King Case Continued At Memphis Last Week

The suit of Mr. and Mrs. G. Scott King of this city, against McClung Construction Company, was continued on petition of the plaintiffs Thursday of last week, and the Floydada witnesses in the case returned home Thursday night, from Memphis where it had been called for trial on Wednesday.

The suit instituted asks $15,000 as damages for the death of Hunter King in July of 1931. Hunter, a Floydada High School student, was killed at a detour gap on the highway near Turkey, when a car in which he was riding failed to take the sudden turn and crashed. Lorraine and Pete Nelson and Fred Jenkins, who were in the car also were not seriously injured. They, with Tom Bishop, are witnesses in the case. Neglect on the part of the construction company in putting signals at the stop is alleged to have caused the wreck. A. J. Folley, of this city, is attorney for the plaintiffs, Mr. and Mrs. King. Continuance of the case is to the next term of Hall County District Court.

The firm will occupy the entire Starks building which has been remodeled at the front and re-finished inside. The attractive new quarters are commodious, affording the company a greater amount of space to serve their patrons and upon completion will present one of the finest jewelry and optical establishments in West Texas.

Dr. Kimble said that he thought they would be well pleased with their new home.

Cotton Green But Samples Middling with Good Staple

Movement of cotton to Floyd County gins is getting fairly well under way this week, reports indicating that the gimmers are moderately busy, but anticipating the real rush to begin probably next week.

Some fields are not yet open enough for the crews to go into while others have plenty of cotton ready for the picker. At that most of the fields are sending in cotton that is too wet to get the best samples from. Ginners this week say that they have been getting middling samples out of cotton that will grade strict middling as soon as it is a little drier. No complaint is being made on the staple.

Not only is there no complaint on the staple, but ginners are expressing gratification over the good long cotton that they have been receiving. This staple is making practically every bale a premium over the seven-eighths staple quotation.

Gins of Floydada had turned out 256 bales of cotton this morning and there were ten bales in town that had not been ginned.

GWENDOLYN SNODGRASS IS RECOVERING SATISFACTORILY

Glad Snodgrass returned home Monday night from Belton, where he had been at the bedside of his daughter, Gwendolyn, who underwent an operation for appendicitis Monday night of last week at the Scott & White Sanitarium at Temple. She was taken to her dormitory Sunday at Baylor Belton, where she is attending school.

Mrs. Snodgrass remained to be with her daughter several days. Gwendolyn was reported by Mr. Snodgrass as recovering satisfactorily.

Affording an opportunity for those interested to see at first-hand the high points of accomplishment in recent years in the home demonstration work in Floyd County, an Achievement Tour is being planned by Miss Martha Faulkner, county home demonstration agent.

Everyone Invited The trip to be made by auto caravan will cover about seventy-five miles of the county, it was stated. Everyone will be invited to make the tour in which local business men will cooperate. A number have signified their intention of going.

Especially the business men are being urged to take part in the review which is to be held Tuesday, October 25.

Cars will leave town in the morning and a stop will be made for the noon hour for lunch, possibly at Sand Hill. The return will be made early in the afternoon, final details are to be worked out and announced next week, Miss Faulkner said.

To See Pantries

Landscape yards at farm homes, wardrobe improvement, poultry demonstrators' work, and the farm and ranch food supply accomplishments will be seen on the Achievement Tour. Home supplies of canned goods, meats, dried vegetables and fruits and fresh vegetables will be seen in well-filled pantries that have been prepared in connection with the "Live at Home" program sponsored by the clubs and carried out in extensive canning activities this summer and fall.

According to present plans the caravan will leave town about 10 o'clock Tuesday morning, October 25, and return about 5 o'clock the same afternoon.

'All-Floydada' Job Progresses On New Sand Hill Curtain

Painting of the beautiful mountain scene, "Where Silence Reigns" by Miss Amy McRoberts, Floydada artist, for the new Sand Hill curtain is nearing completion today at the Roy Holmes Studio on the south side of the square.

Details for the new curtain were worked up by G. W. Hall and the ads are to be painted by Glenn Jones. It is claimed that the curtain and scenery is the first "all-Floydada" job of this type ever done. The large painting being done in highest priced oils will be the scene on the drop curtain measuring 20 feet in width and 10 feet, 10 inches in height. The order being filled by Mr. Hall includes the wing scenery, also, for the Sand Hill School.

Unusual amateur talent is being shown by Miss McRoberts, and her work already has drawn much favorable comment from those who have seen the canvass in the process of being completed.

W. J. JARRETT SERIOUSLY ILL IN SANITARIUM AT PLAINVIEW THIS WEEK

W. J. Jarrett, of South Plains, is reported to be in a serious condition this week at the Plainview Sanitarium where he was taken last week for medical attention. He is suffering from a kidney disorder, it was stated.

Mr. Jarrett is janitor for the school at South Plains.

New Mill Opening Is Scheduled Tomorrow Sat.; Public Invited

Boothe Mill & Elevator are "all set" for the expected visit of scores of Floyd County people tomorrow and Saturday for the formal opening of their new flour mill, Floydada's newest industry.

The mill, which has been operating in the milling of flour and allied wheat products since it was put into operation two weeks ago, is on a twenty-four hour schedule and has been running smoothly for several days, and will be in operation when the crowds begin coming for the formal inspection this week-end.

Joe F. Boothe, manager of the mill, anticipates a large number of entries in the baking contest each day, in which first, second and third prizes are being offered in each of three types of baking, one for the best layer cake, one for the best whole wheat bread and one for the best cornbread. "We have been assured of any number of entries and feel gratified at the whole-hearted interest generally," Mr. Boothe said. A special room is being prepared in the warehouse west of the elevator office for the display of the entries, where the judging will be held. Competent judges will choose the winners in the respective divisions of the contest, Mr. Boothe said.

Sunrise Flour is the name given the principal product of the mill, and many complimentary things have been said for it by users.

$8,770 Is Asked for Relief Employment in Floyd Co.

Method. of Administering Funds That May Be Obtained Not Given Yet.

$8,770 is the amount being sought by W. Edd Brown in an application, filed Monday with Governor R. S. Sterling, out of the Federal Emergency Relief and Construction Act of 1932, for relief of the local unemployment situation in this county for the last four months of the year of 1932. The application was filed following a conference Sunday afternoon by Mr. Brown and S. W. Ross with Maury Hopkins at Plainview. Hopkins is assistant manager of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce, which was designated by Governor Sterling to supervise the filing of applications.

Brown's appointment as the governor's representative to make out the application for Floydada's unemployment relief, was announced the last week of September by Wilbur C. Hawk, of Amarillo, president of West Texas Chamber of Commerce. The amount sought is equal to an amount expended locally during the year of 1931 for distress relief less an amount anticipated to be received from all sources for the relief of distress during the last four months of this year.

Details Public Soon

Details of administering the promised funds for relief work have not been received locally as yet. S. W. Ross, Secretary of the Chamber of Commerce, said the first of the week. The money, it was indicated in early dispatches telling of the passage of the act by Congress, would be used on needed public improvements and repairs and would be paid out only for work done. It was intended, Mr. Brown said he understood to take the place of other means of relief by making work possible for the unemployed and thus make donations unnecessary for able-bodied men and their families.

Several projects which will require laborers in considerable numbers have been tentatively planned, pending full development of the plan of congress. The funds are handled through the states and all cash grants made will be deducted from appropriations of future years. Of the amounts set aside none will be taken from funds appropriated for 1932-33 for this state. Maury Hopkins told Mr. Ross and Mr. Brown in their conference Sunday afternoon, and the emergency funds set up for road construction work in Texas will not be affected by the plans for relief work.

RURAL SCHOOLS DISMISS TO PERMIT STUDENTS TO HELP IN COTTON HARVEST

Four rural schools dismissed last week so that pupils could assist with the gathering of the cotton crop. With continued fair weather this week it is thought likely that practically all other rural schools in the county will dismiss for a period of about four weeks during the cotton harvest.

Last week Harmony, Dougherty, South Plains and Muncy dismissed and this week Liberty and possibly others have discontinued class work for a time, it was stated by County Superintendent Price Scott.

Fairmount and Edgin had previously dismissed, making a total of seven that had reported dismissed out of the 20 that opened in September.

Football Fans Launch Plans For Special Train to Paducah Game; Need Guarantee of 200 Tickets

Boy Scout Work, Shown In Exhibit Creates Interest

Object of a great deal of interest is the exhibit of Boy Scout handicraft now on display at The Hesperian office being shown through the courtesy of Scoutmaster W. A. Gound of Troop No. 44.

Bead work on belts, a beaded hat band and new cellophane belts and bracelets made by Waymon Finley, assistant scoutmaster of Troop No. 20, are unusually well done.

Several wooden chains and other items of wood carving have also been the center of interest. A wooden tie rack, wooden trellis work, small ironing board, and a wooden silhouette carving are included in addition to a display of the various kind of rope knots that are taught in the scout work.

The same exhibit was on display at the annual show given last month by the Floyd County Home Demonstration Clubs.

Whirlwinds to Clash With Dragons On Foreign Field Friday, October 21.

High school students and local football enthusiasts this week launched plans to obtain a special train to carry the team, pep squad and rooters to Paducah for the gridiron game to be played between the Dragons and the Floydada Whirlwinds Friday afternoon, October 21.

Robt. Medlen, local agent for the Q. A. & P. Railway, announced that a special excursion rate of $1 fare for the round trip would be made on a guarantee of 200 tickets. The same price applies to all tickets, he said.

Superintendent A. D. Cummings stated Wednesday that those sponsoring the special would have sheets of paper at all the drug stores and at Westers' Bakery so that all those planning to make the trip on the train could sign up, thus making possible an estimate early next week and the train ordered if the necessary number of passengers can be assured.

According to present plans, if the train is secured it will leave Floydada at 12:30 o'clock Friday afternoon of next week, arriving in Paducah an hour before the game which is to begin at 3:30 o'clock. The special is to leave Paducah at 6 o'clock, following the grid classic.

Superintendent Cummings and Principal O. T. Williams both plan to make the trip. "The students will be well chaperoned as there are a number of teachers planning to go," Superintendent Cummings said. "We are anxious for all those who will take tickets on the train to signify that fact as early as possible for we would like to have the necessary number of tickets assured by Wednesday of next week if possible," Mr. Cummings said.

It has been suggested that a half day holiday be declared Friday and the school board may take the matter under consideration at a meeting this week.

Tickets for the game will be placed on sale in Floydada early next week, it was announced. Admission to the tilt will be 35 cents for adults, 20 cents for high school pupils, and 15 cents for children under 12 years of age or ward school pupils, it was explained.

The Green Peppers, girls' rooting organization of F. H. S., are planning to go with their team. The girls will be admitted to the game for 10 cents each but they are to pay their own individual fares of $1 each on the train.

