

No Raise Sought In Gas Rate—Hinchey

That no raise in the rates to be charged consumers of Floydada or any other city served by the West Texas Gas Company will be sought by the company this year, was the burden of statements made before the city council here yesterday afternoon in special session by R. F. Hinchey, vice-president and manager of the company, who was here in company with C. F. Ryan, superintendent of city plants, A. L. Crenshaw, general attorney, and Roy D. McKinney of the public relations department, all of Lubbock.

Their visit with councils in the area was prompted, Mr. Hinchey said, by the fact that certain gas companies in some areas of the state are seeking increased rates at this time on account of greatly reduced volume. "We are making every effort to keep our business on a going basis by means of reduction of expenses and other similar means," Mr. Hinchey told the council. "But we are not going to seek higher rates at this time." The winter heating rate made applicable last year will not be applied this winter, he said, however. The present charge is sixty-seven and a half cents per thousand cubic feet of gas to customers in Floydada. Rates are higher than that figure in a number of larger cities and towns further down-state at this time.

Present at the meeting of the council were W. U. White, O. W. Kirk, T. P. Collins, councilmen, and W. C. Hanna, mayor.

Independent

Judge Geo. W. Armstrong, of Fort Worth, who was in Floydada last week on a swing through the plains country as a candidate for democratic nomination for governor, issued a statement this week in which he assailed the Democratic platform. "If that is a democratic platform then I am not a democrat," he said, in announcing he would make the race in November as an independent against the nominee of the party. He favors, in particular, immediate payment of the soldiers and a state currency system. "To hell with Wall Street," is his motto.

Floydada Has Haunted House

'Authorities' Pronounce House In South Part of Town Public Welfare Danger.

Inspector Brooks has pronounced the Floydada High School auditorium as an ideal setting for the three-act mystery comedy "Ghost House" which is to be presented here Friday and Saturday night, July 15, 16, at 8 o'clock.

The Inspector, which part is played by Charles Mathews, has a hard time in trying to round up the criminal and to discover "who killed Brown?"

Among the suspects are Mrs. John Reagan, Misses Kate Stiles, Oleta Jackson, Helene Hay, and Messrs. Billie Joe Welch, Herbert Sims, Roy Holmes, Roy Haynes, Geo. Mc-

Allister, and Garlan Glover. The play is under the auspices of McDermott Post of the American Legion and will be directed by Miss Ruth Langston and presented under special arrangements with the National Producing Company of Kansas City.

Miss Langston has asked that the rehearsals be attended by the cast only, pointing out that it would spoil the play for many were the plot untraveled before the night's presentation.

Also to make the play more thrilling, the producers are offering a $5 reward to the person or persons who at the end of the first act can tell "who killed Brown." Proceeds from the play will go to the American Legion.

State And Federal Highway Engineers Expected This Week

Committees Report Success In Getting Right-of-Way In County For New Grade.

Engineers representing the state and federal highway commissions are expected in Floydada this week or next week to check over the right-of-way arrangements made by Chairman J. N. Johnston and members of the city and county committees working in connection with grading and installing drainage structures in Highway 28 through Floyd County.

In a telephone conversation Tuesday morning Guy R. Johnston, resident district engineer, stated that he would be in Floydada with the Federal engineer about July 10 to go over details for final arrangements for work to start on the road in the near future.

The right-of-way through the county will be increased to 100 feet to meet state and federal requirements and the work will represent an expenditure of approximately $40,000 in the county during the next 60 days, it has been pointed out. Expenses will be paid by the state, the county being required to furnish only the right-of-way.

Committees report fine progress in obtaining the necessary increase in the roadway and have found the land owners public spirited and in most cases anxious to co-operate in obtaining a first-class highway which likely will be paved before another twelve months, according to present plans, by state and national funds.

Fourth Leaves Big Variety Of 'Fun That Was'

Chigger bumps, blistered noses, sore muscles, sleepy eyes and ruffled dispositions bear testimony this week of how some of the local residents spent the Glorious Fourth this year. Those who remained on the job had the dispositions a la ruffles the next day.

Picnics, visits, trips to swimming pools, attendance at nearby celebrations, gardens, lawns, offices, and cars figured considerably in the day's calendar.

Floydada, so far as the business section was concerned, enjoyed one of the most complete mid-year holidays in history. Practically every firm in town closed its doors and the clerks given a complete vacation, the co-operation being more complete between merchants than on any occasion in recent years with the exception of observance of Christy mass holidays.

He will speak on the following subject, he said: "Can the Legislature of Texas shift the burdens of taxation from the shoulders of farmers, stockmen, merchants and common people generally to the foreign loan companies and other special interests to the tune of at least fifty per cent, without in any way impairing the efficiency of our free school system and other useful institutions?"

Mr. Levens takes the position that the shift in taxes can and must be done.

The public is invited to hear his address.

"We had a great time," the Colonel said, "But I missed many of my old comrades."

About two thousand Confederates were present, the ranks rapidly growing thinner every year.

"We had the biggest crowd of visitors this year that we have ever had with us. Times are so hard that a place for the convention next year was not selected. Not a single city asked for the meeting," Col. Montgomery said.

Weed Control In Row Crop Wheat Harvest Develops Into Real Problem for

Rainfall Totals 9 Inches; Weeds Causing Worry

Edell Dubois, who resides five and one half miles northwest of town, tells a story that pretty fairly represents the farmers of Floyd County.

"Never had so much chopping that needed doing as badly as it does now. The weeds are about to take my row crops," he stated.

Mr. Dubois said that 9 inches of rain had fallen at his farm in the past three weeks and in that period of time he had been able to plow only one day.

A total of three-quarters of an inch precipitation fell at his place Tuesday night.

Rains have delayed harvest and fast growth of weeds has been making combining difficult, reports indicate.

"We're going to need help to fight these weeds," Dubois declared.

Of these, there are two sons, J. H. and J. F., who live at the parental home, and four daughters. The daughters are Mrs. Turner of Floydada, Mrs. G. D. Griffin of California, Mrs. A. L. Hamner of Mississippi A. & M. College and Miss Cleo Brownlee.

All of the children were at home for the funeral of their father except Mrs. Turner, who plans to leave soon to spend several weeks with the family. Mrs. Turner's children are the only grandchildren.

Masonic Lodge Invests In District Warrants

An investment of approximately $2,500 in salary vouchers of Floyd County teachers is in process of being made this week by the Masonic Lodge of Floydada, following recent action taken by the lodge.

Approximately $1,250 is being spent for vouchers of teachers of Floydada Independent School District and the same amount in vouchers of teachers of rural districts. Only vouchers held by the teachers themselves are being purchased, and no discount is being asked. Vouchers which have been traded or assigned are not being purchased. Price Scott county superintendent, said this week. "The funds are very helpful to the teachers, especially in cases where pay has been slow on account of slow tax payments this year," Mr. Scott said. The vouchers of Floydada District bear 8 per cent interest. Those of the rural districts bear 10 per cent until September 1 and after that date 8 per cent.

Mrs. Jonah McPeak Dies In Plainview; Interment In Floydada Cemetery

Mrs. Jonah McPeak, about 52, died this morning in Plainview, according to word received by relatives. Mr. McPeak is a brother of S. N. McPeak, of Floydada.

Deceased was a former resident of this city, having resided here over twenty years before moving a year ago to Plainview to make her home.

Details for the funeral were not complete this morning. She had been ill but her death came unexpectedly.

Surviving members of her family include the husband, Jonah McPeak, Plainview; four sons, Clinton, of Battle Creek Michigan; Clifford, Joe Bailey, and Chester, of Plainview; two daughters, Mrs. Finas Holcomb, Miss Noma, of Plainview, and Mrs. Dodd, of Colorado.

One son, H. C. McPeak was buried in Floydada cemetery in April having been killed in an automobile accident near Raymondville.

Interment will be made in Floydada cemetery, the date not having been arranged, according to relatives here.

Heavy Rains In Delay Work

Precipitation in Floydada Night Totals 1 In. Is General.

Weed control, usually considered mostly an exclusive matter for East Texas, has developed to a serious undertaking of proportions now confronting County farmers.

Row crops are beginning to suffer in some sections of the county and heavy rainfall during the month of June has kept workers out of fields for such an extended period that the "catching up" process causing concern and necessitating a little amount of fast labor.

Thistles and other weeds have grown rapidly in fields of ripened wheat and combines have been experiencing greater difficulty daily in operating. The harvest has been spasmodic because of delays by rains, early morning dews and the regular routine of "breakdowns."

Hot Weather Prevails

Some farmers have indicated that their wheat and barley crops are lost unless they are cut by headers, so thick have the weeds become in the fields. Hot "growing weather" has prevailed for the past three weeks.

General rainfall was reported over the county Tuesday night, ranging from two inches at Dougherty showers in the Harmony neighborhood.

Floydada received one inch, Fairview an inch, Campbell an inch and one-fourth, Lakeview an inch and three-eighths, Barwise, Starke and other communities reporting half an inch or more.

Showers the latter part of last week covered portions of the county, Floydada receiving 2 of an inch. Many sections reported good rains but they were not general.

Lakes Are Full

Lakes all over the territory are filled for the first time in several years and except for difficulty in combating weeds row crop conditions in Floyd County as a whole are considered good. Some of the territory, however, has been literally wiped out by hails, Lakeview, Campbell, Baker, Starkey and McCoy possibly having suffered the heaviest damage.

Crops in the extreme northeast part of the county below the caprock are unusually fine this year, reports indicate.

City's Indebtedness Cut $6,995 In Year, Says Duncan In Report

Indebtedness of the city of Floydada was cut $6,995.00 during the period from June 30, 1931, to June 30, 1932, according to a report made this week by S. E. Duncan, secretary of the city, to the Comptroller of the state at Austin. This report is required by statute and reflects, among other things, the present financial status of the municipality as to bonded indebtedness.

