrying you, but candidates have to know human nature. They know you like to have a "fuss made over you" and will be mad if they don't get to see you. You even want the men you don't like and are not going to vote for, to come around and ask you for your support. So they will. And in a few short weeks we'll be making history for ourselves in general and for the candidates in particular, when July 23 rolls around.

THE HINDERMOST MAN

The Hesperian feels most keenly for the hindermost man. Everybody loves a winner, but the loser gets the fewest votes and the least notice. He goes off to himself, licks his wounds, girds up his loins and gets set to tackle something else that will produce bread and butter. He doesn't forget, though, especially if he is one of those occasional fellows who allows himself to be kicked into thinking he has a good chance to win, but gets only a hundred votes or so when the ballots are counted.

They occur in nearly every election of any consequence, these instances. Why, do you suppose? More than likely a first class fellow but he just doesn't get over with the voters. He makes the lowest score, but unlike the low-scoring golfer instead of being the medalist and the toast of the crowd, he is just the hindermost man.

STERILIZING, NOT COOKING

Here's something out of a book. Canning in the southwest is more difficult than elsewhere in the United States for the reason that we have many heat resistant microorganisms, and the further reason that we have a long period of storage at a relatively high temperature.

Hence, the housewife must learn that successful canning is a process of sterilization and not a process of cooking.

BUTTER KEEPS AS WELL IN PRINTS AS IN TUBS

The belief that butter for storage has to be put up in a large mass, usually 64-pound tubs, has been disproved in recent years by experiments which indicate that butter in 1-pound prints keeps as well as that in tubs, says the United States Department of Agriculture.

For the last eighteen years a creamery in Pennsylvania, cooperating with the Bureau of Dairy Industry, has stored 20,000 to 25,000 pounds of print butter annually in a cold-storage warehouse in Washington, D. C. This was fine quality butter made from unripened, pasteurized, sweet cream. Some of it was stored for as long as seven months. After storage the butter was sold to people accustomed to getting fresh butter from that creamery, and they found it entirely satisfactory.

Butter handlers believed butter should be stored in tubs because this form exposes less surface area per unit weight of the butter. The experiments indicate, however, that sweet-cream butter in 1-pound prints will keep as well and shrink as little as if stored in 64-pound tubs.

Marriage is either Heaven or Hell.

Let's Look At Something Interesting

The Round-up
 By The Cowhand Scribe

Next Monday is Independence Day and we'll all be celebrating the fact that George Washington whipped the English because of taxation.

Taxation? Where have I heard that word before? Oh yeah, Congress. That's it—Congress. It's kinda funny now since I think of it all. We made things pop because, as one of the Henry boys, Pat wasn't it, expressed it "Taxation without representation is tyranny!"

Boy, we got plenty representatives these days and taxes, too. I don't know just exactly what our holler slogan ought to be but we shore do need one bad.

If you wanta know how Big Business operates just take a squint at Congress. If expenses are too high and you need money to balance the budget why the thing to do is to increase your revenue. While all us little fellers out here in the country are skimping and cutting and worrying our heads off trying to cut down on everything in sight and keeping our belts in the last notch Congress cracks down and increases taxes so the government can vote a big loan to big business.

Farm aid gets a big slab of money but it comes in the form of just another loan with a million strings for the farmers.

I'm so dumb I can't figure it out at all. You see instead of cutting down expenses to balance the budget they issue a big gob of jack that has to be replaced, so the only way to do it is increase the taxes. When you increase taxes on the farmers and on business that means more expenses and that will call for more loans. When Uncle Sam makes more loans he's got to have some more money "to balance the budget" again and there you are—mebbe.

This here money, you notice, is going out in the form of "loans" and nobody knows better than the farmers what that means—it means that money has gotta be paid back with interest.

All right, when it's paid back what becomes of it? If the increase in taxes balanced the budget what about the money that will be paid back that the taxes had to replace when it was loaned?

Of course those loans will be paid back into funds to cover "operating expenses" of the government and the beloved budget will balance and everything will be hotsy tosy.