Lacy Martin Succeeds Kincaid As Fireman

Tuesday night the city council in their regular meeting named Lacy Martin to succeed Horace H. Kincaid as a member of the paid force of firemen, effective October 15.

Kincaid resigned his job with the city on October 1 after seven years on the force to take employment with Cities Service Oil Company in a station.

JUDGE F. P. HENRY ILL

Judge F. P. Henry, who became ill last Thursday, is still confined to his bed today, Mrs. Henry said this morning.

His condition is thought not to be serious.

Whirlwinds Will Tangle With Ralls Jackrabbits On Local Grid Friday

Fleet-footed Jackrabbits from over Ralls way are slated to jump about on the High School Athletic Field Friday afternoon before the Green and White Whirlwind eleven of Floydada that has been sweeping all opposition before it this year like a full-fledged cyclone. The game, the second local gridiron tilt for Coach R. P. Terrell's crew and their third for the secon is scheduled to begin at 3:30 o'clock.

Line-Up May Change

Local fans likely will see a shake-up in the team with a new arrangement planned to strengthen the line. Coach Terrell has been shifting his regulars around this week in an effort to forestall any such havoc as was wrought in his defense last week by the Quitaque Panthers.

Henry, a fighting lineman, is looking good and will start at left guard. He has been out since the Plainview game with a leg injury.

Baxter, the hefty lineman, has been rooting things up on the practice field this week in the backfield but it is doubtful that he will get a call to do much if any ball toting.

And the backfield will present a new picture with the faces of Glover, Bridges, Cothorn and F. Murray showing at the start of the fray. Heald has been out with an injured toe and has been working out very little in scrimmage. Glover gets the job of doing things at right half. Bridges will be at his regular post

Hospital Petition Is Withdrawn For Present

Although more than 800 names appeared on the petition for the purchase of a county hospital by means of a $25,000 bond issue, presented to the Commissioners' Court when they met Monday morning, the petition was withdrawn Tuesday.

The petition recited that the election on the issue should be held on Tuesday, November 8, and a doubt developed that sufficient time would elapse between the order for the election and the election date for it to be a valid one.

Sponsors of the plan said this technical defect would be remedied and a new petition filed, with the court at a later date.

Preston Martin, of Weatherford, was in Floydada the first of this week visiting relatives and attending district court as an attorney, representing clients.

J. P. Crossley, of Lorenzo, was in Floydada on business Thursday.

Mrs. Ferguson Gets Name On Ticket For Governor, Court Rule

A sweeping decision of the Supreme Court of Texas last Saturday gave Mrs. Miriam A. Ferguson a decision in her legal battle with the Sterling forces to have her name printed on the ballot as the nominee of the Democratic Party for the governorship of Texas.

Saturday was the last day on which the name could be certified to county clerks over the state. Tom W. Deen, clerk of this county, received a telegraphic certificate shortly after noon on that date and the space, left blank on the original certificate, thus will be filled with the name of Mrs. Ferguson when the voter walks up to the ballot box on Tuesday, November 8.

The court opinion was unanimous and went so far as to issue orders that no injunction or other proceedings to prevent the secretary of state from placing the name on the ticket, would be received by them or an inferior court.

Following the announcement that Mrs. Ferguson would be the party's nominee, a statement from Governor R. S. Sterling was issued, in which he announced that he would not support her in the general election.

Woolens Like Woolens,
Satin And Pebbly
Weaves This Season

Heavy Sheers, Lames, and Fancy Weaves Some of the Newer Developments.

Some of the great silk houses have been so clever about developing fall silks which look like woolens that it is difficult to tell them apart.

Woolen-like silks include heavy sheer types with either ribbed or flecked surfaces, a new grainy looking crepe, and others in either smooth or rough surfaced textures.

Another fabric is the reversible rough satin which is woven with a deeply pebbled surface and a perfectly dull rough, crepe back. A different version of this rough satin has a similar type of weave but is a great deal more lustrous.

Dull Moire

A new dull moire is expected to be higher fashion for evening wear this winter. Crinkled crepes in rough weaves, perfected now so they will not stretch, promise to be among the most popular crepes of the season. Canton crepe with a satin surface and lustrous all-silk crepe will be worn for both daytime and evening occasions.

New Velvets

Four outstanding new types of velvets have been presented by one outstanding French house and include a closely cut velvet with an erect pile and silk back; an uncut velvet; a softly finished, all silk velvet; and an ermine-like velvet with a dense long synthetic yarn pile and a silk back.

Sports Woolens

Woolens, naturally tend toward the sporty type of apparel and as a result are most frequently seen in loose spongy weaves that look as if they were knitted rather than woven. These appear most often in soft color mixtures and indefinite designs.

One popular style for travel coats and country wear is a small dog's tooth suiting with checks measuring an inch across. Diagonals and herringbones frequently appear as well as the ever-popular monotoons.

Coatings now being shown are of cashmere and give the effect of silk velvet in density and length of pile as well as in the weave.

Cottons also take on woolen weaves for fall. Plaids, stripes and checks are seen with frequency, especially among the cottons intended for children's clothes.

Cotton colorings are gay with greater conservativeness in the grounds, which place emphasis upon dark colors for grown-ups and pastels for the younger generation.

Stores Look Forward To Season Of Blouses

Shirtwaists and Overblouses in Soft Styling Two Outstanding Types.

First of all, on observing the suit skirts it will be noted that the waistlines are unusually high, a fact which is of utmost importance to the fall blouses.

These new tuck-in blouses are fashioned of crepe satin and other fabrics familiar to the tunic blouses seen in other seasons.

Separate Skirts

Another factor that promises to bring popularity to blouses for fall is the demand for skirt to match full length coats. The separate skirt has everything in the world to recommend it to the thrifty woman and it is as style-right as it is economical.

Shirtwaist Type

Although not as important as in other seasons, the shirtwaist blouse is still an outstanding fall blouse fashion. The new high necklines are featured in these tailored blouses and in the less severe shirtwaist types of satin and canton crepe. Diagonal tucks in clusters often trim these blouses. Laces, used about the neck and cuffs have the appearance of fine neckwear and contribute their bit to the "buttoned up" neckline.

Novelty weaves developed in plain colors are considered the leading silks for all types of blouses. Heavy sheers, rough crepes, fancy armures, lames and crepe satins also contribute their part to the fashion picture. Metal georgettes fashions many of the new tunic blouses designed to wear for very dressy occasions. These new georgettes have small patterns, contrary to the trend in other seasons. One particular piece of blouse fabric has coin dots in gold and silver.

Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Boerner left Sunday for Ozona where they will visit for some time with their daughter, Mrs. J. M. Baggett, and family. Mr. and Mrs. Frank Boerner accompanied them to Sterling City where they were met by Mrs. Baggett and son, James. Mr. and Mrs. Frank Boerner returned home Sunday night.

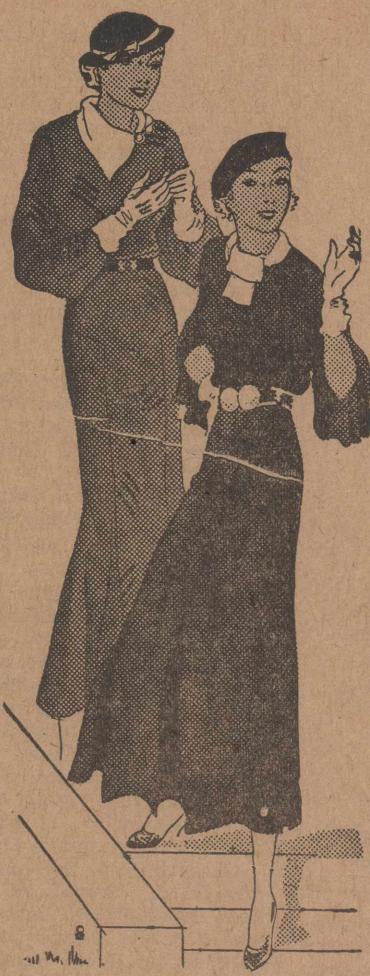

Mrs. G. F. May and children and Mr. and Mrs. Earl Edwards and children spent Saturday and Sunday visiting in Slaton with their mother, Mrs. J. C. Edwards, and other relatives. They also visited relatives in Lubbock.

Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Scoggins and daughter, Charlotte Rae, of Lubbock, came over last Friday afternoon for their daughter, Miss Merle, who is teaching this year at Lakeview. They were accompanied by Miss Olive Virginia Grigsby.

Mr. and Mrs. A. N. Gamble, of Lubbock, were business visitors in Floydada last Friday.

IMMORTAL DISAPPOINTMENT

October 12 was Columbus Day in America. And while we mark a day on the calendar in honor of this courageous dreamer who also knew how to be practical, had the greater discoverer but known that what he found was not the ancient Ophir of King Solomon's Day nor the remotest part of India, it would have been one of the greatest disappointments of the career on a man whose life was filled with disappointments. He died in ignorance of the greatness of what he had done. The glory of his accidental greatness will always be his, however, which is reminder that mortal man's greatness is not always of the type in which he attempts to mold it. Is it not possible that our greatest disappointments are also sometimes the means to greater and more glorious ends?

STREAKS OF FROST

Weather in west Texas, so often the subject of conversation, seems to continue to run in "streaks." So often reports indicate, since communication between points over the country has become easy and general, rains fall in strips or streaks, but rarely is this true of frost.

But last week's cold snap, which brought the temperature down to 34 degrees at Floydada and singed cotton tops in the immediate vicinity, but leaving vegetable crops in gardens, was streaked also, travel and reports from over the county indicate. In several communities or portions of them at least, the frost "burned" cotton from top to bottom and killed all the tender vegetable crops. In others the frost was not so "heavy."

RED CROSS ROLL CALL

Usually a benefactor gets his hand bitten for his trouble. But here is hoping that Floyd County people will see their way clear this year to a more general and hearty response to the annual Red Cross roll call, which is asked to begin on Armistice Day and continue through Thanksgiving Day.

Answering the Red Cross roll call with memberships gives the sinews of war to the organization. Audit of the organization's books has shown repeatedly that its administrative expenses are very low, that it is the type of organization which must have its operations above suspicion and that it does really respond to distress. This last thought is amply demonstrated in Floyd County, itself. During the past two years the Red Cross has responded to an urgent need for the relief of distress here. It has found local agencies apparently unable to cope with the situation and has come to the help of the dire distressed.

The Red Cross is intended as the agency of all the people, and is functioning as such under the most scrutinizing supervision. Make your plans now show appreciation of a good job, well-done, by taking a membership this fall when the roll is called. Everybody cannot respond but many can who have not been doing so.

COTTON REPORT UNFAVORABLE

The cotton report issued October 8 turned out to be an unfavorable one, that is unfavorable in that it gave as prospective a greater production of cotton by 115,000 bales than was estimated on September 1. Cotton growers and buyers who had hoped to see the report come in under 11,000,000 bales this time, were disappointed. The market eased off considerably on the report, and unless the miraculous occurs, the prospect which was so bright in August for a reasonably good market, has gone a-glimmering.