The report, made up in tabular form, shows that the city on June 30, 1931, had outstanding $383,614.40 in interest-bearing indebtedness. At the end of the year, June 30, 1932, this amount had been reduced to $376,619.40, a decrease of $6,995.

During the year a total of $20,567.42 was paid out for interest on bonded debts or a total for interest and principal of $27,552.42. The report shows that the city entered the period on June 30 of last year with $21,119.78 in the interest and sinking fund, and that during the year $17,820.82 in taxes was paid into the city's coffers, all of which was put in reserve against bonded debts. This total of cash on hand plus tax payments was $38,940.60. After deducting the $27,552.42 paid out the balance in the reserve funds was $11,388.18 on June 30 last.

A report similar in nature to that filed with the comptroller will also be filed in the office of the county clerk at a little later date.

MISSISSIPPI OIL MILL MAN VISITOR LAST WEEK

WEEDS AND THE WHEAT

All over the panhandle reports are beginning to show up, indicating that a very material percentage of the wheat crop of this area is going to be lost in the weeds. These reports indicate the loss may be as high as 25 per cent of the total crop. With a much greater amount lost from hail in what promised to be the best-producing areas for the season, the panhandle crop that will get on the markets is not going to represent anything like the volume that was predicted early. If the same conditions prevail all over the territory as in Floyd County, there will be a considerable reduction in wheat production from the estimate made by the Department of Agriculture, shortly before the harvest began.

WEEDS AND THE WHEAT

This is not to say, necessarily, that a higher price will result, though things had already happened to the wheat crop to make it double in price.

THE DEMOCRATIC PLATFORM

One thing, at least, can be said for the Democratic platform, namely that it does not straddle on any issue, and while there is the probability that such states as Texas may be lost to the party again in 1932 as in 1928, it will not be because anyone can fail to read and understand what the platform says.

However one may believe that the Eighteenth Amendment and the Volstead Law should be given further chance to make themselves effective, it cannot escape attention that the past ten or twelve years have been unsuccessful ones in the operation of the law under the constitution as amended. There seems to be no argument along this line, from either pro or anti. Many of the dry drys have been convinced that the system we have in operation is not the right one, and have no argument left except that it should be given further trial and an honest effort at enforcement made.

LOOK FOR BETTER CONDITIONS

A rather astute student of economic and business conditions tells us that "the signs are pointing toward a change for the better," and that "a substantial improvement in our economic conditions" ought to arrive with the early fall.

A better price for hogs is the only bright spot in the outlook for local betterment, where there is no promise except through improved agricultural prices. Possibly one other arrow pointing to better conditions is that wheat has not fallen in price further than it has since the harvest began. However, no great volume of wheat has "hit the market," as yet. We hopefully look for the better conditions suggested. The wish is father to the hope, perhaps.

THE GOVERNOR'S RACE

Many of the people of Floyd County have been looking for a satisfactory candidate for governor, who would be neither Mr. Sterling nor Mrs. Ferguson, and at the same time would have a good chance of winning the nomination. There is that vote that Mrs. Ferguson will have, the faithful followers of that inimitable campaigner, James E. Ferguson, who are completely satisfied and are militantly for Farmer Jim. But the others with some exceptions, are out of luck and will have to vote either for Mr. Sterling, of whose administration they cannot approve thoroughly, or for Mrs. Ferguson and a proxy governorship, the third alternative, just for the other good man, who is an

WARNER AND PARRISH

thing that should be of more immediate interest to northwest Texans at this time than the presidential campaign in November is the nomination primary on the twenty-third of this month, when three congressmen-at-large are to be chosen.

Since this section of the state would have obtained two of the new representatives in congress had the legislature done its duty last year as to re-districting, we should line up and vote—the whole section over—for the two persons who are resident of the area, to-wit Mrs. Phebe K. Warner of Claude, and Pink Parrish of Lubbock. Parrish is a candidate for "place" No. 1, and Mrs. Warner for "place" No. 2.

One will only have to look at the location of the principal lot of their opponents to note that if we do not center on them in this portion of Texas, the "at-large" representatives are going to come out of Dallas, Tarrant, Bexar, Harris, McLennan, or some nearby county to these. Both Mrs. Warner and Mr. Parrish are good, substantial candidates for whom one could vote with good conscience and without agreeing with them on every point. The congressman-at-large, place No. 3, is sure to come out of one of the larger centers of population, the line-up on the ticket indicates. So, if people of this area want the representation in congress to which they really are entitled they will have to quit letting their fancies turn to distant easterners of various and sundry political stripes and vote for the home candidates, who see things with our eyes and will most truly represent the constituency that ought to be represented by rights.

NO OPPONENT FOR JONES

It developed at the last minute in the race for Congressional honors in the Eighteenth District that Judge Henry S. Bishop decided not to contest with Marvin Jones for the place, and although his name appears on the Floyd County ballot, he is not, in fact, a candidate.

Why Judge Bishop decided at the eleventh hour to get in the race and at the eleventh hour also to get out, is a matter of no particular import. This is a free country and one can run or not run for office, as he chooses. But Judge Bishop is making a very capable judge in a very important judicial district and is probably better situated as he is to serve his country than he would be in the field of national politics.

Marvin Jones, on the other hand, seems to be making a good congressman, and it is doubtful that even a capable campaigner like Henry S. Bishop could have dislodged him from the place on so short a notice.

Robert Miller will be the first Floyd County boy who will enter military service in the capacity of a special or limited service man. He will go on July 18th to the State University for a course in automobile mechanics following which he will be sent to France as a truck or auto driver.

A. L. Bishop and daughters, Pauline, Tillie Fay, and Mrs. T. M. Cox, left the latter part of last week for Friona, to spend a short time with B. M. Gamble and family.

The first farmer to experiment with "town" help in Floyd county was H. A. Krause, of the Allmon community. Eight men were furnished for half a day. R. F. Brown, J. D. Price, Joe Caton, N. W. McCleskey, Homer Steen, O. P. Rutledge, R. E. Fry and F. M. Butler spent the half-day in the field.

CALIFORNIANS NOW USE WATER ON FOREST FIRES

Water is now being used more and more to fight forest fires in California, the Forest Service of the United States Department of Agriculture announces.

This is a new development, because ordinarily where the fire is the water isn't, and forest-fire fighters frequently have not been able to use water, much as it was needed. Recently the value of small quantities of water in fighting forest fires has brought about changes in firefighting methods.

One of the principal fire weapons used is a back-pack pump outfit which holds about 5 gallons of water and is carried by an individual. This has a hand pump and nozzle. It works well in putting out small grass fires or hot brush fires.

Another piece of water equipment is a portable power pump. This is carried by truck or pack horse, has 1,000 feet of hose, and delivers from 35 to 40 gallons of water a minute. Although water is not always within 1,000 feet of a fire, there are other cases where it is, and then this pump is helpful.

Where passable roads have been built tank trucks are often used by the Forest Service. They carry from 250 to 400 gallons of water, have 1,000 feet of hose, and can force a stream of water 200 feet high. Suction hose is carried to bring water from near-by sources.

Looks like the Democrats are "in the swim."

Round-up By The Cowhand Scribe

Garlan Glover handed The Cowhand a suggested theme song that would have been very appropriate for the big convention last week in Chicago. Here tis:

"How dry I am, how dry I am, nobody seems to—pass around the bottle and we'll all take a drink, pass around the bottle and we'll all take a drink—then show me the way to go home."

"I'm tired and want to go to bed. Had a little drink about an hour ago and it went right to my head. Wherever I may roam over land or sea or foam, you can always hear me singing this song—'Nobody knows how dry I am.'"

"Muskeeters! Gee rooselem! We kin go to hunting them now just like they wuz ducks—they're just about as big. Only you don't have to go hunt them—they'll look you up and jerk your leg off if you don't keep a sharp lookout."

"Never did I see sich big whoppers. I wuz a settin out poppin the other night with Dale Orsburn and John (Stumpola) Gamble and I wuzint botherin nobody nor nothin' and along comes one of them blood-thirsty skeeters and doggone if he didn't bite me through a pair of corduroy pants, my cotton unmentionables and my tuff hide."

"One got his bill hung in my boot and I kicked his ribs in afore he could git loose."

"Miss Bernice Claytor, the A. and M. Extension judge who wuz here to judge Alta Lloyd's bedroom said 'Why I thought East Texas was the only place they have muskeeters.' I took right up for our West Texas and let the insects prove the 'points.'"

"Anyway, we got the biggest and best skeeters in Texas and they're on the job and I don't mean mebbe!"

"Honera Childers saw me ambling down the avenue the other day and she sed, 'What are you wawkin' for, to reduce.'"

"Yep," sez me. "I'm wawkin' to reduce—to reduce my expense account."

"And by heck that reminds me of something. A feller has been running a little ad in the paper for a long time and he said he wuz thinking about having it discontinued for a short spell. Well, in these modern days we can go places without gasoline or money but we can't get there very fast in a walk and that's the way with advertising. A feller may get there without advertising but he'll be in a walk and all the other fellers will be whizzing by him. Advertising is the power in Business."

"My good friend Roy Horn may not look so much like a strong arm guy but he give a little proof that he's got something in his right shirt sleeve beside jist 'filler' material."

"Roy he took a copper cog or something out of a rotary pump or something, same weighing about 15 pounds, and he 'muscled it up' above his head for 53 times. Which wuz purty good considering the fact that The Cowhand couldn't much more than lift the thing off the ground."

"Lowell Gambin he done right well fer a young up and coming athlete—I think he done the lifting ack some 23 times before he dropped it."

"This little Betty Bly Baker who appeared on the Palace Theatre stage Friday night of last week has got real talent. She works in her routine with utmost care. Unless The Cowhand misses his guess she's going to make good."