Ain't that grate! Works out mighty purty for everybody but us pore old donkeys that is commonly known as "the public."

 If I wasn't so dumb and could see through it all I shore would explain it to you folks. It seems like Congress has got a good plan. If you ain't got a nuff income and too much outgo why the thing to do is increase the prices on the thing that brings the income.

Just set a better price on your eggs and cream, sell your dry goods at a higher figure, charge more for hair cuts, raise the price of meals at the cafe, charge more for printing, increase tire prices, give the wife $20 to spend instead of 20 cents—and there you are, mebbe.

That solves your problem. You're welcome. No charges for the suggestion. I got my idea from Congress and if you think it's haywire then you ain't got nothin' on me.

It can rain easier and stay dry longer in this country than any place I ever saw in my life.

Can't git my feeble mind off this doggone tax business. I jist got to wonderin' who is gonna keep books on all these million and one little collections that's gonna be made from us turnips. More government jobs.

Boy, oh boy. It's watermelon time again. Gosh, but I had plumb forgot how late in the season it was getting until I was reminded of the presence of good old summer time by a truck load of watermelons in town Friday. Shore did make my mouth water.

Fourth o' July and watermelons allus did go together when I wuz livin' down in the sticks but out here in the west where the niggers are kinda scarce and the melons scarcer this early in the year the Fourth don't mean so much somehow.

Monday morning the court house clock stopped plumb still and us fellers along Solution Row figured out what stopped the faithful time piece. Right on the big arm on the south side of the clock three pigeons perched to do a little primping and they wuz jist too much for the muscles in the arm that holds up the hand and the blamed thing jist stopped at 9:50 o'clock.

Time stops for no man but it did for three pigeons.

Polk Goen had to leave home the other day and he left a note on his door that his friends discovered and had a right peart amount of fun about. The note suggested: "Will be away from home. Phone 414W all afternoon. Polk W. Goen."

That would be quite a spell of phoning—"all afternoon." Dr. I. W. Hicks was getting a whole bunch of chuckles out of Polk's suggestion.

There never was a cloud they say that doesn't have its silver lining. Mebbe so. I guess the big rains we been having did one thing that helped—drowned all those pesky black bugs that were trying to eat up everything.

Those cloud busts down toward Lakeview drowned grown jack rabbits, they tell the Cowhand. That sounds more like a fish story than it does a rabbit story but me for one shore do believe that they wuz drowned.

How about somebody what saw a lotta dead uns coming in and telling me so we can prove it to the guys what doubt it.

If it keeps on raining I'm gonna go fishing out in my back yard. I kinda suspicion we got whales out there by this time.

Contemporary Thought

WILL THE TEXAS VOTE MEAN ANYTHING

Clarendon News: It didn't take the State Democratic Committee very long to find out that they had over-stepped their powers when they ordered the extra ballot for the dry referendum as a part of the July primary. Counties began to say that they would not provide tickets for such a vote, and now to save its face the committee has agreed to print and furnish the second ballots at its own expense.

This still doesn't settle the question by any means, for there are counties who will not conduct the extra balloting even if the tickets are furnished, and it may be that any vote registered will be so incomplete as to be worthless, and will only discredit the questionable discretion of the wet committee in a dry state.

LIKELY SCARED TOO SOON

Pampa Daily News: Overpowering fear of some employes of big companies that the suit brought by Attorney General Allred may result in closing of the plants at which they work, with resultant loss of their jobs and impairment of the value of their work, is apparently not well founded.

Mr. Allred in his campaign speeches has said that he does not deny the right of big companies to do business in Texas, but that his intent is to enforce the law. He is, of course, to be commended for following the law. The fear of the many thousands of oil company employes, however, is based upon the assumption that their firms may be heavily fined, on the one hand, and utterly banished on the other.

Past experience in such litigation has shown that banishment usually results in re-organization and reentry in some form. Moreover, conversation with state attorneys has elicited the opinion that it is often necessary to shoot over a mark to attain the distant goal—the punishment of the offenders and resultant future obedience of the Texas statutes. Equal privileges to develop Texas' resources must be preserved.