SHOULD BE INVESTIGATED

The Hesperian is in no position to say whether there was fraud in the primary election of the party in August in 130 counties as charged by Mr. Sterling, or in fifty or more counties as charged by Mrs. Ferguson. However, the charges are so inclusive and sweeping, the things alleged are so evidently fraudulent in thwarting the will of the people, that if they are true there should be some prosecutions. In other words the claims and counter-claims of the litigants are so serious as to merit the attention of the people of the counties included in the list.

However, when we suggest that investigation should be made, we do not have reference to a legislation but to a grand jury investigation. Every county ought to prove or disprove the truth or falsity of the allegations made against them. We have the claim from the two candidates that a total of practically 200,000 votes in Texas cast in the run-off primary, were illegal, or in other words, that about one out of every five votes cast was an illegal one. We do not believe that either of the candidates can prove their allegations but if the allegations are not true they should be so proved and the world put on notice that our candidates for governor have slandered us, rather than that Texas citizens have been guilty of stuffing the ballot boxes and otherwise comporting ourselves without the pale of the election law.

THE DIGEST POLL

The Literary Digest's poll on the presidential race between Hoover and Roosevelt, now nearing completion of the tabulation, indicates that the latter may carry all of the country except the New England states which the poll indicates will be carried by Mr. Hoover.

Even rock-ribbed republican Pennsylvania may lead in the Roosevelt column, the journal predicts, for the first time in history going democratic. Two or three other states are in the doubtful column, the straw vote shows, but otherwise it is all democratic.

SCRAMBLE SOON ON

All elated over the prospect for a democratic victory in November there is said to be already a scramble for appointments to postmaster's jobs the country over. Long rooted away from the pie center the patriots seek to get these and other good positions which are expected with each change in national administration.

In this connection the Randall County news rather rudely asks why postmasters, anyhow, in first class offices? And declares they are nothing but political wheel horses, being paid a political debt, big salaries with no work and little responsibility.

These postmasters, along with the franking privilege and other expensive frills, are making the deficit in the post office department, further avers The News.

OUR CONTRARY WAYS

It is said to have developed that instead of increasing the revenues of the post office department the new postal rate of three cents for first class postage has actually brought with it a loss in revenue. Instead of paying the new rate and going ahead as usual in times past, the upward change caught the people just at a time when they were figuring on ways of reducing their bills still further. Result, many millions realized for the first time what a big per cent of their correspondence they could have been carrying on all the while on a postal card at the one-cent rate.

Big business and little alike, as well as persons carrying on personal correspondence all at once swamped post offices with demands for postal cards to the surprise and amazement of all, including officials of the department.

These are contrary times and contrary things are happening to everybody. The post office department is finding this out, and as a result is said to be worrying all over again about how the budget can be balanced.

FLOYD COUNTY 14 YEARS AGO

News items taken from files of the Floyd County Hesperian published in Floydada fourteen years ago.

ISSUE OCTOBER 10, 1918

The West Texas Gin and the Blanton Gin are now operating on half time, each ginning two days alternately, as a result of a conference between themselves and W. L. Boerner, Fuel Administrator. Conservation of manpower and fuel was the object aimed at in the reduction of running time of the two gins.

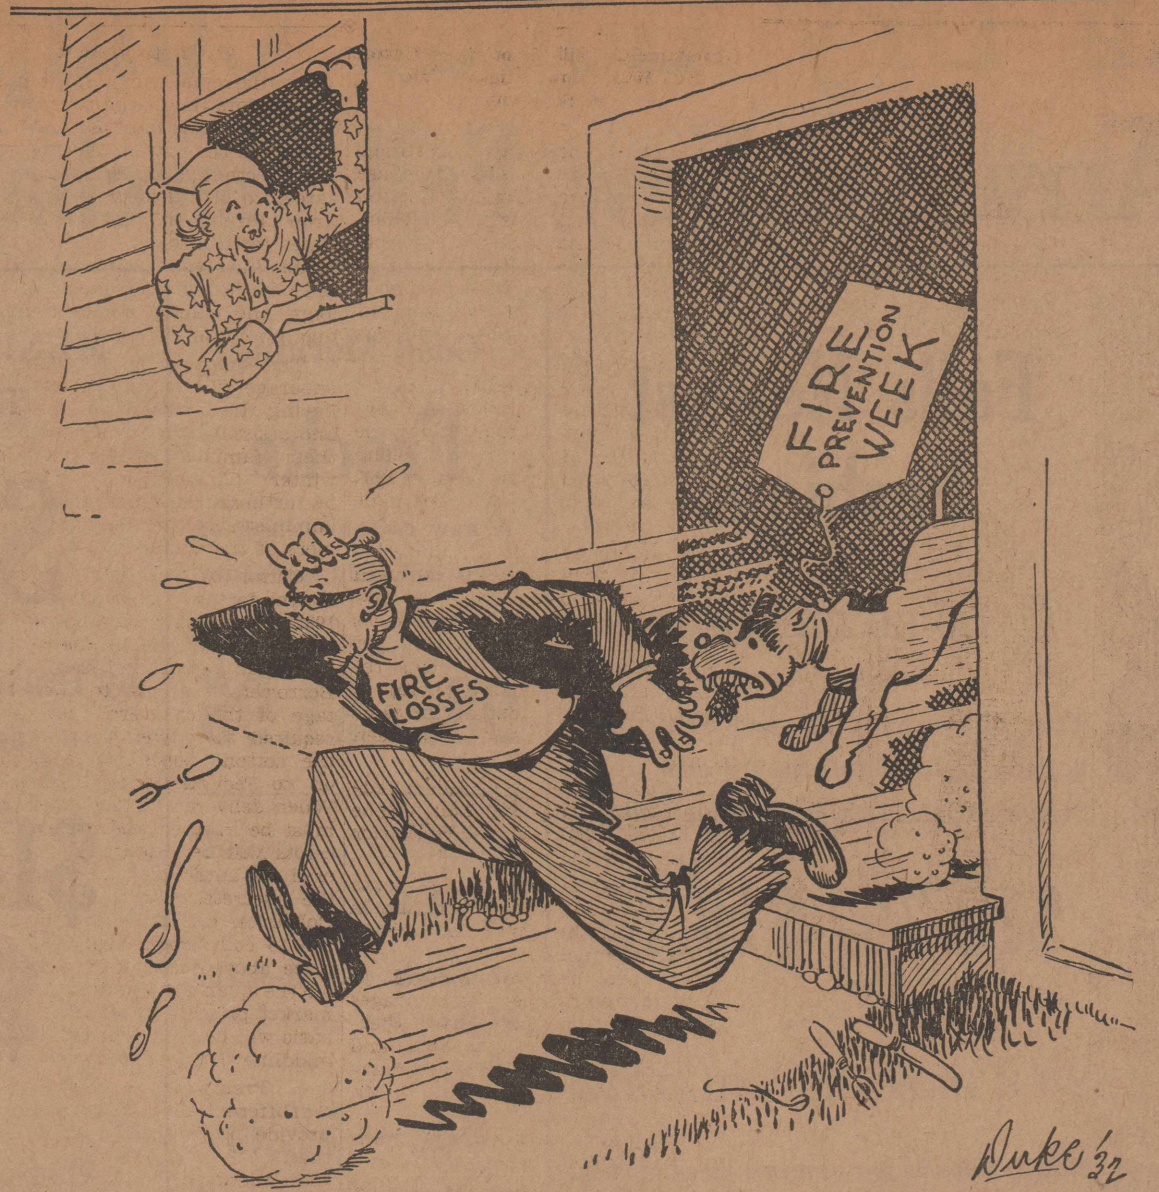

The Magnolia Petroleum Company, through its local agent, A. J. Ryals, subscribed for $1,000 worth of the Fourth Liberty Loan bonds here last week, which is to apply on Floyd County's quota.

The Service Flag unveiled at the Baptist church last Sunday night, a tribute to the forty-four young men of that church who have entered the military or naval service of the nation, was a deeply patriotic and devotional service that will long be remembered by the many persons who were present.

The members of the church represented by stars on the flag are: Paul Foster, Silas Foster, Pink Maxwell, John Maxwell, Harry Stanley, Homer Stanley, Will Nickles, Frank Yearwood, Walter Collins, Roy Snodgrass, Ford Butler, Dewey Price, John T. Customer: You made a mistake in that prescription I gave my mother-in-law. Instead of quinine you used strychnine.

Druggist: You don't say? Then you owe me 20 cents more.

Man getting-shave: Barber, will you give me a glass of water.

Barber: What is the matter. Hair in your throat?

Man: No, I want to see if my neck leaks.

The teacher had asked for a definition of the word "fortification."

Finally, the teacher singled out Little Willie. "You tell the class, Willie, what "fortification" means."

New Coats and Suits

Sleeves, Necklines Capelets Victorian

Skirts so slim they are almost straight in profile, sleeves that concentrate their interest at the elbow, and collars that give a circular setting to the face, are the characteristics that mark the new coats for fall.

This year the standing collar, which is so flattering to everyone, returns to vogue. In some versions, this collar is continued in bolero-like lines at the side to give an extra touch of chic. This may be done with both flat furs and the softer fox furs. The swirl collar is a popular favorite because it can be worn in so many different ways. Some of the more luxurious coats use paws and tail with this type of collar.

The fox holds full sway among the prominent furs for winter coats, and is frequently seen in blue, cross and silver varieties. Beaver is another fur which gives promise of great popularity this season, while Persian Lamb continues to be used to advantage on coats for the older woman. Raccoon, Lynx and Opossum appear on sports coats and Kolsinsky and Mink on the dressy models.

Fabrics Important
First honors go to the smooth and rough, crepey fabrics for the dressy coats, with suede fabrics a close second. Ostrich cloth in both plain and ribbed weaves takes its place as an important fall coat fabric and is especially popular in the brighter shades. Two-toned tweeds in a variety of color combinations and diagonal corduroys are other fall novelties.

For the more formal type of coat, fabrics with a velvety finish are most suitable, with a strong trend back to the deep-piled bolivia cloth.

Black, Brown Smart
1932 places its endorsement on the black and brown coat. Wine, however, also is beginning to take its place as a leading coat shade. It is being shown in two rich shades, light and dark.

Sleeves are especially interesting this season. They usually start with a tight wrist and flare gradually to the elbow where all the fullness is concentrated. A dropped shoulder line also tends to introduce more fullness at the elbow.

Muff Sleeves New
Muffs which are formed by cuffs of exaggerated width are a feature of the new coats as well as quaint fur capelets. The furless sleeve is frequently seen this year and is used to create an appearance of width between the elbow and wrist.

Color Of Importance In Men's Shoe Styles

This is clearly a season when color is of paramount importance in men's shoe styles. Brown, in all the gradations of tone considered smart for fall takes the lead. It is a logical color choice—in harmony with the season. It is interesting to note that never before has fashion given the stamp of approval to so many versions of this staple color. A fact that is significant, since it affords the individual the opportunity to exercise personal choice to an unprecedented degree. Black, as always, has its followers, and obviously, is the only color fashion approves for evening.