"A beautiful gal come anking into Arwine Drug Store and saw Urnon Borum standing there looking off into the distance or something and she asked: 'Have you any Life Buoy?'"

"Old Urnon snapped out of it right off and being a purty witty guy in a pinch that way sez: 'Set the pace lady, set the pace.'"

Contemporary Thought

WE RESIST BEING HUMBLE

American Poultry Journal: The complications of modern life are staggering. "The good life" is found in a new world of simplicities. What we must find and claim are the simple things of life. Simple honesty is one of them. "But," it is said, "that is something that can't be seen nor felt. How will we get hold of it?" My friends, we will have to seek for a lot of the intangibles, things that can't be weighed. And we may have to humble ourselves in the quest, as even the great have had to, once they got too stiff-necked.

There is an old story of a man in trouble. He was a great man, at the high tide of power and position; an honorable man; a mighty man in valor, whose army had been victorious for the Syrian nation. But a great affliction was overcoming him. The white spots of leprosy were appearing.

A captive maid tells of a prophet in her native land of Israel, who could cleanse and recover him. Naaman prepares to do. He takes with him a letter of introduction from his king; and carries 10 talents of silver, 6,000 pieces of gold, and 10 changes of raiment.

As his horse and chariot draw up to the house of Elisha, Naaman expects the prophet to come out and greet him, and strike his hand over the place, and recover him. Instead, Elisha sends out a messenger, saying: "Go and wash in the Jordan river seven times, and thy flesh shall come to thee, and thou shalt be clean."

Naaman was wroth; his dignity was hurt; the great doctor had not even received him, and had sent out word for him to bathe in the muddy Jordan when there were other waters clearer and better. He turned and went away in a rage.

If the prophet had told Naaman to do a great thing, he would have done it gladly and at once. It took the persuasive argument of a humble-minded servant to get him down to the river Jordan. But he did go, and "he dipped himself seven times, and his flesh came again like the flesh of a little child, and he was clean."

Since then the vanity of human nature hath not changed. We still resist humbling ourselves and putting a little mud on ourselves. We want some grandiose gentlemen of imposing style and impressive schemes to appear in person. We are prepared to pay him well. But he mustn't prescribe any come-down.

MOST DANGEROUS CREATURE

Arizona State Bulletin: The most dangerous animal on earth is the fly! That is the conclusion, not of sensation mongers, but of cool-headed and cautious scientists. That little, insignificant, pesky house fly is a thousand times more dangerous to you and your babies than all the man-eating animals of the world could be.

Roosevelt in his hunting trip through the darkest jungles of Africa never faced the danger that is now besetting the men and women of America. The bloodthirsty denizens of that dark continent do not harm the human family as much in a century as does the fly in one single summer. The poisonous reptiles of India are harmless playthings in comparison. Railroad accidents kill and maim many, but the fly is ten-fold more destructive.

HOPE HE IS RIGHT

Memphis Democrat: Charles G. Dawes, retiring from public life after nearly fifteen years of service which began with the War, included the reorganization of Germany's finances, a term as Vice-President of the United States, Ambassador to Great Britain, and culminated with the presidency of the Reconstruction Finance Corporation, says that the nation has reached the turning point in the depression.

Mr. Dawes, who was and is a successful banker as well as a statesman, ought to know what he is talking about. He does not hold out any glittering promises to the foolish folk who still believe that the end of the depression will be heralded by the over-night resumption of full production in every industry and the skyrocketing of stock exchange prices to where they were three years ago. But he points out that people are beginning to use more electric current, that the small business and industries are showing gains in many lines, and he sagely reminds us that recovery from depression always starts at the bottom and works up. The big maker of motor cars or radio sets or other gadgets can't be expected to get into full swing until the smaller industries have been back in production long enough to make a dent in the number of unemployed and put the mass of the people in a position where they can again become customers for the products of the big industries.

We hope Mr. Dawes is right. And, if we may add an observation of our own, we think the revival of business is going to begin with makers and distributors of things which are neither domestic necessities nor luxuries, but which are aids to the small business man, helping him to do more business or do it more profitably.

A QUIZ ON WORDS

Wellington Leader: In a recent questionnaire sent to a number of eminent persons it was asked: "What word seems to you most annoyingly overused or misused?"

Among those suggested were: Intrigued, kiddies, cute, awful, gorgeous, very, sure, nice, grand, glamorous, colorful and I.

Another question was "What word in English seems to you most beautiful in sound?"

Replies included the following: Mother, love, violet, lake laughter, willow, melody, and I. A well-known educator voted for payday, with which most teachers will agree while a Mexican poet liked the sound of cuspidor best.

In answer to the request to pick the most useful word in the language, these were suggested: No, yes, the, of, and, in, it, is, have, do and I. An editor thought eat the most useful.

It may be observed that the pronoun I was selected in answer to all three questions, and a prominent physician declared it to be at once the most beautiful, the most useful and the most annoyingly overused of all words. Many of our readers will probably agree.

HAY CURES BY BURNING

Curing hay in sweat stacks by letting it heat is really burning part of the hay to make heat to dry the rest, the United States Department of Agriculture says.

When the hay heats in the sweat stacks a type of combustion takes place, although there is no actual flame. This method, used where there is so much rainfall that there is little chance to sun-cure the hay, produces what is known as "brown hay." Although it may be relished by livestock, hay cured this way is inferior to properly made sun-cured hay, as the heating produced a degree of deterioration, the department says.

CULL OLD HENS FIRST

"Get rid of the old hens in the flock first," says the United States Department of Agriculture, in answer to the question, Which layers shall I cull first? According to Dr. A. E. Wright, in charge of tuberculosis eradication for the department, old hens are more likely than young chickens to get and spread diseases, particularly tuberculosis. Young hens also lay about one-third more eggs the first year than in the second year.

Conoco Travel Bureau Serves Many Motorists

Big Corps Employees Kept Busy Marking Maps for Individual Vacation Trips.

Denver, Colo., July 1.—Business may not be all that it should be, and there are no doubt a few who are still hoarding their money "in the old sock," but such conditions do not alter the fact that hundreds of thousands of American citizens are daily tuning up the old bus—or a new, shiny one—for a long vacation trek to the mountains, lake resort or sea shore.

That is the report of the Conoco Travel Bureau, maintained in Denver for the purpose of extending free service to motor travelers throughout North America. Nearly 110,000 vacation trips have been planned by this organization so far this year, and that number is expected to increase considerably before the close of the summer vacation season.

Incidentally, the Conoco Travel Bureau, which is maintained by the Continental Oil Company, has already set a record for trip services, according to E. S. Karstedt, vice president.

"This fact might be attributed both to the growing popularity of this free travel service and to an improvement in general business conditions to the point where Mr. and Mrs. Average Citizen have been convinced that they can afford an annual vacation trip," said Mr. Karstedt.

"The service extended by the Conoco Travel Bureau is of wide general value, aside from the direct benefit to the motorist," Mr. Karstedt pointed out, "in that it encourages motorists to stop and shop throughout the country, and because a large staff of workers have been enlisted from the ranks of the unemployed to handle this service to travelers.

"At the headquarters of the Conoco Travel Bureau in Denver, a staff of 160 persons is maintained at this time, marking state road maps for individual vacation trips, and supplying innumerable pieces of literature devoted to scenic spots throughout the country. Of this staff, more than 100 persons have been employed during the past month, and the peak of the travel season will not be reached before July 20. This staff of workers does not include the thousands of Conoco employees who serve motorists at the more than 8,000 branches of the bureau throughout the country—wherever the Conoco triangle is displayed.

At the beginning of the 1932 season, the Conoco Travel Bureau set about to provide a free travel service that would be of aid to the motorist in helping him to plan his vacation or business trip, by providing him with maps and literature regarding scenic attractions, but also to help him en route by supplying him with camp and hotel information, and generally making his trip to the convenience and comfort of his tour.

During the first year of the Conoco Travel Bureau's operation slightly more than 26,000 such trips were planned for motorists. With the constantly improving its features were added, and the service advertised in newspapers throughout the country, the result that more than 67,000 vacationists called upon the bureau for vacation plans during 1931.

At the beginning of the 1932 season the bureau prepared to serve an estimated number of tourists this year was fortunate that plans were made in advance, for the opening travel season saw an increase in requests for trip service. By June 10 had reached 100,000 and by June 20, more than 100,000 such trips were planned by the bureau. The bureau covered every state in North America, and to 10,000 miles, while approximately 3,500 maps are being planned, it is expected that about 100,000 motor cars "traveling" will have come to an end.

Foster's Write Account Of Trip By Auto To N. Y.

Description of their trip from Floydada to New York where they are spending the summer with their son, Silas, was given in a letter received from Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Foster by their daughter, Mrs. O. H. Johnston, and family. They made the trip by auto. "We thought their friends would be interested," Mrs. Johnston said. The letter follows:

Bellmare, Long Island, Oak St. 433. Dearest Mable, Hiram and children: Will try to tell you about our trip. First we passed through Oklahoma City, saw the capitol of Oklahoma and Oklahoma City is some city. So we went on and saw the big rivers and towns; so we passed through Missouri and saw some fine buildings.

We have always heard people say, "I am from Missouri; you will have to show me." Well, Missouri is noted for its rocks. We saw people hoeing and it was so rocky I don't see how anything grows there but they had some fine grape vineyards and so many orchards—mostly apple.

So we passed on into Indiana and is a nice farming country and we saw some fine farm homes. We passed on into Ohio and it was good country—mostly corn raised there; some wheat, oats, and vineyards and also orchards.