The oil industry in Texas pays around 56 per cent of the total state revenue. It supports 10 per cent of the population. Its proper conduct, its orderly development, its payrolls are of tremendous importance, especially at this time. It is not believed that the young attorney general will overlook these facts in his prosecution, but will continue to strive toward his real goal—the enforcement of the laws which guide his department.

 It cannot be denied that Mr. Allred faces the most brilliant legal talent of the country. It will probably be found that he is neither terrified on the one hand nor driven into devastating extremes on the other. The jury will hear the truth as the best legal minds can define and present it.

FOR THIS NEW LAW

The O'Donnell Index: One of our candidates for State Senate is incorporating in his platform a new law to stop people from moving bankrupt stocks of old shoddy goods from one place to another to sell out far below cost in competition with the home merchants who pay taxes and keep the churches and schools up from year to year. These fly-by-night operators always close out before tax assessment time, and never pay any taxes anywhere. While the Index believes we have too many laws now, and that many of the old relics should be repealed, this one it seems to us is full of merit and the business element and their friends should get an expression along this line from the other candidates, and no matter which one is elected, some action can be had on such a measure. Not only the 30th but all the districts should bring out their candidates for the Senate and lower house on such a measure.

OIL IN A TRACTOR

The Farm Journal: Oil in a tractor or auto does something more than lubricate. It also seals the space between piston and cylinder wall. The fact that two different oils have the same S. A. E. rating doesn't mean that they will seal this space equally well. One may break down more readily than the other, and that means some of the compression is lost; leaks past the piston. Reduced power is the result. That means higher fuel costs. The extra cost of good oil is more than saved on fuel.

Local Riders 'Star' In Wild West Rodeo Staged By Keeling

Riding exhibitions by Floydada "cowboys" were among the most outstanding features of the Wild West Rodeo staged by Powell Keeling under the sponsorship of the Floydada Volunteer Fire Department at the Floydada Baseball Park Saturday afternoon, Sunday afternoon and Monday night.

Monday night drew the largest crowd of the rodeo. Spills were plentiful but there were several exhibitions of good riding.

Powell Keeling made the best time in the calf roping contest with 27 seconds.

Dee Johnson, Jake Hill, George Sherrill, Homer "Gander" Gaither, Jess Lanier, Fred Jones and Jimmie Hardgrove, Jr., were among the local boys who participated Monday night.

Others taking part Monday night included Otis Martin, Leroy Durham, Peck Starkey, Clyde Gilliland, Glenn Jarnagin, Otho Finley, Boyd Smith, King, and others.

T. C. Scott, colored bronc buster, stayed with "Shringo," one of the outlaw broncs until the animal fell down. He rode with sursingle. He also took part in other events.

A crowd that filled approximately half the available seats Sunday afternoon was the largest in attendance during the three entertainments, and the largest number of cowboys participated.

Homer Gaither, of Floydada with a time of 29 seconds was first place winner Saturday afternoon in the calf roping contest.

Sunday it was the wild mule riding by Everett "Shorty" Price and performances by Jake Hill and Fred Jones on wild mounts that gave the crowd its biggest thrill.

Walter Baxter was the only man who landed his calf Sunday afternoon and he was clocked at 42 seconds.

Baxter, seated on the hood, and Dee Johnson at the wheel of a car staged a calf roping act that was declared by Claude Witherspoon, Plainview, veteran rodeo announcer in charge of the events here, to be the first of its nature ever attempted in a rodeo in West Texas.

J. C. Baumgartner won the $2 prize offered Saturday for riding his steer the longest distance across a designated line. Powell Keeling made the best time in the goat roping with 1 minute, 2 seconds.

Following are the events as they were staged Sunday, the feature day, and the contestants:

Stunts riding: R. C. Keeling, Clyde Gilliland, Glenn Jarnagin, Tom Norvell, Powell Keeling, John Curtis, Jake Hill.

