L. M. King Reported In Grave Condition

Condition of L. M. King, 29, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. L. King, of this city, which has been serious for the past several weeks became grave Monday and he was reported very low this morning.

His wife left Long Beach, California at 3:30 o'clock Wednesday morning and arrived at the bedside of her husband this morning, having come by plane to Amarillo.

Mrs. King came to Plainview by train last night and was met in Plainview by Sam George, of this city. Accompanied by her mother, Mrs. Allen, of Plainview, they arrived at 1:15 o'clock this Thursday morning.

She was unable to bring their year-old son, who was ill when she started on the trip.

M. is suffering with a tumor of the brain. He was taken to Temple by his father and underwent an operation there last June. He showed slight improvement for a time but his condition has grown steadily worse in recent weeks.

Owing to his strong physical constitution he has survived 60 days longer than physicians gave him to live after it was found that only temporary relief could be given with the operation.

All members of the family with the exception of one daughter, Mrs. Roy A. Baker, of Weatherford, who wired Wednesday that she was unable to come, have gathered at the parental home here. Those at the bedside of their brother are Mrs. John Burgett, city; Mrs. Horace Marble, Roseland; Miss Maydell King and R. Pierce King, city.

County Must Be Governed By What It Can Afford, Says Judge in Statement

Says Movement On Foot To Coerce The Court

Asks Public Not To Be Unmindful Of Fact That Expenses Must Be Reduced

With the approach of the day for the budget hearing to be held by the Commissioners' Court, Judge J. W. Howard this week issued a statement declaring that there is apparently a move on foot to coerce the county government into a continuation of some expenses which the government has decided to dispense with temporarily, and declaring that this agitation is coming chiefly from those having jobs in the balance or by their warm friends or by professional boosters.

"The citizenship of Floyd County have, during these trying times through which we are passing, showed marked intelligence and patience. They have been willing to forego many things that are desirable and worthwhile realizing that, for the present, the price could not be paid. But there is apparently a movement on foot to agitate the public so that it will undertake to coerce the county government into a continuation of some expenses which the government has decided to dispense with temporarily because it has become imperative that rigid economy be exercised in expenditures of public funds. This agitation is being led chiefly by those

The City Council of Floydada in special session yesterday afternoon formally designated Houston Street from Twelfth Street west to its intersection with Second Street, and Second Street north through the original townsite and Starks Addition as a state highway. The designation covers the routing of Highway No. 28 through the city, a distance of twenty-two blocks and two additional blocks through the Starks addition.

According to Mayor W. C. Hanna, the route designated is one chosen by the project engineer as the route desired through the city and its selection is expected to be made by the district engineer when he reaches Floydada sometime during the next few days.

At the intersection of the two streets in southwest Floydada the highway is expected to angle through Block 131 so as to get the desired angle for a turn. A survey of the route has been made by the engineers.

At Wednesday afternoon's meeting the council formally canvassed the results of the special election held Tuesday of last week when B. K. Barker was elected to serve the unexpired term of Ohmer W. Kirk, resigned. Mr. Barker was sworn in as a councilman and took part in the proceedings.

Myers, Miss Terry Are New Faculty Members

J. H. Myers and Miss Myrtle Terry Tuesday night were named as the new members of the faculty of Andrews Ward School taking the places made vacant by the resignations of Miss Eddythe Walker and Mrs. LeRoy McDonald.

The appointments to places on the faculty were handled by the board of trustees at a meeting immediately following the opening of school where problems incident to the opening were discussed. Although some sections of the grades in particular were much crowded, W. Edd Brown, chairman of the board, indicated that every effort would be made to confine the operations of the schools to the Andrews Ward and High School buildings. East Ward will be re-opened for the school year only as a last resort, he said.

Superintendent A. D. Cummings, Odus Stephen of the commercial department and R. P. Terrell, coach of athletics, were named on the school's athletic council for the term of 1932-33 by the board.

S. G. UNDERWOOD BETTER

S. G. Underwood returned home Friday night from Hot Springs, New Mexico, where he spent the past two weeks taking the baths and treatments. He was able to be up and came down town to visit friends Saturday afternoon. He has been suffering with a liver and stomach trouble for the past several months.

Mrs. Underwood accompanied her husband to Hot Springs and their son, Tom. Fred Nabers also made the trip.

Submission of the proposed budget of expenditures and disbursements of county tax funds for the year 1933 will be made for public discussion and approval at the regular meeting of the Commissioners' Court at 2 o'clock Monday, September 12.

Swearing in E. S. Randerson to succeed J. M. Wright, resigned, as sheriff of Floyd County will be among the matters to come before the court at the meeting next week.

Two Floydada Schools Start Monday Morning

Very Short Time Given to Exercises; 468 Pupils Enroll Monday At Andrews Ward.

Devoting on the barest minimum of time for preliminaries, the wheels of education in Floydada's Public School system were given a smooth start Monday under the direction of Superintendent A. D. Cummings and his corps of assistants. A total of 468 pupils had been enrolled at the High School up to Wednesday afternoon, it was reported by Superintendent Cummings.

Only an hour was given over to a brief program at the High School and Principal O. T. Williams and the other members of the staff started immediately on the enrolling task. No formal opening exercises were conducted at Andrews Ward, assembly being made only for brief announcements by Principal O. K. Davis.

At the high school Rev. I. A. Smith, pastor of the First Methodist Church delivered the address of the morning on the subject "How to Have a Good School This Year." He stressed the importance of co-operation from the parents in the homes, the teachers, and the pupils. "School work may be compared to the football team," he said. "No matter how good the coach may be, he cannot win without the co-operation of every member of his team."

"If we will all work together we can have the finest school year in history. All we have to do is get in behind it."

A number of patrons were present for the informal program, which was concluded with announcements by Superintendent Cummings and Principal Williams.

Rapid progress in enrolling was made Monday, the Andrews Ward school completing the task of listing 468 pupils the first day. At the High School there were 57 in the junior class, 83 in the freshman class, and 49 in the sophomore class registered the first day, including also 59 in the senior class.

At Andrews Ward several class divisions were necessary. The following teaching assignments were made:

- Low First—Mrs. J. N. Johnston, 45 pupils.
- High First and Low Second—Miss Emma Lou McKinney, 9 in First Grade and 27 in Second Grade.
- Low Second, 26, and High Second—10—Miss Vera Hamilton.
- Low Third,—Miss Myrtle Terry, 45 pupils.
- Low Third, 27, High Third, 16—Miss Vera Meredith.
- Low Fourth, 28,—High Fourth, 13—Mrs. O. T. Williams.
- Low Fourth, 28,—High Fourth, 13—Miss Fannie Bolding.

Mrs. Green will have classes in mathematics, Miss Belsher in English, Miss Norton in spelling and writing, Mr. Stovall in geography and history, Mr. Myers in geography and reading, and Mr. Davis in history.

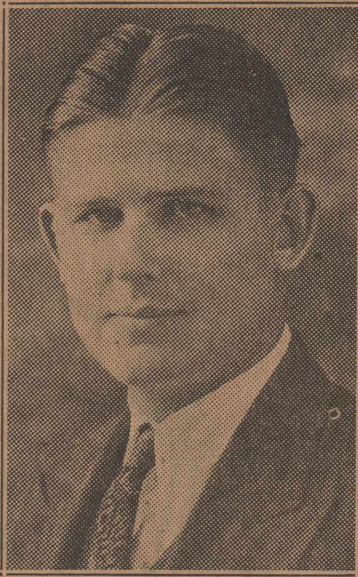

In the other classes at the ward school Monday the following enrollment was reported: Low 5th—53; High 5th—23; Low 6th—33; High 6th—23, and Low 7th—49.

Lockney Cotton Oil Mill Puts 50 To Work

Lockney Cotton Oil Company Tuesday night put between fifty and sixty men to work on a run that is expected to last until March or April of next year. H. M. Mason, manager of the mill, said this week that a good supply of seed now in the warehouse would be augmented by purchases as the season progressed. It is his belief that credits soon to be made available through the Reconstruction Finance Corporation for the cattle industry will give an impetus to feeding and that the large feed crop now maturing will encourage activity along this line.

"Of course, operation of our mill will depend on marketing the products we make," Mr. Mason said.

In order to lend encouragement to the cotton industry, the mill this year is experimenting with the use of cotton bags for their meal and cake, and if the new type of bag proves a satisfactory substitute for the jute bags heretofore used the cotton will be used permanently.

Mr. Mason was in Floydada Wednesday on business, and while here made a talk to the local Rotary Club on the possibilities of profit this season in feeding operations for the average farmer.

Mr. Mason said he hoped to fill the feeding pens at the mill this winter with cattle and feed out several thousand head of live stock for the market.

Mr. Mason will be in Floydada Wednesday on business, and while here made a talk to the local Rotary Club on the possibilities of profit this season in feeding operations for the average farmer.

Solution of a Problem Through Co-operation

(An Editorial)

There comes a time in the course of human events when just plain old "boss sense" can do more than anything under the shining sun to solve a difficult problem.

The Commissioners' Court of Floyd County in a very systematic and business-like manner has ordered the Home Demonstration work discontinued in October. This step was taken to cut down on expenses. It seemed inevitable in the face of things.

But The Hesperian maintains that definite proof exists clearly showing that every dollar spent on Home Demonstration work in Floyd County has proved to be an investment that has doubled, trebled, quadrupled and then some. The work, then, is an investment and not an expense.

This is not a time to take issue. This is a time for co-operation. It is a period when public welfare is at stake. Every clear-thinking citizen is challenged to help in a common cause. The Home Demonstration work should not be discontinued but it is not enough to stop with that thought. There is always a way and full co-operation should be given the Commissioners' Court in finding that way.

Surely we are not all blinded by the mark of the almighty dollar. We are considering an investment for happier farm homes in Floyd County—an investment for fuller lives—an investment for community social life and a true spirit of brotherhood among our fellow men. It is all so big that perhaps we do not realize the magnitude of the situation before us unless we pause for serious thought and consideration.

But let's take a glimpse at just the money side of the matter. Home Demonstration work in Floyd County will cost each taxpayer approximately 1 1/2 cents on each $100 valuation, based on the reduced valuations for 1933! Only 15 cents on each $1,000 valuation!

For the past 8 months on just part of the Home Demonstration work the people of Floyd County have realized 14 times more in actual dollars and cents than the investment has cost. The official records show that a total net profit of $14,767.66 was made by the club women in 8 months at a cost of $1,000 to the county. There are 710 club members which would mean that each club member was worth over $200 to Floyd County during the past 8 months' period!

These facts do not take into consideration last year's canning program and products valued at $133,554.52, nor this year's canning program just getting underway, nor the Home Industry phase with its standardization and sale of home-made products, nor any of the following: yard improvement, planning orchards, bedroom improvement and the finer things that go to make life more enjoyable for Floyd County folks. The figures include the things that the club women sell or from which they may make a few dollars and cents.