Passed on into Pennsylvania. That was my favorite of all the countries we passed through. It is good farming country and grass grows everywhere—along the fences, in the yards and on the roads, and flowers of all kinds. So we came to the mountain chains. There are nine of them. We crossed them and one is nine miles long. We were going up and it was misting and cloudy and it turned dark and we went on up above the clouds and looked and we could see the clouds under us and it looked like smoke.

So I thought of John on the Isle of Patmos and God said, "Write these things down." And then again I thought of Moses in the cloud and in the sea and I thought "surely this is holy ground." And we came on and passed towns and rivers and we came to the Hudson River and they have a tunnel under the river there and we went under the tunnel and it was lit up with electric lights and it was two miles long and we came out in New York and then we began to see more things.

The trains run along and all at once they will just run down under the ground. Dad says they are like a prairie dog going in its hole.

We went down to the bay yesterday and saw the fishing boats. Dad hasn't been fishing yet. There was a young man who was going to take him out Wednesday if the weather fared up but it was cloudy and misty and has rained nearly every day since we have been here. Adeline sure does enjoy everything. Wish you all could see all the sights we have seen here. We have just now begun on our honeymoon. Silas is working. He and Renie are fine.

Well, boys, they sure do have lots of athletic parks here. You know we went to a ball game yesterday—first one I had ever seen. Ima, how are you? Think of all of you. Wonder what you all are doing and how is the harvest and are you cutting your wheat?

Will close with love to all, As ever, Mother, Dad, Adeline.

Sheriff J. M. Wright and son, Hearon, spent Sunday in Chillocoche where they accompanied Mrs. James E. Thornton and children who visited here last week with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Wright.

Mr. and Mrs. B. F. Tunnell and son of Matador were guests for a short time Monday of Mr. and Mrs. C. L. Minor.

NEW COTTON FOUNDATION FABRIC FOR HOOKED RUGS

Revival of interest in things colonial has suggested an advantageous extension of the use of cotton for making hooked rugs. These rugs are inexpensive and attractive home-made floor coverings whose popularity has created a widespread farm home industry, especially in the South and New England.

Hooked rugs require a strong, loosely woven foundation fabric, a filler material, and a protective lining. For all three of these parts, cotton can be used. The United States Department of Agriculture recently undertook to develop a good cotton foundation fabric to overcome some of the drawbacks of the commonly used jute burlap and other foundation materials, and provide an outlet for more staple cotton.

Two promising cotton foundation fabrics were selected from a number designed experimentally. They were tested for tensile strength, thread count, weight per square yard, and thickness. These fabrics are similar in structure to burlap, but stronger in the warp yarns and less likely to deteriorate from moisture and sunlight.

Complete rugs were also made in the laboratory on these foundation fabrics, using different kinds of fillers. In colonial days, the housewife made her hooked rugs from old clothes or hose or the piece box. But many rugs are now made of new material purchased in the desired colors or dyed to suit the pattern. Both the ready-prepared cotton fillers and cloth cut in narrow strips are used, and provide an additional outlet for cotton. Cotton fillers usually result in more beautiful and more durable rugs.

A lining or backing gives added life to a hooked rug. It prevents the rug from curling readily, gives it body, and keeps dust and grit from cutting the stitches on the back of the rug. Any durable, closely woven cotton, such as crash, denim, osnaburg, or canvas, is satisfactory.

COLORED WRAPPERS HELP PREVENT FOOD SPOilage

Color has a practical as well as an esthetic value in wrapping food-stuffs to be stored for some time. Most colors permit the passage of the rays of light that promote spoilage. Only two—grass green and black—shut out those rays, the green, like the chlorophyll of plants, by absorbing the photochemically active wave lengths of light and the black by absorbing practically all the rays.

The effect of light on the deterioration of oil-bearing foods was shown in a recent study by food research chemists in the United States Department of Agriculture.

In one test two lots of the same meal were stored side by side for about a year, one glass bottle exposed to the direct sunlight and the other in a glass bottle wrapped in black paper. The meal in the wrapped bottle was fresh and sweet when removed; that in the unprotected bottle was spoiled, with a very rancid odor.

In another test a set of vials, one containing lard, one butter, and one salad oil, was placed in each of 10 compartments, each compartment was covered with glass of a different shade, and the whole frame was exposed to sunlight. At the end of the experiment the material kept under the grass-green glass was still sweet, while that kept under the glass of any other shade of green, as well as of the different shades of blue, purple, yellow, orange, and red, was distinctly rancid. The same results were obtained when oil-bearing foods were wrapped in cellophane of varying hues.

"This study," says Mayne R. Coe, of the Bureau of Chemistry and Soils, who conducted it, "offers manufacturers of oil-bearing foods a practical means for delaying rancidity and reducing the monetary losses resulting therefrom. Crackers, potato chips, and coffee also spoil rapidly when so stored that the active rays of light can reach them. Grass-green and black containers prevent or greatly retard such deterioration."

RABBIT RAISERS WARNED AGAINST BIG-PROFIT LURES

Easy money and lots of it from the rabbit business, held out as a sure return by promoters who seek to sell breeding stock, can not be realized in most instances, says the Bureau of Biological Survey of the United States Department of Agriculture. The Bureau advises people intending to start rabbit raising to investigate thoroughly the local possibilities of a market and the risks of the business before going into it.

The unemployment situation has led some unscrupulous promoters to take advantage of conditions and to sell rabbits to people who are entirely unfamiliar with the field. They predict big returns. Many of the concerns that promise to buy back the meat or fur, or both, are interested primarily in selling breeding stock at very high prices.

Garlan Glover and W. H. Hilton made a trip to Slaton Monday night. They were accompanied home by Diehl and Berne Glover, sons of Garlan.

Dog Days

July 3, is the beginning of what is known as the Roman superstition termed as "Dog Day." This superstition is based on the belief that the heat and calamities were connected with the star, "the little dog" which they worshipped. They accordingly conferred the name upon the period between July 3 and August 11.

Older people still hold to the superstitious idea that if a person has a wound inflicted during this time it will not heal until after dog days are over.

Dougherty and vicinity received one and five-eighths inches of rain Tuesday night. The rain was accompanied by a high wind but no hail.

The wheat farmers are worried about harvest weather as only about two half days the past three weeks have really been suitable harvest weather. The ground has been damp and the heat causes a steam on the ground that moistens the wheat grains.

Most cotton and row crops are beginning to need weeding and in some places the weeds are getting so large and rank in the wheat that a combine can not be driven through it without a breakdown. So we're needing some "new comer" to predict for us some dry weather.

Church News

Attendance at the Sunday schools and other services Sunday were better than for the past few weeks.

Rev. F. O. Garner will preach at the morning and evening service here next Sunday.

RECIPES AND MENUS

Pepping Up The Low-Cost Meal

Housewives often have to fool their families. This they can do quite harmlessly, and be thanked for it besides, if they are clever cooks. The same old soup, the same old greens, the same potatoes, even, says the Bureau of Home Economics, reveal new forms and flavors resulting from changes in preparation and seasoning. But these, like most other things, are harder to do when rations are short than when there is some leeway in the family purse. How far can inexpensive seasonings go to vary the low-cost meal? What are some of the tricks of getting variety in flavor?

The recipe specialist of the Bureau of Home Economics, Mrs. Fanny Walker Yeatman, has some suggestions about this. Says she: "One of the best ways to give flavor to soups and stews is to brown, in fat, the meat and vegetables that go into them. Also use crisped bits of salt pork or bacon, added at the last minute, instead of putting them in 'as is' and at the beginning. A stew made this way will taste quite different from the stew made of the diced fresh vegetables, or from meat and vegetables simply cooked in water."

Some of the most attractive seasonings actually can be grown in the kitchen—in anything from old saucers and flower pots to hanging baskets or window-boxes. Parsley, chives, thyme, mint, tarragon—all of these little plants grow readily this way, according to the garden specialist of the Bureau of Plant Industry, W. R. Beattie, and are very ornamental as well as useful.

Onion juice is often preferable to chopped onion for seasoning. Dried celery tops (save all your celery leave and hang them up in a paper sack to dry) are cheap and useful seasonings for stuffings. So is celery seed. Fresh mint leaves or watercress may be used for the same purpose, especially with roast lamb, and celery seeds are particularly good with potato salad and cold slaw. A German use of mace—ever so little mace—is with green beans, and this unusual flavor adds interest to the ordinary, canned beans when creamed. Some people like a "suspicion" of nutmeg in chicken soup, and a "ghost" of curry powder in French salad dressing, while chili sauce or catsup in mayonnaise makes something rather like Russian dressing.

When it comes to cakes and desserts, says Mrs. Yeatman, almond will be found an interesting variation from the stand-by flavoring extracts such as vanilla and lemon, and the grated peel of an orange or a lemon is excellent. Orange biscuit may be a change, and orange toast or cinnamon toast can be used in place of dessert for supper, say, or with dessert, for that matter—especially with fruit. To make the orange toast, mix the grated peel of the orange with sugar and some orange juice, and spread on the slice of bread before toasting.

A few raisins will change the character of a cake, or of cookies, as will coconut also. Caramel is a homemade flavor which is usually very popular with the family, and costs very little. Chocolate rice pudding is another variation—and one that some children like even though they refuse the plain rice pudding.

Never overdo the seasoning, says Mrs. Yeatman. This also make the supper last longer. Here, for instance, is a little budget which is suggested, in addition to salt and pepper, as giving much in little, and which should last for many weeks—at a total cost of about 65 cents:

Celery seed, Sage, thyme, or poultry seasoning, mustard, Curry powder, Nutmeg or cinnamon, vanilla. Cloves, allspice, pickle spice, mixed cake spice, mace, ginger, paprika, bay leaf, bottled horseradish—any of these can be added or substituted at a cost of 8 to 10 cents per package, almond extract, shredded coconut, and chocolate at 7 to 23 cents per package. Cocoa can often be used in place of chocolate, and costs less.