Smart Brown Shades
Aintree—a custom tan—is particularly favored for the better grades of shoes. In logical sequence come Hispano tan and Bourbon. These two colors and their intermediary shades promise to rank among the best sellers in the brown family for fall. Cordo brown is a shade that continues in vogue which was well established in the late winter and early spring. These classifications offer a distinctively new, fresh note for fall and will be largely featured.

Custom Last Finds Favor
The combination of comfort and smartness given to the custom last an outstanding popularity in men's footwear for autumn. It follows the new "drape" model in men's suits that calls for a different type of shoe—a narrow straight type—slightly rounded in front and with a perceptibly narrower toe.

The Popular Leathers
Boarded leathers are tending to replace the full Scotch grain so generally accepted last fall. Smooth leathers, some Scotch grain, napped leathers (such as brown buck) and patent take their place for the various types of shoes they interpret most successfully. In the many style details there is evidence that the English bootmakers have exerted an increasing influence on American shoe fashions. The result is a smarter, more sophisticated type of shoe. One that creates an impression very satisfying to the man who gives careful consideration to every detail of his appearance.

MAKING SYRUP

F. P. Donathan spent Sunday and Monday at home after several days at Brownfield, where he has been cooking syrup at a syrup mill for his brother, Ben Donathan.

"I've made up a thousand gallons of molasses and there will be three or four thousand more to do," Mr. Donathan said. Eight or ten mills are running now in that section and several more are getting ready to run, he said.

Men Who Staged Fight With Briscoe Sheriff In September Apprehended

One Gets Twenty-Five Years For Bank Job

Burglary, Theft of Cars and Assault With Intent to Murder Possible Charges.

C. E. Davis, 35, and Jodie Edwards 23, alleged bandits with whom Sheriff N. R. Honea, of Briscoe County and Ernest Tunnell of Quitaque, battled near the Geo. R. Tibbetts place in northeast Floyd County on September 2, are awaiting grand jury action in three counties this week on charges of theft of automobiles, burglary and assault with intent to murder.

Edwards is in the Floyd County jail for safekeeping after having been tried and found guilty by Hall County grand jury last Friday of participating in the robbery of the Lakeview bank in July of this year. He was given a twenty-five year sentence. He was identified by W. W. Williams, cashier of the bank, and Lindsey Hill, Hall County officer. Edwards pled guilty. Davis is at Memphis where his case is before the grand jury, but is expected to be returned here.

The assault to murder charge preferred and which the Floyd County grand jury is to investigate, grows out of the gun battle in this county. Sheriff Honea and Ernest Tunnell were fired upon several times when they came upon three fugitives in a hide-away near the Tibbetts place. Honea, called upon to surrender, dropped behind a little bluff and began firing with a Winchester. One man, Clarence Stinson, was so seriously wounded in the leg that he was carried out of the Dripping Springs hiding place to Turkey where the amputation of the leg was found necessary. He was tried last week and given twenty-five years on the bank burglary charge at Lakeview.

The battle followed an intensive manhunt begun several days previous, following robberies of a grocery store at Flomot, the Tunnell Dry Goods store at Quitaque and the Persons Hardware at Quitaque. In excess of $2,000 worth of merchandise were taken from the three stores. In addition three cars had been stolen in the vicinity of Quitaque and Turkey.

A peculiarity in the tracks of one of the automobile tire treads gave the clue that led to the lair of the men.

Plan Made to Take Cotton At 9 Cents as Loan Collateral

Government Will Not Buy Cotton But Will Allow Higher Price On Security.

In order to encourage the storage of cotton and at the same time ease the burden of repayment of cotton crop production loans to the federal government, cotton will be accepted as collateral on the basis of 9 cents per pound, it was announced this week by F. H. Simpson, of Plainview, field inspector, who was in Floydada Monday.

Taken As Security

It was emphasized that the government was not offering to buy the cotton but would accept it as collateral on crop production loans of 1932 and unpaid balances on loans made prior to 1932.

"For instance," Mr. Simpson explained, "if a farmer has borrowed $100 for his crop this year the government will accept the cotton as collateral on the basis of 9 cents per pound middling 7/8 inch, thus releasing all his remaining crop to care for his family during the coming winter, after his loan has been secured."

"The cotton will be stored in Federal bonded warehouses and may be sold by the grower at any time prior to March 1, 1933.

"If the market goes above 9 cents and the cotton is sold, the loan is paid off and the farmer is refunded the difference.

"The plan has been adopted, to aid the cotton farmer. It encourages the raising of quality cotton, offering a premium for long staple and penalizing the lower grades in making allowances as collateral," Mr. Simpson explained.

An allowance of 80 cents per hundred and use of seed or in excess of $4 per bale for ginning and picking is allowed in the collateralization plan.

Details of the plan were sent to Mr. Simpson from Owen W. Sherrill, regional manager. A schedule of allowances on staple grade will be issued soon, it was stated.

In the letter of instructions received by Mr. Simpson and addressed to "all field inspectors of Texas, New Mexico and Arizona," it was stated that: "Warehouse receipts will be required on sufficient cotton to cover the amount of the loan, together with a six months' storage and insurance not to exceed $2 per bale for such period, and the picking allowance of 4/5 of 1 cent per pound when such advance is made. No change is made in the allowance previously authorized of permitting the use of seed and 4/5 of 1 cent per pound to defray costs of picking, ginning, etc."

To Help Market

"At the request of a large number of senators and congressmen, cooperative associations and individuals in the cotton growing states, the Secretary of Agriculture has agreed to liberalize the terms of the Crop Production Loans in these states for the relief of the distressed cotton farmers. The plan will ease the burden of repayment of such loans and should result in improving the cotton market."

"The purpose of this plan is to encourage the storage of cotton, relieving the pressure on the market and assisting the farmers to care for their families during the coming winter. This action is also taken in furtherance of the efforts of the administration to benefit the farmers of the country."

"Cotton will be accepted as collateral for crop production loans of 1932 and unpaid balances on loans made prior to 1932 on the basis of 9 cents per pound middling 7/8 inch. Borrowers who wish to take advantage of the collateral plan will be required to deliver their cotton to the cotton cooperative associations or to Federal bonded warehouses. When delivered to the latter, cotton must be insured and warehouse receipts will be required to be delivered to authorized field agents of the Secretary or to the Regional Collection Office on sufficient cotton to collateralize the loan at the price above mentioned rather than on the quantity required at current market prices. In certain areas the basis will be 9 1/2 cents per pound on middling 7/8 inch cotton."

Premiums To Be Given

Differentials will be prepared to provide premiums for staple longer than 7/8 inch and grades better than middling and likewise discounts for short staple and lower grades. All cotton deposited as collateral must be graded by Federal licensed classes.

"All cotton so collateralized must be accompanied by an agreement signed by the borrower whereby he reserves the right of selling such cotton at any time prior to March 1, 1933, and authorizes the Secretary to sell same in his discretion at any time subsequent to that date.

"Warehouse receipts will be required on sufficient cotton to cover the amount of the loan together with storage and insurance charges

Added To Staff

Mason King, of Amarillo, has succeeded to the place of "outside man" on the staff of the Amarillo News and Globe made vacant by the death of Henry Ansley. Mason has lived in the panhandle for twenty-four years and as a traveling salesman and manager of one of the departments of the Amarillo Chamber of Commerce, has gained an extensive acquaintanceship over the plains territory. He is 39 years old and is a native of Springfield, Tennessee.

and any advance which may be made for picking and ginning expenses. When the cotton is finally sold, the borrower will be credited with the proceeds of the sale. In the event that the proceeds are not sufficient to pay the full amount of the loan, the balance will remain an obligation of the borrower. If the proceeds of sales are more than sufficient to pay the loan and interest, the balance will be refunded.

"The above plan will permit farmers to fully collateralize their loans from the Secretary and at the same time, permit them to dispose of the balance of their crops for cash."

Victorian Fashions Influence Dress Modes for Fall, Winter

Slim Skirts, Elbow Fullness, Circular Collars On Coats

Slim Silhouette Based on Bias Cuts That Make Much of Diagonal Seaming.

If good Queen Victoria herself might see some of the modern fashions she would be bound to recognize them as her own. Capelets, leg o' mutton sleeves, jabots, muffs, braid trimmings and higher necklines all reflect the demure age when Victoria was in flower. The general silhouette is slim, based empirically on bias cut that make much of diagonal seaming, particularly in the bodice. While belts appear with frequency, the unbelted silhouette is also seen in numerous frocks. When no belt is used the dresses are fitted at the front, giving an impression of a high waistline.

Another feature which most fall dresses seem to possess in common is suitability to more than one occasion. For example, there are the dresses with alternating tops which so vary the nature of the costumes that they can be worn for daytime, afternoon, dinner and formal evening occasions.

Higher Necklines

It's been many a season since such importance was attached to necklines. Every fashion report, every stylist, emphasizes one point, higher necklines. The little detachable cape is one of the favorite means of achieving a higher neckline, both in formal and informal fashions. Fur trimmed capes are quaint and give the correct Victorian touch. Persian lamb, galyac, ermine and stencilled furs are the ones most frequently used for this purpose.

The effects are another method of achieving the higher neckline and are used most effectively on the frocks of light weight woolsens and the rougher silks. Other high necklines are finished with scarf collars fastened up close to the throat. Some frocks have adjustable necklines which may be worn high or low according to the fancy of the wearer.

Puffs Return

Imagine our returning to puffed sleeves in this year of grace, 1932!

The puffs may be developed in several ways, from crisp folds which give width to shoulders to low wrist puffs that are so very dainty and feminine. The epaulet shoulder is still greatly favored both for afternoon and evening dresses. For daytime a moderate extension of the shoulder suggests the epaulet, but for evening this line is often emphasized with ornaments of flowers or coque feathers.

The leg o' mutton sleeves, the most picturesque of all, is a typically Victorian touch and appears frequently in jackets for formal wear and daytime dresses.

Jacket costumes in velvet appear in most of the smart stores and are shown in finger-tip or wrist lengths. In many instances these costumes have contrasting bodies of rich fabrics such as metal cloth. Coat dresses are well thought of for fall, with skirts swinging over and buttoned details appearing at the hipline.

Skirt lengths for fall are determined by the type of frock concerned. There can be no hard and fast rule. Some authorities agree that there is a slight tendency to more length than last season, and for evening there is frequently a slight trailing of the hemline at the back.

Trimmings Important

One of the most important trimmings for fall is fur, fur used in great variety for capes, yokes, neck collars and cuffs. Fur is frequently applied in wheels on the arms of jackets, used to border sleeves and to outline a décolletage.