Club girls receive credit for their club work in Floydada and Lockney schools. The work is serving people in 23 communities and is being extended from year to year.

Home Demonstration work contributes to the development of sound and successful farming by developing a great variety of farm resources. A "Live-at-home program" has done far-reaching good in Floyd County. It is well-spent tax money.

The state pays $100 each month on the salary of the agent and this money will be discontinued as far as this county is concerned and will go to Hale County or some other county having the work. Just another matter of getting back some tax money we've been paying for these many years, if you want to look at another angle.

Let's all work together with the court in solving a problem that concerns the welfare of Floyd County and keep home demonstration work with all its manifold benefits, if humanly possible to do so.

Officers, Suspects Battle With Guns in Northeast Floyd County

SAPPHO WARD INJURED BY GUN SHOT; NOT SERIOUS

Belief that injuries sustained by Sappho Ward, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. N. Ward, Tuesday afternoon when she was shot in the hip by a twenty-two target will not be serious, was expressed by the attending physician, Dr. G. V. Smith, yesterday. The ball entered the flesh of the hip and came out just above the hip, the doctor said, and did not appear to have struck a bone. The young lady was given treatment at the sanitarium and was returned home the following morning.

The target, a worn out gun thought to be harmless, was being "snapped" in play by Bruce, a son of the family, when the bullet was fired.

Randerson Names King As Deputy At Floydada

G. Scott King will be named as deputy sheriff at Floydada when E. S. Randerson assumes the duties of the sheriff's office in Floydada, he said late yesterday.

He has not definitely settled on a man to serve at Lockney, Mr. Randerson said. He will determine the matter this week-end, according to his present plan.

Randerson will go into office as an appointee of the Commissioners' Court. He was named at a special meeting of the court on Monday following the primary on Saturday, when J. M. Wright, present incumbent, filed his resignation. He asked that the resignation become effective on September 1, but when it was found his successor could not arrange his business affairs within the short time, the date was set up to Monday of next week. The commissioners will be in regular session at that time.

Mr. Randerson has his preparations made to assume the office on Monday. His bond will be $5,000 for the performance of the duties of the office.

TWO NEW MEMBERS ARE VOTED INTO FIRE DEPT.

Dudley Hill and Sam George were voted into membership in the Floydada Volunteer Fire Department at the Tuesday night meeting at the City Hall.

By-laws of the department were amended lowering the age limit from 21 years to 18 years for membership qualifications.

Following the business session, ice cream was enjoyed. Cigars for the boys were furnished through the courtesy of Burl Bedford.

Briscoe Co. Sheriff Severely Wounds One

Two Autos, Dry Goods, Hardware Recovered At Camp; Two Escape.

One man was severely wounded in a gun battle between three burglary suspects and officers of Briscoe County headed by Sheriff Jake Honea Friday afternoon about 2:30 o'clock at Dripping Springs on the Martin land west of the Geo. R. Tibbetts place in northeast Floyd County, and two escaped into the surrounding breaks country and had not been apprehended this week.

Sheriff Jake Honea said early this morning over the telephone that neither of the men who escaped on Friday had been apprehended as yet.

The battle followed when the sheriff was ordered to hold up his hands as he walked into the mouth of an arroyo adjacent to Dripping Springs camp of the fugitives. Instead he dropped behind a bluff and began firing away. A deputy also began peppering away from another vantage point. The fire of the officers was returned until the sheriff ran out of ammunition and the deputy's gun jammed. Two of the three suspects made their escape and the third was found with one leg badly shattered by a 30-30 bullet. He was taken to a hospital at Turkey where the leg was amputated at the knee.

The battle followed an intensive manhunt begun several days previous, following robberies of a grocery store at Flomot, the Tunnell Dry Goods store at Quitaque and the Persons Hardware at Quitaque. In excess of $2,000 worth of merchandise were taken from the stores. In addition three had been stolen in the vicinity of Quitaque and Turkey.

Car Tracks Traced

A peculiarity in the tracks of one of the automobile tire tracks gave the clue that led to the lair of the men, it was said by local officers this week. Sheriff J. M. Wright and Deputy T. T. Hamilton, who were called, were among the officers and citizens from half a dozen cities and towns who went to the scene late Friday and spent Friday night and parts of the following two days in that area in the man hunt. Sheriff Honea's presence of mind in dropping behind the boulder or bluff and beginning to shoot, probably responsible for his escaping being a prisoner in the hands of the men. When Sheriff Wright reached the spot where the fugitives battled the officers, the wounded prisoner was being brought out, his two confederates having escaped into the canyons and brush further toward the caprock meanwhile. He was suffering a great deal, Mr. Wright said. A bill fold found on his person gave the name of Charles Arthur and Canadian as an address. He told officers he had not been with the other two men long. He said their homes were at Clovis, and that one was named Smith and the other Tate or Pate, Deputy Hamilton said.

Sheriff Wright this week expressed the belief that the two uninjured men had safely escaped from the breaks country in which they were apprehended, probably under the cover of night Friday. Tracks found the next morning indicated they had reached a point close to the caprock, but the trail was lost at that point.

Belief that the men surprised in their haunt at Dripping Springs were the ones who burglarized the stores at Quitaque was strengthened by the identification of the store owners of some of the merchandise, $800 to $1,000 worth of merchandise was taken from the dry goods store, including clothing, much of which was identified at the camp. Two automobiles also were recovered there. Items stolen from the hardware store included all the guns and ammunition contained in the stock, amounting to several hundred dollars in value.

Reports from the hospital this week said the injured man was recovering from his injury and the shock of the subsequent operation in which the leg was amputated at the knee. He appears to be about 35 years of age, officers said.

Sheriff J. M. Wright said this week that no further reports as to the whereabouts of the escaped men had reached his office. Officers and citizens over a wide area have been warned to keep a lookout for the men.

Mrs. G. L. Kirk, who has been in the Smith & Smith Sanitarium for the past four days suffering from an infection for which surgery treatment has been necessary, resting better this morning, according to report by the attending physician.

CAN'T BE HELPED

An old Texas boy up in Brooklyn for the past six months trying to finance some development project, who had just about got his proposition sold, ran into the dog days of August and the run-off primary and Ma Ferguson and her husband. They gave him the razberry and told him to go home to peddle his Texas securities. "Texans don't know any better than that," they told him, "Maybe they won't know any better than to put their money into your proposition."

The Texan wrote to the newspapers about it, of course. But it can't be helped. People are like that. Majorities have a way of doing things the way they want them done and taking their own consequences. It is one of the things about representative government. However, if Texas makes a governor or Texas can unmake him. In plenty of the world's area there are people who are not free to make and unmake their rulers. And all of it has happened in the last two hundred and fifty years. Jim Ferguson is only an incident in the onward march of things, but a darned troublesome incident, if you ask.

A "BIG" CONTEST

Texas is on the verge of seeing for the first time in its history, recent at least—the spectacle of a contest for the nomination for the governorship. Things are shaping themselves up that way. And the great majority of the folk are in for being stewed in the pot along with two minorities who will charge counter-charge for political ad- vantage. As notice the legislature spent little time on the mat- ter, for which it was called in session by the governor. Con- stitutionally and legally, of course, they have only four matters to con- sider, or perhaps it is five. Un- constitutionally and illegally they are playing for position in the big political game of getting their side in and keeping the other side out. Ferguson on Monday said his wife had won and if they counted her out the election would be con- trolled. Wednesday Governor Sterling assured the world he had been elected if all the honest votes were counted and would surely be returned to office.

Contests are not new in any state. The idea of a contest for a sheriff's office or that of constable would be just another matter of counting the ballots and declaring the winner. It is because the prize is so big that the thing gets so much prominence in our minds. With more than 950,000 votes cast a difference of 2,500 is very small, indeed. It is about the same in ratio, as if in a county like Floyd, the leading candidate had gotten 1262 votes and his opponent 1260.

Farmers are beginning to take a leaf out of the protected manu- facturer's notebook, one of the nation- wide effects that will impress the country as a result of the study the American farmer has been making of the political and economic set-up of the country the past ten or twenty years. Farmers set out to find out of a lot of things, among them being principal- ly why farmers were sliding down the economic scale, while others who handled the products of the farm, the ranch, and the poultry yard grew immensely rich.

They've found out many things they didn't know and have other things yet to find out. Some have even found out things that are not even what they think they've found out. Farmers have been and are thinking as well as working. Re- sults of the thinking will shell out like peas from a pod as the process is on.

But we started to mention the farmers taking a leaf from the manufacturer's notebook—the tariff notebook—and find that a large part of what is the matter with cotton seed prices may not be that they are being cheated by the oil mills, but there is no tariff to protect against the importation of oleo and a lot of other oils from one portion of the world and another. And they've got a competi- tor overseas they do not even know anything about.

If this overseas competitor were in Belgium and making cement he would run into a tariff wall mighty quick. American products made with American labor on the basis of American living standards, of course, must be protected. The cement manufacturer gets the first whack at the profit, of course, and passes on some out of the bigness of his heart to the workmen. The American farmer then builds his water tank and the foundations for his residence and outhouses with protected cement and hauls his gravel and sand from the creek to cut down expenses.

But he shouldn't complain about the raw product being imported duty free. It does not interfere with American workmen or American living standards. It doesn't hurt anybody but the agricultur- ists. Page another tariff.

A LONGSIGHTED FORECASTER

Joseph Weldon Bailey used to tell Texas people that the Republican party was protecting the manufacturer just as indicated above and that they should insist on a similar protection for their raw prod- ucts. The congressional records of his day are full of his arguments. But Texans then as now didn't want what they needed, which was to back a man who was fighting against economic ruin for them. Bailey forecast the day when agri- culture would be flat of its back be- cause of a tariff policy that made flesh of one and fowl of another.

They crucified Bailey on a Wa- ters-Pierce oil barrel and have been talking about nothing but prohibi- tion since. The big boys who fix things up for themselves have en- joyed the spectacle while they raked in the profits. The great com- mon people have been having their fun, and are paying for it.

Many a Joseph Weldon Bailey has wasted his life efforts trying to get people to think straight. Human nature is that way. But all must now admit Joe Bailey was a long- sighted forecaster.

WHERE'S THE BUTTON?

The sages—Ferguson followers and Sterling alike—who talk so wisely of the whole counties that were voted "wrong" in the first and second primaries, refer you every time to some county a way off some- where. Texas is as big as all out- doors and it is easy to believe that there was something rotten in an election 600 miles away.

Truth will likely out, to-wit, that all counties were just about like Floyd. An occasional vote was per- mitted to pass that shouldn't have been. An occasional mutilated bal- lot should not have been counted. Irregularities due to hurry, to care- lessness, possibly laxity on the part of election officials, or ignorance of the law may have occurred in this very county. Who knows? But there must be evidence more than that to throw out a whole election box. Everybody knows the sub- stantial will of the people was voiced in the election here on August 27. It is probably about the same way in every county in the state.