MENUS

Low-Cost Menu for One Day
Breakfast
Hot Cereal, Toast or Orange Biscuits
Orange juice for children
Coffee (Adults) Milk (Children)

Dinner
Shoulder of lamb with mint stuffing
Canned Corn Snap Beans
Bread and Butter
Milk for all

Supper
Potato salad with onions on Lettuce
Toast
Chocolate bread pudding
Milk for Children

Recipes
Beef Stew (with browned ingredients)
1 pound lean beef
½ cup beef suet (small pieces)
4 potatoes, diced
2 onions, chopped
2 tablespoons flour
1 pint water
1 quart canned tomatoes
Salt
Pepper.

Wipe the meat with a damp cloth and cut into small pieces. Try out the suet and remove any crisp pieces. Brown the onion and potatoes in the drippings. Remove the vegetables and brown the meat which has been rolled in the browned vegetables and the tomatoes and continue to simmer until the potatoes are soft. Season with salt and pepper and stir in the crisped pieces of fat and serve.

Roast Shoulder of Lamb with Mint or Watercress Stuffing
3 or 4 pound shoulder of lamb
3 cups fine dry bread crumbs
½ cup fresh mint leaves, or 1½ cups finely cut watercress leaves and stems.
6 tablespoons butter or other fat.
3 tablespoons chopped celery.
1½ tablespoons chopped onion
¾ teaspoon salt
Dash of pepper.

Have the butcher remove all the bones and the fell from the meat. Save the bones for making soup. Melt the butter in a skillet and add the onion and celery. Cook for a few minutes and add the mint leaves or the finely cut cress and the other seasonings, stir in the bread crumbs, and mix all the ingredients together. (When using watercress allow the liquid which cooks out to evaporate before the bread crumbs are added.)

Sprinkle the inside of the pocket in the shoulder with salt and pepper, pile the hot stuffing in lightly, and sew the edges together. Rub salt, pepper, and flour over the outside. Place the roast on a rack in an open pan without water. Sear for 30 minutes in a hot oven (480 degrees F.) Reduce the oven to moderate temperature (300 degrees F.) and cook the meat at this temperature until tender—from 2½ to 3 hours at these oven temperatures. Serve hot with brown gravy.

A scoop of either green ice cream or a mint ice dropped into a glass of tea or a glass of fruit punch makes a delicious beverage.

FRUIT PUNCH (serves about 25 people): 1c grated pineapple, 3-5 lemons, 1 pt. grape juice, 1 pt. carbonated water, 2 c tea, 5 oranges, 1 lb. sugar, 2 qt. sugar.

SANDWICH SUGGESTIONS (sweet): 1. Cook to a paste ½ lb. figs and ½ T orange juice and ½ c water. Add ½ c chopped nuts.
2. One c date pulp; ½ c nut meats; 1 T orange juice.
3. Prune pulp and water cooked to a paste. Add nuts and lemon juice.

ICE BOX COOKIES: 2 c brown sugar, 3 eggs, ½ c chopped almonds, 1 t soda, 1½ c shortening, 1 t cinnamon, 5 c flour, ½ t salt. Cream the shortening and sugar together and add well beaten eggs. Sift all dry ingredients together and add gradually to the creamed mixture. Add almonds. Shape into rolls and let stand in the ice box over night. In morning slice into ¼ inch slices and bake.

Cheese Fundue
1 pint milk
2 cups fine dry bread crumbs
1 pound soft cheese, flaked with a fork.
½ teaspoon salt
1 small onion, grated
Whole wheat toast
Heat the milk in a double boiler. Add the bread crumbs, cheese, salt, and grated onion. Stir until the cheese has melted. Serve on toast.
Scalloped Cabbage, Spaghetti and Cheese
1½ cups spaghetti broken in small pieces
3 tablespoons flour
3 tablespoons butter or other fat
2 cups milk
½ pound American cheese.
1 teaspoon salt
1 quart shredded cabbage
1 cup bread crumbs
Cook the spaghetti in boiling salted water for 20 minutes, and drain. Make a sauce of the flour, fat, milk, and salt. Shave up the cheese, add to the hot sauce, and stir until melted. Put the cabbage, spaghetti, and sauce in a greased baking dish in layers and cover the top with the bread crumbs. Bake for 20 to 30 minutes in a moderate oven.

The buffet luncheon offers an excellent means of entertaining a large number of guests where the time, space and maid service are limited. Such a form of service also simplifies the entertainment since grouping may be made with a view of mutual interest of the individuals.

The main-course foods are placed on a large table and two friends assist by serving the meat and salad. The guests serve themselves to other dishes. Guests are then seated at card tables in groups of four. Rolls may be served from the large table or may be passed by maid after guests are seated.

A menu which lends itself easily to this type of service: Chicken a la king in bread cases, buttered green peas, potatoes creamed in half shells, buttered rolls, stuffed tomato salad, olives, cream, sugar strawberry shortcake, mints, nuts.

RECIPES
CHICKEN A LA KING: Cook until tender two small hens or one large hen. The time of cooking depends on the fowl; in pressure cooker only 45 minutes under 15 pounds of pressure will be necessary. Remove meat from bones and chop fine. Add this to a cream sauce.

SAUCE: Scald 2 c of milk and add to a paste made by mixing 4 t butter, 4 t flour and 1 t salt. Stir well and cook in a double boiler for 15 minutes.

BREAD CASES: Two pullman loaves, cut into slices 1½-2 inches thick; outer crust is trimmed away, and a well make in center of each piece. Brush with butter and toast.

BREAD CASES: Two pullman loaves will be required for these. The bread is cut into slices 1½-2 inches in thickness; the outer crust is trimmed away, and a well made in the center of each piece. A biscuit cutter may be used for this. The bread is then brushed over with butter and toasted on both sides in a medium oven.

STUFFED TOMATOES: Twenty ripe but firm tomatoes. These are stuffed with any desired filling such as cream cheese, or cucumber and carrots combined with mayonnaise dressing.

CREAMED POTATOES IN HALF SHELLS: Ten medium sized potatoes are used. These are baked in the oven until tender. Cut lengthwise, remove potato from shells, season, beat until light, return to shells and brown slightly.

STRAWBERRY SHORTCAKE: 4 c flour, 8 t baking powder, 1 t salt, 2 T sugar, 2/3 c butter, 1½ c milk. Mix dry ingredients and sift twice. Cut butter into dry mixture, and add milk gradually. Divide into 2 parts. Roll thin and cut into desired shapes, brush with butter, place on buttered tins and bake for 10-12 minutes in hot oven.

Cut or crush berries, sweeten to taste, and put between and on top of short cake. Top with whipped cream.

MINTS: 4 t. sweet cream, 5 drops of oil of peppermint, powdered sugar, coloring. Method: Sifted powdered sugar is added to cream until a soft consistency is formed. The coloring and peppermint oil are then added and thoroughly incorporated

OLD HIGH FINANCE

Frenzied finance is not exclusively a habit of recent years. At the Riggs National Bank in Washington, says the Popular Magazine, there is carefully guarded a proof of the foregoing assertion.

Regarding the proof there is told this story:
One winter morning Henry Clay, finding himself in need of money, went to the Riggs bank and asked for the loan of $250 on his personal note. He was told that while his credit was perfectly good, it was the inflexible rule of the bank to require an indorser.

The great statesman hunted up Daniel Webster and asked him to indorse the note.
"With pleasure," said Webster. But I need some money myself. Why not make your note for $500 and you and I will split it?"

This they did. And today the note is in the Riggs Bank—unpaid.

Jeff Price, who has been confined to his home for the past ten days with an attack of rheumatism, is improving this mid-week. His brother, Authur Price, of Amarillo, was here last Friday night and Saturday morning, visiting his mother, Mrs. P. Price.

20 Wardrobe Demonstrators Save $539.09 In Year From Ideas In Clothing Economy

Club Women Show Unusual Management and Resourcefulness In Undertaking.

Remarkable economy effected by 20 clothing demonstrators in the Home Demonstration Clubs of the county shows that the women saved a total amount of $539.09 on their wardrobes during the past year by following instructions and suggestions given them in their wardrobe demonstration work.

In reports compiled by Miss Marjorie Faulkner, county home demonstration agent, the amount expended for clothing for one year by the demonstrators was $538.23. The accounts kept by the women in the respective clubs showed over a period of a year an average of $26.91 was expended by each individual.

The 20 demonstrators made 75 garments by foundation patterns at a saving of $148.04, or an average of $1.97 saved on each garment made by the women.

Each demonstrator and cooperator totaling 98 participants who completed the demonstration, reported one foundation pattern made for themselves, and in addition assisted 267 others with their foundation patterns.

It was disclosed in the records that 14 out of 20 demonstrators made new closets and the other six women added shelves, rods on which to hang clothes, shoe racks, and hat racks.

There were 239 closets reported greatly improved in storage space and from this number 47 built completely new closets.

Marking the close of the Wardrobe Demonstration, a special program was held June 9 at the Floydada High School by the club women and Miss Faulkner. Following a style revue and after consideration of dresses made by the demonstrators and other items in the contest winners were selected.

Interesting accounts of their work were given in the reports or narratives written by all the participants. Mrs. T. J. Boyd won first place in the county contest and Mrs. H. H. Meador was second, Miss Blanche Ramsey and Mrs. S. M. Lester tied for third and Mrs. G. E. Bond was fifth.

Mrs. Boyd Saves $225.21
Mrs. T. J. Boyd, Wardrobe Demonstrator for Antelope Club, made a saving of $225.21 as a result of the wardrobe demonstration.

Mrs. Boyd said: "When the chairman of our club asked me to be a wardrobe demonstrator I exclaimed, 'Oh, no, no, no, I have bought scarcely nothing in the last two years. I have up to my eyes in new clothes.'"