Buttons serve both a useful and decorative purpose on the new dresses. Some of the most attractive of these are fashioned of wood in the shape of tiny anchors. Fringe, while not given too prominent a place, appears in some of the smartest collections of evening dresses. Feather trimmings, braid and flower trimmings are all interesting variations of the mode.

Curtain Adapted To Every Use

While there is not so much to be said about the newest ways to hang curtains, there are many new fabrics. The use of rayon has been of material assistance in producing these. A rayon voile has a lovely sheen that a cotton voile does not possess. The use of rayon for the various makes of glass curtains has brought out a number of beautiful new materials.

When it comes to hanging curtains, the only really new thing is an adaptation of an old style. For the modern room, and for the Biedermeier period, drapes are flung over the curtain rod and pulled into smooth graceful folds. The valance is made of these folds and the ends make the long side drapes.

Formal treatment does not vary greatly. For instance in one room of great dignity, tea rose tapestry curtains hang straight from a painted wooden valance. Wooden blinds are used at the windows, back of fine glass curtains.

Above: A new placement of sleeve trimming that results in one of the most original silhouettes of the season.

Necklaces Are Worn In Paris

The smart Parisian never considers her costume complete until she has selected just the right necklace to furnish the proper accent.

The choker types in metal or twisted strands of beads are very popular. Pendants are returning to favor for the formal afternoon gown and often end in one large single ornament of imitation emerald or topaz. Longer necklaces of twisted strands of tiny beads are very smart.

As a rule the softer shades of rose quartz and blue are not as popular as the necklaces of deep, vivid shades such as green and blue in imitation lapislazuli.

Earrings are seen less frequently than in other seasons but when worn they are chosen to accent the color scheme of the entire costume.

LAKEVIEW YOUNG FARMERS FORM BASKETBALL CLUB

The young farmers' club of Lakeview, organized recently with Herman Nelson as president, has organized a basketball team as a feature of their recreational activities. Wm. Smith was elected manager of the basketball club at their meeting Wednesday night of last week.

The young farmers, a class of fifteen, is studying various phases of farm operations in their gatherings. O. T. Williams, vocational agriculture teacher of Floydada High School, is helping the young men formulate their programs and plan their activities.

NEW CHURN DASHER

A new dasher for the old-fashioned churn, something new under the local sunrays, was being shown this week by J. S. Collins, who claims for it that it "makes the butter come" a lot quicker than the paddle kind of dasher. In addition it is easier to lift and therefore makes churning easier.

Mr. Collins has been nominated and elected the churner at his place. He took the regular paddle type of churn and notched it out into forks, five to the "blade," with the edges of the forks beveled into different angles. The same pressure by this plan agitates the milk and cream much more vigorously than the old chug-chug dasher, and when the milk is "turned" just right a churning can be done in just a jiffy with it, he said.

Among the visitors in Floydada Tuesday were Judge O. R. Tipps, Sheriff Jake Honea, J. E. Holt, Luther Fowler, Mr. and Mrs. Hillen Braley and daughters, Misses Jeane Jackson and Nordica Graham, all of Silvertown. They were attending court and visited Mrs. Clifford Allard, who is here under treatment of Dr. W. M. Houghton. Mrs. Allard is with Mrs. Henry Cox.

H. C. Stovall, of Lubbock, was a business visitor here for one day last week-end.

Emphasis On Front Trim In Hats For The Fall And Winter

Fashion attaches lots of importance to the front line in hats for the fall and winter season. Front bows, turned up brims and feather trims in the front are some of the ways of achieving this unique effect. The names of Agnes, Reboux, Mado and other French milliners used in connection with this forward vogue give added prestige to the fashion.

The sailor hat is another promising fashion for fall and is developed with a narrow brim and round crown. Milliners about town are calling these "boaters" after the prince of Wales' famous experiment with men's hats.

New Turbans

The turban, that ever-present favorite, is being featured in many different forms. The bow theme is frequently seen, sometimes encrusted in a contrasting color fabric, felt or feather, sometimes pleated to form a part of the border, or sometimes perched jauntily on top in fly-away fashion. These little hats are fashioned with the new shallow crowns and are worn forward at a most engaging angle. An interesting development of the turban fashion is a decided trend toward feather turbans.

The small fabric hat, whether it is a turban or brimmed model is of outstanding importance for Fall because women insist on hats that are practical and that pack easily.

Gob hats are being shown in large numbers for the younger generation which loves to cling to this care-free fashion. The smartest young things are choosing them in heavy crepes to wear right now and in velvet for later in the season.

Caps Admired

Caps are also much admired by the youthful contingent and find prominence in the collections of some of the leading French milliners. One Paris importation is a bright red velvet cap covered by quilts of velvet pasted ostrich that curve up to the top of the crown and end in a riot of little fly-away feathers. Like a Robin Hood cap, is a green felt with its tiny cuff at back and side and its feather thrust forward. One black velvet cap has a narrow irregular cuff, split at the sides, and ribbons which tie at its peak. Other black velvets look like Mephisto's cap in the front but broaden into a bicorne at the sides.

Veils Remain

Veils are being worn with an increasingly large number of hats. Red is by far the most outstanding color for fall hats and appears chiefly in the smart ruby tones which match the new dresses. Next to ruby, a deep wine red occupies a place of honor, as do other members of the red family. Reddish-amaranth shades are a variation of the red theme and may be worn by women who do not favor the scarlet reds. Chocolate brown, dark green gray, fuchsia, plum and violet are other colors which shops are sponsoring this fall.

Radical Innovations In Men's Clothing Of '32 Fall And Winter

Changes in the styling of men's suits has been very gradual from one season to another so that no man ever felt he was obviously out of line in making last season's garment serve for several seasons after he originally adopted it.

The designers of clothing have not been so alert in this respect as the designers of ladies' wear whose main effort has been to so radically change the styles from one season to another that a complete new outfit was imperative with the woman who makes pretensions to style correctness.

But this season things will be different in men's wear. Whether the designers have been real designing in enforcing the out-moding of last year's garments or whether it just happened that a new trend has come to pass we do not know but there has been more style innovations introduced in men's suits, overcoats and topcoats for the Fall season of 1932-33 than we have seen in any one season in a decade.

The English Drape

The outstanding departure in styling for this season is the adoption of the English Drape. We say adoption advisedly for it was early last Spring that this model was tentatively launched and hesitatingly sponsored by the most adventuresome of American style censors. It met with such immediate acceptance with the better dressed men that clothing manufacturers were encouraged to go ahead with it with greater emphasis until now it actually dominates the fall fashions with no uncertain assurance.

The English Drape model has occupied a firm position in England for some time but it was one style that never seemed to get by the Statue of Liberty until this Spring. We believe that its adoption over here was more due to a desire for something radically new than because of any special allurements of the model itself.

The model has very obvious English details that have always been contrary to the American man's

Fashion Is Kind If You're Not So Slender

There's no need to go on a diet when you can buy such charming dresses to bring out the best in your figure. Stores about town are featuring special groups for the larger woman which include tailored afternoon dresses, fine laces, crepes and velvets. Jacket dresses are popular for the larger woman and are fashioned with matching jacket and frock. All of these dresses are copies of imported models and lose none of their original charm by being copied for the more ample figure.

ideas of how a garment should grace the figure. That is why this style and its welcome can be taken as a real innovation.

Details of the Drape Model

In these suits the jackets are somewhat easier and looser than our men have worn for many years. They have no end of softness in the shoulders and drapery in the fronts. In fact the sleeveheads actually pucker and the chests seem almost in folds and the backs are amply draped rather than fitted. The waistline, however, is fitted but looseness is again apparent as we observe the trousers heads. The trousers are high-rise and show vertical pleats at front; considerable fullness over the hips and a gradual tapering more accentuated as we get below the knee.

While this garment is loose it still creates a semi-shapely effect because of the figure-defining details at the waist and the trim cut of the trousers. Despite its looseness the well-built man can wear this model gracefully and with distinction. Young business men and college men will put it over with éclat. It is shown in both single and double-breasted models with the former in the majority.

A Word About Drape Vests

The vest to go with the English Drape suit is cut along lines to carry out the English silhouette. It is a short, high-waisted style with six button front, five to button. The trousers are high-waisted and have two pleats at the waistband on either side. They are quite wide across the hips, in fact so much fullness at this point that the trousers hang straight from the waist in front and from the back in a way that does not show any horizontal wrinkles in the seat, such as show up in scantily cut trousers.

Other Models Show High Waist

For the more conservative dresser and as a compromise to the man whose figure simply isn't set for such a trying model there are many styles following the lines of the regulation sack suit to which we have been addicted for years. Even these this Fall will simulate the English Drape by emphasizing a high waist line which in closing in at the waist is bound to create an effect of some fullness at the upper part of the jacket.

In the smaller details of sleeves, lapels, pockets, etc., there is but little variation shown from former treatments. Lapels will be both notch and peak with the former leading. Sleeves are smaller and tapered down to the most confining cuff we have seen in several seasons.

Double-breasted suits are going to be extremely popular this Fall both in regulation and in English Drape styling. The peak lapels only are shown on these models.

Patterns are Stressed

Solid color suits and small mixture patterns that have been so high in the vogue for the past season or so are not so favorably placed in the edicts for this Fall. The trend is toward more characterful patternings. Glen plaids, Tartan checks, Shepherd and Houndstooth effects and fairly bold stripes such as chalk lines, banjo and cable stripes. The striped treatments will be shown largely in the flannels which is to be a very favored fabric for this season. The Glen and overplaid effects are largely in chevrons and cassimeres while the checked designs will be tweeds.

About Color Treatments

Oxford and Cambridge greys in all manner of patternings as well as small mixture are favored shades in the Fall suitings. These are pointed to displace the rage for solid color blues that were so strong last Fall. These grey effects, and there will be many gradations of the color shown, are tans, browns and several tones of greens. The English Drape suit calling for pattern treatment of moderated character develops a favoritism for the more unobtrusive patterns such as quiet herringbones, subdued overplaids and sedate interval stripes. In fact where you see the Drape model you'll see it in patterned weaves of refined rather than bold designing.

In the worsted weaves you'll see plain twills, herringbones and small all-over patterns. Some of the color combinations in these all-over effects are in two-tone combinations of black and white, grey and white, tan and white, two shades of brown, greyish blue and grey, bluish grey and blue and others with small sprinklings of red. Pin dots, checks and geometrical motifs predominate in the worsteds.

Mr. and Mrs. Ozro Stephens, of Dimmitt, spent Saturday in Floydada, Mr. Stephens being here on a brief business visit. He is manager of the Willson & Son Lumber Company plant at Dimmitt.

Mrs. D. M. Willson, of Fort Worth, has been visiting here this week with her son, J. M. Willson and family. She also is visiting her daughter, Mrs. Tom Nichols at Silvertown while in the section.

Miss Martha Faulkner spent the week-end in Fort Worth visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. K. H. Faulkner. She was accompanied by Miss Capitola Hardgrove, who visited relatives. They returned home Monday afternoon.