MANY DAYS HENCE

Those who have visions of an early repeal of the Eighteenth Amendment and return of liquor control to the states have forgotten to reckon with the fact that thir- teen states can block the change, and likely will.

For many days hence there will be thirteen states in the American union whose people will not vote to make a change in the constitution until they are more thoroughly con- vinced than they are at this time. After a two-thirds vote of both houses of congress repeal must be submitted to the forty-eight states and ratified by three-fourths of them.

NULLIFYING THE PLEDGE

Reports indicate that thousands and thousands of Texans scratched the pledge in the two Democratic primaries, especially the run-off. These, of course, were cut back by election officials as mutilated. Both Ferguson and Sterling supporters openly indicated they did not plan to support the nominee, in this manner. Many others are of the same opinion and will so express themselves in the general election in November. This goes for both Sterling and Ferguson supporters. They can be found in any crowd.

Thos. B. Love was making history when he made the courts of the land enunciate the principle that a man cannot take a pledge that will bind him to violate his conscience at a later date.

The pledge on the ballot is al- ready a nullity, although many have not yet realized it. It will be legislated out of the ballot and a substitute plan made for it, or it will be "decided" to death by the courts. In fact, the big fight now looming probably will hinge around this very thing. But Sterling sup- porters who think that more of his supporters marked out the pledge than those of Ferguson will find un- told thousands voted the pledge, too. Or will vote as they please in the No- vember election, which amounts to the same thing.

RECOVERY IS ENROUTE

Recovery from its prostrate posi- tion by business is said to be en- route. Too many definite signs are seen, they tell us. Truly, Floyd County people are a mighty busy lot these days with "more work to be done right now on the farms than in many years," as one man ex- pressed it.

But being busy does not neces- sarily denote prosperity is due. Rising markets do denote it however. And the markets that are going to help most, put real, actual money back into circulation, like a blood transfusion puts new blood into the veins of a sick man, are the farm markets. It now appears that the old down-trodden cotton farmer is going to be the man to start the ball rolling this time. Cotton was always either a pauper or a prince. And all recoveries in past experience have begun with the turn of a harvest. Get the market fixed up for the folk "out at the grass roots" and they'll make business for the rest of the nation. Farmers and the rest of us are getting all whet- ted up by reports from our former neighbors down in Texas that they are getting nine cents and better for their cotton. It'll soon be our turn.

HOW MUCH IS ENOUGH?

It may be that the people of Tex- as will never again delegate their powers of choosing party nominees to a convention, but we wonder how much of making a mess of their nominations will be required before the folks get enough.

Possibly it is just a vain idea but it seems that the primary as a medium of choosing the right men for state offices has proven itself a thorough fizzle. Texas, and many other states for that matter, began to get away from statesmen when they began to get away from the idea of representative government in party as well as in state affairs.

FLOYD COUNTY 14 YEARS AGO

News items taken from files of the Floyd County Hesperian pub- lished in Floydada fourteen years ago.

ISSUE OF SEPTEMBER 5, 1918

Washington, Aug. 31.—All men from 18 to 45 years of age in the continental United States, except those in the army or navy or al- ready registered were summoned by President Wilson today to register for military service on Thursday, September 12.

Judge J. N. Stalbird, of Lockney, left Saturday of last week for Waco, where he is attending the State Democratic Convention as a dele- gate representing Floyd County Democrats. He is instructed to vote for Governor Hobby.

Among the shippers from Floyd- ada on the Kansas market early this week were C. J. Gray, Harry Snod- grass, L. G. Pool, and Jno. N. Farris.

R. C. Scott is building a resi- dence on his place in Price Addi- tion, taking place of the house de- stroyed by fire in the early summer.

Sugar cards covering consumption rations of their customers on the basis of 2 pounds per person per month are being issued now by the merchants of Floyd County, begin- ning Monday of this week.

Jodie Day has returned from Pueblo, Colorado, where he spent a few weeks.

Rev. W. B. McDaniel and Mr. and Mrs. W. F. Weatherbee are among the Floydada Baptist church mem- bers who attended the Baptist As- sociation at Lockney Tuesday and Wednesday.

Weaver Howard, who has been living northwest of Plainview for the past two years, is in Pueblo, Colo- rado, and will possibly spend the winter there.

Perhaps we have "whispering cam- paigns" because there are so many speakeasts.

There are two sides to every ques- tion, and a good many politicians take them both.

The Round-up
By The Cowhand Scribe

Reports of advances in the stock markets on bonds and the increase in prices on wheat and cotton the past week certainly are changing the hue of the horizon.

As one of my friends put it the other day: "We are recovering now. It has been just like an attack of slow fever. We have gone past the crisis and we'll not get well in one day but our improvement will be gradual."

And he is just about right, don't you think. No question but what the depression made the world plenty sick and our plight certainly ran our fever plenty high. We've been in a delirium and there's no denying that fact.

All this talk about a stored up buying vacuum is absolute truth and if people can ever get enough mar- gin for their products for a fair profit we are all going to see one of the biggest buyng sprees that's even been put down in history.

Things are rapidly improving and one of the healthiest signs that I have noted locally is the fact that people are operating more and more on a cash basis. Extended credit has left its lesson. Almost every day I hear some fellow say: "I am even with the world now. Finally got all my debts paid and from now on it's going to be cash with me."

H. O. Pope brought in the whop- pish big peach I have seen this year into the office last week. It measured 9 1/2 inches around and it was a beauty. Talk about good eat- ing!

My! I bet the boss enjoyed it. And Mr. Pope raised that big peach right in his backyard in Floydada. (P. S. he has gathered them all).

During that late freeze that came along and killed most all the fruit in this section, H. O. went out and stretched a wagon sheet over his trees the night before. I noticed the tent-like arrangement at the time and remember that it struck me as about the funniest idea I had run across. Not to save me did I see how a little old thin wagon sheet could keep fruit trees from freezing when I was wrapped up in winter heavies, a sweater, and an over-coat and afraid to stick my nose around the corner.

But by jove that wagon sheet did the work and H. O. had some nice fine peaches this summer and all we had at the ranch house was some fruit trees half killed by the weather.

Mrs. Lorraine Britton was trying to find change for a dollar among the teachers up at the institute the other day. She had a hard job get- ting it changed, too.

Reduced taxes have made it hard- er on the school teachers than al- most any other group. Every ef- fort should be made to obtain the very best of teachers and they should be paid a living wage in keeping with the importance of their work.

Out from the protection and training of the home the young, plastic minds of future Texans go into the school room. They are sent there to be trained for citizen- ship and the responsibility resting upon the teachers is unusually great.

Every citizen has the obligation of seeing that the young girls and boys of Floyd County receive the very best of instruction. They deserve it and their trainers deserve to be paid a fair wage.

My friend H. G. McChesney re- turned last week from a 3,000 mile trip through Kansas, Missouri, Iowa and Oklahoma. Crops look fine in that section, he said.

In Iowa he was especially impres- sed with the farm management. On every place there were three or four big barns and everything was painted and in good shape.

Almost without exception you can tell a good farmer by the size of his barn. But that doesn't mean that he is not a good farmer if he does- n't have one bigger than his house, but I say as a rule the successful farmer usually has a place to store his feed, protection for his work stock, and a place for his farming machinery.

Floyd County farmers are progres- sive and like to have improved places. You are going to see a lot of new barns go up and a lot of paint applied in the not far distant future when they go to getting fair prices for their products again.

As I have said a number of times before I am a very poor weather prophet and next to none at all but I predicted we would have plenty of rain this summer after the lakes had been filled with the spring rains. And I'm going to make another guess. We're going to have lots of snow this winter—some of the big- best ones on record for West Texas. We're going to have a good season next spring.

Three things I admit I know very little about—weather, women and politics. Just can't figure any of them out so my little guess on what's going to happen this winter could be wrong but we'll just wait and see.

This said that the girl who reduces is generally going out of her "weigh" to please some man.

Ran across a clever little item in The Progressive Grocer that Carl Minor gave me the other day; it's entitled "Seven Stages of Man." Here they are:

1. Baby carriage.
2. Book and slate.
3. Thoughts of marriage.
4. Cannot wait.
5. Necking car.
6. Wrecking car.
7. Pearly gate.

Two traveling men met each oth- er in a smoking compartment on a train.

"What's your line?" asked the first one.

"I'm a pepper salesman."

"Shake," said the first, "I'm a salt seller."

And now for a tongue-twister that somebody besides me didn't have anything to do but to work up for your amusement:

Bill had a bill board.
Bill also had a board bill.
The board bill Bill had bored bill,
So Bill sold the bill board.
To pay his board bill.
So after bill sold his bill board
To pay his board bill
The board bill no longer bored Bill.

Cop: "Hey, what are you trying to do?"

Drunk: "I'm, hic, trying to pull, hic, this lamp off the bridge. My wife want a bridge lamp."

Young boy at breakfast: "I don't understand it, I don't."

Mother: "What, sonny?"
Boy: "How the chickens know the size eggs that fit my egg cup."

"Seasoned troops" means troops mustered by the officers and pep- pered by the enemy.

Contemporary Thought

A FATHER'S LETTER

Plainview Herald: John Temple Graves, III, in the Birmingham Age-Herald gives credit to Miss Rosa Wilson for sending in a copy of a letter written by a father to his married daughter. The father's comments are so unique that part of the letter will be read with interest by all parents. It pro- ceeds:

"You ask if your husband should stay on in his present position at an "adjusted" salary, but you forget to tell me what he would do if he didn't. You and he couldn't very well come home just now. Your brother Sheridan's salary has just been "reconsidered", so he moved in- to his old room and brought his wife.

"Your sister, Eloise, telegraphed the next day that Wilfred has just been offered a new contract that was an insult, so your mother is airing out her room. Wilfred never could endure insults. Your sister, Frances, you will recall, has been a private secretary, wrote last week that if anybody thinks she is going to drop to the level of a common typist, they are mistaken so we expect her any day. What with these and the younger children. I imag- ine that as long as Rupert's salary is merely being "adjusted" he had better stay. An adjustment is nothing like a reduction. It's hard for me to keep up with the language of big business, but as I understand it, an "adjustment" is the equivalent of a raise. Of course, Rupert wouldn't know that; he has been working only since 1928; he should ask some old timer to explain what a raise is.

"My business is coming along fine. It was sold on the courthouse steps last Friday, but there were no bid- ders, so the sheriff let me keep it. That makes the best month I have had since the upturn. Your affec- tionate father—"

WE GROW IMPATIENT

Rotarian Magazine: Up and down the highways of every land there drives a type of motorist who best can be described as a parasite. Liter- ally, he lives on the bounty of others. Approaching a crossroad, he roars through; the other fellow is always the one to slow down. Assuming that he is the only one in crowded traffic who is in a hurry, he cuts in and out of the lanes with no regard for the rights of others. He trades brazenly on their desire to avoid accidents—and bumped fenders. In short, he is unqualified nuisance.