"I replied, 'That because you are the very one who can plan and make clothes that you are buying new ones for us to plan and make'

"I just what Mrs. Boyd helped of a good fitting pattern and a knowledge of any other pattern she was able to refitting garments and number of things from the family scrap bag.

"I became demonstrator I did how useful a clothes be and how many dead," Mrs. Boyd said.

"I was dark, had a shelf high that it was useless, for linens, no pockets, nothing but a sagging pine rod for metal hangers that left puffed out, soiled spots on the sleeves.

"The first improvement on the closet was to paper it with light paper, then lower the hat shelf, add four short shelves for the linens, also add an iron rod to hold neatly padded clothes hangers covered with old silk hose. Baby's outgrown booties and gloves were quickly converted into bags of rose leaves. Shoe and hose bags, pincushions, clothes brush, pockets for shoe cleaner and polish cloths were added. All this was done without any additional cost, merely the use of 'left overs.'

Mrs. Boyd said, "Never before did I realize how much ones wardrobe is influenced by economic shopping and serious planning of line, color, construction, combinations and selection of garments to be purchased and in the renovation of those on hand."

Wardrobe Cost $2.50

"When I entered the Wardrobe Demonstration, my storage space for clothing consisted of some nails driven in the wall with a sheet hung up for a cover" says Mrs. H. H. Meador, wardrobe demonstrator for Lone Star club.

"Since this was unsatisfactory I began to look for something more modern and convenient. With the entire cost of $2.50 I now have an attractive wardrobe adequate for my needs," she continues.

Mrs. Meador is living in a rented house and felt that her closet should be one that could easily be moved. A second-hand wardrobe was purchased for $2.00. Ten inches from the top she built a shelf for her hats, extending the entire length of the wardrobe. A partition was placed from the shelf to the floor of the wardrobe. At the right of this partition a clothes rod was constructed, at the left is a shelf for accessories, accommodating purses, jewelry, hose, handkerchiefs, and the like. Below this is a shelf for lingerie. The lower portion of the wardrobe contains a laundry bag, shoe rack, and a tie and scarf rack.

Two mirrors about 10 inches by 12 inches are placed on the doors with hand made polychrome frames. These are in such a position that they are very convenient when placing on one's hat. Below the mirror on one side hangs a clothes brush and dainty lace pin cushions, on the other is placed a "make up shelf" which takes care of all cosmetics and a flash light to use instead of electric lights.

After this was all completed, Mrs. Meador enameled the inside white for protection from moths, and the outside was stained and varnished.

Mrs. Meador illustrated the number of attractive little articles that may be constructed, using materials from the family scrap bag, when noted that each hanger is padded with cotton and covered. Each have sachet bags for powder or perfume. A rack made of wire, wrapped with scraps of ribbon and padded with cotton holds each hat. A small silk bag was made containing four pockets used for dirty handkerchiefs, Kleenex, shoe polish and brushes.

Mrs. Meador said, "My clothing has been selected after studying line color, durability and suitable to my needs. I plan to make over two dresses, purchase about $2.00 worth of underwear and two pairs of hose, then my year's wardrobe will be complete."

Replacing of Ducks Shot by Hunters Aim of Two San Francisco Sportsmen

"For every duck killed, another of the same species shall take its place in the migration south."

With this as their maxim, two San Francisco sportsmen have instituted a fine bit of game conservation and propagation.

Six years ago Nion R. Tucker, stock broker, and J. O. Tobin, banker, started the Pintail Duck Club with a two-fold purpose: To provide excellent duck shooting and to raise a sufficient number of water fowl so that the number released at the close of the season would equal the number killed during open months.

Permission of the government to take over 300 acres of San Francisco Bay for raising purposes, was secured and a semi-circular breakwater was erected around the area.

Problem of Raising
One summer later the salt water had dried up and the process of filling the gap with clear fresh water was started. Within the 300 acres several smaller breakwaters had been erected, breaking up the large pond into several smaller ones.

Several penned deep water ponds were filled. Into these was put the nucleus of what now has bred into nearly 1000 game birds. During the first shooting season many mallards were trapped and carefully penned for breeding season.

Sparg, canvasback, redhead, widigeon and bluebills found their way into the baited pens, but after the first season it was found these species did not take to domestic raising.

The second year of the migratory bird hunting season found Tucker and Tobin ready to start their propagation work. That year nearly 1000 birds were sent aloft to join members of their own kind flying high overhead on the way southward to the winter feeding grounds.

Banding the Birds
In addition to the excellent work in replacing all birds taken during the season, a government banding station has been established at the Pintail Duck Club.

There, after the shooting season is concluded, hundreds of birds are trapped, banded with a numbered metal strip, and released. Reports of the birds being shot have come from virtually every state and from

Alaska and Mexico.

In 1929, 743 birds were caught by means of a specially constructed pen trap, banded and released. In 1930, due to a late start, after the southern flight had practically ceased, only 687 were thus treated.

Both students of ornithology, Tucker and Tobin have a collection of rare and semi-rare game birds that would be a credit to almost any zoo. Some have been brought from Africa. Big prices have been paid for several species in the hope they would propagate and furnish sport to American hunters.

Among rare geese imported from Japan, Alaska, England, Africa, and the continent are listed the red-breasted goose, Egyptian goose, Cereopsis goose, Orinoco goose, white fronted goose, blue goose, gray lag, and Emperor goose. A pair of the latter species cost $600.

From All Countries

In the two dozen duck pens are kept birds from virtually every country on the globe. Among these are found pairs of the following varieties: black-billed, black-billed, Javanese, white-faced, mallard, widigeon, black-breasted, Egyptian rose-bill, South African sheldrake, blue bill, European widigeon, American widigeon and a half-score of birds well known to huntsmen on this continent. In all 42 varieties are represented.

"a quarter" is the story of Blanche Ramsey, wardrobe demonstrator for Harmony-Allmon club. And this is how she did it.

"My closet grew from two boards 10 inches by 16 feet, that were unused in the barn, a door from the attic, a door knob, two wall paper sample books on hand, and hinges, screws and paint from Woolworths at a cost of 25 cents. Before this my raiment was parked on two nails directly behind the door and the unhangables in a closet in another bedroom. The labor, with the exception of the sawing of two feet of board and the making of two hat racks, I did myself. The tangible cost of labor was one fingernail and a warped disposition during the process of construction."

Prizes Her Pattern
When I undertook the job of wardrobe demonstrator for our club I did so with a selfish purpose in mind, says Mrs. G. E. Bond, wardrobe demonstrator for Campbell club. "I wanted to learn to alter patterns and most of all to acquire a confidence in my own ability to start a dress and bring it to a successful conclusion," she said.

Mrs. Bond started without a closet her clothes hanging here and there on nails. Plenty of scrap pieces of lumber, two broom handles and necessary wire were salvaged from the junk pile and with the aid of an interested husband a closet was constructed without any cash expenditures.

Mrs. Bond said, "One of my most prized souvenirs of the contest is my foundation pattern. With it I can not only alter a commercial pattern, but can dispense with patterns all together and this is a great saving."

During the last of April, Campbell Club held a Community Pattern School and at that time Mrs. Bond assisted twenty-six persons with their pattern. Later she helped two other ladies who came to her home. She said, "As a result of the wardrobe demonstration I have gained a confidence in my own efforts that cannot be measured in dollars and cents."

Saves Many Steps
"Had I not been a wardrobe demonstrator my clothes would be scattered in several rooms and I would still be using up all my vim and vitality chasing after them," says Mrs. S. M. Lester, of Liberty Home Demonstration club.

Mrs. Lester had a large closet without any conveniences. Shoes were placed on the floor, hats in a dresser drawer, hangers for clothes on nails inside the closet. The rest of the space was used for junk.

"Now I can step out of my bath and dress in a jiffy, not taking more than six steps, since in my closet I have a place for hats, shoes, hose, folded garments, as well as my dresses and coat," Mrs. Lester said.

SECONDHAND BARRELS COSTS FOR DAIRY

There's money in old some times.

At least Uncle Sam's Dairy Industry is suggesting manufacturers of concentrated skim milk look into the possibility of saving money by using hand barrels instead of new as containers for their product. About 20,000,000 pounds of treated sour skim milk was used in 41 plants in various parts of the country.

The bureau reports that made, light, and uniform units of various kinds can be purchased for less than the price of new ones, and that such barrels are properly used and treated they are satisfactory for holding and storing concentrated sour skim milk. They must be tight enough to prevent loss of product by leakage, and also prevent the admission of air, which would cause molds to develop in the barrels with paraffin solution of sodium silicate to insure against leaks.

Concentrated sour skim milk is a valuable feed for hogs and chickens and its manufacture offers a dairy-plant manager an outlet for his skim milk. Many dairy operators who have the necessary condensing equipment and a plentiful supply of skim milk for their concentrated product, do well to consider its possibility. The bureau says. When produced and packaged this product keeps for several months without refrigeration, and it can therefore be sold gradually as a market is developed.

Mad Dogs

B. N. Bilby, Oklahoma State health Commissioner, announced that 50 years have passed since Pasteur announced to the world that he had found a successful treatment for Rabies. This epochal discovery was in immediate danger of being lost from this disease; yet in 1932, each year, there are reported to the Bureau of Vital Statistics 10,000 deaths from rabies. This particular season (summer and fall) many communities have their "mad dog scares" so well to consider some of the facts about this disease for there is no cure after the animal has once developed.

During the first six months of the year, the State Laboratory examined 374 heads of various animals that transmit rabies, and 169 were found to be infected with the disease. Rabies is commonly supposed to be only during the hot months, but it is in fact more prevalent in winter. More dog bites occur from April to September, than from October to March in this climate. These dogs run abroad more freely in season of the year.