Mane hold: Boyd "Red" Smith, Calf roping: W. D. Johnson, Walter Baxter, Powell Keeling, Walter Merrell, Glenn Jarnagin, Tom Norvell, E. L. King, Claude Witherspoon and Bill Gaither.

A special arena had been constructed in the park and special temporary corrals were put up for the show. Cleo Stephens, John Buchanan, and Burl Bedford composed the committee from the Fire Department assisting with arrangements.

Rains over the week-end cut down the attendance and the events were staged in a muddy arena that slowed up the time and hampered the work of the performers.

Hesperian Cross-Word Puzzle Number 50

3 And when she could no longer hide him, she took for him an ark of bulrushes, and daubed it with slime and with pitch, and put the child therein; and she laid it in the flags by the river's brink.

4 And his sister stood afar off, to wit what would be done to him.

5 And the daughter of Pharaoh came down to wash herself at the river; and her maidens walked along by the river's side; and when she saw the ark among the flags, she sent her maid to fetch it.

6 And when she had opened it, she saw the child; and, behold, the babe wept. And she had compassion on him, and said, This is one of the Hebrews' children.

7 Then said his sister to Pharaoh's daughter, Shall I go and call to thee a nurse of the Hebrew women, that she may nurse the child for thee?

8 And Pharaoh's daughter said to her, Go. And the maid went and called the child's mother.

9 And Pharaoh's daughter said unto her, Take this child away, and nurse it for me, and I will give thee thy wages. And the woman took the child, and nursed it.

10 And the child grew, and she brought him unto Pharaoh's daughter, and he became her son. And she called his name Moses; and she said, Because I drew him out of the water.

Acts 7:20-22—
20 In which time Moses was born, and was exceeding fair, and nourished up in his father's house three months:
21 And when he was cast out, Pharaoh's daughter took him up, and nursed him for her own son.
22 And Moses was learned in all the wisdom of the Egyptians, and was mighty in words and in deeds.

Time.—Israelites were in Egypt from B. C. 1715 to B. C. 1498. Birth of Moses B. C. 1578.
Place.—The capital of Egypt, perhaps Memphis, perhaps Tanis.

The Lesson Comments
More than a hundred years elapsed between our last lesson and this; the lesson in which we found Jacob and his sons going into Egypt to make their home. The Israelites had been a prosperous and happy people for many years; had grown numerically and had increased in wealth; they had flocks and herds with abundant feeding grounds.

But the day had come when the king who knew and loved Joseph and gave his father and brothers such a warm welcome into Egypt, died, and another king reigned in his stead. This king is thought to have been Rameses. Second, whose mummy was found in 1881, and is now in the museum at Cairo, Egypt.

Rameses, Second, has been called the Pharaoh of Construction, because he was a great builder, and in order to carry on his stupendous work, the Israelites, with other semi-independent nations, were pressed into service and finally became the slaves of the Egyptians. Not only were they slaves, but slaves who were abused, beaten and insulted.

Perhaps the Israelites had gotten very far away from God during their stay in Egypt; perhaps if they had not been so abused, they would have been contented there—never had ambition to go back to their own land—the land God had given to them. But when oppression became unbearable, they began to cry to their God, and he graciously heard their cry and started the answer to their prayer in the birth of Moses.

Moses' parents were both of the tribe of Levi, the third son of Jacob and the tender-eyed Leah. There were already two children in the home to which Moses came—a girl called Miriam, who was perhaps in her "teens," and a little son three years of age whose name was Aaron. We can well imagine how welcome the baby was, and how they rejoiced to find him "a goodly child." But there was a great blot on their happiness—a terrible fear in their hearts. For Pharaoh had commanded that every male child of the rapidly increasing Israelites be slain, lest Israel become too strong for the Egyptians; and combining with some other nation, overthrow them and possess them.

Amram and Jochebed loved the little fellow who had come to them just as dearly as any parents love a child; they could not bear the thought of some cruel Egyptian coming with a sword to take his life. The ingenious brain of the mother devised a plan by which she hoped to defer the evil day, at least. She made a little water-tight boat, fastened it in the flags of the brink of the river, and then left the sister, Miriam, to watch it. The girl was worthy the trust her mother placed in her—a sharp little Jewess brave enough to face the daughter of the cruel king in an attempt to save the baby.