Whirlwinds Register 19-7 Win Over Quitaque Panthers in First Home Game

Graham And Bridges Are Stars Of Battle

Green and White Launches Varied Attack to Defeat 'One-Man Team.'

"Bo" Graham, 190 pounds of the wildest Panther you ever saw, roared all over the high school field Friday afternoon, ripped to pieces a Green and White forward wall and left Coach R. P. Terrell and his big Whirlwinds quite happy, regardless, with a 19-7 victory over Quitaque's powerful little club.

That big fast Panther tried to win a ball game by himself and he might have succeeded had it not been for the determined, steady, fight of eleven of the game Whirlwinds in West Texas and the smart defensive tactics suggested by Coach Terrell. "Bo" slashed through the line and raced 55 yards for the only Panther score in the prettiest play of the day.

It was an offensive game from start to finish featured by sweeping end runs. Galloping Malcom Bridges, left half, matched the stellar work of Graham with his sensational dashes and he was easily the outstanding star for the Whirlwinds. With blood streaming down his cheek from a small cut, he stiff-armed his way for big gains just about as often as he ran with the ball.

Line Looks Weak
Perhaps the Whirlwind line looked pitiful against the Panther onslaught but never in history have they had to face such power and drive as was dished out in big gobs last Friday. When the ball was in their possession, the Green and White unleashed the prettiest kind of an attack and marched right on down the field and then Quitaque would stiffen and march right back via the Graham route. You can give the Whirlwinds credit for turning in a great game although it might have appeared that they lacked power on their defense. When you stop and think you will recall that it took from two to three big Whirlwinds to hold Graham on his terrific plunges instead of one tackler as is the case with the average football player then the F. H. S. victory is all the more impressive.

Little Floyd Murray was the other consistent ground gainer for Floydada and it was his tackling in the last half that helped stop the Quitaque romp.
Heald, at fullback, got loose for sensational runs in the first quarter but he got both ankles twisted along with some rough treatment on tackles and he devoted most of his time to first-class blocking during the latter part of the battle. He had the pleasure of putting over the second F. H. S. counter.

L. Murray Line Star
Big Murray was the Whirlwind line star, getting through to throw the Panther backs for regular losses. Murray it was who received a fumbled punt on Quitaque's 35-yard line that paved the way for the first Whirlwind touchdown. Bridges tore through left tackle and then raced 20 yards around right end to score on two plays. Heald's attempt to drop-kick the goal for the extra point was no good.

Glover, acting captain temporarily, for Little Murray won the toss and chose to defend the south goal. F. H. S. kicked off with a strong southwest wind to their backs.
The Panthers showed their teeth right from the start without a bit of timidity and registered four first downs before the Whirlwinds could realize what was happening. But the Whirlwinds turned loose in the first quarter and matched things up with four first downs, showing just as much drive and some fine interference.

The first quarter ended with the ball in possession of Floydada on their own 47-yard line.
And quarter number two was a repetition of the first. Graham made 40 yards in two runs early in the quarter and then Little Murray and Bridges started doing things and ploughed up to the 10-yard line but lost the ball on downs. It was a matter of five first downs for Quitaque to four for Floydada in the second frame. The half ended with the ball under the Panther center's hands on Quitaque's 40-yard line.
Smith Blocks Punt
To open the second half Quitaque kicked off with the wind and the see-saw started again. Smith, working like a Trojan at left guard, slashed through and blocked Graham's punt and the Whirlwind got the ball on Quitaque's 45-yard line and went south for the winter with Heald carrying it over through left tackle without so much as being touched just as the quarter ended. A pass from Little Murray to deCordova was too low and the score stood 12-0 for the Whirlwinds, in spite of deCordova's heroic attempt to catch the ball for another point. The high southwest wind was responsible for the low pass just as it was instrumental in making all passing against it difficult.

The fourth quarter was a mere infant in its swaddling clothes when Graham hit right tackle, cut back through a hole, got away from the secondary, out-ran Little Murray "sucked-in" and playing guard instead of safety, his assigned post, and Johnston, who made a desperate effort to stop his journey, and flew 55 yards and made a perfect six-point landing across the little white line. He hogged the show by adding the extra point with a line plunge at right tackle. The ball went over by one and three-fourths inches, or just barely enough, in other words. That left the score 12-7 for F. H. S. and the Whirlwind fans slightly ill at ease.

Floydada took the ball on the kick-off and Little Murray ran it back to his own 30 yard line. He made 10 yards through the line and Bridges made it another first down on two line plays.

Then the Panthers got out their claws and Murray had to punt, which he did in a most delightful fashion, sending the ball out of bounds on the 2-yard line.

Quitaque then registered a bone-head play to be blamed on somebody or other. On the fourth down Graham was called back on punt formation but instead of kicking out of danger he was called into a line play, which might have been done and worked to "fool" an ordinary team but the Whirlwinds were on the job and the ball went over.

Murray made four yards at left table and then Jenkins, substitute end, popped into the lime-light and likely made himself a berth on the starting eleven by gathering a perfect 10-yard pass in his arms and registering the third Whirlwind touchdown. He caught the pass standing over the goal line. It was a perfect heave from Murray.

Heald added some more feathers to his cap by dropping the pig hide squarely between the bars on a drop kick that may some day look mighty sweet in the form of a field goal. And then the score was 19-7 for F. H. S. which was enough for the day. The Whirlwinds had some more touchdowns but they are saving them for Ralls, Paducah, Matador Lockney and what have you.

Just before the end of the last quarter Heald was said to have interfered with a Panther pass receiver but there was some argument about the play and Referee J. C. Wester settled the differences by giving the Panthers the play over.

The game ended with the ball belonging to F. H. S. on Quitaque's 45-yard line. The tilt was played in 12-minute quarters.

Eastridge Blocks Well
Eastridge deserves credit for some fair blocking work. He was a real factor in helping the Whirlwinds make their second score.

For some reason or other Johnston did not seem to be up to "par" on his tackling but the fans are destined to hear some good news from him before the season closes. Just wait until that Paducah game—the first official league battle and then see what the sport scribes have to say.

Hoffman, Smith, and Powell are due to develop some more before they put gets very far along but they put up a game fight in the line. Baxter got in the game for a few downs and he looked mighty good on his blocking. Oh boy, but he's going to make a "wow" after he gets a little more experience.

Bishop went in at center and proved that he's ready at any time to fill Ginn's shoes at the pivot post. Jackson got his kisser mashed but that didn't stop him from fighting from start to finish. Good man and a hard scrapper. deCordova was not flashy in any way but he played a good game.

Glover got to feel a few Panther claws. He's light but he's got plenty of innards and he stays "right in there" on the secondary defense and at half on the offense.

Coach E. W. Scheid brought along a scrapping ball club that was outweighed by the Whirlwinds but something for which Quitaque can justly feel proud. He said that Amarillo had been looking with longing eyes on Graham and so have the other high schools in this section. That big fellow can make anybody's ball club. He punts, passes, runs and has enough drive for six men.

Bickford Good Gainer
Bickford proved a worthy running mate for Graham, one or the other stopping nearly every play the Whirlwinds started. Bickford was

Amarillo High School 'B' Team To Play Here

Replacing Memphis High School on the schedule, the Yannigans, Amarillo High School's "B" team will meet the Floydada High School Whirlwinds on the local gridiron Friday afternoon, October 28, it was announced this week by Coach R. P. Terrell and Superintendent A. D. Cummings.

Superintendent A. J. Jackson of Memphis High School telephoned Saturday night of last week that he would have to cancel the game slated for Floydada since his team had matched a game to be played at home.

Amarillo is a Class A school and the Golden Sandstorms are said to be one of the strongest aggregations in the state this year. The "B" team of the Sandies, known as the Yannigans, is expected to furnish a real battle for the Whirlwinds. The tilt will not count in the league standing.

Floydada will play three conference games this year and all the contests will be played on foreign fields. October 21 the Green and White will open their season with the Paducah Dragons at Paducah. The second official encounter will be the week following the Amarillo game on November 4 with Matador at Matador. The third conference battle will be with the Lockney Longhorns at Lockney on Armistice Day, November 11.

Concluding the hard schedule mapped out for Coach Terrell's crew will be a game at Floydada November 18 if neither team is in interscholastic League play-offs in their respective districts.

also a consistent ground gainer. Evans, left tackle, it was who knifed through the line too many times to throw the Whirlwinds for losses. Gregg was a line demon, also.

Yep, Advance reports said Quitaque had a one-man team. And what a man!

No question but the Whirlwinds got some valuable experience in the tussle that should be quite valuable in the conference race. They found out for one thing how valuable team work can prove and they also must have noted that no matter how far the goal line may be behind them, there is always a threatening possibility of a touchdown being registered against them if they let up one minute in their defensive work.

The Green and White lads ran up against a team that was in equally as good physical condition and able to stand hard punishment and return it.

And outstanding in the Whirlwinds' performances was the stiff-arming by Bridges. He really had it working. Another mighty pretty feature was that punting by Little Murray. He's getting them off fast this year and he sends them off fast or low just as he pleases. He places them out of bounds with machine-like regularity and this punt-returning menace just hasn't developed with Murray doing the booting.

All-in-all the Whirlwinds looked like champions Friday but they are going to have to brace up on that defensive line before they win the district. Coach Terrell has a well balanced team with the best field general and smartest quarterback in the conference.

Use New Fake
Looking over the feature plays of the game, a new fake punt number based on the old fake forward pass stunt, was pulled by the Panthers that was good for a heavy gain. Graham dropped back on punt formation and faked a kick but instead held the ball behind his back and Bickford racing back as if to protect the punter, took the ball and swept around right end for 12 yards and a first down. It was a beautiful fully executed play.

Another thriller was staged by Big Murray when he broke through the line and literally took the ball off Graham's fingers when he fumbled a pass from center, to recover his second fumble.

Covering of those frequent fumbles that marred the Panther's play and slowed up their attack by an ever ready Whirlwind crew figured in a large measure for the F. H. S. victory. A fair crowd, estimated at 500 people, with about seventy-five fans from Quitaque saw the game which was the first home battle for the Whirlwinds.

Robbie Jo Tunnell and Mary Edith Dunham led their squad of Yellow Jackets in a series of yells and songs for their Purple and Gold warriors.

The Green Peppers with yell leaders Wanda Teeple, Mozelle Field, and Latane Hale were out in full force and led the Whirlwind rooters in keeping up the side-line "pep."

Officials were J. C. Wester, referee; Leroy McDonald, umpire; Dave Luttrall, headlinesman; J. M. Teague, timekeeper.

Starting line-ups were as follows:

Floydada	Pos.	Quitaque
deCordova	L. E.	Stroup
Hoffman	L. T.	Evans
Smith	L. G.	Gregg
Ginn	C.	Woods
L. Murray	R. G.	Martin

Johnston	R. E.	Owens
F. Murray	Q.	Bailey
Bridges	L. H.	Bickford
Eastridge	R. H.	Graham
Heald	F. B.	Hawkins

Captains: Murray, Whirlwinds; Bickford, Panthers.