Rabies is primarily a disease of secondary man. It is kept in nature mainly by the dog of the dog family. Rabies in cats and skunks is comparatively rare but is occasionally transmitted to man.

The saliva of rabid animals contains the poison of rabies. Rabies occurs in persons with extreme abrasions of the skin contaminated with infected saliva. The incubation period of rabies in man varies from 14 days to a year or more. The average period in man is forty days, though this period is usually shorter in children or following bites on the face. The closer the bite is to the brain the more dangerous it is.

The disease may be controlled by means of intelligent measures directed towards the dog. It is mainly the stray dog that keeps rabies alive. Stray dogs should be impounded and ownerless dogs killed. All dogs should be licensed and required to wear a tag. Owners of such animals should be held legally responsible for damage inflicted by them. All cases of suspected rabies should be promptly reported to health officials.

Immunization of dogs against rabies has been used with good results. The immunity against rabies lasts about one year in dogs, so the vaccination should be repeated once a year.

In case of an unprovoked attack by a dog, it is well to remember that an attack may be due to the mania produced by rabies, and there is only one course to pursue—penalty or chain the suspected animal for a period of ten days. Within this period of time the dog will usually develop symptoms of rabies.

All make the diagnosis possible. When determined that the animal is rabid, immediate treatment should be given. How to treat a bite about the neck should be given immediately. Wait for treatment should be given immediately. Wait for treatment should be given immediately.

It should be exercised in killing a rabid dog, not to aim at the head, for if this is done the brain will be destroyed. A satisfactory examination of the brain consists of the removal of the bitten person with a vacuum for fourteen to twenty consecutive days. Usually all effects are experienced immediately.

Recently, the use of madstones in the treatment of rabies has about been discarded along with the belief that a hot night air transmitted rabies. Yet, in fairly recent times, a link superstition has had its day.

THREE SLIGHTLY HURT WHEN CAR HITS WAGON ON HIGHWAY 28 MONDAY

Ray Moreau, mechanic with the Snodgrass Chevrolet Company, suffered severe bruises on his left side and Joe Dick Moore, 9, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Moore, of this city, was cut on his nose and his left knee was injured and Mrs. J. A. Johnson, of Amarillo was severely shaken up when the car in which they were riding struck the rear end of a wagon on Highway 28 Monday night.

The accident occurred about six miles east of Plainview near a filling station about 10:55 o'clock Monday night. Moreau, who was driving, said that another car approaching from the east prevented his seeing a wagon loaded with feed in front of him until it was too late to turn off the road. A trailer was also hooked to the wagon.

The car, a Chevrolet six coupe owned by Glad Snodgrass, of this city, was heavily damaged but did not overturn. The windshield and the glass in the door on the right side were broken, the hood, radiator, fender and left front portion of the body were crushed. A two-by-four from the trailer or wagon bent pierced the car and went through the floor board missing Moreau a scant few inches.

Moreau had driven the car to Amarillo Monday with Mr. Snodgrass and in company with his mother-in-law, Mrs. Johnson, and Joe Dick, who had been spending the week visiting in Amarillo, was returning to Floydada. He was driving about 40 miles an hour when the accident occurred, Moreau said.

Occupants of the car were brought to the Smith & Smith Sanitarium and given treatment. No one was seriously hurt.

DISCUSSES A. P. I. OIL CODE AT ROTARY MEETING

Geo. B. McAllister, agent of the Texas Oil Company at Floydada, discussed the much-discussed Code of Ethics of the American Petroleum Institute before the Floydada Rotary Club at its Wednesday meeting. The code has been criticized in high quarters and is the basis for suits filed in Texas during the past year by the attorney general's department.

"Oil companies, along with many other businesses, suffered enormous losses in 1931," Mr. McAllister said, and gave it as his opinion that no conspiracy against the consuming public was involved in the code, which, he believes, is based on a high ethical standard.

He declared that in Texas, gasoline which furnishes the greater portion of the volume for oil companies, is paying a tax of twenty-five per cent at this time.

Roy L. Snodgrass, member of a local committee on obtaining right-of-way to widen Highway No. 28, gave a report on progress being made by this committee. An effort to complete the job in ten days and give the results into the hands of the commissioners' court will be made, he said.

Robt. Medlin new president, presided at the meeting. J. C. Wester had charge of the program. O. A. Thomas, of the Lubbock Rotary Club, was a visitor.

Edgar Moreland made a trip to Plainview July 4.

BETTY BLY BAKER TAKES 'SPOTLIGHT' IN REVUE AT PALACE THEATRE FRIDAY

Numbers by little Betty Bly Baker, including a waltz clog, a buck dance, and a song, in the Palace Theatre Revue presented Friday night of last week under the direction of Miss Honora Childers were unusually well done and were outstanding features.

A vocal chorus featuring Vee Bishop, Vela and Verla Blessingame was good. The Harmonica Band directed by Duncan Hollums proved popular with the audience.

The men's quartette including Garlan Glover, Clyde Maddox, Roy Holmes and Kyle Glover, was well received, as was a song by Rhea Cloud and Kyle Glover with Mrs. V. Andrews at the piano.

Music for the revue was played by Miss Oma Johnson at the piano. Members of the girls' chorus included Bernice Bishop, Blanche Hilton, Ardrea Jones, Alice Mae Fyffe, Elizabeth Hollingsworth, Vee Bishop and Mary Helen White.

Without question the prettiest number on the program that was pleasingly and cleverly presented was a waltz by Evelyn Daily and Miss Childers dressed in quaint costumes.

Other members of the cast included Norine Spence, Mary Prickett and Messrs. O. B. Olson and Herbert Sims.

Models for a style show given in connection with the revue included Oleta Jackson, Jessie Mae Wood, Mary Helen White, Honora Childers, Maurine Hay, Louise Condra, Helene Hay, Ardrea Jones, Elizabeth Hollingsworth, Bernice Bishop, Blanche Hilton, and Betty Bly Baker.

All gowns were modelled, courtesy Martin Dry Goods Company. A regular picture program was presented in connection with the revue. A capacity house was in attendance.

STAR CASH GROCERY IS ENTERED BY THIEVES; TOTAL LOSS IS SMALL

After breaking a small hole in the glass in a rear window, thieves entered the Star Cash Grocery on the south side of the square at high noon Sunday and escaped with about $4 in change from the cash drawer, packages of cigarettes and chewing gum and candy, a check-up later by Carl Minor disclosed.

The total amount stolen was between $10 and $12 Mr. Minor estimated. This was the fourth instance of petty thievery in Floydada in recent weeks, Felton-Collins Grocery, M System Market & Grocery, Speer's Variety Store, and Stansell & Collins Hardware having been burglarized this summer. The Star Cash robbery was the boldest committed, the other stores having been entered late at night.

WHY WORRY?

Either you are successful or you're not successful.

If you are successful there is nothing to worry about.

If you are not successful there are only two things to worry about.

Your health is either good or you're sick.

If your health is good there is nothing to worry about.

If you are sick there are only two things to worry about—

You are either going to get well, or you're going to die.

If you are going to get well there is nothing to worry about.

If you are going to die there are only two things to worry about.

You're either going to heaven—or—you're not going to heaven.

If you are going to heaven there is nothing to worry about.

If you are going to the other place, you'll be so busy shaking hands with old friends you won't have time to worry.

So why worry?

Mr. and Mrs. M. L. Solomon spent from Saturday to Tuesday visiting relatives in Memphis. They were accompanied on the trip by his brother, H. M. Solomon and Mrs.
Solomon of Matador.

They're World Famous Bibles

Here are the first Bible ever printed and the largest Bible in the world. Dr. Herbert Putnam, above, of the Library of Congress, is examining the Gutenberg Bible, the earliest. Below, Mr. and Mrs. L.
Waynai, of Los Angeles, are pictured operating the "typewriter" with which they printed the largest Bible. It weighs half a ton and took two years to make.

SCORE SHEET REVEALS QUALITY OF BUTTER

When the housewife goes to the store for a pound of butter, there are three principal things she should keep in mind in making her purchase, says J. O. Clarke, of the Federal Food and Drug Administration.

First, a specific Federal law requires that butter contains at least 80 per cent butterfat. Interstate shipment of butter which falls below that requirement is illegal under the national pure food law.

Second, another Federal law allows butter to be colored artificially without that fact being declared upon the label. The buyer, however, should not take it for granted that all butter is artificially colored, although much of it is. The presence of artificial coloring in foods other than butter must be declared.

Third, the law requires that the quantity of butter contained in the carton be plainly stated upon the label. The consumer who desires a full pound will not get 14 ounces if she reads the quantity-of-contents statement.

"Most butter entering into interstate trade is graded and scored by a Federal inspector and the score of the butter is printed on a certificate," says Mr. Clarke. "One hundred points is the ideal score for quality, but this score is never reached, except perhaps under the most carefully controlled experimental conditions. Very little commercial butter on the market scores more than 93, and figures run from that point down to 80."

"The buyer will do well to look for the grading certificates in packages she buys, but she should remember, however, that the butter was scored at the time of grading and that grading scores may not be accurate after from five to eight days. If no certificate is present the grocer can often inform the buyer of the correct score."

CATCHING THE DOLLAR

Some facts about money may be of interest, although that commodity itself is rather scarce so far as most of us are concerned. Our word "dollar" by the way, is from the German term "thaler," a piece of money first coined in Bohemia about the year 1518.

The United States silver dollar was first minted in 1794. Its intrinsic value is less than half its face value, as it contains only 412.5 grains of silver. The origin of the dollar mark ($) is not known with certainty.

The motto, "In God We Trust," first appeared on a bronze 2-cent piece in 1864, and since 1865 has been used on gold and silver coins, the eagle appeared on the first coins issued, and on most coins ever since. Coinage of silver dollars has practically ceased in recent years.