We have always imagined the beautiful princess smiling inwardly, when Miriam asked if she would have her call a nurse for the baby. She knew the nurse should be the child's mother—of course she did. But she adopted the child, sent him to his own mother to be reared till such time as he should be old enough to begin his education, which the princess hoped would result in his becoming king of Egypt. She did not dream that the day would come when this child would spurn the throne—would turn his back on wealth and worldly honor that he might lead his despised people out of bondage into that far off land of Canaan.

NOTICE TO TAXPAYERS

The law provides that June 30th, of this year is the last date that last-half tax payments for 1931 can be made without interest and penalty. Owing to harvest conditions, the county collector's office will accept payment on these items up to July 10th, without interest or penalty.

Due to the fact that notices have appeared in the papers relative to filing of suits on property for Independent School District taxes, inquiries have come to the county collector's office about this matter. For your information, you are advised that it is not the intention of the county to file any suits on property for collection of taxes until conditions become better, then we believe it will not be necessary, at least, in most cases.

When TEETHING makes HIM FUSSY

One of the most important things you can do to make a teething baby comfortable is to see that little bowels do their work of carrying off waste matter promptly and regularly. For this nothing is better than Castoria, a pure vegetable preparation specially made for babies and children. Castoria acts so gently you can give it to young infants to relieve colic. Yet it is always effective, for older children, too. Remember, Castoria contains no harsh drugs, no narcotics—is absolutely harmless. When your baby is fretful with teething or a food upset, give a cleansing dose of Castoria. Be sure you get genuine Castoria with the name:

Why So Many Take BLACK-DRAUGHT
THERE are good reasons why so many people prefer Theodor's Black-Draught—why it is their favorite laxative:
They like its thorough, cleansing action.
They like that "better feeling the next morning,"—a refreshed feeling after the release of intestinal poisons.
And the low cost of Black-Draught is another point in its favor. You are really buying medicine when you buy Black-Draught, as the sealed container, in which the medicine is sold, costs only a small fraction of its light weight has saved expensive freight bills.
Black-Draught is packaged, weighed and sealed by machines. It can be sold for less because of these savings in your favor.
SOLD at drug stores.
FOR CHILDREN—and grown-ups who prefer a liquid—get the new, pleasant-tasting SYRUP of Theodor's Black-Draught; 25c and 50c.

Council Scratching Heads Over Problem of Meeting Debt Maturities of 1932-33

Officials of the City of Floydada, especially the members of the council, are scratching their heads these days over the problem of the city's debt maturities for the remainder of 1932 and the year of 1933.

Figures compiled at the office of City Secretary S. E. Duncan seem to indicate the council will have to do some tall managing to get the job done of meeting the maturities and at the same time hold down the costs of government to the taxpayer. As a matter of fact, during the past two years, approximately, the city government has been operated strictly within the actual income from services rendered by the city to its residents, and for the past twelve months, at least, a part of the monthly income and all tax receipts have been applied to the payment of outstanding indebtedness which has been falling due. But even with this arrangement provision has not been made to take care of debt and interest maturities past September of this year. In the month of October, November and December of 1932, a total of $12,169.55 bonds and interest fall due and at this time a reserve of $2,000 has been set up to apply on this indebtedness. Some, probably, will be added to this by delinquent tax payments during the period intervening and some by savings out of the regular operating income. However, it is hardly expected at the city hall that a total income of $10,169.55 can be applied on these debts before the first of the year and that there is almost certain to be a delinquency on the part of the city on a portion of the debts coming due. However, if all delinquent taxes or a large per cent of them were collected ample funds would be in the treasury to take care of the indebtedness within the year. At this time there are due $15,978.87 in taxes delinquent for 1930 and previous years, together with interest and penalty, and on the 1931 roll there are $12,884.99 due and unpaid.