Substitutions: Floydada — Henderson for Eastridge, Eastridge for Henderson, Jenkins for deCordova, Powell for Hoffman, Glover for Eastridge, deCordova for Johnston, Bishop for Ginn, Baxter for Jackson; Quitaque — R. Hawkins for Owens, Morris for Martin, N. Tipps for Bailey.

Touchdowns: Bridges, Heald, Jenkins, F. H. S.; Graham, Q. H. S.; extra points, Heald (1), F. H. S.; Graham (1), Q. H. S.
Little Murray got the "edge" on his punts with an average of 27 yards on six boots compared to 23 yards for the same number by the Panthers.

The Whirlwinds covered the Panther's aerial attack and only one out of six attempts was good for 7 yards. The Whirlwinds completed two, Murray to Bridges for 7 yards and Murray to Jenkins for a touchdown.

In the first half the Panthers registered 9 first downs to 8 by the Cold Weather Demands Much Of Auto Motor

Temperatures approaching the freezing mark two or three times during the past ten days should be reminders to the automobile owner that his car needs checking over for possible faults and knocks occasioned by a number of driving with more or less careless attention to the details that are absolutely essential for winter driving.

It may be a major defect in the operation of the motor itself or it may not be more than a demand when you hit a streak of mud or a little hill for a valvingrinding job. Perhaps the water circulation system is at fault, a matter not so serious in summer but highly injurious in winter driving. The radiator, the water pump, the ignition system—anyone of a dozen things that do not cost a great deal but add a great deal to the life of the motor and the smooth, efficient operation of the car, need the attention of a reliable mechanic.

Health, convenience and the life of the car also demand that attention be given to the body and fender dents, to the tops, the windows and doors.
For all of these defects, large or small, that develop in a car, there are none for which an adequate service is not available in Floydada. Nearly a dozen firms are engaged in this kind of work and car owners will find their services invaluable particularly at this time of year.

Mrs. E. C. Nelson and Mrs. J. E. Swinson went to Lubbock Tuesday for a visit with Mrs. Nelson's daughter, Mrs. Dave Standifer, and family.

Hesperian Cross-Word Puzzle Number 65

28; Mark 10:13-16; II Timothy 1:3-6. Gen. 18:17-19; Deut. 6:4-9; Mark 10:13-16 are here printed.

17 And the Lord said, Shall I hide from Abraham that thing which I do;

18 Seeing that Abraham shall surely become a great and mighty nation, and all the nations of the earth shall be blessed in him?

19 For I know him, that he will command his children, and his household after him, and they shall keep the way of the Lord, to do justice and judgment; that the Lord may bring upon Abraham that which he hath spoken of him.

4 Hear, O Israel: The Lord our God is one Lord:

5 And thou shalt love the Lord thy God with all thine heart, and with all thy soul, and with all thy might.

6 And these words, which I command thee this day, shall be in thine heart:

7 And thou shalt teach them diligently unto thy children, and shalt talk of them when thou sittest in thine house, and when thou walkest by the way, and when thou liest down, and when thou risest up.

8 And thou shalt bind them for a sign upon thine hand, and they shall be as frontlets between thine eyes.

9 And thou shalt write them upon the posts of thy house, and on thy gates.

13 And they brought young children to him, that he should touch them: and his disciples rebuked those that brought them.

14 But when Jesus saw it, he was much displeased, and said unto them, Suffer the little children to come unto me, and forbid them not: for of such is the kingdom of God.

15 Verily I say unto you, Whosoever shall not receive the kingdom of God as a little child, he shall not enter therein.

16 And he took him up in his arms, put his hands upon them, and blessed them.

Time and Place.—Jehovah appeared to Abraham at Mamre, B. C. 1904. Last discourse of Moses, in land of Moab, B. C. 1459. Christ blesses the little children, Perea March, A. D. 30.

The Lesson Comment

The importance attached to the Christian home and its influence by the International Sunday School Lesson Committee is exemplified by the number of lessons on this subject; and it is a subject on which we cannot put too much study. Some one recently said, that in Russia there is no home life, and in America it is not much better, since home is only a place for us to stay when there is nowhere else to go. Perhaps, as the pendulum has swung so far away from home, it will now swing back and the home will again become what it should be—the place where one finds rest, peace and family worship.

Abraham was a man who walked in the way of the Lord and carried his family with him. He had the confidence of his Lord, and was called the friend of God. A man is not so much the head of the family these days, as he once was; women have been emancipated—so have children, and all too often we use our liberty for license.

The word of God enjoins us to love the Lord with all the heart, soul, mind and strength and to teach his law diligently to our children. We should talk of God and his law when we sit in the house, when we walk by the way, when we lie down and when we rise up. In fact, there should be no time when the thought of our Lord is not in our minds.

The Jews kept certain portions of the law in little boxes or packages, and when at prayer these were bound to the forehead and on the left arm near the heart. They were also bound to the posts of the door, and when going out or coming in, the inmates of the house touched them with the hand, signifying their desire that God go with them. All of this was done to help to keep their God and his law before the people and the family. Children were taught early and late, and every Jew adhered strictly to the law.

Our Golden Text tells us to train up a child in the way he should go. If every one of us did this, there would be few problems for the nation to face and fight out. Almost every problem goes back to the home and home training or lack of training. What will our next generation be, is a question we often hear. We do not know unless we become better home makers and better character-builders. The thing we need to do is to follow the Golden Text and train the children. You know it takes time to train anything. Animal trainers will tell you that hours and hours are spent in patient training before the work is completed. But while we take time and patience to train the animals, we too often send out children to face life and its responsibilities with little or no training. Jesus loved children and took them in his arms and blessed them. He also rebuked those who thought the Master should not be bothered with them.

Side Quit Hurting, Got Stronger, Well; CARDUI Helped Her
 Mrs. R. L. West, of Huntsville, Ala., writes: "I was weak and run-down. I had a pain in my side, and I kept losing weight. I grew nervous over my condition—this was unusual for me, for I am very cheerful when I am well and don't easily get nervous. I knew I ought to take something. My aunt told me I ought to try Cardui, which I did. I began to feel better. I kept it up until I had taken three or four bottles. My side quit hurting and I was soon feeling strong and well."

Where Does She Get Her "Pep?"

SHE doesn't look seventy. Nor feel that old. The woman who stimulates her organs can have energy that women half her age will envy!

At middle-age your vital organs begin to slow down. You may not be sick, simply sluggish. But why endure a condition of half-health when there's a stimulant that will stir a stagnant system to new life and energy in a week's time?

This remarkable stimulant is perfectly harmless. It is, in fact, a family doctor's prescription. So, if you're tired of trying every patent medicine that comes along, tell the druggist you want a bottle of Dr. Caldwell's syrup pepsin. Take a bit of this delicious syrup every day or so, until you know by the

Unless you see the name Bayer and the word genuine on the package as pictured above you can never be sure that you are taking the genuine Bayer Aspirin that thousands of physicians prescribe in their daily practice.

The name Bayer means genuine Aspirin. It is your guarantee of purity—your protection against the imitations. Millions of users have proved that it is safe.

Genuine Bayer Aspirin promptly relieves:

Headaches	Neuralgia
Rheumatism	Lumbago
Neuritis	Toothache

No harmful after-effects follow its use. It does not depress the heart way you feel that your lazy liver is again active, and your bowels are poison-free.

Men, women, and children who are run-down, who tire easily, get bilious spells or have frequent headaches, are soon straightened out when they get this prescriptive preparation of pure pepsin, active senna, and fresh laxative herbs. (Syrup pepsin is all the help the bowels need, and you do not form the very bad habit of always taking cathartics.)

Keep a bottle of Dr. Caldwell's syrup pepsin in the house, and take a stimulating spoonful every now and then. It is all that a great many people ever take to keep strong and vigorous, and absolutely free from constipation.

Objective of Education

The fundamental objective of education for this day and time is to enable the individual to do more work, better work, and more effective work. Each student should plan his course so that he will be educated for the things he can do best. When a student is asked why he is studying Latin, and he answers that it will be beneficial to him when he becomes a chemist, one will immediately form the conclusion that he will be a success.

Of course there are certain things which every human being, just because he is a human being, ought to know and ought to be able to do. Every one should be able to read and write, for we are all social products and reading and writing are the great instruments by which we affect each other; by which the wisdom of the dead benefits us; and by which our wisdom, if we have any, will benefit and mold our lives in the far distant future.

But it is another thing to say that all boys learning to read should read the same things. Every position in the United States today is a specialist's position.

Therefore, everyone should be able to say that he has planned his education to fit his individual need—that of developing the things that he can best do.

Breezes To Battle Plainview Pups In Second Game Friday

Coach Dick Stovall and his hard-fighting Little Breezes of Andrews Ward School are expecting to encounter stiff competition when they face the Plainview Junior High School Pups for the second time this season Friday afternoon. The game tomorrow will be played at the Junior High School Field in Plainview; and will begin at 3:30 o'clock.

In the first encounter this season, the Breezes were victorious by a score of 13-0 on the local gridiron over their much heavier opponents.

Coach Stovall was not the least bit optimistic over prospects of winning Friday. All his regulars are in good condition, however, and his little team never lets up a minute in its fight.

Wilson Connelley was elected captain of the Breezes at a meeting last week.

Change has been made in the date for the game at Lubbock with the Junior High team, setting it from October 28 to November 3, Coach Stovall said. The Breezes play the Lubbock team here October 20.

A Farmer's Life

"As He Lives It"

BY ED HOLMES

(Station C. E. H. Farm)

I never was so busy in my life. If clear weather and hard work will cause this depression to leave, well it will be gone right away if the weather stays clear. Believe me, farmers are gathering these crops.

On top of the hill, we haven't had any green vegetation killed by the frost. These last few days of sunshine will sure make a better feed crop for me. Bottom land is fine some years but believe me I am glad I lived on a hill this time.

Charlie Lowery got the job done when he squeezed the juice from the cane with the ringer on his gasoline washing machine. Boiled the juice down to syrup in a dishpan and what have you! Another way a farmer has of getting the best of this depression at home. Plenty of home made sorghum syrup will sure help. I look for the companies to go to advertising their washing machines for economical syrup mills. Charlie says it will sure get the job done.

It all happened after I placed a little ad, "For Trade," in a live news paper. Mr. Fox came out, looked the hogs over and decided which sow he wanted in exchange for his extra hog wire and sheetrock. Well I loaded the sow in the trailer and didn't look back until I got to his place. She wasn't there! I looked up and down the road for about two hours, couldn't find her so I traded him another hog in her place and hauled the wire and sheetrock home. Two days later I found the sow on A. H. Manning's farm west of town. She had made friends with him so instead of taking her home I got a cow and heifer call! Three traders made happy and no money changed hands except when I paid for the little ad. Try your luck. Somebody has just what you want and believe me they will trade.