Darwin, were he alive today, would counsel us not to be too hastily provoked at this sort of individual, pointing out that the law of natu- ral selection would eventually oper- ate. And so it does, and will. But we grow impatient.

FARM AGENTS

The Alice Echo: In some Texas counties the commissioners' courts have seen fit "in the interest of economy" to discontinue the work of home demonstration agents. Henry T. Crosby, in the Texas Weekly, and editorial writers of the Fort Worth Star-Telegram, take up the question and point out in a conclusive fashion "the shortsight- edness of such a policy."

It would seem that at this present stage of Texas agriculture there is a greater and more far reaching need for farm agents and home demonstration agents than ever be- fore.

Says the Star-Telegram: "The home demonstration agents contrib- ute greatly to the development of sound and successful farming. The information and enthusiasm these trained workers supply very fre- quently make all the difference be- tween a provident community which insures itself against adversity by developing a great variety of farm resources and the improvident com- munity which takes no thought of tomorrow but follows blindly the vagrant fortunes of a single crop. Instead of some counties discon- tinuing employment of these valu- able aids this Winter, there should be increases in their employment all along the list of counties."

THE SLEEPER AWAKES

Dallas Morning News: There is something of the sleeping beast in the tawny Rio Grande, whether snarling in its canyons or sleeping through its sands. Power is in the very somnolence of its unwat- ered wastes; grimness in its long in- dolence under the searing heat of the sun. But the savagery of its course can not be forever contained. The taunts of the thunder and the pelting of the fierce rain awake the dragon and snoring destruction goes abroad to feed upon the futilities of humankind.

The beast arose the other day and smote Eagle Pass. Bridges fell be- side its wrath, dwellings quivered and crumbled at its coming, acre after acre of lowlands were its prey, while cattle and men fled death with all the speed at their command. In that wild race some fell and some did not, and by the time we can know with surety the full tale of his doing the beast will have withdrawn again within his lair to his lazy siesta in the sun.

The time of his anger are ruth- lessness run deep and far. A cry in the night time, the flick of a key at the end of a slender wire, a warn- ing sped by thudding hoofs, and men swarm like ants carrying their penny movables to high ground there to watch, wide-eyed while the dragon feeds. It was not for naught that they called in the Rio Grande.

OUR BEST SPENT TAX MONEY

The Shamrock Texan: The money paid by Wheeler county toward the services of the county farm agent and home demonstration agent re- turns more dividends than any other funds expended by county com- missioners' court.

Many business men attending the Shamrock chamber of commerce an- nual banquet Tuesday night, were amazed at the wide scope of activi- ties reported by Jake Tarter, farm agent, in a 5-minute talk. Tarter spends from 12 to 16 hours a day visiting farmers and helping them. He seldom has time to attend public meetings, and never has an oppor- tunity to visit townspeople and re- port just what he is doing.

Three bull circles have been form- ed and financed by members, who own 167 cows. One hundred and thirty-nine poultry demonstrators in Wheeler county are practically earning their livelihood from their flocks. Twenty-nine beef clubs of four members each have been form- ed to keep on their tables fresh beef during most of the year. Four hundred and seventy-nine hogs have been cured the modern way this year for home consumption.

Two hundred purebred hogs have been imported into the county this year. Terracing and soil conserva- tion methods on 129 farms the past year have saved the county an es- timated $8,000. There were 171 boys in 4-H clubs last year and now there are 312. Fifty per cent of the boys' dads attend the 4-H meetings. The boys are teaching dad who once did not believe in modern methods of agriculture, how to make money on the farm.

The cow, the sow and the hen, the past year have put up-and- going Wheeler county farmers where they are not worrying about this depression business. They don't have much money, but pantry shelves are filled and when prices on farm commodities get right, they are going to make big money. They have learned how to live at home.

Give Jake Tarter and Viola Jones credit for having done more for Wheeler county than any other pub- lic employees. If every dollar spent of tax-payers' money was as well accounted for as that little portion the county puts up with the federal and state government for farm and home demonstration work, the word "Depression" would be obso- lete in five years.

PACKAGE BEE INDUSTRY IS EXPANDING RAPIDLY

The package bee business, now rapidly developing, promises to in- ject new life into the beekeeping in- dustry. It offers southern beekeep- ers an outlet for their surplus bees and northern beekeepers a chance to strengthen their colonies at the beginning of the season.

The South, because of its climate and its wide variety of nectar- secreting blossoms, can easily raise more bees than it needs early in the spring. With modern package and transportation facilities, these bees can be shipped North in time to reinforce colonies weakened by the long winter confinement, or even to start entirely new colonies, accord- ing to J. I. Hambleton, apiculturist in the United States Department of Agriculture.

A package recommended by the department is now being adopted by the industry as the standard travel- ing compartment for bees. It is a cage, 16 by 9 by 5 1/2 inches, made of light wood and wire screening. Each cage has a feeder can containing enough sirup for the trip. Packages are sold either with or without a queen. The queen, when present, is placed in a separate small cage in the package. A 3-pound package of bees, containing about 15,000 work- ers and a queen, can be bought for from $2 to $3.

Bees reared in the South readily become acclimated in the North. If the weather is good they begin for- aging at once and soon build up strong colonies. As the honey flow in most of the Northern States to which package bees go seldom starts until after the 1st of July, the bees have plenty of time to multiply.

Some up-to-date honey producer Mr. Hambleton says, are exper- imenting with the plan of killing a their bees each fall and starting fresh the next spring with package bees. The advantage is that it saves the honey the overwintering col- onies would consume (about 50 pounds each), the labor and expense of pre- paring the bees for the winter, and the worry of looking after them during the long confinement period. Its disadvantage is the bother of killing off the old bees and start- ing the hives and combs.

116 Teachers Register For Institute Held Last Week

All-County Event Is Declared Successful; Rural Division Is Well Represented.

With a total registration of 116 teachers from the schools of Floydada and Lockney and the rural districts of the Floyd County Teachers' Institute held Thursday, Friday, and Saturday of last week proved a distinct success those in attendance declared. A feature of the attendance was the presence of 78 of the 80 rural teachers in the county.

Superintendents Price Scott and A. D. Cummings, acting as hosts to the group Thursday and Friday, were highly complimented on the type of program arranged. It was educational and inspirational and a number of excellent talks were made.

The sessions the first two days were held at the high school auditorium and those of the concluding day were separate, the rural teachers holding their meeting in the county courtroom and the Floydada and Lockney teachers at their respective buildings.

Local activities of the entire institute assembly were terminated with an address Friday night by Chas. Smith, of Plainview, who made a "pep" talk. His remarks were directed along a humorous line. He touched on the value of education and present day conditions.

The institute was the first all-county affair held here in 16 years. The well-arranged program was prepared by Superintendent Cummings, Floydada; Superintendent J. W. Jones, Lockney and Superintendent Scott, Floydada.

Enrollment was in charge of W. N. Bobbitt, Lockney, and O. K. Davis, Floydada.

Teague, Miss Studie Miller, Miss Ruby Norton, Miss Meredith, Miss Vera Hamilton, O. K. Davis, A. D. Cummings, Mr. and Mrs. R. F. One of the outstanding features of the institute was the main addresses delivered Thursday by Dr. J. L. Duflo, head of the department of sociology at West Texas State Teachers' College, Canyon.

His discussions centered on the importance of payment of taxes.

Education is the foundation for higher standards of living, he declared, and quoted federal statistics to show the proportion of taxes paid by the different classes.

"There are three classes of taxpayers," he said, "the $1,000 class, the $2,500 to $5,000 class and the $5,000 and up division. Over 16 per cent of the taxes are paid by the $1,000 class as compared to one and one-fourth per cent by the $5,000 and up class," he asserted.

A reduction in state and county employees' salaries just means a cut to pay some individual's taxes, he maintained.

"Education is the foundation for a higher civilization and when it is crippled it is just another case of killing the goose that is laying the golden egg," he said in part.

Another outstanding address was made Friday by Rev. Bernice Shell, pastor of the Presbyterian Church at Plainview. Speaking on the subject "The Connecting Link," Rev. Shell made an inspiring talk showing the correlation between the training of the preachers and the teachers.

"It would seem that we are trying to train the children in one department on Sunday and in another from Monday to Friday. But after all we are engaged in the development of personality, of life, both teachers and preachers engaged in a common cause," he said.

"The greatest power in the world is an idea in a fertile brain that develops and grows with its mighty power and personality and spreads out to touch the lives of others—the greatest power in the world is a thought in the mind of a fertile brain."

"The idea may be destructive as well as constructive. Thus it is that the teachers in molding the young life of America have a job second to none of putting thought into fertile brains that will reach others."

One of his fine illustrations was the power generated at Niagara Falls from a common source and one line of current sent to destroy life in the electric chair and another line from the same source directed to light the homes and make brighter the lives of happy individuals.

"You are producing power in the thought-life of today and I am in the church trying to help develop and direct it toward the wheel of commerce, if you please, to make this world a better place in which to live."

"If we want to change this period of depression and lawlessness it is in your hands and mine," he told the teachers. "We can make over a nation or a world in a generation."

RAINS AND HEAVY ROADS CUT ATTENDANCE ANNUAL BAPTIST ASS'N. SESSION

Heavy roads and inclement weather cut the attendance from this section at the annual meeting of the Floyd County Baptist Association at Quitaque this mid-week. The sessions opened yesterday and are scheduled to close about 4 o'clock this afternoon.

The four regular elected messengers named by the local church included Messdames J. H. Myers and Geo. Linder; Messrs. D. I. Bolding and J. T. Spence. Several members from the Baptist Church here were planning to go but heavy roads prevented their attendance Wednesday.

Rev. H. M. Burnham, of Whiteflat, is moderator of the association.

JAMES HENNESSEE SHOWS MARKED IMPROVEMENT IN CONDITION DURING WEEK

James Hennessee, eleven, son of Mr. and Mrs. V. W. Hennessee of Harmony, is continuing to show indications of improvement. He was injured in an unusual accident three weeks ago when an "empty" gas barrel blew up. In the explosion the boy was hit in the side of the head, sustaining a fracture of the skull. He was unconscious for several days.

He has been in a hospital at Lubbock but the parents have hopes of returning home with him sometime during the next few days.

Dr. and Mrs. J. S. Rinehart and daughter, Mary Francis, reached home Sunday from Indiana, after an absence of more than two weeks. At Flora, Indiana, they were guests of the doctor's father, Henry Rinehart, and also visited with relatives and friends in other states enroute.

Mrs. Walter Townsend and two daughters, Misses Loraine and Billy, are here this week on a visit with Mrs. Townsend's sister, Mrs. S. N. McPeak.

A Farmer's Life

"As He Lives It"

BY ED HOLMES

(Station C. E. H. Farm)

Mother killed a perfectly respectable looking frying-size chicken last week and what do you suppose she found in his craw? Seven small toad frogs! What do you suppose would have happened if she had tried that craw without cutting into it? Oliver and Riley would probably have warts in their stomachs by now, for they eat everything she sets on the table.