Figures For 1933
However, if their fiscal troubles for 1932 were the only ones the city had to face the matter would be relatively easy to solve. For 1933 also presents its problems with total maturities almost the same as this year, compiled by Secretary Duncan at $31,647.40. Renditions for 1932 were set to raise approximately $31,000, the total to be applied on indebtedness and none on operating expenses. And not only did the city live within its income from services rendered the public, but it also saved a considerable bit of money to put on indebtedness. Thus, it will be seen that, granting that tax payments will continue to be slow and of them unpaid, the city will have an even larger deficit on bond maturities and interest next year than this, even if taxable value held at last year's figures, seems improbable unless a horizontal raise is made by the council after the equalization board completes its work.

In the tax renditions for 1931, the rolls disclose that some of the taxpayers were able to get reduced valuations and the run-of-mine taxpayers are expected to demand similar valuations for their property for the ensuing taxable year, so as to get equalization of the tax burden.

A Farmer's Life

"As He Lives It"

BY ED HOLMES

(Station C. E. H. Farm)

Just a few more frogs made happy, and not a Frenchman in the bunch. Did it rain and hail or not? Thanks for a nice cow barn, we milked cows all during the rain. They had no objections to coming in out of the rain, besides it was time to milk.

This county should start a slogan like this: "When it rains, it hails." I think it is Pete McDonald's fault however. The other day after a small hail along with a fine rain, he said he had rather have a little ice water than no water at all. Well in short order the crop on his farm East of Lockney in the Cedar Hill community was completely hailed out. He don't like to be teased about it as he says his wife has already said enough.

An Almanac and this moon business has got me in bad. Some people watch the moon for everything. Arthur Womack said you planted things in the ground and not in the moon but the Almanac said to plant feed between June 12th and 16th, so I worked my land into fine shape and planted it just so-so. Well I thought I was sure lucky. It was just coming up fine when this gentle rain came. It is still in the ground but I bet the moon can't get it up! To cap it all out, the same Almanac said Fair Weather on the very day the hail came. I am off the moon and the Almanac. I will plant my feed in the ground the very first chance I get. I really believe the best thing an Almanac is good for is to tell about your favorite testimonial, whatever that is. I will admit that I do not know what the moon is good for. If you know you can take Hoover's place.

One of my neighbors and I leased an old header for 10c per acre and are trading work and getting this grain harvested about right. We will pay a small threshing bill and save everything but the land. If it isn't washed away the Loan Companies will get it anyway. I hope they bring their Almanacs with them when they try to farm it cause if they do, we will get it back pretty soon.

You will never know how to really whip a cow until you fix your barn to lock their heads when you milk them. About all a pair of kickers are good for is to whip a cow with when you get mad. The good thing about having their heads locked is that they are almost afraid to kick you! You have the advantage and they soon find it out. Lock their heads in the barn where they can't see you and it is better yet. They will think they are hid from you and they will try to eat everything in sight and will be just as still! If you have a regular barn with places fixed to lock their heads every three and one half feet, you can't milk them any closer. You will milk a cow in every stall then chase them out, pour out some more feed and turn in some more. Did it ever occur to you to have places in between these regular stanchions to lock their heads, put the feed out for all of them, then when you have finished with your regular places you can lock them up and open the others and you are ready to begin milking the others without the trouble of again pouring out the feed and getting your barn full of dust during milking hours? Next week I will tell you how mine is made. It is handy for us.

When I tell you of something that we have made on this farm, don't think that I am trying to dictate to you, or trying to tell you how to do things. There are exceptions to all rules and I am probably telling you of the exception. If I can tell you something, give you my idea, get you to do the same thing in your way, if it will help you I will be tickled to death. If I can't help you I am still in Hoover's class.

The other day Alma came out to the field and wanted to run the planter. She wanted to know which row to come back on, etc., then looked down and saw the big lever that throws it in and out of the ground. "Do I ever have to use this brake?"

Durand Bishop made a trip to Silvertown Thursday last week for his father, S. G. Bishop, and accompanied him home.