Last week a certain man went 12 miles to church and arrived as church was over. Too many flats! Well he started home and got back for dinner at 3 o'clock after doing a hard days work on fixing 11 flats. I believe this is a record for 24 miles.

How much do you pay for fruit jar rubbers? We cut them to fit our jars from old auto tubes. Why spend money when you don't have it.

Sand Hill is to have a new front curtain for the stage. Work is progressing nicely over at Roy Holmes Studio. This means we will have the best set of stage scenery in the world. Bar none.

Nights are getting longer and it makes me begin to think of our annual Christmas Night Play at Sand Hill.

It this weather continues fair, farmers are going to be in fine

Field Representative A. R. C., Visits Floyd Chapter

General Chapter Visit Made To Check up on Progress of Relief Work During Year.

Miss I. O. Hendricks, field representative of the American Red Cross paid a visit to the officials of the Floyd County Chapter in Floydada Saturday and on Friday preceding spent sometime at Lockney with members of the branch organization there on a tour of chapter visiting. In the instance of the visit here some time was given to a discussion of plans for the fall drive for membership at a gathering at the office of the Davis Gin.

Present at this meeting were Lon M. Davis, president of the Floyd County Chapter, American Red Cross, O. M. Watson, treasurer, S. W. Ross, secretary, Geo. A. Linder, director of Home Service, and Mrs. Geo. A. Linder, recently named chairman of the Annual Roll Call.

The annual roll call is planned to be held this year, opening on Armistice Day and continuing until Thanksgiving Day.

During her trip here Miss Hendricks also gave some attention to the manner in which relief flour for destitute families was distributed, and gave it as her idea that the cotton goods would be handled in a slightly different manner. The Red Cross in undertaking the distribution of appropriated flour undertook a large order, which has called for a rather heavy administrative expense, Miss Hendricks said. "This flour was sent into and distributed out in five-sixths of the counties of the United States, 3,500,000 families having participated in the flour distribution, according to the records, up to September 17 of this year," she said. "We are now undertaking the distribution of the cotton goods and at the last report I had on October 6, there had reached headquarters orders from 1800 chapters for cotton goods totalling forty million yards, the equivalent of 100,000 bales of cotton."

The Red Cross plans to handle the cotton goods in such a manner as not to put the organization into competition with the established dry goods stores, Miss Hendricks said.

$6,685 to Floyd County people have participated in the relief dispensation of the American Red Cross today in the years 1931 and 1932, a total of $6,685 of which $5,265 has been in cash grants. Among the items making up the total was $195 worth of garden seed and $1,225 worth of flour. The estimate is that 5800 yards of cotton piece goods will be distributed here during this fall and winter, having a value of $464.

In contrast with the activities of the organization of mercy in this county, Floyd County people in a period of six years has sent to a national organization for relief work of every nature $150.50.

In view of the fact that the past two years of nation-wide distress has brought demands of tremendous proportions on the organization for regular relief work and that calls to more than 100 major disasters have also been answered, it is the hope of the national chapter this year that the response to the appeal for funds in Floyd County will be more general than it has been in the past six years. The goal of 600 membership, which means $300 for the national chapter, is based on a percentage of five per cent of the county's population. In the 1931 roll call the county took out memberships on a percentage of three-fourths of one per cent.

The plan for this year's membership drive will be on the same basis as former drives, that is, out of each membership the national organization is given fifty cents, the remainder remaining in the local chest for local relief work. Miss Hendricks pointed out that where a membership is taken in which the member pays in an amount greater than one dollar the local fund is swelled by the sum of the additional amount. Thus, out of a $5 membership the local chapter would retain $4.50, remitting only fifty cents to the national chapter.

WEEKLY REMITTANCES NOW RULE FOR TAX COLLECTOR

Weekly remittances, based on an estimate of the week's income for the respective funds of the state, county and schools from taxes, is a new rule for the office of County Tax Collector C. M. Meredith, following a law passed at the special session of the legislature, now effective.

The first report under the new law was made by the office last week, covering total collections of $2,229.14. Of this amount $1765.49 was for items on the 1932 tax rolls $14 was for 1932 poll tax receipts and $449.65 was for taxes appearing on the delinquent rolls. The bulk of the payments were made by non-residents, Mrs. Ethel Graham, deputy collector said.

Two reasons were advanced for the change in the manner of remittances. In the first place bonding houses are charging a much higher rate for bonds than formerly and the weekly remittances reduce the amount of funds for which the collector is responsible and for which bond would be required. Another reason advanced is that remittances made on a weekly basis keep the various funds more nearly on a cash basis than with only the monthly reports.

The weekly reports, while adding more work to the office duties reduce the responsibility very materially and at the local collector's office it is believed that the change will be greatly well received by the collectors themselves.

NEW LICENSE PLATES FOR FLOYD COUNTY BEGIN AT 401,751; ISSUE DEC. 1

Preparations for the annual winter rush for license plates for all types of motor vehicles are being made by the State Highway Department and the various collector's offices over the state.

At the office of County Tax Collector C. M. Meredith it was said this week that invoices had been received for the plates that are to come to this county and they are expected from the plate makers soon. They will be checked in upon their arrival, but will not be issued to automobile owners until December 1.

Passenger cars in this county for the coming year will bear numbers beginning with 401,751 and running through 404,200. Commercial vehicle numbers for the county begin at 81,901, and run through 82,550.

The schedule of rates is unchanged from last year for the coming year, so far as is known locally no change having been made in the license law during the year.

Two Special Venires Summoned For Term

Grand Jury Set to Work Monday Morning May Take Recess After Today.

Two special venires were ordered summoned Monday by District Judge Kenneth Bain, after the formalities of opening the fall term of the court for Floyd County had been completed, the grand jury empanelled and set to work. The first of these is a panel of seventy-two men for Monday of next week, October 17, for the trial of George Faulkner of Spur on charges of criminal assault. The second is a panel of 100 men for the trial of Ruth Kane (McComas) of Matador charged with murder.

Judge Bain and attorneys at the bar spent part of their time Monday afternoon and Tuesday morning with settings for the six-week term. The general criminal docket is set for next week, and the paving suits for the fourth week, beginning October 31. These paving suits and other cases in which Judge Bain is disqualified, will be heard by Judge A. J. Fires of Childress.

City of Floydada's suit for recovery of penalties against Texas Utilities Company on alleged failure to make reports as required by law, is set for November 7. The city asks $148,700 under a statute which requires a report from utilities companies.

Another case in which there is general interest in portions of Floyd Hale and Swisher Counties is a boundary suit between S. F. Whitmore and Mary R. McNally. The boundaries involved are in the northwest portion of the county. The case is set for October 27.

Insurance Money Divided

An agreed judgement was entered in the minutes of the court Monday afternoon in the case of G. C. Holt vs. T. L. Griffith and others. In this case disposition was made of $2,092.34 collected from an insurance company following a fire October 5 of last year that burned the Farmers' Co-operative Society's elevator in Lockney. Holt on a lien against the property collected $1,306.65 adjudged due him, and under loss payable clauses James and Judson Miller jointly received $133.40, and L. D. Harris $26.79, the remaining $625.50 going to the elevator company.

In foreclosure proceedings the same day, Geo. T. Moore was given judgement for $4,622.55 against B. F. Manasco and others, the property involved being Lots one, two and three in Block 93, six and seven in 92, and one-half interest in Lot 27 and the west half of Lot 28 in Block 84, Floydada.

A motion was filed by plaintiff and defendant City of Floydada to dismiss without prejudice and take a nonsuit against the Sanitary Appliance Company, Incorporated, in the case of Mrs. Rachel Ivey against the city and others. The legality and validity of bonds issued by the city to the appliance company in a sum slightly exceeding $3,000 is involved.

Five divorce decrees were issued by the court Tuesday afternoon as follows:

Thelma Snodgrass against Rip Snodgrass;
Elizabeth Collins against Robert Collins;
Mattie Johnson against M. V. Johnson;
Wanda Frenzel against Anton Frenzel;
Anna Anderson against Claude Anderson.

No Bills Last Night

No bills of indictment had been returned last night by the grand jury, which had had several witnesses before it during a three-day session, however. Possibility that the body would recess temporarily this afternoon, was indicated. Members of the grand jury are Jas. A. Massa, Ohmer Kirk, C. L. Kneirim, A. S. Green, J. E. Hammit, D. P. Carter, Frank Perkins, W. M. Knight, A. H. Kreis, J. C. Custer, O. L. Allen and O. M. Watson. A. H. Kreis is foreman. Bailiffs are G. Scott King, Morgan Wright and J. J. Davis.

City Makes The Grade On September Bonds

Funds to retire all bond and interest indebtedness of the City of Floydada for the year of 1932, up to and including the month of September, has either been paid the owners or is in hand for the purpose. City Secretary S. E. Duncan said Wednesday. The total maturities for that month were $3,482.50 of which $3105 had actually been paid out and the remaining $377.50 is ready for remittance at this time.

October maturities total $6,117.50, all in the form of interest on indebtedness, there are no maturities in November, and the December bill will be a bond in the sum of $1,000 together with $300 in interest, making the whole bill for the remainder of this year $7,417.50 unpaid.

Whether this amount will be obtained remains to be seen, Secretary Duncan said, all depending on the promptness with which taxpayers meet their tax bills. All proceeds on taxes will be applied on the indebtedness. The city's business, including administrative and police departments, and every other department has been kept within the city's income from sources other than taxes for the past three years or more. At this time funds from the city's waterworks and sewer income are not only paying current running expenses but are being used in part to cut down outstanding indebtedness. No reserve against obsolescence or depreciation is being set up, however.

LOCAL DOLLAR PITCHERS AFTER FELLOWSHIP CUP

O. T. Williams and J. C. Wester, unless they are eliminated today by better men in the Rotary Club, will journey to Ralls tomorrow noon after luncheon with the club there expect to win a dollar pitching contest against Ralls clubmen for the possession of a Fellowship Cup to which Ralls, Spur, Post and Floydada teams are eligible owners.

Ralls club won the cup in a baseball game with the Spur club last spring and have held it since. The rule governing the play for the cup permits the challengers to name the contest but requires them to go to the town of the club last winning it. The cup may change hands as often as a new challenger comes along and wins it. If the Floydada contestants furnish the dollars they will be washers, it was announced here Wednesday, but if the Ralls club furnishes the local boys will insist that dollars be used.

NEED MORE PASTURE

The area of land in the United States in improved pasture is only one-fifth of that in hay and grain crops, say specialists of the United States Department of Agriculture, who believe that pastures should supply more of the feed for livestock. More improved pasture land would reduce need for grain crops, lessen labor for crop production, reduce soil erosion, save pastures now overgrazed, and preserve wood lots. Ten per cent of the cultivated crop area, if sown to pasture, would add about 50 per cent to the present area of improved pasture land, says the department.