Many this is the cause of cancer of the stomach! There is no telling what country people do eat. At that we are better off than the city people for we sell them only what we can't eat ourselves. It is no wonder to me that you hear of city people dying suddenly, without any apparent cause.

These club ladies I believe are going too far! They have been taught to save everything but the "squeal" of a hog and it is just as reasonable to believe that they will save everything but the "crow" of a rooster. I guess I have been eating fried toads in the craw and didn't know it. Have you? Alma belongs to the club, so if anybody has, I have. All I ask from here on out is that she should peel the craw, the same as the gizzard. If it don't have any peeling, just throw it away and waste that much. Conditions seem to be getting better anyway.

I am not kicking on the demonstration agents, but they should be careful what they teach the women for it is the male specie that have to eat it. There is a limit to what the stomach can endure. I will admit that I am in good health now but don't mind telling them that I want to stay that way.

I almost had a run-away this eve when I came from plowing. Old Beck saw a big maize pile in my field, got scared and tried to leave out. She is four years old, too! I will admit that I haven't let her run around much but I can't help it because she is so dumb and hasn't seen such sights. Anyway it probably won't happen again for months and months and months.

I passed a fair-sized farmer lady, milking a small fresh heifer into a five gallon can! If she got that bucket full, there wouldn't be enough heifer left to walk off. Sure enough I came back by directly and the heifer was gone! I guess she carried her to the house in the bucket. I have an idea the lady expected the heifer to look at the bucket and do the best she could. Look what happened when she expected so much from a fresh heifer. I am positive that she went to the house with the bucket! Of course I was talking about the lady the last time.

Regardless of what I have been eating I feel pretty good this week. It may be because I am getting all set to buck the big boys in the Hog Show at Amarillo September 19 to 24. I better feel good now for 99 chances to one I can't get the job done. Some of my spring pigs at 5 1/2 months old weigh 200 lbs. but that isn't all it takes.

One of my neighbors who is a good feeder bought two of them at weaning age and has them weighing 25 pounds above mine. It looks like he sawed several inches off their feet and spread out tifer backs. After all feed gets the job done, but you have the good foundation to begin with.

I have about quit selling hogs. Up to one year ago I never traded a hog in my life. I said I wouldn't! I have broken everything I said I wouldn't do, in my life except vote for the Ferguson! I guess that will be next in order.

I let Bill Hulsey have a sow on the halves and she wouldn't farrow but 15 pigs and he couldn't save but 12 of them. She couldn't raise but 10 so he gave two, to his neighbors and they raised them. When I got hold of my five, the trading began! I traded one for a 1100 lb. horse. Traded one for a day's work and the other three to a man to cut my feed with a row binder that I might feed the cows, get some milk and raise some more pigs! The pig that left the sweetest taste in my mouth, was the one that I traded for three gallons of pure honey. To cap it all out, the boy that traded me the honey, traded wheat to get the honey.

What do we need with money? We got the whole wheat muffins, butter, milk and honey. Plenty of good porkers, baby beeves and a good garden.

It is a funny thing to me that every time I get to feeling fine, I think about these loan companies! I wish the Government would issue paper money and pay all those guys off. (Just as well wish for something good while you are wishing). If I had the paper money with the Government stamp on it, they would take it as pay and be glad to get it. "They say" the government can't do it but you and I can't understand why!

"You can't live by bread alone." Our commissioners have learned the first part of this lesson. After dealing with the affairs of this county, they have also learned a few other lessons. Don't judge them too harshly.

If eats were all that concerned us, the demonstration agent would be the finest thing in the world. Their work is great. There is lots of things that would be worth the money, if you had the money. If you can't get these things and hold your head above the water, what do you want to do, get them a little while longer and go under? I can't see why the work can't be continued, maybe you can't. The commissioners are in a better position and should know.

I am sure a little thing like I sn't what turned these men. They must have reasons! Some of them look healthy enough that I believe they could digest almost anything. (Of course I bar the money proposition). Ask them for the real reason. I believe they will tell you and will not stammer at all like I would if I were to try to tell you.

Sterley News

Sterley, September 6. — Sunday school was well attended last Sunday.

School opened Monday with a good attendance. We think we will have a fine school as every one seems to be in fine spirits.

To Lead of Ferguson

The lead of Mrs. Miriam A. Ferguson in Texas' hottest and closest primary in many years, was increased to slightly more than 3,700 votes in the tabulation of the Texas Election Bureau the first of this week based on telegraphic reports of the official count made by the respective county committees of the state.

Only a few discrepancies were found in the totalled reports made on election night and the days immediately following by the Bureau.

Developments Tuesday and Wednesday of this week indicated that the fight planned to be carried to the state executive committee on September 12, would be made in the courts instead, Gov. R. S. Sterling having indicated this method would be pursued rather than the other. Increasing sentiment over the state had grown up that the state committee and the state convention had no alternative other than to declare the winner of the majority of the votes the winner of the nomination at the convention, based on the official reports and official count.

Ben Morton, who has been at Happy for the past three months, returned home Sunday.

CONDRA I ter, Mrs. LOYD family.

J. E. Norman and family, of Arillo, arrived Thursday and spent last week-end here with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. I. Norman, and other relatives.

because they have discovered that it saves time, energy, and most important of all—money. In the realm of home management and in individual buying in general the advertisements act as a market guide... a guide not only as to where to buy and what price to pay but often as a guide as to what to buy. Many things that make life more enjoyable and comfortable are first discovered in the ads and then later repurchased through the ads. Many things that save on the family budget are discovered when the home-maker has learned to find the news of what's new by watching the advertisements. RECIPES AND MENUS

Excellent menus for canning and preparation of delicious dishes have been issued by the Extension Service of Texas A. and M. College and Milady will find them of timely interest. They are as follows:

Okra and Tomato Gumbo
4 tablespoons butter or bacon drippings

1 pint chopped onions
2 quarts fresh tomatoes (cut in quarters)
1 quart okra (sliced)
4 teaspoons salt or to taste
2 pepper pods without seed
3 tablespoons chopped parsley.
1 bay leaf (crushed)

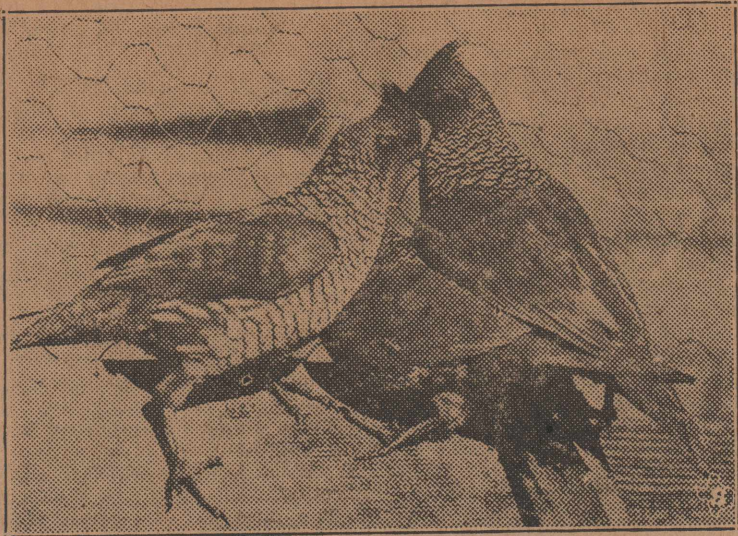

Heat the fat brown lightly the onion and okra. Add the bay leaf, parsley, chopped tomatoes and pepper pods. Allow this mixture to steam in a covered pan for 5 minutes. While hot fill No. 2 sterilized cans to within 1/2 inch of the top. Seal and process at 10 pounds for 50 minutes. Clean and label cans before storing.

Sauer Kraut
Sauer kraut is the clean, sound product of characteristic acid flavor, obtained by the full fermentation, chiefly lactic, of properly prepared and shredded cabbage in the presence of not less than 2 percent salt nor more than 3 percent salt. It contains upon completion of the fermentation, not less than 1.5 percent of acid, expressed as lactic acid.

Select only mature, sound heads of cabbage. Remove outside leaves and wash in a spray if possible. Drain well, core and shred. Use two and one-half pounds of salt to each one hundred pounds of shredded cabbage or two ounces salt to each 5 lbs. of cabbage. Kraut should be fermented in earthenware jars or wooden kegs or barrels. Put in a three inch layer of shredded cabbage and sprinkle with 4 or 5 tablespoons of salt. The salt should be evenly distributed throughout the shredded cabbage. If desired it may be mixed well together before packing. When large quantities are made the proportioning of salt to cabbage is best done by weight before packing. The distribution of two ounces of salt with every five pounds of cabbage probably is the best way to obtain an even distribution. Continue to repeat the process. Press firmly but not too tightly until the keg is full. Cover with a board which fits down inside the keg and place a heavy weight that will keep the cover level. The salt soon extracts a considerable amount of juice from the cabbage and this brine should rise above the surface of the board. Do not use lime or sandstone weights for the acid produced by fermentation attracts the lime and destroys the keeping quality of the brine. It is necessary that the cabbage be entirely covered with the brine at all times. Remove from time to time any scum that may form on the surface.

When fermentation is completed it is then ready for use or canning. Canning is by far the best way to keep it. It may be packed in lacer lined cans or glass jars, covered with strained kraut juice. Heat the filled cans in a hot water bath for about 15 minutes at 212 degrees F. or in pressure cooker for 5 minutes at 230 degrees F.

Quail Raising Profitable Pastime

Farm boys and girls of Texas may find a profitable venture in quail raising to release on their farms, leasing hunting rights, according to W. J. Tucker, state game commissioner at Austin. Here are some of the South Texas blue quail which can be obtained through county agents. They are as easy to raise as chickens, Tucker says.

Kraut Juice

Kraut juice is the juice of the kraut as it stands in the vat after the kraut has been packed. Strain and heat to 200 degrees F. or just under the boiling point. Fill into cans and close immediately. If this procedure is followed no cooking need be given. Cool thoroughly in cold water. Failure to cool sauer kraut juice causes the acid to attack the tin, liberating hydrogen and causing a condition known as "hydrogen swell."

RELISHES

Dixie Relish

1 quart chopped cabbage
1 pint chopped white onion
1 pint chopped sweet red pepper
1 pint chopped sweet green pepper.
3 tablespoons of salt
4 tablespoons of mustard seed.
2 tablespoons celery seed (crushed)
3/4 cupful of sugar.
1/2 quart cider vinegar.

Soak the pepper in brine (one cupful of salt to one gallon of water) for 24 hours. Freshen in clear, cold water for one or two hours. Drain well, remove seeds and coarse white sections. Chop separately, and measure the chopped cabbage, peppers and onions before mixing. Add spices, sugar and vinegar. Let stand overnight covered in a crock or enameled vessel. Pack into small hot jars that have been sterilized.