It may not be generally known that half-dollars, quarters and dimes are legal tender only for debts not exceeding ten dollars, while nickels and cents are legal tender only up to twenty-five cents. Any old kind of money would be accepted as legal tender in any amount just now, we imagine.

Miss Geraldine Massie arrived Saturday to spend her summer vacation of some six weeks here with her parents, Col. and Mrs. W. M.
Massie. She was accompanied home by Miss Grace Winans, who returned to her home in Dallas Monday. Miss Massie is employed in the sports shop of Neiman-Marcus at Dallas where she has been since last September.

Ruth Conner and son, Troy, returned Monday from Crosbyton where they have been visiting for the past two weeks with Ruth's aunt, Mrs. O. B. Heffner.

Mrs. W. H. Alexander had as her guests from Saturday to Monday her daughter, M. J. Ross Bell, and son, J. Ross, Jr., of Childress.

Detector

Pasadena, Calif.—An ultra-violet lamp has been designed by Captain R. B. Haselden of the Huntington Library to use in the examination of paintings, manuscripts, and other works of art. The lamp detects invisible writing on valuable papers and is used to discover whether a picture has been painted over the original by thieves. Counterfeits are easily distinguished by the manner of painting and the quality of the oils used. The lamp, which is used as a powerful germicide in medicine, generates very little heat because there are no infra-red rays.
The very short ray generates 1800 to 2300 pangstrum units. Captain Haselden is pictured above turning his invention on an old masterpiece.

FEDERAL FOOD OFFICIAL MANY KINDS OF VINEGARS

Few housewives know that there are many kinds of vinegar varying widely in desirability for different purposes. If the housewife wants only an acidulating medium and is not especially concerned with the delicate shades of differences in flavor between the various kinds of vinegar, she can get such an article with complete assurance that it will contain the 4 per cent of acetic required under the pure food law.
The sour taste of all vinegars is due to the natural acetic and developed during the fermentation process.

According to H. A. Lepper, of the Federal Food and Drugs Administration, vinegars are classified as follows: Cider vinegar or apple vinegar, the kind commonly used, is made by fermentation of the juice of apples. Wine or grape vinegar is made in a similar way from the juice of grapes. Malt vinegar is the product resulting from the fermentation, without distillation, of an infusion of barley malt, or cereals whose starch has been converted by malt. Sugar vinegar results from the fermentation of solutions of sugar sirup, molasses, or re-finer's sirup. Glucose or corn-sugar vinegar is made in like fashion from solutions of starch, sugar, or glucose. Spirit, distilled, grain, or white vinegar comes from the acetous fermentation of dilute distilled alcohol. Evaporated-apple or dried-apple vinegar is made by the fermentation of an infusion of dried apples.

The pure food law insists that a label designation descriptive of a vinegar shall be accurate. When the product is labeled with the word
"vinegar" alone, it is cider vinegar or apple vinegar. Other kinds may be labeled with the varietal name, such as "wine vinegar" or "malt vinegar." The Federal food and drugs act requires that all package or bottled foods, condiments, or beverages be labeled with a correct quantity-of-contents statement. The discerning housewife will be aided in making economical purchase if she will carefully note the words on the label which tell how much the container holds.

len Smith.

FEDERAL FOOD OFFICIAL EXPLAINS NEW LABELS

A woman in Nebraska recently bought a can of cherries labeled "Below U. S. Standard, Low Quality But Not Illegal." Somewhat puzzled by the labelling she wrote the Federal Food and Drug Administration, asking how a food could be below United States standard and still not illegal. The cherries were not wormy and seemed to her to be in good condition.

Dr. W. B. White, chief of the food control division of the administration, answered her letter explaining that for the first time in its history the United States Department of Agriculture has the authority to establish legal standards of quality for canned foods and to require a standard labeling on goods which fail to meet such standards. When foods are unwholesome or misbranded under the law, it is illegal for manufacturers to ship them interstate. But some canned foods, perfectly wholesome, fall below the standards of quality established under the McNary-Mapes amendment. Such goods must be labeled with the substandard legend.

"The legend which you saw on the can of cherries meant merely that the fruit did not meet the standards announced by the Secretary,"

Doctor White said. This might have been due to small size, non-uniformity of size, or unsightly fruit. None of these defects constitutes serious departure from what is to be expected in good food, but merely serves to render the product less attractive.

The purpose of the McNary-Mapes amendment to the food law is to make it possible for the buyer to know that she is not getting the most attractive and appealing canned food when she buys goods labeled with the substandard legend, although her purchase is wholesome and good food. Food officials of the administration feel that the presence of the substandard legend upon a label of canned food in no way stigmatizes the product. The passage of the amendment, requiring the substandard labeling, does not modify the original purpose of the food and drugs act, which is to make illegal the shipment of foods which are unwholesome, adulterated, or misbranded.

Ex-Capitalist: "Why, a lot of us had seats on the Stock Exchange a year ago, and now look at us."

Farmer: "Yes, and many of us had seats in our pants a year ago, and now—don't look at us."

lingsley a son, July 3.

Hesperian Cross-Word Puzzle Number 51

of promise, but it took eighty years for the development and education of Moses, before he began the long journey. For forty years he was being educated in Egypt; the next forty years he spent in Midian, developing spiritually and mentally, and the last forty years he spent leading the thankless people from Egypt toward their own land.

Moses must have learned great wisdom in his Israelish home—wisdom that was with him, making him strong in the Lord, in spite of his surroundings. In Pharaoh's palace he became learned in all the wisdom of the Egyptians, and was honored as the heir to the throne. But this did not detract from his faith in God and his love for his people.

The abuse the Israelites were undergoing at the hands of the Egyptians was bitterness to Moses; and one day when he saw an Egyptian beating an Israelite, he slew him, and escaped the wrath of Pharaoh by fleeing to Midian. Here he married a daughter of the priest of Midian, and became a shepherd, as his forefathers had been, minding the sheep of his father-in-law.

One day when Moses had carried the sheep to some mountain valley near Sinai, as he walked before the sheep, leading them to some green pasture, he saw a strange thing—a thorn tree of the desert, "spreading out its tangled branches," shining with a great light as if on fire, yet the bush was not consumed. Naturally Moses turned aside to see what caused this strange sight, and then God spoke to him.

God told Moses that he had seen the affliction of his people Israel, and had come down to deliver them, and to carry them back to the land he had given them. But the down-trodden people must have a leader, and this was the position God wished Moses to fill.

Moses must have been filled with consternation at the thought. Go back to Egypt, face and defy Pharaoh, take the weak-willed people from his strong grasp, overcome the powerful Egyptian nation and walk away with their slaves? Who was he, to dream of such a thing? When Moses voiced his surprise and fear, God comforted him with the words of our Golden Text: "Certainly I will be with thee."

He quieted all his fears, told him what to say to the Israelites so that they would trust him and be willing to go with him. He also promised to be with the slow-spoken Moses when he should face Pharaoh, and put words in his mouth and teach him what to say. God also gave Moses his older brother, Aaron, to be chief spokesman, but once in Egypt with his task before him, Moses' timidity slipped away and he found that he could be eloquent.

ARTICLE IN 'SCOUTING' TELLS VALUE OF PROPER USE OF LEISURE TIME

W. A. Gound, scoutmaster of Troop 44, this week found a valuable article on "Leisure Time" in "Scouting," a magazine published by the Boy Scouts of America, and believing that the facts contained would be of general interest he gave the article to The Hesperian.

The article reads as follows:
 "The recent report of Police Commissioner Edward P. Mulrooney of New York City throws an interesting light on the relationship of leisure time to the crime conditions of this great city. There has been a startling gain in youthful criminals and the relationship between this sort of gain and the way these boys have employed their leisure time is obvious. Activities of an anti-social and destructive nature through the operation of youthful gangs are in striking contrast to the constructive, patriotic and definitely social program of boys engaged in Scouting.

"One interesting fact appears in regard to automobile thefts. About one thousand cars a month were stolen in New York during 1931, and 60 per cent of these were stolen by minors between sixteen and twenty years of age.

"In his letter to Mayor Walker, accompanying the report, Commissioner Mulrooney remarked that a most disturbing fact to the police was the immaturity of the great majority of the criminals who passed through the daily line-up.

"In past years," the letter said, "the criminal at the 'line-up' was middle-aged, intemperate, experienced in crime and limited his activities to a special type of offense. Today the opposite. The "line-up" presents a parade of youths ranging in ages from seventeen to twenty-one, versatile in crime, who cold-bloodedly and calmly recite voluntarily, in the presence of the spectators and press, the most intimate details of the planning and execution of ruthless crimes.

"Of the 477,324 arrests made during the year 6,327 were of children under sixteen, 35,959 were persons between sixteen and twenty-one, and 97,990 were between twenty-one and twenty-five years old.

"In contrast to these figures, we are proud of our leisure time program of Scouting, now being enjoyed by more than 600,000 Scouts, which teaches boys, through games and woodcraft, to do useful things for themselves and for others. Scouting is formative rather than reformatory."

SMALL SEEDLING TREES CUT PLANTING COSTS

Trees of some species used for reforestation are set out when very small, so small that the farmers receiving shipments from the State nurseries are often surprised. Trees are shipped when very young to keep down expenses of transportation, handling, and planting. Seedlings of most species are 3 to 10 inches tall at 2 or 3 years of age. Most hardwood seedlings sent out are 10 to 18 inches tall.

Trees for farm forest planting are distributed by the State forestry departments of 37 States. The United States Forest Service in Washington and its regional offices do not furnish trees for private planting, as the output of the Federal nurseries is required for reforestation of some of the burned-over tracts in national forests. The Forest Service cooperates with the States, however, in the production of trees for farm forest planting. Trees for ornamental planting are not grown under these arrangements.