When ready to pack, drain the vinegar off the relish in order that the jar may be well packed. Pack the relish in the jars, pressing it carefully; then pour over it the vinegar which was drained off. Paddle the jar thoroughly to get every bubble out, and allow the vinegar to displace all air spaces. Garnish each jar with two slender strips of red pepper. Place these strips vertically on the seams in the jar on opposite sides. Cap, clamp and process in a water bath for 15 minutes at 180 degrees F. (simmering)

Chow-Chow

2 cupfuls onions (small white)
2 cupfuls cauliflower, in small sections
4 cupful string beans, cut
12 green peppers, medium size
1 red pepper
5 teaspoonfuls celery seed
4 teaspoonfuls mustard seed
6 teaspoonfuls horseradish
1 cupful sugar.
2 cupfuls cider vinegar

The vegetables for show-chow are better if first cured in brine and freshened by standing in cold water to cover from twelve to twenty-four hours, depending upon the amount of salt extracted. Some salt must be allowed to remain in the vegetables. After they are freshened, they should be drained, well mixed, and chopped together. Heat the spices, vinegar, and sugar to 180 degrees F. Cover and allow to infuse for about one hour, then mix with the vegetables. Stir until well blended and let stand overnight. In the morning stir well and pack in sterilized jars. Seal and store in a cool place. If processing is done to seal the filled jars be careful not to raise the temperature of the water bath above 180 degrees F. and hold at this temperature for about 10 to 15 minutes. This processing will help to keep the pickles and seal the jars, but will soften the texture somewhat. This amount yields three quarts.

Beet Relish

1 quart chopped cabbage
1 quart cooked, chopped beets
1 cupful grated horseradish
2 cupfuls sugar
1 tablespoonful black pepper.
4 tablespoonfuls salt.
Mix ingredients, and cover with vinegar, heat mixture to the boiling point. Pack in jars and seal.

Pepper Relish

Take one dozen sweet green peppers and one dozen sweet red peppers and add three large onions, chopped fine. Cover with boiling water, and let come to a boil. Then let stand again. Drain dry and add three tablespoonfuls of salt, two pints of vinegar, and two cups of granulated sugar. Cook fifteen minutes and pack hot in jars, and process as for Dixie Relish. Seal.

Corn Relish

1 dozen ears of corn

Cook for one-half hour, stirring gently at intervals to prevent burning. Remove spice-bag to prevent darkening product. Pack in pint jars and garnish with slender strips of the red pepper, placing them vertically on the opposite sides of each jar. Process for fifteen minutes.

Spiced Green Tomatoes

6 pounds of small whole green tomatoes

4 pounds of sugar
1 pint of vinegar
1 tablespoonful of cinnamon
1/2 tablespoonful of cloves
1/2 tablespoonful of allspice
1/2 tablespoonful of mace

Small green fig or plum tomatoes are suitable for this pickle. Scald and peel. Make a syrup of the sugar, vinegar, and spices. Drop in the whole fruit and boil until the tomatoes become clear; pour all into trays, cool quickly; pack cold into jars, strain syrup over them, seal and process.

Green Tomato Soy

8 cups of chopped green tomatoes
3 cups of chopped onions
1 tbs. salt
1 teaspoon each—cinnamon, cloves allspice.

2 1/2 cups brown sugar
1/2 cup celery or
2 tbs. celery seed
1/2 tbs. white pepper
1 c. vinegar
2 tbs. white mustard seed
Mix all ingredients. Let stand four to six hours. Cook about 20 minutes, stirring occasionally. Pour into sterilized jars. Seal and process 15 minutes.

Tomato Hash

4 c. chopped ripe tomatoes
2 c. chopped cucumbers
1 c. chopped onion
1 c. chopped celery.
1 tsp. white pepper
2 tsp. salt
1/2 c. sugar
1 c. vinegar

Mix all together and let boil for 5 minutes. Pack into hot sterile jars and process 15 minutes in water bath.

First Bale At Floydada Expected Sep. 20 To 24

The first plains cotton in this county is not likely to be ginned before September 20 to 24, according to the expectation of Floydada ginners, although seven bales of Floyd County cotton have already been turned out. This was at the Fairmount gin last Friday, when seven bales were ginned.

Wet weather and continued rains are sure to slow down the opening of the crop and put a lot of sap into young bolls that will make them slower opening and add to the lateness of the cotton gathering season, reports from ginners and farmers indicate.

A few reports of boll worm damage have begun to come in, the southeast corner of the county where cotton has been rank all season being the area from which heaviest infestation is indicated. An occasional field around Floydada had also shown worms as early as Saturday. The infestation has not grown to serious proportions the first of the week, it appears.

Floyd County gin men have practically completed the overhauling of their plants and will have everything in fine shape for handling the crop when the local movement starts.

Engineers Start Work On Road Survey Plans

Plans were started Wednesday in connection with the survey being made on Highway No. 28 preparatory to grading and draining the road east of town to meet state and federal requirements. T. B. Ingram project engineer, stated that he expected to have the plans completed in six weeks.

ected to have the plans completed in six weeks.

The surveying crew was eight miles out Monday on the cross-section levels. The road will cover 17.2 miles east to the county line.

No reports had been received the first of the week from Guy R. Johnston, of Lubbock, resident district engineer, on the application to have the state pay 100 per cent of the paving expenses on the route through town. The highway, as mapped out at present, would traverse 26 blocks of unpaved streets in Floydada.

Rains Again This Week General Over County

Rains over Floyd County again this week have added from three-quarters of an inch to two inches to the sum total of moisture falling during early fall. Reports indicate that the rainfall was general from the north to the south part of the county.

This week's fall, which occurred Monday night, Tuesday, Tuesday night and Wednesday, came in slow showers generally and made roads unusually heavy. At Floydada the total was slightly less than an inch. Tuesday mail carriers operating rural routes over more than 250 miles of Floyd County roads out of Floydada in every direction were hours behind their schedules and were even later making their rounds Wednesday. They started out in a slow drizzle Wednesday and ran into roads that were slick in places, boggy in places and generally difficult to negotiate.

While highways have been passable travel over them yesterday was freely curtailed. While feed crops have benefited largely from the rains, wheat raisers are anxious to get into their fields to kill a big crop of weeds preparatory to the fall seeding, and cotton farmers continue to be anxious for the return of sunshine to hasten maturing of cotton and head off an imminent infestation of boll worms.

DEPOSITS GIVE NATION POTASH INDEPENDENCE

Enough potash lies in the huge rock deposits of Wyoming and greensand deposits of New Jersey to make the United States independent of any foreign supply of this fertilizer, says the United States Department of Agriculture.

This potash needs only commercially profitable methods of extraction to make it readily available to the American farmer. Experimental blast furnace trails by the department have shown that the Wyoming rock will yield 10 to 11 per cent potash and the New Jersey greensand from 5 to 7 per cent.

Cheap fuel in Wyoming should make possible a commercial furnace plant there that could produce potash to compete with other potash on the market, the department believes. The Wyoming potash is easier to extract than that from the greensand, but it is farther from the fertilizer market.

Experiments with both deposits are under way by the Bureau of Chemistry and Soils of the department and promising results have been obtained with both.

Wood V. Duncan Dies At Orange, California

Only Surviving Brother of Arthur B. Duncan Buried Saturday, September 3.

Wood V. Duncan, 74, native Texan and typical frontiersman, succumbed Friday of last week at the home of his daughter, Mrs. Jessie Mack in Orange, California, relatives here were informed by wire, and funeral services and burial rites were held Saturday afternoon, interment being made in a cemetery there.

Deceased was a former resident of this section of the State of Texas, but for forty years had resided in various sections of the United States and Canada. Before the movement of settlers set in here he was a member of the firm of Owens, Marsellies and Duncan, which established a sheep ranch on Blanco Canyon south and east of Floydada in 1883. He moved to Hale County in 1886 and in 1889 moved to South Dakota, where he lived a number of years. As settlers began to move into that section he again moved, going to British Columbia in Canada, where he settled on lumber and ranch land. He returned to the United States three years ago and had made his home in Oklahoma and California since. Last summer he visited with the family here of his deceased brother, Arthur B. Duncan, and had been in California since.

He is the last of three brothers in the family. Three sisters survive. They are Mrs. T. B. Leverett, of Ardmore, Oklahoma, Mrs. Edith Moore of Oklahoma City, Oklahoma and Mrs. Eugenia Smith of Peoria, Arizona. One son and five daughters also survive. The daughter, Mrs. Jessie Mack, with whom the deceased was living at the time of his death, at one time about eight years ago, lived in Floydada and was employed in the office of Arthur B. Duncan, abstractor.

Cummings Is Elected Director-General Of Interscholastic Meet

Superintendent A. D. Cummings, of Floydada, was named director-general of the annual Interscholastic League meet to be held in Floydada next spring at the Floyd County Teachers' Institute Friday of last week.

This was the first time in history that the director of the meet and his departmental chairmen had been named at the opening of the school year. The plan was commended because it will afford early organization of plans and tend toward the development of a higher quality of work in preparation for the contests, it was pointed out.

Price Scott, county superintendent, warned the teachers against over-participation in the events. He explained that a teacher should not attempt to have her pupils enter too many contests but rather strive for high quality in the events entered.

Directors of the various divisions of the meet as named at the meeting at the high school building last Friday are as follows:

Director of rural schools, County Superintendent Scott; director of debate, Edwin Boedeker, Aiken; director of declamation, Superintendent J. W. Jones, Lockney; director of extemporaneous speech, C. A. Cass, Lakeview; director of essay writing, Mrs. Lon Smith, Floydada; director of music memory, Mrs. Henry Hodel, Lockney; director of choral singing, Mrs. O. T. Williams, Floydada; director of picture memory, Miss Ola Hanna, Sand Hill; director of arithmetic, W. N. Bobbitt, Lockney; director of 3-R Contest, C. Austin Smith, Liberty; director of athletics, Coach R. P. Terrell, Floydada; director of tennis, Ernest Carter, Lakeview; director of playground ball, Richard Stovall assisted by J. M. Teague, Floydada; director of playground ball, Roy Owen, Baker.

Mrs. E. B. Mayhew spent last week in Tulsa and Oklahoma City visiting with relatives. She returned to Floydada the first of this week. A sister, Mrs. I. G. Casey, of Tulsa, returned with her for an indefinite visit.

INSECTS TURN SEA RED TO KILL FISH FOR FOOD

Ancient sea stories, long regarded as whoppers, which recounted the turning of tropical seas into the color of blood, have now been proved to be based on actual fact.

The "reddening" of huge sections of ocean water, science reveals, is due to certain strange organisms known as "Peridinales." Although long regarded as insects, they are really red single-cell plants.

Under favorable conditions, says Collier's Weekly, these organisms multiply so profusely that they turn the water for miles into a red fluid almost exactly the color of blood. One of the results of the process is to remove most of the available oxygen from the water, which causes the death of thousands of fish, whose dead bodies serve in turn as food for the organisms.

their journeys out of the wilderness of Sinai; and the cloud rested in the wilderness of Paran.

13 And they first took their journey according to the commandment of the Lord by the hand of Moses.

Verses 29-36—

29 And Moses said unto Hobab, the son of Raguel the Midianite, Moses' father-in-law, We are journeying unto the place of which the Lord said, I will give it you: come thou with us, and we will do thee good: for the Lord hath spoken good concerning Israel.

30 And he said unto him, I will not go; but I will depart to mine own land, and to my kindred.

31 And he said, Leave us not, I pray thee; forasmuch as thou knowest how we are to encamp in the wilderness, and thou mayest be to us instead of eyes.

32 And it shall be, if thou go with us, yea, it shall be, that what goodness the Lord shall do unto us, the same will we do unto thee.

33 And they departed from the mount of the Lord three days' journey; and the ark of the covenant of the Lord went before them in the three days' journey, to search out a resting place for them.

34 And the cloud of the Lord was upon them by day, when they went out of the camp.

35 And it came to pass, when the ark set forward, that Moses said, Rise up, Lord, and let thine enemies be scattered; and let them that hate thee flee before thee.

36 And when it rested, he said, Return, O Lord, unto the many thousands of Israel.

Time.—The setting out from Mt. Sinai in B. C. 1497, about April 21.

Place.—The wilderness of Paran, north of Sinai.

The Lesson Comment

It was more than a year after the Israelites left Egypt, that they turned from Sinai, where they had been encamped, and began the journey toward the promised land of Canaan which was to be their permanent home. Following the instructions of Jehovah, they had set up a place of worship, and having received instructions and laws, they were prepared to go to their own land and become a nation.

God's presence represented by a pillar of cloud by day with the appearance of fire at night, still guided them. When this cloud was stationary, the people remained in camp; when the cloud lifted, the people made ready to depart. Added to this, there were two silver trumpets made according to the directions of God, and they played a great part in the movements of the people. When the cloud lifted, as we have said, the people made ready to depart, but not until the trumpets sounded did they begin to move.

The Israelites marched in four divisions, or sections, each division being composed of three tribes—each tribe having a standard and commander. The tabernacle with its furnishings was in the midst of the company, carried by the Levites. The Ark bearing tables of stone on which the Ten Commandments were written by the finger of God was covered from the gaze of the curious, and carried by projecting bars, being too sacred to be touched by the hands of men. The Ark sometimes went before the people, leading them.

At the foot of Sinai where Israel had been in camp, Moses' brother-in-law, Hobab, had for some time been with them. Now that they were moving on, Moses gave Hobab a very cordial invitation to go with them. He told Hobab that God had promised good to the Israelites, and that whatever good came to them, then, the same should come to Hobab if he would only go with them. "Come with us and we will do thee good, for the Lord promised good concerning his people." This is the invitation Andrew took to Peter when he found Jesus: "Come with us into the great Christian experience."

Hobab refused to go with Israel that he might get good, but we are left to suppose that when Moses told him of the help he could be to Israel he went with them. Peloubet reminds us that in Judges 1:15, Hobab's sons are counted among the men, or tribe, of Judah, so we naturally suppose his family was adopted into that tribe. Peloubet further explains that Judah led the way from Sinai; and as Hobab acted as scout—going before in the wilderness, he would be associated with the leading tribe and know them best.

Each morning as the people went forward into the desert, Moses offered a prayer that God would go before and scatter enemies too strong for them; in the evening when they paused for rest, he prayed again that the presence and care of Jehovah might abide with his people.

No Change In Vote Made By Committee In Count Saturday

Figures from Floyd County on State Races Sent in Duplicate to State Committee.

Practically no change was made in the official count of the vote in Floyd County in the run-off primary, when the county executive committee met in the court house and checked the figures given in the returns of the respective voting boxes. Unofficial reports given out by these election judges were correct as to all county and precinct races, and in the governor's race.

In addition to the official certificate sent the state committee following the count an unofficial copy of the results in this county on state races was also forwarded to the secretary of the state committee, who is Albert S. Johnson, of Dallas. Heretofore the custom has been for years to open the returns of county chairmen and make the tabulation of all results before the day of the actual meeting of the state committee. However, Secretary Johnson advised in a letter requesting the additional copy, candidates for the governor's office this year requested that the official returns be not opened until Monday, September 12. This means that no votes can be counted until that date, although the state convention meets the next day. The result of this will be that the delegates would have to wait in Lubbock three or four days for the count to be made before they could be certified to the state convention, unless a way be found around the requirement. The duplicate set will be used, Mr. Johnson's letter said, to tabulate all returns on races other than that of the governor and have them ready for the opening of the convention, and in a day's time after the official returns are opened on Monday the results in the governor's race can also be checked with the official returns and a very considerable delay saved.

"In making the request for the additional copy the secretary said, 'We realize this means more work for you, and also we feel you realize it means even more work for your state chairman and secretary. However, all of Texas and a great part of the entire nation are watching us in this very serious situation, and we know you are willing to do your part to prevent any suspicion of fraud being cast upon the officials of the Democratic party.'"

Convention Tuesday

While these preparations to avoid delay and confusion in the state convention are under way behind the scenes, the general run of delegates and alternates are looking forward to the opening day of the convention on September 13. In Floyd County nine delegates and twelve alternates have been named. The delegates from this county are C. F. Ramsey, H. M. Mason and A. R. Meriwether of Lockney; Homer Steen, A. C. Goen, Tony B. Maxey, Jeff D. Ayres, L. G. Mathews and R. E. Fry, Floydada. The list of alternates certified is as follows:

A. J. Polley, G. C. Tubbs, S. W. Ross, J. B. Jenkins, Floydada; J. N. Stalbird, Lester Honea, A. P. Barker, H. B. Adams, Lockney; J. E. Newton, Dougherty; T. E. Cowart, Providence; W. J. Jennings and J. E. McAvoy, Aiken. The delegation from this county is made up of a majority of Sterling supporters, an informal check of the list indicates. Inasmuch as the state convention for the first time in history is being held in this section of the state, keen interest is being shown by many who are anxious to go from this county to "see the show." The fact that a factional fight over the governorship is one of the possibilities, has also whetted interest on the part of the public.

H. D. WOMEN GET ORDER FOR SIX WOOL HOOKED RUGS

The rugs will be made according to standardized specifications and the order represents another step in the marketing movement that is being developed by the club women in the state and in which Floyd County is among the pioneers in this new source of revenue for farm homes.

Delivery is to be made by October 8. The order is a repeat order, the first having been filled last year. Mrs. R. H. Ashton of Campbell, Mrs. S. M. Lester, of Liberty and Mrs. Mal Jarboe of Campbell will fill the order. Materials have been received for the rugs.

Radio-Guided

San Pedro, Calif.—The old battleship Utah has successfully passed seagoing tests in her new and final role as a radio-controlled target vessel. This Fall she is scheduled to end her career under the fire of her modern sister dreadnaughts of the United States fleet. The Utah has been rebuilt so that without a single person aboard, she can steam at desired speed, change course at will and even make her own smoke screen, under the sole control of radio-sending equipment on another vessel miles distant from the robot ship. Pictured above are Lieut. Jennings B. Dow, and Joseph Welhelm aboard the U. S. S. Robin, control ship, changing the rate of speed and the course of the abandoned Utah by radio. The Utah is seen in the distance.

Whirlwinds to Open Season With Plainview Night Game

Gridiron fans are whetting their appetites for the opening tussle of the season for the Floydada High School Whirlwinds with the Plainview Bulldogs, ancient rivals, in a night game on Wayland Field at Plainview Saturday, October 1. The game will not be an official league game.

The battle is scheduled to start at 8 o'clock, it was announced this week by Coach R. P. Terrell, who has been working on the schedule details this week. He went to Lubbock to confer with other coaches of this section Tuesday.

Silverton at Floydada is the second game on the schedule and is slated to be played here Friday, October 7.

A feature of the game with the Bulldogs this year is the fact that after all expenses have been paid the two schools will divide evenly the remaining gate proceeds. In years past the game has been a good drawing card for fans in this section.

Plainview is in Class A of the Interscholastic League and the Whirlwinds are in Class B but the Green and White lads make it more than interesting every year for the Bulldogs.

The opening game will be of especial interest to local fans for it will be the first test of the team that last year won district honors and was barely nosed out by Lamesa for the bi-district title. Coach Terrell will show the fans a new style of play that should prove effective.

He uses a double wing-back formation with a balanced or unbalanced line. The play starts following a shift or double shift after the players come out of the huddle.

The Whirlwinds have a brick wall line and a fast backfield and they are due to make another record this season.

Owing to the fact that muddy roads prevented a number of the coaches from attending the Lubbock meeting, all dates on the schedule were not filled, it was stated. The Coaches' Under-Council will meet again September 15 at Lubbock and by that date all members of the league will be known and a complete schedule will be made.

It was voted at Saturday's session to divide District 2 into four sections again this year with the northeast quarter playing the northwest and the southeast the southwest quarter. The winners of the two divisions then play Thanksgiving day for the district title. Floydada is in the northeast section with Lockney, Matador and Paducah. Slaton was reinstated as a Class B team. The Tigers have been trying Class A competition and found the sledging a little too rough. The Whirlwinds will meet the Tigers again this year in their Turkey Day battle if both teams are out of the district running at that time.

Following is the schedule of definite games so far arranged as announced by Coach Terrell this morning:

- Oct. 1—Plainview at Plainview.
Oct. 7—Silverton at Floydada.
Oct. 14—Paducah at Paducah.
Oct. 21—Ralls at Floydada.
Nov. 4—Matador at Matador.
Nov. 11—Lockney at Lockney.

The Ralls game is fairly definite, Coach Terrell said.

PROBLEMS, POSSIBILITIES OF CATTLE FEEDING ARE DISCUSSED BY H. M. MASON

Problems of disposing profitably of the large feed crop in this area this year, together with particular problem of the cotton seed producer and oil mills as to marketing conditions, were discussed by H. M. Mason, manager of Lockney Cotton Oil Company, at the Wednesday luncheon of the local Rotary Club.

That large feeders of cattle are now buying cattle to go in the lots in an indication that prospects for market conditions when the cattle are finished, are good, the speaker pointed out in urging feeding as a possible means of profit during the winter months in this section. Touching on cotton seed prices, he said the problem of the farmer and miller is identical in that the fat and oils market is being more and more cornered by imported oils that are coming into the country duty free.

The Philippines, he asserted, are sending in a large proportion of the copra which is flooding the American markets at this time and making the position of the cottonseed raiser and dealer precarious.

A brain puzzler put before members of the club by J. M. Willson, one of the editors for the month of the club publication, "Spokes," put members to scratching their heads. It was the announcement of an essay contest on the subject, "What the Rotary Club should do for the schools." Essays submitted were limited to fifty words and the winner is to be awarded a prize in addition to having his essay printed "Spokes." All members, he said, are expected to submit essays.

Visitors at the meeting included Mrs. E. S. Randerson, Rev. Geo. Brentine and Artie Baker of Lockney, A. H. Kreis, Floydada, and J. S. Bates, the latter being engaged in a revival meeting here this time.

Miss Mildred Armstrong, of Waco, has been spending the summer as a guest of her sister, Mrs. C. C. Cline, left Sunday afternoon in company with her uncle, Mr. Sparks, and family for Amarillo for a visit. Mr. and Mrs. Sparks were guests Saturday and Sunday of Mr. and Mrs. Cline.

1922 Study Club Will Sponsor Flower Show

Sponsored by the 1922 Study Club women a Floyd County Flower Show will be held in connection with the annual exhibit of the Home Demonstration Clubs of Floyd County in the Manasco Building on West California Street Friday and Saturday, September 23, 24.

Mrs. J. B. Jenkins, member of the Flower Show committee from the study club made the announcement of the committee are Mrs. W. I. Cannaday and Mrs. R. E. Fry.

"We will have complete plans ready next week," Mrs. Jenkins said. "We will not give prizes but we are anxious to have all the entries we can get of all kinds of flowers and pot plants."

Unusual interest was shown in the flower show at the fair last year and an equally large exhibit is expected this year.

"Since the rain there should be plenty of pretty flowers," Mrs. Jenkins stated, "and we should have a dandy show."

Detail plans are going forward for the exhibit by the county clubs, it was announced this week by Miss Martha Faulkner, county home demonstration agent. "Whether the work is continued in the county next year or not, we are going right ahead with our preparations for our annual show," she said.

LEGION POST PLANS FOR MEMBERSHIP DRIVE SOON

In addition to a discussion of the drive plans the organization also heard a report by J. M. Willson, delegate to the state convention, on the proceedings of that meeting.

Advance information on a plan to perpetuate the Legion organization through the formation of clubs of sons of Legionnaires was given the meeting by Robt. A. Garrett, post commander. This feature will have further attention during meetings to be held later in the year, as well as plans for the organization to engage in the furtherance of boys' work in the communities where it is organized.

Bagwell suffered broken ankles and other injuries. His recovery was described as "quite satisfactory."

J. N. Gullion and Chas. Hopkins, of this city, went to Plainview Sunday and visited Bagwell and Mr. Gullion's son, Elza, and Mrs. Gullion.

AN APPRECIATION

After the primary on August 27 the court appointed me to be your sheriff beginning September 12, when I will take the oath and begin serving you to the best of my ability.

I want to assure everyone, whether or not they supported me, that I am going to try to be a sheriff for all the county and with your cooperation am going to do my utmost to live up to the oath of office that I will take Monday.

E. S. Randerson.

Citizens To Petition Commissioners Court To Retain H. D. Work

Attendance Urged for Mass Meeting With County Officials Next Monday, 2 p. m.

Maintaining that the Home Demonstration work has been of untold benefit to Floyd County, especially in recent months, and that the returns far exceed the cost, interested citizens, Floydada, Lockney and rural club women this week started an active campaign to obtain a public appeal to the Commissioners' Court to rescind an order to have the work discontinued in October.

Petitions are being circulated throughout the county this week and will be presented at the meeting of the court Monday, September 12.

Action is to be taken on the county budget at the meeting. A call has been issued to every interested citizen to be in Floydada to attend the meeting with the court which will be held Monday afternoon at 2 o'clock.

The court last week passed an order to have the Home Demonstration work discontinued in Floyd County in the interest of economy and in an effort to reduce the expenses within a proposed budget.

At an organization meeting Friday afternoon of last week in the district courtroom at which time plans were made to work out means of assisting the court in solving the financial problems of the county in such a way as to retain the Home Demonstration work it was pointed out that the work is not an expense but an investment.

The petitions which are being signed and which will be signed and returned this week reads as follows: "The State of Texas County of Floyd To the Hon. County Judge and Commissioners' Court of Floyd County:

"We, the undersigned citizens and taxpayers of Floyd County, Texas, hereby petition your honorable body to rescind your order of August 29, 1932, whereby you discontinued the Home Demonstration work in October."

"We earnestly beg, employ, and beseech you to reconsider and order this work continued in the future as in the past. It is our opinion that this work has saved thousands and tens of thousands of dollars to the people of Floyd County."

"We cite you to the fact, that not a family or any member of any family, who took part in the Home Demonstration Club work, has called upon the Red Cross or any other charitable organization for help. Only five men, whose family took part in the work, has applied for Federal Farm and Feed and Seed Loans, and these have all been paid up 100 per cent."

"We believe that this work has paid the tax payers of Floyd County more than 1,000 per cent on the cost, as an investment. And we charge that it is penny wise and pound foolish to abandon this work at this time. We request it be continued."

Mrs. C. A. Caffee, of Antelope, County Council chairman, presided at the meeting Saturday. Short talks in which the speakers praised the value of the home demonstration work in Floyd County were made by Mesdames J. M. Willson, J. B. Jenkins, W. E. Miller, E. L. Angus, O. P. Rutledge, and Messrs. L. G. Mathews, Homer Steen, S. W. Ross, and Roy Haynes.

It was pointed out that the home demonstration work will cost each taxpayer only one and one half cents on the $100 valuation, based on the reduced figures for 1933.

The official records show that the club women made a total net profit of $14,767.66 during the past 8 months. It was also brought out that the club girls received credit in Floydada and Lockney schools for their club work.

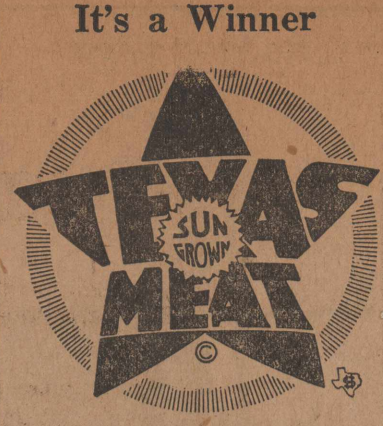

After an urgent appeal had been made for co-operation from every citizen to sign the petitions to the court, the meeting was adjourned.

PRICE SCOTT MAKES TALK AT FAIRVIEW EXERCISES

County Superintendent Price Scott made the main address Tuesday of last week at the opening exercises of the school at Fairview.

Students were classified and the work organized Tuesday and Wednesday and school was dismissed for the teachers' institute, classes being resumed Monday.

This symbol will be imprinted on every piece of Texas meat soon. It was selected from more than 2,000 designs submitted in a contest sponsored by the West Texas chamber of commerce to secure a trademark and slogan to campaign for further consumption of Texas meat. The designer, James Lowry of Fort Worth, won $100.

18th District Postal Workers Hold Meeting

Postal workers of the Eighteenth District held their annual convention on Labor Day in Littlefield, three members of the working force in the Floydada Post Office being among those to attend. They were Lorin Leibfried, Oliver Allen and G. N. Shirey. The latter was on the program for the response to an address of welcome from T. S. Sales, mayor of the city of Littlefield.

In addition to the postal workers from Floydada a group of musicians also attended and furnished music at intervals during the convention.

It is tentatively planned to have the September meeting of the postal workers next year in Floydada. In the group of musicians from Floydada who furnished special entertainment at the meeting were as follows: Vollie, Bill and Mac McNeill, Chas. Warren, Ray Smith, Bob King, Oliver Allen, and Milton Ashton.

Patterson Re-Elected President Of Gin Men

R. E. Patterson, of Lockney, was re-elected president and Lon M. Davis, of this city, was again named a member of the board of directors of the Plains Ginners' Association in annual session Saturday at Lubbock. Seven directors re-elected were R. E. Patterson of Lockney; J. W. McDonald of Lamesa; J. S. Edwards of Slaton; Ray Grisham of Plainview; Lon M. Davis of Floydada; and G. A. Simmons and R. D. Holmes of Lubbock. Grisham, secretary of the association, and Simmons are cotton oil company representatives.

The session developed into one of the best in past years with approximately three hundred in attendance. The ginners were guests at a luncheon at noon at the Hotel Lubbock given by the cotton oil men, machine supply houses and the coal supply men.

It was indicated at the meeting, from the general expressions of the gin men, that the minimum cost at which the crop could be ginned this year would be 30 cents per hundred with a charge of $1.25 for bagging and ties.

Last season cotton was ginned at 20 and 25 cents per 100 pounds and bagging and ties cost about $1.

Among those from Floyd County attending the convention were as follows: R. E. Patterson, Lon M. Davis, J. W. Lanier, C. T. (Bill) Scott, J. T. Davidson, O. B. Olson, J. E. Newton, John R. Gray, and Edd Whitfill. Horace Kincaid, of this city, also accompanied the gin men.

Thompson Is Speaker

Principal speaker was John C. Thompson of Dallas, secretary of Texas Ginners' association, who pleaded for cooperation in upholding price of ginning and who assailed price-slashing and entrance of the government in business.

The association protested allowance of $5 a bale and seed for picking and ginning expenses of cotton mortgaged to meet federal loan payments and asked for increase of the allowance.

Other resolutions asked reduction of penalties for light bales of cotton, placing of TCCA gins in the hands of farmers of the communities in which they are located, and repeal of the present bond and license law in Texas affecting ginners.

The First Indication of the Convalescence of a Sick World is the strengthening of the COTTON MARKET

With the prospect of cotton bringing the grower a price equal to its cost of production, and the possibility of a small margin of profit from an abundant feed crop—if properly marketed—the South Plains farmer should begin feeling more optimistic towards making both ends meet this year.

The Only Market for Feedstuff is Through the Feeding of Live Stock

The Happy-go-Lucky type of farmer may not take advantage of the opportunity—but the Industrious, Intelligent farmer with the necessary character for securing the credit will begin now making arrangements for marketing his Surplus feed on the hoof—which will mean the beginning of a very important industry—Live Stock Feeding, Allied with Crop Production—on the plains.

The most inexperienced Farmer can soon learn the rudiments of profitable feeding—namely:

- 1st. Proper selection of animals to fatten and a knowledge of their habits and characteristics as regards making the greatest gain in the shortest time at the Least Expense.
- 2nd. Proper equipment in the way of Barns, Sheds, Windbreaks, Fences, Troughs and ample supply of fresh, clear water.
- 3rd. Proper knowledge of combining Proteins (corn, grain, meal, etc.) and Carbohydrates (hay, silage, hulls, etc.) with available pasturage to the end that the most efficient and economical Balanced Ration will be obtained.

Discuss the matter with your neighbor—he may be able to help you—get information from the nearest County Agent or Vocational Agriculture Instructor; write for information from the Extension Service of A. & M. College at College Station, Texas; Ask us, or write us for the booklet, "1932 Feeding Practices."
